- Delilah Pierre, 3303 Ty Cobb Road, spoke in support of the proposed amendment. She cited disparities in infrastructure, schools, access to resources, and economic conditions among Tallahassee communities.
- Thomas Speirs, 123 Locke Street, spoke in support of the proposed amendment, stating that it represented a concrete step toward addressing historic harms.
- Stephanie McMillion, a resident of 32301, spoke in support of the proposed amendment. She stated that long-term assessment, transparency, and accountability are appropriate Charter functions and cited urban renewal projects, including Smokey Hollow, as examples of lasting impacts.

- Julie Meadows Keefe, 3256 Appleton Drive, spoke in support of the proposed amendment. She stated that the amendment does not mandate spending or preferential treatment but requires a transparent assessment of lasting public harms from past governmental decisions.

Public Hearing:

Agenda Item #1: First of Three Public Hearings to Consider the Proposed Charter Amendment Language to Provide for Community Impact Assessments

Nicki Hatch introduced the proposed charter amendment addressing adverse community conditions related to historic County laws, policies and governmental practices. She noted that the proposed amendment would require periodic community impact assessments, publicly available findings, the Board of County Commissioners' public review and consideration of each assessment, and adoption of an implementing ordinance by April 1, 2027.

She stated that the ordinance would establish the operational procedures such as geographically based assessment criteria. Placing these details in an ordinance would provide flexibility to respond to changing community needs, legal requirements, and restrictions without requiring future Charter amendments. She clarified that the draft amendment was a starting point, reminding the Committee that they may revise it or provide additional direction during any of the three public hearings before recommending it to the Board of County Commissioners (Board) for consideration in August 2026.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Ryan Ray, for approval of Option #1: Conduct the first of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's second of three public hearings on July 16, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

The motion carried 14 – 0 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Howard Kessler, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman, and William Smith not present.

Max Herrle raised questions regarding public participation and notification of the proposed amendment. He asked how the public would be informed as the item moved forward and inquired about a presentation explaining the proposal.

Nicki Hatch responded that meetings are publicly noticed through standard channels and social media. She added that an agenda item would be presented to the Board during its public hearing in August. That agenda item would summarize the proposal and its development. She also confirmed that a comprehensive final report documenting the Committee's actions would be presented to the Board at a later date.

Max Herrle suggested holding a public meeting or one of the upcoming public hearings in other locations, such as Frenchtown or Southside.

Nicki Hatch noted that moving a formal hearing would involve significant logistical considerations, including accommodating the 21-member committee, public participation, and broadcasting requirements.

Darryl Jones encouraged Committee members to participate in future public discussions as private citizens after the Committee is dissolved. He noted that community organizations, such as the NAACP, would likely hold public discussions if the proposed amendment advances to the ballot.

County Attorney O'Steen stated that after the Committee submits its recommendation, the Board may only approve or reject the proposed amendment. The Committee's final public hearing is the last time that proposed language can be modified.

Joey Davis asked for clarification on when Sunshine Law restrictions will no longer apply to Committee members.

Nicki Hatch clarified that following its final public hearing, the Committee will dissolve, and members will no longer be subject to the Committee's Sunshine Law restrictions. Once the measure is placed on the ballot, the County will be subject to additional legal restrictions regarding how it communicates about the proposal.

Adjournment:

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to adjourn the meeting.

The motion carried 14 – 0 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Howard Kessler, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman, and William Smith not present.

Chair Lindley reminded the Committee that its next public hearing would be on July 16, 2026, and adjourned the meeting at 6:34 p.m.

Public Comment:

- Katherine Kurzweil, a Florida State University (FSU) student residing in Tallahassee, expressed support for the proposed amendment related to historic harms. She cited disparities in transportation and infrastructure between FSU and lower-income communities, including Frenchtown. She also discussed the displacement and environmental contamination of the historic Smokey Hollow community, encouraging the County to examine similar harms, prevent their recurrence, and consider remedies for affected families and their descendants.
- Thomas Speirs, 123 Locke Street, discussed the history of the Smokey Hollow community and expressed support for the proposed amendment related to historic harms.

Public Hearing:

Agenda Item #1: Second of Three Public Hearings to Consider the Proposed Charter Amendment Language to Provide for Community Impact Assessments

Nicki Hatch introduced the proposed Charter Amendment addressing adverse community conditions resulting from historic County laws, policies, and practices. She explained that the amendment would require periodic community impact assessments, publicly available findings, and the Board of County Commissioners' public review and consideration of each assessment. The proposed Charter Amendment would also require the adoption of an implementing ordinance by April 1, 2027, to establish operational procedures, including geographically based assessment criteria, while allowing flexibility to address changing community needs and legal requirements.

Mrs. Hatch clarified that the proposed Charter Amendment language remained subject to revision during the Committee's three public hearings. She noted that County staff proposed minor revisions following legal review to improve clarity and consistency. These revisions included using the term "periodic" consistently throughout the draft and replacing "or" with "and" when referring to County laws, policies, and practices.

She noted that the Committee had previously approved the proposed ballot title and language, clarifying that the Committee will have the opportunity to further refine the proposed Charter Amendment, as well as the ballot title and ballot language, at its third and final public hearing on July 30. Upon approval by the Committee, the proposed amendment would then proceed to the Board for consideration at a public hearing in August 2026.

Jarrett Terry questioned whether the terms "periodic" and "recurring" had different meanings and asked whether "recurring" should also be replaced in the ballot language for consistency.

County Attorney Chasity O'Steen recommended using the term "periodic" consistently throughout both the proposed Charter Amendment and ballot language.

Mrs. Hatch reminded the Committee that they will have the opportunity to further refine the ballot language for such changes at its third and final public hearing on July 30th.

Max Herrle reminded the Committee that July 30th would be the final opportunity to amend the proposed language and that the Board could not make changes during the August 2026 public hearing. He encouraged members to share the full language with their appointing Commissioners before the Committee's final public hearing so any concerns could be addressed.

Mrs. Hatch reminded the Committee that its third and final public hearing was scheduled for July 30th at the same time and location, and that the Board's subsequent public hearing would be held on August 17, 2026.

Henry Lewis, III, moved, seconded by Jarrett Terry, for approval of Option # 1, as amended: Conduct the second of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment # 1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's third and final public hearing on July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m., with the term "recurring" replaced with "periodic" in recommended ballot language.

The motion carried 11 – 0 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Darryl Jones, Slaton Murray, Heidi Otway, Shamarial Roberson, Temple Robinson, William Smith, and Katrina Tuggerson not present.

Public Hearing: Agenda Item #1: Third and Final Public Hearing to Consider the Proposed Charter Amendment Language to Provide for Community Impact Assessments

Nicki Hatch introduced the proposed Charter Amendment addressing adverse community conditions related to historic County laws, policies, and practices. She noted that the Committee had advanced the draft amendment language through its first two public hearings and that the final public hearing provided an opportunity to review and further refine the ballot title and ballot language before making a final recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners.

Mrs. Hatch explained that the item presented minor revisions to the draft ballot language to maintain consistency with the proposed amendment, clarifying the requirement for periodic Community Impact Assessments and the Board's responsibility to publicly review and consider the findings of each assessment concerning the County's historic laws, policies, and practices. She noted that upon approval by the Committee, the proposed amendment would then proceed to the Board at its August 17, 2026 public hearing, for consideration of placement on the 2026 General Election ballot.

Max Herrle recalled that the Committee had previously discussed conducting the assessment every four years and asked about the effect of changing the language from "recurring" to "periodic."

Mrs. Hatch responded that "periodic" had been used to ensure consistent terminology throughout the proposed amendment. She explained that the proposed amendment required the Board to adopt an implementing ordinance establishing the assessment criteria, frequency, and procedures. She noted that addressing these details by ordinance would allow future revisions without requiring another Charter Amendment.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Darryl Jones, to approve Option #1: Conduct the third and final public hearing to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners for placement on the 2026 General Election ballot.

The motion carried 14 – 0 with Committee Members Anita Favors, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Slaton Murray, Shamarial Roberson, William Smith, and Jarrett Terry not present.

Darryl Jones asked for a summary of the Committee's other recommendations and their status.

Ken Morris summarized the recommendations previously considered by the Board. He noted that the proposed amendment reflecting esteemed humanity in the Charter Preamble had been advanced as a Board-initiated Charter Amendment. He further explained that the Committee policy recommendation to align County and City street renaming policies was advanced by the Board as another Board-initiated Charter Amendment. He also noted that a proposal concerning County ordinances superseding municipal ordinances had been advanced as a Board-initiated Charter Amendment.

Mrs. Hatch stated that the Committee's policy recommendation concerning food insecurity resulted in Board direction for staff to return with additional review and analysis. She clarified that the Community Impact Assessments proposal would be the only Committee-initiated amendment that will potentially be on the ballot, subject to Board approval. She further clarified that the Board could discuss the proposed amendment but could not revise the Committee's proposed language. She noted that Committee members are not required to attend the Board's August 17, 2026 public hearing, but are welcome to do so.

Adjournment:

Temple Robinson moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to adjourn the meeting.

The motion carried 14 – 0 with Committee Members Anita Favors, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Slaton Murray, Shamarial Roberson, William Smith, and Jarrett Terry not present.

Absent Members: Heidi Otway and William G. Smith

Opening Remarks & Committee Charge – Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

County Administrator Vince Long convened the inaugural meeting of the Citizen Charter Review Committee, welcoming members and expressing appreciation for their willingness to serve. He thanked the members on behalf of the Board of County Commissioners, county staff, and the community, emphasizing that their contributions are essential to maintaining an effective and representative home-rule government.

He provided an overview of the Charter Review process, noting that the Committee convenes once every eight years to review the Leon County Charter, referred to as the "home rule constitution", and make recommendations to the Board of County Commissioners. Members will have 120 days to conduct their review and may propose amendments or determine that no changes are necessary. The Board granted broad latitude for discussion, identifying only one specific issue requiring formal review, which will be addressed later in the process.

Committee Introductions:

County Administrator Long stated that county staff's role is to fully support the Committee. He introduced key members of the staff resource team:

- Chasity O'Steen, County Attorney
- Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator
- Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives and primary staff liaison
- Cameron Williams, Management Analyst

He emphasized that the process will be methodical and transparent, with members reviewing every article and section of the Charter to ensure that it continues to reflect the needs and preferences of the community.

Each member of the Committee introduced themselves and shared their background and connection to Leon County.

Commissioner Proctor welcomed the Committee and spoke to their diversity.

Commissioner Minor thanked everyone for being present and for their public service.

Overview of Charter Government:

County Administrator Vince Long provided an overview presentation on the history, purpose, and framework of charter county government in Florida. County Administrator Long explained that a county charter functions as a home rule constitution, the local governing document that defines the framework, authority, and structure of county government. It is a living document, subject to amendment only by the local electorate.

The concept of charter county government, he said, arises from the principle that one size does not fit all in local governance. No two Florida counties are identical, and each faces unique local issues and needs. He noted that while all counties must fulfill the same state-mandated responsibilities, charters allow local governments to tailor their organization and powers to fit their communities.

County Administrator Long provided an overview of Florida History related to the operation of local governments under "Dillon's Rule" prior to the 1968 Constitutional Revision. County Administrator Long's overview continued with how the 1968 Constitutional Revision granted home rule authority to local governments by allowing counties to adopt charters by local referendum to exercise greater autonomy and flexibility in addressing community-specific issues. Since that time, 20 of Florida's 67 counties have adopted charters, representing roughly 75–80 percent of the state's population.

Leon County's Charter:

County Administrator Long noted that Leon County adopted its charter in 2002, describing it as a "starter charter." This approach, he said, is common among first-time charter counties and typically codifies the existing structure of government at the time of adoption, with the understanding that amendments will occur as the community evolves.

Charter Amendment Process:

Mr. Long outlined the three mechanisms through which a county charter may be amended. He emphasized that any proposed amendment must be approved by a majority vote of the local electorate at a general election.

1. Citizen Petition:
    - Requires signatures from 10% of registered voters countywide, including 10% from each County Commission district.
    - May be initiated at any time, provided the proposed amendment appears on a general election ballot.
    - This method has never been utilized in Leon County.
2. County Commission Action:
    - Requires a majority plus one vote of the Board of County Commissioners.
    - The Board may propose amendments at any time.
    - This method has never been utilized.
3. Citizen Charter Review Committee:
    - As established in the Leon County Charter, this citizen committee convenes every eight years to review and recommend Charter amendments to the Board of County Commissioners.

Past Citizen Charter Review Committees:

Mr. Long provided a brief history of the previous Citizen Charter Review Committees convened since the charter's adoption in 2002.

2010 Citizen Charter Review Committee:

The 2010 Committee proposed seven amendments to the Board of County Commissioners.

1. Tourism Development Structure
2. Minimum Countywide Environmental Standards.
3. Employment of the County Administrator
4. Non-Interference Policy
5. Campaign Contributions
6. Petition Thresholds
7. Future Citizen Charter Review Committee Authority

Of the seven proposals, the Board advanced six to the ballot, excluding the "Future Citizen Charter Review Committee Authority" proposal. Five of the six proposed amendments were approved by voters; the "Petition Thresholds" amendment was not adopted.

2018 Citizen Charter Review Committee:

The 2018 Committee advanced two amendments to the Board:

1. Adoption of a Code of Ethics by Ordinance
2. Employment of the County Attorney

Of the two proposals, the Board advanced the "Adoption of a Code of Ethics by Ordinance" amendment to the ballot which was approved by voters. The "Employment of the County Attorney" was not advanced by the Board as a proposed Charter Amendment but instead was effectuated through the adoption of a County Ordinance.

County Administrator Long concluded that these prior reviews demonstrate the evolution of the County Charter and the community's ability to make meaningful, measured changes through the structured review process.

Charter Authority, Limitations, and Board Direction:

County Administrator Long concluded his overview by summarizing what county charters may and may not do, as well as outlining the specific direction provided by the Board of County Commissioners for this Citizen Charter Review Committee cycle.

Board Direction to the 2025/2026 Citizen Charter Review Committee:

County Administrator Long reminded the Committee that the Board of County Commissioners had not imposed any limits on the group's scope of review, granting broad latitude to examine all aspects of the charter. He stated that the Board identified one specific issue for the committee's objective consideration:

- Whether to recommend an amendment providing that county ordinances prevail in cases of conflict with municipal ordinances, except where restricted by state law.

This topic will appear as a formally agendaed discussion item later in the review process, with full staff analysis and legal guidance.

Overview of Florida's Open Government Laws - Chasity O'Steen, County Attorney

County Attorney Chasity O'Steen briefed the Committee on Florida's Open Government Laws, including the Sunshine Law, Public Records, and Code of Ethics and its application to members of the Citizen Charter Review Committee, as summarized below. County Attorney O'Steen also provided guidance related to public statements made by CCRC members.

- Sunshine Law: Requires that all public meetings be noticed, are open and accessible to the public and minutes are kept. A meeting is defined as two or more members of the same decision making body talking about substantive matters that may come before the Committee.

- Public Records Law: All written communication made or received related to the official business of the CCRC are considered public record and should be retained appropriately.
- Florida Code of Ethics: Protects against any conflict of interest and establishes standards for the conduct in situations where conflicts may exist which applies to CCRC members as Board Appointed Committee Members.

Committee Bylaws & Committee Schedule - Nicki Hatch

Mrs. Nicki Hatch provided an overview of the Citizen Charter Review Committee Bylaws as adopted by the Board of County Commissioners to guide the Committee's deliberations and ensure orderly and transparent proceedings. The overview summarized various sections of the Bylaws including quorum and voting requirements, public comment protocols, and the election and role of the Chair and Vice Chair:

Election of Officers:

Mrs. Hatch stated that one of the first actions of the Committee would be the election of officers.

Election of Chair Motion:

Darryl Jones nominated Mary Ann Lindley to serve as Chair, noting her prior service on the Leon County Board of County Commissioners. The nomination was seconded by Sean Pittman.

There being no other nominations, the vote was called. The motion carried unanimously, and Mary Ann Lindley was elected Chair of the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee.

The motion passed 19 - 0.

Chair Lindley expressed appreciation to the members for their confidence and stated she looked forward to working collaboratively with the Committee.

Election of Vice Chair Motion:

Linda Bond Edwards nominated Chauncy Haynes to serve as Vice Chair. The nomination was seconded by Jarrett Terry.

There being no other nominations, the vote was called. The motion carried unanimously, and Chauncy Haynes was elected Vice Chair of the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee.

The motion passed 19 – 0.

Process and Schedule Overview: Presenter - Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator

Mr. Ken Morris provided an overview of the Committee's process and timeline, including the three-phase structure for the Committee's deliberations to ensure a methodical and transparent process.

Meeting Structure and Workflow:

1. Issue/Discussion Meetings (Step 1) – Members can request any idea for a proposed charter amendment to be placed on the agenda for formal consideration by the Committee. If approved by a simple majority vote of the Committee, staff will prepare an analysis of the proposal to be placed on the Committee's agenda for consideration.
2. Decision Meetings (Step 2) – If approved by a simple majority vote of the Committee, the Committee can request staff to prepare proposed charter amendment language for Committee consideration.
3. Public Hearings (Step 3) – If approved by a simple majority vote of the Committee, the Committee can advance proposed charter amendment language to Public Hearing for Committee consideration. Upon conclusion of the public hearings, the Committee can, upon approval by a simple majority vote, recommend the proposed charter amendment language to the Board of County Commissioners.

Mr. Morris reported that the Committee is scheduled to complete its work by February 19, with an interim report to be presented to the Board of County Commissioners in March. If the Committee advances proposed charter amendments, public hearings will be scheduled in June and July 2026.

Public Comment:

Chair Lindley opened the floor for public comment.

Staff noted that no speaker cards had been submitted prior to the meeting. Chair Lindley invited any members of the public present to speak; no speakers came forward.

Next Meeting and Adjournment:

The next Citizen Charter Review Committee meeting will be held on Thursday, November 6. Members were encouraged to contact staff with any questions prior to the next meeting.

Chair Lindley called for adjournment of the CCRC Meeting. It was moved by Ryan Ray, seconded by Sean Pittman, to adjourn at 1:27 p.m.

The motion passed 19 – 0.

DRAFT

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

APPROVAL OF COMMITTEE BYLAWS

BYLAWS OF THE LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

In order to govern its function and operation in a manner consistent with the Home Rule Charter of Leon County, Florida, approved by the electorate of Leon County on the 5th day of November 2002 and subsequently amended on the 2nd day of November 2010 and on the 6th day of November 2018, the Leon County Citizens Charter Review Committee (hereinafter "Committee") hereby adopts the following Bylaws.

It shall be the duty of the Committee to carry out the following charge: To review the Home Rule Charter of Leon County, Florida and propose any amendments or revisions for consideration by the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) which may be advisable for placement on the general election ballot.

ARTICLE I.

APPLICABLE FLORIDA LAWS AND BCC POLICIES

Section 1.1 Public Records Law and E-Mails: Each member of the Committee shall comply with the Florida's Public Records Law, Chapter 119, Florida Statutes (F.S.), and Leon County BCC Policy 96-4, "Public Records, Electronic Communications, and Records Retention", as may be amended from time to time, and each member of the Committee shall be provided a copy of BCC Policy 96-4.

Section 1.2 Government In the Sunshine Law: Each member of the Committee shall comply with applicable provisions of the Florida Government in the Sunshine Law, Chapter 286, F.S., as may be amended from time to time.

Section 1.3 Code of Ethics: The Committee shall comply with the County's Code of Ethics as set forth under Chapter 2, Article XII, of Leon County Code of Laws and the following state laws with regard to the Florida Code of Ethics for Public Officers and Employees:

Clause 1.3.1 Each member of the Committee shall comply with Section 112.3143, F.S., "Voting Conflicts", as may be amended from time to time, and shall be provided a copy of Section 112.3143, F.S.

Clause 1.3.2 Each member of the Committee shall abide by the Standards of Conduct set forth in Section 112.313, F.S., as may be amended from time to time, and shall be provided a copy of Section 112.313, F.S.

ARTICLE II.

OFFICERS AND DUTIES

Section 2.1 The Committee shall appoint a Chairperson and Vice-Chairperson by a simple majority vote at its first meeting.

Section 2.2 The Chairperson and Vice-Chairperson shall serve until the dissolution of the Committee and assume the following powers and duties:

Clause 2.2.1 The Chairperson shall preside at all regular and special meetings of the Committee.

Clause 2.2.2 The Chairperson shall represent the Committee at all functions and activities (but without authority to state any position of the Committee not previously approved).

Clause 2.2.3 The Chairperson shall call special meetings when necessary;

Clause 2.2.4 The Chairperson shall set meeting agendas in coordination with County staff.

Section 2.3 In the event of the Chairperson's absence, or at the direction of the Chairperson, the Vice-Chairperson shall assume the powers and duties of the Chairperson.

Section 2.4 In the event that either the Chairperson or the Vice-Chairperson is unable to complete their term or fulfill their duties, a replacement from among its members should be appointed with a simple majority vote of the Committee as soon as reasonably possible.

ARTICLE III.

TERM OF MEMBERS

Section 3.1 Each member shall serve on the Committee beginning on October 23, 2025 through February 19, 2026 for all regular and special meetings or upon completion of business. In addition, as necessary, the Committee may be required to hold three public hearings on proposed Charter amendments between June and July of 2026.

ARTICLE IV.

ATTENDANCE AND REPLACEMENT OF MEMBERS

Section 4.1 Attendance at Meetings: Regular attendance and attention to the business of the Committee is expected. All Committee members are required to attend meetings in person.

Section 4.2 Vacancies: The seat of any member who fails to attend three consecutive regular meetings, without previous notification, shall be presumed vacant. A seat deemed vacant may be filled by the appointing County Commissioner no later than the BCC's December 9, 2025 meeting. Following the BCC's December 9, 2025 meeting, recognizing that the Committee will be nearing completion of its regular meeting schedule, any vacant seat shall remain unfilled through the remainder of the Committee's business.

ARTICLE V.

MEETINGS

Section 5.1 Regular Meetings: The Committee shall hold biweekly meetings on Thursdays. Such regular meetings shall be held at the Leon County Library or at an alternative location, approved by the County Administrator, as necessary. The regular meeting schedule will be posted to the County's webpage in advance of the Committee's first meeting. The duration of meetings shall not exceed two hours unless extended by a simple majority vote of the Committee. In order to expedite meetings, the Chairperson may place time limits on discussion of agenda items.

Section 5.2 Special Meetings: The Chairperson, or a simple majority vote of the Committee, may call a special meeting of the Committee to discuss any issue properly before the Committee. Such special meetings may be convened only after notification is given to each member of the Committee and after public notice is given, no later than three days before the special meeting is scheduled to begin.

Section 5.3 Public Comment (In-Person): The Committee will consider public comment on all substantive agenda items. Under the agenda item of "Public Comment", interested citizens shall be afforded an opportunity to provide in-person comments on matters before the Committee. The remarks of any citizen should be germane to the agenda or matters to come before the Committee. Each agenda shall include a point during the meeting at which "Public Comment" may be made. Each citizen addressing the Committee is asked to observe the general rules of courtesy and civility, and to avoid repetition of other speakers. Citizens are asked to limit their comments to three minutes in the interest of fairness to all citizens desiring to be heard; although, this requirement may be waived at the discretion of the Chairperson for good cause.

Clause 5.3.1 Written Public Comment: Citizens wishing to provide written public comment on matters before the Committee shall be afforded the opportunity to submit their comments at CCRC@LeonCountyFL.gov. To ensure adequate time for distribution and Committee review, written comments are required to be submitted at least 24 hours prior to the scheduled meeting time. Comments submitted after the deadline will be added to the official minutes of the meeting, but the County cannot guarantee that the Committee will have adequate time to review those comments prior to the meeting.

Section 5.4 Meeting Agendas: County staff shall assist the Chairperson of the Committee in developing an agenda for each meeting of the Committee. The agenda for regular meetings of the Committee shall be generally as follows, subject to amendment or revision by the Committee Chairperson or a majority of the members present:

I. Call to Order
II. Roll Call
III. Approval of Minutes of Previous Meeting
IV. Reports of Chairperson (if any)
V. Presentations by Invited Guests
VI. Remarks of Interested Citizens
VII. Unfinished Business
VIII. New Business
IX. Adjournment with Day Fixed for Next Meeting

Section 5.5 Official Acts and Quorum: Any and all official acts by the Committee shall require a majority vote of the members present and voting, except as otherwise set forth in these Bylaws; however, the Committee shall take no such action unless a quorum is present at the meeting. In order to constitute a quorum, there must be a majority of the Committee's current membership present at the meeting. The minutes of the meeting shall reflect the number of affirmative votes on a motion and shall specify the names of any members voting against the motion.

No member of the Committee shall have the power to vote by proxy. Only those members physically present shall be entitled to vote. Telephonic participation is not permitted.

Section 5.6 Meeting Minutes: Minutes shall be taken by the Clerk to the BCC at all regular and special meetings of the Committee. Minutes of Committee proceedings shall be filed with the County in accordance with BCC Policy No. 03-15, "Board-Appointed Citizen Committees."

Section 5.7 Procedure: Roberts' Rules of Order Revised shall govern the procedure of all meetings. No action taken by the Committee shall be deemed void or invalid because of a failure to adhere to Robert's Rules of Order Revised.

BYLAWS OF THE LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

ARTICLE VI.

DELIBERATIONS

Section 6.1 The Committee shall conduct meetings in three phases: (1) Issues Agendas, (2) Decision Agendas, and (3) Public Hearings and Transmittal (as necessary).

Clause 6.1.1 Issues Agendas: In the first phase of meetings, the Committee shall identify policy issues for discussion and potential recommendations to the BCC for placement on the general election ballot. By simple majority vote, the Committee shall approve policy issues to be considered and schedule Issues Agenda meetings at which the approved issues shall be discussed. Once the preliminary policy issues have been approved for discussion during Issue Agenda meetings, additional policy issues may be added and scheduled upon the request of 2/3 of Committee membership present.

Any issue may be stricken from further consideration at Issues Agenda meetings by a majority of those members present.

Clause 6.1.2 Decision Agendas: By a simple majority vote, the Committee shall approve those issues to be discussed during the second phase of meetings and schedule Decision Agenda meetings at which sample text of proposed amendments shall be considered. After a proposed amendment has been discussed, the Committee may, by a simple majority vote of those members present, direct County staff to prepare proposed amendments for review at public hearings and inclusion in the BCC status report to be presented in March 2026.

Clause 6.1.3 Public Hearings and Transmittal: In accordance with the County Charter and Section 125.63, F.S., the Committee must hold at least three public hearings, at intervals not less than 10, nor more than 20, days apart. After all hearings, the Committee shall amend (if necessary) and approve the proposed Charter amendments, ballot titles, and summaries for recommendation to the BCC with the concurrence of a simple majority vote of present Committee membership. These public hearings, if necessary, would be held in June and July 2026.

The Committee shall direct the Chairperson to transmit the proposed amendments, ballot titles, and summaries to the BCC by Wednesday, August 5, 2026.

ARTICLE VII.

POLICY ON PUBLICITY

Section 7.1 Public statements by the Committee shall be coordinated through the Chairperson and County staff. Members of the Committee may make public or private statements of their personal feelings, attitudes or beliefs at any time. In making such statements, members of the Committee shall on every occasion make an affirmative statement that their views are not represented as the views of the Committee as a whole. The Chairperson of the Committee shall be responsible for announcing the adopted positions of the Committee.

BYLAWS OF THE LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

ARTICLE VIII.

AMENDMENTS TO BYLAWS

Section 8.1 Amendments: These rules and policies shall be presented by staff and adopted as the Bylaws of the Committee at its first meeting. The Bylaws may be amended by an affirmative vote of 2/3 of the entire Committee's membership. The Amended Bylaws shall become effective upon the approval of the County Attorney as to the legality of the form and content of such amendment.

Subject: proposed Charter Amendment

I have attached a proposal that I would like to be added to the agenda of an upcoming meeting of the CCRC. If the public is to be given speaking time at these meetings, I would like the opportunity to present it to the CCRC in person. I will be out of town for the first meeting, but I should be able to attend November 6 and subsequently.

Thank you.

Proposal for a Leon County Charter Amendment regarding the establishment of an Office of Inspector General

This proposal will reinforce transparency and accountability in the oversight of all aspects of county government in the areas of ethics, fraud, waste, abuse, mismanagement, misconduct and service deficiencies. It would also be the designated statutory agent to process whistleblower complaints, which otherwise is the County Administrator, according to F.S. 112.3187. Some guidelines for defining and establishing this office can be adapted from both the City of Tallahassee Office of Inspector General (OIG) and the Tallahassee Independent Ethics Board (IEB), but this proposal will improve on both of these models by addressing some deficiencies in the structure of each office to bring the OIG in more total compliance with the published national guidelines of the Association of Inspectors General.

Establishing the independence of this office, as stressed by the Association of Inspectors General, is of primary concern. To this end, I propose independent oversight of the OIG in the form of a Board of voluntary citizens who are electors of Leon County, but outside the command structure of County Government (that is, non-County employees, officers, or elected officials). This Board would be responsible for hiring a qualified and certified Inspector General for a designated term of office, supervising and annually evaluating performance to ensure compliance with established legal and policy guidelines, and termination for cause, if necessary, without interfering with the day-to-day operations of the office.

Similar to the structure of the Tallahassee Independent Ethics Board, each of the members of the OIG Board would be appointed by various local community leaders who are outside the command structure of Leon County government. As an example, at the city level, the Tallahassee City Charter designates these appointing parties to be: the FSU President, the FAMU President, the State Attorney, the Public Defender, the City Commission, with the final two members of the seven-member board to be appointed by the rest of the board. This process has been successful in maintaining the independence of the IEB over its ten-year life. In practice, though, there have been problems with filling vacant positions on the Board, possibly because the external appointing bodies don't have a strong natural incentive to take such a substantial role in city government. This has resulted in unfilled vacancies of up to two years or more over the span of the ten years that the IEB has been in existence.

To resolve this, it is proposed that the Leon County OIG Board be made up of an appointment by each of the Leon County constitutional officers: the Sheriff, the School Superintendent, the Supervisor of Elections, the Clerk of Courts, the Tax Collector, and the Property Appraiser. The seventh member (to avoid potential tie votes) would be appointed by the Board of County Commissioners. Although most of these offices are funded through County Government, they are operationally independent, since they are headed by independently elected officials. The exception here would be the School Superintendent, who is funded by the School Board, a separate taxing authority. A possible alternative appointing body to the Superintendent might be the Tallahassee City Commission, who of course is also not funded through County Government, but maintains a symbiotic relationship through various interlocal agreements.

Another deficiency with the Tallahassee Independent Ethics Office is that its scope is restricted by the very limited scope of the Tallahassee Ethics Code, which is entirely under the control of the Tallahassee City Commission. The scope of the proposed Leon County OIG would be much broader, as laid out in great detail by the Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspectors General, as published and revised regularly by the Association of Inspectors General: Principles-and-Standards-for-OIGs-Eff-July-1-2024_Download.pdf).

At the city level, the OIG and the Ethics Office remain two separate offices. This a somewhat arbitrary arrangement that came about primarily because the Independent Ethics Board was established prior to the creation of the Office of Inspector General. Since its creation the Inspector General has agreed to turn over all issues related to the Ethics Code to the IEB. This has resulted in some confusion with the public regarding the respective jurisdictions of each office, with each maintaining a separate hot line and web site for the receipt of complaints.

The mission of the proposed Leon County Office of Inspector General, like most such offices nation-wide, should encompass prevention and detection of fraud, waste, and abuse; promotion of efficient and effective use of public resources; and promotion of public integrity. This would include ensuring compliance with the Leon County Ethics Code, taking that role out from under the County Administrator.

At the city level, the IEB is a quasi-judicial body when it sits in judgement of alleged infractions of the Ethics Code, which is defined by the City Commission, as are the penalties. They are also in practice entirely reactive, in that they act only in response to sworn complaints. Since the scope of the OIG would be much broader, and the OIG Board would be comprised of volunteer citizens in order to maintain independence, it is recommended that, like the Tallahassee OIG, the Leon County OIG have no assigned enforcement powers. Its role would be entirely investigative, acting in response to sworn complaints, as well as conducting its own schedule of audits. Their work product would be in the form of reports to County management and, separately, to the public, as well as referral of all discovered criminal infractions to the appropriate law enforcement agencies.

Although the City of Tallahassee OIG has a broader range of oversight than the IEB, it lacks the necessary independence that is a critical component of an Office of Inspector General. A City Charter Amendment that was passed in 2024 improved its relative independence by making it more difficult to terminate the IG for political reasons, but it left the IG as an appointee of the City Commission and under its supervision. The proposed structure of the Leon County OIG Board would not have this problem.

One final provision for this proposed Office of Inspector General would be to include legal counsel independent of both the County Administrator and the County Attorney, which would also help to bring it in total compliance with the national standards of the Association of Inspectors General. This would be especially important in the event of the IG pursuing a whistleblower case against the city, in order to prevent conflicts of interest.

It is also recommended that the jurisdiction of the OIG be at least potentially extended to those members of the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency Board and staff who are listed on the Leon County payroll. This last point may be the most logistically difficult to implement, since it may require an amendment to the interlocal agreement with the City of Tallahassee, but the Charter Amendment could be written as to be contingent on such an agreement.

Summary:

As directed by the Board of County Commissioners, this item provides the Leon County Citizens Charter Review Committee (Committee) with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing for County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #5: Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its September 23, 2025 meeting, the Board of County Commissioners voted to advance the following charter amendment issue to the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee for review and consideration:

- Should County ordinances supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict?

The Leon County Charter requires a Citizen Charter Review Committee to be appointed by the Board every eight years to review the County's Home Rule Charter (Charter) and propose any amendments or revisions for placement on the general election ballot. As part of this process, the Board may limit or provide direction to the Committee to address specific issues it deems appropriate. For the current charter review process, the Board chose not to limit the Committee's purview. However, after consideration and deliberation of numerous policy issues, the Board selected one issue for the Committee to consider for advancement as a proposed charter amendment.

This item provides information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Analysis:

As a charter county, Leon County's authority is derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution) titled "CHARTER GOVERNMENT.":

> "Counties operating under county charters shall have all powers of local self-government not inconsistent with general or special law, or with special law approved by vote of the electors. The governing body of a county operating under a charter may enact county ordinances not inconsistent with general law. The charter shall provide which shall prevail in the event of conflict between county and municipal ordinances."

In accordance with the Constitution, Section 1.6 of the Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances shall prevail over County ordinances in the event of any conflict within the boundaries of the municipality, except as otherwise provided by law or the Charter. Furthermore, to the extent that a county and municipal ordinance cover the same subject without conflict, then both ordinances shall be effective and supplemental to the other. This provision from the original County Chater remained unchanged until 2010.

During the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review process, the Committee advanced a charter amendment to establish countywide minimum environmental regulations which was approved by voters during the 2010 General Election. This was an important issue for the community at that time to address rapid development and apply one set of consistent rules for environmental protection, especially for projects that crossed political jurisdiction boundaries or sought to annex into the City of Tallahassee (City) for the purpose of avoiding more stringent environmental regulations. Accordingly, Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter provides for the establishment of minimum environmental standards by County ordinances to be effective within unincorporated and incorporated areas of the County. While this provision effectively supersedes municipal ordinances that do meet the minimum environmental standards established by County ordinance, Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter allows municipalities to establish more stringent environmental protections within the incorporated area of the County.

While the County has broad powers under Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution, Section 2(b) of Article VIII of the Constitution also provides broad authority to municipalities, as follows:

> "Municipalities shall have governmental, corporate and proprietary powers to enable them to conduct municipal government, perform municipal functions and render municipal services, and may exercise any power for municipal purposes except as otherwise provided by law."

Municipal authority as set forth under the Constitution, however, is not applicable to any subject expressly preempted to state or county government by the Constitution or by general law. Similarly, municipal authority is limited when a subject or specific policy area is preempted by a county charter. Notwithstanding these limitations, municipalities would advocate the importance of their Home Rule authority and preservation of local self-governance to address specific local issues, needs, and preferences.

Preemption of Regulatory Authority vs Transfer of Power

Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution provides charter counties with regulatory authority to determine which ordinance should prevail when county or municipal ordinances regulate the same subject, as set forth under the Charter. However, it is important to note this preemption does not include the ability to transfer municipal services to the county because such a "Transfer of powers" is separately governed by the process provided for in Article VIII, Section 4 of the Constitution. For example, a county charter amendment can regulate environmental standards within municipalities but cannot reassign or transfer a municipal department, personnel, or assets to the county government.

Article VIII, Section 4 of the Constitution provides a generalized structure under which powers or functions may be transferred between local governments, including counties and municipalities. Specifically, any function or power of a municipality to be transferred to a county (or vice versa) must first be authorized by law or by resolutions adopted by the affected governing bodies, followed by approval from the electors of both affected governments through a dual referendum. A "dual referendum" requires the residents of the city and the unincorporated area to separately approve the referendum.

Comparative Review of Charter Counties

As noted previously, Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. Attachment #1 provides a comparison of Florida's 20 charter counties relating to conflicts with municipal ordinances. It is important to note when comparing charter governments that two Florida counties are very unique. Duval County is a consolidated government and does not reference county or municipal ordinance conflicts in its charter. Miami-Dade County's charter predates the 1968 Florida Constitution which provides the foundation for charter county government in Florida for the remaining 66 counties. Miami-Dade County's charter establishes a two-tier hierarchy and a "central metropolitan government" whereby county ordinances prevail on matters of countywide concern in the event of a conflict with any of the 34 incorporated municipalities.

The following is a summary of the remaining 18 Florida charter counties:

- Eleven (11) county charters provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances.
- Seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail without exception.
- None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception.

Among the 18 comparable charter counties in Florida, Leon County is among the majority (11) which provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances or subject areas. Those 11 charter counties are: Alachua, Broward, Charlotte, Columbia, Leon, Orange, Palm Beach, Pinellas, Sarasota, Seminole, and Volusia. For Leon County, the establishment of minimum environmental standards is the only subject area whereby a county ordinance prevails over a municipal ordinance at this time. As described previously, this was an important issue in 2010 due to rapid development taking place in our community. Voter approval of this amendment to the Charter unified environmental regulations countywide based on environmental features such as water basins and drainage, chronic flooding conditions, and the topography of our community rather than political jurisdiction boundaries. It also reduced the complexity of having two different sets of environmental standards and the various interpretations of those standards. Examples from other county charters that provide for county ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances in specific circumstances include the regulation of adult entertainment, alcohol sales, and elements of the comprehensive plan. Additional information and examples are provided in Attachment #1.

Comparatively, seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail in the event of any conflict without exception. Those seven (7) charter counties are: Brevard, Clay, Hillsborough, Lee, Osceola, Polk, and Wakulla.

As previously stated, most charter counties provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances. None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception. All, however, have the ability to provide for either through charter amendment as approved by the local electorate. In evaluating the need for a proposed Leon County Charter amendment which provides that county ordinances prevail over all municipal ordinances in the event of conflict and to the extent permitted by law, the Committee may wish to consider the potential benefits of such a proposed amendment including:

- Avoiding Potential Interlocal Conflicts and Disputes: Providing for county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances can reduce interlocal disputes and administrative duplication. For example, section 252.38, Florida Statutes, provides county governments with countywide jurisdiction in implementing emergency management plans to ensure efficient and orderly coordination of emergency operations. While a municipality has authority to create its own supplemental emergency management plan, such plan must be consistent with, and subject to, the county plan. This is in place to ensure the provision of coordinated standards, response, and public messaging during emergencies to avoid disputes, delays, and confusion from reconciling differing standards. Accordingly, a proposed charter amendment could extend similar countywide consistency to other regulatory areas where overlapping County and City ordinances may currently create uncertainty or fragmented implementation.

- Providing Regulatory Uniformity on Countywide Issues: Many critical systems — transportation, stormwater, floodplain management, and other infrastructure — cross jurisdictional boundaries and may benefit from uniformity to increase safety. The dangers of inconsistency are most evident in the separate street renaming procedures recently adopted by the City because emergency responders depend on a unified countywide street naming and addressing system to locate incidents quickly.

  On May 8, 2024, the City adopted an ordinance granting itself authority to rename roads within the municipal limits—excluding County-maintained and state roads. Since municipal ordinances prevail over County ordinances in the event of conflict, the County is now precluded from applying its countywide naming criteria to city-maintained streets. Since that time, the City has renamed more than half a dozen roadways with the municipal limits resulting in portions of roadways that bear different names and creating a fragmented approach that increases the potential for misrouted 9-1-1 calls, confusion, delayed response times, and fatal outcomes. Consistent naming across segments of roadways and chronological numbering of addresses are essential to ensure accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property.

- Providing Unified Standards Based on Geography, not Political Jurisdiction: As described previously, during the 2010 General Election, an amendment to the Charter was approved by voters to establish countywide minimum environmental regulations. This amendment was originally considered by the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review Committee in response to chronic flooding issues that were exacerbated by conflicting City and County stormwater standards during a period of rapid development in our community. Specifically, as stormwater and drainage networks often cross jurisdictional boundaries, differing retention or discharge standards in one area regulated by the City can result in exacerbated flooding and downstream damage in a different area regulated by the County. In other words, countywide standards were needed to address the upstream conditions and downstream impacts of stormwater in a consistent manner to reduce flooding impacts and to protect the quality of all surface water bodies in the community.

  Acknowledging that environmental resources and conditions do not recognize political jurisdictional boundaries, the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review Committee identified the need to establish countywide environmental standards to ensure protection and regulation of natural resources that are interconnected throughout our community. As approved by voters, today we have minimum environmental regulations based on environmental features such as water basins and drainage, geography, and the topography of our community – and not political boundary.

- Providing for More User-Friendly Government: Residents and businesses can experience multiple and conflicting regulations among county and municipal governments which causes confusion and frustration when interacting with local governments. The County and City receive calls and emails on a daily basis from constituents unsure of which local government regulates certain matters or requesting clarification on differing standards based on jurisdiction. Social media often perpetuates the confusion on community forums where City and County residents mistakenly exchange information on local government services and regulations without regard to their separate jurisdictional standards.

  Business owners and developers may be impacted by conflicting regulations such as signage requirements. Meanwhile, residents and neighborhoods may be impacted by conflicting regulations that require notification of new nearby developments. Providing for county ordinances to supersede conflicting municipal ordinances makes clear which authority has jurisdiction on important community issues and delivers one consistent set of regulations that residents and businesses can better understand regardless of which specific neighborhood or municipality within the county they are in.

- Establishing Minimum Community Standards Countywide: Minimum regulatory standards, such as the environmental standards established in the Charter in 2010, are intended to serve as a floor which a municipality must meet but can exceed by enacting stricter regulations. Not only do minimum standards reduce complexity, but they also ensure all residents are protected by consistent, minimum standards countywide. In addition to environmental issues, establishing countywide standards would create the opportunity to establish minimum community standards for various local matters from neighborhood protection issues such as noise control and short-term vacation rental regulations, to public safety issues like implementation of school zone cameras. Minimum standards are intended to serve as a baseline to protect the overall health and well-being of all citizens, while preserving the local autonomy of municipalities through the ability to exceed the minimum standards.

Next Steps

As directed by the Board of County Commissioners, this item provides the Committee with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict. In addition to the analysis provided herein, the Committee will receive a presentation on this agenda item and staff will be available to answer questions.

Several options are provided to facilitate the Committee's consideration of this issue. A simple majority vote of the Committee is needed to take action. Should the Committee not wish to further consider or advance this issue, it may table the issue at this time (Option #1). Alternatively, the Committee may wish to seek additional information and analysis. Option #2 would facilitate such a request, as specified by the Committee, with direction for staff to bring the information back at a future meeting.

Two options are provided to advance this issue to the next phase of the charter review process should the Committee support a charter amendment for County ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances in the event of conflict, to the extent otherwise permitted by law (Option #3), or a charter amendment for County ordinances on specific subject matter(s) to prevail over municipal ordinances (Option #4). Should the Committee provide direction to prepare a proposed charter amendment, the draft language would be brought back to the Committee at a future "decision meeting" as provided in the bylaws.

This item recommends Option #5 and seeks the Committee's direction which may include the options presented herein or alternative direction as determined by the Committee.

Options:

1. Accept this report and table this issue.
2. Request additional information and analysis on charter government, regulatory authority, and/or the prevalence of county ordinances in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.
3. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment providing that all county ordinances shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, to the extent otherwise permitted by law.
4. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment(s) providing that specific county ordinances or subject area(s), as identified by the Committee, shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.
5. Committee direction.

Recommendation:

Option #5: Committee direction.

1. Charter County Comparison of Countywide Regulatory Authority

Attachment #1: Comparison of Countywide Authority Among Florida Charter Counties

County	Countywide Authority*	Relationship with Municipalities
Alachua	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to more stringent environmental standards for prohibiting or regulating air or water pollution.
Brevard	No	Municipal ordinances prevail.
Broward	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to environmental protection, land use planning, ethics regulations for officials and employees, or development of transportation improvements on County-owned or County-leased property funded with transportation surtax proceeds.
Charlotte	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to impact fees or countywide comprehensive plan elements and land development regulations.
Clay	No	Municipal ordinances prevail.
Columbia	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to minimum countywide standards regulating adult entertainment, environmental protection, outdoor burning, alcohol sales hours, animal control, weapons, or road service levels.
Duval	Yes	N/A - Consolidated Government.
Hillsborough	No	Municipal ordinances prevail.
Lee	No	Municipal ordinances prevail.
Leon	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to minimum countywide environmental regulations.
Miami-Dade	Yes	N/A – Two-tiered "central metropolitan government" established prior to 1968 Florida Constitution.
Orange	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to countywide minimum standards for regulation of adult-entertainment, air and water pollution, or gambling. Municipal ordinances are also preempted by rezoning or comprehensive-plan amendments that affect public schools with attendance zones that straddle any municipal boundary.
Osceola	No	Municipal ordinances prevail.
Palm Beach	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to wells and well fields, schools, county-owned beaches, district and regional parks, solid waste disposal, county law enforcement, county impact fees, countywide land use elements, service levels for collector and arterial roads not maintained by any municipality, voluntary annexation, and ethics regulations.
Pinellas	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to certain countywide services and regulatory authority such as operation and control of County solid waste disposal facilities, regional sewage treatment facilities, 911 emergency communication system, county-owned property, county roads, animal control regulations and programs, regulations and programs for protection of consumers, and fire protection for the unincorporated areas of the county, among others.
Polk	No	Municipal ordinances prevail.
Sarasota	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to comprehensive planning and future land use designations in areas outside the urban service area (excluding municipal lands that have future land use designation in a municipality's comprehensive plan).
Seminole	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to the County's Rural Boundary Designations.
Volusia	Yes	County ordinances prevail related to minimum countywide environmental regulations, unified beach code regulations, and countywide comprehensive planning.
Wakulla	No	Municipal ordinances prevail.

 Countywide Authority: Instances of application of countywide ordinances and/or when county ordinances prevail in certain matters.*

Board Issue for Committee Consideration - Chasity O'Steen & Ken Morris

Agenda Item A: Leon County Ordinances in Relation to Municipal Ordinances

County Attorney O'Steen and Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris introduced and provided a brief overview of the item.

Mr. Jones requested clarification regarding the County's authority related to street renaming compared to street maintenance.

County Attorney O'Steen confirmed that street naming and street maintenance are related, but they're separate jurisdictional issues. The authority to name or rename a road is distinct from the authority to maintain or repair it. She noted they may fall under different statutory and operational frameworks.

Committee discussion followed.

Barry Wilcox moved, seconded by Anita Favors, for Option #2 and to bring back examples and possible solutions to conflict points brought up in this meeting.

Mrs. Favors asked if it could be refined slightly so we're not asking staff to review everything under the sun, but to focus on specific areas of known or likely conflict. Maybe prioritize some examples that have come up today, or ones staff is already aware of, and bring those back with possible solutions.

Mr. Wilcox agreed to amend the motion accordingly, to direct staff to identify existing or recurring points of conflict between County and City ordinances, and provide examples and possible solutions for discussion at a later meeting.

Barry Wilcox moved, seconded by Anita Favors for Option #2 and to bring back examples and possible solutions to conflict points brought up in this meeting. During the next meeting, the committee may discuss other topics.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members William Smith and Sean Pittman not present.

Committee Discussion on Proposed Charter Amendments

Chair Lindley welcomed members to begin discussion and offer ideas for a proposed charter amendment for consideration by the committee.

The following topics were offered for CCRC consideration:

1. Offered by Howard Kessler:

   Howard Kessler moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, to bring back information on establishing an Office of Inspector General in the County Charter.

   The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members William Smith and Sean Pittman not present.

2. Offered by Max Herrle:

   Max Herrle moved, seconded by Joey Davis, to bring back information on the matters included in the material distributed by Max Herrle during the meeting, as follows:

   - Voting Threshold to Select or Terminate the County Administrator
   - County Commission Compensation
   - Funding Mechanism for Affordable Housing
   - Funding Mechanism for Fire Services
   - Leon County Bill of Rights

   The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members William Smith and Sean Pittman not present.

Adjournment:

Chair Lindley adjourned the meeting at 1:35 p.m.

Subject: Charter revision suggestion

Greetings,
Attached to this email is my public comment for the Leon County Charter Review Council Meeting tomorrow, Nov. 20. Thank you for your time and have a blessed day.
Best Regards,
Adia

Greetings, I am Adia Richardson, a resident of Leon County District 1 and a student at Florida Agricultural and Mechanical University. I am submitting a public comment today because Food security is vital for the prosperity of any county, and a community cannot call itself resilient if its people cannot count on their next meal. In light of the recent government shutdowns, over 30,000 Leon County residents lost access to SNAP benefits; this sudden drop in food security highlighted the urgent need to increase food access in Leon County's underserved communities. Historically, Leon County has implemented initiatives to combat food insecurity, such as partnering with Second Harvest and the City of Tallahassee to provide over three million meals to Leon County residents during the COVID-19 pandemic and providing summer meals at libraries for schoolchildren this past summer. While these initiatives have ameliorated the effects of food insecurity, I other county constituents want to see structural change. Therefore, I urge the Leon County Charter Review board to include a commitment to equitable food access within the language of the county charter. We cannot food-bank our way out of structural gaps, so put the structure in the charter. Thank you.

COMMENT:
As a resident of Leon County, I firmly believe that all our residents deserve a dependable food system. Without it, so many other dimensions of residents' wellbeing are undermined.

18% of Leon County residents live below the federal poverty level; 10,000+ children in Leon County were in poverty in 2023. These are populations at elevated risk for food insecurity. And these numbers only begin to show the growing number of families that are finding it harder and harder to stretch their resources to access good food.

Roughly 33,000-37,000 Leon County residents rely on SNAP benefits--a resource we saw nearly completely cut off just a few short weeks ago. This demonstrated how imperative it is that we make a structural commitment to strengthening our local food system.

Across the county, churches, pantries, farmers, schools, and agencies work hard to address these food gaps, but too often in silos. Leon County--as a community and a body of residents--needs and deserves a codified commitment to ensuring we can feed ourselves and our families.

From seed to supper, from paycheck to pantry: Article I should say the County shows up.

Thank you.

Subject: Charter Revision

Food insecurity has been a huge problem for some communities in Tallahassee and Leon County. It contributes to adult/childhood obesity, chronic heart disease, hypertension, diabetes, mental health, behavioral health, and other chronic diseases. It challenges ability to learn, reason, and function at your optimum in childhood years, and it also challenges healthy aging for seniors. We are concerned about food insecurity, and the county has an opportunity to be instrumental in the promotion of the public's health by highlighting in this charter the need for efforts to address the preventable challenge of food insecurity.

In closing, according to the Economic Research Service 2025 forecast, food prices rose faster than the historical average rate of growth (3%). For 2026, food prices are expected to continue to rise (2.4%). Food insecurity in Florida is rising and more than 3.2 million face food insecurity with working families, children and rural residents bearing the brunt according to (Thorne, Edwine, 2025). This is a rise in rate.

While Florida's 2025-2026, budget made some attempt to address the food insecurity problem through food banks in rural areas, getting Florida grown produce to food insecure residents, and partnership with Feeding Florida (Thorne, Edwine, 2025) more effort is needed. The food insecurity rate is increasing according to local organizations like the Junior League and childhood hunger is also rising at a concerning rate (14% food insecurity rate for Leon County, and 19.9% food insecurity rate for children, Junior League, 2025).

There is no doubt that hunger and food Insecurity are major challenges for Leon County residents and that there is a need for all hands-on deck. Food insecurity is an issue that needs to be taken up in this charter revision. We feel and recommend that this charter revision include in its preamble and further in the body of the document a commitment to addressing food insecurity by supporting and investing in a food secure county.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM A

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item A

November 20, 2025

To: 2025 – 2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney

Title: Leon County Ordinances in Relation to Municipal Ordinances

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Cameron Williams, Management Analyst

Summary:

As requested at its November 6, 2025 meeting, this item provides the Citizen Charter Review Committee with additional information and analysis on the issue of whether county ordinances should supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #4: Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its November 6, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) received analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict (Attachment #1). The Board of County Commissioners (Board), after consideration and deliberation of numerous policy issues, selected to advance this one issue for the Committee to consider advancing as a proposed charter amendment.

The November 6th analysis presented to the Committee detailed Leon County's authority as a charter county as derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution). This section of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. Currently, Section 1.6 of Leon County's Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of any conflict within municipal boundaries, with the exception for countywide minimum environmental regulations as set forth under Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter.

Following discussion, the Committee requested additional information and analysis including examples of existing or potential regulatory conflicts from differing County and City ordinances. The following Analysis section provides detailed examples of current regulatory conflicts for the Committee to consider in evaluating an amendment to the County Charter for county ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances for all matters. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to consider whether county ordinances should prevail on specific subject matter(s) in the event of conflict, or to preserve the existing charter provision which specifics that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of a conflict within municipal boundaries.

Analysis:

At its November 6, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested examples of existing or potential regulatory conflicts from differing County and City ordinances to support its consideration of whether the County charter should provide for county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of conflict. Currently, the County and City have overlapping authority on a broad range of local matters, from certain business and land use regulations to standards promoting public safety, which can result in numerous instances where County and City ordinances conflict or diverge based on jurisdiction.

This item provides a summary of the potential benefits of countywide regulatory authority as presented in the November 6th analysis, followed by detailed examples of current regulatory conflicts between the County and City to further support the Committee's evaluation. As discussed at the November 6th meeting, staff did not conduct an exhaustive review of every circumstance in which County and City ordinances might conflict due to the comprehensive nature of such an exercise and because there are many instances where differences exist but have not raised regulatory or administrative conflicts.

Summary of Comparative Review of Charter Counties:

Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. As detailed in the November 6th analysis, among the 18 comparable charter counties in Florida:

- Eleven (11) county charters provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances.
- Seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail without exception.
- None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception.

All county charters may establish any of these approaches through a charter amendment approved by the local electorate. In evaluating whether county ordinances should prevail over all municipal ordinances in the event of conflict, the Committee was provided with potential benefits of such a proposed amendment for consideration, as summarized below:

- Avoiding Potential Interlocal Conflicts and Disputes
- Providing Regulatory Uniformity on Countywide Issues
- Providing Unified Standards Based on Geography, not Political Jurisdiction
- Providing for More User-Friendly Government
- Establishing Minimum Community Standards Countywide

The following provides a more detailed analysis of a sample of existing regulatory conflicts for the Committee's consideration.

#1: Differing Standards for Street Renaming

Many critical systems, such as transportation, stormwater, and floodplain management, cross jurisdictional boundaries and may benefit from uniformity to increase safety. The potential problems of such inconsistencies are most evident in the separate street renaming procedures recently adopted by the City in May 2024, as emergency responders depend on a unified countywide street naming and addressing system to locate incidents quickly. The following provides an overview of the County's regulatory structure for street naming and renaming in comparison to the recent regulations adopted by the City for street renaming within its jurisdiction, and the current implications of these conflicting standards.

In 1995, the County's Uniform Street Naming and Property Numbering System Ordinance was adopted, authorizing the Board to name and rename streets within both the incorporated and unincorporated areas (with the exception of state roads). The Ordinance established uniform criteria and guidelines for street naming, street renaming, and property address assignments countywide. The intent of these countywide standards was primarily to address public safety and emergency services-related issues that had historically resulted from the uncoordinated and non-sequenced assignment of street addresses and from duplicate or phonetically similar street names.

As set forth under the County's Ordinance, the Joint Addressing Steering Committee (ASC) was established to promote intergovernmental coordination and review of all street names countywide. The ASC is comprised of interagency representatives, including the Consolidated Dispatch Center, the City Fire Department, County Emergency Medical Services, United States Postal Service, and the Leon County School Board, and various others, to review street naming and renaming requests for recommendation to the Board. The ASC has historically not recommended approval of street naming and renaming requests that would create a duplicate street name, could be confused with an existing street name when spoken or written, or would result in fragmented naming of roadways. In addition, the ASC is authorized to approve street renaming to eliminate duplicate or phonetically similar street names for emergency purposes if a safety issue exists. In such instances when street names must be changed, the ASC determines which street names to change by considering which change would affect the least number of people, the street with the fewest intersections, etc.

On May 8, 2024, the City adopted an ordinance providing the City Commission authority to rename roads within the municipal limits (excluding County-maintained and state roads). Since the County Charter currently provides for municipal ordinances to prevail over county ordinances in the event of a conflict, the County is now precluded from applying its countywide naming criteria to the renaming of city-maintained streets. This has resulted in the renaming of more than half a dozen roadways by the City that bear different names, creating a fragmented street naming approach which can impact public safety. Recognizing that the streets renamed by the City to date have been in recognition of individuals, it should be noted that both the County and City allow for honorary designation of roadways to memorialize an individual without changing the name of the street. Honorary designations do not require abutting property owners to change their address nor present challenges related to public safety and emergency response.

Ultimately, the creation of separate jurisdictional standards undermines the longstanding efforts of the ASC to establish consistent naming across segments of roadways and chronological numbering of addresses countywide. In regard to street renaming, regulatory uniformity is critical to ensuring accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property for citizens no matter where they reside within the County. This issue is one example of countywide regulatory uniformity that the Committee may wish to consider when determining whether county ordinances should prevail when a conflict exists.

#2: Public Notice of New Developments for Neighboring Areas

Another example of an existing regulatory conflict are the County and City's public notice requirements for new developments. Public notice is an important part of the development review processes, ensuring that nearby residents are informed when a proposed development project may affect their neighborhood. Both local governments establish their own respective public notice requirements that vary based on development type (Type A through Type D). Public notice requirements are based upon the type and intensity of development, extent of environmental impacts, and zoning district in which the development site is located. Currently, the County and City have varying requirements for when mailed notices must be sent to notify surrounding property owners within a specified radius of a proposed development.

For example, "Type A" reviews are generally for smaller-scale residential and non-residential developments that are consistent with all local zoning and development standards. As set forth under the County's Land Development Code, public notice of the application review meeting for Type A developments must be mailed at least seven calendar days in advance to each affected property owner located within 600 feet of the project. Comparatively, the City's Land Development Code does not require any direct public notice to be provided to nearby property owners for Type A development reviews. "Type B" reviews, on the other hand, are for developments that require a higher level of review due to deviations from local code standards. For Type B reviews, the City requires a notification radius of 1,000 feet, while the County's notification radius is 800 feet.

This is an example where the Committee could consider a proposed charter amendment in which the County could develop an ordinance to establish minimum standards for public level of review for new developments that the City could exceed.

#3: Restrictions on the Retail Sale of Animals

The retail sale of animals is an example of a regulatory matter that is currently subject to differing jurisdictional standards. In January 2025, as requested by the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS), the Board adopted an ordinance to prohibit the retail sale of dogs, cats, and rabbits in unincorporated Leon County. According to HSUS, prohibiting the retail sale of animals encourages adoptions and decreases the number of animals that end up in animal shelters. While HSUS requested the same action to be taken by the City, the City does not have an ordinance prohibiting the retail sale of dogs, cats, or rabbits within its jurisdictional limits.

The City owns and operates the Animal Shelter which the County funds 45% of the operating budget and splits the cost of capital improvement projects at the facility. Over the past two years, the City's Animal Shelter has experienced an 18% increase in the number of dogs and a 9% increase in the number of cats admitted to the shelter. The Leon County Humane Society has also experienced a 50% increase in owners seeking to surrender or rehome rabbits. A proposed charter amendment by the Committee could allow for a unified, countywide standard prohibiting the retail sale of animals and address a communitywide problem.

#4: Hours of Sale for Alcohol

During its last meeting, the Committee inquired about differences between County and City ordinances related to hours of sale for alcohol. In this case, the regulatory differences regarding alcohol sales between jurisdictions are minor. The City's Code of Laws prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages between the hours of 2:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m. on any day within City limits. Comparatively, the County's Code of Laws prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages in unincorporated Leon County between the hours of 2:00 a.m. and 7:00 a.m. on any day and all day Sunday (with certain exceptions set forth under the Code) in the unincorporated area. This is an example of a situation where the ordinance differences do not create significant issues or the need for uniformity countywide and would not be sufficiently necessary to pursue a charter amendment specific to this issue alone. However, a charter amendment would result in minimum standards that the City could exceed.

Summary and Next Steps

In summary, the Board selected to advance the one issue of whether county ordinances should supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict for the Committee's consideration. Building on the analysis presented at the November 6th meeting, this item provides detailed examples of current regulatory conflicts between the County and City for the Committee's consideration. The overlapping authority of both entities on various local matters can contribute to numerous instances where County and City ordinances conflict or diverge based on jurisdiction. As previously stated, this analysis does not serve as an exhaustive review of all regulatory conflicts as there are instances where discrepancies may exist but have not raised regulatory or administrative conflicts. It is important to note that such discrepancies can change over time as County and City regulations can change – as in, current conflicts for certain matters that exist today, may not exist in the future (and vice versa).

Following its review, the Committee could consider a charter amendment for county ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances for all matters or for specific subject matter(s) in the event of a conflict within municipal boundaries. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to preserve the existing charter provision which specifies that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of a conflict within municipal boundaries. These options are provided to facilitate the Committee's consideration of this issue. A simple majority vote of the Committee is needed to advance any of the proposed options.

Options:

1. Accept this report and table this issue.
2. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment providing that all county ordinances shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, to the extent otherwise permitted by law.
3. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment(s) providing that specific county ordinances or subject area(s), as identified by the Committee, shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.
4. Committee direction.

Summary:

As directed by the Board of County Commissioners, this item provides the Leon County Citizens Charter Review Committee (Committee) with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing for County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #5: Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its September 23, 2025 meeting, the Board of County Commissioners voted to advance the following charter amendment issue to the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee for review and consideration:

- Should County ordinances supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict?

The Leon County Charter requires a Citizen Charter Review Committee to be appointed by the Board every eight years to review the County's Home Rule Charter (Charter) and propose any amendments or revisions for placement on the general election ballot. As part of this process, the Board may limit or provide direction to the Committee to address specific issues it deems appropriate. For the current charter review process, the Board chose not to limit the Committee's purview. However, after consideration and deliberation of numerous policy issues, the Board selected one issue for the Committee to consider for advancement as a proposed charter amendment.

This item provides information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Analysis:

As a charter county, Leon County's authority is derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution) titled "CHARTER GOVERNMENT.":

> "Counties operating under county charters shall have all powers of local self-government not inconsistent with general or special law, or with special law approved by vote of the electors. The governing body of a county operating under a charter may enact county ordinances not inconsistent with general law. The charter shall provide which shall prevail in the event of conflict between county and municipal ordinances."

In accordance with the Constitution, Section 1.6 of the Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances shall prevail over County ordinances in the event of any conflict within the boundaries of the municipality, except as otherwise provided by law or the Charter. Furthermore, to the extent that a county and municipal ordinance cover the same subject without conflict, then both ordinances shall be effective and supplemental to the other. This provision from the original County Chater remained unchanged until 2010.

During the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review process, the Committee advanced a charter amendment to establish countywide minimum environmental regulations which was approved by voters during the 2010 General Election. This was an important issue for the community at that time to address rapid development and apply one set of consistent rules for environmental protection, especially for projects that crossed political jurisdiction boundaries or sought to annex into the City of Tallahassee (City) for the purpose of avoiding more stringent environmental regulations. Accordingly, Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter provides for the establishment of minimum environmental standards by County ordinances to be effective within unincorporated and incorporated areas of the County. While this provision effectively supersedes municipal ordinances that do meet the minimum environmental standards established by County ordinance, Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter allows municipalities to establish more stringent environmental protections within the incorporated area of the County.

While the County has broad powers under Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution, Section 2(b) of Article VIII of the Constitution also provides broad authority to municipalities, as follows:

> "Municipalities shall have governmental, corporate and proprietary powers to enable them to conduct municipal government, perform municipal functions and render municipal services, and may exercise any power for municipal purposes except as otherwise provided by law."

Municipal authority as set forth under the Constitution, however, is not applicable to any subject expressly preempted to state or county government by the Constitution or by general law. Similarly, municipal authority is limited when a subject or specific policy area is preempted by a county charter. Notwithstanding these limitations, municipalities would advocate the importance of their Home Rule authority and preservation of local self-governance to address specific local issues, needs, and preferences.

Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution provides charter counties with regulatory authority to determine which ordinance should prevail when county or municipal ordinances regulate the same subject, as set forth under the Charter. However, it is important to note this preemption does not include the ability to transfer municipal services to the county because such a "Transfer of powers" is separately governed by the process provided for in Article VIII, Section 4 of the Constitution. For example, a county charter amendment can regulate environmental standards within municipalities but cannot reassign or transfer a municipal department, personnel, or assets to the county government.

Article VIII, Section 4 of the Constitution provides a generalized structure under which powers or functions may be transferred between local governments, including counties and municipalities. Specifically, any function or power of a municipality to be transferred to a county (or vice versa) must first be authorized by law or by resolutions adopted by the affected governing bodies, followed by approval from the electors of both affected governments through a dual referendum. A "dual referendum" requires the residents of the city and the unincorporated area to separately approve the referendum.

Comparative Review of Charter Counties

As noted previously, Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. Attachment #1 provides a comparison of Florida's 20 charter counties relating to conflicts with municipal ordinances. It is important to note when comparing charter governments that two Florida counties are very unique. Duval County is a consolidated government and does not reference county or municipal ordinance conflicts in its charter. Miami-Dade County's charter predates the 1968 Florida Constitution which provides the foundation for charter county government in Florida for the remaining 66 counties. Miami-Dade County's charter establishes a two-tier hierarchy and a "central metropolitan government" whereby county ordinances prevail on matters of countywide concern in the event of a conflict with any of the 34 incorporated municipalities.

The following is a summary of the remaining 18 Florida charter counties:

- Eleven (11) county charters provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances.
- Seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail without exception.
- None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception.

Among the 18 comparable charter counties in Florida, Leon County is among the majority (11) which provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances or subject areas. Those 11 charter counties are: Alachua, Broward, Charlotte, Columbia, Leon, Orange, Palm Beach, Pinellas, Sarasota, Seminole, and Volusia. For Leon County, the establishment of minimum environmental standards is the only subject area whereby a county ordinance prevails over a municipal ordinance at this time. As described previously, this was an important issue in 2010 due to rapid development taking place in our community. Voter approval of this amendment to the Charter unified environmental regulations countywide based on environmental features such as water basins and drainage, chronic flooding conditions, and the topography of our community rather than political jurisdiction boundaries. It also reduced the complexity of having two different sets of environmental standards and the various interpretations of those standards. Examples from other county charters that provide for county ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances in specific circumstances include the regulation of adult entertainment, alcohol sales, and elements of the comprehensive plan. Additional information and examples are provided in Attachment #1.

Comparatively, seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail in the event of any conflict without exception. Those seven (7) charter counties are: Brevard, Clay, Hillsborough, Lee, Osceola, Polk, and Wakulla.

As previously stated, most charter counties provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances. None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception. All, however, have the ability to provide for either through charter amendment as approved by the local electorate. In evaluating the need for a proposed Leon County Charter amendment which provides that county ordinances prevail over all municipal ordinances in the event of conflict and to the extent permitted by law, the Committee may wish to consider the potential benefits of such a proposed amendment including:

- Avoiding Potential Interlocal Conflicts and Disputes: Providing for county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances can reduce interlocal disputes and administrative duplication. For example, section 252.38, Florida Statutes, provides county governments with countywide jurisdiction in implementing emergency management plans to ensure efficient and orderly coordination of emergency operations. While a municipality has authority to create its own supplemental emergency management plan, such plan must be consistent with, and subject to, the county plan. This is in place to ensure the provision of coordinated standards, response, and public messaging during emergencies to avoid disputes, delays, and confusion from reconciling differing standards. Accordingly, a proposed charter amendment could extend similar countywide consistency to other regulatory areas where overlapping County and City ordinances may currently create uncertainty or fragmented implementation.

- Providing Regulatory Uniformity on Countywide Issues: Many critical systems — transportation, stormwater, floodplain management, and other infrastructure — cross jurisdictional boundaries and may benefit from uniformity to increase safety. The dangers of inconsistency are most evident in the separate street renaming procedures recently adopted by the City because emergency responders depend on a unified countywide street naming and addressing system to locate incidents quickly.

  On May 8, 2024, the City adopted an ordinance granting itself authority to rename roads within the municipal limits—excluding County-maintained and state roads. Since municipal ordinances prevail over County ordinances in the event of conflict, the County is now precluded from applying its countywide naming criteria to city-maintained streets. Since that time, the City has renamed more than half a dozen roadways with the municipal limits resulting in portions of roadways that bear different names and creating a fragmented approach that increases the potential for misrouted 9-1-1 calls, confusion, delayed response times, and fatal outcomes. Consistent naming across segments of roadways and chronological numbering of addresses are essential to ensure accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property.

- Providing Unified Standards Based on Geography, not Political Jurisdiction: As described previously, during the 2010 General Election, an amendment to the Charter was approved by voters to establish countywide minimum environmental regulations. This amendment was originally considered by the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review Committee in response to chronic flooding issues that were exacerbated by conflicting City and County stormwater standards during a period of rapid development in our community. Specifically, as stormwater and drainage networks often cross jurisdictional boundaries, differing retention or discharge standards in one area regulated by the City can result in exacerbated flooding and downstream damage in a different area regulated by the County. In other words, countywide standards were needed to address the upstream conditions and downstream impacts of stormwater in a consistent manner to reduce flooding impacts and to protect the quality of all surface water bodies in the community.

  Acknowledging that environmental resources and conditions do not recognize political jurisdictional boundaries, the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review Committee identified the need to establish countywide environmental standards to ensure protection and regulation of natural resources that are interconnected throughout our community. As approved by voters, today we have minimum environmental regulations based on environmental features such as water basins and drainage, geography, and the topography of our community – and not political boundary.

- Providing for More User-Friendly Government: Residents and businesses can experience multiple and conflicting regulations among county and municipal governments which causes confusion and frustration when interacting with local governments. The County and City receive calls and emails on a daily basis from constituents unsure of which local government regulates certain matters or requesting clarification on differing standards based on jurisdiction. Social media often perpetuates the confusion on community forums where City and County residents mistakenly exchange information on local government services and regulations without regard to their separate jurisdictional standards.

  Business owners and developers may be impacted by conflicting regulations such as signage requirements. Meanwhile, residents and neighborhoods may be impacted by conflicting regulations that require notification of new nearby developments. Providing for county ordinances to supersede conflicting municipal ordinances makes clear which authority has jurisdiction on important community issues and delivers one consistent set of regulations that residents and businesses can better understand regardless of which specific neighborhood or municipality within the county they are in.

- Establishing Minimum Community Standards Countywide: Minimum regulatory standards, such as the environmental standards established in the Charter in 2010, are intended to serve as a floor which a municipality must meet but can exceed by enacting stricter regulations. Not only do minimum standards reduce complexity, but they also ensure all residents are protected by consistent, minimum standards countywide. In addition to environmental issues, establishing countywide standards would create the opportunity to establish minimum community standards for various local matters from neighborhood protection issues such as noise control and short-term vacation rental regulations, to public safety issues like implementation of school zone cameras. Minimum standards are intended to serve as a baseline to protect the overall health and well-being of all citizens, while preserving the local autonomy of municipalities through the ability to exceed the minimum standards.

Next Steps

As directed by the Board of County Commissioners, this item provides the Committee with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict. In addition to the analysis provided herein, the Committee will receive a presentation on this agenda item and staff will be available to answer questions.

Several options are provided to facilitate the Committee's consideration of this issue. A simple majority vote of the Committee is needed to take action. Should the Committee not wish to further consider or advance this issue, it may table the issue at this time (Option #1). Alternatively, the Committee may wish to seek additional information and analysis. Option #2 would facilitate such a request, as specified by the Committee, with direction for staff to bring the information back at a future meeting.

Two options are provided to advance this issue to the next phase of the charter review process should the Committee support a charter amendment for County ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances in the event of conflict, to the extent otherwise permitted by law (Option #3), or a charter amendment for County ordinances on specific subject matter(s) to prevail over municipal ordinances (Option #4). Should the Committee provide direction to prepare a proposed charter amendment, the draft language would be brought back to the Committee at a future "decision meeting" as provided in the bylaws.

This item recommends Option #5 and seeks the Committee's direction which may include the options presented herein or alternative direction as determined by the Committee.

Options:

1. Accept this report and table this issue.
2. Request additional information and analysis on charter government, regulatory authority, and/or the prevalence of county ordinances in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.
3. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment providing that all county ordinances shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, to the extent otherwise permitted by law.
4. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment(s) providing that specific county ordinances or subject area(s), as identified by the Committee, shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.
5. Committee direction.

Recommendation:

Option #5: Committee direction.

Citizen Charter Review Committee
November 20, 2025
11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.
Leon County Main Library
Programming Room

The Leon County 2025-2026 Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC) met on November 20, 2025, at 11:30 a.m. in the Leon County Main Library with Committee members Mary Ann Lindley, Chauncy Haynes, Darryl Jones, Sean Pittman, Linda Bond Edwards, Henry Lewis, III, Bruce Strouble, Jr., Howard Kessler, Ryan Ray, Liz Ellis, Joey Davis, Anita Favors, Barry Wilcox, Katrina Tuggerson, Slaton Murray, Max Herrle, Shamarial Roberson, Heidi Otway, William Smith and Jarrett Terry in attendance. Also present were County Administrator Vince Long, Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris, County Attorney Chasity O'Steen, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Nicki Hatch, Management Analyst Cameron Williams, and Clerk to the Board, Daniel J. Antonaccio.

Absent Member: Temple Robinson.

Call to Order and Opening Mary Ann Lindley, Chair

Chair Lindley called the meeting to order at 11:30 a.m. She reminded the Committee that the meeting would adjourn promptly at 1:30 p.m.

Consent:

Joey Davis moved, seconded by Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, to approve the consent Agenda as presented.

The motion passed 19 – 0 with Committee Members Sean Pittman and Temple Robinson not present.

2. Approval of November 6, 2025 Meeting Minutes

3. Receipt & File of Written Public Comments

Public Comment:

- David West appeared before the CCRC to express support for improving local government through consolidation. He suggested that a potential starting point could be merging the Leon County Sheriff's Office and the Tallahassee Police Department, noting that such consolidation could streamline operations and improve overall efficiency.

Board Issue for Committee Consideration - Ken Morris

Agenda Item A: Additional Analysis on Leon County Ordinances in Relation to Municipal Ordinances

Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris introduced the item with a summary of the additional information and analysis requested by the Committee, including examples of existing or potential regulatory conflicts from differing County and City ordinances.

- Sean Pittman arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

Chair Lindley outlined the four options presented to the Committee.

Ryan Ray addressed the topic of consolidation, observing that there is significant disagreement among committee members on the issue. He urged the group to proceed cautiously and avoid taking actions that could further erode home rule, which he remarked has already been under threat in recent years.

Ryan Ray moved for approval of Option #1, but it died for lack of second.

County Attorney O'Steen commented that, at their most recent meeting, the Board of County Commissioners directed county staff to prepare an analysis outlining the pros and cons of consolidation. She also noted that any consolidation effort would require action by the Florida Legislature, meaning it is not an issue this committee needs to consider for the 2026 ballot.

Slaton Murray requested clarification on the timeline for implementing an amendment.

Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris responded that the process begins with this committee reviewing the draft charter amendment, making any changes or recommendations, and then reporting it back to the Board of County Commissioners. After that, there will be public hearings in the summer prior to the final language being submitted to the Board of County Commissioners for consideration. Upon Board approval, the proposed charter amendment would be submitted to the Supervisor of Elections for placement on the ballot.

Anita Favors inquired about addressing issues without using a charter amendment.

County Attorney O'Steen responded that both the City and County can address issues without a charter amendment if they so choose.

Sean Pittman mentioned the issue of annexation, and whether the county should have some say in how that works.

County Attorney O'Steen stated that annexation is heavily dictated by state law, but there are some areas of flexibility.

Sean Pittman moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, to request additional information regarding annexation, including any applicable state preemption, and to examine the statutory processes related to annexation and the flexibility the County has in addressing annexation.

The motion carried 20 – 0 with Committee Member Temple Robinson not present.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Joey Davis, to accept the report and have information brought back on solutions outside of the Charter to address the street renaming/addressing issue.

Bruce Strouble, Jr. offered a friendly amendment to invite the City for insight.

Anita Favors questioned how amendments will be presented on the ballot.

County Administrator Long responded that any proposed amendments, as approved by the Board of County Commissioners, will appear individually on the ballot.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Joey Davis, for Option #4: Committee Direction to accept the report and have staff bring back information to resolve street renaming/addressing outside of the Charter with a friendly amendment, as introduced by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to invite City to provide insight.

The motion carried 20 – 0 with Committee Member Temple Robinson not present.

Max Herrle introduced the concept of consolidated law enforcement in the County.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Slaton Murray, to have the Leon County Sheriff's Office (LCSO) present information about the potential consolidation of LCSO and the Tallahassee Police Department.

The motion failed 14 – 6 with Joey Davis, Liz Ellis, Max Herrle, Bruce Strouble Jr., Barry Wilcox, and Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes in favor of the motion. Committee Member Temple Robinson was not present.

Committee Discussion on Proposed Charter Amendments

Nicki Hatch provided a brief outline of the two-step process for Committee's proposal and consideration of charter amendment proposals. First, members will have the opportunity to propose a broad concept to be added to the list of proposals on screen. Once all proposals are listed, the proposing member will have the opportunity to briefly explain their proposal and answer any questions. Following discussion, the Committee will take a vote on whether to have staff bring back additional analysis on the proposed concept.

Nicki Hatch explained that the on-screen list has been prepopulated with proposals raised by members at the previous CCRC meeting (November 6th) to be introduced and considered as part of the two-step process. The pre-populated list of proposals raised during the November 6, 2025, CCRC meeting include:

1. Establishment of an Office of Inspector General, Proposed by Howard Kessler
2. Voting Threshold to Select or Terminate the County Administrator, Proposed by Max Herrle
3. County Commission Compensation, Proposed by Max Herrle
4. Funding Mechanism for Affordable Housing, Proposed by Max Herrle
5. Funding Mechanism for Fire Services, Proposed by Max Herrle
6. Leon County Bill of Rights, Proposed by Max Herrle

Chair Lindley welcomed members to offer additional charter amendment proposals to be added to the list for consideration by the Committee.

The following proposal was added to the list for CCRC consideration:

7. Prioritization of Food Security, Proposed by Bruce Strouble, Jr.

The following proposals were explained for CCRC consideration:

1.) Establishment of an Office of Inspector General

Howard Kessler explained that his proposed charter amendment would create an independent Office of Inspector General to strengthen oversight, avoid conflicts of interest, and align Leon County's practices with national Inspector General standards. His proposal would shift ethics and compliance functions away from the County Administrator, provide separate legal counsel, require a supermajority for removal of the Inspector General, and extend oversight authority to Blueprint-related entities.

Ryan Ray inquired about how the proposed Office of Inspector General would interact with the City's existing oversight structures.

William Smith inquired about the current set up.

County Attorney O'Steen explained the County Attorney's role in enforcing the Code of Ethics, noting that general enforcement is carried out through the Human Resources Director in coordination with the County Attorney's Office.

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by Sean Pittman, for an agenda item to bring back an analysis for establishing an Office of Inspector General.

The motion carried 20 – 0 with Committee Member Temple Robinson not present.

2.) Voting Threshold to Select or Terminate the County Administrator

Max Herrle explained that his proposal would revise the Charter's current two-step process for selecting or removing the County Administrator by lowering the vote threshold from a majority-plus-one Commissioners to a simple majority. He noted that the proposal would retain the requirement of a second vote at a subsequent meeting, and that his intent was to align the process more closely with practices used in other charter counties.

Darryl Jones discussed how school boards across the state function and how having a higher threshold makes the process less arbitrary.

Vice Chairman Haynes requested historical context on the matter and commented that if such requirements were revised for the County Administrator, it should likewise apply to the County Attorney.

Vice Chairman Haynes moved, seconded by Joey Davis, to extend the meeting to 2:00 p.m.

The motion failed 18 – 2 with Vice Chairman Haynes and Joey Davis in favor of the motion. Committee Member Temple Robinson was not present.

County Attorney O'Steen clarified that the voting threshold to select or terminate the County Attorney is not in the Charter, but in County Ordinance.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Joey Davis, for an agenda item to brought back on a charter amendment lowering the threshold to select or terminate the County Administrator.

The motion failed 17-3 with Joey Davis, Max Herrle, and Jarrett Terry in favor of the motion. Committee Member Temple Robinson was not present.

Adjournment:

Chair Lindley adjourned the meeting at 1:32 p.m.

Summary:

This item provides the Citizen Charter Review Committee with information and analysis on annexation processes and procedures, as requested by the Committee at the November 20, 2025, meeting.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept status report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) at the November 20, 2025, meeting, this item provides information on annexation processes and procedures.

Annexation of unincorporated land within the County into the boundaries of the City of Tallahassee (City) is governed by Chapter 171, Florida Statutes (F.S.). In addition to statutory provisions, local annexations by the City are also governed by the City and County Interlocal Agreement Annexation Procedures (Interlocal Agreement), as required by the City-County Comprehensive Plan.

Statutorily, areas must meet certain standards and requirements to be eligible for annexation. If an area is deemed eligible for annexation into a municipality, Chapter 171, F.S., authorizes a municipality to annex unincorporated land by voluntary annexation or involuntary annexation.

Policy 2.1.4 of the Intergovernmental Coordination Element of the City-County Comprehensive Plan (Policy) reaffirms that annexation by the City must comply with the requirements of Chapter 171, F.S., and the Interlocal Agreement. The Policy further requires that the Interlocal Agreement include:

- Annexation review policies and procedures that allow the County not less than twenty (20) days prior to the first reading of the ordinance considering such annexation(s) to review the proposed annexation(s);
- Dispute resolution procedures should the County object to any proposed annexation;
- The requirement for a City Annexation Plan prior to the passage of any ordinance for annexation which shall include, at a minimum, a specific description of the proposed areas to be annexed, an assurance of land use compatibility, the schedule for the delivery of City provided urban services to the area proposed for annexation, how the level of service standards will be met, the facilities to be provided and the responsible entity for said facilities, and, in the event of a voluntary annexation, the amount of any agreed upon water and/or sewer rebate that would be due to the petitioner (Note, this requirement has been modified by the feasibility study now required pursuant to section 171.042, F.S.).

More information about the different processes and procedures governing these different types of annexation is provided in the Analysis section.

Analysis:

Any property to be annexed into a municipality must be:

- Contiguous to the municipal limits,
- Reasonably compact, and
- Cannot create enclaves.

Florida Statutes provides processes and procedures for a municipality to voluntarily and involuntarily annex property into the municipal limits. In Leon County and the City, voluntary annexation generally occurs and is associated with new development and requires the approval of both Commissions. Involuntary annexation of property in our community is uncommon and, generally, requires a referendum of affected property owners. The following sections describe the types of annexations along with the requirements and respective procedures to effectuate an annexation.

Voluntary Annexations

Pursuant to section 171.044, F.S., the owner(s) of real property in an unincorporated area which is contiguous to a municipality and reasonably compact may petition the municipality to be annexed into the municipality. Such petition must be accompanied by the signatures of all owners of property in the area proposed to be annexed and need only meet the criteria of contiguousness and compactness, and cannot result in the creation of enclaves.

In applying these standards, certain terms are statutorily defined. The term "contiguous" generally means that "a substantial part of a boundary of the territory sought to be annexed by a municipality is coterminous with a part of the boundary of a municipality." Section 171.031(3), F.S. A property is considered "reasonably compact" if the property is concentrated in a single area and precludes any action which would create enclaves, pockets, or finger area in serpentine patterns.

As defined under section 171.031(5), F.S., "enclave" means: 1) any unincorporated improved or developed area that is enclosed within and bounded on all sides by a single municipality, or 2) any unincorporated improved or developed area that is enclosed within and bounded by a single municipality and a natural or manmade obstacle that allows the passage of vehicular traffic to that unincorporated area only through the municipality.

Locally, once a petition is received by the City, the Interlocal Agreement sets forth the process by which the City and County coordinate annexation approvals (Attachment #1). Per the Interlocal Agreement, notice is provided to the County for official review and comment by the County Commission at least twenty (20) days before the first reading of the annexation ordinance by the City Commission. If the County does not object to the annexation, the City may adopt the ordinance at its next public hearing. If the County does object to the annexation, the annexation is delayed so that the parties can engage in dispute resolution as provided by the Interlocal Agreement.

In the last five years, 15 voluntary annexation requests were submitted and approved by both the County and City Commissions without objection. This process is far simpler than most involuntary annexations since no referendum is required, one hundred (100) percent of the underlying property owners have consented to annexation into the City limits, and the character of the land does not need to meet the "urban purpose" criteria required of involuntary annexations (as discussed below).

Notably, section 171.044(4), F.S., expressly provides that the method of voluntary annexation in that statute is supplemental to any other procedure provided by general or special law, except that the section does not apply to municipalities in counties with charters which provide an exclusive method of municipal annexation.

Involuntary Annexations

Characteristics of Area Proposed for Involuntary Annexation

In addition to the requirement that the area to be annexed is contiguous and compact, part or all of the area to be annexed must comply with additional statutory requirements when a municipality initiates the annexation of property as set forth under section 171.043, F.S.

Part or all of the area to be annexed must be developed for urban purposes. The term "urban purposes" means that the land is used intensively for residential, commercial, industrial, institutional, and governmental purposes, including any parcels retained in their natural state or kept free of development as dedicated greenbelt areas. Section 171.031(13), F.S.

A property is developed for urban purposes if it:

- Has a total resident population equal to a least two (2) persons for each acre of land included within its boundaries;
- Has a total resident population equal to at least one (1) person for each acre of land included within its boundaries and is subdivided into lots and tracts so that at least sixty (60) percent of the total number of lots and tracts are one (1) acre or less in size; or
- Is so developed that at least sixty (60) percent of the total number of lots and tracts in the area at the time of annexation are used for urban purposes, and it is subdivided into lots and tracts so that at least sixty (60) percent of the total acreage, not counting the acreage used at the time of annexation for nonresidential urban purposes, consists of lots and tracts five (5) acres or less in size.

In addition to the area developed for urban purposes, a municipality may include in the area to be annexed property that is not being developed for urban purposes if such area either:

- Lies between the municipal boundary and an area developed for urban purposes, so that the area developed for urban purposes is either not adjacent to the municipal boundary or cannot be served by the municipality without extending services or water or sewer lines through such sparsely developed area; or
- Is adjacent, on at least sixty (60) percent of its external boundary, to any combination of the municipal boundary and the boundary of an area or areas developed for urban purposes as defined above.

General Involuntary Annexation Procedures

In 2023, section 171.042, F.S., was amended to require a municipality seeking to expand its boundaries to conduct a feasibility study setting forth the plans to provide urban services to any area to be annexed before commencing the statutorily prescribed annexation procedures in section

171.0413, F.S., which are summarized below. The analysis for such study must be "conducted by qualified staff or consultants of the economic, market, technical, financial, and management feasibility of the property annexation." Section 171.031(6), F.S. As used in this statute, "urban services" are defined as "any services offered by a municipality, either directly or by contract, to any of its present residents."

Certain documentation and information must also be included in the feasibility study, including maps showing certain boundaries, information about existing and proposed utility infrastructure, and the general land use pattern in the area to be annexed. The study must also include statements certifying that the area to be annexed meets the criteria in section 171.043, F.S. (outlined below), and setting forth the municipality's plans for extending to the area to be annexed each major municipal service performed within the municipality at the time of annexation.

The municipality must file a copy of the feasibility study with the board of county commissioners of the county in which the municipality is located not fewer than fifteen (15) days before commencing the annexation procedures under section 171.0413, F.S. Failure to timely meet this statutory deadline may be the basis for a cause of action to invalidate the annexation.

Additionally, not less than ten (10) days prior to the date set for the first public hearing required to adopt an annexation ordinance pursuant to section 171.0413(1), F.S., the municipality must mail a written notice to each person who resides or owns property within the area proposed to be annexed, with a description of the annexation proposal, the time and place for each public hearing to be held regarding the annexation, and the place or places within the municipality where the proposed ordinance may be inspected by the public. The clerk of the governing body must also maintain a copy of the notice for public inspection during regular business hours.

Any parcel of land owned by one individual, corporation, or legal entity, or owned collectively by one or more individuals, corporations, or legal entities, must be annexed in its entirety, though the property owner can waive this requirement. Section 171.0413(3), F.S. Additionally, if more than seventy (70) percent of the acres of land in an area proposed to be annexed is owned by individuals, corporations, or legal entities that are not registered electors of such area, the area cannot be annexed unless the owners of more than fifty (50) percent of the acres of land in such area consent to such annexation, and the consent must be obtained by the parties proposing the annexation before the referendum to be held as referenced below.

If the area to be annexed meets the characteristics criteria set forth above, a municipality may adopt an annexation ordinance for one reasonably compact area proposed to be annexed after holding at least two (2) advertised public hearings; however, the ordinance does not become effective until the ordinance is submitted to a vote of the registered electors of the area proposed to be annexed. Section 171.0413(1), F.S. The municipality may also choose to submit the annexation ordinance to a separate vote of the registered electors of the annexing municipality. The municipality must comply with statutory notice requirements and information to be provided at polling places.

If approved by a majority vote of the electors to be annexed (and also a majority vote of the electors within the municipal limits if the municipality submits the annexation ordinance for a separate vote), the ordinance becomes effective ten (10) days after the referendum or as otherwise provided in the ordinance, but not more than one (1) year following the date of the referendum. If the annexation ordinance fails to receive a majority vote, the ordinance does not become effective, and the area cannot be proposed for annexation for a period of two (2) years from the date of the referendum.

In instances where the area to be annexed does not have any registered electors on the date the ordinance is fully adopted, no vote of electors of the area to be annexed is required, but the owners of more than fifty (50) percent of the parcels of land in the area proposed to be annexed must consent to the annexation prior to the final adoption of the ordinance.

For involuntary annexation of unincorporated land in Leon County, the Interlocal Agreement requires the same notice and opportunity to review and comment by the County Commission prior to adoption of the annexation ordinance as for voluntary annexations (Attachment #1).

Involuntary Annexation of Enclaves

In order to eliminate enclaves of unincorporated areas surrounded by a single municipality, section 171.046, F.S., allows for the annexation of enclaves without a referendum by interlocal agreement between the municipality and county. Enclaves eligible for involuntary annexation under this process must:

- Meet the statutory definition of "enclave" as defined in section 171.031(5), F.S.,
- Consist of 110 acres of less,
- Be surrounded by a single municipality, and
- Be improved or developed.

The statute also allows a municipality to annex a developed or improved enclave of 110 acres or less upon a referendum by at least sixty (60) percent of the registered voters who reside in the enclave if the enclave has fewer than twenty-five (25) registered voters.

Previous County Commission Consideration of Annexation Procedures and Processes

At the July 8, 2025, meeting, the County Commission requested that staff provide legal analysis on issues to determine whether to advance the issues for consideration to the Committee. Specifically, the County Commission asked for a legal analysis regarding the establishment of an exclusive method of municipal annexation in the County Charter whereby the County can propose the annexation of unincorporated property into the City. The Board also asked for legal analysis regarding whether the County Charter can incorporate all unincorporated property inside Capital Circle to be within the City limits.

As presented at the September 15, 2025, meeting (Attachment #2), the requested analysis detailed the uniform process for involuntary annexation provided under Florida Statutes which preempts counties from establishing an exclusive method for involuntary annexations by charter.

The analysis also detailed the current procedures for voluntary annexation in Leon County set forth under the County and City Interlocal Agreement, as required by the City-County Comprehensive Plan and as authorized by Florida Statutes. Notably, the Interlocal Agreement has an indefinite term and may only be terminated by "mutual consent of both parties." Therefore, any charter amendment seeking to create an exclusive method for voluntary annexations would still be subject to the terms of the Interlocal Agreement. Following its review of these issues, the Board opted not to advance either of the annexation issues to the Committee for consideration.

INTERLOCAL AGREEMENT BETWEEN THE CITY OF TALLAHASSEE AND LEON COUNTY FOR ANNEXATION PROCEDURES

THIS INTERLOCAL AGREEMENT ("Agreement") is made and entered into on this 25th day of July, 2016, by and between LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA, a political subdivision of the State of Florida ("County") and the CITY OF TALLAHASSEE, a Florida municipal corporation ("City").

RECITALS

WHEREAS, On May 18, 2016, and on May 24, 2016, the City of Tallahassee City Commission and the Leon County Board of County Commissioners respectively approved an amendment to Policy 2.1.4 of the Intergovernmental Coordination Element of the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan governing annexation of properties into the City of Tallahassee;

WHEREAS, Policy 2.1.4 provides that the County and the City shall set out procedures for annexation by an interlocal agreement; and

WHEREAS, the County and the City desire to enter into an agreement to set out such procedures for annexation.

NOW THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual promises and covenants, herein contained and set forth, and obligations herein contained, and subject to the terms and conditions herein stated, the City and County hereby agree as follows:

1. City Annexation Plan. Prior to the passage of any ordinance for annexation, the City shall prepare and have available for public inspection a plan for annexation ("City Annexation Plan") setting forth the schedule for the delivery of City-provided urban services to the property subject to annexation and which shall include:

    a. A specific description of the proposed areas to be annexed, including the annexation of right-of-ways, if any;
    b. An assurance of land use compatibility;
    c. The facilities to be provided and the provider for such facilities;
    d. How level of service standards will be met;
    e. For voluntary annexation, the amount of any agreed upon water and/or sewer rebate that will be due to the petitioner.

2. Voluntary Annexation. When the City receives a petition for voluntary annexation, it will provide notice of the petition, together with the parcel number(s) and ownership information available from the Leon County Property Appraiser, to the relevant City departments for official review and comment, and to the County Administrator. The City Annexation Plan together with the petition for each annexation shall be provided by the City to the County Administrator, the County's Director of Development Support and Environmental Management and the County Attorney, and shall be provided at least twenty (20) calendar days before the first reading of the ordinance considering such annexation, where such period shall also be at least five (5) calendar days before the next regularly scheduled Board of County Commissioners ("Board") meeting. The Board shall have the opportunity to review, comment, and suggest changes regarding the proposed annexation at a Board meeting prior to the adoption of the annexation ordinance(s) by the City Commission, and any Board comments will be provided to the City Manager at least five (5) calendar days prior to the public hearing on the annexation ordinance(s).

3. County objections to proposed annexation. In the event that the County objects to the annexation, the City Manager and County Administrator, or their designees, shall meet and confer and fully discuss the areas of concern expressed by the County. The City shall delay the annexation process for a period not to exceed thirty (30) days for the purpose of holding the joint meeting. Should the joint meeting resolve the dispute, such resolution shall be reduced to writing and presented to the City Manager and County Administrator for appropriate action consistent therewith. In the event the County continues to object to the proposed annexation following the joint meeting, the City and County shall submit the dispute to mediation. The expense of a mutually acceptable mediator shall be divided equally between the City and County. The City shall delay the annexation process for a period not to exceed sixty (60) days for the purpose of conducting the mediation proceedings. The City Manager and the County Administrator shall represent the parties at the mediation. Should the mediation resolve the dispute, such resolution shall be reduced to writing and presented to the City Commission and County Commission for appropriate action consistent therewith. In the event the County continues to object to the proposed annexation, then either party may pursue whatever remedies may be available at law, in equity, or otherwise.

4. Dispute Resolution. Any dispute arising under this Agreement, which is not the subject of the procedures set out in section 3, shall be subject to the procedures set out in this section. The provisions of the "Florida Governmental Conflict Resolution Act" shall not apply to disputes under this Agreement, as alternative dispute resolution processes are set forth in section 3 and section 4.

   a. The aggrieved party shall give written notice to the other party in writing, setting forth the nature of the dispute, date of occurrence (if known), and proposed resolution, hereinafter referred to as the "Dispute Notice."
   b. Should the parties be unable to reconcile any dispute, the City Manager and County Administrator, or their designees, shall meet at the earliest opportunity, but in any event within ten (10) days from the date that the Dispute Notice is received, to discuss and resolve the dispute. If the dispute is resolved to the mutual satisfaction of the parties, they shall report their decision, in writing, to the City Commission and Board of County Commissioners. If the City Manager and County Administrator, or their designees, are unable to reconcile the dispute, they shall report their impasse to the City Commission and Board of County Commissioners.

c. If a dispute is not resolved by the foregoing step, within forty-five (45) days after delivery of the Dispute Notice, unless such time is extended by mutual agreement of the parties, then either party may require the dispute to be submitted to mediation by delivering written notice thereof (the "Mediation Notice") to the other party. The Mayor shall represent the City and the Chair shall represent the County. The mediator shall be certified in accordance Rule 10.100(d), Florida Rules for Mediators, and shall be selected by the parties within ten (10) days following receipt of the Mediation Notice. The mediator shall also have sufficient knowledge and experience in the subject of the dispute. If agreement on a mediator cannot be reached in that ten (10) day period, then either party can request that a mediator be selected by the American Arbitration Association, and such selection shall be binding on the parties. The costs of the mediator shall be borne equally by the parties.

d. If an amicable resolution of a dispute has not been reached within sixty (60) calendar days following selection of the mediator, or by such later date as may be mutually agreed upon by the parties, then, upon the agreement of both parties, such dispute may be referred to binding arbitration; otherwise, each party may pursue whatever remedies may be available at law, in equity, or otherwise. If the dispute is so referred, such arbitration shall be conducted in accordance with the Florida Arbitration Code (Chapter 682, Florida Statutes).

    i. Such arbitration shall be initiated by delivery, from one party (the "Petitioner") to the other (the "Respondent"), of a written Arbitration Notice therefore containing a statement of the nature of the dispute involved. The Respondent, within ten (10) days following its receipt of such Arbitration Notice, shall deliver an answering statement to the Petitioner. After the delivery of such statements, either party may make new or different claims by providing the other with written notice thereof specifying the nature of such claims involved.

    ii. Within ten (10) days following the delivery of such Arbitration Notice, each party shall select an arbitrator and shall deliver written notice of that selection to the other. If either party fails to select an arbitrator within such time, the other party may make application to the court for such appointment in accordance with the Florida Arbitration Code. Within ten (10) days following delivery of the last of such written notices, the two arbitrators so selected shall confer and shall select a third arbitrator.

iii. The arbitration hearing shall be commenced in Leon County, Florida within sixty (60) days following selection of the third arbitrator. Except as may be specifically provided herein, the arbitration shall be conducted in accordance with Rules R-23 – R-48 of the Commercial Arbitration Rules of the American Arbitration Association.

5. Termination. This Agreement shall remain in effect unless terminated by mutual consent of the parties.

6. General provisions.

a. Governing law and venue. This Agreement shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the State of Florida. Any action to enforce any of the provisions of this Agreement shall be maintained in Tallahassee, Leon County, Florida. The parties waive the right to trial by jury in any litigation arising from, concerning or relating to this Agreement.
b. Waiver. Failure to insist upon strict compliance with any term, covenant or condition of this Agreement shall not be deemed a waiver of it. No waiver or relinquishment of a right or power under this Agreement shall be deemed a waiver of that right or power at any other time.
c. Modification. This Agreement shall not be modified, except in writing duly executed by the parties hereto.
d. Entire agreement. This Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to the matters contained herein, and all prior agreements or arrangements between them with respect to such matter are superseded by this Agreement.
e. Ambiguity. This Agreement has been negotiated by the parties with the advice of counsel and, in the event of an ambiguity herein, such ambiguity shall not be construed against any party as the author hereof.
f. Costs and Attorney's Fees. In the event of litigation between the parties to construe the terms of this Agreement or otherwise arising out of this Agreement, the prevailing party in such litigation shall be entitled to recover from the other party its reasonable costs and attorney's fees incurred in maintaining or defending the subject litigation. The term litigation shall include appellate proceedings.
g. Severability. It is intended that each section of this Agreement shall be viewed as separate and divisible, and in the event that any section shall be held to be invalid, the remaining sections and parts shall continue to be in full force and effect.

7. Effective date. This Agreement shall be effective on the date of the last approval hereof.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties cause this Interlocal Agreement to be executed by their duly authorized representatives this 25th day of July, 2016.

Agenda Item #26

September 15, 2025

To: Honorable Chairman and Members of the Board

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Appointments to the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee, Preliminary Committee Bylaws, and Analysis on Potential Charter Amendment Topics

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Chandika Basdeo, Special Projects Coordinator

Statement of Issue:

This item seeks Board appointments to the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC) and consideration of preliminary CCRC Bylaws. In addition, as requested at the July 8, 2025 meeting, this item provides legal analysis on issues proposed by the Board to determine whether to advance for consideration by the CCRC.

The CCRC will convene on October 23, 2025, to review the Leon County Charter and propose recommended amendments or revisions to the Board of County Commissioners for placement on the 2026 general election ballot. The CCRC is scheduled to meet biweekly on Thursdays in the Leon County Library until February 19, 2026 (120 days).

Fiscal Impact:

This item has a fiscal impact. Increasing the CCRC to 21 members requires the relocation of CCRC meetings from the Commission Chambers to the Leon County Library and requires an estimated $90,000 in associated costs to facilitate and broadcast meetings. Funding is available in the FY 2026 Tentative Budget to support the additional resource needs for the CCRC.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Appoint three members by each Commissioner to the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC).

Option #2: Approve the preliminary CCRC Bylaws to be presented to the CCRC for adoption at its first meeting on October 23, 2025 (Attachment #1).

Option #3: Provide direction to staff on potential charter amendment issues to be advanced to the CCRC for further consideration.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its July 8, 2025 meeting, the Board received an overview of the proposed charter review process and provided options and recommendations regarding the establishment of a CCRC. At that time, the Board directed staff to prepare an agenda item for the Board's appointment of a 21-member Citizen Charter Review Committee (three appointments per Commissioner), seven more members than the initial recommendation, and consideration of preliminary CCRC Bylaws (Attachment #1). The CCRC will convene on October 23, 2025, to review the Leon County Charter and propose recommended amendments or revisions to the Board of County Commissioners for placement on the 2026 general election ballot. The CCRC is scheduled to meet biweekly on Thursdays in the Leon County Library until February 19, 2026 (120 days).

In addition, the Board requested legal analysis on the following seven issues to determine whether to advance these issues for consideration by the CCRC:

1. Creation of a Citizen Utility Review Board.
2. Establishment of an exclusive method of municipal annexation in the County Charter whereby the County can propose the annexation of unincorporated property into the City of Tallahassee (City).
3. Annexation of all unincorporated property inside Capital Circle into the City.
4. Provide that County ordinances supersede City ordinances.
5. Empower citizens in the unincorporated area of the County who pay for City utilities and fire services to be able to vote in City elections.
6. Creation of a Utility Authority in which the County has seats on the Authority since citizens in the unincorporated area cannot vote in City elections and pay a 50% utility service surcharge.
7. Clean up outdated references to statutes related to the establishment of a county charter.

The CCRC is essential to the following FY 2022 – FY 2026 Strategic Initiative:

- Establish a Citizen Charter Review Committee to review the County's Home Rule Charter and propose any amendments or revisions ahead of the 2026 General Election. (2025-101)

This particular Strategic Initiative aligns with the Board's Governance Strategic Priority:

- (G1) Sustain a culture of transparency, accessibility, accountability, civility, and the highest standards of public service.

This item requests the Board's appointments to the Leon County CCRC and presents draft committee bylaws for consideration. This item also seeks Board direction on the issues proposed by the Board for consideration by the CCRC.

Analysis:

Committee Appointments

Purpose: The Leon County Charter requires that a Citizen Charter Review Committee be appointed by the Board every eight years, at least 12 months before the general election, to review the County's Home Rule Charter and propose any amendments or revisions for placement on the general election ballot.

Composition: As directed by the Board at the July 8, 2025 meeting, the CCRC will consist of 21 appointees, with three appointments per Commissioner. Each Commissioner has the opportunity to appoint three people to the CCRC.

Preliminary Committee Bylaws

As part of the establishment of the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee, preliminary bylaws are proposed for the Board's considerations to guide and support the efforts of the CCRC. Upon Board approval, the preliminary bylaws will be presented to the CCRC for consideration at its first meeting. At that time, the CCRC Bylaws may be amended by 2/3 vote of the Committee's membership.

As reflected in Attachment #1, the preliminary CCRC Bylaws set forth the duties, terms, and meeting structure of the CCRC, as outlined below:

- Applicable Florida Laws and Board Policies
- Officers and Duties
- Term of Members
- Attendance and Replacement of Members
- Meetings
- Deliberations
- Policy on Publicity
- Amendments to Bylaws

The CCRC is subject to the State's Sunshine Laws and Section 286.011, Florida Statutes. The CCRC meetings will be noticed and open to the public, and all CCRC records, including the approved Bylaws, will be made available on the County website. All CCRC meetings will also be broadcast on the County's Comcast Channel 16 and the County website.

Issues Requested by the Board for Potential Consideration by the CCRC

At its July 8, 2025 meeting, the Board requested legal analysis on the following seven issues for additional consideration to advance to the CCRC and amend the Leon County Charter.

1. Creation of a Citizen Utility Review Board.
2. Establishment of an exclusive method of municipal annexation in the County Charter whereby the County can propose the annexation of unincorporated property into the City of Tallahassee (City).
3. Annexation of all unincorporated property inside Capital Circle into the City.
4. Provide that County ordinances supersede City ordinances.
5. Empower citizens in the unincorporated area of the County who pay for City utilities and fire services to be able to vote in City elections.
6. Creation of a Utility Authority in which the County has seats on the Authority since citizens in the unincorporated area cannot vote in City elections and pay a 50% utility service surcharge.
7. Clean up outdated references to statutes related to the establishment of a county charter.

The following provides an analysis for each requested issue, along with information regarding the County's authority, and limits on such authority, for the Board to determine whether to advance these issues for consideration by the CCRC. The Board also has the discretion to independently place charter amendments on the ballot by supermajority vote.

Leon County, Florida – Authority and Limits on Such Authority:

As a charter county, the County's authority is derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution). That provision, titled "CHARTER GOVERNMENT.", states:

> Counties operating under county charters shall have all powers of local self-government not inconsistent with general or special law, or with special law approved by vote of the electors. The governing body of a county operating under a charter may enact county ordinances not inconsistent with general law. The charter shall provide which shall prevail in the event of conflict between county and municipal ordinances.

This grant of authority is broad, but there are certain limitations. Fundamentally, the County must comply with all constitutional and statutory constraints. The County cannot adopt an ordinance or otherwise act in conflict with federal or state law. The federal government and state legislature have also preempted certain matters, whether expressly or impliedly, and the County cannot adopt ordinances to regulate those areas.

Sec. 1.1 of the Charter, itself, recognizes the limits of the County's authority: "The County shall have all powers of self-government not inconsistent with general law, with special law approved by vote of the electors, or with this Charter. The County shall have all county and municipal powers of self-government granted now or in the future by the Constitution and laws of the State of Florida."

1. Creation of a Citizen Utility Review Board: The Board has asked whether the CCRC may consider the amendment of the Charter to create a Citizen Utility Review Board. In summary, the ability to create a Citizen Utility Review Board is limited by broad municipal authority and existing statutes that govern the authority to construct and operate water, wastewater, electric, and other utilities.

   The County has the authority to create a Utility Review Board by charter, but such authority would not have the ability to regulate the City's utility or provide services within the City boundaries unless the City agreed. The County cannot by charter create a Utility Review Board that controls or otherwise regulates the City's utilities. The County also lacks the authority to compel or otherwise force the City to join a Utility Review Board and cede control or authority to such authority.

   The City has its own broad grant of constitutional authority. Article VIII, Section 2(b) of the Constitution, titled "POWERS", grants to municipalities the governmental, corporate, and proprietary powers necessary to enable them to conduct municipal government, perform municipal functions, and render municipal services. Under this provision, municipalities may exercise any power for municipal powers except as otherwise provided by law. Citing Article VIII, Section 2(b) of the Constitution, Section 166.021, Florida Statutes (F.S.), acknowledges a municipality's broad authority while also identifying certain limitations, including any subject expressly preempted to state or county government by the Constitution or by general law, and any subject preempted to a county pursuant to a county charter adopted under the Constitution.

   Chapter 180, F.S., authorizes municipalities to construct and operate water, sewer, and other utility systems, both within and outside their boundaries. Section 180.13, F.S., specifically and expressly authorizes the city council or other governing body of a municipality to create a separate board or designate certain city officers to supervise and control the operations of its utilities and make all necessary rules or regulations governing the use, control, and operation of such utilities, subject to the approval of the city council. This statute also authorizes the city council to establish rates or charges for the use of the utility by those who receive utility service.

   A municipal electric utility, such as the utility operated by the City, and a rural electric cooperative, such as Talquin Electric Cooperative, Inc., operate under Chapter 366, F.S., which grants these entities the authority to control and operate those utilities and to establish just and equitable rates, establish service policies, approve budgets and capital improvements, and other matters. Such utilities are typically governed by the city commission or a utility board established by the city or electric cooperative. Under this statutory scheme, the Florida Public Service Commission exercises limited jurisdiction over such entities related to the resolution of territorial disputes and coordination of grid reliability and interconnection issues.

Based upon the City's broad constitutional and legislative authority to own and operate utilities as referenced above, the Board may create by charter revision a Citizen Utility Review Board but it will have no oversight or control over City utilities because of the existing statutory framework for the ownership, administration, and regulation of utilities pursuant to Chapters 180 and 366, F.S. Under the current statutory scheme, the Board would be prohibited from adopting a charter amendment in conflict with, or that is preempted by, the provisions in Chapters 180 and 366, F.S. The Charter amendment would not force the City to participate in the Citizen Utility Review Board or otherwise acknowledge any of its findings or otherwise take any action.

2. Establish an exclusive method of municipal annexation in the Charter whereby the County can propose the annexation of unincorporated property into the City: The Board has also asked whether the County can establish an exclusive method of municipal annexation into the Charter whereby the County can propose the annexation of unincorporated property into the City. In short, the County may establish an exclusive method for voluntary annexations to be placed in the Charter, but the County cannot provide an exclusive method for involuntary annexations in the Charter. There is no such statutory authority for counties to provide for an involuntary method of annexation by charter. In fact, any proposed annexations of property without owner consent must follow the uniform statutory method for involuntary annexations. Leon County is preempted from establishing an exclusive method for involuntary annexations by charter. However, as authorized by Florida Statutes and required by the Leon County/City of Tallahassee Comprehensive Plan, the County and City have an interlocal agreement providing the procedures for voluntary annexation in Leon County.

   Municipal Boundaries and Annexations, Generally: Municipalities are established by special acts of the Florida Legislature. Additionally, the Legislature can amend the boundaries of municipalities by special act.[1] The expansion of municipal boundaries, known as annexation, is governed by Article VIII, Section 2 of the Constitution, and the legislative delegation of authority as provided in the Municipal Annexation or Contraction Act, Sections 171.011-.094, F.S. (Act).

   Article VIII, Section 2 of the Constitution provides:

   > (c) ANNEXATION. Municipal annexation of unincorporated territory, merger of municipalities and exercise of extra-territorial power by municipalities shall be provided by general or special law.

   The Act was enacted in 1974 with the purpose of establishing procedures for adjusting municipal boundaries to (1) ensure sound urban development and accommodation to growth, (2) provide uniform legislative statewide standards to annexation, (3) ensure the efficient provision of urban services to areas that become urban in character, and (4) ensure that areas are not annexed unless municipal services can be provided to those areas.

The Act requires that areas to be annexed meet certain characteristics to be eligible for annexation. If an area is deemed eligible for annexation into a municipality, the Act creates a uniform method of annexation by:

- voluntary annexation where land is annexed upon request of 100% of the underlying property owners, or
- involuntary annexation where a portion of land is proposed for annexation without consent of the underlying property owners; with the exception of certain enclaves as defined by statute, this process requires a referendum of the voters within the area to be annexed.

Section 171.044(4), F.S., provides that the uniform method for voluntary annexation procedures does not apply "to a municipality in counties with charters which provide for an exclusive method of municipal annexation." Florida courts have clarified that this provision authorizes counties to devise their own methods of voluntary municipal annexation, so long as the annexation considered is indeed a voluntary annexation, the exclusive method is made a part of the county's charter and approved by the voters, and the exclusive method is contained in the charter itself and does not direct the county to create such procedure via separate ordinance.

Other jurisdictions have successfully proposed exclusive methods for voluntary annexation in their charters. For example, Orange County amended its charter in 2024 establishing a rural area and boundary which requires a supermajority vote of its board to approve voluntary annexations or increases to the allowable density or intensity within the rural areas. The charter amendment was intended to control municipal expansion into its rural areas by requiring a higher voting threshold for approval by the Orange County Commission.

By contrast, Section 171.0413, F.S., dictates the process for involuntary annexations and states:

> (4) Except as otherwise provided in this law, the annexation procedure as set forth in this section shall constitute a uniform method for adoption of an ordinance of annexation by the governing body of any municipality in this state, and all existing provisions of special laws which establish municipal annexation procedures are repealed hereby; except that any provision or provisions of special law or laws which prohibit annexation of territory that is separated from the annexing municipality by a body of water or watercourse shall not be repealed.

Local annexations by the City are also governed by the City and County Interlocal Agreement Annexation Procedures (Interlocal Agreement), as required by the City-County Comprehensive Plan. This Interlocal Agreement with the City for annexation procedures has an indefinite term and may only be terminated by "mutual consent of both parties." Therefore, any charter amendment seeking to create an exclusive method for voluntary annexations would still be subject to the terms of the Interlocal Agreement.

In summary, unlike the statutory method for charter counties to provide for a uniform method for voluntary annexations, there is no such statutory authority for counties to provide for an involuntary method of annexation by charter. The County is preempted from establishing an exclusive method for involuntary annexations by charter.

3. Annexation of all unincorporated properties inside Capital Circle into the City: The Board inquired whether the CCRC can consider a charter provision that incorporates all unincorporated property inside Capital Circle to be within the City limits. As explained below, the County is preempted from adjusting municipal boundaries by charter amendment. As mentioned previously, in addition to state law, local annexations by the City are also governed by the Interlocal Agreement.

   Article VIII, Section 2 of the Constitution provides:

   > (c) ANNEXATION. Municipal annexation of unincorporated territory, merger of municipalities and exercise of extra-territorial power by municipalities shall be provided by general or special law.

   The Act was enacted in 1974 with the purpose of establishing procedures for adjusting municipal boundaries to (1) ensure sound urban development and accommodation to growth, (2) provide uniform legislative statewide standards to annexation, (3) ensure the efficient provision of urban services to areas that become urban in character, and (4) ensure that areas are not annexed unless municipal services can be provided to those areas.

   The Act requires that areas to be annexed meet certain characteristics to be eligible for annexation. If an area is deemed eligible for annexation into a municipality, the Act creates a uniform method of annexation by:

   - voluntary annexation where land is annexed upon request of 100% of the underlying property owners, or
   - involuntary annexation where a portion of land is proposed for annexation without consent of the underlying property owners; with the exception of certain enclaves as defined by statute, this process requires a referendum of the voters within the area to be annexed.

   As discussed previously, municipal boundaries are created and expanded by special act of the Legislature, except as authorized by general or special law. As an alternative to a special act, the Florida Legislature has provided limited authorizations for annexation by municipalities by adopting the Act. Except as authorized by the Act, a county or municipality is preempted from amending the municipal boundaries or creating additional methods for annexation of unincorporated areas into the City limits.[2] Florida provides the uniform process for involuntary annexation, and there is otherwise no statutory authority for a county to adjust municipal boundaries by operation of a charter amendment; therefore, the County is preempted from doing so.

4. Provide that County ordinances supersede City ordinances: The Board asked whether the Charter may be amended to provide for County ordinances to supersede City ordinances. In short, yes unless there is a state law that provides for a municipal ordinance to prevail in the event of conflict with a county ordinance.

   As referenced previously, Article III, Section 1(g) of the Constitution provides that counties operating under charters shall have all powers of self-government not inconsistent with general law or with special law approved by the voter of the electors. This constitutional provision also requires that the charter provide for whether county or municipal ordinances prevail when such ordinances conflict. The Leon County Charter currently provides that City ordinances prevail in the event of any conflict, except regarding minimum environmental standards. Specifically, Sec. 1-6(1) of the Charter, titled "Relation to municipal ordinances.", currently provides that:

   > municipal ordinances shall prevail over County ordinances to the extent of any conflict within the boundaries of the municipality. To the extent that a county ordinance and a municipal ordinance shall cover the same subject without conflict, then both the municipal ordinance and the county ordinance shall be effective, each being deemed supplemental to the other.

   However, Sec. 1.6(2) of the Charter, titled "Minimum Environmental Regulations", prohibits the City from establishing environmental standards, procedures, requirements, and regulations in the City that do not meet or exceed the environmental standards, procedures, requirements, and regulations established by the County.

   Among the 20 charter counties in Florida, Leon County is among the ten charter counties which provide for City ordinances to prevail except in certain matters. For Leon County, the current exception is minimum environmental standards. Other county charters include exceptions for the regulation of adult entertainment, the hours of sale for alcohol purchases, and elements of the comprehensive plan. Nine charter counties provide that City ordinances shall prevail in the event of any conflict without exception. Duval County, as a consolidated government, does not reference county and municipal ordinance conflicts.

   Based upon the foregoing authority, the Charter may be amended to provide that County ordinances prevail when there is a conflict with City ordinances, except when a state law provides that a municipal ordinance prevails in the event of a conflict with a county ordinance. In other words, the Board may pursue a charter amendment for all County ordinances to supersede City ordinances when there is a conflict or a charter amendment narrowly tailored to supersede City ordinances on specific issues similar to the existing minimum environmental standards Code provision.

5. Empower citizens in the unincorporated area of the County who pay for City utilities and fire services to be able to vote in City elections: The Board has asked whether the Charter may be amended to empower citizens in the unincorporated area of the County who pay for City utilities and fire services to be able to vote in City elections. In short, no because Florida law provides when and where people may vote, and any Charter provision would be preempted.

Article VI, Section 6 of the Florida Constitution, titled "Municipal and district elections.", requires that registration and elections in municipalities shall be provided by law. Florida has a robust Election Code, Chapters 97 – 106 of the Florida Statutes, titled "The Florida Election Code" (Code), and all matters set forth in the Code are preempted to the state, except as otherwise specifically authorized by state or federal law. Further, section 97.0115 is clear that "[t]he conduct of municipal elections is governed by section 100.3605, Florida Statutes."

Section 100.3605(1), F.S., titled "Conduct of municipal elections", provides that the Code > shall govern the conduct of a municipality's election in the absence of an applicable special act, charter, or ordinance provision. No charter or ordinance provision shall be adopted which conflicts with or exempts a municipality from any provision in the Florida Election code that expressly applies to municipalities.

Provisions of Chapter 101, F.S., also address who may vote in municipal elections. Express language in section 101.002(3), F.S., provides that "[a]ny person who is a duly registered elector pursuant to this code and who resides within the boundaries of a municipality is qualified to participate in all municipal elections, the provisions of special acts or local charters notwithstanding." In essence, the language is clear that a person must reside within the City to vote in City elections, even if the Charter says otherwise. Finally, pursuant to section 101.045(1), a person may only vote in an election precinct or district where the person has his or her legal residence and in which the person is registered.

Additionally, even if the above-referenced statutory provisions did not preclude citizens in the unincorporated area who pay for City utilities and fire services from being able to vote in City elections, there are other requirements that must be met, including citizenship, residency, age, and registration. People who have been convicted of certain felony convictions are ineligible to vote unless their voting rights have been restored, and people who have been adjudicated mentally incapacitated with respect to voting are ineligible unless the right to vote has been restored.

With regard to fire services, it is also worth noting that the City provides services to citizens in the unincorporated area by interlocal agreement with the County. That agreement governs the terms and conditions of service, just like the other interlocal agreements the County has entered into with other government entities for services. In addition, in a separate agenda item on the Board's September 15th meeting agenda is a proposed Ordinance that would eliminate the City's ability to collect fire services assessments in the unincorporated area through a monthly utility bill.

Based upon the foregoing authority, the County is preempted from amending the Charter to empower citizens in the unincorporated area of the County who pay for City utilities and fire services to be able to vote in City elections.

6. Creation of a Utility Authority in which the County has seats on the Authority since citizens in the unincorporated area cannot vote in City elections and pay a 50% utility service surcharge: As stated in response to Issue #1, the County has the authority to create a Utility Authority by charter, but such authority would not have the ability to regulate the City's utility or provide services within the City boundaries unless the City agreed. Much of the analysis provided in response to the first topic is applicable here.

   Though the County has broad powers under Article III, Section 1(g) of the Constitution, the City has broad authority under Article VIII, Section 2(b) of the Constitution as well. Moreover, under the existing statutory framework for the ownership, administration, and regulation of utilities pursuant to Chapters 180 and 366, F.S., the Board would be prohibited from adopting a charter amendment in conflict with, or that is preempted by, those state laws. In summary, the County cannot by charter create a Utility Authority that controls or otherwise regulates the City's utilities. The County also lacks the authority to compel or otherwise force the City to join a Utility Authority and cede control or authority to such authority.

   An independent special district could be created by special act of the Legislature to perform the functions of a Utility Authority. Alternatively, the City and County could mutually agree to create a Utility Authority as a separate legal entity pursuant to Section 163.01, F.S., which is sometimes referred to as the "Florida Interlocal Cooperation Act of 1969."

7. Clean up outdated references to statutes related to the establishment of a county charter: The Leon County Charter describes the processes to amend the Charter including the required establishment of the CCRC every eight years, that the CCRC shall be appointed by the Board at least 12 months before the general election, and that charter amendments shall be placed on the general election ballot to be approved by voters. These steps are specifically described in the Charter along with references to Florida Statutes which conflict with the County's charter review process, including the deadline for the CCRC to transmit proposed amendments to the Board, the amount of time available for the Board to deliberate and possibly modify CCRC recommendations, and whether the Board must call a special election (rather than placing the amendments on the general election ballot) for voters to consider charter amendments recommended by the CCRC. The Board may wish to have the CCRC review these conflicts and consider a charter amendment to resolve these issues.

   The statutes cited in the Charter present timing conflicts because they pertain to the duties of a charter commission for the initial establishment of a county charter and require the Board to act within certain time frames, which are inconsistent with provisions in the Leon County Charter specific to the charter review process. In response to these conflicting timelines and to position the County to place amendments on the 2026 general election ballot, on July 8, 2025, the Board approved a bifurcated schedule for the charter review process whereby the CCRC will meet for 120 days and provide an update to the Board in March 2026, but the CCRC cannot formally conduct public hearings and transmit its final report to the Board until summer 2026, requiring the Board to convene in August to formally consider placing proposed charter amendments on the November 3, 2026, general election ballot. To prevent these timing issues during future CCRCs, the Board may wish to have the 2025-2026 CCRC consider an amendment to remove statutory references that conflict with the timeline requirements of the CCRC.

Options:

1. Appoint three members by each Commissioner to the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC).
2. Approve the preliminary CCRC Bylaws to be presented to the CCRC for adoption at its first meeting on October 23, 2025 (Attachment #1).
3. Provide direction to staff on potential charter amendment issues to be advanced to the CCRC for further consideration.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its November 6, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) received analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict (Attachment #1). The November 6th analysis presented to the Committee detailed Leon County's authority as a charter county as derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution). This section of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. Currently, Section 1.6 of Leon County's Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of any conflict within municipal boundaries, with the exception for countywide minimum environmental regulations as set forth under Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter.

At that time, the Committee requested additional information and analysis including examples of existing or potential regulatory conflicts from differing County and City ordinances which were presented at the Committee's November 20, 2025 meeting. Among the examples provided in the November 20th analysis (Attachment #2) were the differing standards for street renaming as set forth by the County and City's respective street renaming ordinances. As previously reported to the Committee, the creation of separate jurisdictional standards for street renaming undermines the longstanding efforts to establish consistent naming across segments of roadways and chronological numbering of addresses countywide. In regard to street renaming, regulatory uniformity is critical to ensuring accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property for citizens no matter where they reside within the County. With these considerations in mind, this issue was presented as one example of countywide regulatory uniformity that the Committee may wish to consider when determining whether county ordinances should prevail when a conflict exists.

Following discussion, the Committee requested additional information to unify the street renaming process outside of a charter amendment. As part of its request for additional information on the street renaming process, the Committee requested staff to invite a representative from the City to discuss the impacts of a charter amendment providing county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict. Additional information on both requests is provided in the Analysis section.

Analysis:

As previously reported, Leon County's authority as a charter county is derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution) titled "CHARTER GOVERNMENT.":

> "Counties operating under county charters shall have all powers of local self-government not inconsistent with general or special law, or with special law approved by vote of the electors. The governing body of a county operating under a charter may enact county ordinances not inconsistent with general law. The charter shall provide which shall prevail in the event of conflict between county and municipal ordinances."

Currently, Section 1.6 of Leon County's Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of any conflict within municipal boundaries, with the exception for countywide minimum environmental regulations as set forth under Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter. Accordingly, as previously reported, the County currently does not have authority to rename city-maintained streets inside the incorporated area as summarized below.

Options to Address Separate Jurisdictional Standards for Street Renaming

In 1995, the County's Uniform Street Naming and Property Numbering System Ordinance was adopted, authorizing the Board to name and rename streets within both the incorporated and unincorporated areas (with the exception of state roads). The Ordinance established uniform criteria and guidelines for street naming, street renaming, and property address assignments countywide.

Most recently, on May 8, 2024, the City adopted an ordinance providing the City Commission authority to rename roads within the municipal limits (excluding County-maintained and state roads). Since the County Charter currently provides for municipal ordinances to prevail over county ordinances in the event of a conflict, the County is now precluded from applying its countywide naming criteria to the renaming of city-maintained streets.

To date, the City has renamed nine (9) roadways which has resulted in some roadways bearing multiple names, creating a fragmented street naming approach which can impact public safety. Despite public safety concerns, the County has no authority to rename city-maintained streets inside the incorporated area – as Section 1.6 of the County's Charter provides that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of any conflict within municipal boundaries. Accordingly, outside of an amendment to Section 1.6 of the County's Charter, there are no options to address the separate jurisdictional standards for street renaming within the incorporated and unincorporated areas of the County.

Invitation for City Representative at Committee Meeting

As part of its request for additional information on the street renaming process, the Committee requested staff to invite a representative from the City to discuss the impacts of a charter amendment providing county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Subsequently, the County Administrator and City Manager discussed the Committee's request for a City representative to be available to the Committee to present additional information or answer questions on this issue. The City Manager advised that the City Commission made a policy decision to exercise its proper jurisdictional authority to rename City streets inside the incorporated area and concurred that the County no longer has the authority to rename City streets. He wished to convey the City Commission's respect for the purpose and efforts of the Committee but did not believe that City staff had anything else substantively to add for the Committee's consideration of the issue.

Options:

1. Accept report and table this issue.
2. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment providing for uniform countywide street naming, renaming, and property numbering standards to be established by County ordinance which shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, to the extent otherwise permitted by law.
3. Committee direction.

Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept report and table this issue.

Summary:

As directed by the Board of County Commissioners, this item provides the Leon County Citizens Charter Review Committee (Committee) with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing for County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Option #5: Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its September 23, 2025 meeting, the Board of County Commissioners voted to advance the following charter amendment issue to the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee for review and consideration:

- Should County ordinances supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict?

The Leon County Charter requires a Citizen Charter Review Committee to be appointed by the Board every eight years to review the County's Home Rule Charter (Charter) and propose any amendments or revisions for placement on the general election ballot. As part of this process, the Board may limit or provide direction to the Committee to address specific issues it deems appropriate. For the current charter review process, the Board chose not to limit the Committee's purview. However, after consideration and deliberation of numerous policy issues, the Board selected one issue for the Committee to consider for advancement as a proposed charter amendment.

This item provides information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

Analysis:

As a charter county, Leon County's authority is derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution) titled "CHARTER GOVERNMENT.":

> "Counties operating under county charters shall have all powers of local self-government not inconsistent with general or special law, or with special law approved by vote of the electors. The governing body of a county operating under a charter may enact county ordinances not inconsistent with general law. The charter shall provide which shall prevail in the event of conflict between county and municipal ordinances."

In accordance with the Constitution, Section 1.6 of the Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances shall prevail over County ordinances in the event of any conflict within the boundaries of the municipality, except as otherwise provided by law or the Charter. Furthermore, to the extent that a county and municipal ordinance cover the same subject without conflict, then both ordinances shall be effective and supplemental to the other. This provision from the original County Chater remained unchanged until 2010.

During the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review process, the Committee advanced a charter amendment to establish countywide minimum environmental regulations which was approved by voters during the 2010 General Election. This was an important issue for the community at that time to address rapid development and apply one set of consistent rules for environmental protection, especially for projects that crossed political jurisdiction boundaries or sought to annex into the City of Tallahassee (City) for the purpose of avoiding more stringent environmental regulations. Accordingly, Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter provides for the establishment of minimum environmental standards by County ordinances to be effective within unincorporated and incorporated areas of the County. While this provision effectively supersedes municipal ordinances that do meet the minimum environmental standards established by County ordinance, Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter allows municipalities to establish more stringent environmental protections within the incorporated area of the County.

While the County has broad powers under Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution, Section 2(b) of Article VIII of the Constitution also provides broad authority to municipalities, as follows:

> "Municipalities shall have governmental, corporate and proprietary powers to enable them to conduct municipal government, perform municipal functions and render municipal services, and may exercise any power for municipal purposes except as otherwise provided by law."

Municipal authority as set forth under the Constitution, however, is not applicable to any subject expressly preempted to state or county government by the Constitution or by general law. Similarly, municipal authority is limited when a subject or specific policy area is preempted by a county charter. Notwithstanding these limitations, municipalities would advocate the importance of their Home Rule authority and preservation of local self-governance to address specific local issues, needs, and preferences.

Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution provides charter counties with regulatory authority to determine which ordinance should prevail when county or municipal ordinances regulate the same subject, as set forth under the Charter. However, it is important to note this preemption does not include the ability to transfer municipal services to the county because such a "Transfer of powers" is separately governed by the process provided for in Article VIII, Section 4 of the Constitution. For example, a county charter amendment can regulate environmental standards within municipalities but cannot reassign or transfer a municipal department, personnel, or assets to the county government.

Article VIII, Section 4 of the Constitution provides a generalized structure under which powers or functions may be transferred between local governments, including counties and municipalities. Specifically, any function or power of a municipality to be transferred to a county (or vice versa) must first be authorized by law or by resolutions adopted by the affected governing bodies, followed by approval from the electors of both affected governments through a dual referendum. A "dual referendum" requires the residents of the city and the unincorporated area to separately approve the referendum.

Comparative Review of Charter Counties

As noted previously, Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. Attachment #1 provides a comparison of Florida's 20 charter counties relating to conflicts with municipal ordinances. It is important to note when comparing charter governments that two Florida counties are very unique. Duval County is a consolidated government and does not reference county or municipal ordinance conflicts in its charter. Miami-Dade County's charter predates the 1968 Florida Constitution which provides the foundation for charter county government in Florida for the remaining 66 counties. Miami-Dade County's charter establishes a two-tier hierarchy and a "central metropolitan government" whereby county ordinances prevail on matters of countywide concern in the event of a conflict with any of the 34 incorporated municipalities.

The following is a summary of the remaining 18 Florida charter counties:

- Eleven (11) county charters provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances.
- Seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail without exception.
- None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception.

Among the 18 comparable charter counties in Florida, Leon County is among the majority (11) which provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances or subject areas. Those 11 charter counties are: Alachua, Broward, Charlotte, Columbia, Leon, Orange, Palm Beach, Pinellas, Sarasota, Seminole, and Volusia. For Leon County, the establishment of minimum environmental standards is the only subject area whereby a county ordinance prevails over a municipal ordinance at this time. As described previously, this was an important issue in 2010 due to rapid development taking place in our community. Voter approval of this amendment to the Charter unified environmental regulations countywide based on environmental features such as water basins and drainage, chronic flooding conditions, and the topography of our community rather than political jurisdiction boundaries. It also reduced the complexity of having two different sets of environmental standards and the various interpretations of those standards. Examples from other county charters that provide for county ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances in specific circumstances include the regulation of adult entertainment, alcohol sales, and elements of the comprehensive plan. Additional information and examples are provided in Attachment #1.

Comparatively, seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail in the event of any conflict without exception. Those seven (7) charter counties are: Brevard, Clay, Hillsborough, Lee, Osceola, Polk, and Wakulla.

As previously stated, most charter counties provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances. None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception. All, however, have the ability to provide for either through charter amendment as approved by the local electorate. In evaluating the need for a proposed Leon County Charter amendment which provides that county ordinances prevail over all municipal ordinances in the event of conflict and to the extent permitted by law, the Committee may wish to consider the potential benefits of such a proposed amendment including:

- Avoiding Potential Interlocal Conflicts and Disputes: Providing for county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances can reduce interlocal disputes and administrative duplication. For example, section 252.38, Florida Statutes, provides county governments with countywide jurisdiction in implementing emergency management plans to ensure efficient and orderly coordination of emergency operations. While a municipality has authority to create its own supplemental emergency management plan, such plan must be consistent with, and subject to, the county plan. This is in place to ensure the provision of coordinated standards, response, and public messaging during emergencies to avoid disputes, delays, and confusion from reconciling differing standards. Accordingly, a proposed charter amendment could extend similar countywide consistency to other regulatory areas where overlapping County and City ordinances may currently create uncertainty or fragmented implementation.

- Providing Regulatory Uniformity on Countywide Issues: Many critical systems — transportation, stormwater, floodplain management, and other infrastructure — cross jurisdictional boundaries and may benefit from uniformity to increase safety. The dangers of inconsistency are most evident in the separate street renaming procedures recently adopted by the City because emergency responders depend on a unified countywide street naming and addressing system to locate incidents quickly.

  On May 8, 2024, the City adopted an ordinance granting itself authority to rename roads within the municipal limits—excluding County-maintained and state roads. Since municipal ordinances prevail over County ordinances in the event of conflict, the County is now precluded from applying its countywide naming criteria to city-maintained streets. Since that time, the City has renamed more than half a dozen roadways with the municipal limits resulting in portions of roadways that bear different names and creating a fragmented approach that increases the potential for misrouted 9-1-1 calls, confusion, delayed response times, and fatal outcomes. Consistent naming across segments of roadways and chronological numbering of addresses are essential to ensure accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property.

- Providing Unified Standards Based on Geography, not Political Jurisdiction: As described previously, during the 2010 General Election, an amendment to the Charter was approved by voters to establish countywide minimum environmental regulations. This amendment was originally considered by the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review Committee in response to chronic flooding issues that were exacerbated by conflicting City and County stormwater standards during a period of rapid development in our community. Specifically, as stormwater and drainage networks often cross jurisdictional boundaries, differing retention or discharge standards in one area regulated by the City can result in exacerbated flooding and downstream damage in a different area regulated by the County. In other words, countywide standards were needed to address the upstream conditions and downstream impacts of stormwater in a consistent manner to reduce flooding impacts and to protect the quality of all surface water bodies in the community.

  Acknowledging that environmental resources and conditions do not recognize political jurisdictional boundaries, the 2009-2010 Citizen Charter Review Committee identified the need to establish countywide environmental standards to ensure protection and regulation of natural resources that are interconnected throughout our community. As approved by voters, today we have minimum environmental regulations based on environmental features such as water basins and drainage, geography, and the topography of our community – and not political boundary.

- Providing for More User-Friendly Government: Residents and businesses can experience multiple and conflicting regulations among county and municipal governments which causes confusion and frustration when interacting with local governments. The County and City receive calls and emails on a daily basis from constituents unsure of which local government regulates certain matters or requesting clarification on differing standards based on jurisdiction. Social media often perpetuates the confusion on community forums where City and County residents mistakenly exchange information on local government services and regulations without regard to their separate jurisdictional standards.

  Business owners and developers may be impacted by conflicting regulations such as signage requirements. Meanwhile, residents and neighborhoods may be impacted by conflicting regulations that require notification of new nearby developments. Providing for county ordinances to supersede conflicting municipal ordinances makes clear which authority has jurisdiction on important community issues and delivers one consistent set of regulations that residents and businesses can better understand regardless of which specific neighborhood or municipality within the county they are in.

- Establishing Minimum Community Standards Countywide: Minimum regulatory standards, such as the environmental standards established in the Charter in 2010, are intended to serve as a floor which a municipality must meet but can exceed by enacting stricter regulations. Not only do minimum standards reduce complexity, but they also ensure all residents are protected by consistent, minimum standards countywide. In addition to environmental issues, establishing countywide standards would create the opportunity to establish minimum community standards for various local matters from neighborhood protection issues such as noise control and short-term vacation rental regulations, to public safety issues like implementation of school zone cameras. Minimum standards are intended to serve as a baseline to protect the overall health and well-being of all citizens, while preserving the local autonomy of municipalities through the ability to exceed the minimum standards.

Next Steps

As directed by the Board of County Commissioners, this item provides the Committee with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing County ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict. In addition to the analysis provided herein, the Committee will receive a presentation on this agenda item and staff will be available to answer questions.

Several options are provided to facilitate the Committee's consideration of this issue. A simple majority vote of the Committee is needed to take action. Should the Committee not wish to further consider or advance this issue, it may table the issue at this time (Option #1). Alternatively, the Committee may wish to seek additional information and analysis. Option #2 would facilitate such a request, as specified by the Committee, with direction for staff to bring the information back at a future meeting.

Two options are provided to advance this issue to the next phase of the charter review process should the Committee support a charter amendment for County ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances in the event of conflict, to the extent otherwise permitted by law (Option #3), or a charter amendment for County ordinances on specific subject matter(s) to prevail over municipal ordinances (Option #4). Should the Committee provide direction to prepare a proposed charter amendment, the draft language would be brought back to the Committee at a future "decision meeting" as provided in the bylaws.

This item recommends Option #5 and seeks the Committee's direction which may include the options presented herein or alternative direction as determined by the Committee.

Options:

1. Accept this report and table this issue.
2. Request additional information and analysis on charter government, regulatory authority, and/or the prevalence of county ordinances in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.
3. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment providing that all county ordinances shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, to the extent otherwise permitted by law.
4. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment(s) providing that specific county ordinances or subject area(s), as identified by the Committee, shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.
5. Committee direction.

Recommendation:

Option #5: Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its November 6, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) received analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict (Attachment #1). The Board of County Commissioners (Board), after consideration and deliberation of numerous policy issues, selected to advance this one issue for the Committee to consider as a proposed charter amendment.

The November 6th analysis presented to the Committee detailed Leon County's authority as a charter county as derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution). This section of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. Currently, Section 1.6 of Leon County's Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of any conflict within municipal boundaries, with the exception for countywide minimum environmental regulations as set forth under Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter.

Following discussion, the Committee requested additional information and analysis including examples of existing or potential regulatory conflicts from differing County and City ordinances. The following Analysis section provides detailed examples of current regulatory conflicts for the Committee to consider in evaluating an amendment to the County Charter for county ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances for all matters. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to consider whether county ordinances should prevail on specific subject matter(s) in the event of conflict, or to preserve the existing charter provision which specifics that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of a conflict within municipal boundaries.

Analysis:

At its November 6, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested examples of existing or potential regulatory conflicts from differing County and City ordinances to support its consideration of whether the County charter should provide for county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of conflict. Currently, the County and City have overlapping authority on a broad range of local matters, from certain business and land use regulations to standards promoting public safety, which can result in numerous instances where County and City ordinances conflict or diverge based on jurisdiction.

This item provides a summary of the potential benefits of countywide regulatory authority as presented in the November 6th analysis, followed by detailed examples of current regulatory conflicts between the County and City to further support the Committee's evaluation. As discussed at the November 6th meeting, staff did not conduct an exhaustive review of every circumstance in which County and City ordinances might conflict due to the comprehensive nature of such an exercise and because there are many instances where differences exist but have not raised regulatory or administrative conflicts.

Posted on September 8, 2026

Summary of Comparative Review of Charter Counties:

Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. As detailed in the November 6th analysis, among the 18 comparable charter counties in Florida:

- Eleven (11) county charters provide for county ordinances to prevail in specific circumstances.
- Seven (7) charter counties provide for municipal ordinances to prevail without exception.
- None provide for county ordinances to prevail without exception.

All county charters may establish any of these approaches through a charter amendment approved by the local electorate. In evaluating whether county ordinances should prevail over all municipal ordinances in the event of conflict, the Committee was provided with potential benefits of such a proposed amendment for consideration, as summarized below:

- Avoiding Potential Interlocal Conflicts and Disputes
- Providing Regulatory Uniformity on Countywide Issues
- Providing Unified Standards Based on Geography, not Political Jurisdiction
- Providing for More User-Friendly Government
- Establishing Minimum Community Standards Countywide

The following provides a more detailed analysis of a sample of existing regulatory conflicts for the Committee's consideration.

#1: Differing Standards for Street Renaming

Many critical systems, such as transportation, stormwater, and floodplain management, cross jurisdictional boundaries and may benefit from uniformity to increase safety. The potential problems of such inconsistencies are most evident in the separate street renaming procedures recently adopted by the City in May 2024, as emergency responders depend on a unified countywide street naming and addressing system to locate incidents quickly. The following provides an overview of the County's regulatory structure for street naming and renaming in comparison to the recent regulations adopted by the City for street renaming within its jurisdiction, and the current implications of these conflicting standards.

In 1995, the County's Uniform Street Naming and Property Numbering System Ordinance was adopted, authorizing the Board to name and rename streets within both the incorporated and unincorporated areas (with the exception of state roads). The Ordinance established uniform criteria and guidelines for street naming, street renaming, and property address assignments countywide. The intent of these countywide standards was primarily to address public safety and emergency services-related issues that had historically resulted from the uncoordinated and non-sequenced assignment of street addresses and from duplicate or phonetically similar street names.

As set forth under the County's Ordinance, the Joint Addressing Steering Committee (ASC) was established to promote intergovernmental coordination and review of all street names countywide. The ASC is comprised of interagency representatives, including the Consolidated Dispatch Center, the City Fire Department, County Emergency Medical Services, United States Postal Service, and the Leon County School Board, and various others, to review street naming and renaming requests for recommendation to the Board. The ASC has historically not recommended approval of street naming and renaming requests that would create a duplicate street name, could be confused with an existing street name when spoken or written, or would result in fragmented naming of roadways. In addition, the ASC is authorized to approve street renaming to eliminate duplicate or phonetically similar street names for emergency purposes if a safety issue exists. In such instances when street names must be changed, the ASC determines which street names to change by considering which change would affect the least number of people, the street with the fewest intersections, etc.

On May 8, 2024, the City adopted an ordinance providing the City Commission authority to rename roads within the municipal limits (excluding County-maintained and state roads). Since the County Charter currently provides for municipal ordinances to prevail over county ordinances in the event of a conflict, the County is now precluded from applying its countywide naming criteria to the renaming of city-maintained streets. This has resulted in the renaming of more than half a dozen roadways by the City that bear different names, creating a fragmented street naming approach which can impact public safety. Recognizing that the streets renamed by the City to date have been in recognition of individuals, it should be noted that both the County and City allow for honorary designation of roadways to memorialize an individual without changing the name of the street. Honorary designations do not require abutting property owners to change their address nor present challenges related to public safety and emergency response.

Ultimately, the creation of separate jurisdictional standards undermines the longstanding efforts of the ASC to establish consistent naming across segments of roadways and chronological numbering of addresses countywide. In regard to street renaming, regulatory uniformity is critical to ensuring accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property for citizens no matter where they reside within the County. This issue is one example of countywide regulatory uniformity that the Committee may wish to consider when determining whether county ordinances should prevail when a conflict exists.

#2: Public Notice of New Developments for Neighboring Areas

Another example of an existing regulatory conflict are the County and City's public notice requirements for new developments. Public notice is an important part of the development review processes, ensuring that nearby residents are informed when a proposed development project may affect their neighborhood. Both local governments establish their own respective public notice requirements that vary based on development type (Type A through Type D). Public notice requirements are based upon the type and intensity of development, extent of environmental impacts, and zoning district in which the development site is located. Currently, the County and City have varying requirements for when mailed notices must be sent to notify surrounding property owners within a specified radius of a proposed development.

For example, "Type A" reviews are generally for smaller-scale residential and non-residential developments that are consistent with all local zoning and development standards. As set forth under the County's Land Development Code, public notice of the application review meeting for Type A developments must be mailed at least seven calendar days in advance to each affected property owner located within 600 feet of the project. Comparatively, the City's Land Development Code does not require any direct public notice to be provided to nearby property owners for Type A development reviews. "Type B" reviews, on the other hand, are for developments that require a higher level of review due to deviations from local code standards. For Type B reviews, the City requires a notification radius of 1,000 feet, while the County's notification radius is 800 feet.

This is an example where the Committee could consider a proposed charter amendment in which the County could develop an ordinance to establish minimum standards for public level of review for new developments that the City could exceed.

#3: Restrictions on the Retail Sale of Animals

The retail sale of animals is an example of a regulatory matter that is currently subject to differing jurisdictional standards. In January 2025, as requested by the Humane Society of the United States (HSUS), the Board adopted an ordinance to prohibit the retail sale of dogs, cats, and rabbits in unincorporated Leon County. According to HSUS, prohibiting the retail sale of animals encourages adoptions and decreases the number of animals that end up in animal shelters. While HSUS requested the same action to be taken by the City, the City does not have an ordinance prohibiting the retail sale of dogs, cats, or rabbits within its jurisdictional limits.

The City owns and operates the Animal Shelter which the County funds 45% of the operating budget and splits the cost of capital improvement projects at the facility. Over the past two years, the City's Animal Shelter has experienced an 18% increase in the number of dogs and a 9% increase in the number of cats admitted to the shelter. The Leon County Humane Society has also experienced a 50% increase in owners seeking to surrender or rehome rabbits. A proposed charter amendment by the Committee could allow for a unified, countywide standard prohibiting the retail sale of animals and address a communitywide problem.

#4: Hours of Sale for Alcohol

During its last meeting, the Committee inquired about differences between County and City ordinances related to hours of sale for alcohol. In this case, the regulatory differences regarding alcohol sales between jurisdictions are minor. The City's Code of Laws prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages between the hours of 2:00 a.m. and 6:00 a.m. on any day within City limits. Comparatively, the County's Code of Laws prohibits the sale of alcoholic beverages in unincorporated Leon County between the hours of 2:00 a.m. and 7:00 a.m. on any day and all day Sunday (with certain exceptions set forth under the Code) in the unincorporated area. This is an example of a situation where the ordinance differences do not create significant issues or the need for uniformity countywide and would not be sufficiently necessary to pursue a charter amendment specific to this issue alone. However, a charter amendment would result in minimum standards that the City could exceed.

Summary and Next Steps

In summary, the Board selected to advance the one issue of whether county ordinances should supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict for the Committee's consideration. Building on the analysis presented at the November 6th meeting, this item provides detailed examples of current regulatory conflicts between the County and City for the Committee's consideration. The overlapping authority of both entities on various local matters can contribute to numerous instances where County and City ordinances conflict or diverge based on jurisdiction. As previously stated, this analysis does not serve as an exhaustive review of all regulatory conflicts as there are instances where discrepancies may exist but have not raised regulatory or administrative conflicts. It is important to note that such discrepancies can change over time as County and City regulations can change – as in, current conflicts for certain matters that exist today, may not exist in the future (and vice versa).

Following its review, the Committee could consider a charter amendment for county ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances for all matters or for specific subject matter(s) in the event of a conflict within municipal boundaries. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to preserve the existing charter provision which specifies that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of a conflict within municipal boundaries. These options are provided to facilitate the Committee's consideration of this issue. A simple majority vote of the Committee is needed to advance any of the proposed options.

Options:

1. Accept this report and table this issue.
2. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment providing that all county ordinances shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, to the extent otherwise permitted by law.
3. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment(s) providing that specific county ordinances or subject area(s), as identified by the Committee, shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.

Also present were County Administrator Vincent Long, Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris, County Attorney Chasity O'Steen, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Nicki Hatch, Management Analyst Cameron Williams, and Clerks to the Board, Beryl Wood and Daniel J. Antonaccio.

Absent Members: Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman.

Call to Order and Opening Mary Ann Lindley, Chair

Chair Lindley called the meeting to order at 11:30 a.m. She provided a brief overview of the agenda.

Consent:

Ryan Ray moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to approve the consent agenda as presented.

The motion carried 17 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray, Joey Davis, Heidi Otway and Sean Pittman not present.

Approval of November 20, 2025 Meeting Minutes
Receipt & File of Written Public Comments

Public Comment:

- Melody Williams, 3349 Argonaut Drive, addressed the CCRC to express her support for a charter amendment related to food security, emphasizing the importance of ensuring access to nutritious food as a core component of a healthy Leon County. She also spoke in favor of a charter amendment related to restoration of historically harmed communities.

- Joey Davis and Heidi Otway arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

General Business:

Committee Discussion on Proposed Charter Amendments

Nicki Hatch provided a recap of the two-step process to introduce charter amendment proposals. Members first presented broad concepts to be added to the list of proposals. Once listed, proposing members had the opportunity to briefly explain their proposal and answer any questions before the committee vote on whether to have staff bring back additional analysis on the proposal.

Chair Lindley welcomed members to offer additional charter amendment proposals to be added to the list for consideration by the Committee.

The list of proposals previously raised during the CCRC's 2025 meetings include:

1. Establishment of an Office of Inspector General, Proposed by Howard Kessler.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the November 20, 2025 meeting.
2. Voting Threshold to Select or Terminate the County Administrator, Proposed by Max Herrle.
    a. Not advanced for analysis at the November 20, 2025 meeting.
3. County Commission Compensation, Proposed by Max Herrle.
    a. Not advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).
4. Funding Mechanism for Affordable Housing, Proposed by Max Herrle.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).
5. Funding Mechanism for Fire Services, Proposed by Max Herrle.
    a. Not advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).
6. Leon County Bill of Rights, Proposed by Max Herrle.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).
7. Prioritization of Food Security, Proposed by Bruce Strouble, Jr.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).

The following proposals were added to the list for CCRC consideration during the meeting:

8. Community Restoration for Historic Harm, Proposed by Bruce Strouble, Jr.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).
9. County/City Consolidation, Proposed by Henry Lewis, III.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).
10. Funding Mechanism to Expand Primary Healthcare Access to Low-Income Residents, Proposed by Temple Robinson.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting (as detailed below).

The following proposals were explained for CCRC consideration:

3.) County Commission Compensation

Max Herrle asked to have information brought back on the rationale behind the current charter provisions related to county commission compensation.

Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes provided that county and city commissioner salaries are set annually by the Florida Office of Economic and Demographic Research.

Max Herrle moved for an agenda item to be brought back on information related to county commission compensation.

The motion failed for lack of a second.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Anita Favors, to table Max Herrle's other proposals and move to the prioritization of food security proposal.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

7.) Prioritization of Food Security

Bruce Strouble, Jr., proposed establishing food access as a county responsibility through a potential charter amendment and provided a handout to the Committee of his proposal in more detail.

County Administrator Vincent Long stated that any item brought back, as requested by the Committee, would include all information requested along with structural options related to the topic.

Bruce Strouble moved, seconded by Darryl Jones, to request an item to be brought back with information on inclusion of food security in the Leon County Charter.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

9.) County/City Consolidation

Henry Lewis, III, introduced a proposed charter amendment for consolidation of local governance. He stated that this would be an opportune time to identify if it is financially and administratively feasible to consolidate the two local governments in the County. He recognized that staff is currently working on providing information regarding consolidation to the Board of County Commissioners.

Henry Lewis, III, moved, seconded by Temple Robinson, to have the report on consolidation prepared for the Board of County Commissioners to be presented to the Committee for review.

The motion carried 17 – 2 with Committee Members Max Herrle and Ryan Ray in opposition. Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman were not present.

6.) Leon County Bill of Rights

Max Herrle proposed establishing a Leon County Bill of Rights similar to Miami-Dade County's charter provisions. He noted that he would like to see what other counties have a bill of rights in their charter and what they might include.

Darryl Jones stated the concept would codify community values regarding government transparency, public participation, and citizen protections.
County Attorney O'Steen provided an explanation of the legal process and implications associated with adopting such a provision.

Joey Davis noted that these sorts of provisions are generally meant to fill gaps in existing regulations.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Darryl Jones, for information to be brought back on bill of rights established in other county charters in Florida.

The motion carried 12 – 7 with Committee Members Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Henry Lewis, III, Ryan Ray, Shamarial Roberson, William Smith, and Chair Mary Ann Lindley in opposition. Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman were not present.

8.) Community Restoration for Historic Harm

Bruce Strouble, Jr., introduced a proposed charter amendment aimed at addressing historic inequities in housing, environmental exposure, and neighborhood investment. The initiative would build on the Board of County Commissioners' February 2024 apology for harmful policies made in the past and would establish structural authority for programs to mitigate documented historic harms. He also provided a handout to be electronically distributed to the CCRC regarding the topic.

Heidi Otway asked for specific examples of historic harms that the proposal seeks to address.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., referenced urban renewal efforts, including the displacement of residents from Smokey Hollow. He noted that the intent is to identify what harm has been done, what the causes of those harms were, and what can be done to mitigate the issues.

Katina Tuggerson asked whether the proposal could also be adapted to address harms experienced by displaced businesses.

Bruce Strouble moved, seconded by Temple Robinson, for analysis on a proposed charter amendment to build on the Board of County Commissioners' February 2024 apology for harmful policies and establish structural authority for programs to mitigate documented historic harms.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

4.) Funding Mechanism for Affordable Housing

Max Herrle requested analysis on funding options for affordable housing, exploring various tools available to the County.

Temple Robinson asked if this would be a topic that should be handled by the CCRC or by the Board of County Commissioners.

County Administrator Vincent Long clarified that the analysis would include information on what the County currently provides and if there are additional avenues that can be pursued through the Charter to do more.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Darryl Jones, for an item to be brought back providing information on funding mechanisms for affordable housing.

The motion carried to 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

12.) Funding Mechanism to Expand Primary Healthcare Access to Low-Income Residents

Temple Robinson introduced expanding access to primary care services for low-income residents.

Shamarial Roberson explained that the State is awaiting a decision by December 30 on more than $50 million in rural health funding to support workforce development and expanded access to care, with funds expected to arrive in the spring.

Temple Robinson moved, seconded by Henry Lewis, III, for an item exploring funding mechanisms to expand access to primary healthcare services for low-income residents.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

5.) Funding Mechanism for Fire Services

Max Herrle proposed examining alternative funding mechanisms for fire services amid current city-county disagreements over fire services assessments.

County Administrator Long provided an overview on fire services and noted that this is actively being examined by staff.

Henry Lewis, III, recalled challenges in the 1980s when the City and County were unable to reach agreement on fire services and highlighted how a resolution was ultimately achieved.

Joey Davis recommended tailoring the proposal to focus on a specific area of need.

Max Herrle confirmed that the intent is to examine a fire services district.

County Administrator Long added that establishing such a district may require legislative approval.

Howard Kessler asked for clarification on what the CCRC could include as a charter amendment, listing an example of potentially setting millage rates through the Charter.

County Administrator Long clarified certain budgetary limitations that exist, but noted that it is very context specific and would be addressed further in items brought back.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Joey Davis, to table the proposal for a charter amendment related to funding mechanism for fire services.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

Agenda Item #1: Status Report on Annexation Procedures and Processes

County Attorney O'Steen introduced this item which provides information and analysis on annexation processes and procedures, as requested by the Committee at the November 20, 2025, meeting.

Max Herrle asked for an explanation on the difference between voluntary and involuntary annexation.

County Attorney O'Steen explain that a voluntary annexation occurs when property owners petition a municipality to be annexed, triggering county review and an opportunity to object, while an involuntary annexation is initiated by the municipality without a request from the affected property owners.

Ryan Ray moved, seconded by Henry Lewis, III, for Option #1: Accept status report and take no further action.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

Agenda Item #2: Additional Information Regarding Separate Jurisdictional Standards for Street Renaming

County Administrator Long introduced this item. He stated as requested at its November 20, 2025 meeting, this item provides additional information to unify the street renaming process outside of a charter amendment.

Ryan Ray moved, seconded by William Smith, for Option #1: Accept report and table this issue.

The motion carried 18 – 1 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes in opposition. Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman were not present.

Anita Favors recommended that the City and County Commissions work collaboratively to establish greater uniformity in street renaming practices, with input from law enforcement, fire, and emergency services.

Anita Favors moved, seconded by Ryan Ray, to provide a policy recommendation to the County and City Commissions encouraging the two entities to consider alignment of street renaming policies to prevent public safety and emergency services-related issues due to lack of uniformity among street names.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

A draft policy recommendation will be brought back to the Committee for consideration in February.

Motion to adjourn:

Ryan Ray moved, seconded by Joey Davis, to adjourn the meeting.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman not present.

Chair Lindley adjourned the meeting at 1:18 p.m.

Subject: Support for the Restoration of Communities Amendment (RCA)

Good afternoon. My name is Trishay Young and I live in the 32310 zip code. I'm here because I believe government has a responsibility not just to grow the county, but to repair the harm its own decisions have caused.

The RCA does not mandate spending or raise taxes. It creates a framework that requires the county to acknowledge and consider past public-policy harm when making major decisions.

Counties across the country use their home-rule authority to place equity and restoration principles into their governing documents. Leon County has the same authority.

This amendment ensures that future generations inherit a county that remembers its history, learns from it, and governs more responsibly. Please support the RCA.

Thank you,

Mrs. Young

Subject: Leon County Sheriff Needs to do his Job which is to Enforce the Law

Hello Citizen Charter Review Committee,

Leon County, Florida Sheriff Walt McNeil needs to do his JOB, which is to enforce the FL Statutes

I am supposed to have the Right to Equality Before the Law: All are equal before the law and are entitled without any discrimination to equal protection of the law.
Basic rights: All natural persons, female and male alike, are equal before the law and have inalienable rights, among which are the right to enjoy and defend life and liberty, to pursue happiness, to be rewarded for industry, and to acquire, possess and protect property. No person shall be deprived of any right because of race, religion, national origin, or physical disability.
Other State of Florida Residents, including Donald Trump, are provided protection by Law Enforcement Agencies. Innocent people, such as my family and I, also have the right and deserve to be protected from the discharging of firearms and the detonating of explosives in a Residential Neighborhood, but we are NOT protected. Instead, we have had to endure 10 long, torturous years of fearing for our lives every single day. This has ruined our health and our quality of life, has given us PTSD, and taken away from us any happiness and any enjoyment of our lives that we would have had, if Sheriff Walt McNeil had just enforced the law by arresting the criminal shooters.

We've lived at the same residence as we are currently living at for the past 16 years. Before the new neighbors moved next door to us, and before there was any shooting, it was a beautiful and peaceful place to live. The discharging of firearms began in the year 2016, after new neighbors moved in next door to us in the town of Woodville, and after Donald Trump first ran for President, and after Walt McNeil became Sheriff of Leon County, Florida.

Sheriff Walt McNeil needs to STOP EMBOLDENING BAD PEOPLE to COMMIT ILLEGAL ACTS! LEON COUNTY SHERIFF's OFFICE is supposed to PROTECT and SERVE, NOT ENCOURAGE bad people to commit crimes and shoot at their neighbors!

Sheriff Walt McNeil should have arrested and fined the shooters 10 years ago and that would have been the end of it!

People that shoot guns ILLEGALLY in a RESIDENTIAL NEIGHBORHOOD with no regard for any of their neighbors' lives or safety are MENTALLY DEFECTIVE, and mentally defective people are not even allowed to have a gun in their possession, according to the FL STATUTES.
A sane person DOES NOT DISCHARGE FIREARMS ON A RESIDENTIAL PROPERTY, when there is a GUN RANGE 2 miles from here where they can go to DISCHARGE FIREARMS LEGALLY. Our Residential Neighborhood is NOT a GUN RANGE! This is our HOME; this is where we LIVE. We cannot go somewhere else to live.

Since Sheriff Walt McNeil DID NOT STOP this dangerous and criminal behavior, I requested that he provide body armor and bulletproof helmets, that are paid for by the taxpayers, to my family and to all of the surrounding innocent neighbors' families, but he would not.

There is no safe direction to shoot a gun. Everyone has the right to use and enjoy their own residential property, as long as one is not endangering anyone else's life. No one has the right to endanger another person's life, to make another person fear for their life, or to violate a person's right to have peace, tranquility, and happiness to enjoy the use of their own property. Our right to use and enjoy our property has been violated by our neighbors since 2016. Anyone who wishes to discharge a firearm can go to the gun range. We cannot go somewhere else to live. This is the one and only place where we are supposed to be able to go to rest, relax and have peace, our home.

790.15 Discharging firearm in public or on residential property.—
(1) Except as provided in subsection (2) or subsection (3), any person who knowingly discharges a firearm in any public place or on the right-of-way of any paved public road, highway, or street, who knowingly discharges any firearm over the right-of-way of any paved public road, highway, or street or over any occupied premises, or who recklessly or negligently discharges a firearm outdoors on any property used primarily as the site of a dwelling as defined in s. 776.013 or zoned exclusively for residential use commits a misdemeanor of the first degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082 or s. 775.083. This section does not apply to a person lawfully defending life or property or performing official duties requiring the discharge of a firearm or to a person discharging a firearm on public roads or properties expressly approved for hunting by the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Commission or Florida Forest Service.
(2) Any occupant of any vehicle who knowingly and willfully discharges any firearm from the vehicle within 1,000 feet of any person commits a felony of the second degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.
(3) Any driver or owner of any vehicle, whether or not the owner of the vehicle is occupying the vehicle, who knowingly directs any other person to discharge any firearm from the vehicle commits a felony of the third degree, punishable as provided in s. 775.082, s. 775.083, or s. 775.084.

We want our residential neighborhood to be a safe place to live, like when I was young, when insane criminals shooting guns, for absolutely no reason, were held responsible and accountable for their criminal acts. We need a sheriff that will arrest criminals and do his job, to protect the innocent. Sheriff Walt McNeil has refused to arrest active shooters who had already confessed to the shooting. This is unacceptable! Why did Sheriff McNeil refuse to arrest them, when we requested that he press charges for discharging of firearms, detonating explosives (which shook neighbors' houses), and trespassing on our property?

On December 24, 2024 and December 25, 2024, our Christmas Holidays were destroyed by the neighbors discharging hundreds of rounds of bullets for 2 days in a row. LCSO was called, but they did nothing, as usual. If Sheriff McNeil and LCSO will not cease the shooting by enforcing the FL Statutes in our Residential Neighborhood in Woodville, FL, then he cannot cease shooting or enforce the law in anyone else's neighborhood in Leon County, including Sheriff McNeil's residential neighborhood or any politician's residential neighborhood in Leon County.

I thought a sheriff is only allowed to serve 2 terms in the State of Florida. Why is Sheriff McNeil serving a 3rd term when he does not even do his JOB, which is to enforce the FL Statutes?

Sheriff McNeil needs to instruct his deputies to enforce the law, or resign, and elect a sheriff who will do what he is getting paid so well to do, to actually do something and ENFORCE THE LAW!

Please don't let our holidays be ruined this year.

Please feel free to email me for any additional information or questions you may have.
Thank you.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #1

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #1

December 18, 2025

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Status Report on County-City Consolidation in Florida

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item provides an analysis on county-city consolidation in Florida, as presented to the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) on December 9, 2025, and summarizes the direction provided by the Board at that time.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

On November 18, 2025, the Board directed staff to provide an analysis on county-city consolidation in Florida, including the legal process and additional information to be considered regarding potential consolidation of Leon County and the City of Tallahassee. On December 4, 2025, the Committee requested staff to bring back the analysis on county-city consolidation for discussion at a future Committee meeting.

On December 9, 2025, the analysis on county-city consolidation in Florida was presented to the Board for consideration (Attachment #1). At that time, the Board had the ability to take additional action and begin the process to initiate consolidation in coordination with the Legislative Delegation (as detailed more in the Analysis section). However, the Board determined that a non-binding advisory referendum ("straw ballot") on the November 2026 General Election ballot is an appropriate first step to preliminarily gauge resident support for consolidation. Recognizing the Board's recent direction on this issue, this item does not recommend any additional action to be taken by the Committee regarding county-city consolidation.

Analysis:

At its December 9, 2025 meeting, the Board received a status report and analysis on county-city consolidation in Florida. As detailed in Attachment #1, the status report summarizes national and Florida experience with county-city consolidation, including Jacksonville–Duval County and prior Tallahassee–Leon County referenda; describes existing functional consolidation between Leon County and the City of Tallahassee; and outlines the state legal framework and research on potential advantages and disadvantages of consolidation. The status report also identifies potential next steps the Board could consider if it wishes to further explore the issue.

Under Article VIII, Section 3 of the Florida Constitution, consolidation requires a special act of the Legislature that sets out a detailed consolidation plan, followed by voter approval in a binding referendum. In practice, this involves legislative sponsorship, typically beginning with a request for the Legislature to direct the creation of a study commission that would develop a proposed consolidation plan (as it did for Escambia County/City of Pensacola in 2009). A consolidation plan requires significant resources, planning, and coordination among the governments to be consolidated. The Florida Constitution and Florida Statutes provide guidance on several jurisdictional matters that need to be addressed in the consolidation plan including the resolution of pre-existing debts, the preservation of certain employee rights and benefits (retirement plans), and the proposed taxing authority of the consolidated government.

The 2026 Legislative Session is scheduled to begin on January 13, 2026, but the public notice deadline has already passed for the Legislative Delegation to consider a local bill or special act related to consolidation. Given the significant investment of time and resources needed to develop a consolidation plan and the Board's desire to gauge public interest in further exploring county-city consolidation, the Board determined that a non-binding advisory referendum ("straw ballot") on the November 2026 General Election ballot is an appropriate first step to preliminarily gauge resident support for consolidation.

As described in the status report presented to the Board, most consolidation proposals either do not reach the ballot or fail when presented to voters – as demonstrated by only a few dozen consolidated city–county governments that do exist out of more than 3,000 county governments nationwide. Case studies on these consolidation efforts suggest there is a disparity of public opinion regarding the concept of consolidation versus the specific consolidation plans which detail the structure and representation of the proposed consolidated government. In other words, the principle of consolidation has often been viewed favorably until specific details of consolidation are identified through the development of the consolidation plan.

Following deliberation at its December 9, 2025 meeting, the Board did not take action to initiate the consolidation process in coordination with the Legislative Delegation. Instead, the Board voted to place a non-binding advisory referendum ("straw ballot") on the November 2026 General Election ballot to preliminarily gauge resident support for consolidation. The draft "straw ballot" language will be presented to the Board for consideration in Spring 2026. Recognizing the Board's recent direction on this issue, this item does not recommend any additional action to be taken by the Committee regarding county-city consolidation.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Committee direction.

Title: Status Report on County-City Consolidation in Florida

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review and Lead Staff:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Mathieu Cavell, Director, Community Relations and Resilience

Statement of Issue:

This status report summarizes national and Florida experience with county-city consolidation, including Jacksonville–Duval County and prior Tallahassee–Leon County referenda; describes existing functional consolidation between Leon County and the City of Tallahassee; and outlines the state legal framework and research on potential advantages and disadvantages of consolidation. The item also identifies potential next steps the Board could consider if it wishes to further explore the issue.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has no fiscal impact.

Staff Recommendation:

Board direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

This status report provides an overview of Florida's sole successful city–county consolidation in Jacksonville–Duval County, summarizes the numerous consolidation referenda in other Florida communities that have not been approved by voters, and describes the state-prescribed legal framework for pursuing consolidation. In addition, the item outlines the potential use of a non-binding, countywide advisory ("straw ballot") referendum to gauge public interest in exploring possible consolidation of Leon County and the City of Tallahassee.

At its November 18, 2025 meeting, the Board directed staff to provide an analysis on city–county consolidation in Florida, including the legal process and additional information for the Board's consideration regarding potential consolidation of Leon County and the City of Tallahassee.

Nationally, city–county consolidation is generally defined by organizations such as the National Association of Counties and the National League of Cities as the formal joining of a city (or cities) with its surrounding county government into a single unified jurisdiction that assumes the responsibilities of both. Although consolidation has been one of the most frequently discussed forms of metropolitan governance reform, it remains very rare in practice: national surveys identify only a few dozen consolidated city–county governments out of more than 3,000 county governments, while compilations of consolidation referenda over the past century show that most proposals either do not reach the ballot or fail when presented to voters. Consolidation is typically pursued to improve governmental efficiency, reduce duplication, and present a unified voice for economic development. The empirical evidence on long-term cost savings and growth impacts of consolidation is mixed.

Within this broader national context, Florida's experience with consolidation is especially limited. To date, only one city–county consolidation has been approved and implemented in the state, as described below.

Jacksonville–Duval County (Consolidated 1968). The only successful, fully unified, city–county consolidation in Florida to date is the merger of the City of Jacksonville with Duval County. After years of local crises – including a corruption scandal that saw 11 officials indicted, a financial crisis, decaying infrastructure, and a disaccredited school system – community leaders pushed for radical reform. A special act charter providing for a consolidated government was approved by Duval County voters on August 8, 1967, by a wide margin (65% in favor). Following a one-year transition, the consolidation took effect on October 1, 1968, creating the Consolidated City of Jacksonville. This reform replaced the separate city and county governments with one unified administration. The new consolidated government retained a mayor–council structure (a single Mayor of Jacksonville as chief executive and a Jacksonville City Council as the legislative body) in place of the prior city council and county commission. Jacksonville's jurisdiction now encompasses nearly all of Duval County (875 square miles), making it the largest city by area in the contiguous U.S. The few small municipalities that opted out – Baldwin and the beach towns of Atlantic Beach, Neptune Beach, and Jacksonville Beach – remain independent enclaves inside Duval, but their residents still vote in Jacksonville's county-wide elections and receive certain services from the consolidated government. This Jacksonville/Duval consolidation remains unique in Florida – it is "the only municipality of its kind in Florida," as other counties retain separate city and county governments.

Over more than five decades, Jacksonville's consolidated government model has been examined in multiple reviews that emphasize the historical conditions preceding the 1968 vote, including city and county governments described at the time as outdated and inefficient, concerns about corruption, fragmented boards that diffused accountability, inadequate planning, and declining public confidence. These challenges are acknowledged in the City Council's 2014 Blueprint for Improvement II report, which explains that consolidation was intended to restore public trust, professionalize administration, strengthen long-term planning and finances, and better align the cost of services with the benefits taxpayers receive, even as many urban-core neighborhoods still face gaps in basic services and infrastructure. Historian James B. Crooks and comparative studies of county–city consolidation, along with economic-development analyses by the Washington Economics Group, describe Jacksonville's consolidation as a shift from the pre-1968 system toward a more "mainstream metropolis," while also documenting uneven progress on race relations, environmental quality, downtown redevelopment, and other outcomes—indicating that efficiency, growth, and economic gains have been positive but not uniform.

As a historical note, Jacksonville's consolidation was enabled by a 1934 amendment to the Florida Constitution (1885) that had specifically authorized creating a city extending over Duval County. Although that power lay unused for decades, the 1960s reform effort (branded the "Better Government" or "White Hats" campaign) finally carried consolidation to approval. Jacksonville's success was hailed as "the Bold New City of the South," reflecting the optimism that consolidation would rejuvenate the city. Since 1968, no other Florida city–county has consolidated, and Jacksonville remains the state's lone example of a unified city–county government.

Miami-Dade County (Federated home-rule county). Unlike Jacksonville's full consolidation, Miami-Dade operates under a metropolitan home-rule charter created by a special amendment to the 1885 Florida Constitution and expressly preserved in the 1968 Florida Constitution; this grandfathered framework predates the current, general process for county charters and city–county consolidation and cannot be replicated for other jurisdictions due to the current state law consolidation process. Under this unique arrangement, Miami-Dade maintains a strong county government that provides many regional and metropolitan services (e.g., major roads, transit, some regional facilities), while more than 30 municipalities—including the City of Miami, Miami Beach, Hialeah, Coral Gables, and others—continue to exist as separate city governments with their own elected officials, budgets, and municipal powers, resulting in a two-tier federated system: a full-service county government alongside multiple municipalities, rather than a single consolidated city–county.

Proposed (Unrealized) City–County Consolidations in Florida

Over the decades, Florida communities have considered consolidation of city and county governments many times, but none of these proposals (outside Jacksonville) have succeeded. In fact, since 1967 Floridians have consistently rejected consolidation proposals at the polls. Below is a list of major city–county consolidation efforts in Florida that were proposed or put to voters but did not ultimately occur, along with the timeframes and context:

- Tampa–Hillsborough County: 1967, 1970, 1972. Florida's first consolidation referendums took place in the Tampa area. Spurred by metropolitan growth and service overlap, proposals to merge the City of Tampa with Hillsborough County went to voters in 1967, and again in 1970 and 1972, but were defeated each time. For example, the 1967 vote saw Hillsborough County voters reject consolidation roughly 72%–28% (Tampa instead pursued aggressive annexation of suburbs in the 1950s–60s as an alternative means to expand its tax base).
- Pensacola–Escambia County: 1970 and 2009–10. Inspired partly by Jacksonville's success, a consolidation of the City of Pensacola and Escambia County was placed on the ballot in November 1970 and was rejected by roughly three-quarters of county voters. Decades later, the Legislature created the Escambia County Consolidation Study Commission in 2009 to draft a consolidation plan for Escambia County, Pensacola, and the Town of Century. In 2010, however, the local legislative delegation declined to file and advance the special act needed to submit the plan to the full Legislature and then to a referendum, so the Legislature never placed consolidation on the ballot and Escambia County voters never weighed in—underscoring the uphill battle city–county mergers have faced in Florida's Panhandle.
- Fort Pierce–St. Lucie County: 1972. A proposal to consolidate Fort Pierce with St. Lucie County was defeated in 1972. Both city and county electorate majorities voted "no" (roughly 2,050–2,250 in the city and 3,000–6,500 in the county), halting an effort aimed at streamlining government on the Treasure Coast.
- Tallahassee–Leon County: 1971, 1973, 1976, 1992. Florida's capital region has revisited consolidation multiple times. Consolidation referendums in Leon County were held and failed in 1971, 1973, 1976, and again in 1992 (the last effort failing by a 60–40% margin). Despite periodic studies and local debate about merging the City of Tallahassee with Leon County for efficiency, voters have remained skeptical. In the 1970s, the voting margins were relatively narrow (e.g., 46% in favor in 1973), indicating some support, but concerns about law enforcement control, job losses, taxation levels on unincorporated residents, and urban–rural divides have consistently swayed the outcome.
- Gainesville–Alachua County: 1975, 1976, 1990. The city of Gainesville and Alachua County have also explored consolidation. Referendums in 1975 and 1976 saw voters decisively reject a merged city–county charter (only about 25–32% voted "yes"). A later attempt in 1990 likewise failed by roughly a two-to-one margin. Factors in Gainesville included resistance from smaller municipalities in the county and fears that a unified government might be "too large" or unresponsive to local needs – sentiments common to many failed consolidation bids in Florida.
- Okeechobee (City)–Okeechobee County: 1979, 1989. Even Florida's smaller communities have considered consolidation. The small City of Okeechobee (the county seat of rural Okeechobee County) and the county government held referendums in 1979 and again in 1989 on merging the two local governments. Both times, voters soundly defeated the idea (1979: 32.2% in favor, 1989: 20.6% in favor). This illustrates that even in smaller communities with limited public services, voters may prefer retaining separate local governments.

- Daytona Beach/Halifax Area–Volusia County: 1985. In 1985, a plan to consolidate Volusia County with the "Halifax area" cities (Daytona Beach and nearby municipalities) reached the ballot. It was rejected by Volusia voters (approximately 45% for vs. 55% against). The consolidation concept (merging a cluster of cities with the county while other cities remained separate) did not persuade a majority, and the Volusia initiative failed.

Tallahassee–Leon County Consolidation: Public Attitudes and Prior Efforts

According to Linda S. Johnson's Tallahassee–Leon County chapter of Case Studies of City-County Consolidation: Reshaping the Local Government Landscape (hereinafter "the consolidation case study" and included as Attachment #1), Tallahassee and Leon County have returned to the idea of city–county consolidation many times over the past fifty years. The community has examined some form of a unified government at least seven times, with four proposals reaching the ballot (1971, 1973, 1976, and 1992) and three other efforts ending before a referendum, including a 1953 Consolidation Study Committee that recommended against pursuing consolidation at that time and two later efforts in 1981 and 1986 that were halted before reaching the ballot.

Concept vs. plan. Taken together, these efforts suggest that consolidation as a concept has generally attracted interest—and at times broad support—while specific plans have struggled to secure final approval. The consolidation case study observes that "a common theme … is that opposition has not been to the concept of consolidation but to the proposed charter." In other words, the principle of consolidation has often been viewed favorably; the points of contention have centered on exactly how a consolidated government would be structured and how representation and powers would be allocated.

Absence of an "accelerator event." Research on the Tallahassee–Leon County attempts to consolidate note that, unlike some successful consolidations, there was no single "accelerator event" — a scandal, crisis, or other shock that rallied broad public support for structural change. Instead, local challenges such as growth, traffic, taxes, drainage, crime, and intergovernmental disputes created a recurring "crisis climate," but never coalesced into a unifying event that pushed voters to embrace a consolidation charter.

1990s experience: support for study, concerns with specifics. Public actions in the early 1990s underscore this distinction between concept and plan. In 1990, Leon County voters approved the creation of a Consolidation Commission "by a 58.5 percent to 41.5 percent margin" to study and draft a consolidation charter, signaling majority support for formally exploring consolidation as an option. Civic and business leaders—including the Chamber of Commerce, professional organizations, and other community groups—are described in the case study as "strong supporters of the consolidation," citing efficiency, lower costs, and better growth management as potential benefits of a unified government.

Charter design, representation, and balance of power. Each proposed charter triggered concerns about representation, constitutional officers, taxation levels in the unincorporated area, and the urban–rural balance of power. The case study notes that an early poll in the 1992 effort showed a 2 to 1 margin of support for consolidation in the rural areas of the county, but that support declined once the specific charter language was released and debated, and the final referendum was defeated, as voters increasingly questioned whether consolidation would raise costs, weaken local representation (especially in rural and minority communities), and shift too much authority away from existing elected offices. Earlier attempts in the 1970s followed a similar pattern: substantial business sector support, coupled with voter skepticism about particular charter provisions. One 1976 pro-consolidation campaign, for example, promoted the merger as "the most practical and least expensive alternative to solve the major problems facing the city and county residents," but the proposed charter still failed at the ballot.

Rural character and representation. The Tallahassee–Leon community has long been described as a "heterogeneous" county with "clear-cut rural and urban areas," and the rural character and influence of outlying areas have been central to each consolidation debate. In the 1970s referenda, county voters outside the city repeatedly defeated proposed charters—only 1 of 16 county precincts supported consolidation in 1976, even as a majority of city precincts voted in favor. In 1992, early polling suggested that rural residents might support consolidation, but specific charter provisions and service concerns ultimately eroded that support.

- Residents of communities such as Woodville and Miccosukee questioned whether a consolidated government would "cost more money and provide few services," objected to proposals such as an appointed sheriff and a single rural district, and expressed feeling like a "stepchild of Leon County."
- Rural political leaders with a "rural, conservative background" and a "deep distrust of government," along with the local rural electric cooperative concerned about territory, tax status, and utility revenues, mobilized against the charter.

These dynamics underscore how protecting rural representation, autonomy, and service expectations has been a decisive factor in past consolidation outcomes.

Other efforts that did not reach the ballot. Beyond the four Tallahassee–Leon County consolidation referenda (1971, 1973, 1976, and 1992), the community saw several other pushes that never made it to a binding ballot, including:

- A 1953 Consolidation Study Committee, which examined merging the city and county in response to growth and service issues but ultimately recommended that consolidation not be pursued at that time.

- Efforts in 1981 and 1986, both of which were halted before reaching voters. In 1986, the debate became entangled with a Voting Rights Act lawsuit over county at-large elections and a failed attempt to adopt a county charter, and the legislative delegation declined to advance a consolidation plan to referendum.

Together, these episodes show that interest in consolidation has surfaced repeatedly, even when the process stalled short of a public vote.

In summary, the Tallahassee–Leon County experience suggests that residents have not been opposed to exploring consolidation—or even to consolidation in principle. Rather, past efforts have faltered on the specifics of the plan: how elected officials would be chosen, how constitutional officers (particularly law enforcement) would be treated, and how urban and rural communities would see their interests reflected in a new charter. Any renewed discussion of consolidation should consider the primacy of these details over the broader questions of whether to consolidate.

Functional Consolidation and Other Alignments of Leon County and City of Tallahassee Programs

Lastly, while Leon County and the City of Tallahassee have not effectuated structural consolidation, the two governments have made functional consolidation and joint service delivery a longstanding priority where it has been demonstrated to be the most effective and efficient means of delivering regional services. Previous County Commissions have actively pursued these partnerships to reduce duplication, achieve cost savings and cost avoidance, and enhance service quality, and staff continue to evaluate and implement new opportunities for shared services that benefit the entire community. Examples include:

- Department of PLACE. Leon County and the City of Tallahassee jointly created the Department of Planning, Land Management and Community Enhancement (PLACE) to better coordinate land use planning, infrastructure investment, and economic development carried out through several interrelated, but legally distinct, City–County programs established by separate interlocal agreements. Through PLACE, the City and County align policy, funding, and staff support across these joint efforts to support coordinated growth, quality of life, and long-term economic vitality. Functionally consolidated joint programs include:
    - Planning. The Tallahassee–Leon County Planning Department, housed within PLACE, manages the Comprehensive Plan and related land use, transportation, and community planning initiatives for both the City and County.
    - Office of Economic Vitality. The Office of Economic Vitality serves as the community's joint economic development organization, coordinating business recruitment, retention, workforce development, and strategic investments to strengthen and diversify the local economy.
    - Blueprint. The Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency, composed of the Leon County Board of County Commissioners and the Tallahassee City Commission, oversees voter-approved sales tax–funded capital projects and economic development initiatives, delivering critical infrastructure and community enhancements and investing more than $750 million over the life of the current sales tax program. One recent Blueprint economic development initiative, funded at about $250,000 per year, includes flexible gap financing to help City and County affordable rental housing projects close funding shortfalls and advance to construction.

- Development permitting and growth management. The City of Tallahassee Growth Management Department and Leon County's Development Support and Environmental Management (DSEM) are co-located in the Renaissance Center and, through a long-standing interlocal collaboration and the joint Tallahassee–Leon County Permit Portal, provide a coordinated "one-stop shop" for development review and permitting system with aligned processes, shared online tools, and centralized public meeting space for applicants across both jurisdictions.
- Public safety, communications, and operations. The Consolidated Dispatch Agency (CDA) provides a single 9-1-1 and public safety dispatch center serving Leon County and the City of Tallahassee, ensuring that the closest and most appropriate units are dispatched to each incident. Co-located with the County Emergency Operations Center and the City's Traffic Management Center in the joint Public Safety Complex, this consolidated model centralizes call-taking, radio operations, traffic management, and emergency coordination in one location, improving cross-jurisdictional communication and supporting faster, more effective responses during both routine incidents and large-scale events.
- Tallahassee-Leon County Geographic Information Systems (TLCGIS). Established in 1990 by an interlocal agreement between Leon County and the City of Tallahassee, TLCGIS is a jointly funded department that plans, develops, and maintains the community's shared GIS enterprise database and base maps—centralizing staff, data, and technology to reduce duplication, ensure consistent land use and property information, and support joint City–County applications from parcel and zoning maps to emergency damage assessment tools.
- Joint Board of Adjustment and Appeals. A joint City–County quasi-judicial body that hears and decides variance and appeal requests on land use, building, and environmental regulations for properties in both Tallahassee and unincorporated Leon County.
- Canopy Roads Citizens Committee. A joint advisory committee appointed by the City and County Commissions that coordinates public and private efforts to protect, maintain, enhance, and where appropriate re-evaluate designated canopy roads, and recommends preservation policies to both boards.
- Community Human Service Partnership (CHSP). A nationally recognized joint City–County funding partnership that uses a unified competitive grant process to invest nearly $3.8 million each year in nonprofit agencies providing safety-net human services to Tallahassee–Leon County residents.

While traditional consolidation efforts have not been successful in the past, these examples demonstrate continuous efforts to realize targeted, function-by-function consolidation to improve service delivery and efficiency, while maintaining separate City and County governments for overall governance.

Analysis:

Academic and policy research on city–county consolidation is extensive and generally consistent in its broad conclusions. National organizations such as the National Association of Counties (NACo) and the National League of Cities, along with peer-reviewed public administration studies and policy analyses from universities and think tanks, have examined consolidation efforts across the country for several decades. This body of work finds that consolidation is one of several structural options available to local governments rather than a standard model, and that its impacts are highly context specific.

As documented in Leland and Thurmaier's Tallahassee–Leon County case study in Case Studies of City-County Consolidation: Reshaping the Local Government Landscape, the core pattern is clear: residents and stakeholders have seldom opposed consolidation in principle, but rather the specific charters placed before them. Across the 1971, 1973, and 1976 efforts, business, civic, and academic leaders repeatedly backed consolidation to address growth, service duplication, and regional planning, yet each attempt failed over the details of the proposed governance structure. In the authors' words, "opposition has not been to the concept of consolidation" but to the consolidation plan itself.

NACo estimates there are around 40 consolidated city–county governments nationwide—examples include Jacksonville, Denver, Louisville, Indianapolis, and San Francisco—out of more than 3,000 county governments and nearly 90,000 local governments overall, underscoring that full city–county consolidation remains rare. Reviews of consolidation outcomes tend to show that while some jurisdictions achieve improvements in coordination or targeted efficiencies, overall fiscal savings and economic gains are mixed.

Consolidation: Potential Advantages and Disadvantages

City–county consolidation is one of several structural options available to local governments, offering the potential for more coordinated service delivery, streamlined administration, and cost savings and avoidance for taxpayers. At the same time, decades of academic research and practical experience – including in Tallahassee–Leon County and other Florida communities – show that consolidation's impacts are highly context-specific and often mixed. Some jurisdictions have realized service-specific efficiencies or governance benefits, while others have seen limited fiscal gains and significant transition challenges. As requested by the Board, the following sections summarize commonly cited advantages and disadvantages to help frame further consideration.

Potential Advantages of Consolidation

When consolidation is carefully designed and aligned with local needs and preferences, governments may realize several potential advantages, including:

- Operational Efficiency and Affordability: Merging departments and eliminating duplicative functions may offer cost efficiencies, particularly in areas like public safety, administration, and planning. Some jurisdictions have achieved service-specific efficiencies, though overall cost savings vary.

- Streamlined Decision-Making and Policy Alignment: A single, consolidated governing body can simplify policy development and reduce intergovernmental conflict, allowing for faster decision-making on regional issues such as land use, transportation, and infrastructure. This can make it easier to adopt and implement long-term strategic plans that apply consistently across the entire jurisdiction.
- Improved Coordination and Service Delivery: Consolidation can lead to more unified planning and consistent service standards across a region by eliminating overlapping jurisdictions. In Jacksonville, for example, the merger unified public safety and planning functions, enhancing responsiveness and regional coordination.
- Stronger Fiscal and Administrative Capacity: A unified government can create a broader tax base and shared administrative infrastructure, potentially increasing long-term fiscal sustainability and reducing fragmentation.
- Economic Development Potential: A consolidated government can present a single, credible voice for regional development, reduce inter-governmental competition, and offer streamlined permitting and regulatory environments. Case studies of Louisville and Indianapolis, for example, credit consolidation with helping broaden the tax base, revitalize downtowns, strengthen the regional business climate, and improve each community's image and competitiveness for jobs and investment.
- Equity and Regional Identity: Consolidation may reduce disparities in service levels across jurisdictions and foster a shared community identity, particularly when urban and suburban areas are unified under one government.

Potential Disadvantages of Consolidation

At the same time, experiences in Florida and nationally underscore several potential disadvantages and risks that should be weighed alongside any anticipated benefits:

- Limited or Uncertain Cost Savings: Empirical research suggests that consolidation does not consistently yield overall cost reductions. Transition costs and harmonizing compensation or benefits across merged entities can offset potential efficiencies.
- Unclear Impact on Economic Growth: While proponents often cite economic development as a benefit, academic studies show mixed evidence regarding whether consolidation leads to measurable improvements in long-term economic performance.
- Loss of Local Control: Residents in smaller communities or rural areas may perceive a loss of representation or influence in a larger, unified government, especially if governance structures shift from local districts to countywide elections.
- Fiscal Risk: If one jurisdiction has substantial debt or unfunded obligations, consolidation can shift those liabilities across a broader tax base, potentially increasing costs for residents who previously did not share those burdens.
- Administrative Challenges: Merging governments requires integrating different systems, policies, and organizational cultures. This can be complex and may take years to fully implement, potentially disrupting service delivery and employee morale during the transition.

City–county consolidation in Florida is governed by provisions of state law, chiefly the Florida Constitution, as well as implementing statutes. The key legal foundation is Article VIII, Section 3 of the Florida Constitution, entitled "Consolidation." This section explicitly authorizes merging a county government with one or more municipalities in that county, subject to the following conditions.

Legal and Procedural Framework for City–County Consolidation in Florida

The legal authority for city–county consolidation is set out in Article VIII, Section 3 of the Florida Constitution, which states:

> Consolidation.—The government of a county and the government of one or more municipalities located therein may be consolidated into a single government which may exercise any and all powers of the county and the several municipalities. The consolidation plan may be proposed only by special law, which shall become effective if approved by vote of the electors of the county, or of the county and municipalities affected, as may be provided in the plan. Consolidation shall not extend the territorial scope of taxation for the payment of pre-existing debt except to areas whose residents receive a benefit from the facility or service for which the indebtedness was incurred.

- Special Act & Referendum. A consolidation can only occur if a special law (an act of the Florida Legislature) outlining the consolidation plan is passed, and that special law is approved by the voters in a referendum. In other words, the Legislature must enact a plan for the consolidated government, and local electors must ratify it. The Constitution specifies that the plan "shall become effective if approved by vote of the electors of the county, or of the county and municipalities affected, as may be provided in the plan." This means the legislation can require a single county-wide vote or separate votes (e.g., one by city residents and one by county-at-large residents) depending on how the plan is structured. For instance, past Florida consolidation charters often mandated dual referendums (city and county) for approval, which proved to be a high hurdle in many cases.
- Scope of Powers. A consolidated government under Article VIII, Section 3 may exercise "any and all powers of the county and the several municipalities" it replaces. Essentially, the new entity inherits the legal authority of both a county and a municipality. In practice, after consolidation, the former county generally functions as a single city that also provides county-level services. For example, the consolidated City of Jacksonville exercises all municipal powers and all former Duval County powers within its jurisdiction.
- Protection of Pre-Existing Debts. The Constitution contains a safeguard for taxing and debt obligations: consolidation cannot automatically extend the tax burden of any pre-merger debt to areas that did not benefit from that debt. Specifically, pre-existing municipal debts cannot be charged to newly incorporated areas of the county unless those areas "receive a benefit from the facility or service" financed by that debt. This provision was designed to reassure outlying communities that, if they joined a consolidated government, they would not be forced to pay taxes for old city liabilities from which they had derived no benefit.

Beyond the Constitution, the Florida Statutes provide additional guidance and protections for consolidation:

- Employee and Office Protections. Florida law protects public employees' rights during consolidations. For instance, Section 112.0515, Florida Statutes (F.S.) guarantees that city or county employees' existing pension benefits "may not be diminished or impaired" by reason of a consolidation. Other statutes ensure that employees of a consolidated government can transfer into the Florida Retirement System without losing credit for prior service. Florida's laws also generally preserve the constitutional officers (Sheriff, Tax Collector, Property Appraiser, Supervisor of Elections, Clerk of Court) even in consolidated counties – these officers typically continue in some form (often still elected) unless the consolidation charter specifies a different arrangement via special law. Notably, a 2018 constitutional amendment now bars county charters from abolishing those constitutional offices, meaning any consolidation plan must accommodate them (as Jacksonville's does by retaining an elected sheriff, etc., albeit under the consolidated government).
- Taxation and Finance. State law already addresses how property-tax millage works when a single government provides both county-wide and municipal-type services. For most local governments, the general cap is 10 mills for county operations and 10 mills for municipal operations. A small group of older "metropolitan" governments created under special provisions of the 1885 Constitution and preserved in the current Constitution—most notably Jacksonville–Duval and Miami-Dade—are treated differently: Section 200.141, F.S., authorizes those governments to levy up to 20 mills in the aggregate for combined county and municipal purposes, with corresponding reductions when one level of government assumes another's services. This 20-mill authority is tied to those specific constitutional arrangements and would not automatically apply to a new Tallahassee–Leon consolidation formed under today's Article VIII. For Leon County, a consolidated charter would still need to structure its ad valorem system within the existing 10-mill county and 10-mill municipal limits, likely by creating separate county-wide and "urban services" taxing districts and aligning millage with the level of service in each area. Alternatively, a consolidated Leon County/City of Tallahassee could seek legislative authority to levy up to 20 mills similar to Jacksonville–Duval and Miami-Dade.
- Process to Initiate Consolidation. While Florida law does not prescribe a single uniform procedure (since each consolidation uses a special act), the Legislature has often facilitated local efforts by creating local study commissions. Typically, the process begins with local political interest – for example, a county commission or civic group may request a study. The Legislature can then authorize a consolidation study commission (as it did for Escambia/Pensacola in 2009) to draft a consolidation plan and charter. That plan, once developed with local input, is reported to the local legislative delegation and can be introduced as a special act in the Legislature. If the act passes and is signed into law, it must then be approved by the voters as per the Constitution. This two-step political process – legislative approval and voter approval – ensures both state and local buy-in. Florida's constitution also provides an alternative method for smaller-scale functional consolidation: Article VIII, Section 4 allows any specific governmental function or power to be transferred between a city and county by mutual agreement and dual referendums.

However, this is usually used for contracting services (e.g., a city contracting with the county sheriff for policing) rather than full government merger. In practice, full consolidation attempts proceed via the special law and referendum route of Section 3.

Request for Special Legislation on Consolidation

If the Board considers additional action, the principal tool available under state law is to request special legislation from the Florida Legislature. Under Article VIII, Section 3 of the Florida Constitution, the Legislature may either (1) create a local consolidation study commission to draft a proposed charter, or (2) directly enact a consolidation plan and submit it to the voters. In modern Florida practice, the first approach—creating a local study commission—has been the preferred model of state legislators.

Request a Special Act Creating a Leon County–City of Tallahassee Consolidation Study Commission

Under this option, the Board would use a phased approach that includes local input and engagement with the City of Tallahassee:

1. Request to the Leon County Legislative Delegation for a Special Act

The Board could direct staff to draft a resolution requesting that the Leon County Legislative Delegation sponsor a local bill to create a Leon County–City of Tallahassee Consolidation Study Commission. The bill would identify key design elements such as:

- Composition (e.g., appointments by the Board, City Commission, constitutional officers, and civic or business organizations);
- Duties (study consolidation, engage the public, and draft a proposed consolidation plan/charter); and
- Timelines for reporting and any interim deliverables.

2. Creation and Work of a Consolidation Study Commission

If the Legislature approves and the Governor signs the special act, the Study Commission would be formed and conduct its work over a defined period. Typical responsibilities would include:

- Holding public meetings and hearings to gather community input;
- Analyzing governance structure, service delivery, fiscal, legal, and equity impacts; and
- Drafting a proposed consolidation charter/plan, including transition provisions and treatment of existing debts, assets, and employees.

The Commission would then transmit its proposed charter and findings to the Board, the City Commission, and the Legislative Delegation.

3. Board and City Review; Potential Request for a Charter and Referendum Bill

After receiving the proposed charter, the Board and City Commission would determine whether to endorse it by resolution, request modifications, or decline to proceed. If both governments support moving forward, they could jointly request that the Legislative Delegation file a second local bill that:

- Enacts the proposed plan as a special act; and
- Provides for a binding consolidation referendum under Article VIII, Section 3 of the Florida Constitution (including ballot title, summary, and election date).

4. Legislative Action and Voter Referendum

If the Legislature approves the charter special act, the Supervisor of Elections would place the consolidation question on the ballot as directed. The charter would take effect only if approved by the voters under the terms specified in the act; if not approved, the existing City and County governments would continue in their current forms.

Request a Special Act Placing a Consolidation Charter Directly on the Ballot

As a matter of law, Article VIII, Section 3 also allows the Legislature to enact a special act containing a proposed consolidation charter for Leon County and the City of Tallahassee and to submit that charter directly to the voters in a binding referendum without first creating a local study commission. In recent decades, however, Florida practice has generally favored relying on locally based study commissions and extensive public input to develop any proposed charter before it is considered by the Legislature and voters.

If the Board wished to pursue this more direct approach, it could direct staff to draft a resolution requesting that the Leon County Legislative Delegation sponsor a local bill that: enacts a consolidation plan that has already been developed through a separate local process (to be determined by the Board) and places that charter before the voters in a countywide consolidation referendum.

Non-Binding Advisory Referendum to Gauge Public Interest in Consolidation

Instead of immediately pursuing special legislation, the Board may also consider placing a non-binding "straw ballot" question on the November 3, 2026, general election ballot to gauge countywide sentiment regarding possible consolidation of Leon County and the City of Tallahassee. Non-binding advisory referenda are commonly used by Florida local governments to obtain voter input on major policy issues without creating any direct legal effect; in recent years, counties such as Miami-Dade and Columbia, and cities including Miami Beach and Coral Gables, have used similar questions on topics ranging from transit to governance changes. These measures are placed on the ballot by resolution, framed as yes/no questions, and clearly described to voters as advisory only.

Florida election law does not prohibit advisory referenda, provided general ballot requirements are met. Section 101.161(1), F.S., requires that any "public measure" include a ballot title and an explanatory summary of no more than 75 words stating the chief purpose of the measure, and Section 100.342, F.S., requires at least 30 days' notice of any special election or referendum by publication or website notice. Florida courts have upheld non-binding "straw ballot" questions that comply with these requirements and are not misleading to voters.

If the Board wished to pursue this approach, a resolution would be required to request that the Supervisor of Elections place a countywide, non-binding advisory question on the November 3, 2026, general election ballot, to which voters would respond "Yes" or "No." The result would not in-and-of-itself authorize consolidation, alter the structure of either government, or satisfy the constitutional requirement for a special act and subsequent binding referendum under Article VIII, Section 3 of the Florida Constitution. Instead, it would provide clearer public sentiment on whether residents wish local officials to take further steps toward studying or developing a consolidation charter, which the Board could then weigh alongside intergovernmental discussions and any subsequent efforts.

In summary, Florida's legal framework makes consolidation possible but intentionally requires substantial consensus – the approval of both the Legislature and local voters – reflecting a policy judgment that such a major restructuring of local government should only occur with a clear public mandate. Experience in Tallahassee–Leon County and other Florida communities suggests that consolidation as a concept has often attracted interest and even broad support, while specific consolidation plans and charters have proven far more difficult to advance. As the Tallahassee–Leon County case study observes, "a common theme … is that opposition has not been to the concept of consolidation but to the proposed charter," with debates centering on representation, the treatment of constitutional officers, and the urban–rural balance of power. This same legal and political framework enabled Jacksonville's successful merger but has contributed to the difficulty of subsequent consolidation efforts reaching the ballot and securing voter approval; nonetheless, the potential advantages of consolidation—more unified service delivery and planning, streamlined administration and cost avoidance, a stronger regional voice for economic development, and reduced disparities in service levels—remain central to the policy conversation.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #2

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #2

December 18, 2025

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Food Insecurity Provisions

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

At its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) requested an agenda item related to food security in the Leon County Charter. For the Committee's consideration of this issue, this item provides the requested analysis including information on the County's ongoing efforts to address food insecurity through community engagement, programs, partnerships, and investment.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee at its December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides an analysis on the inclusion of food security in the Leon County Charter. This item also provides information on the County's longstanding commitment and ongoing efforts to address food insecurity through community engagement, programs, partnerships, and investment.

During the December 4th meeting, Dr. Bruce Strouble disseminated a handout on food security for inclusion in the County Charter. The three options include establishing a new County office in the County Charter related to food access; enacting food security as a County responsibility; and incorporating a value statement to affirm the County's commitment to "equitable access to nutritious food" in the County Charter. Subsequently, the Committee requested an agenda item to further consider the three options for a potential charter amendment.

Reducing food insecurity in the community is a high priority of Leon County as demonstrated through intentional community engagement; innovative programs; long-term community partnerships; and significant investments that are responding to the community needs. This has resulted in over $7.5 million invested by the County and the delivery of nearly 55 million meals to low-income households over the last five years.

As presented in this item, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the authority to address food insecurity. The Board has successfully taken action to reduce food insecurity through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Leon County Charter. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. For this reason, there are no County charters in Florida that include language regarding food insecurity. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) defines food insecurity as a household-level economic and social condition characterized by limited or uncertain access to adequate food. According to Feeding America, factors (i.e., root causes) for food insecurity include "a lack of income or other resources" such as transportation and knowledge/access to available services.

Food insecurity is addressed primarily through a variety of programs funded and administered by the federal and/or state governments. The mission of the USDA Division of Food and Nutrition Service is to "increase food security and reduce hunger" by funding a network of programs that provide direct food assistance, including the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), child nutrition programs, Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC), and The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEAP).

In Florida, several state agencies administer the USDA programs, including the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Sciences, Department of Children and Families, and the Department of Health. In addition to administering the federal programs, the state agencies implement a wide variety of programs that address the factors or root causes of food insecurity including homelessness, housing, and healthcare.

As a long-standing priority of Leon County, the County leads coordination with local partners to identify opportunities to augment state and federal programs in a collective effort to reduce food insecurity. The following information details the County's extensive and ongoing efforts to actively engage residents on short and long-term solutions; investments in established and innovative programming and services that are expanding access to food; and highlights the County's collaboration and coordination with local stakeholders to respond to the changing needs in the community.

Leon County's Ongoing Efforts and Investments to Address Food Insecurity

County-Led Community Engagement

The County places a high emphasis on engaging the community in addressing food insecurity. In 2022, in partnership with Second Harvest, the City, and the Children's Services Council of Leon County (CSC Leon), the County hosted dinners entitled, Breaking Bread Together: Neighborhood Dinner and Conversation on Tackling Food Insecurity. Nearly 300 Leon County residents participated in the nine dinner meetings held in the neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates based on Feed America and U.S. Census data. Participants included neighborhood residents, neighborhood business owners, faith-based leaders, not-for-profit organization representatives, and the United Way of the Big Bend (UWBB). These meetings focused on identifying barriers to food access and developing collaborative solutions.

The main theme that emerged during each meeting was that residents of the neighborhoods were unaware of the significant level of resources available in the community to address food insecurity as well as overall basic needs such as childcare, healthcare, and employment services. In response, the County partnered with the City, CSC Leon, and UWBB to establish the Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Committee (Trusted People Committee). The Committee is comprised of neighborhood leaders and stakeholders from Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, South City, and Woodville neighborhoods that are appointed by the County, City, CSC Leon, and UWBB. The Trusted People Committee works with the County and partners to engage the residents to raise awareness and connect them to resources in the community that provide access to food and enhances their quality of life. Through work with the Trusted People Committee, the County and partners have collaborated on events such as cooking classes, housing workshops, and youth job fairs that seek to reduce food insecurity while also enhancing the overall quality of life and economic security of the neighborhoods. This community-driven approach to address food insecurity was nationally recognized with a National Association of Counties Achievement Award in 2024. As presented further in the item, the dinner meetings also led to the establishment of the Neighborhood Engagement and Community Partnership position which actively engages and connects residents to agencies, programs, and services focused on improving quality of life and economic prosperity for individuals and families.

Community Human Services Partnerships (CHSP) Annual Funding

Leon County is committed to combating food insecurity by providing annual funding to local organizations in partnership with the City through CHSP. For nearly 30 years, the County and City have partnered to plan, coordinate, and invest in human services through CHSP. The County's investment ensures access to nutritious food for individuals and families by supporting a variety of programs ranging from food pantries and mobile distributions to senior nutrition services and child meal programs, including:

- Second Harvest of the Big Bend: Second Harvest operates a variety of robust and comprehensive programs that provide healthy food for individuals and families in Leon County and the surrounding areas. Through CHSP, Second Harvest distributes pantry staples, fresh produce, and meat to approximately 68 pantry partner agencies throughout Leon County. These partners collectively offer food assistance approximately 200 times per month to residents in need. Additionally, Second Harvest has hosted over 30 targeted community food distributions in Leon County this year. Through its Senior Grocery Program, Second Harvest helps feed low-income seniors in the community at the end of the month when their financial resources have been exhausted. Currently, the program provides food to hundreds of seniors each month, including cereal, canned fruits and vegetables, proteins and grains, fresh bread, and produce. In addition, Second Harvest responds to cover the food needs of families during unexpected disasters and emergencies which quickly increase the number of people needing food stabilization support.

  CHSP funding also supports Second Harvest's operation of a robust program through school pantries and mobile markets in the Promise Zone. The CHSP Promise Zone category funds human service programs that specifically serve neighborhoods in census tracts with high poverty rates and include Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City. Though all of these neighborhoods are exclusively within the City limits, County and City funding is provided through CHSP to jointly support social service needs in our community. The School Pantry Program offers access to nutritious food for children and their families struggling with hunger through a food pantry in their school by providing fresh fruits and vegetables, meat or protein options, and other pantry staples. Mobile markets are "pantries on wheels" brought into the targeted neighborhoods to ensure neighbors can obtain nutritious food for their families through a grocery store shopping experience.

- Elder Care Services: CHSP funds Elder Care Services Nutrition Program. Elder Care Services is the leading provider of community-based senior care in Leon County which includes specialized support, outreach services, and meals. Elder Care Services delivers essential nutrition to Leon County residents aged 60 and older who are at nutritional risk and homebound due to illness or disability through their Meals on Wheels program. Additionally, Elder Care Services operates seven congregate meal sites, including Westminster Oaks, the Senior Center, Bethel Towers, Casa Calderon, Lincoln Neighborhood Center, Miracle Village, and Smith-Williams Service Center. The congregate meal sites create opportunities for seniors to build community, receive social support, and reduce food insecurity and isolation. These sites serve older adults who can leave their homes but may face economic or social challenges. Due to CHSP funding,

Elder Care Services served 681 unduplicated seniors with over 91,000 meals through the Meals on Wheels Program and congregate meal sites last year (FY 2025).

- Good News Outreach: CHSP funds the Good News Outreach's Food Pantry Program which provides critical resources to the community through several social safety net programs. For individuals who are disabled or unable to travel, Good News Outreach offers once a month home delivery of groceries to residents in need. In FY 2025, CHSP funding supported the program in serving more than 3,000 unduplicated residents across Leon County.

Expanding Food Access Through Community Partnerships

Building upon the direct support provided through CHSP, the County remains committed to working with local partners in investing in programs to reduce food insecurity by addressing both access and availability within high-need communities. These collaborative efforts include transportation assistance to support access to fresh food, grocery lockers, mobile markets, meal sites for children, innovative gardening incentive programs, and new food distribution opportunities, as detailed below.

- 2-1-1 Big Bend Lyft Program. As previously mentioned, the Breaking Bread Community dinner revealed the lack of access as a significant barrier to food security, particularly for residents in underserved areas. To help address the need for greater knowledge of available resources and transportation, the County expanded its partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to provide annual direct funding for the 24-hour Helpline and the Lyft transportation program. The 2-1-1 Lyft Program provides Leon County residents with free rideshare transportation to grocery stores, food distribution sites, and other critical resources. Through this program, veterans are eligible for up to five rides per month, while other residents can request one ride per month. According to 2-1-1, nearly 4,000 Lyft rides were provided in FY 2025.

- Grocery Lockers. In another effort to expand access to food, the County, in partnership with the City and Second Harvest, purchased and installed four temperature-controlled grocery lockers in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and high food insecurity rates. The lockers were installed at Sabal Palm Elementary in the Providence neighborhood, Hartsfield Elementary, Good News Outreach in Frenchtown, and Neighborhood Medical Center in South City following feedback gathered during nine community dinners in 2022, ensuring alignment with neighborhood needs. The lockers are accessible 24/7 and, through Second Harvest, provide fresh, healthy, and nutritious food options to residents. Since their launch, the food lockers have provided over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents, significantly expanding access to nutritious food in high-need areas.

- Mobile Markets and Neighborhood Empowerment Events: In 2023, the County funded Second Harvest's purchase of a truck for their Mobile Pop-Up Pantry program. The mobile markets provide families with fresh produce, protein, and nonperishable food items. Second Harvest also hosts Neighborhood Empowerment events, which not only provide families with fresh produce and nonperishable food items but also include local human service providers to offer families an array of services, including employment assistance, healthcare, legal support, SNAP benefits enrollment, and other essential resources. Mobile markets are hosted several times a month and Neighborhood Empowerment events are held monthly throughout the community. Both mobile markets and Neighborhood Empowerment events occur in neighborhoods with high food insecurity rates, including the Lincoln Center in Frenchtown, Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, and Bond Community Health Center in South City.

- Summer BreakSpot and Kids Café. The County also partners with Second Harvest to serve as Summer BreakSpot locations at the Main Library, Dr. BL Perry, Jr. Branch, Jane G. Sauls Fort Braden Branch, and the Woodville Branch. Summer BreakSpot provides kids with free meals and snacks during the summer months to ensure that children have a stable source of food when school is out. This year, these four library locations distributed 4,255 meals to kids from June 2nd to August 1st, which is more than any previous summer. Throughout the year, the Main Library is also a location for the Kid's Café program, which provides Leon County children with food from Second Harvest after school. The program operates from August to June and helps bridge the gap for children who receive most of their meals from school.

- Seed Library. To educate and promote access to food through gardening, the Library also partners with UF/IFAS Leon County Extension to host the Seed Library Program. Launched in February 2015, the Seed Library Program provides residents up to five seed packets per month using their library card, or three packets per month without a library card, at any branch library that can be planted to grow food. Each year, the Seed Library hosts two kick-offs at the beginning of the spring and fall to introduce the seasonal seed varieties available to Library patrons and County residents.

- Leon County Community Garden Program. In addition to the Seed Library, to encourage residents to grow their own nutritious food, the County's Sustainability Office operates the Leon County Community Garden Program to provide technical assistance, materials, and grants to support residents in establishing or revitalizing community gardens throughout the County. Eligible locations for grants include vacant County-owned land, school campuses, and other community spaces. Grants of up to $1,000 are available to support garden development and sustainability efforts.

  The gardens play a vital role in enhancing food access; promoting local food production; offering hands-on education in gardening and nutrition for children and families; and strengthening neighborhood connections and community health. Within the past two years, the Community Garden Program has supported the establishment of eight community gardens in neighborhoods such as South City, Frenchtown, and Griffin Heights.

- Partnership with Farm Share. Building on our efforts to address food insecurity in the community, the County recently entered into a formal agreement that will enhance its collaboration with Farm Share, Inc. (Farm Share), to distribute fresh produce to residents. Farm Share is a not-for-profit organization located throughout Florida that works directly with local farmers to provide fresh produce such as fruits and vegetables to the community and neighborhoods in the Big Bend region with high needs. Over the past few years, Farm Share has held more than 120 food distribution events in Leon County, including at the North Florida Fairgrounds and Health Department locations. Each event serves 250 to 1,000 families with 25-pound food boxes. Last year, Farm Share distributed 1.4 million pounds of food through distribution events and food pantries in Leon County.

Upon request, the County coordinates with Farm Share on equipment, supplies needs, and operational support (i.e., equipment, law enforcement, traffic control, event staffing support, insurance, etc.) for food distribution events at the North Florida Fairgrounds, state Health Department locations, and County facilities (parks and libraries). The County also works with Farm Share to promote the food distribution events to neighborhoods in Leon County with high poverty and food insecurity rates, and collaborates with local stakeholders such as Second Harvest, the Tallahassee Urban League, and other social service organizations to connect residents to essential resources during the food distribution events. This partnership expands resident and neighborhood access to fresh produce and nutritious meals that serve to reduce food insecurity in the community.

Consideration of Leon County Charter Amendments Related to Food Security

As mentioned earlier, the Committee requested an analysis on the inclusion of food security in the Leon County Charter. During the December 4th meeting, Dr. Bruce Strouble provided a handout with specific options for the Committee to consider for a proposed charter amendment (Attachment #1). The options included:

- Creation of the Office of Food Access & Resilience in the County Charter
- Addition of food access and food system resilience in the County Charter as a county responsibility
- Addition of language that affirms "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the preamble of the County Charter

The following provides an analysis of each option presented in the handout:

- Creation of the Office of Food Access & Resilience. The County has an existing department dedicated to reducing food insecurity. The County's Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships (HSCP) is implementing the programs (CHSP, Grocery Lockers, etc.) that address food insecurity in coordination and collaboration with local stakeholders including the City, not-for-profit organizations, and neighborhoods. Simultaneously, HSCP coordinates and collaborates with community partners to deliver resources (housing, transportation, healthcare, etc.) that commonly serve as root causes of food insecurity.

  Additionally, following feedback during the series of neighborhood meetings presented earlier, the County established Neighborhood Engagement and Community Partnership position which is dedicated to engaging and connecting high poverty and food insecurity neighborhoods with the available resources (i.e., food, housing, healthcare, etc.) in the community. The position actively engages and connects residents to agencies, programs, and services focused on improving quality of life and economic prosperity for individuals and families. These efforts include staffing quarterly meetings with the Trusted People Committee; holding neighborhood events in partnership with local providers on food, housing and other human services; and participating in neighborhood association meetings to ensure residents have the knowledge and access to essential and available resources.

- Food access and food system resilience as a county responsibility. As presented earlier, food access and food system resilience is primarily the responsibility of the federal and state governments. Federal and state agencies administer a variety of programs including SNAP, WIC, and TEAP that were designed to address food insecurity. As detailed throughout the item, the County has actively identified opportunities to augment state and federal programs in a collective effort improve food access and food system through policies, community engagement, partnerships, programming, and investments.
- Affirming "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the preamble. The County Charter states as follows:
    - We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government and in order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

    The language in the preamble is broad and focuses on the purpose for which residents voted to establish Leon County as a charter county. The preamble does not include any specific policy issues or make commitments for specific programs and/or services. Attempting to prioritize current challenges and preferred programs in the Charter may overlook other important community needs or lead to an endless listing of program areas being identified in the County Charter.

In evaluating the other charter counties in the State of Florida, the specific policy issue of food access or food security is not included in any charter. County charters tend to address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of the government. As presented in this item, the Board currently has the authority to address food insecurity, which continues to be demonstrated through its policy, programming and budgetary decisions without the need for charter change. Therefore, a charter amendment would not be necessary.

Additionally, a proposed charter amendment would not be consistent with the County's methodical approach for addressing food insecurity and the ever-changing needs of their respective communities. As highlighted through the item, in order to respond to the most pressing human service needs in the community, the County regularly conducts data-driven analysis, collaborates with local stakeholders, and engages impacted residents. Through this approach, the County has successfully maximized efficiency, reduced duplication, and optimized limited human services resources to address the community's most critical needs such as food insecurity, as well as emergency homeless shelters, affordable housing, and primary health care.

With these considerations in mind, alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Conclusion

Leon County remains dedicated to addressing food insecurity in the community. Although food access and food resilience is primarily the responsibility of federal and state governments, the County in coordination with local partners have augmented state and federal programs in a collective effort to reduce food insecurity. Over the past five years, the County has invested more than $7.6 million and delivered nearly 55 million meals ion the community. This has been accomplished utilizing data-driven analysis, collaboration with local stakeholders, and engaging impacted residents.

In evaluating the other charter counties in the State of Florida, the specific policy issue of food access or food security is not included in any charter. County charters tend to address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of the government. As presented in this item, the Board currently has the authority to address food insecurity, which continues to be demonstrated through its policy, programming and budgetary decisions without the need for charter change. Therefore, a charter amendment would not be necessary.

Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to reduce food insecurity in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.
3. Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on food insecurity as determined by the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
4. Committee direction.

1. Food Security & Charter Reform Handout provided by Dr. Bruce Strouble, December 4, 2025

Food Security & Charter Reform

Dr. Bruce Strouble – Leon County Charter Review Committee

Why Food Security Belongs in the Charter

- Over 30,000 Leon County residents are food insecure (Feeding America, 2024).
- Food insecurity rates have been as high as 19.7% in recent years (CLEO Institute, 2019).
- Burden is heaviest on Black households, single mothers, seniors, and 32304 residents (CLEO Institute, 2019; Leon County Prosperity Report, 2023).
- Seniors show significant food insecurity due to fixed incomes and transportation barriers (Opalinski et al., 2023).
- County food relief programs are discretionary; Charter codification ensures continuity regardless of politics (Leon County FY22 Budget Notes).
- Climate shocks, inflation, and supply chain disruptions increase food insecurity risk, making it a public health and resilience obligation (CLEO Institute, 2019).

What Other Governments Are Doing

- New York City Charter mandates an Office of Food Policy and a ten-year coordinated food plan (NYC Charter §§20-a, 20-i).
- Toronto and Vancouver adopted Food Charters establishing food access as a community right (Toronto Food Charter, 2001; Vancouver Food Charter, 2007).
- Belo Horizonte constitutionally guarantees the right to adequate food, which reduced hunger and child malnutrition (Belo Horizonte Food Security Policy, 1993).
- Maine became the first U.S. state to adopt a constitutional Right to Food (Maine Const. Art. I §25, 2021).

Three Options for Leon County

1. Office of Food Access & Resilience (Heaviest Lift)
Creates a permanent office (Article II) dedicated to coordinating food system equity, emergency food planning, and resilience efforts, similar to NYC's charter-based Office of Food Policy (NYC Charter §20-i).

2. Article I Amendment (Medium Lift)
Adds food access and food system resilience as a constitutional county duty, aligning Leon County with global right-to-food frameworks (Toronto Food Charter; Maine Constitution, 2021).

3. Preamble Update (Lightest Lift)
Adds language affirming "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value. This mirrors values-based food security language in Vancouver and Toronto Food Charters.

Closing Statement

Food access is not partisan it is essential. With over 30,000 food-insecure neighbors and disproportionate burdens on historically marginalized communities, Leon County must adopt at least one of these Charter reforms to establish long-term, structural commitment to food access and resilience.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #3

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #3

December 18, 2025

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Funding Mechanisms for Affordable Housing

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Human Services & Community Partnerships Jelani Marks, Housing Services Manager

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Committee at its December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides information on funding available to the County to support affordable housing needs and highlights the County's commitment and continued strategic investment to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community. As presented in the item, the County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including general revenue (property taxes), infrastructure surtax (sales tax), grants, and bond financing.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee, this item provides information on funding available to the County for affordable housing and highlights the County's commitment and continued strategic investment to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community. During its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested further information on funding mechanisms available to the County to support affordable housing to determine whether to consider a proposed charter amendment.

Leon County is dedicated to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing. To address the highest affordable housing need of rental units in the community, over just the past five years the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months. As presented in the item, the County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including state funding dedicated to affordable housing; federal grants; general revenue (property taxes); infrastructure surtax (sales tax); and bond financing. These revenues support a variety of affordable housing programs and services such as down payment assistance, emergency home repair, home rehabilitation, homeownership development, and rental development that are increasing and preserving the stock affordable housing. The Analysis section details the County's long history of commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community through County-led policies, programs, partnerships, and investments.

As subsequently presented, most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. Only four of the 20 charter counties include affordable housing provisions that generally memorialize the broad discretion and authority already available to county commissions. As demonstrated in the Analysis, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the authority and actively addresses affordable housing needs through its policy, programming and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

The state and federal governments define affordable housing as housing that costs no more than 30% of the household's total income. Households that must spend more than 30% of their total income for housing expenses are considered "cost burdened". According to the Shimberg Center for Housing Studies at the University of Florida (Shimberg Center), approximately 59% of low-income households (earning 80% or less of area median income; $74,000 or less for a family of four) in Leon County are considered cost burdened. In response, the County has prioritized increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing through policies, partnerships, and investments for low-income households. The following sections provide an overview of County-led programs, policies, partnerships, and investment of various funding sources to address affordable housing needs in the community.

Leon County Housing Programs

Leon County's Housing Services Division administers a wide variety of programs designed to create and maintain affordable homeownership and rental opportunities for low-income individuals and families. The County's programs include the following:

- Down Payment Assistance: The County's First-Time Homebuyer Assistance program which provides low- to moderate-income first-time homebuyers with financial assistance for down payment and closing costs associated with the purchase of a home in unincorporated Leon County.
- Emergency Home Repair: The County's Emergency Home Repair Program aids low-income homeowners in need of immediate and dire repairs to their homes such as roof leaks and septic tank pump outs in unincorporated Leon County.
- Home Rehabilitation: The County's Rehabilitation/Replacement program funds major repairs including full home replacements to preserve affordable homeownership for existing low-income households.
- Homeownership Development: The County's Homeownership Development Program provides funding to developers to pay down the development costs associated with the construction of new homes to reduce the purchase cost for low-income first-time homebuyers in unincorporated Leon County and within the City of Tallahassee (City) limits. This program includes partnership with the City to build new homes in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities (Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City).
- Rental Development: The County's Rental Development Program provides funding to rental developers primarily in the form of gap financing for projects that construct or rehabilitate units dedicated to low-income housing households in unincorporated Leon County and within the City limits. This program includes partnership with the City to construct and rehabilitate rental projects countywide.
- Clear Title Services: In partnership with Legal Services of North Florida, the County provides title clearing services to low-income County residents experiencing issues with heirs' property. Heirs' property refers to property inherited without clear legal ownership.

Leon County's State and Federal Funding Partnerships

The primary and dedicated funding source of the County's housing program is the State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) which is allocated by the State of Florida annually. SHIP funds are generated from the Documentary Stamp Tax (Doc Stamp Tax), appropriated by the Florida Legislature, and administered and distributed by the Florida Housing Finance Corporation (FHFC) to local governments (counties and cities) based on population size. The City is also allocated annual SHIP funds. As a result, the County programs are generally dedicated to affordable housing projects outside the City limits except for the Homeownership and Rental Development programs as previously described. Over the past five years, the County has received an average of $840,000 annually in SHIP funds; the City has received an average of $1.7 million during the same period.

In addition to SHIP, the County regularly seeks other funding opportunities to expand and maintain access to affordable housing for the residents of Leon County. In January 2025, the County applied for and was awarded $750,000 in federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) from the State to enhance the County's home rehabilitation program. This will allow the County to perform major repairs to the homes of an additional 13 low-income households over the next three years. It is important to note that due to its population size, the City is designated as an "entitlement community", and as a result receives annual federal CDBG funding in the amount of $1.9 million for housing directly from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The great majority of local governments in Florida exclusively utilize SHIP and CDBG to fund affordable housing programs.

Other Funding Sources Leveraged for the County's Investment in Affordable Housing

Recognizing the significant need in the community and limited funding provided at the federal and state levels, the County continuously identifies opportunities and resources to enhance its investment and commitment to preserve and increase the stock of affordable housing for low-income residents. As summarized below, these include proceeds from the sales of County owned properties, bond financing through the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County, and local revenue sources (i.e., general revenue and infrastructure surtax).

- Sales of County-Owned Properties: A common and best practice adopted by local governments, including the County, is to dedicate the proceeds from the sale of properties to affordable housing programs and services. Florida Statutes require that at least every three years each county prepare an inventory of county-owned property deemed suitable for affordable housing by the Board. Pursuant to the County's Real Estate Policy, when the County sells a property deemed suitable for affordable housing, the proceeds from the sale are provided to the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County (HFA) to invest in affordable housing programs and services. As detailed in the next section, the HFA is a special dependent district of the County, established by the Board to alleviate the shortage of affordable housing (primarily rental) through capital investment and bond financing.

  The proceeds provided to the HFA are a major source of funding of the County's Emergency Home Repair Program which as described earlier offers aid to low-income homeowners in need of immediate and dire repairs to their homes. Over the past five years, the proceeds from the sale of County properties have generated $672,000 to the HFA for the Emergency Home Repair Program which has assisted 63 homeowners.

- Bond Financing: According to the Shimberg Center, the highest affordable housing need in Leon County is affordable rental units for very low-income households earning 50% or less of the Area Median Income (AMI) ($46,000 for a household of four). As mentioned earlier, the Board established the HFA specifically to address the need for affordable rental developments. Pursuant to state law, counties are authorized to establish housing finance authorities which can issue bonds upon approval of the Board. Bonds are a significant component (50% - 60%) of funding for the construction of affordable housing rental projects that also typically include federal tax credits and private loans.

  As a result, the County actively partners with the HFA to secure and issue tax-exempt, multifamily housing revenue bonds made available through the State to finance projects that construct affordable rental developments for low-income households. Over the past five years, in addition to $5.8 million in direct funding, the County has authorized the HFA to issue approximately $195 million in bond financing that has or will develop more than 1,200 affordable rental units over the next 12-18 months. Additionally, within the past several months the Board has authorized the HFA to secure a total of $100 million in additional bond allocation from the State. The bonds will be utilized to fund additional affordable rental projects in Leon County that dedicate units for very low-income households over the next two years (2026 and 2027).

- Local Revenues for Affordable Rental Housing Gap Financing: Building on its effort and commitment to addressing the highest affordable housing need in the community, the County very recently enhanced its investment in gap financing for rental development projects with the utilization of existing local revenue (general revenue and infrastructure surtax). As mentioned earlier, the County's Rental Development program provides gap financing for projects that construct or rehabilitate units dedicated to low-income housing households in unincorporated Leon County and within the City limits. A gap in financing occurs when construction costs exceed the traditional revenue (bonds, tax credits, private loans) of rental development projects. In recent years, local governments have provided gap financing to ensure the successful completion of such projects.

  Over the past several years, the County in partnership with the City has utilized one-time COVID-19 related federal funding to provide gap financing for affordable rental projects that have since been exhausted. As mentioned earlier, the County provided $5.8 million in direct funding which was primarily one-time federal dollars. SHIP funds have also been utilized for rental development; however, Florida Statutes limits the amount of annual SHIP funds that can be invested into rental projects (no more than 25%).

  In order to address the exhaustion of federal funds, limitation of the SHIP program, and the need for more rental development in the community, the County recently increased its annual investment in rental development projects. In June 2025, the Board approved $250,000 in general revenue annually for gap financing of affordable housing projects for very low- and extremely low-income households. This additional investment in general revenue to support affordable housing is recurring, subject to Board approval during the annual budget process.

  Additionally, the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (IA) Board, which is comprised of the County and City Commissions, established and funded an affordable housing gap financing program in the amount of $250,000 annually through the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) portion of the one-cent infrastructure surtax (sales tax). As approved by the voters of Leon County, the surtax is utilized to invest in countywide infrastructure projects and economic development activities. The utilization of the one-cent infrastructure tax for affordable housing is consistent with several other local governments in Florida including the counties of Alachua, Collier, Palm Beach, Pinellas, and Sarasota. As a result of the recent actions taken by the Board, the County's annual investment in rental development projects for gap financing increased to $500,000 with the combination of SHIP, general revenue, and the County's share of OEV funds.

- Property Tax Exemption for Affordable Housing Projects: In addition to the various funding sources the County utilizes to invest in affordable housing, in early 2026 the Board is scheduled to consider establishing a property tax exemption for affordable housing projects that could result in additional rental units in the community. Pursuant to Florida Statutes, local governments (counties and cities) are authorized to create a property tax exemption for rental developments with at least 50 units that set aside apartments for low-income households and meet other statutory criteria. Staff will bring an agenda item to the Board in January to consider a draft ordinance establishing the property tax exemption for affordable housing projects.

Review of Affordable Housing Provisions in County Charters

Statewide, most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. Only four of the 20 charter counties provide for the establishment of an affordable housing trust fund for funding homeownership and/or rental housing programs: Alachua, Brevard, Broward, and Orange Counties (Attachment #1). The provisions within these county charters are very similar to each other and generally memorialize the broad discretion that county commissions already have to establish and implement a trust fund dedicated to affordable housing. The charters do not require an annual minimal financial commitment or prioritize a type of affordable housing program (home ownership, rental, rehabilitation) due to continuously evolving housing needs and trends specific to each community. Only the Broward County Charter establishes an income eligibility ceiling for funds to serve households below 140% of the median annual income.

The four charters include the explicit authority for county commissions to determine the appropriate revenue source(s) for an affordable housing trust fund (i.e., general revenue, sales tax, etc.) as part of the annual budget process and provide conditions for maintaining unexpended revenue within the trust fund or reallocating funds for other governmental purposes. However, Florida Statutes already provides counties (including the Board) with these authorities which the Board has exercised through adopted ordinances, policies, strategic initiatives, enhanced partnerships, and increased investments in affordable housing. In fact, the affordable housing trust fund ordinance adopted by Leon County is consistent with the trust funds established in the four county charters.

Chapter 8, Article V of the Leon County Code of Laws (Code of Laws) adopted by the Board established the local housing assistance trust fund as authorized in Florida Statutes (Attachment #2). The revenue source for the County's trust fund is SHIP funding. As mentioned earlier, SHIP funding is the primary and dedicated revenue source for affordable housing for the County and many local governments. In addition to the housing trust fund, the County ordinance also establishes the local housing assistance plan (LHAP), which serves as the governing document of the County's housing programs (down payment assistance, emergency home repair, etc.), and creates the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee (AHAC). The AHAC is comprised of County residents appointed by the Board that represents various organizations and industries (private developers, residents, not-for-profit organizations, etc.). The AHAC provides recommendations to the Board on affordable housing policies, LHAP, programs, and services. The AHAC recommendations are brought to the Board annually for consideration.

With the comprehensive affordable housing ordinance established in the County's Code of Laws, amending the County's structural governing document is unnecessary to effectuate strategic programmatic and budgetary support for affordable housing (or most program areas). Additionally, placing funding and programmatic requirements in the Charter would not be consistent with the County's approach to addressing and investing in the most pressing issues in the community. In order to respond to the ever-changing human service needs in the community, the County regularly conducts data-driven analysis, collaborates with local stakeholders, and engages impacted residents. This approach has successfully led to improved policies, enhanced partnerships, and increased investments in affordable housing.

As mentioned earlier, county charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government rather than specific policy issues. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Conclusion

Leon County is dedicated to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing through policies, partnerships, and investments. To address the highest affordable housing need of rental units in the community, over just the past five years the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months. The County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including state funding dedicated to affordable housing; federal grants; general revenue (property taxes); infrastructure surtax (sales tax); and bond financing.

Adopting a charter amendment would only serve to highlight the Board existing authority. If this were to occur with every high priority issue, then the County Charter would ultimately include volumes of initiatives, polices, programs, and services that are being addressed by the County. Affordable housing was adopted in the charters of other communities that had not placed a high priority on the issue. However, as presented through its policies, programs, partnerships, and investments that include an established trust fund, Leon County is committed to addressing affordable housing.

County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government rather than specific policy issues. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

ARTICLE V. AFFORDABLE HOUSING ASSISTANCE

Sec. 8-151. Declaration of policy.

It is hereby declared to be the policy of the county, in the exercise of its police power for the public safety, public health, and general welfare, to support and encourage the initiatives which enhance the availability of and accessibility to affordable housing for all citizens of the county.

(Code 1992, § 8-151; Ord. No. 93-2, § 1(1), 3-30-1993)

Sec. 8-152. Purpose.

This article specifies the provisions statutorily required for the county, as a participant in the state housing initiatives partnership (SHIP) program pursuant to F.S. §§ 420.907 through 420.9079, as amended (the "State Housing Initiatives Partnership Act"), to receive its share of local housing distributions from the local government Housing Trust Fund as defined by F.S. § 420.9071(17), as amended.

(Code 1992, § 8-152; Ord. No. 93-2, § 1(2), 3-30-1993; Ord. No. 94-15, § 1, 7-26-1994; Ord. No. 16-15, § 1, 10-18-2016)

Sec. 8-153. Definitions.

The definitions enumerated in F.S. § 420.9071, as amended, shall apply to the terms used in this article.

(Code 1992, § 8-153; Ord. No. 93-2, § 1(3), 3-30-1993; Ord. No. 16-15, § 1, 10-18-2016)

Sec. 8-154. Local Housing Assistance Trust Fund; local housing assistance plan; responsibility for administration.

(a) There shall be created within the official fiscal and accounting records of the Board of County Commissioners a specifically designated and dedicated Local Housing Assistance Trust Fund (hereinafter referred to as the "trust fund"), which shall be implemented and operated in accordance with F.S. § 420.9075(6), (7), as amended. The trust fund shall be solely reserved for the deposit and expenditure of funds in support of the local housing assistance plan.

(b) The county local housing assistance plan, hereinafter referred to as the "LHAP," shall be adopted by resolution of the Board of County Commissioners and implemented through a local housing partnership as defined in F.S. § 420.9071(18), as amended. The LHAP shall be developed and implemented in accordance with F.S. § 420.9075, as amended.

(c) Responsibility for the administration of the LHAP shall be vested in the County Administrator or designee.

(Code 1992, § 8-154; Ord. No. 93-2, § 1(4), 3-30-1993; Ord. No. 94-15, § 2, 7-26-1994; Ord. No. 16-15, § 1, 10-18-2016)

Sec. 8-155. Reserved.

Sec. 8-156. Affordable housing advisory committee.

(a) Creation; membership. There is hereby created the affordable housing advisory committee, hereinafter referred to as the "AHAC." The AHAC membership shall be composed of at least eight members but not more than 11 members. The AHAC shall consist of one duly appointed County Commissioner and one representative from at least six of the first 11 categories listed below:

(1) A citizen who is actively engaged in the residential home building industry in connection with affordable housing.

(2) A citizen who is actively engaged in the banking or mortgage banking industry in connection with affordable housing.

(3) A citizen who is a representative of those areas of labor actively engaged in home building in connection with affordable housing.

(4) A citizen who is actively engaged as an advocate for low-income persons in connection with affordable housing.

(5) A citizen who is actively engaged as a for-profit provider of affordable housing.

(6) A citizen who is actively engaged as a not-for-profit provider of affordable housing.

(7) A citizen who is actively engaged as a real estate professional in connection with affordable housing.

(8) A citizen who actively serves on the local planning agency pursuant to F.S. § 163.3174. If the local planning agency is comprised of the governing board of the county or municipality, the governing board may appoint a designee who is knowledgeable in the local planning process.

(9) A citizen who resides within the jurisdiction of the local governing body making the appointments.

(10) A citizen who represents employers within the jurisdiction.

(11) A citizen who represents essential services personnel, as defined in the local housing assistance plan.

(12) A citizen who currently benefits from a rental housing assistance program, has benefited from an affordable homeownership program, or has experienced an eviction within the ten years preceding their appointment.

(b) Terms of membership. The duly appointed County Commissioner shall serve a term on the AHAC beginning on September 29, 2020 and expiring on December 31, 2022. Thereafter, the duly appointed County Commissioner shall be appointed to a two-year term on the AHAC. The terms of the AHAC membership presently appointed shall continue upon the effective date of the ordinance amending this section until the designated expiration dates of membership. Thereafter, the AHAC membership shall be appointed to three-year staggered terms, as set forth in resolution adopted by the Board. Vacancies may be filled at any time by the Board for the unexpired term of a member.

(Code 1992, § 8-156; Ord. No. 08-10, § 1, 5-13-2008; Ord. No. 16-15, § 1, 10-18-2016; Ord. No. 20-17, § 1, 9-29-2020; Ord. No. 24-12, § 1, 9-17-2024)

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #4

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #4

December 18, 2025

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Funding Mechanisms for Healthcare Access for Low-Income Residents

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Committee at the December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides information on the County's Health Care Program (known as CareNet) and continued strategic investments to expand healthcare access to low-income residents.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee, this item provides information on the County's Health Care Program (known as CareNet) and continued strategic investments to expand healthcare access to low-income residents. During its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested further information on funding mechanisms for healthcare access to determine whether to consider a proposed charter amendment.

For more than two decades Leon County has been dedicated to ensuring low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services. In partnership with local providers, the County has expanded healthcare services to uninsured and underinsured low-income Leon County residents for primary care, mental health, dental care, specialty services, and pharmaceutical services. As described in the item, the County invests a total of $7.7 million in healthcare annually in mandatory and discretionary programs and services.

There are no County charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. As presented in this item, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the statutory authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents in the community. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Leon County Charter. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing dedication to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

Healthcare services for uninsured, underinsured, and elderly residents are primarily the statutory responsibility of the federal and/or state governments through programs such as Medicaid, Medicare, and the Affordable Care Act (ACA). However, pursuant to Florida Statutes, counties (both charter and non-charter) are mandated to contribute annually to the Florida Medicaid Program, County Health Departments (the 67 County Health Departments are operated by state employees under the Florida Department of Health) as well as the Baker and Marchman Act mental health and substance use disorder programs. The Florida Legislature annually establishes the level of funding that counties must contribute. For FY 2026, the County is providing $5.9 million in statutorily required contributions. Over the past three years, the County's mandated contribution has increased approximately 15% annually.

In addition to the mandated programs, the County elected to establish the CareNet program to serve as a safety net for residents that are not eligible for healthcare through the state and/or federal programs. Although not required by the State, through CareNet, the County has partnered with local providers to expand access to healthcare for uninsured and underinsured low-income Leon County residents for more than two decades. The County is among very few counties that dedicate additional local tax revenue to healthcare beyond the state mandated programs. The County invests $1.8 million annually in the CareNet program. As a result, the County invests a total of $7.7 million in healthcare annually.

Leon County Health Care Program (CareNet)

Leon County has historically partnered with local healthcare stakeholders to provide low-income residents with access to critical medical services through CareNet. Annually, the County contracts with Bond Community Health Center (Bond), Neighborhood Medical Center (NMC), Apalachee Center (Apalachee), Capital Medical Society/We Care (We Care), and FAMU Pharmacy to provide low-income uninsured and underinsured residents access to primary care, dental, mental health, specialty care, and/or pharmaceutical services.

Bond and NMC are federally qualified healthcare centers (FQHCs) which receive annual federal funding to provide medical services to residents in Leon County. Apalachee is designated by the State of Florida as the public receiving facility for individuals experiencing mental health and/or substance abuse crisis; Apalachee receives annual funding through the State. Through CareNet, Bond, NMC, and Apalachee are reimbursed for costs incurred to provide primary, dental, and mental health visits to eligible County residents. These visits include services such as general annual physical exams; dental cleanings and extractions; case management services for mental healthcare; and more. To be eligible, a patient of Bond, NMC, or Apalachee must be a Leon County resident, 18 years old or older, and uninsured or underinsured. Additionally, the household income of a patient must be 100% or below the federal poverty level (FPL). The income requirement reflects households that are not eligible for public insurance including Medicaid, Medicare, and the ACA in the State of Florida. For example, the ACA Marketplace offers financial assistance known as subsidies for monthly premiums to enrollees with household incomes above 100% of the FPL. Subsidies are not available for individuals or families in households that earn below 100% of the FPL.

In addition to primary, dental, and mental health services, the County provides funding for specialty care and pharmaceutical services (We Care and FAMU Pharmacy, respectively). The County contracts with WeCare, which recruits medical specialists to provide specialty care to low-income residents at no charge. Specialty care services include but are not limited to cardiology, neurology, internal medicine, orthopedics, and orthodontic care. FAMU Pharmacy provides coordinated pharmacy services to County residents and addresses morbid and mortality of African Americans with Type 2 diabetes through educational programming coordination with local healthcare providers including Bond and NMC.

As mentioned earlier, the County invests $1.8 million annually in the CareNet Program. General revenue is the funding source for the CareNet Program as well as the State mandated County contributions (i.e., Medicaid, etc.). The leveraging of County funding has been critical to expanding healthcare in the community. Over the past three years, the providers have leveraged County funding to secure $7.5 million in state and federal funding to provide primary and mental services to additional uninsured and underinsured local-income County residents.

Regular Community Engagement on the CareNet Program

The County regularly engages with the healthcare partners to ensure that the CareNet Program continues to provide low-income residents with access to critical medical services. Staff meets quarterly with the providers to discuss challenges and opportunities to enhance the program. During these meetings quantitative and qualitative data are evaluated and proposed changes are considered for recommendation to the Board to better position the County's program in addressing the changing healthcare needs of residents in the community. Subsequently, County staff brings proposed program enhancements to the Board for consideration as part of the budget process. Over the past several years this has led to:

- 80% increase in the reimbursement rates since FY 2023 for primary care visits to Bond, NMC, and Apalachee to more accurately reflect the cost of diagnostic and ancillary services, such as laboratory and X-Ray services.
- 40% increase in the reimbursement rates since FY 2024 for dental and mental healthcare visits to Bond, NMC, and Apalachee to include diagnostic and ancillary costs as well as the increased costs of mental healthcare.
- 30% increase in the annual investment since FY 2023 to voluntary and involuntary in-patient mental health services to Apalachee better reflect ongoing rise in costs for personnel and operations.
- 9% increase funding to WeCare since FY 2022 to enhance financial assistance to patients for specialty services including laboratory and transportation costs.

The next meeting with the healthcare partners is anticipated for January 2026. At that time any changes to the CareNet Program such as the eligibility criteria and reimbursement rates would be evaluated and discussed for potential recommendations to the Board as part of the budget process for the next fiscal year (FY 2027). This is consistent with the County's approach to addressing the most pressing human service needs in the community which includes conducting data-driven analysis, collaborating with local stakeholders, and engaging residents.

2006 Indigent Healthcare Sales Tax

Florida Statutes provide counties with a population of less than 800,000 the authority to levy a local option sales tax for indigent healthcare subject to voter approval (section 212.055(7), F.S.). Sales tax referenda are a standalone process prescribed in Florida Statutes which cannot be effectuated through a charter amendment. In 2006, the Board of County Commissioners placed a referendum on the ballot for voters to consider a local option ½ cent sales tax to support primary healthcare for low-income residents in our community. Despite the stigma associated with a new ½ cent sales tax and the potential of Leon County having the highest sales tax in the state, the referendum was placed on the 2006 General Election ballot in response to the escalating costs for health insurance, feedback from local healthcare providers, and input from the ministerial community on the long-term financial costs associated with health emergencies. In November 2006, more than three years prior to the passage of the national Affordable Care Act, 60% of Leon County voters rejected the ½ cent sales tax for indigent healthcare. Following voter rejection of the sales tax, the County continued to support primary healthcare needs with ad valorem revenues (property taxes) as previously described in this agenda item.

County Charter Provisions Related to Healthcare Access

In summary, although healthcare services for uninsured, underinsured, and elderly residents are primarily the statutory responsibility of the federal and/or state governments, Leon County has been dedicated to ensuring low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community. Beyond the mandated financial support counties provide for several state healthcare programs, the County has dedicated additional local tax revenue to expand healthcare access for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents through the CareNet Program. In partnership with local providers, CareNet provides access to primary, dental, mental health, and specialty care, and pharmaceutical services. In total, the FY 2026 County budget invests $7.7 million for the provision of healthcare services.

As presented in the item, the Board currently has the authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured local income residents in the community. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Additionally, county charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. For these reasons, there are no county charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.
3. Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on access to healthcare as determined by the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
4. Board direction.

Recommendation:

Option #1.

Public Comment:

- Mary Miaisha Mitchell, 1009 Ellington Court, addressed the Committee regarding food insecurity in Leon County, with particular emphasis on its impact on youth. She urged the Committee to move forward with consideration of this item, highlighting the importance of farm-to-table programs to support children and families in the future.

- Camille Lewis, 1689 Corey Wood Circle, addressed the Committee stating that Leon County's food challenges stem from a lack of coordinated structure rather than a lack of programs. She advocated for a charter amendment to establish food access and food system resilience as a county responsibility, including creation of an Office of Food Systems, a countywide food system plan with measurable goals, and annual public reporting to ensure accountability and long-term durability.
- Lynn Jones, 3211 Notre Dame Street, spoke in support of addressing food insecurity. She highlighted the role of community gardens in supporting youth development and discussed ways to better support children.
- Melanie Andrade Williams, 3349 Argonaut Drive, spoke in support of addressing food insecurity. She referenced Leon County's strategic initiative related to food insecurity, requesting the inclusion of additional goals. She asked that staff return with proposed Charter language for the Committee's consideration.
- Tiffany Hill, 1401 Lola Drive, addressed the Committee regarding affordable housing options and noted that HUD grant funding could be pursued.

General Business:

Item #1: Status Report on City-County Consolidation in Florida

Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris introduced the item, noting that the remaining three items would be presented by Shington Lamy and Abby Thomas, who can speak on human services trends, community needs, the CHSP process, and County and City investments. Ken Morris stated that the human services items were grouped together to provide the Committee with a comprehensive understanding of service delivery, gaps, and coordination between public and nonprofit agencies. He also noted that after discussion of the agenda items, there will be another opportunity for Committee members to offer additional Charter amendment concepts for future consideration.

Ken Morris explained that in November the Board of County Commissioners requested a status report on City and County consolidation, including how the process would work and general pros and cons. That item was prepared for the Board's December 9 meeting. At the Committee's prior meeting, members requested that the same materials be presented for review and discussion. Therefore, the Board agenda materials were included in the Committee's packet. He provided an overview of the consolidation process, noting that consolidation would require development of a comprehensive consolidation plan, adoption by the Legislature through a special act, and approval by voters via referendum. He explained that a consolidation plan would need to address numerous issues including governance structure, staffing, salaries, contracts, unions, retirement benefits, and debt. On December 9, the Board directed staff to bring back draft language for a non-binding straw ballot question for the November 2026 General Election to gauge community interest in consolidation. Based on the Board's action, he stated that no action by the Committee was recommended at this time, but staff welcomed feedback and questions.

Sean Pittman asked whether the County considered potential savings for the community which would be important in drafting ballot language.

Ken Morris clarified that the item focused on the consolidation process, and that any cost or savings analysis would occur during development of a consolidation plan. He further clarified that this is a non-binding straw ballot intended to assess public interest.

Barry Wilcox asked for clarification regarding next steps should the straw ballot indicate support for consolidation.

Ken Morris explained that following a favorable vote, the County Commission would need to determine whether to proceed jointly with the City or independently engage the Legislative Delegation. Mr. Morris noted that a fully executed consolidation could take several years as it requires the development of a consolidation plan, approval by the Legislature, approval by voters, and a transition period.

Ryan Ray commented that, given current community needs and broader governance challenges, consolidation was not advisable at this time. He expressed concerns about limiting local capacity and involving the Legislature in local governance decisions.

Max Herrle inquired about the items that will come back to the Board regarding consolidation. He also asked about the Board's voting threshold for placing this topic on the ballot.

Ken Morris responded that an item discussing draft language for the ballot will be presented to the Board in the spring. A simple majority vote of the Board is needed to place the straw ballot question on the ballot.

Barry Wilcox commented on the concept of functional consolidation. He asked whether functional consolidation between the City and County had been examined to identify duplicative efforts and inquired about the process for evaluating such consolidation.

Ken Morris clarified that functional consolidation can be implemented through an interlocal agreement between the City and the County.

Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes moved, seconded by Ryan Ray, for Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

The motion carried 18 – 0 with Committee Members Anita Favors, Slaton Murray and William Smith not present.

Item #2: Food Insecurity Provisions

Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy introduced the item, noting that Leon County established a department dedicated to food security efforts in 2022. He also noted that no other county charters in Florida include the specific issue of food insecurity. Mr. Lamy outlined options for the Committee, including encouraging the Board to continue its commitment to reducing food insecurity through a recommendation in the Committee's final report, or moving forward with a Charter amendment.

Darryl Jones stated that food security has long been a County priority and remarked that a government's values are reflected in how it allocates funding. He expressed that codifying these values in the Charter could protect them from changes resulting from elections or political shifts.

Linda Bond Edwards expressed concern regarding the apparent disconnect between information presented by staff and testimony provided by public speakers. She noted that despite existing efforts, food insecurity persists, suggesting that the overall structure may require further evaluation.

Shington Lamy stated that the County does not have authority to mandate actions by entities such as Leon County Schools and that a Charter amendment would replicate authority that the County already has.

County Attorney O'Steen directed the Committee's attention to Article IX, Section 4 of the Florida Constitution, noting that counties lack authority over school districts. She explained that prior County actions, including mandatory mask requirements, explicitly excluded schools due to this limitation. She further discussed Charter provisions related to funding, noting that while some charters require funding for specific purposes, they typically avoid prescribing exact dollar amounts and instead leave discretion to the governing board. She also explained that proposed charter amendments in other jurisdictions to limit a county's revenue generation have been preempted by Chapters 129 and 200, Florida Statutes, and that there is no case law supporting Charter-mandated funding.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., provided a separate handout to the Committee and commended the efforts of the County's Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships. He emphasized that food insecurity increased significantly during the COVID-19 pandemic, particularly among vulnerable populations. He cited examples of bodies created by other jurisdictions to address this issue, including New York City's Offices of Food Policy and Urban Agriculture as well as Philadelphia's Office of Sustainability.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Heidi Otway, to direct staff to bring back charter language establishing a County duty for food access and food system resilience, creating an office of food systems under the executive branch to monitor efforts, and requiring a countywide food systems plan, annual reporting, countywide minimum standards, and that an ordinance be made within 12 months of a charter amendment being passed.

The motion was not voted on.

Shamarial Roberson raised concerns regarding fiscal impacts, adjacent programs, and federal regulations. She questioned how a Charter amendment would address these complexities and suggested a policy-based approach focused on measurable outcomes, a countywide plan, and a coordinating committee.

Katrina Tuggerson noted the involvement of the Capital City Chamber of Commerce in recent food system initiatives and referenced ongoing coordination with County staff to secure grants and address service gaps.

Heidi Otway highlighted that beginning in October 2026, Florida will assume responsibility for SNAP administration and urged prioritization of food security in advance of these changes.

Chair Lindley asked whether a policy recommendation would allow for a more timely response.

Nicki Hatch stated that the March 2026 County Commission meeting would include all proposals and policy recommendations for the Board's consideration.

Darryl Jones distinguished between Charter language and strategic planning, emphasizing that Charter provisions should empower rather than constrain, and cautioned against overly prescriptive language that could affect voter support.

Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes made a substitute motion, seconded by Liz Ellis, for Option #2: Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to reduce food insecurity in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.

The motion failed 11 – 7 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Heidi Otway, Shamarial Roberson and Barry Wilcox in favor of the motion. Committee Members Anita Favors, Slaton Murray and William Smith were not present.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., stated that any proposed structure would be subject to annual appropriation and would establish minimum standards rather than fixed funding amounts.

Darryl Jones made a substitute motion, seconded by Jarrett Terry, for Option #3: Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on food insecurity as determined by the Citizen Charter Review Committee.

The motion carried 18 – 0 with Committee Members Anita Favors, Slaton Murray and William Smith not present.

Max Herrle asked whether items not yet discussed could be modified based on stakeholder input and whether attachments could be submitted.

Nicki Hatch confirmed that stakeholders may submit materials through public comment. She explained that they would take up remaining items during the Jan 8, 2026 Committee meeting.

Subject: Support for the Restoration of Communities Amendment (RCA)

Good afternoon. My name is Trishay Young and I live in the 32310 zip code. I'm here because I believe government has a responsibility not just to grow the county, but to repair the harm its own decisions have caused.

The RCA does not mandate spending or raise taxes. It creates a framework that requires the county to acknowledge and consider past public-policy harm when making major decisions.

Counties across the country use their home-rule authority to place equity and restoration principles into their governing documents. Leon County has the same authority.

This amendment ensures that future generations inherit a county that remembers its history, learns from it, and governs more responsibly. Please support the RCA.

Thank you,

Mrs. Young

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #1

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #1

January 8, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Funding Mechanisms for Affordable Housing

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Human Services & Community Partnerships Jelani Marks, Housing Services Manager

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Committee at its December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides information on funding available to the County to support affordable housing needs and highlights the County's commitment and continued strategic investment to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community. As presented in the item, the County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including general revenue (property taxes), infrastructure surtax (sales tax), grants, and bond financing.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee, this item provides information on funding available to the County for affordable housing and highlights the County's commitment and continued strategic investment to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community. During its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested further information on funding mechanisms available to the County to support affordable housing to determine whether to consider a proposed charter amendment.

Leon County is dedicated to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing. To address the highest affordable housing need of rental units in the community, over just the past five years the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months. As presented in the item, the County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including state funding dedicated to affordable housing; federal grants; general revenue (property taxes); infrastructure surtax (sales tax); and bond financing. These revenues support a variety of affordable housing programs and services such as down payment assistance, emergency home repair, home rehabilitation, homeownership development, and rental development that are increasing and preserving the stock affordable housing. The Analysis section details the County's long history of commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community through County-led policies, programs, partnerships, and investments.

As subsequently presented, most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. Only four of the 20 charter counties include affordable housing provisions that generally memorialize the broad discretion and authority already available to county commissions. As demonstrated in the Analysis, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the authority and actively addresses affordable housing needs through its policy, programming and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

The state and federal governments define affordable housing as housing that costs no more than 30% of the household's total income. Households that must spend more than 30% of their total income for housing expenses are considered "cost burdened". According to the Shimberg Center for Housing Studies at the University of Florida (Shimberg Center), approximately 59% of low-income households (earning 80% or less of area median income; $74,000 or less for a family of four) in Leon County are considered cost burdened. In response, the County has prioritized increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing through policies, partnerships, and investments for low-income households. The following sections provide an overview of County-led programs, policies, partnerships, and investment of various funding sources to address affordable housing needs in the community.

Leon County Housing Programs

Leon County's Housing Services Division administers a wide variety of programs designed to create and maintain affordable homeownership and rental opportunities for low-income individuals and families. The County's programs include the following:

- Down Payment Assistance: The County's First-Time Homebuyer Assistance program which provides low- to moderate-income first-time homebuyers with financial assistance for down payment and closing costs associated with the purchase of a home in unincorporated Leon County.
- Emergency Home Repair: The County's Emergency Home Repair Program aids low-income homeowners in need of immediate and dire repairs to their homes such as roof leaks and septic tank pump outs in unincorporated Leon County.
- Home Rehabilitation: The County's Rehabilitation/Replacement program funds major repairs including full home replacements to preserve affordable homeownership for existing low-income households.
- Homeownership Development: The County's Homeownership Development Program provides funding to developers to pay down the development costs associated with the construction of new homes to reduce the purchase cost for low-income first-time homebuyers in unincorporated Leon County and within the City of Tallahassee (City) limits. This program includes partnership with the City to build new homes in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities (Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City).
- Rental Development: The County's Rental Development Program provides funding to rental developers primarily in the form of gap financing for projects that construct or rehabilitate units dedicated to low-income housing households in unincorporated Leon County and within the City limits. This program includes partnership with the City to construct and rehabilitate rental projects countywide.
- Clear Title Services: In partnership with Legal Services of North Florida, the County provides title clearing services to low-income County residents experiencing issues with heirs' property. Heirs' property refers to property inherited without clear legal ownership.

Leon County's State and Federal Funding Partnerships

The primary and dedicated funding source of the County's housing program is the State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) which is allocated by the State of Florida annually. SHIP funds are generated from the Documentary Stamp Tax (Doc Stamp Tax), appropriated by the Florida Legislature, and administered and distributed by the Florida Housing Finance Corporation (FHFC) to local governments (counties and cities) based on population size. The City is also allocated annual SHIP funds. As a result, the County programs are generally dedicated to affordable housing projects outside the City limits except for the Homeownership and Rental Development programs as previously described. Over the past five years, the County has received an average of $840,000 annually in SHIP funds; the City has received an average of $1.7 million during the same period.

In addition to SHIP, the County regularly seeks other funding opportunities to expand and maintain access to affordable housing for the residents of Leon County. In January 2025, the County applied for and was awarded $750,000 in federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) from the State to enhance the County's home rehabilitation program. This will allow the County to perform major repairs to the homes of an additional 13 low-income households over the next three years. It is important to note that due to its population size, the City is designated as an "entitlement community", and as a result receives annual federal CDBG funding in the amount of $1.9 million for housing directly from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The great majority of local governments in Florida exclusively utilize SHIP and CDBG to fund affordable housing programs.

Other Funding Sources Leveraged for the County's Investment in Affordable Housing

Recognizing the significant need in the community and limited funding provided at the federal and state levels, the County continuously identifies opportunities and resources to enhance its investment and commitment to preserve and increase the stock of affordable housing for low-income residents. As summarized below, these include proceeds from the sales of County owned properties, bond financing through the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County, and local revenue sources (i.e., general revenue and infrastructure surtax).

- Sales of County-Owned Properties: A common and best practice adopted by local governments, including the County, is to dedicate the proceeds from the sale of properties to affordable housing programs and services. Florida Statutes require that at least every three years each county prepare an inventory of county-owned property deemed suitable for affordable housing by the Board. Pursuant to the County's Real Estate Policy, when the County sells a property deemed suitable for affordable housing, the proceeds from the sale are provided to the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County (HFA) to invest in affordable housing programs and services. As detailed in the next section, the HFA is a special dependent district of the County, established by the Board to alleviate the shortage of affordable housing (primarily rental) through capital investment and bond financing.

  The proceeds provided to the HFA are a major source of funding of the County's Emergency Home Repair Program which as described earlier offers aid to low-income homeowners in need of immediate and dire repairs to their homes. Over the past five years, the proceeds from the sale of County properties have generated $672,000 to the HFA for the Emergency Home Repair Program which has assisted 63 homeowners.

- Bond Financing: According to the Shimberg Center, the highest affordable housing need in Leon County is affordable rental units for very low-income households earning 50% or less of the Area Median Income (AMI) ($46,000 for a household of four). As mentioned earlier, the Board established the HFA specifically to address the need for affordable rental developments. Pursuant to state law, counties are authorized to establish housing finance authorities which can issue bonds upon approval of the Board. Bonds are a significant component (50% - 60%) of funding for the construction of affordable housing rental projects that also typically include federal tax credits and private loans.

As a result, the County actively partners with the HFA to secure and issue tax-exempt, multifamily housing revenue bonds made available through the State to finance projects that construct affordable rental developments for low-income households. Over the past five years, in addition to $5.8 million in direct funding, the County has authorized the HFA to issue approximately $195 million in bond financing that has or will develop more than 1,200 affordable rental units over the next 12-18 months. Additionally, within the past several months the Board has authorized the HFA to secure a total of $100 million in additional bond allocation from the State. The bonds will be utilized to fund additional affordable rental projects in Leon County that dedicate units for very low-income households over the next two years (2026 and 2027).

- Local Revenues for Affordable Rental Housing Gap Financing: Building on its effort and commitment to addressing the highest affordable housing need in the community, the County very recently enhanced its investment in gap financing for rental development projects with the utilization of existing local revenue (general revenue and infrastructure surtax). As mentioned earlier, the County's Rental Development program provides gap financing for projects that construct or rehabilitate units dedicated to low-income housing households in unincorporated Leon County and within the City limits. A gap in financing occurs when construction costs exceed the traditional revenue (bonds, tax credits, private loans) of rental development projects. In recent years, local governments have provided gap financing to ensure the successful completion of such projects.

  Over the past several years, the County in partnership with the City has utilized one-time COVID-19 related federal funding to provide gap financing for affordable rental projects that have since been exhausted. As mentioned earlier, the County provided $5.8 million in direct funding which was primarily one-time federal dollars. SHIP funds have also been utilized for rental development; however, Florida Statutes limits the amount of annual SHIP funds that can be invested into rental projects (no more than 25%).

  In order to address the exhaustion of federal funds, limitation of the SHIP program, and the need for more rental development in the community, the County recently increased its annual investment in rental development projects. In June 2025, the Board approved $250,000 in general revenue annually for gap financing of affordable housing projects for very low- and extremely low-income households. This additional investment in general revenue to support affordable housing is recurring, subject to Board approval during the annual budget process.

  Additionally, the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (IA) Board, which is comprised of the County and City Commissions, established and funded an affordable housing gap financing program in the amount of $250,000 annually through the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) portion of the one-cent infrastructure surtax (sales tax). As approved by the voters of Leon County, the surtax is utilized to invest in countywide infrastructure projects and economic development activities. The utilization of the one-cent infrastructure tax for affordable housing is consistent with several other local governments in Florida including the counties of Alachua, Collier, Palm Beach, Pinellas, and Sarasota.

As a result of the recent actions taken by the Board, the County's annual investment in rental development projects for gap financing increased to $500,000 with the combination of SHIP, general revenue, and the County's share of OEV funds.

- Property Tax Exemption for Affordable Housing Projects: In addition to the various funding sources the County utilizes to invest in affordable housing, in early 2026 the Board is scheduled to consider establishing a property tax exemption for affordable housing projects that could result in additional rental units in the community. Pursuant to Florida Statutes, local governments (counties and cities) are authorized to create a property tax exemption for rental developments with at least 50 units that set aside apartments for low-income households and meet other statutory criteria. Staff will bring an agenda item to the Board in January to consider a draft ordinance establishing the property tax exemption for affordable housing projects.

Review of Affordable Housing Provisions in County Charters

Statewide, most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. Only four of the 20 charter counties provide for the establishment of an affordable housing trust fund for funding homeownership and/or rental housing programs: Alachua, Brevard, Broward, and Orange Counties (Attachment #1). The provisions within these county charters are very similar to each other and generally memorialize the broad discretion that county commissions already have to establish and implement a trust fund dedicated to affordable housing. The charters do not require an annual minimal financial commitment or prioritize a type of affordable housing program (home ownership, rental, rehabilitation) due to continuously evolving housing needs and trends specific to each community. Only the Broward County Charter establishes an income eligibility ceiling for funds to serve households below 140% of the median annual income.

The four charters include the explicit authority for county commissions to determine the appropriate revenue source(s) for an affordable housing trust fund (i.e., general revenue, sales tax, etc.) as part of the annual budget process and provide conditions for maintaining unexpended revenue within the trust fund or reallocating funds for other governmental purposes. However, Florida Statutes already provides counties (including the Board) with these authorities which the Board has exercised through adopted ordinances, policies, strategic initiatives, enhanced partnerships, and increased investments in affordable housing. In fact, the affordable housing trust fund ordinance adopted by Leon County is consistent with the trust funds established in the four county charters.

Chapter 8, Article V of the Leon County Code of Laws (Code of Laws) adopted by the Board established the local housing assistance trust fund as authorized in Florida Statutes (Attachment #2). The revenue source for the County's trust fund is SHIP funding. As mentioned earlier, SHIP funding is the primary and dedicated revenue source for affordable housing for the County and many local governments. In addition to the housing trust fund, the County ordinance also establishes the local housing assistance plan (LHAP), which serves as the governing document of the County's housing programs (down payment assistance, emergency home repair, etc.), and creates the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee (AHAC). The AHAC is comprised of County residents appointed by the Board that represents various organizations and industries (private developers, residents, not-for-profit organizations, etc.). The AHAC provides recommendations to the Board on affordable housing policies, LHAP, programs, and services. The AHAC recommendations are brought to the Board annually for consideration.

With the comprehensive affordable housing ordinance established in the County's Code of Laws, amending the County's structural governing document is unnecessary to effectuate strategic programmatic and budgetary support for affordable housing (or most program areas). Additionally, placing funding and programmatic requirements in the Charter would not be consistent with the County's approach to addressing and investing in the most pressing issues in the community. In order to respond to the ever-changing human service needs in the community, the County regularly conducts data-driven analysis, collaborates with local stakeholders, and engages impacted residents. This approach has successfully led to improved policies, enhanced partnerships, and increased investments in affordable housing.

As mentioned earlier, county charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government rather than specific policy issues. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Conclusion

Leon County is dedicated to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing through policies, partnerships, and investments. To address the highest affordable housing need of rental units in the community, over just the past five years the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months. The County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including state funding dedicated to affordable housing; federal grants; general revenue (property taxes); infrastructure surtax (sales tax); and bond financing.

Adopting a charter amendment would only serve to highlight the Board existing authority. If this were to occur with every high priority issue, then the County Charter would ultimately include volumes of initiatives, polices, programs, and services that are being addressed by the County. Affordable housing was adopted in the charters of other communities that had not placed a high priority on the issue. However, as presented through its policies, programs, partnerships, and investments that include an established trust fund, Leon County is committed to addressing affordable housing.

County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government rather than specific policy issues. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.
3. Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on affordable housing as determined by the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
4. Committee direction.

Recommendation:

Broward

Sec. 11.09. - Broward County Affordable Housing Trust Fund

(A) Broward County Affordable Housing Trust Fund established. The Broward County Affordable Housing Trust Fund ("Trust Fund") is hereby established. The purpose of the Trust Fund is to provide a continuing, non-lapsing fund for the Broward County Commission to use to address the need for affordable housing in Broward County, Florida.

(B) Affordable housing; definition; scope. For purposes of this section, "Affordable Housing" shall mean housing intended for very low to moderate income households as defined as follows: Income Eligible Person/Family: means one or more natural persons or a family that has a total annual anticipated income for the household below 140 percent of the median annual income adjusted for family size for households within Broward County.

(C) Purpose of Trust Fund. The Trust Fund will be used to create and sustain affordable housing throughout Broward County for renters and homeowners, and increase workforce housing opportunities.

(D) Revenue sources. The Trust Fund established under this section shall be funded by the County Commission, and may be comprised of the following sources:

(1) Broward County General Revenue appropriated to the Trust Fund by the County Commission as part of the annual budget;

(2) Savings from Expired Tax Increment Financing Payments to Community Redevelopment Agencies within the County;

(3) Funds voluntarily contributed by municipalities that may elect to participate in the Trust Fund and programs funded by the Trust Fund;

(4) Grants or donations made to the Trust Fund;

(5) Mandatory or voluntary payments made pursuant to the development policies established by ordinance; and

(6) Other sources as established by ordinance.

(E) Continuing Nature of Trust Fund. Notwithstanding any other provision of this section, unspent portions of the Trust Fund established under this Section, repayments of principal and interest on loans provided from the Trust Fund, and interest earned from the deposit or investment of monies from the Trust Fund:

(1) Shall remain in the Trust Fund, to be used exclusively for the purposes of the Trust Fund;

(2) Do not revert to the general revenues of the County; and

(3) Any appropriations do not lapse.

(F) Administration and Oversight of Trust Fund. The Trust Fund shall be administered by Broward County in a manner that allows the Trust Fund to leverage other sources of public funds and private investment, a recognized national best practice. The Trust Fund shall be included in the annual audit.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #2

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #2

January 8, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Funding Mechanisms for Healthcare Access for Low-Income Residents

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Committee at the December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides information on the County's Health Care Program (known as CareNet) and continued strategic investments to expand healthcare access to low-income residents.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee, this item provides information on the County's Health Care Program (known as CareNet) and continued strategic investments to expand healthcare access to low-income residents. During its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested further information on funding mechanisms for healthcare access to determine whether to consider a proposed charter amendment.

For more than two decades Leon County has been dedicated to ensuring low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services. In partnership with local providers, the County has expanded healthcare services to uninsured and underinsured low-income Leon County residents for primary care, mental health, dental care, specialty services, and pharmaceutical services. As described in the item, the County invests a total of $7.7 million in healthcare annually in mandatory and discretionary programs and services.

There are no County charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. As presented in this item, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the statutory authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents in the community. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Leon County Charter. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing dedication to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

Healthcare services for uninsured, underinsured, and elderly residents are primarily the statutory responsibility of the federal and/or state governments through programs such as Medicaid, Medicare, and the Affordable Care Act (ACA). However, pursuant to Florida Statutes, counties (both charter and non-charter) are mandated to contribute annually to the Florida Medicaid Program, County Health Departments (the 67 County Health Departments are operated by state employees under the Florida Department of Health) as well as the Baker and Marchman Act mental health and substance use disorder programs. The Florida Legislature annually establishes the level of funding that counties must contribute. For FY 2026, the County is providing $5.9 million in statutorily required contributions. Over the past three years, the County's mandated contribution has increased approximately 15% annually.

In addition to the mandated programs, the County elected to establish the CareNet program to serve as a safety net for residents that are not eligible for healthcare through the state and/or federal programs. Although not required by the State, through CareNet, the County has partnered with local providers to expand access to healthcare for uninsured and underinsured low-income Leon County residents for more than two decades. The County is among very few counties that dedicate additional local tax revenue to healthcare beyond the state mandated programs. The County invests $1.8 million annually in the CareNet program. As a result, the County invests a total of $7.7 million in healthcare annually.

Leon County Health Care Program (CareNet)

Leon County has historically partnered with local healthcare stakeholders to provide low-income residents with access to critical medical services through CareNet. Annually, the County contracts with Bond Community Health Center (Bond), Neighborhood Medical Center (NMC), Apalachee Center (Apalachee), Capital Medical Society/We Care (We Care), and FAMU Pharmacy to provide low-income uninsured and underinsured residents access to primary care, dental, mental health, specialty care, and/or pharmaceutical services.

Bond and NMC are federally qualified healthcare centers (FQHCs) which receive annual federal funding to provide medical services to residents in Leon County. Apalachee is designated by the State of Florida as the public receiving facility for individuals experiencing mental health and/or substance abuse crisis; Apalachee receives annual funding through the State. Through CareNet, Bond, NMC, and Apalachee are reimbursed for costs incurred to provide primary, dental, and mental health visits to eligible County residents. These visits include services such as general annual physical exams; dental cleanings and extractions; case management services for mental healthcare; and more. To be eligible, a patient of Bond, NMC, or Apalachee must be a Leon County resident, 18 years old or older, and uninsured or underinsured. Additionally, the household income of a patient must be 100% or below the federal poverty level (FPL). The income requirement reflects households that are not eligible for public insurance including Medicaid, Medicare, and the ACA in the State of Florida. For example, the ACA Marketplace offers financial assistance known as subsidies for monthly premiums to enrollees with household incomes above 100% of the FPL. Subsidies are not available for individuals or families in households that earn below 100% of the FPL.

In addition to primary, dental, and mental health services, the County provides funding for specialty care and pharmaceutical services (We Care and FAMU Pharmacy, respectively). The County contracts with WeCare, which recruits medical specialists to provide specialty care to low-income residents at no charge. Specialty care services include but are not limited to cardiology, neurology, internal medicine, orthopedics, and orthodontic care. FAMU Pharmacy provides coordinated pharmacy services to County residents and addresses morbid and mortality of African Americans with Type 2 diabetes through educational programming coordination with local healthcare providers including Bond and NMC.

As mentioned earlier, the County invests $1.8 million annually in the CareNet Program. General revenue is the funding source for the CareNet Program as well as the State mandated County contributions (i.e., Medicaid, etc.). The leveraging of County funding has been critical to expanding healthcare in the community. Over the past three years, the providers have leveraged County funding to secure $7.5 million in state and federal funding to provide primary and mental services to additional uninsured and underinsured local-income County residents.

Regular Community Engagement on the CareNet Program

The County regularly engages with the healthcare partners to ensure that the CareNet Program continues to provide low-income residents with access to critical medical services. Staff meets quarterly with the providers to discuss challenges and opportunities to enhance the program. During these meetings quantitative and qualitative data are evaluated and proposed changes are considered for recommendation to the Board to better position the County's program in addressing the changing healthcare needs of residents in the community. Subsequently, County staff brings proposed program enhancements to the Board for consideration as part of the budget process. Over the past several years this has led to:

- 80% increase in the reimbursement rates since FY 2023 for primary care visits to Bond, NMC, and Apalachee to more accurately reflect the cost of diagnostic and ancillary services, such as laboratory and X-Ray services.
- 40% increase in the reimbursement rates since FY 2024 for dental and mental healthcare visits to Bond, NMC, and Apalachee to include diagnostic and ancillary costs as well as the increased costs of mental healthcare.
- 30% increase in the annual investment since FY 2023 to voluntary and involuntary in-patient mental health services to Apalachee better reflect ongoing rise in costs for personnel and operations.
- 9% increase funding to WeCare since FY 2022 to enhance financial assistance to patients for specialty services including laboratory and transportation costs.

The next meeting with the healthcare partners is anticipated for January 2026. At that time any changes to the CareNet Program such as the eligibility criteria and reimbursement rates would be evaluated and discussed for potential recommendations to the Board as part of the budget process for the next fiscal year (FY 2027). This is consistent with the County's approach to addressing the most pressing human service needs in the community which includes conducting data-driven analysis, collaborating with local stakeholders, and engaging residents.

2006 Indigent Healthcare Sales Tax

Florida Statutes provide counties with a population of less than 800,000 the authority to levy a local option sales tax for indigent healthcare subject to voter approval (section 212.055(7), F.S.). Sales tax referenda are a standalone process prescribed in Florida Statutes which cannot be effectuated through a charter amendment. In 2006, the Board of County Commissioners placed a referendum on the ballot for voters to consider a local option ½ cent sales tax to support primary healthcare for low-income residents in our community. Despite the stigma associated with a new ½ cent sales tax and the potential of Leon County having the highest sales tax in the state, the referendum was placed on the 2006 General Election ballot in response to the escalating costs for health insurance, feedback from local healthcare providers, and input from the ministerial community on the long-term financial costs associated with health emergencies. In November 2006, more than three years prior to the passage of the national Affordable Care Act, 60% of Leon County voters rejected the ½ cent sales tax for indigent healthcare. Following voter rejection of the sales tax, the County continued to support primary healthcare needs with ad valorem revenues (property taxes) as previously described in this agenda item.

County Charter Provisions Related to Healthcare Access

In summary, although healthcare services for uninsured, underinsured, and elderly residents are primarily the statutory responsibility of the federal and/or state governments, Leon County has been dedicated to ensuring low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community. Beyond the mandated financial support counties provide for several state healthcare programs, the County has dedicated additional local tax revenue to expand healthcare access for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents through the CareNet Program. In partnership with local providers, CareNet provides access to primary, dental, mental health, and specialty care, and pharmaceutical services. In total, the FY 2026 County budget invests $7.7 million for the provision of healthcare services.

As presented in the item, the Board currently has the authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured local income residents in the community. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Additionally, county charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. For these reasons, there are no county charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.
3. Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on access to healthcare as determined by the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
4. Board direction.

Public Comment:

- Melanie Andrade Williams, 3349 Argonaut Drive, addressed the Committee to advocate for a medical debt relief initiative. She proposed a one-time $500,000 investment to eliminate approximately $50 million in medical debt for county residents, citing a similar program in Orange County. Additionally, she urged the Committee to require the continued existence of an Affordable Housing Trust Fund, prioritizing affordable rental housing.
- Stanley Sims, 1420 Avondale Way, asked that the Committee discuss possibilities for recalling elected officials.

General Business:

Committee Discussion on Proposed Charter Amendments
(Final Opportunity for Introduction of New Proposals)

Nicki Hatch shared that this would be the final opportunity for the introduction of new proposals for charter amendments. She provided a recap of the two-step process to introduce charter amendment proposals. Members first presented broad concepts to be added to the list of proposals. Once listed, proposing members had the opportunity to briefly explain their proposal and answer any questions before the committee vote on whether to have staff bring back additional analysis on the proposal. She also noted that if a member has more than one idea, then the order in which all of the ideas are considered will be handled as it has been previously with each member explaining one idea at a time in a round-robin fashion.

Chair Lindley welcomed members to offer additional charter amendment proposals to be added to the list for consideration by the Committee.

The list of proposals previously raised during the CCRC's 2025 meetings include:

1. Establishment of an Office of Inspector General, Proposed by Howard Kessler.
    a. Advanced for analysis at the November 20, 2025 meeting.

    a. Advanced for analysis at the December 4, 2025 meeting.
    b. Advanced to Decision Agenda meeting (to consider ballot language) at January 8, 2026 meeting.

The following proposals were added to the list for CCRC consideration during the meeting:

11. Joint City-County Land Development Code, Proposed by Barry Wilcox.
12. Recognizing Community Values of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, and Local Business Preference, Proposed by Darryl Jones.

The following proposals were explained for CCRC consideration:

11.) Joint City-County Land Development Code

Barry Wilcox proposed exploring a joint planning approach between the City and County to avoid jurisdiction shopping, including the feasibility of a unified land development code. He explained that such an approach could reduce duplication, allow the use of a single consultant, and serve as a form of functional consolidation rather than full governmental consolidation. Mr. Wilcox clarified that while a joint code could provide uniform rules countywide, it would still allow for different standards in urban and rural areas within the same framework. He further noted that building departments could remain autonomous while sharing a common guiding document. Mr. Wilcox requested an analysis to determine whether this concept would be appropriate for Charter consideration or better addressed through intergovernmental action.

Katrina Tuggerson questioned the necessity for the proposal and emphasized the importance of ensuring equity considerations within land development codes, noting concerns that certain developers could receive preferential treatment under existing plans.

Ryan Ray commented that residents currently choose to live in either the City or County with the understanding that each jurisdiction has different rules and cautioned against complicating that distinction.

Max Herrle provided contextual clarification, distinguishing between comprehensive plans as broad policy documents and land development codes as more detailed regulatory tools. He also inquired whether changes to a joint land development code would require ratification at joint City–County public meetings and questioned whether the issue rose to the level of a Charter amendment.

Henry Lewis raised concerns that the proposal could impose a higher burden on certain groups and later asked for clarification regarding the potential impact on impact fees.

County Administrator Long provided context, explaining the existing hierarchy of land-use regulation, including state requirements, the joint comprehensive plan, and separate land development codes. He noted that City and County codes are becoming more closely aligned but explained that full alignment would require extensive review of jurisdiction-specific details such as setbacks, lighting, and statutory timeframes imposed by the State Legislature. He also indicated that such an approach could require consideration of a joint Development Review Committee.

Anita Favors asked whether the intent was to create a single comprehensive document governing all land development matters.

Barry Wilcox clarified that impact fees could remain separate for the City and County and noted that Leon County's fees are relatively low compared to other Florida jurisdictions. He also clarified governance issues related to comprehensive plan amendments and explained that both governments already must approve certain text changes.

Barry Wilcox moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, to request an item to be brought back with analysis to determine whether a joint City-County land development code would be appropriate for Charter consideration.

The motion failed 7 – 8 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Anita Favors, Max Herrle, Darryl Jones, Henry Lewis, III, Ryan Ray, Shamarial Roberson and Temple Robinson in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman and William Smith were not present.

12.) Recognizing Community Values of Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, and Local Business Preference

Darryl Jones proposed developing Charter language recognizing community values such as diversity, equity, inclusion, and local business preference. He referenced practices in other communities and emphasized that such values remain important to Leon County despite shifting political environments. Mr. Jones clarified that the request was for staff analysis of potential language reflecting community values, not a directive that would conflict with state law.

Temple Robinson inquired about potential ramifications related to state and federal funding.

County Attorney O'Steen advised that the proposal, as described, would focus on values-based language rather than enforceable mandates and therefore would not necessarily create state law preemption issues.

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by Ryan Ray, to direct staff to bring back an analysis of potential charter language recognizing diversity, equity, and inclusion and local preference as community values for the Committee's consideration.

The motion carried 13 – 2 with Committee Members Heidi Otway and Shamarial Roberson in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman and William Smith were not present.

Item #1: Funding Mechanisms for Affordable Housing

Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy delivered a presentation outlining funding mechanisms for affordable housing. The presentation detailed a wide variety of potential funding sources and discussed options to increase County investment in affordable housing, including the use and expansion of the existing Housing Trust Fund.

Henry Lewis III thanked the Board for its ongoing efforts related to affordable housing. He provided additional context regarding affordable housing needs, discussed the relationship between market-rate and affordable housing, and encouraged continued County investment in this area.

Henry Lewis, III, moved, seconded by Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, for Option #2: Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.

The motion was not voted on.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., asked how many of the proposed units would be considered affordable for very low-income residents and whether that data is tracked.

Shington Lamy responded that all 1,200 units referenced would be designated for low-income households, noting that the units would fall into different affordability categories. He further explained that annual funding contributions would continue to build capacity for affordable housing over time.

Max Herrle distributed a handout outlining potential dedicated revenue sources and permissible uses for an affordable housing trust fund, including examples of similar measures in Alachua, Brevard, Broward and Orange Counties.

County Administrator Long reminded the Committee that the County has already established a Housing Trust Fund.

Max Herrle made a substitute motion, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to direct staff to review the distributed handout and committee feedback and bring back options for Committee consideration, including potential charter amendment language and other related recommendations to support affordable housing.

The motion carried 12 – 3 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Darryl Jones and Henry Lewis, III, in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman and William Smith were not present.

Item #2: Funding Mechanisms for Healthcare Access for Low-Income Residents

Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy provided a presentation on funding mechanisms for healthcare access for low income residents. He highlighted the healthcare responsibility of the federal and state governments, and the County's dedication to ensuring access to high quality healthcare for more than two decades. He also noted the County's annual investments and leveraging of funds.

Temple Robinson addressed the Committee regarding the importance of access to local healthcare, noting that global health organizations consistently recognize its role in improving workforce participation and productivity while reducing overall healthcare costs. She noted that access to healthcare remains a challenge for many residents and emphasized that her request was not focused on specific funding levels or implementation methods, but on ensuring healthcare access is recognized and upheld as an ongoing policy priority.

Shamarial Roberson highlighted additional concerns regarding the burden placed on Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), noted challenges faced by rural residents currently served by the Bond Community Health Center, and emphasized the importance of considering ongoing changes within the insurance landscape.

Temple Robinson moved, seconded by Darryl Jones, to direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment affirming Leon County values access to primary care as a leading determinant of economic vitality and community well-being.

The motion carried 15 – 0 with Committee Members Joey Davis, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman and William Smith not present.

Max Herrle asked what occurs when a vacancy arises on the Board of County Commissioners and requested information on the costs and benefits of holding a special election, noting that election costs could range from approximately $150,000 to $200,000.

County Attorney O'Steen responded that statutory requirements govern vacancy procedures and timelines and indicated that the issue is largely preempted by state law.

Ryan Ray raised concerns that existing districts, originally drawn to defend minority representation, have more recently resulted in limited representation of minorities among certain districts. He suggested consideration of electing all commissioners at-large.

Henry Lewis III responded that district-based elections have provided consistent representation for historically underrepresented communities and that maintaining both district and countywide perspectives has value.

Ryan Ray decided not to make a motion on this topic.

Chair Lindley noted that at-large elections typically involve higher campaign costs, which could deter potential candidates.

County Administrator Long advised that changes to the election structure would constitute a typical Charter issue for the Committee to consider.

Max Herrle referenced a Florida Statutes provision allowing counties to opt into supporting a property tax exemption for economic development projects, subject to renewal by the Board of County Commissioners every ten years.

Max Herrle moved for an agenda item to be brought back on information related to Florida Statutes providing counties a local option property tax exemption to support economic development projects, subject to renewal by the Board of County Commissioners every ten years.

The motion failed for lack of a second.

Darryl Jones asked if ensuring safe access to schools for children is a County priority or required by Florida Statutes.

County Administrator Long clarified that both are the case as the County secures state funding specifically to construct sidewalks in close proximity to public schools.

Chair Lindley thanked staff and reminded the Committee that there were three meetings remaining.

Nicki Hatch shared that the Inspector General agenda item would be provided during the February 5, 2026 CCRC meeting so that the proposer of the charter amendment, Dr. Howard Kessler, could be present.

Motion to adjourn:

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Ryan Ray, to adjourn the meeting.

The motion carried 15 – 0 with Committee Members Joey Davis, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman and William Smith not present.

Chair Lindley adjourned the meeting at 1:04 p.m.

Title: Comparative Analysis of Bill of Rights Provisions in County Charters

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives

Summary:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee, this item provides a comparative analysis of county charters that include a bill of rights.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its December 4, 2025, meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) requested information on charter counties that include a bill of rights. The topic was presented by member Max Herrle who distributed a proposed "Leon County Bill of Rights" for consideration (Attachment #1) and provided a copy of the Bill of Rights section from the Miami-Dade County Charter. This item provides a comparative analysis of bills of rights established in Florida county charters along with the utilization of county ordinances to further define and revise citizen rights to reflect evolving community needs.

Analysis:

A local bill of rights expresses the fundamental values of a community and local government which can be codified by charter, ordinance, or resolution, to formally express a commitment to securing, protecting, and promoting such "rights" at the local level. A local bill of rights generally does not include specific enforcement, penalties, or remedies for violations of these rights. For local governments in Florida with a bill of rights, the rights are most commonly codified in county ordinances so that the language can be revisited and amended over time to reflect evolving community priorities. Only two counties, Broward and Miami-Dade, provide an extensive Bill of Rights section in their county charters. Orange and Pinellas Counties provide very broad concepts which are then further described in county ordinances, policies, and procedures. This allows the elected officials to modify the county ordinances and policies as needed to reflect emerging needs.

The Leon County Charter provides for the structure, organization, and authority of County government. The County Charter does not express specific policy priorities which are achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. However, section 1 of the Charter provides a Preamble which affirms the broad values and beliefs of County residents as follows:

> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally*, rather than by the State, and that* County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government and in order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government*, do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida. [emphasis added]*

The Preamble captures broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule and governmental decisions being made at the local level as well as the role of residents in shaping their local government. The Preamble is intentionally broad so that the County can adapt and respond to new challenges as determined by the elected County Commission. Key provisions of the Preamble include:

- County government should be reflective of the people: This provision addresses representative government which, by definition, must be diverse and inclusive in order to reflect our community.

- Should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government: This provision speaks to public service, fairness and equity in serving the community at large, and rising to the challenges of the day which requires flexibility.
- Empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government: This provision addresses the role of citizens to impose changes to the structure of their government including limiting or expanding the County's authority relative to its citizens and municipal governments.

The following summarizes county charter provisions related to citizen rights. Attachment #2 provides the full narrative from each of the respective charters:

- Broward County: Section 1.04 of the Broward County Charter – Citizens' Bill of Rights provides 16 rights to ensure "citizens protection against abuses and encroachments by County government and ensure all persons fair and equitable treatment." It should be noted however, that the majority of these rights are provided under the U.S. Constitution, Florida Constitution, and/or federal and state law. The Broward County Bill of Rights include:
    - Access to government
    - Access to public records
    - Right to be heard
    - Right to notice
    - Protection of human rights
- Miami-Dade County: Following the Preamble in the Miami-Dade County Charter is a – Citizens' Bill of Rights – which provides 17 rights "in order to provide the public with full and accurate information, to promote efficient administrative management, to make government more accountable, and to ensure to all persons fair and equitable treatment." Enumerated rights include:
    - Convenient access to government
    - Truth in government
    - Public records
    - Right to be heard
    - Right to notice

  Similar to Broward County, the Miami-Dade Citizens' Bill of Rights mostly includes rights already provided under the U.S. Constitution, Florida Constitution, and/or federal and state law. One exception, however, includes the establishment of the Commission on Ethics and Public Trust by County Ordinance with the authority to render advisory opinions and enforce the County's Bill of Rights and Code of Ethics Ordinances. In addition, the Miami-Dade County Charter provides for remedies for violations. A citizen may bring a cause of action alleging a violation of the Bill of Rights in the Dade County Circuit Court and shall be entitled to recover costs as determined by the Court. Judicial remedies for violations of the rights are redundant as most of the Miami-Dade rights are provided in state and federal law and are subject to penalties associated with violations of those laws.

- Orange County: Section 106 of the Orange County Charter – Security of the Citizens - provides for the County to "use its powers to secure for all citizens by ordinance [emphasis added] or by civil or criminal action, whenever appropriate, the following:
    - Just and equitable taxation
    - Proper use of public property
    - Full disclosure of public records and proceeding
    - Prevention of abuse of the environment
    - The right to be heard and provide public input

  All of these rights are provided for under the U.S. Constitution, Florida Constitution, and/or federal and state law. The Charter includes these very broad concepts which are then further described in county ordinances, policies, and procedures. This allows the elected officials to modify the county ordinances and policies as needed to reflect emerging needs. Furthermore, the Orange County Charter does not include specific enforcement, penalties, and remedies for violations of these rights.

- Pinellas County: Section 2.02 of the Pinellas County Charter – Security of Rights of Citizens – provides for the County to "use its powers to secure for all citizens by ordinance [emphasis added] or by civil or criminal action, whenever appropriate, the following:
    - Prohibition of conflict of interest
    - Just and equitable taxation while recognizing other local governments' jurisdictions to set their own millage
    - Public property
    - Public records
    - Protection of Human Rights
    - Protection of Consumer Rights.

  Like Orange County, these concepts are enumerated in the Pinellas County Charter with the explicit intent to be further described in county ordinances, policies, and procedures so that they may be revised as needed. Further, all of these rights in the Pinellas County Charter are provided for under the U.S. Constitution, Florida Constitution, and/or federal and state law. The Pinellas County Charter does not include specific enforcement, penalties, and remedies for violations of these rights.

Local governments across the state (including Leon County) have also adopted citizens' rights provisions by ordinance or resolution – demonstrating that such provisions do not require an amendment to the County Charter. For example, in April 2022, Leon County's Resolution of Support for the Universal Declaration of Human Rights was adopted to express the County's commitment to ensuring the protection of human rights locally. The Board adopted Core Practices for Leon County Government reflect many of the "rights" provided in the four county charters. The County's Core Practices are as follows:

- Delivering the "Wow" factor in Customer Service. Employees deliver exemplary service with pride, passion and determination; anticipating and solving problems in "real time" and exceeding customer expectations. Customers know that they are the reason we are here.
- Connecting with Citizens. Employees go beyond customer service to community relevance, engaging citizens as stakeholders in the community's success. Citizens know that they are part of the bigger cause.
- Demonstrating Highest Standards of Public Service. Employees adhere to the highest standards of ethical behavior, avoid circumstances that create even an appearance of impropriety and carry out the public's business in a manner which upholds the public trust. Citizens know that we are on their side.
- Accepting Accountability. Employees are individually and collectively accountable for their performance, adapt to changing conditions and relentlessly pursue excellence beyond the current standard, while maintaining our core values.
- Exhibiting Respect. Employees exercise respect for citizens, community partners and each other.
- Employing Team Approach. Employees work together to produce bigger and better ideas, to seize the opportunities and to address the problems which face our community.
- Exercising Responsible Stewardship of the Community's Resources. Employees engage in the continuous effort to create and sustain a place which attracts talent, fosters economic opportunity and offers an unmatched quality of life, demonstrating performance, value and results for our citizenry.
- Living our "People Focused, Performance Driven" Culture. Employees have a structure in place to live all of this as our organizational culture and are empowered to help the people they serve.

We Believe In:

- Demonstrating to our citizens that we are on their side, letting them know that they are the reason we exist and what they are getting for their tax dollars;
- Producing bigger and better ideas to address the real issues facing our community;
- Actively promoting transparency, accessibility, and openness in everything we do;
- Engaging citizens in important decisions facing the community;
- Tirelessly enhancing our community's livability, sustainability and economic competitiveness; and providing employees a structure which reinforces this as our organizational culture and employs and empowers them to help people.

The vast majority of the rights established under existing county charters include protections that are already provided under the U.S. Constitution, Florida Constitution, and/or federal and state law. It should be noted, however, that any citizens rights established under a county charter cannot conflict with or seek to regulate areas preempted by the U.S. Constitution, Florida Constitution, and/or federal and state law. This may include the regulation of clean air, qualifications to vote and participate in government, and the operational autonomy of constitutional officers.

The Committee may wish to formally establish citizen rights (beyond those already provided by state and federal law), and direct staff to prepare a charter amendment to incorporate such language under the Charter Preamble. Alternatively, the Committee could provide a policy recommendation to the Board recommending adoption of an ordinance enumerating such rights which would not require a charter amendment and could be revised in the future to reflect changing community needs.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to prepare a charter amendment providing a Bill of Rights for Leon County citizens.
3. Direct staff to prepare a recommendation for the Board to consider adopting a County Ordinance providing a Bill of Rights for Leon County citizens.
4. Committee Direction.

Recommendation:

County Charters with Bill of Rights Provisions

Broward

Sec. 1.04. – Citizens' bill of rights

The citizens of the County establish this County government in order to protect and serve the citizens of the County. In order to secure to the County's citizens protection against abuses and encroachments by County government, and to ensure all persons fair and equitable treatment, the following rights are guaranteed:

(A) Access to Government. Each Person has the right to transact business with the County with a minimum of personal inconvenience. It is the duty of the County to provide reasonably convenient times and places for transacting business with the County.

(B) Truth in Government. Each Person has the right to truthful and accurate information from Commissioners and County employees. Commissioners and County employees shall not knowingly omit any information or significant facts when disseminating public information.

(C) Public Records. Each Person has a right to access County records. All audits, reports, minutes, documents and other County public records shall be open for public inspection at reasonable times and places.

(D) Right to be Heard. Any Person has the right to appear before the County Commission, a Board, or Committee for the presentation, adjustment or determination of an issue, matter or request within the County's jurisdiction. Matters shall be scheduled for the convenience of the public, and specific portions of each agenda shall provide for designated times so that the public may know when a matter may be heard. The County may establish reasonable procedures relating to public hearings, including limitations on the time members of the public may speak on an issue.

(E) Right to Notice. The County shall provide timely notice to Persons entitled to notice of a hearing before the County Commission, Board, or Committee. The notice shall include the time, place and nature of the scheduled hearing, and the legal authority which forms the basis for the hearing. The County shall provide copies of proposed ordinances and resolutions at a reasonable time prior to the hearing, unless the matter involves the adoption of an emergency ordinance or resolution.

(F) Right to Notice of Decision and Reasons. The County, if requested, shall provide members of the public notice of the County's denial of a Person's request made in connection with any County decision or proceeding. A statement indicating the grounds for denial shall accompany the notice provided by the County.

(G) Right to County Administrator's Report. The public is entitled to a status report, on a periodic basis, from the County Administrator on all major matters which are either still pending or have been concluded.

(H) Right to Public Budget Process. The County Administrator shall annually prepare a budget which illustrates the cost of each County program. Prior to the County Commission's first public hearing on a proposed budget, the County Administrator shall publish a budget summary which sets forth the proposed cost of each individual program, all major proposed increases and decreases in funding and personnel for each County program, the reasons for any increase or decrease, the estimated millage cost of each program, and the amount of any contingency and carryover funds for each program.

(I) Right to a Management Report on the Performance of County Government. The public is entitled to have access to a Management Report published by the County Administrator, and made public on a quarterly basis, detailing the performance of the County government offices, divisions and departments. The Management Report shall include, but not be limited to, a report on the receipt and expenditure of County funds by each County office, division and department, and a report of the expected and actual performance of the activities of each County office, division and department.

(J) Right to Prohibit Conflicts of Interest and the Implementation of a Code of Conduct. The County Commission shall enact, by ordinance, a conflict of interest section in the County Code that requires Commissioners, County employees, and individuals appointed to Boards, Committees, Agencies, and Authorities to avoid even the appearance of impropriety in the performance of their duties and responsibilities. The County Commission shall also enact, by ordinance, a Code of Official Conduct that shall apply to Commissioners, County employees, and individuals appointed to Boards, Committees, Agencies, and Authorities. In the ordinances enacted pursuant to this subsection, the County Commission shall provide procedures for the examination of matters related to the conduct of Commissioners, County employees, and individuals appointed to Boards, Committees, Agencies, and Authorities. The ordinances enacted pursuant to this subsection shall also provide procedures for the removal of an employee or individual, other than a Commissioner.

(K) Just and Equitable Taxation. The County shall prevent the imposition of any tax within the County in excess of the limitations imposed by Article VII, Section 9, of the Florida Constitution or by the laws of the State of Florida.

(L) Proper Use of Public Property. The County shall prevent the use of public property or its taxing power for the benefit of private individuals, partnerships or corporations, in violation of the restrictions imposed by Article VII, Section 10, of the Florida Constitution, or by the laws of the State of Florida.

(M) Power of Recall. The public shall have the power to recall any Commissioner in accordance with the laws of the State of Florida.

(N) Protection of Human Rights. The County shall establish provisions, for protection of citizen human rights from discrimination based upon religion, political affiliation, race, color, age, gender, disability, familial status, marital status, or national origin by providing and ensuring equal rights and opportunities for all citizens of the County.

(O) Protection of Consumer Rights. The County shall enact ordinances for protection of citizen consumer rights from unfair trade practices by all Persons.

(P) Sustainable Environment. Broward County shall enact ordinances which protect its citizens' right to a sustainable environment, including clean air and clean water, while encouraging the stewardship of natural resources.

All provisions of this Article shall be construed to be supplementary to and not in conflict with the laws of the State of Florida. If any part of this Article shall be declared invalid, such invalidity shall not affect the validity of the remaining provisions.

Miami-Dade

Citizens' Bill of Rights (included after Preamble)

(A) This government has been created to protect the governed, not the governing. In order to provide the public with full and accurate information, to promote efficient administrative management, to make government more accountable, and to ensure to all persons fair and equitable treatment, the following rights are guaranteed:

(1) Convenient Access. Every person has the right to transact business with the County and the municipalities with a minimum of personal inconvenience. It shall be the duty of the Mayor and the Commission to provide, within the County's budget limitations, reasonably convenient times and places for registration and voting, for required inspections, and for transacting business with the County.

(2) Truth in Government. No County or municipal official or employee shall knowingly furnish false information on any public matter, nor knowingly omit significant facts when giving requested information to members of the public.

(3) Public Records. All audits, reports, minutes, documents and other public records of the County and the municipalities and their boards, agencies, departments and authorities shall be open for inspection and copying, consistent with the requirements of the State of Florida's public records laws, at reasonable times and places convenient to the public.

(4) Minutes and Ordinance Register. The Clerk of the Commission and of each municipal council shall maintain and make available for public inspection an ordinance register separate from the minutes showing the votes of each member on all ordinances and resolutions listed by descriptive title. Written minutes of all meetings and the ordinance register shall be available for public inspection not later than 30 days after the conclusion of the meeting.

(5) Right to be Heard. So far as the orderly conduct of public business permits, any interested person has the right to appear before the Commission or any municipal council or any County or municipal agency, board or department for the presentation, adjustment or determination of an issue, request or controversy within the jurisdiction of the governmental entity involved; provided, nothing herein shall prohibit the Commission or any municipal council from referring a matter to a committee of each of their respective bodies to conduct a public hearing, unless prohibited by law. Matters shall be scheduled for the convenience of the public, and the agenda shall be divided into approximate time periods so that the public may know approximately when a matter will be heard. Nothing herein shall prohibit any governmental entity or agency from imposing reasonable time limits for the presentation of a matter.

(6) Right to Notice. Persons entitled to notice of a County or municipal hearing shall be timely informed as to the time, place and nature of the hearing and the legal authority pursuant to which the hearing is to be held. Failure by an individual to receive such notice shall not constitute mandatory grounds for cancelling the hearing or rendering invalid any determination made at such hearing. Copies of proposed ordinances or resolutions shall be made available at a reasonable time prior to the hearing, unless the matter involves an emergency ordinance or resolution.

(7) No Unreasonable Postponements. No matter once having been placed on a formal agenda by the County or any municipality shall be postponed to another day except for good cause shown in the opinion of the County Commission, the municipal council or other governmental entity or agency conducting such meeting, and then only on condition that any person so requesting is mailed adequate notice of the new date of any postponed meeting. Failure by an individual to receive such notice shall not constitute mandatory grounds for cancelling the hearing or rendering invalid any determination made at such hearing.

(8) Right to Public Hearing. Upon a timely request of any interested party a public hearing shall be held by any County or municipal agency, board, department or authority upon any significant policy decision to be issued by it which is not subject to subsequent administrative or legislative review and hearing. This provision shall not apply to the Law Department of the County or of any municipality, nor to any body whose duties and responsibilities are solely advisory. At any zoning or other hearing in which review is exclusively by certiorari, a party or his counsel shall be entitled to present his case or defense by oral or documentary evidence, to submit rebuttal evidence, and to conduct such cross-examination as may be required for a full and true disclosure of the facts. The decision of any such agency, board, department or authority must be based upon the facts in the record. Procedural rules establishing reasonable time and other limitations may be promulgated and amended from time to time.

(9) Notice of Actions and Reasons. Prompt notice shall be given of the denial in whole or in part of a request of an interested person made in connection with any County or municipal administrative decision or proceeding when the decision is reserved at the conclusion of the hearing. The notice shall be accompanied by a statement of the grounds for denial.

(10) Mayor's, City Managers' and Attorneys' Reports. The County Mayor and County Attorney and each City Manager and City Attorney shall periodically make a public status report on all major matters pending or concluded within their respective jurisdictions.

(11) Budgeting. In addition to any budget required by state statute, the County Mayor shall prepare a budget showing the cost of each program for each budget year. Prior to the County Commission's first public hearing on the proposed budget required by state law, the County Mayor shall make public a budget summary setting forth the proposed cost of each individual program and reflecting all major proposed increases and decreases in funds and personnel for each program, the purposes therefore, the estimated millage cost of each program and the amount of any contingency and carryover funds for each program.

(12) Quarterly Budget Comparisons. The County Mayor shall make public a quarterly report showing the actual expenditures during the quarter just ended against one quarter of the proposed annual expenditures set forth in the budget. Such report shall also reflect the same cumulative information for whatever portion of the fiscal year that has elapsed.

(13) Adequate Audits. An annual audit of the County and each municipality shall be made by an independent certified public accounting firm in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards. A summary of the results, including any deficiencies found, shall be made public. In making such audit, proprietary functions shall be audited separately and adequate depreciation on proprietary facilities shall be accrued so the public may determine the amount of any direct or indirect subsidy.

(14) Regional Offices. Regional offices of the County's administrative services shall be maintained at locations in the County for the convenience of the residents.

(15) Financial Disclosure. The Commission shall by ordinance make provision for the filing under oath or affirmation by all County and municipal elective officials, candidates for County and municipal elective offices, such employees as may be designated by ordinance, and such other public officials, and outside consultants who receive funds from the County or municipalities, within the County and who may legally be included, of personal financial statements, copies of personal Federal income tax returns, or itemized source of income statements. Provision shall be made for preparing and keeping such reports current from time to time, and for public disclosure. The Commission shall also make provision for the filing annually under oath of a report by fulltime County and municipal employees of all outside employment and amounts received therefrom. The Mayor and any City Manager may require monthly reports from individual employees or groups of employees for good cause.

(16) Representation of Public. The Commission shall endeavor to provide representation at all proceedings significantly affecting the County and its residents before State and Federal regulatory bodies.

(17) Commission on Ethics and Public Trust. The County shall, by ordinance, establish an independent Commission on Ethics and Public Trust comprised of five members, not appointed by the County Commission, with the authority to review, interpret, render advisory opinions and enforce the county and municipal code of ethics ordinances, conflict of interest ordinances, lobbyist registration and reporting ordinances, ethical campaign practices ordinances, when enacted, and citizens' bill of rights.

(B) The foregoing enumeration of citizens' rights vests large and pervasive powers in the citizenry of Dade County. Such power necessarily carries with it responsibility of equal magnitude for the successful operation of government in the County. The orderly, efficient and fair operation of government requires the intelligent participation of individual citizens exercising their rights with dignity and restraint so as to avoid any sweeping acceleration in the cost of government because of the exercise of individual prerogatives, and for individual citizens to grant respect for the dignity of public office.

(C) Remedies for Violations. A citizen may bring a cause of action alleging a violation of this Article filed in the Dade County Circuit Court pursuant to its general equity jurisdiction and if successful, shall be entitled to recover costs as fixed by the Court. The Commission on Ethics and Public Trust may also enforce the provisions of this Article and may impose any penalty authorized by County Code not otherwise prohibited by a collective bargaining agreement, for a violation of this Article. Any penalty imposed by the Commission on Ethics and Public Trust pursuant to this subsection may be enforced in the Miami-Dade County Circuit Court.

(D) Construction. All provisions of this Article shall be construed to be supplementary to and not in conflict with the general laws of Florida. If any part of this Article shall be declared invalid, it shall not affect the validity of the remaining provisions.

Pinellas

Sec. 2.02. – Security of rights of citizens

In order to secure protection to the citizens of the county against abuses and encroachments, the county shall use its powers, whenever appropriate, to provide by ordinance or to seek remedy by civil or criminal action for the following:

(A) Prohibition of conflict of interest. The board of county commissioners shall enact a conflict of interest ordinance pertaining to all elected officials, appointed officials, and all employees of said officials of Pinellas County government, within ninety (90) days after the effective date of the Charter. By said ordinance the board shall be empowered to institute procedures by which any such official may be removed from office, except for those officers for which removal is provided under the state constitution.

(B) Just and equitable taxation while recognizing other local governments' jurisdictions to set their own millage. The grant of the powers contained herein shall not be construed in any way to allow the county to claim any portion of any city's ten-mill taxing power.

(C) [Public property.] Proper use of public property belonging to Pinellas County government.

(D) [Public records.] Full access to public records and proceedings of Pinellas County government.

(E) Protection of human rights. The county shall establish provisions, pursuant to state and federal law, for protection of human rights from discrimination based upon religion, political affiliation, race, color, age, sex, or national origin by providing and ensuring equal rights and opportunities for all people of Pinellas County.

(F) Protection of consumer rights. The county shall establish provisions for the protection of consumers.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #2

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #2

January 22, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Considerations for Addressing Poverty and Racial Inequity in the County Charter

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Summary:

At its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to address communities and neighborhoods impacted by poverty and racial inequities. This item provides the requested analysis including information on the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and historic inequity through programs, policies and partnerships in the community.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report on Leon County's commitment and ongoing efforts to tackle poverty and historic inequities in the community.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to address communities and neighborhoods impacted by poverty and racial inequities. This item provides the requested analysis including information on the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and historic inequity through programs, policies and partnerships in the community.

During the December 4th meeting, Dr. Bruce Strouble distributed a handout that proposed the establishment of a new section in the County Charter that would require the County to establish programs and funds based on communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination (Attachment #1). Subsequently, the Committee requested an agenda item to further consider the proposal for a potential charter amendment. The principal tenets of the proposal, as described further in the Analysis section, are as follows:

- Acknowledgment of historic local and state policies that created "generational disadvantage to specific communities" which the proposal identifies as black residents and neighborhoods.
- Conduct periodic historical disparity audits to identify geographic areas where historic public policies (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow segregation, redlining, etc.) presently produce inequities.
- Establish a Community Restoration Fund dedicated to investing exclusively in areas identified in the audit. Investment would include infrastructure, housing stabilization, environmental remediation, neighborhood revitalization, community wealth-building & economic mobility programs, and community healing.
- Ensure County budgets, planning documents, and capital projects include a clear framework for reducing disparities identified in the audits.
- Prioritize access to County-owned lands for historically burdened communities for agriculture, housing, cooperatives, and restorative development.

The primary goal of the proposed charter amendment is to provide exclusive resources and services to neighborhoods that experienced past and historic racial discrimination in the community (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow, etc.). However, recent and ongoing state and federal efforts have sought to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that seek to address historic racial disenfranchisement or diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). Some federal agencies now require state and local governments to certify that they do not operate any programs that advance or promote DEI as a condition to receive federal grant funding which has led to the suspension and elimination of said programs.

As presented in the item, Leon County currently has a long history of working to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The County regularly utilizes empirical data developed by federal and state agencies such as the U.S. Census, Shimberg Center for Housing Studies, and the Florida Department of Health to identify, engage, and invest in local neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty. As a result, since 2021, the County has strengthened its efforts to address poverty through the investment of more than $34 million in human services programs, healthcare, housing, and economic development, to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods such as Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City. At the same time, the County has dedicated $319 million through the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (Blueprint) on infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods.

As requested by the Committee, an analysis of Dr. Strouble's proposal is provided along with greater detail on the County's efforts to reduce poverty in neighborhoods based on empirical data and community needs. This includes information on recent and ongoing state and federal efforts to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services based on historic racial disenfranchisement, diversity, equity, and inclusion. With exception to the narrowly tailored Minority and Women Business Enterprise program explained later in this item, County's programs and services are not specific to, or solely intended for, historically disenfranchised populations. However, the programs often support residents and areas of the County generally considered historically disenfranchised.

The County has been successful in addressing poverty and inequities in accordance with state and federal laws and without an amendment to the County Charter. Adopting a charter amendment to establish programs and funding based on historic racial disenfranchisement could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as pose legal challenges to the County that are presented in the Analysis. Therefore, it is recommended that the Committee not pursue a charter amendment. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to provide a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing poverty in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for Board consideration.

Analysis:

The Leon County Charter provides for the structure, organization, and authority of County government. The County Charter does not express specific policy priorities which are achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. However, this item provides the requested analysis for the Committee to consider addressing poverty and racial inequities through the County Charter as well as information on the County's ongoing efforts to address these issues through programs, policies and partnerships in the community.

The County utilizes empirical data developed by federal and state agencies to identify, engage, and invest in local neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty. A variety of data regularly identify the census tracts of Frenchtown and Griffin Heights, located in the 32304 zip code, as high poverty neighborhoods. In September 2025, the Board was provided a report that detailed the County's efforts to address poverty and inequities in the community with an emphasis on the 32304 zip code (Attachment #2). The report commenced with data that indicated 32304 has the following:

- The highest poverty rate in the community (49.4% compared to 18.1% countywide)
- The lowest homeownership rate (13% compared to 52% countywide)
- The highest uninsured rate (12.9% compared to 7.7% countywide)
- One of the lowest median household incomes ($30,823 compared to $66,000 countywide)
- One of the highest unemployment rates (8% compared to 4.4% countywide)

In addition to Frenchtown and Griffin Heights, the neighborhoods and census tracts with poverty rates higher than the County average include: Bond, Providence, and South City. The neighborhoods are all located within the City of Tallahassee (City) limits. As a result, the County regularly collaborates with the City and other local partners to develop, fund, and support a variety of programs, services, events, and initiatives to address poverty and inequity in the neighborhoods.

The County actively supports the implementation of the City's Neighborhood First Program which aims to reduce crime, enhance quality of life, and increase economic prosperity in Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City. While the efforts do not specifically focus on racial inequities, the neighborhoods have a higher population of minorities compared to the overall County population. Additionally, 75% of residents served by human service agencies through the County and City's Community Human Services Partnership program live in these neighborhoods. Therefore, the programs and services presented in the following section provide critical resources in the neighborhoods with the highest minority populations in the community.

County Efforts to Reduce Poverty and Inequities

Leon County currently has a long history of working to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The following highlights the County's ongoing efforts to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities through human services, healthcare, housing, economic development, and infrastructure improvements. Further details are provided in Attachment #2, which includes the report that was provided to the Board in September 2025.

Human Services

Leon County has been steadfast in its commitment and investment in human service programs that improve the quality of life of our residents. Over the past several years, the County has strengthened efforts in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty, including in the 32304 zip code, by expanding access to human services through the following:

- In 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) Promise Zone Category which invests $1.1 million each funding cycle to provide direct services such as food, legal aid, after school care, and healthcare to high poverty neighborhoods. For more than 30 years, the County and City have planned, coordinated, and invested in human services through CHSP, which utilizes a competitive grant process to fund essential human services programs delivered by local not-for-profit organizations.

- Over the past several years, the County and City have partnered with Second Harvest of the Big Bend (Second Harvest) to install four temperature-controlled 24/7 food lockers at Good News Outreach in Frenchtown, Neighborhood Medical Center on South Monroe, Hartsfield Elementary School, and Sabal Palm Elementary School. The lockers have distributed over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents.
- In 2024, the County expanded its partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to provide annual direct funding in the amount of $112,500 for the 24-hour Helpline and the Lyft transportation program to address the need for greater knowledge of available resources and transportation. According to 2-1-1, over 4,000 Lyft rides were coordinated in FY 2025. Residents of the 32304 zip code accounted for nearly 830 Lyft rides (22%), the second highest of any zip code behind 32301. Further, the 32304 zip code continues to represent the largest share (31%) of 2-1-1 Helpline call volume.

Healthcare Services

As presented earlier, residents of the 32304 zip code are most likely to be uninsured in the community. For over two decades, the County has led the effort to ensure residents have access to high quality health care through the following:

- The County invests over $1.75 million annually through the Healthcare Services Program (i.e., CareNet) to provide primary care, dental care, mental health services, assistance with prescription medications, and specialty care to uninsured residents. The County partners with Apalachee Center, Bond Community Health Center (Bond), Neighborhood Medical Center (NMC), FAMU Pharmacy, and WeCare. As reported by the healthcare partners, 32304 residents represent the highest percentage of patients served (30%) in the community.
- The County partners with Bond and NMC to provide primary care, dental care, and health screenings through the mobile health units. The mobile units regularly visit Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, Walker Ford Community Center in the Bond Community, and other community hubs to expand access to health care services. Mobile units provide health care services two to three times per week, and at least two Saturdays a month throughout Leon County.

Affordable Housing

Access to safe and affordable housing is another critical tool in addressing poverty and inequity. Homeownership is the primary vehicle for wealth creation and promotes neighborhood stability and therefore the County has taken the following actions:

- In 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) through the Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. As part of the partnership, the County donates properties deemed suitable for affordable housing to the CLT to construct new homes. The CLT has completed eight homes thus far on County donated land, including four homes in Griffin Heights.

- In 2022, the County entered into an interlocal agreement with the City to utilize County State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) funds to invest in the construction of new homes in Neighborhood First Program neighborhoods. As a result, the County has invested more than $900,000 for the construction of 13 homes with County SHIP funds in Neighborhood First communities, including six recently completed homes in the Providence and Griffin Heights neighborhoods.
- In 2025, the County contracted with Legal Services of North Florida in the amount of $50,000 annually to provide legal assistance to help low-income families clear title and resolve heirs' property issues, which is anticipated to serve 20 families annually with a focus on high poverty neighborhoods.

Additionally, the highest affordable housing need in the community is affordable rental units for very low-income households. As a result, the County has invested a majority of its affordable housing funds for rental development over the previous five years within 32304 and other zip codes with high poverty rates. Such investments include:

- $5.8 million in direct funding and more than $198 million in bonding for affordable housing rental projects in high poverty communities that have or will build more than 1,200 units within the next 12 to 18 months (Attachment #3).
- $500,000 annually in affordable rental development for very-low and extremely-low income households which includes residents in the 32304 zip code through the combination of SHIP, general revenue, and the County's portion of the newly established affordable housing program in the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV).
- $175,000 to the Tallahassee Housing Authority to develop a master plan for the Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights.

Financial Empowerment and Economic Development

As presented earlier, unemployment in high poverty neighborhoods is higher than the Countywide average. In addition, businesses in the neighborhoods report a lack of access to capital due to limited banking institutions in their communities. As a result, the County has taken considerable action to address the disparities, including the following:

- Partnering with FAMU Federal Credit Union in 2021 to establish the SmartSteps Microloan Program to provide financial capital to historically marginalized entrepreneurs to build their businesses. The County allocated $2.5 million to establish the program, with FAMU Federal Credit Union contributing a $250,000 match. To date, SmartSteps has distributed over $1 million in microloans to 51 Black, minority, and women-owned businesses. Approximately 36% of loans have gone to businesses located in 32304, more than any other zip code. As a revolving loan program, repaid funds are reinvested to support additional MWSBE businesses.
- Ongoing partnership with Tallahassee State College (TSC) to support the emergency medical technician (EMT) program, including the dual enrollment program located on the campus of Godby High School which is the primary high school for the 32304 zip code. This program provides students in 32304 with the skills and professional certification to work as an EMT upon graduation. Since the program launched in 2023, 23 students have completed the training with an additional 10 students currently enrolled for the 2025-2026 school year.

- Partnering with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber) in 2022 to support the Bank On Tallahassee Initiative which improves access to banks and credit unions for low-income households and helps reduce barriers for households with previous credit issues. This led to the development of a Financial Empowerment Blueprint approved by the Board (Attachment #4) that memorializes the County's ongoing efforts to spur economic growth in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty.

MWSBE Program

In addition to programs addressing the human services and financial empowerment needs in the community, the County has long operated a narrowly defined race- and gender-based Minority and Women Business Enterprise (MWBE) program to enhance procurement opportunities with the County for small businesses. The program provides an incentive for small businesses to access County procurement opportunities within certain contracting categories (construction, architecture & engineering, professional services, materials and supplies) where minority- and women-owned businesses have historically been underrepresented in the procurement process so long as there is sufficient availability of said businesses to compete for County contracts. Today, the program operates as a joint office of the County and City under the Office of Economic Vitality.

The MWBE program operates based on the legal defensibility of a disparity study prepared by a third-party which must demonstrate factual predicate evidence of significant disparity and the program must be narrowly tailored to satisfy the legal foundation for administering a race- and gender-based procurement program. Based on the market data provided by the disparity study, the program assigns aspirational goals for contracting with MWBEs by procurement category. The aspirational goals cannot be mandated by the County. The following represents the latest annual reporting figures from FY 2024 on the County's MWBE utilization:

- The County spent approximately $2.2 million with minority-owned vendors which was 148% of the aspirational goal as determined by the disparity study.
- The County spent approximately $7.5 million with women-owned vendors which was 579% of the aspirational goal as determined by the disparity study.

Infrastructure Investments

Investment in infrastructure is also essential to the quality of life and economic prosperity in neighborhoods and communities that have historically experienced poverty and inequities. Therefore, the County and City have made significant infrastructure investments in zip codes with the highest poverty rates through Blueprint. In fact, 20 of the 32 Blueprint projects (62%) planned or underway are local in 32301, 32303, 32304, and 32305, for a total investment of $319 million.

As provided in the September 2025 report to the Board (Attachment #2), these projects include:

- $23 million for the construction of the Magnolia Drive Trail that builds sidewalks, installs underground electric utilities, connects South City and surrounding neighborhoods to public transit and employment centers.
- $20 million for stormwater improvements, multi-use trails, and community space that will connect the Bond, Callen, Liberty Park, Lee Manor, and Providence neighborhoods.
- $9 million for the Orange-Meridian Placemaking project which is constructing a new park on the Southside while improving stormwater drainage.
- More than $1.5 million for the ongoing development of the South City Transit Center and improvements in the South City neighborhood.

These projects reflect the County's commitment to identify and engage the neighborhoods and make critical investments that improve the quality of life and economic prosperity for the residents.

Analysis of Proposed Leon County Charter Amendment

As demonstrated, the County has a long and ongoing history of reducing poverty and inequity in the community. These efforts do not require an amendment to the County Charter. As mentioned earlier, the Committee requested further analysis to consider Dr. Strouble's proposal that would create a new section in the County Charter that requires the County to establish programs and funds based on communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination. The following presents the specifics of the proposal and reiterates the policies, programs, services, and investment that align with the proposal that are already being implemented by the County:

Acknowledgment of historic local and state policies that created "generational disadvantage to specific communities" which the proposal identifies as black residents and neighborhoods.

On February 20, 2024, the Board adopted a resolution to acknowledge and apologize for the history of slavery and racism in Leon County (Attachment #5). Resolution 24-11 acknowledges racial inequities that occurred in the County and provides an apology for "the enslavement and segregation of African Americans in the community. The Resolution expressed the Board's commitment to acknowledge and remember the errors that took place while also celebrating the strides that our community has made toward racial equality. It is important to note that the Board of County Commissioners did not have a policy making role in many of these historic inequities such as the segregation of schools, land use decisions within the City limits, lending decisions by private institutions, or operational control of law enforcement actions. However, as detailed throughout this analysis, the County has intentionally led the effort to respond to the impact of racial inequities on poverty in the community.

Conduct periodic historical disparity audits to identify geographic areas where historic public policies (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow segregation, redlining, etc.) presently produce inequities.

The County regularly conducts data driven analysis to respond to the most pressing needs in the community, including poverty and inequity. The County utilizes empirical data developed by federal and state agencies such as the U.S. Census, Shimberg Center for Housing Studies, and the Florida Department of Health to identify, engage, and invest in local neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty. As mentioned earlier, the data has identified neighborhoods such as Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City with: the highest poverty rates, median household income below the County average, high percentage of residents without a high school diploma, and zoned for schools that have historically struggled to meet benchmarks for key educational attainment such as kindergarten readiness.

These neighborhoods also have census tracts with a higher percentage of minorities than other parts of the community. However, it is the empirical data with poverty indicators that the County utilizes for addressing poverty and inequities rather than the racial composition of the neighborhoods. This ensures County programs, services, and investments are consistent with state and federal restrictions on race-related programming presented further in the item.

Establish a Community Restoration Fund dedicated to investing exclusively in areas identified in the audit. Investment would include infrastructure, housing stabilization, environmental remediation, neighborhood revitalization, community wealth-building & economic mobility programs, and community healing.

As described through the item and Attachment #2, the County continues to make significant investment in addressing poverty and inequities in the community. Since 2021, the County has invested more than $34 million to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods such as Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City through human services programs, healthcare, housing, and economic development. At the same time, another $319 million has been dedicated through Blueprint for infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods.

Additionally, through an interlocal agreement with the City, the Frenchtown/Southside Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA) was established to revitalize the neighborhoods within its boundaries which include Frenchtown and South City. Through the partnership with the City, the County dedicates approximately $4.2 million in annual property tax revenues to the CRA to make critical investments in the neighborhoods in the areas of affordable housing, economic development, and neighborhood revitalization.

Ensure County budgets, planning documents, and capital projects include a clear framework for reducing disparities identified in the audits.

The County's commitment to addressing poverty and inequities is well documented and reflected in its annual investment, policies, and plans adopted by the Board. In addition to the more than $34 million invested since 2021 in human services programs as well as $319 million dedicated through Blueprint for infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods, the County's annual budget includes:

- $7.7 million annually in healthcare for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents.
- $4.2 million annually to the Frenchtown/Southside CRA to invest and revitalize neighborhoods including Frenchtown and South City.
- $1.3 million annually in CHSP for human services for which 75% of funding serves residents in high poverty neighborhoods.

- $1.5 million annually to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing for low-income households.

Additionally, through the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan, the County and City have adopted policies and made capital investments to spur long-term economic growth in high poverty neighborhoods. Incorporated into the Comprehensive Plan is the Southside Action Plan (SAP) which is a robust three-phased approach to creating balanced and equitable growth in those areas designated within the SAP boundary of southern Leon County. The boundary includes Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City neighborhoods. The primary goal of the policy is to encourage quality land development and redevelopment within the area to support equitable population growth, establish an environment that incentivizes retention and expansion of business and employment opportunities, and to attain an income mix comparable to the remainder of the urbanized County.

Over the past five years, more than $1.13 billion in public and private investments have been made within the SAP area, which includes an increase in available affordable housing; expansion of businesses and employment centers; and infrastructure improvements. The infrastructure improvements have included road resurfacing, new sidewalks, and access to sewer service. These improvements have been critical to attracting greater private investment to enhance the quality of life and economic opportunities for residents within the SAP area.

Prioritize access to County-owned lands for historically burdened communities for agriculture, housing, cooperatives, and restorative development.

As shared earlier, in 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. As part of the partnership, the County donates properties deemed suitable for affordable housing to the CLT to construct new homes. The homes are sold to low-income households that have the credit and financial history, but not the capital. The CLT has completed eight homes thus far on County donated land, including four homes in the Griffin Heights neighborhood.

In addition to affordable housing, the County's Sustainability Office operates the Leon County Community Garden Program to provide technical assistance, materials, and grants to support residents in establishing or revitalizing community gardens throughout the County. Eligible locations for grants include vacant County-owned land, school campuses, and other community spaces. Grants of up to $1,000 are available to support garden development and sustainability efforts. Within the past two years, the Community Garden Program has supported the establishment of eight community gardens in neighborhoods such as South City, Frenchtown, and Griffin Heights.

Although the CLT and Community Garden Program have targeted and benefited households and neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities, the County does not prioritize programs and services based on race and/or ethnicity. As mentioned throughout the item, the County utilizes empirical data to identify households and neighborhoods most impacted by poverty, and subsequently develops and implements programs and services to improve their quality of life and enhance their economic security.

Federal and State Efforts to Prohibit Policies and Investment Based on Historic Discrimination

The primary goal of the proposed charter amendment is to provide exclusive resources and services to neighborhoods that experienced past and historic racial discrimination in the community (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow, etc.). However, recent and ongoing state and federal efforts have sought to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that seek to address historic racial disenfranchisement or DEI. The definition of DEI in Presidential Executive Orders and legislation have generally included employment, policies, programs, and services that "promote or provide preferential treatment or special benefits to a person or group based on race, color, sex, ethnicity, gender identity, or sexual orientation."

At the state level, Florida passed the Individual Freedom Act in 2022 to restrict training related to systemic racism and identity in schools and workplaces. In addition, several bills have been filed for the 2026 Legislative session that would prohibit local governments from adopting or funding DEI-related policies and programs. The proposed legislation also seeks to void any current DEI policies and programs that are currently in place, remove elected officials from office that violate the prohibition, and authorize residents to sue local governments that adopt, implement and/or fund DEI-related policies and programs.

At the federal level, Executive Order 14173 issued on January 21, 2025, rescinded long-standing federal contractor requirements related to race and gender-based employment and contracting practices. Additionally, several federal departments have begun including language in grant contracts that require recipients to certify that they do not "operate any programs that advance or promote DEI, DEIA (Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Accessibility), or discriminatory equity ideology". As a result, many Florida local governments have already eliminated or suspended their minority- and women-owned business programs so not to jeopardize millions of dollars in federal grant funds. In December 2025, the County was awarded a $16.8 million grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation (US DOT) for safety improvements on North Monroe Street. The County is currently coordinating with US DOT on the development of a contract agreement which may impose similar provisions that prohibit DEI-related policies, programs, and services. Therefore, the adoption of the proposed charter amendment is not recommended as it could immediately jeopardize federal funding recently awarded to the County.

Alternative Option for the Charter Review Committee

The County has been successful in addressing poverty and inequities in accordance with state and federal laws and without specific programs or provisions in the County Charter. Further, the adoption of the proposed charter amendment is not recommended as it could immediately jeopardize federal funding recently awarded to the County. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to provide a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing poverty in the community. The recommendation would be brought back to the Committee for final approval to be included as part of the Committee's report to the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report on Leon County's commitment and ongoing efforts to tackle poverty and historic inequities in the community.
2. Direct staff to prepare a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing poverty in the community.
3. Committee direction.

Policy Brief: Proposal to amend the Leon County Charter with an Article that Addresses Impacts of Harmful Public Policy

Prepared for: Leon County Charter Review Committee

Date: November 2025

Executive Summary

Leon County faces persistent and well-documented disparities in wealth, health, housing, environmental exposure, and neighborhood opportunity. These inequities align closely with historic patterns of slavery, segregation, discriminatory housing policy, and public disinvestment—policies that were enacted or enforced by Leon County's government institutions across generations.

In February 2024, the Board of County Commissioners formally acknowledged and apologized for the County's role in these systems of harm. The proposed Charter Amendment provides the structural mechanism to act on that commitment by ensuring that acknowledged harms are matched with concrete, long-term restoration efforts.

This policy brief recommends creating a new Article in the Leon County Charter—Restoring Communities Impacted by Harmful Public Policy—to provide the structural authority, continuity, and long-term mandate necessary to address these historical harms and restore communities still impacted today.

A Charter-level provision is essential because the harm is structural, ongoing, and rooted in public policy; therefore, the remedy must be structural, ongoing, and institutional.

Problem Statement

Leon County continues to exhibit some of Florida's starkest geographic disparities. These disparities, from poverty rates and homeownership gaps to health outcomes and food insecurity, map directly onto historically Black neighborhoods targeted by slavery, Jim Crow segregation, redlining, urban renewal, and environmentally hazardous planning decisions.

Key Facts

By 1860, 73–74% of Leon County residents were enslaved—one of the highest ratios in the Deep South.[1]

Leon County was Florida's leading cotton-producing county; enslaved Black people represented the county's primary economic asset.[2]

After Emancipation, Black residents were pushed into sharecropping, debt peonage, and convict leasing, with the Leon County sheriff leasing prisoners to private companies until 1923.[3]

Jim Crow segregation shaped hospitals, schools, transportation, and housing. Tallahassee Memorial Hospital did not treat Black patients until the late 1960s.

Urban renewal demolished 244 structures in the Smokey Hollow neighborhood, displacing 1,200+ Black residents.

Environmental burdens, including brownfields, contaminated industrial sites, and hazardous corridors, are disproportionately located in Black communities, including Tallahassee's Southside .

Today's inequities (poverty, disease, food insecurity, eviction rates, life expectancy gaps) map directly onto these same neighborhoods. These outcomes cannot be explained by contemporary policy alone; they are the predictable continuation of historical public decisions.

Analysis: Why the Charter Must Address Historic Impacts

1. Historic harms were created through “county policy”.

Laws, zoning, lending restrictions, policing, and infrastructure choices produced patterns that continue today. The County cannot fully address inequity without addressing its policy roots.

2. The consequences are multi-generational and ongoing.

The same neighborhoods harmed by historical policies remain the most disadvantaged in terms of mobility, health, and economic opportunity.

3. Programs alone cannot correct structural inequity.

Programs are temporary—grant cycles end. Priorities shift with elections.
A Charter Article ensures consistent, long-term responsibility.

4. Equal protection requires mitigation—not neutrality.

Courts, planners, and public administrators increasingly affirm that treating unequal conditions equally reinforces inequity.

Structural harm requires structural mitigation.

5. Community restoration strengthens the whole county.

Investing in historically harmed communities improves:

- workforce readiness
- public health
- climate resilience
- economic development
- neighborhood stability

Leon County cannot meet its long-term goals while key communities remain structurally burdened.

Policy Recommendation: Add a New Article to the Charter

Proposed Title: Article X – Restoring Communities Impacted by Harmful Public Policy

Core Functions of the Article

1. Acknowledge the impacts of historic harmful policy

Recognizes that past county, city, and state policies created generational disadvantage in specific communities.

2. Mandate periodic Historical Disparity Audits

To identify geographic areas where historic public policy harms continue to produce inequity.

3. Establish a Community Restoration Fund

Supports investments in:

- infrastructure
- housing stabilization
- environmental remediation
- neighborhood revitalization
- community wealth-building & economic mobility programs
- Community Healing

All targeted to areas identified by the audits.

4. Create authority for Priority Land-Leasing

Allows historically burdened communities priority access to county-owned land for agriculture, housing, cooperatives, and restorative development.

5. Require Restorative Investment Strategies

Ensures that county budgets, planning documents, and capital projects include a clear framework for reducing disparities identified in the audits.

Expected Benefits

For impacted neighborhoods:

- Improved housing stability
- Increased homeownership and land access
- Better health outcomes
- Cleaner environments and reduced risk
- Greater access to food and transportation
- Increased economic mobility
- Enhanced climate resiliency

For the entire county:

- Reduced costs of social services
- More equitable economic development
- Healthier workforce
- Reduced crime and violence
- Improved intergenerational outcomes
- Stronger civic trust and social cohesion

Community restoration is not only just—it is economically efficient.

Conclusion

The evidence is overwhelming:

Historic public policies created the inequities we now face.

A Charter Article on Historic Impact Mitigation & Community Restoration provides the structural authority, constitutional continuity, and policy stability necessary to repair these harms and build a more resilient, prosperous Leon County.

This amendment is a commitment to fairness, equal opportunity, and the long-term health of the entire community.

Leon County cannot move forward without addressing the legacy it inherited—and this Charter Review cycle is the moment to do so.

This item has no fiscal impact.

Staff Recommendations:

Option #1: Accept the status report on Leon County's efforts to address poverty and inequities in 32304.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Board on April 8, 2025, this item provides a status report on the County's partnerships, programs, and investments to address poverty and inequity in neighborhoods within the 32304 zip code area. The item also includes comparative data on local government investments in other zip codes in Leon County to address poverty and inequities as requested by the Board.

This status report advances the following FY 2022 – FY 2026 Strategic Initiatives:

- Work with the City of Tallahassee on the development and implementation of the Neighborhood First Program to engage residents and develop plans to address poverty and inequity in targeted neighborhoods including 32304. (2022-33)
- Partner with the City of Tallahassee, Capital City Chamber of Commerce, and local stakeholders to spur economic growth and financial security in the neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and racial inequity through initiatives such as Bank On Tallahassee. (2023-46)

These particular Strategic Initiatives align with the Board's Economy and Quality of Life Strategic Priorities:

- (EC2) Support programs, policies and initiatives to attract, create, and promote expansion of business, entrepreneurship, job creation, workforce development, economic equity, and mobility.
- (Q2) Provide relevant and essential offerings through our libraries and community centers which promote literacy, life-long learning, and social equity.
- (Q4) Support and promote access to basic healthcare, mental health, affordable housing, and homeless prevention services to our community members most in need.
- (Q5) Promote livability, health and sense of community by supporting strong neighborhoods, enhancing mobility, encouraging human scale development, and creating public spaces for people of all ages.

Leon County has a long history of tackling poverty through programs, policies, and partnerships throughout the County with an emphasis on 32304. For nearly 30 years, the County has funded human programs through the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) which are delivering essential resources such as food, childcare, and shelter to low-income families. Additionally, for more than 20 years, the County has provided uninsured and underinsured low-income individuals access to high quality comprehensive health and medical services in partnership with local healthcare providers. Furthermore, over the past ten years the County has expanded its investment in housing to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing for low-income households.

In recent years, the County has increased its investments, expanded its partnerships, and enhanced its programs to reduce poverty in 32304 and other neighborhoods. On November 19, 2021, the Board was provided a comprehensive report on programs, services, initiatives, and events adopted and implemented by the County and its community partners to address poverty and inequities in communities and neighborhoods within the 32304 zip code. At that time, the Board approved recommendations focused on strengthening the County's collaboration with the City of Tallahassee (City) to develop and implement the City's Neighborhood First Program which aims to reduce crime, enhance quality of life, and increase economic prosperity in 32304 which includes Frenchtown and Griffin Heights, and other high poverty neighborhoods in the community such as Bond (32310), Providence (32310), and South City (32301).

Since 2021, the County has strengthened its efforts to address poverty through the investment of more than $34 million to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities through human services, healthcare, housing, and economic development. At the same time, the County has dedicated $319 million through Blueprint for current and planned infrastructure investments in 32304 and high poverty neighborhoods in other zip codes (32301, 32303 and 32305). The following Analysis section details the County's ongoing efforts through active engagement, significant investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders. Subsequently, a comparison of local investments to address poverty in 32304 and other zip codes in the community is provided.

Analysis:

According to the U.S. Census (American Community Survey Data 2019–2023), zip code 32304 has the highest poverty rate in the community at 49.4%, compared with the 18.1% countywide average. Also, 32304 has the lowest homeownership rate (13% compared to 52% countywide) and a median household income of $30,823 (compared to $66,000 countywide). Poverty in 32304 is concentrated in census tracts that include the Frenchtown and Griffin Heights neighborhoods within the city limits. As a result, the County has collaborated with the City and other local partners to develop, fund, and support a variety of programs, services, events, and initiatives to address poverty and inequity in 32304. The following sections detail the County's efforts in the areas of community partnerships and neighborhood engagement, human services, health care, housing, and economic development to improve the quality of life and spur economic growth in 32304.

Community Partnerships and Neighborhood Engagements

Collaboration and coordination with community partners and stakeholders to engage high poverty neighborhoods has been a critical component to the County's effort to connect and deliver to residents essential programs and services in the community. Over the past several years, the County's partnerships to engage 32304 residents have included:

- Implementation of the City's Neighborhood First Plans for Bond, Frenchtown, and Griffin Heights (Attachments #1, #2, and #3), developed by the residents to identify tangible actions to reduce crime, enhance quality of life, and increase economic prosperity in those neighborhoods. Since 2022, the County has invested more than $3 million to implement the Neighborhood First Plans by aligning and enhancing existing programs for human services and housing which are further detailed in the item.
- Collaboration with the City and Children Services Council of Leon County (CSC Leon) in 2022 to conduct a series of nine meetings in neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates that engaged more than 300 residents to discuss and identify the root causes. The overwhelming response of participants was the need for greater awareness of available resources in the community to address food insecurity and poverty and led to:

- The creation of the Neighborhood Engagement and Community Partnership Manager position by the Board to actively engage and connect residents to agencies, programs, and services focused on improving quality of life and economic prosperity for individuals and families; and
- The establishment of the Trusted People Neighborhood Steering Committee (Trusted People) in partnership with the City, CSC Leon, and the United Way of the Big Bend (UWBB) to promote available resources in neighborhoods that have historically experienced inequity and disinvestment to address issues of poverty and food insecurity. The Trusted People Committee is comprised of neighborhood leaders and stakeholders from Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, South City, and Woodville neighborhoods appointed by the County, City, CSC Leon, and UWBB.

- Hosting workshops, seminars, and expos on heirs' property, healthy cooking, and youth employment with the City, CSC Leon, and human service providers in high poverty neighborhoods including 32304 that have engaged over 500 residents.

Building on the collaborative effort to engage and connect residents of 32304 and other low-income neighborhoods to available resources, the County, City, CSC Leon, UWBB, and United Partners in Human Services (UPHS) will host a Trunk or Treat event October 25, 2025 at the Old West Enrichment Center. During the event human service agencies funded by the County, City, CSC Leon, and UWBB will distribute candy and information on programs and services, including food, housing, childcare, healthcare, and more to youth and families. As presented in the following section, the event strengthens the County's engagement efforts through partnerships as well as highlights the County's investment in human services to enhance the quality of life and address poverty.

Expansion of Human Services Programs

According to the Urban Institute, investing in human services is critical to improving quality of life and addressing poverty. Therefore, Leon County has been steadfast in its commitment and investment in human service programs that improve the quality of life of our residents. Over the past several years, the County has strengthened efforts in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty including in 32304 by expanding access to human services through the following:

- In 2019, the County in partnership with City established the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) Promise Zone Category which invests $1.1 million each funding cycle to provide direct services such as food, legal aid, after school care, and healthcare to high poverty neighborhoods. For more than 30 years, the County and City have planned, coordinated, and invested in human services through CHSP, which utilizes a competitive grant process to fund essential human services programs delivered by local not-for-profit organizations.

- In 2022, the County in partnership with the Leon County Sheriff's Office (LCSO), City, and Leon County Schools established the Council of the Status of Men and Boys (CSMB) through LCSO to address crime within 32304 and the broader community impacting young Black males between the ages of 15 and 24. In 32304, CSMB initiative includes community-based violence intervention programs at Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, and credible messengers and street-level navigators who engage directly with high-risk youth at schools such as Griffin Middle School and Godby High School.
- Over the past several years, the County and City have partnered with Second Harvest of the Big Bend (Second Harvest) to install four temperature-controlled 24/7 food lockers at Good News Outreach in Frenchtown, Neighborhood Medical Center on South Monroe, Hartsfield Elementary School, and Sabal Palm Elementary School. The lockers have distributed over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents.
- In 2022, the County, in partnership with CSC Leon and UWBB, launched the Taste Bud Explorers nutrition series to promote healthy cooking and meal planning, which reached over 150 residents in Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and Providence neighborhoods.
- In 2023, the County entered into a memorandum of understanding with Second Harvest to hold Summer BreakSpots which provides kids with free meals and snacks at the Main Library, Dr. BL Perry, Jr. Branch, Jane G. Sauls Fort Braden Branch, and the Woodville Branch during the summer. From June 2nd to August 1st, 4,255 meals were distributed to kids at the locations which is the most since the program began.
- In 2022, the County provided $60,000 to Second Harvest to purchase a truck for their Mobile Pop-Up Pantry program. The mobile markets provide families with fresh produce, protein and nonperishable food items. Second Harvest also hosts Neighborhood Empowerment events, which in addition to fresh produce and nonperishable food items and also feature local human service providers that offer an array of services, including employment assistance, healthcare, legal support, SNAP benefits enrollment, and other essential resources. Mobile market events are held several times a month and Neighborhood Empowerment events are held monthly throughout the community. These events occur in neighborhoods experiencing elevated food insecurity, including the Lincoln Center in Frenchtown, Woodville Branch Library, Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, and Greater Love Church in South City.
- In 2024, the County and City collaborated with CSC Leon to establish line-item funding for emergency homeless shelters in the annual amount of $1.5 million. The largest emergency homeless shelters including Kearney Center, HOPE Community, and Capital City Youth Services are located in 32304 add shelters offer individuals, families, or youth experiencing homelessness temporary housing, food, showers, and case management 24 hours a day, seven (7) days a week.
- In 2024, the County expanded its partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to provide annual direct funding in the amount of $112,500 for the 24-hour Helpline and the Lyft transportation program to address the need for greater knowledge of available resources and transportation. According to 2-1-1, nearly 4,000 Lyft rides have been coordinated in FY 2025 so far. Residents of 32304 accounted for nearly 830 Lyft rides (22%), the second highest of any zip code behind 32301. Further, 32304 continues to represent the largest share (31%) of 2-1-1 Helpline call volume.

- In 2021, the Board created the Community Resource Specialist as part of the County's Essential Libraries Initiative to connect Library patrons with a variety of human service agency resources. The Community Resource Specialist is a professional social worker who has provided over 1,750 one-on-one sessions, helping residents access jobs, SNAP, Medicaid, and other services.
- The County invests $100,000 annually in the Direct Emergency Assistance Program (DEAP) to assist residents with past due rent, mortgage and/or utilities. Last year, 35% of households that received DEAP funding lived in 32304.

Healthcare Programs

Residents of 32304 are less likely to have health insurance. According to U.S. Census data, 12.9% of 32304 residents are uninsured compared to the Countywide rate of 7.7%. Uninsured individuals are more likely to delay care, forgo prescriptions, and rely on emergency medical services for routine medical needs, which can lead to worsened health outcomes and increased costs to the public health system. Acknowledging the chronic health disparities in 32304, for over two decades the County has led the effort to ensure residents have access to high quality health care through the following:

- The County invests over $1.75 million annually through the Healthcare Services Program (i.e. CareNet) to provide primary, dental, and mental services, assistance with prescription medications, and specialty care to uninsured residents. The County partners with Apalachee Center, Bond Community Health Center (Bond), Neighborhood Medical Center (NMC), FAMU Pharmacy, and WeCare. As reported by the healthcare partners, 32304 residents represent the highest percentage of patients served (30%) in the community.
- The County partners with Bond and NMC to provide primary care, dental care, and health screenings through the mobile health units. Bond and NMC partner with local organizations to expand health care services through mobile units at community events, including the Woodville Founder's Day and the Woodville Community Meeting. Additionally, the mobile units regularly visit neighborhoods, including the Pensacola Street Corridor, Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, and Walker Ford Community Center in the Bond Community. Mobile units provide health care services two to three times per week, and at least two Saturdays a month throughout Leon County.
- The County partners with Big Bend Area Health Education Center (Big Bend AHEC) annually to provide healthcare navigation services at the County Main Library and several branch libraries including the Dr. BL Perry, Jr. Branch, Woodville Branch, and Jane G. Sauls Fort Braden Branch. Big Bend AHEC has connected more than 50 people with health insurance through the federal health insurance marketplace.

Investment in Safe and Affordable Housing

Access to safe and affordable housing is another critical tool in addressing poverty and inequity. In 32304, the homeownership rate of 13% is significantly lower than the Countywide average of 52%. Homeownership is the primary vehicle for wealth creation and promotes neighborhood stability and therefore the County has taken the following actions:

- In 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) through the Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. As part of the partnership, the County donates properties deemed suitable for affordable housing to the CLT to construct new homes. The CLT has completed eight homes thus far on County donated land, including four homes in Griffin Heights.
- In 2022, the County entered into an interlocal agreement with the City to utilize County State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) funds to invest in the construction of new homes in Neighborhood First Program neighborhoods. As a result, the County has invested more than $900,000 for the construction of 13 homes with County SHIP funds in Neighborhood First communities, including six (6) recently completed homes in the Providence and Griffin Heights neighborhoods.
- In 2023, the County partnered with Legal Services of North Florida (LSNF) to host Heir Property Workshops in Bond, Frenchtown, Providence, and Woodville which were attended by more than 150 residents to raise awareness of the importance of clear title of homeownership for securing private financing as well as local, state and federal assistance.
- In 2025, the County received a $750,000 Small Cities Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) that will be utilized to rehabilitate homes of low-income households in Leon County over the next three years.
- In 2025, the County contracted with LSNF in the amount of $50,000 annually to provide legal assistance to help low-income families clear title and resolve heirs' property issues, which is anticipated to serve 20 families annually including households in 32304.

Additionally, and as reported in previous agenda items, the highest affordable housing need in the community is affordable rental units for very low-income households. As a result, the County has invested a majority of its affordable housing funds for rental development over the previous five years within 32304 and other zip codes with high poverty rates. Such investments include:

- Providing $5.8 million in direct funding and more than $183 million in bonding for affordable housing rental projects in high poverty communities that have or will build more than 1,200 units within the next 12 to 18 months.
- Providing $175,000 to the Tallahassee Housing Authority to develop a master plan for the Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights.
- Committing to invest a total of $500,000 annually in affordable rental development for very-low and extremely-low income households which includes residents in 32304 through the combination of SHIP, general revenue, and the County's portion of the newly established affordable housing program in the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV).

Financial Empowerment and Economic Development

Unemployment in 32304 is considerably higher (nearly 8%) than the Countywide average (4.4%). In addition, businesses in 32304 and other neighborhoods with historic disinvestment report a lack of access to capital due to limited banking institutions in their communities. As a result, the County has taken considerable action to address the disparities, including the following:

- Partnering with FAMU Federal Credit Union in 2021 to establish the SmartSteps Microloan Program to support the growth and sustainability of Black, minority, and women-owned small businesses. The Program provides financial capital to historically marginalized entrepreneurs to build their businesses. The County allocated $2.5 million to establish the program, with FAMU Federal Credit Union contributing a $250,000 match. The City provided an additional $500,000 in the microloan fund as part of the implementation of the Neighborhood First Plans. To date, SmartSteps has distributed over $1 million in microloans to 51 Black, minority, and women-owned businesses. Approximately 36% of loans have gone to businesses located in 32304, more than any other zip code. As a revolving loan program, repaid funds are reinvested to support additional MWSBE businesses.
- Partnering with the City, CSC Leon, and CareerSource in Spring 2025 to hold Youth Employment Sessions in Bond, Frenchtown, Chaires/Capitola, and Woodville neighborhoods, connecting over 180 teens and young adults with job placement and apprenticeship opportunities.
- Hosting the annual Leon Works Expo to connect hundreds of local high school students interested in skilled careers with employers and academic partners.
- Hosting financial literacy and business and workforce development programs at the Main Library and all branch libraries. These programs include an ongoing partnership with Envision Credit Union to offer youth financial literacy courses that include budgeting, saving, and debt management. In addition, the Library partners with CareerSource Capital Region to provide four programs a year, including resume workshops and job application assistance, as well as Florida State University and Florida A&M University to conduct workshops on salary negotiation, LinkedIn best practices, multi-generational workplace success, and work-life balance. Since FY 2023, the library has hosted nearly 50 financial literacy and business and workforce development programs for 249 patrons.
- Ongoing partnership with Tallahassee State College (TSC) to support the emergency medical technician (EMT) program, including the dual enrollment program located on the campus of Godby High School which is the primary high school for 32304. This program provides students in 32304 with the skills and professional certification to work as an EMT upon graduation. Since the program launched in 2023, 23 students have completed the training with an additional 10 students currently enrolled for the 2025 school year. In addition, TSC recently hired a 32304 coordinator to help promote this program and other educational training programs and certifications offered by TSC to ensure that residents are aware of and have access to resources that can improve their financial opportunities.

- Ongoing partnership with UWBB to offer the Reality Store, a financial education initiative at the Main Library. The reality store is an engaging opportunity for young adults to learn about personal accounting and financial responsibility. Since the program launched locally in 2015, more than 500 youth have participated.
- Partnering with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber), in 2022, to support the Bank On Tallahassee Initiative which improves access to banks and credit units for low-income households and helps reduce barriers for households with previous credit issues. This partnership led to:
  - The County applying and securing $75,000 from the Cities for Financial Empowerment (CFE) which is funded by Bloomberg Philanthropies to expand Bank On Tallahassee through Capital City Chamber.
  - Development of a CFE Financial Empowerment Blueprint approved by the Board (Attachment #4) that memorializes the County's ongoing efforts to spur economic growth in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty including 32304 through human services, healthcare, and initiatives such as Bank On Tallahassee.
  - The County applying for and securing a $20,000 planning grant from CFE to work with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce to evaluate the establishment of a Financial Empowerment Center (FEC) in Leon County, with a focus on serving residents of 32304 and other high-poverty areas.

Investments in Other Areas of the Community to Address Poverty and Inequities

As requested by the Board, this section provides comparative information on local government investments in other zip codes in Leon County to address poverty and inequities. As mentioned earlier and reflected in Table #1, 32304 has the highest poverty rate in the community according to the U.S. Census. However, high poverty is not exclusive to 32304. Three other zip codes have poverty rates higher than the County average and include the neighborhoods and communities of Bond (32310), South City (32301), Providence (32310), and Woodville (32305).

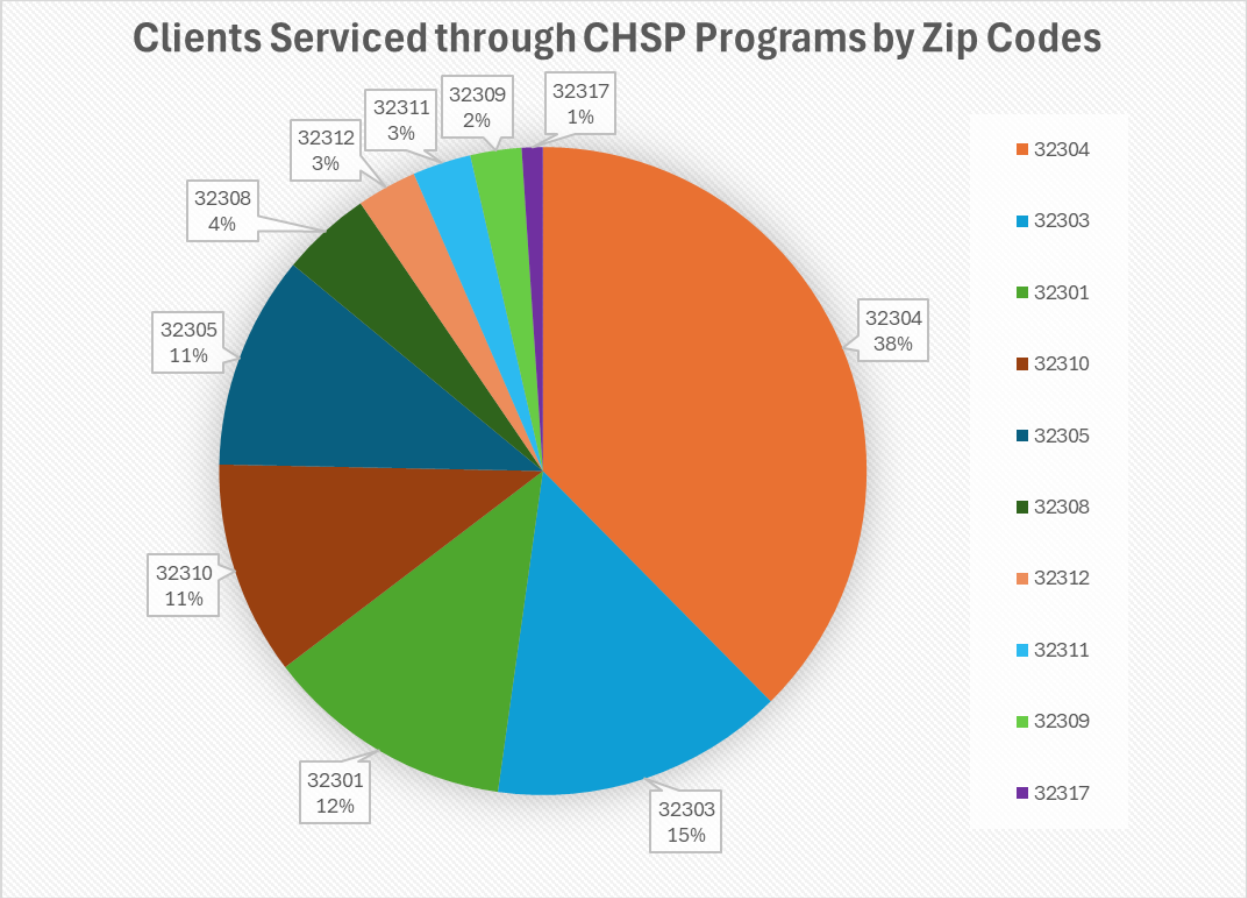

Table #1. Poverty Rates In Leon County by Zip Codes

Zip Code	Poverty Rate
32304	49.4%
32310	28.9%
32301	23.7%
32305	21.8%
32303	17.3%
32308	9.3%
32311	7.6%
32312	5.4%
32309	4.3%
32317	2.7%
County Average	18.1%

Similar to Griffin Heights and Frenchtown in 32304, the neighborhoods and communities in these zip codes have median household incomes below the County average, a high percentage of residents without a high school diploma, and are zoned for schools that have historically struggled to meet benchmarks for key educational attainment, including kindergarten readiness and reading levels.

Therefore, local investment to address poverty has not been exclusive to the 32304 zip code. As presented throughout the item, considerable human service investments have been made in Bond (32310), Providence (32310), South City (32301), and Woodville (32305) to improve the socioeconomic outlook of the residents. Annually, the County and City invest approximately $4 million in human service programs through CHSP. As shown in Chart #1, CHSP agencies report more than 75% of County and City funding serves residents in high-poverty neighborhoods located in 32304, 32310, 32301, 32303, and 32305.

As mentioned earlier, the County has invested more than $34 million in housing, human services, and healthcare over the last five years. Over $29 million, or 85%, of those funds were invested in programs to serve residents of 32304, 32303, 32301, 32305, and 32310.

Investment in infrastructure is also essential to the quality of life and economic prosperity in neighborhoods and communities that have historically experienced poverty and inequities. Therefore, the County and City have made significant infrastructure investments in the zip codes with high poverty rates, particularly through the joint Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency. In fact, 20 of 32 Blueprint projects (62%) planned or underway are located in 32301, 32303, 32304, and 32305, for a total investment of $319 million.

Chart #2: Current and Planned Blueprint Projects

These projects, which are also part of the Southside Action Plan adopted by the Board, include:

- More than $1.5 million in Blueprint and State funding for the ongoing development of the South City Transit Center and improvements in the South City neighborhood.
- Approximately $9 million in Blueprint funding for the Orange-Meridian Placemaking project, which revitalizes this area through construction of a new neighborhood park and community gathering space in the South City neighborhood, East Drainage Ditch enhancements, and investment in the South City Transit Center.
- Planned construction of Segment 4 of the Capital Cascades Trail in the amount of $20 million that provides stormwater quality improvements, multi-use trail construction, and community gathering spaces connecting the Bond, Callen, Liberty Park, Lee Manor, and Providence neighborhoods.
- Construction of the Magnolia Drive Trail, including underground electric utilities, by Leon County, Blueprint, and the City just north of the South City neighborhood from South Adams Street to Apalachee Parkway in the amount of $23.6 million.

The projects reflect the County and City's commitment to identify and engage historically impoverished neighborhoods and make critical investments that improve the quality of life and economic prosperity for the residents in 32304 and other zip codes with high poverty rates (Attachment #5).

In addition to the significant investments made by the County and City, CSC Leon also provides annual investment in 32304 and other zip codes with high poverty rates to improve the quality of life of children and families. CSC Leon was established in November 2020 as an independent special district to specifically invest in programs that strengthen families, improve child outcomes, and reduce inequities. Since its inception through FY 2024, CSC Leon has invested more than $6 million or 68% of its program funding in 32301, 32303, 32304, 32305, and 32310. According to CSC Leon, over 106,000 children and families served by the family support, kindergarten readiness, and youth development programs reside in these communities.

Further, in March 2025, CSC Leon approved $2.5 million to support 13 youth development programs, including seven programs that will operate year-round to provide after school activities and summer opportunities. Many of these programs are located in neighborhoods such as Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City, which also receive significant investment from the County and City. Therefore, CSC Leon partners with the County and City to share information and work together on community engagement efforts to enhance residents' awareness of and access to resources in the community through the Trusted People Committee and events such as the Taste Bud Explorers and the upcoming Trunk or Treat in October presented earlier.

Conclusion:

The County remains committed to tackling poverty and inequity in 32304 and other neighborhoods that have historically experienced disinvestment. Since 2021, Leon County has invested more than $34 million in human services, healthcare, housing, and financial empowerment programs. Over $29 million or 84% of those funds were invested in programs to serve residents of 32304, 32303, 32301, 32305, and 32310. Additionally, considerable infrastructure investment has been made and are ongoing in 32304 and other zip codes with high poverty that are improving quality of life of the residents and neighborhoods. Approximately 62% of Blueprint projects planned or underway are located in these communities (32301, 32303, 32304, and 32305) for a total investment of $319 million.

The County actively monitors and evaluates the programs and services focused on addressing poverty in the community. Through CHSP, human services agencies submit quarterly reports that include demographic (i.e., gender, race, etc.) and residency (i.e. zip code, census tract, etc.) on clients they serve. The healthcare providers submit to the County annual reports that are provided to the federal government (i.e., Uniform Data System reports) that provide aggregate data on patients that include demographics, services rendered, and zip code data. The County tracks the household size, income level, and location of housing clients assisted with its SHIP funding for down payment assistance, housing rehabilitation, homeownership development, and rental development which is subsequently reported annually to the State. Additionally, as part of the County's Strategic Plan, the progress of initiatives such as working with the City to implement the Neighborhood First Plans are tracked, documented, and reported annually to the Board.

As the County continues to implement programs and strategies that focus on reducing poverty and improving the lives and communities of the residents in those neighborhoods, subsequent updates will be provided to the Board through associated agenda items such as CHSP, healthcare, and housing. Utilizing the data and reports collected, these updates will highlight the County's continual focus and commitment to address poverty and inequities in 32304, as well as other neighborhoods that have historically experienced disinvestment.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

This report is a Financial Empowerment Blueprint that outlines the initiatives, goals, and strategies of Leon County Government (County) to enhance financial security and racial wealth equity within the community. The creation of the Blueprint was supported by the Cities for Financial Empowerment Fund (CFE Fund) through participation in the CityStart initiative. The priority areas were created through extensive community feedback, data analysis, and collaboration with local stakeholders to ensure the strategies reflect the needs and aspirations of residents while addressing systemic challenges.

The CFE Fund's CityStart initiative is a structured approach to helping local governments develop a municipal Financial Empowerment Blueprint, which outlines a strategic plan for financial empowerment programs and policies (e.g., financial counseling, consumer protection, access to banking, asset building, etc.) based on stakeholder and community engagement.

This wealth equity-focused iteration of CityStart addresses the financial stability needs of residents and the opportunities to meet those needs, prioritizing individual and structural efforts for Black residents that foster wealth accumulation and mitigate wealth extraction.

Bloomberg Philanthropies' Greenwood Initiative, whose mission is to accelerate the pace of wealth accumulation for Black individuals and families and address systemic underinvestment in Black communities in the U.S., is advising the CFE Fund and municipal partners on the design and execution of the CityStart program utilizing a racial wealth equity lens. The Blueprint supports and aligns with existing County efforts to strengthen financial empowerment strategies and enhance initiatives that address long-standing disparities.

Background

In 2023, in partnership with the City of Tallahassee (City) and the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber), Leon County Government applied for and was awarded $75,000 to participate in the CityStart initiative from the CFE Fund. This collaborative effort was part of the County's ongoing Strategic Initiatives to address poverty and inequity in targeted neighborhoods, including the 32304 area, through support of the City's Neighborhood First initiative. Participation in the CityStart initiative supports the County's ongoing efforts to address racial wealth equity to help individuals and families weather financial emergencies, promote economic growth, and ensure a stable future for generations to come.

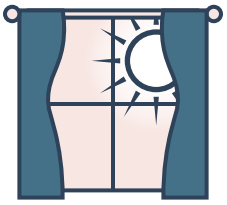
Development of the Blueprint



A key outcome of the CityStart initiative is the creation of a Financial Empowerment Blueprint, which serves as the final deliverable. This Blueprint outlines the County's ongoing goals and strategies aimed at enhancing financial security and promoting racial wealth equity within the community. The Blueprint also identifies historic policies and practices that have led to current challenges in wealth accumulation, which is defined as the acquiring of money, properties, or other assets that increase a person's net worth over time.

The Blueprint was developed after extensive stakeholder engagement at community meetings and through the evaluation of current strategic planning documents (Appendix 1). Multiple stakeholder roundtable meetings were held in the spring of 2023 and a Financial Empowerment Summit in September 2023 convened stakeholders from private, public, and nonprofit organizations to develop and refine priorities and strategies. In addition, the Blueprint prioritized and integrated financial empowerment strategies identified in Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Greater Bond, and Providence neighborhoods through the City's Neighborhood First Program, a community-driven planning effort to address specific needs and priorities of historically disinvested neighborhoods, fostering collaboration between residents and local government to implement sustainable improvements. The County's Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Steering Committee also provided input throughout the Blueprint development process.

- The information from the initial meetings, plan evaluations, and breakout sessions identified a recurring theme in local financial empowerment efforts:

Enhancing awareness of and access to available resources.

Leon County's Financial Empowerment Blueprint focuses on enhancing access to existing services to promote financial empowerment through three priority areas with accompanying strategies and goals. Utilizing current Strategic Initiatives and existing partnerships, the County and its partners are implementing the strategies to achieve these goals.

Housing and Residential Security Solutions

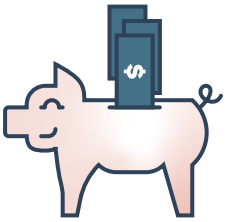
Goal

Increase the inventory of safe and sanitary affordable housing for low-income individuals and families.

Strategies

1. Support the housing rehabilitation and emergency repair programs to preserve affordable housing units.
2. Expand opportunities to provide educational workshops and legal assistance to alleviate heirs' property issues, support wealth building, and encourage home maintenance.
3. Support initiatives to increase affordable homeownership opportunities.

Social Wellness and Support Services



Goal

Expand the social safety net by increasing access to resources and services to enhance the quality of life of citizens.

Strategies

1. Enhance partnership with the 2-1-1 Big Bend Lyft Program to expand transportation access, including for those in Leon County's rural areas.
2. Strategically promote existing programs, such as the Leon County Primary Healthcare program and enrollment information, to reach the most vulnerable, including those impacted by the digital divide.
3. Collaborate with healthcare and mental health providers, including Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), to address community needs and provide access to primary, mental, and dental care, ensuring comprehensive health and human services are available.
4. Develop a Community Information Exchange platform in partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend, the City of Tallahassee, United Way of the Big Bend, the Children's Services Council of Leon County, and other key stakeholders.

Financial Education and Management Resources

Goal

Expand access to safe and affordable financial services for citizens and businesses to promote financial stability and resources and enhance intergenerational wealth.

Strategies

1. Support the integration of financial education and banking access within existing youth employment programs.
2. Explore the development of a Financial Empowerment Center.
3. Support the Bank On Tallahassee initiative via collaboration, resource support, and integration into existing programs to increase access to certified checking and transaction accounts by building programmatic partnerships between local financial institutions and community-serving programs, and encourage saving, investing, and financial counseling to further enhance financial stability for residents.
4. Support the Capital City Chamber of Commerce via the existing partnership with the Tallahassee-Leon County Office of Economic Vitality in creating and distributing a comprehensive small business development pipeline to increase access to resources and capital for businesses, including the assessment of current resources and barriers.

The identified priority areas and subsequent strategies incorporate and organize existing strategic planning documents and significant citizen and stakeholder feedback to provide a comprehensive guide to enhance community access to resources and ultimately increase financial opportunities and outcomes. The Blueprint reinforces ongoing efforts to expand access to human services and financial education, spur economic growth, and enhance generational wealth in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and racial inequity.

The County and its partners have many existing programs and initiatives to promote financial empowerment. Further, stakeholders have undertaken efforts to increase awareness and knowledge of local resources through community committees, neighborhood plans, and outreach workers. This Blueprint serves as a roadmap to expand current efforts and pursue additional opportunities that enhance financial security in the community.

OVERVIEW OF CITYSTART

In February 2023, the County, in partnership with the City and the Capital City Chamber, was selected to participate in the CityStart initiative by the Cities for Financial Empowerment (CFE) Fund. The County was awarded a $75,000 grant to support the creation of a financial empowerment Blueprint that builds upon collaborative efforts and community investment through a racial equity lens.

The CFE Fund's CityStart initiative is a structured approach to helping local governments develop a municipal Financial Empowerment Blueprint, which outlines a strategic plan for financial empowerment programs and policies (e.g., financial counseling, consumer protection, access to banking, asset building, etc.) based on stakeholder and community engagement.

The wealth equity-focused iteration of CityStart addresses the financial stability needs of residents and the opportunities to meet those needs, prioritizing individual and structural efforts for Black residents that foster wealth accumulation and mitigate wealth extraction. The CFE Fund works with Black-majority city and county partners, as well as cities and counties with significant Black populations, to address the financial stability needs of residents and the opportunities to meet those needs, prioritizing individual and structural efforts for Black residents that foster wealth accumulation and mitigate wealth extraction. The CFE Fund also works with grantees to identify the intersecting issues leading to disparities and barriers to financial stability.

The CityStart grant aligns with the County's efforts and commitment to addressing poverty and inequity in the community. The CFE CityStart grant advances the following Leon County FY2022-FY2026 Strategic Initiatives:

- Work with the City of Tallahassee on the development and implementation of the Neighborhood First Program to engage residents and develop plans to address poverty and inequity in targeted neighborhoods, including 32304. (2022-32)
- Partner with the City of Tallahassee, the Capital City Chamber, and local stakeholders to spur economic growth and financial security in the neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and racial inequity through initiatives such as Bank On Tallahassee. (2023-3)

These Strategic Initiatives align with the Board's Quality of Life and Economic Strategic Priorities:

- (Q4) Support and promote access to primary and welfare services to our community members most in need.
- (EC2) Support programs, policies, and initiatives to attract, create, and promote expansion of business, entrepreneurship, job creation, workforce development, economic equity, and mobility.

HISTORY AND CHALLENGES

Wealth and Inequality in Leon County

In Leon County, Florida, the story of wealth is as complex as it is diverse. Like many regions, Leon County has historically experienced systemic inequalities that contributed to wealth disparities. These challenges have impacted the County's residents, particularly those from underserved communities, who continue to face barriers in achieving financial security. Recognizing the challenges many individuals and families in the community face, Leon County Government actively engages in transformative initiatives to promote financial empowerment and reduce inequality among its residents. Today, the County takes a proactive stance by addressing these legacies head-on, ensuring that such historical disparities do not define the future of its communities.

Resident Feedback and Stakeholder Quotes

- Community Voices: During a 2023 community meeting in the Bond neighborhood, one resident shared, "We've been living here for generations, but without clear titles, we can't use our land to get loans or make improvements." This sentiment reflects the broader challenges faced by many in the community.
- Stakeholder Feedback: A local nonprofit leader noted, "Our financial education programs have made a difference, but we need more support from the County to reach all the families who need these resources."

Reflecting Community Priorities:

- Affordable Housing: Feedback from the 2023 Tallahassee Housing Summit indicated strong community support for expanding affordable housing initiatives. Many residents emphasized the need for down payment assistance and legal support to resolve heirs' property issues.
- Financial Education and Technical Assistance: During the CityStart initiative's stakeholder engagement sessions, participants repeatedly stressed the importance of financial education, particularly for young people. One attendee stated, "Teaching our kids about money early on is key to breaking the cycle of poverty."

EXAMPLES OF SYSTEMIC INEQUALITIES CONTRIBUTING TO WEALTH DISPARITIES

Background

Systemic inequalities have manifested in various ways, both locally and nationally. In Leon County, historic segregation and discriminatory practices, such as racially restrictive covenants, have led to lasting disparities in homeownership and property values, disproportionately affecting Black communities. Redlining, the practice of denying loans or insurance based on race, has significantly disadvantaged these communities nationally, resulting in lower homeownership rates and depressed property values. A 2020 study by the National Community Reinvestment Coalition found that formerly redlined neighborhoods across the country still experience lower homeownership rates and property values compared to non-redlined areas, contributing to the racial wealth gap, with Black households having a median net worth of just 12% of white households. In 2019, the Black homeownership rate in Leon County was approximately 40%, while the rate for white residents was around 70% (U.S. Census data, 2019). Nationally, the Black homeownership rate was 42.1% in 2019, compared to 73.3% for white Americans (USAFacts, 2019). This indicates that Leon County's Black homeownership rate was slightly below the national average at that time. While these figures highlight persistent disparities resulting from historical segregation and discriminatory housing policies, they also underscore the need for continued efforts to promote equitable homeownership opportunities within the community. Leon County's goal is to meet and exceed the national average for Black homeownership through targeted initiatives and community support programs.

These disparities underscore the continued economic challenges faced by Black residents in historically marginalized communities. Black residents were often denied access to home loans and mortgages, which prevented them from purchasing property (a primary mechanism for building wealth). Additionally, Works Progress Administration (WPA) records indicate that neighborhoods were segregated by race, with Black communities relegated to less desirable areas. This segregation was often enforced through restrictive covenants and zoning laws and restricted access to mortgages and insurance for residents in predominantly black neighborhoods, limiting their ability to accumulate wealth through homeownership.

History of Economic Disparity in Leon County

In Leon County, local restrictive covenants have historically contributed to the segregation of neighborhoods. These covenants, which were agreements embedded in property deeds to prevent the sale of property to Black individuals and other minorities, created racially homogeneous communities and exacerbated wealth disparities. For example, developers of neighborhoods that utilized Federal Housing Administration grants were required to include restrictive covenants to ban minorities from owning property within certain communities. While the U.S. Supreme Court ruled racial covenants unconstitutional in 1948 and the Federal Fair Housing Act of 1968 prohibited discrimination concerning the sale, rental, and financing of housing based on race, religion, national origin, or sex, some discriminatory language in property deeds and covenants have persisted. Therefore, in 2020, the Florida Legislature enacted a law that allowed for the removal of such language from property documents. This legislation acknowledged historical inequities and aligned with ongoing efforts at the County to foster a more inclusive and equitable community.

Additionally, federal urban renewal policies beginning in the 1950s disproportionately impacted black neighborhoods and displaced more than 300,000 families across the country. In Leon County, eminent domain and urban renewal projects in the 1950s and 1960s occurred in Smokey Hollow, a black community that was located in present day Cascades Park near downtown Tallahassee. Eminent domain forced residents from their homes with insufficient compensation, preventing them from purchasing comparable properties and halting the intergenerational transfer of wealth, which disrupted racial wealth equity and wealth accumulation for Black families. This displacement scattered the community, fractured social networks crucial for economic stability, and relocated families to less desirable areas with fewer economic opportunities and lower property values. These factors, coupled with poorer educational and employment prospects in the new neighborhoods, entrenched economic disparities and limited the ability of subsequent generations to accumulate and transfer wealth, perpetuating racial inequities in Leon County.

Further, discriminatory lending practices, such as those seen in the subprime mortgage crisis, disproportionately affected minority communities, leading to higher foreclosure rates and financial instability nationally. According to the National Low Income Housing Coalition, during the subprime mortgage crisis of 2008, Black and Hispanic borrowers were 70% more likely to experience foreclosure than their white counterparts. A 2008 Leon County Housing Finance Authority report cited evident disparities within Leon County. For instance, during the same period, foreclosure rates among Black and Hispanic homeowners were significantly higher than those of their white counterparts, with local data showing that minority borrowers were nearly twice as likely to face foreclosure.

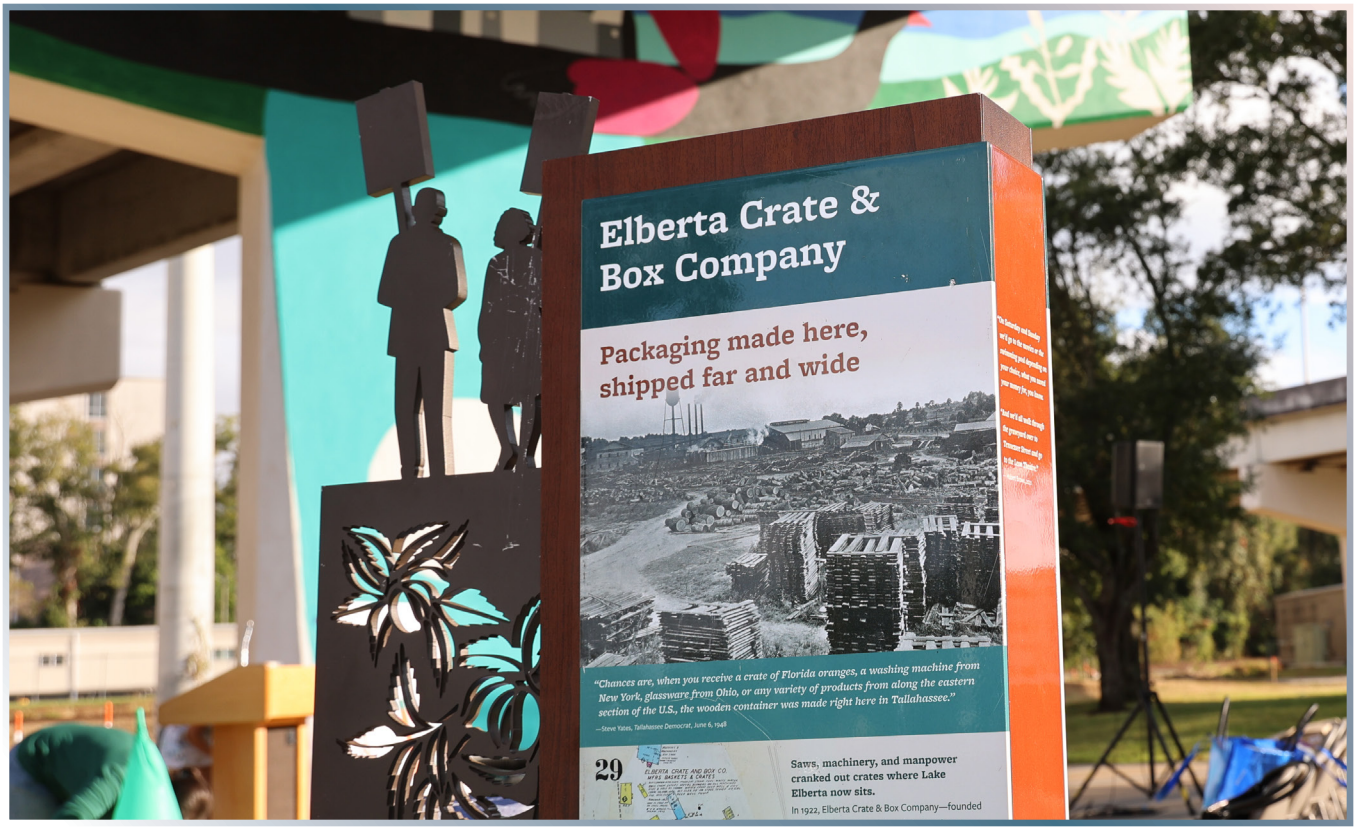
Additionally, wage disparities and employment discrimination have consistently hindered wealth accumulation for minorities. According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Black Americans earn approximately 84 cents for every dollar earned by white Americans, and Hispanic Americans earn about 76 cents for every dollar earned by their white counterparts, even when controlling for education and experience, perpetuating a cycle of economic disadvantage.

A 2021 Tallahassee-Leon County Planning Department report highlighted that Black residents in Leon County earn approximately 80 cents for every dollar earned by white residents, further exacerbating economic inequities, as indicated by data from the U.S. Census Bureau's American Community Survey. Additionally, white, non-Hispanic households had 10 times more wealth than Black households according to the U.S. Census Bureau. In Tallahassee, this wealth gap is evident in homeownership rates, with white households almost twice as likely to own their homes compared to Black households, deepening the economic divide as outlined in the Tallahassee-Leon County Planning Department's 2021 report.

Impacts of Economic Disparities in Education

In education, a lack of wealth equity and unequal opportunities can impact students in low-income areas, affecting job prospects and earning potential. The Leon County School District has a majority minority student population with approximately 40% white, 45% Black, 11% Hispanic, and 5% Asian students, while the overall population of Tallahassee is 54% white, 30% Black, 8%

Hispanic, and 4% Asian. Within the Leon County School District, over half of the schools were considered Title 1 in 2021, which means about 40 percent of students in the district come from low-income households. Many of these schools are in minority communities that have experienced historic economic disinvestment. Students at these Title I schools also have higher utilization rates of free or reduced lunch. Children who receive Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) benefits automatically qualify for free and reduced lunch through the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services. In addition, children may be eligible for free and reduced lunch if their families are earning at or below current Income Eligibility Guidelines established by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. In 2024, to qualify for free or reduced-price meals, families needed to be at or below 130% and 185% of the Federal Poverty Guidelines, respectively. Therefore, higher percentages of students receiving free or reduced lunch may signal economic hardship among their student populations.



These disparities in demographic distribution and economic indicators reflect an educational landscape where students from underserved communities in the County face challenges that impact job prospects and earning potential. This educational gap can affect long-term outcomes, as individuals from these communities may be less likely to access higher-paying jobs that require advanced degrees.

Promoting Financial Equity in Leon County

Leon County, along with local partners, are actively addressing economic disparities and promoting financial equity through targeted initiatives. The Tallahassee-Leon County Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) plays a significant role by fostering economic growth and supporting minority- and women-owned businesses with funding opportunities, resources, and business development programs. These efforts include strategic investments in local economic projects and partnerships aimed at building an inclusive economy that provides equitable opportunities for all residents. Workforce development initiatives, carried out in collaboration with educational institutions and training centers, equip residents with skills and certifications needed for higher-paying jobs, thus helping to reduce income disparities. The County is also involved in affordable housing efforts, working alongside housing authorities and nonprofits to increase access to affordable housing and address wealth gaps reflected in homeownership rates.

Additionally, the Capital City Chamber of Commerce, in partnership with financial institutions, is working to offer financial literacy programs that empower residents by providing essential knowledge on budgeting, saving, and investing through its Financial Literacy Initiative. These comprehensive efforts underscore Leon County's commitment to promoting sustainable economic growth and equity across its communities.

A Strategic Tool to Address Inequities

Leon County is committed to creating a more equitable future for all its residents by actively addressing these systemic issues through ongoing initiatives, including its participation in the CityStart initiative, that enhance financial security, expand access to financial services, and support entrepreneurship. These efforts aim to break the cycle of poverty and build a foundation for sustained economic growth and wealth accumulation.

As previously indicated, a critical component of the CityStart initiative is the development of this Financial Empowerment Blueprint, which outlines goals and strategies to enhance financial security and racial wealth equity within the community.

As outlined in the next section, the process for developing the Financial Empowerment Blueprint involved extensive stakeholder engagement and the evaluation of existing strategic plans to understand how to overcome historic inequities and promote financial security.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AND EXISTING EFFORTS

The County, City, and Capital City Chamber conducted community engagement throughout the Blueprint development process. After the County received the CityStart Grant, the County worked with CFE Fund staff to conduct four stakeholder engagement sessions in Leon County. Stakeholders in this initiative included a diverse range of local business owners, financial institutions, nonprofit housing developers, and other interested partners (Appendix 2). These stakeholders met to discuss community needs, including improved access to housing, healthcare, financial resources, and employment opportunities. Preliminary priority areas were identified based on feedback from the stakeholder engagement sessions and local government planning documents to ensure that the initiatives reflected the most pressing needs of the community. These areas were chosen because they directly impact economic stability, community well-being, and the ability to reduce poverty and promote equitable growth, aligning with the goals of enhancing financial security and addressing systemic challenges.

The priority areas were presented in breakout sessions at the Financial Empowerment Summit in September 2023. The Financial Empowerment Summit focused on the community's financial landscape and was an opportunity to engage with additional stakeholders and community members. Breakout sessions at the Summit focused on the following five preliminary priority areas, where participants provided verbal and written feedback about local financial empowerment opportunities and current gaps in service.

- Youth Income & Economic Mobility Category: This category aims to provide young people with opportunities to increase their income and improve their economic prospects. This includes access to financial services and education, job training programs, internships, and entrepreneurial education.
- Adult Income & Economic Mobility Category: Similar to the youth-focused initiatives, this category's solutions target adults, increasing access to financial services, job placement services, continuing education opportunities, and support for career advancement.
- Social Wellness & Support Category: This category encompasses a broad range of services designed to support the overall well-being of individuals and families. It includes mental health services, substance-use treatment, family counseling, and access to healthcare.
- Housing and Residential Security Category: This category includes programing that assists with down payments, home repair and rehabilitation, weatherization, and housing counseling to help residents secure long-term housing stability.
- Minority Small Business Economic Mobility Category: This category focuses on providing minority-owned small businesses with the resources and opportunities they need to grow and succeed. It includes access to grants and loans, business development training, mentorship programs, and support for securing contracts and expanding market reach. These efforts help minority entrepreneurs overcome systemic barriers, build wealth, and contribute to their communities' economic vitality.

The Financial Empowerment Summit reinforced several key insights regarding the community's needs and priorities for promoting economic growth and financial security. A common theme throughout the discussions was the critical need for community awareness and access to information and resources to achieve financial empowerment. Additionally, participants emphasized the importance of creating pathways for wealth accumulation, particularly for historically underserved communities. By continuing to focus on these key areas, Leon County has developed a comprehensive approach to financial empowerment, fostering an environment where all residents can build wealth and achieve economic security.

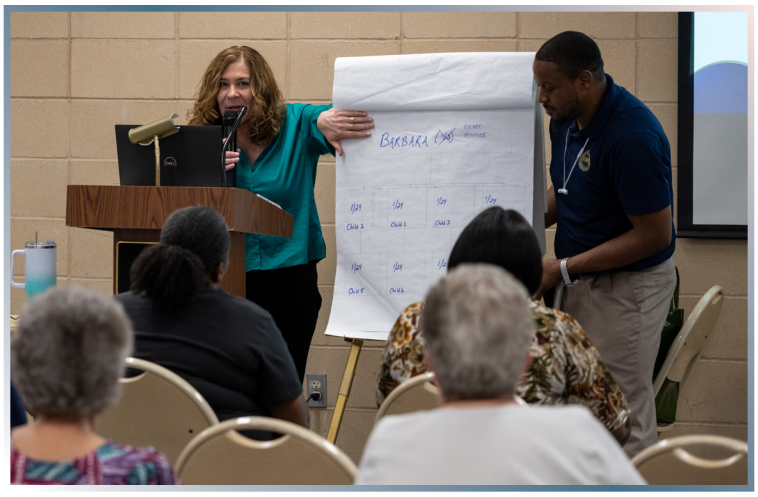
Furthermore, an analysis of existing strategic planning efforts including Neighborhood First Plans and other local initiatives was conducted to identify financial empowerment strategies that had already been prioritized by residents (Appendix 1). The City's Neighborhood First initiative assisted residents in developing and implementing strategic neighborhood plans to improve the social and economic outlook of targeted neighborhoods. These plans reflect the priorities of the neighborhoods, developed after extensive engagement with residents, and include strategies to reduce crime, enhance the quality of life, and increase economic prosperity. Other initiatives include the Breaking Bread Together community meetings, which identified barriers to food security and connected residents with essential resources; the FAMU Federal Credit Union SmartSteps Microloan Program, which has distributed more than $1 million in loans to Black, minority, and women-owned businesses; and Bank On Tallahassee, which was created to connect unbanked and underbanked individuals to safe and appropriate financial products and services.

The information from the initial meetings, plan evaluations, and breakout sessions identified a crucial theme in financial empowerment efforts: enhancing awareness of and access to available resources.

This theme is addressed through the following three priority areas:

- Housing & Residential Security Solutions
- Social Wellness & Support Services
- Financial Education & Business Management Resources

The identification of the priority areas was strongly informed by stakeholder findings, Neighborhood First plans, and the ongoing work of the Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Steering Committee, an initiative to connect human service providers and residents of the neighborhoods for greater awareness and access to available resources. Insights gained from these efforts emphasized the most urgent needs of the community.



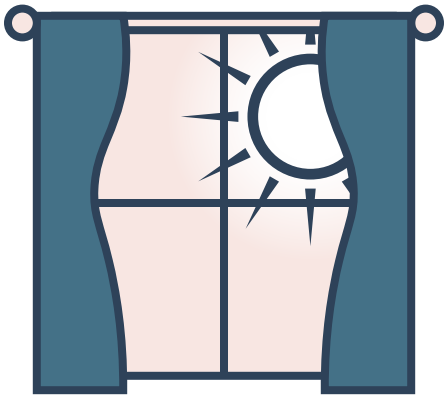
During neighborhood engagement sessions and housing services workshops, residents consistently highlighted housing stability as a critical issue, particularly in the face of rising housing costs and a lack of affordable options. Additionally, the Trusted People Committee identified social wellness as essential for improving overall quality of life, citing a need for increased access to mental health services, substance abuse programs, and community-based support networks. The committee also played an instrumental role in gathering feedback and inviting community members to stakeholder engagement sessions to ensure that the voices of residents and neighborhood leaders were included in shaping these priorities. These efforts provided invaluable insights into the most urgent needs of our community.

The emphasis on financial education arose from stakeholder feedback emphasizing the need for long-term economic empowerment. Many community members expressed concerns about financial education, resource access, and sustainable wealth-building opportunities. This aligns with broader findings from the Neighborhood First initiative, where residents voiced the importance of equipping individuals and families with financial independence and resilience tools. These priorities were further echoed in our engagement with local leaders, who noted the lack of accessible financial services in underserved areas.

In terms of access, the Blueprint prioritizes the availability and accessibility of services and solutions to those who need them most. The strategies identify barriers to access, including geographical, economic, or informational, and how to address those barriers head-on. As such, each of the selected priority areas will be designed with inclusivity in mind, ensuring that every resident, particularly those in historically marginalized communities, can fully benefit from these resources and initiatives.

To effectively tackle these issues, it is essential to recognize the interconnected nature of these areas and how they collectively contribute to financial empowerment. By focusing on these priority areas, Leon County created a comprehensive strategy that not only addresses immediate needs but also paves the way for long-term economic stability and growth for all residents.

FINANCIAL EMPOWERMENT PRIORITIES AND STRATEGIES



While many programs and initiatives to promote financial empowerment exist, increased awareness of these resources is needed to ensure their effectiveness. The Blueprint prioritizes expanding access to services by focusing on housing and residential security solutions, social wellness and support services, and financial education and management resources. By addressing these underlying factors and confronting barriers to financial empowerment, Leon County can work toward building a more inclusive and equitable community where every resident can thrive.

The following sections will delve into each of these priority areas, providing more context to the specific priority and outlining specific strategies, initiatives, and success stories that illustrate how Leon County is making strides toward financial empowerment and racial wealth equity.

Leon County's Financial Empowerment Blueprint focuses on enhancing existing access to services to promote financial empowerment through three priority areas with the following goals. Through current Strategic Initiatives and existing partnerships, the County and its partners are implementing the subsequent strategies to achieve these goals.

- Housing and Residential Security Solutions
  - » Goal: Increase the inventory of safe and sanitary affordable housing for low-income individuals and families.
- Social Wellness and Support Services
  - » Goal: Expand the social safety net by increasing access to resources and services to enhance the quality of life of citizens.
- Financial Education and Management Resources
  - » Goal: Expand access to safe and affordable financial services for citizens and businesses to promote financial stability and resources and enhance intergenerational wealth.

Housing and Residential Security Solutions

Housing insecurity is a significant barrier to wealth accumulation in Leon County, particularly for marginalized communities. Historic discriminatory housing practices, coupled with a shortage of affordable housing alternatives, perpetuate housing insecurity and homelessness. Without secure and stable housing, individuals and families struggle to build wealth, establish roots in the community, and achieve long-term financial security. Lower Black homeownership rates and the racial wealth gap stand as reminders of the enduring legacy of historical inequities, including lingering barriers related to historic policies.

Within Leon County, the issue of heirs' property significantly impacts Black families. Heirs' property refers to land or homes that are inherited without a formal will or proper documentation, often through generations, leaving multiple descendants with divided ownership interests. This type of property ownership creates significant challenges for families, as it complicates the process of transferring wealth and capitalizing on the economic opportunities associated with property ownership. Without clear legal title, families face barriers to selling the property, securing loans, or accessing government assistance programs for home improvements.

The impact of heirs' property on racial wealth equity is profound. For example, in the southeastern United States, it is estimated that heirs' property accounts for over a third of Black-owned land, amounting to millions of acres. This phenomenon limits families' ability to build generational wealth and undermines efforts to achieve economic advancement. In rural areas, the inability to leverage property equity can prevent families from investing in education, starting businesses, or making significant home improvements. In urban settings, it can impede redevelopment efforts and diminish neighborhood revitalization initiatives.

Assisting residents to obtain a clear legal title is essential for municipalities to implement targeted community development strategies that promote homeownership and wealth accumulation. For instance, the Center for Heirs' Property Preservation has worked extensively in South Carolina to help families resolve title issues, thereby unlocking economic potential and preserving family legacies. By addressing heirs' property challenges, Leon County can support families in achieving financial stability and fostering economic mobility, thereby contributing to a more equitable and prosperous community for all residents.

Further, the lack of foundational wealth provided by homeownership severely hampers Black entrepreneurs' ability to access capital and resources necessary for business development. According to the Federal Reserve's 2021 Small Business Credit Survey, Black-owned firms were more likely to report difficulties in accessing credit and were twice as likely to be turned down for loans compared to white-owned firms. This is largely due to the lower homeownership rates among Black families, which reduces their ability to leverage home equity for business loans.

With secure and affordable housing, it becomes easier for individuals and families to accumulate wealth, establish a solid foundation in the community, and attain comprehensive financial security.

For example, Black renters experience significantly higher eviction rates compared to their white counterparts. Nationally, Black renters have an average eviction filing rate of 6.2% and an eviction judgment rate of 3.4%. In contrast, white renters have an average filing rate of 3.4% and a judgment rate of 2.0% (Eviction Lab, 2023; Center for American Progress, 2021). Additionally, Black and Hispanic renter households were more than twice as likely to be behind on housing payments and at risk of eviction during the COVID-19 pandemic compared to white renter households (Joint Center for Housing Studies, 2021). These disparities highlight the systemic issues that contribute to housing instability among minority communities, which in turn disrupts children's education and perpetuates cycles of poverty and inequality. In Leon County, similar disparities exist, particularly in areas within the 32304 zip code, where the poverty rate is one of the highest in the state. Specifically, Leon County's five census tracts with family household poverty rates of more than 40% are within the 32304 zip code. The U.S. Census considers census tracts with an overall poverty rate of 30% or more as high poverty areas. Additionally, according to U.S. Census data, neighborhoods within the 32304 zip code have the lowest percentage of home ownership (11.6%), lowest median household income ($21,862), and the lowest average home values ($177,459) compared to other Leon County zip codes. These disparities have led to years-long efforts by the County to address racial wealth equity within the communities of 32304.

Existing initiatives aimed at increasing homeownership rates among Black families in Leon County, such as down payment assistance programs and affordable housing developments, are essential in addressing these systemic inequities and fostering a more inclusive economy. Without generational wealth, families may face housing instability, leading to frequent moves and disruptions in children's education. This instability is exacerbated by the disproportionately high eviction rates faced by minority communities.

Homeownership is critical to wealth accumulation because it provides a stable asset that can appreciate over time, offering a foundation for financial security and economic mobility. According to the Federal Reserve's Survey of Consumer Finances, homeowners have a median net worth nearly 40 times greater than renters. This disparity underscores the importance of homeownership as a key driver of wealth. Moreover, a study by the Urban Institute found that homeownership significantly contributes to the intergenerational transmission of wealth, enabling families to pass down financial benefits to future generations. Additionally, home equity can be leveraged for essential investments such as education, business ventures, and home improvements, further enhancing financial stability and growth. In Leon County, increasing access to homeownership for underserved communities is addressing historical inequities and creating pathways for sustained wealth accumulation and economic advancement.

Local Context

Housing and Residential Security:

- Housing Affordability: The 2023 Tallahassee Housing Market Analysis found that 40% of renters in Leon County spend more than 30% of their income on housing, a situation that disproportionately affects Black and Hispanic families. This high cost of housing leaves little room for savings and wealth accumulation.
- Heirs' Property Issues: Local case studies from the Leon County Clerk of Courts and Comptroller indicate that heirs' property disputes are common in the Frenchtown area, where many Black families inherited land without clear titles. This has resulted in legal challenges that prevent these families from fully utilizing their property for wealth-building purposes.

Goal

Increase the inventory of safe and sanitary affordable housing for low-income individuals and families.

Strategies

1. Support the housing rehabilitation and emergency repair programs to preserve affordable housing units.
   - Catalog Existing Programs: 2-1-1 Big Bend maintains a database of existing and available programs, including the County's housing rehabilitation and emergency repair programs. In addition, human service agencies that receive County funding must coordinate with 2-1-1 Big Bend to ensure that program information is included in the database. This effort ensures that residents have easy access to up-to-date resources and assistance services.
   - Enhance Outreach: Develop a targeted outreach campaign in coordination with the Trusted People Neighborhood Steering Committee to ensure that residents in underserved communities are aware of and can access these programs, including community meetings, flyer distribution at local schools, and social media campaigns.
   - Process Improvement: Review and streamline the application process for County programs to make them more accessible. This could include simplifying forms, offering application assistance, and reducing turnaround times for repairs.
2. Expand opportunities to provide educational workshops and legal assistance to alleviate heirs' property issues, support wealth building, and encourage home maintenance.
   - Partnership Development: Partner with organizations like Legal Services of North Florida and the Center for Heirs' Property Preservation to offer recurring workshops on heirs' property issues. Workshops could include legal information, opportunities to help families clear title issues, and resources for home maintenance.
   - Resource Creation: Strategies identified in the City's Neighborhood First Plans, such as the development of toolkits for residents that includes information on legal resources, steps for clearing property titles, and best practices for home maintenance.
   - Community Engagement: Continue to host community forums to discuss heirs' property challenges and gather input on additional support needs.
3. Support initiatives to increase affordable homeownership opportunities.
   - Process Development: Continue to engage the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee and other stakeholders to evaluate and enhance Leon County's Homeownership Development Program and other housing initiatives.
   - Program Expansion: Explore opportunities to develop additional programs aimed at increasing affordable homeownership opportunities, including leveraging funding through the HUD PRO Housing grant.
   - Capacity Building: Work with the Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium and other partners to expand access to affordable mortgages and financial education programs.

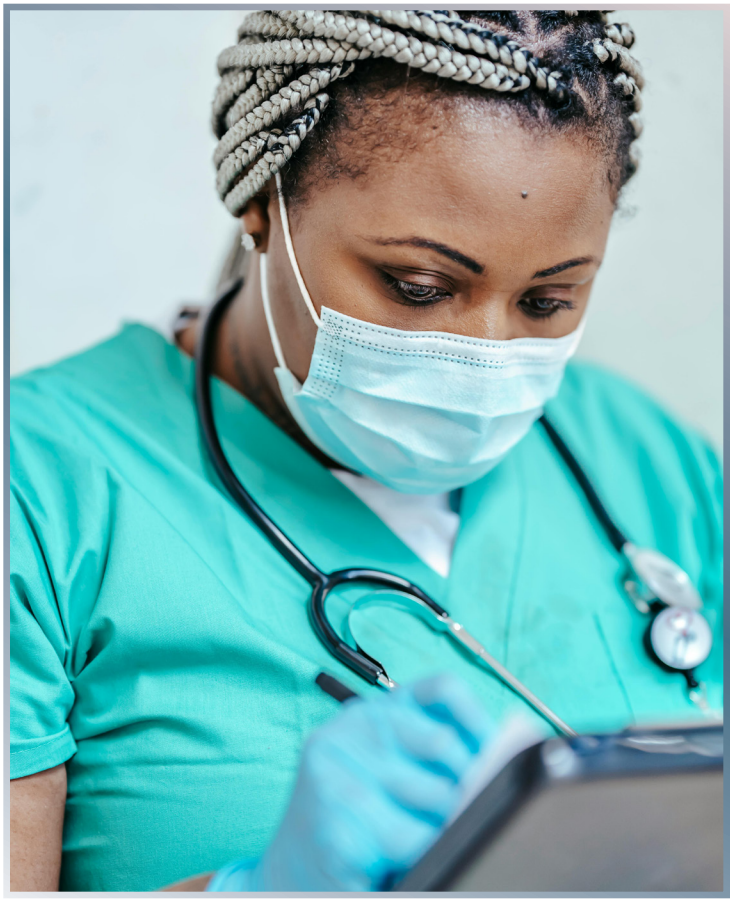
Social Wellness and Support Services

Generational wealth, which includes assets such as homeownership, savings, investments, and other valuable resources passed down from one generation to the next, plays a crucial role in breaking the cycle of poverty and providing families with a financial head start. This wealth allows families to invest in education, start businesses, and secure better housing, all of which contribute to long-term financial stability and upward mobility. Children who inherit even modest amounts of wealth are more likely to achieve higher levels of education, secure better-paying jobs, and build more substantial wealth themselves. A 2019 report by the Brookings Institute highlights that the median wealth of white families is 10 times greater than that of Black families, largely due to historical and ongoing barriers to building and transferring generational wealth.

However, the lack of generational wealth can severely limit access to critical resources, hinder social mobility, and jeopardize financial security. Without inherited assets, individuals and communities often struggle to access quality education, healthcare, and housing. This deficit makes it challenging to accumulate wealth and escape the cycle of poverty. In such scenarios, social wellness and support services become essential for bridging the gap.

In communities with high levels of poverty, like those in Leon County, a significant number of residents frequently lack access to these vital social wellness and support services. This lack exacerbates difficulties associated with community resilience, social cohesion, and mental health. Additionally, the absence of financial security can result in increased stress and mental health issues, further hindering individuals' ability to thrive and contribute to their communities. The lack of adequate access to mental health services, social support networks, and community resources can significantly hinder the capacity of individuals to manage financial stressors, navigate through life transitions, and establish robust social connections.

A lack of access to services can also lead to negative health outcomes. In Leon County, a devastating example of this is poor maternal healthcare and infant mortality rates in part due to a lack of prenatal and postpartum care. Between 2018 and 2020, the infant mortality rate of Black women was 12.6 deaths per 1,000 births compared to five deaths per 1,000 births for their white counterparts in the Capital City Healthy Start program. In community conversations, several organization and individuals have indicated that part of the barrier for women to access the necessary healthcare for themselves and their babies was due to the inability to secure transportation to appointments.



Moreover, providing mental health services, establishing social support networks, and championing community-based organizations can augment residents' social well-being and resilience, cultivating an environment conducive to financial empowerment. Local government and community partners are supporting these efforts by expanding transportation options, creating more robust information sharing to ease access to services, and promoting existing resources. The Blueprint provides a framework to expand the social safety and improve access to essential resources and services.

Local Context

The 2023 Leon County Health Equity Assessment reveals that Black residents in Leon County face higher rates of chronic illness such as hypertension and diabetes, with 35% of Black adults diagnosed with hypertension compared to 22% of white adults. Additionally, Black residents are more likely to be uninsured and have less access to healthcare services, which further exacerbates health outcomes and economic disparities. These health indicators reflect the interconnectedness of wealth, access to resources, and overall well-being in the community.

Goal

Expand the social safety net by increasing access to resources and services to enhance the quality of life of citizens.

Strategies

1. Enhance partnership with the 2-1-1 Big Bend Lyft Program to expand transportation access, including for those in Leon County's rural areas.
   - Coordination: Continue to meet with 2-1-1 Big Bend to discuss the current scope of the Lyft program and identify potential areas for expansion, particularly in rural areas where transportation options are limited.
   - Needs Assessment: Collaborate with local community leaders, residents, and community organizations in rural areas to understand specific transportation needs.
   - Program Expansion: Provide dedicated funding to 2-1-1 Big Bend for the Lyft Program to expand service provision through increased trips. Monitor the number of trips, including in unincorporated Leon County, to determine how residents are engaging with the program, including the services they are accessing through Lyft rides.
2. Strategically promote existing programs, such as the Leon County Primary Healthcare Program and enrollment information, to reach the most vulnerable, including those impacted by the digital divide.
   - Community Engagement: Organize in-person outreach events in communities heavily impacted by the digital divide. This could include participation in community meetings and events, door-to-door outreach through the Trusted People Neighborhood Steering Committee, and partnerships with local organizations to distribute information.
3. Collaborate with healthcare and mental health providers, including Federally Qualified Health Centers (FQHCs), to address community needs and provide access to primary, mental, and dental care, ensuring comprehensive health and human services are available.
   - Regular Meetings: Participate in quarterly meetings with key healthcare and mental health providers to discuss ongoing needs, challenges, and opportunities for collaboration based on the latest Community Health Assessments created by Capital Area Healthy Start, Tallahassee Memorial Healthcare, and the Department of Health.
   - Catalog Existing Programs: 2-1-1 Big Bend maintains a database of existing and available programs, including the County's health and human services programs. In addition, health and human service agencies that receive County funding must coordinate with

2-1-1 Big Bend to ensure that program information is included in the database. This effort ensures that residents have easy access to up-to-date resources and assistance services.

4. Develop a Community Information Exchange platform in partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend, the City of Tallahassee, United Way of the Big Bend, the Children's Services Council of Leon County, and other key stakeholders.

   - Platform Development: Convene a working group of program specialists, community organizations, and end-users to explore the feasibility of a Community Information Exchange platform. This group will assess the functionality of a central hub, how it can best serve the community, and the challenges of maintaining and updating the exchange. The goal is to ensure the platform, if implemented, is practical, user-friendly, and accessible across various devices, while also addressing the complexities of keeping the information current and relevant.
   - Data Integration: Partner with 2-1-1 Big Bend to integrate data from other organizations into the platform, including client data, eligibility criteria, and program availability.
   - Promotion and Training: Partner with 2-1-1 Big Bend to promote the platform, including training sessions for community organizations and residents on how to use the platform effectively.

Potential Partners

- 2-1-1 Big Bend
- Children's Services Council of Leon County
- Health and Human Service Providers
- United Way of the Big Bend

Financial Education and Management Resources

The intricate relationship between income inequality and social mobility comes sharply into focus in Leon County. The National Bureau of Economic Research found that higher levels of income inequality within a community are associated with lower levels of economic mobility. This means that children of highly paid individuals are more likely to remain highly paid, while children of low-paid individuals are more likely to stay in low-earning positions. Additionally, education emerges as a crucial mechanism driving economic mobility. According to a study by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development, there is a correlation between low educational scores in math, reading, and science and income inequality. In Leon County, disparities in academic achievement mirror the broader income inequality, potentially limiting opportunities for upward economic mobility among marginalized communities.

Similarly, numerous residents encounter obstacles when attempting to obtain comprehensive financial management resources, with marginalized communities particularly affected. A lack of access to services impedes the ability to plan for long-term economic stability, make informed financial decisions, and effectively manage debt. Inadequate assistance and direction may also hinder individuals' ability to navigate intricate financial systems, thereby contributing to the continuation of cycles of economic vulnerability and inequality.

A recent survey of physical locations of financial institutions highlighted that historically Black neighborhoods in Leon County, such as Frenchtown, have fewer or no banking options but are saturated with high-interest lenders. According to a 2019 report by the Tallahassee-Leon County Planning Department, there are significantly fewer bank branches in these neighborhoods compared to predominantly white areas. In contrast, these neighborhoods have an abundance of payday lenders and check-cashing services, which often charge exorbitant interest rates. This disparity limits access to capital and safe lending institutions, perpetuating financial insecurity and hindering economic mobility. Additionally, there is a positive correlation between bank branch presence in low-income neighborhoods and mortgage loan originations, which not only supports home ownership but also is associated with greater availability of credit. Additionally, according to Pew Charitable Trusts, although Black Americans make up only 13.6 percent of the US population, Black consumers represent 23 percent of storefront payday loan customers.

To address these financial disparities, the Capital City Chamber, in partnership with the County and City, launched the Bank On Tallahassee initiative in September 2022. Bank On Tallahassee aims to provide underserved communities with access to safe and affordable banking services. By providing access to safe and affordable certified checking and transaction accounts, coupled with financial education, Bank On Tallahassee aims to improve financial stability among residents. The coalition focuses on building programmatic partnerships to expand banking access while complementing these efforts with initiatives that help residents build credit, manage debt, and save for the future. To date, the program has engaged more than 1,000 residents through financial management workshops and individual counseling sessions, empowering them to achieve greater financial resilience.

Leon County's 32304 zip code is often highlighted as one of the most economically challenged areas in Florida, characterized by high poverty rates and limited access to resources. The area is home to a significant portion of the student population due to its proximity to Florida State University and Florida A&M University, but it also includes many long-term residents who face economic hardship. Current efforts by the County to address these challenges include targeted economic development projects, community revitalization programs, and partnerships with local organizations aimed at improving financial literacy and access to resources.

Additionally, in coordination and partnership with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce and FAMU Federal Credit Union, in 2021, Leon County Government launched the SmartSteps microloan program through the Tallahassee-Leon County Office Economic Vitality (OEV). To date, more than $1 million in loans has been distributed to 51 Black-, minority-, and women-owned businesses through the SmartSteps microloan program, with more than $261,525 directed to businesses within the 32304 zip code.

Enhancing the availability of financial management resources through community-based programs, seminars, and online platforms will provide more opportunities to connect with underserved communities. By investing in financial education initiatives, such as Bank On Tallahassee, as well as social supports that prioritize marginalized communities, Leon County is building economic growth, narrowing the income gap, and creating a more equitable environment where every individual can thrive and realize their full potential.

Local Context

- Income Disparities: According to the 2023 Tallahassee-Leon County Economic Vitality Report, the median household income for Black families in Leon County is $34,000, significantly lower than the $65,000 median for white families. This income disparity mirrors national trends and highlights the local impact of systemic inequality.

Goal

Expand access to safe and affordable financial services for citizens and businesses to promote financial stability and resources and enhance intergenerational wealth.

Strategies

1. Support the integration of financial education and banking access within existing youth employment programs.
    - » Program Analysis: Evaluate current financial education and banking access within County youth employment programs, including Summer Youth and Junior Apprenticeship.
    - » Integration of Financial Education and Banking Access: In partnership with Bank On Tallahassee, collaborate with local banks, credit unions, and financial education nonprofits to design financial education modules that can be integrated into County youth employment programs. Additionally, build in opportunities for safe banking access, such as certified account openings, to ensure youth not only gain financial knowledge but also have access to secure, affordable banking services to support their financial stability and growth.
    - » Community Collaboration: Collaborate with other providers of youth employment programs, including the City of Tallahassee and the Children's Services Council of Leon County, to share information about outcomes and best practices to enhance each program.
2. Explore the development of a Financial Empowerment Center.
    - » Initial Planning Phase: Participate in Phase 1 of the Cities for Financial Empowerment Fund Financial Empowerment Center Academy, led by the Capital City Chamber of Commerce, to explore the feasibility of opening a financial empowerment center in Leon County.
3. Support the Bank On Tallahassee initiative via collaboration, resource support, and integration into existing programs to increase access to certified checking and transaction accounts by building programmatic partnerships between local financial institutions and community-serving programs, and encourage saving, investing, and financial counseling to further enhance financial stability for residents.
    - » Partnership Coordination: Through Bank On Tallahassee, coordinate community discussions with key partners, including libraries, community centers, and financial institutions, to discuss and plan the integration of banking access and financial education into existing programs and services.

- Program Implementation: In partnership with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce, continue to develop a series of workshops and events focused on financial education and credit building.
- Collaborative Meetings: Meet regularly with the Bank On Tallahassee team to integrate their services into existing County programs. This includes exploring ways to incorporate Bank On materials into youth employment programs, financial literacy workshops, and community events.

Bank On Tallahassee, having participated in the Bank On Academy, is also a recipient of the Capacity Grant from the Cities for Financial Empowerment (CFE) Fund, which supports the coalition's leadership and expansion efforts.

- Resource Allocation: County staff supports the ongoing expansion of Bank On Tallahassee's outreach, particularly in underserved communities. The CFE Fund's Capacity Grant is currently providing critical capacity-building support, helping to increase the number of certified accounts and developing new programmatic integrations. County support will focus on amplifying these efforts through promotion and technical support.
- Awareness Campaign: A targeted awareness campaign, led by the Capital City Chamber of Commerce, will inform residents, especially those in areas with high rates of unbanked or underbanked individuals, about the benefits of the Bank On initiative. This campaign will complement the ongoing efforts funded by the CFE Capacity Grant, ensuring that more residents gain access to safe and affordable banking options.

4. Support the Capital City Chamber of Commerce in creating a comprehensive small business development pipeline to increase access to resources and capital for businesses, including the assessment of current resources and barriers.

- Resource Assessment: Conduct a thorough assessment of the current resources available to small businesses in Leon County, including financial services, mentorship opportunities, and educational programs.
- Capital Readiness Program: Capital City Chamber of Commerce in partnership with the Tallahassee-Leon County Office of Economic Vitality and Florida A&M University Small Business Development Center to design and promote a small business development pipeline that addresses these barriers and guides businesses through the stages of growth, from startup to expansion.
- Pilot Initiative: The Capital City Chamber of Commerce will explore the launch of a pilot program that focuses on one key area of the pipeline, such as access to capital or mentorship.
- Outreach and Engagement: Continue the comprehensive outreach strategy to connect small businesses with the resources available through the pipeline (See Appendix 4).
- Tracking and Evaluation: Continue to monitor how many small businesses are connected to resources via the pipeline.

Potential Partners

- Children's Services Council of Leon County
- FAMU Federal Credit Union Smart Steps Program
- Florida A&M University Small Business Development Center
- Greater Tallahassee Chamber of Commerce

Ongoing Community Feedback

Following the development of the priority areas, stakeholders presented financial empowerment priorities and subsequent strategies at a neighborhood meeting that included the Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Committee. The meeting focused on existing financial empowerment efforts, opportunities to enhance current initiatives, and answered questions about the financial empowerment plan. Additionally, the community meeting provided information about how the proposed financial strategies correlate to the existing Neighborhood First planning documents created for the Frenchtown, Greater Bond, Griffin Heights, and Providence communities. Community feedback indicated support of the strategies and identified additional partners to support the implementation process (Appendix 3).

To ensure ongoing engagement and alignment with the Neighborhood First Plan efforts, the committee committed to continuous collaboration with neighborhood residents and stakeholders. Regular follow-up meetings and updates will be scheduled to track progress, gather further input, and adjust strategies as needed. This continuous engagement ensures that the financial empowerment strategies remain responsive to community needs and are effectively integrated into the broader goals of the Neighborhood First Plans. By maintaining an open dialogue and fostering strong partnerships, the initiative aims to build a sustainable framework for financial empowerment that benefits all residents, strengthens community ties, and promotes long-term economic resilience in the Frenchtown, Greater Bond, Griffin Heights, and Providence neighborhoods.

Moreover, the continued engagement with the Neighborhood First initiative ties into the broader objectives of addressing poverty and inequity, as outlined in County and City strategic planning documents. For instance, by attending and participating in Neighborhood First meetings, the County can share resources that may address community needs and also utilize feedback to enhance programs. Additionally, efforts to increase homeownership and housing rehabilitation resources, as well as expanding youth employment and educational opportunities, align with strategies identified in the Greater Bond and Griffin Heights Neighborhood First plans. This integrated approach ensures that financial empowerment is not just an isolated effort but part of a comprehensive plan to uplift and sustain the community.

ROLE OF LEON COUNTY

Leon County Government will play a pivotal role in advancing the Financial Empowerment Blueprint. The County's responsibilities will be structured across the following areas:

1. Leadership and Oversight:
   - Departments Involved: The Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships (HSCP) will spearhead the implementation of the Blueprint, with support from additional County departments, including Library Services and the Tallahassee-Leon County Office of Economic Vitality.
   - Senior Leadership: County Administration and the Director of HSCP will provide oversight, ensuring that the Blueprint aligns with the County's Strategic Initiatives and Bold Goals.
2. Community and Stakeholder Engagement
   - The County will continue to convene stakeholders from various sectors, including local businesses, nonprofit organizations, financial institutions, and community groups to ensure ongoing collaboration and alignment of efforts.
   - Ongoing Communication: The County will ensure continuous communication with residents through participation in the City's Neighborhood First meetings and coordination of the Trusted People Neighborhood Steering Committee to gather feedback and make necessary adjustments to programs.
   - Public Information Campaigns: The County, in partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend, will promote available resources and how residents can access those resources.

3. Resource Allocation:
   - Funding: The County will continue to invest in the development of programs and initiatives that support financial security in the community through its ongoing Strategic Initiatives.
   - Grants and Partnerships: The County will continue to seek grant opportunities and form partnerships to expand the reach and impact of its programs.

4. Monitoring and Evaluation:
   - Tracking Progress: The County will continue to track program performance outcomes to monitor and evaluate the progress of each initiative.
   - Reporting: The County will provide reports on the progress of initiatives through strategic plan updates and status reports in accordance with program policies and procedures.

5. Specific Actions Under Each Priority:
   - Housing and Residential Security Solutions: The County will continue to staff the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee, pursue funding opportunities to address barriers to affordable housing, and work closely with local housing authorities and nonprofit developers.
   - Social Wellness and Support Services: The County will continue to coordinate with mental health providers and social service agencies to expand access to critical services, particularly in underserved areas.
   - Financial Education and Management Resources: The County will support the Capital City Chamber of Commerce's efforts to integrate financial education into existing programs, with an emphasis on reaching youth and low-income families through outreach and participation in Bank On Tallahassee meetings.

A PATH FORWARD

Leon County's comprehensive approach, rooted in community engagement and strategic partnerships, exemplifies a committed effort to transform historical challenges into opportunities for growth and empowerment. By incorporating feedback from a diverse range of stakeholders, including local business owners, financial educators, and residents, the County is continually refining its strategies to meet the specific needs of its community. This collaborative approach ensures that programs are relevant and practical, marking a significant shift toward inclusive community development.

Central to the County's strategy is improving access to essential and existing resources that empower its residents with the tools needed for economic stability and growth. This includes increasing housing stability, enhancing social wellness and support services, and bolstering financial management resources.

Housing remains a pivotal area of focus, with initiatives to combat housing insecurity and promote residential stability by fostering policies that encourage fair and secure housing opportunities for all residents. These approaches not only aid in wealth accumulation but also create stable environments for families to thrive. Leon County is enhancing the infrastructure of its support services to address resident well-being.

Recognizing that financial stress can undermine personal and community health, the County is expanding access to mental health services and social support networks. These efforts are crucial to building resilience and enabling residents to pursue financial autonomy without undue stress.

In addition, the County is committed to ensuring residents receive financial education resources by supporting programs, including the Bank On Tallahassee initiative, that provide comprehensive training in budgeting, saving, and investing. These initiatives are designed to equip residents, particularly those from historically marginalized communities, with the knowledge and tools to navigate financial systems effectively and securely.

This Financial Empowerment Blueprint incorporates the County's ongoing goals and strategies aimed at enhancing financial security and promoting racial wealth equity within the community, ultimately connecting shared prosperity moving forward to resiliency. The County recognizes its historical challenges and is committed to transforming them into opportunities for growth and empowerment. By addressing key areas such as financial management, social supports, and housing stability, the County is paving the way for a more inclusive and financially secure future for all of its residents.

3. Support the Bank On Tallahassee initiative via collaboration, resource support, and integration into existing programs to increase access to certified checking and transaction accounts by building programmatic partnerships between local financial institutions and community-serving programs, and encourage saving, investing, and financial counseling to further enhance financial stability for residents.

Implementation Task	Description	Timing
Partnership Coordination	Through Bank On Tallahassee, coordinate community discussions with key partners, including libraries, community centers, and financial institutions, to discuss and plan the integration of banking access and financial education into existing programs and services.	Mid-term
Program Implementation	In partnership with Bank On Tallahassee, collaborate with local banks, credit unions, and financial education nonprofits to design financial education modules that can be integrated into County youth employment programs. Additionally, build in opportunities for safe banking access, such as certified account openings, to ensure youth not only gain financial knowledge but also have access to secure, affordable banking services to support their financial stability and growth.	Long-term
Collaborative Meetings	Meet regularly with the Bank On Tallahassee team to integrate their services into existing County programs. This includes exploring ways to incorporate Bank On materials into youth employment programs, financial literacy workshops, and community events. Bank On Tallahassee, having participated in the Bank On Academy, is also a recipient of the Capacity Grant from the Cities for Financial Empowerment (CFE) Fund, which supports the coalition's leadership and expansion efforts.	Ongoing
Resource Allocation	County staff supports the ongoing expansion of Bank On Tallahassee's outreach, particularly in underserved communities. The CFE Fund's Capacity Grant is currently providing critical capacity-building support, helping to increase the number of certified accounts and developing new programmatic integrations. County support will focus on amplifying these efforts through promotion and technical support.	Ongoing

LEON COUNTY RESOLUTION NO. 24- 11

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the system of slavery and the visceral racism against persons of African descent was entrenched in the Nation's social fabric; and

WHEREAS, slavery was not officially abolished until the passage of the 13th Amendment to the United States Constitution in 1865 after the end of the Civil War; and

WHEREAS, the system of racial segregation known as "Jim Crow," which arose in certain parts of the Nation following the Civil War, was a direct result of the racism against persons of African descent engendered by slavery; and

WHEREAS, at Florida's Constitutional Convention of 1885, the Florida Legislature mandated racial segregation in schools and prohibited interracial marriages which marked the beginning of segregation under Jim Crow in Florida and Leon County; and

WHEREAS, there were at least four documented lynchings in Leon County between 1897 and 1937 – Pierce Taylor, Mick Morris, Ernest Ponder, and Richard Hawkins; and

WHEREAS, a historical marker has been placed under an oak tree at Cascades Park, near the site of the County's old jail, to memorialize the four victims of racially motivated violence; and

WHEREAS, as a result of segregation and limited opportunities afforded to African Americans under Jim Crow, Leon County's African American community established the Smokey Hollow neighborhood, a community of African American families, social organizations, cultural institutions, and businesses in the 1890s; and

WHEREAS, in the 1960s the Smokey Hollow neighborhood was demolished and its residents displaced to make way for public infrastructure; and

WHEREAS, in 2015 the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency constructed the Smokey Hollow commemorative site to tell the story of the Smokey Hollow community; and

WHEREAS, Florida's 1885 Constitution remained in effect until 1968, which enabled the furtherance of separate and unequal societies for whites and African Americans; and

WHEREAS, in 1956, Reverand Dr. Charles Kenzie Steele led the community in organizing the Tallahassee bus boycott, the second major bus boycott in the United States; and

WHEREAS, in the 1960s, members of Leon County's African American community organized lunch counter sit-ins at McCrory's and Woolworth's; and

DocuSign Envelope ID: 7E675C0D-321F-495F-9447-2E06C19D7FE6

WHEREAS, these events have been memorialized through the Tallahassee-Leon County Civil Rights Heritage Walk, a sidewalk memorial constructed in 2013 which tells the story of peaceful protests and demonstrations that sought desegregation and equality in our community; and

WHEREAS, the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 marked a major milestone in the Civil Rights Movement in America; and

WHEREAS, nearly 100 years after emancipation from slavery, Congress approved the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which banned discrimination on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, and national origin.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA, that:

Section 1. Leon County apologizes for the enslavement and segregation of African Americans.

The Board acknowledges the fundamental injustice, cruelty, brutality, and inhumanity of slavery and Jim Crow laws.

The Board apologizes to African Americans, on behalf of the people of Leon County for the wrongs committed against them and their ancestors who suffered under slavery and Jim Crow laws.

The Board expresses its recommitment to the principle that all people are created equal and endowed with inalienable rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

The Board expresses its commitment to recognize the misdeeds committed against African Americans under slavery and Jim Crow, and to work toward eliminating racial prejudices, injustices, and discrimination from our society.

The Board celebrates the strides that our community has made toward racial equality, including the free and fair elections of Leon County Commissioners, Constitutional Officers, and State Delegation Members who represent the diverse population of the electorate.

Leon County Government is honored to be the home of Florida A&M University, the top public Historically Black College and University in the country, for its continued excellence in cultivating Black scholars and leaders within our community.

Leon County Government continues to lead the charge against racial inequality in our words, deeds, and initiatives, like facilitating crucial community dialogue through the Created Equal program, an annual citizen engagement event which connects residents of diverse backgrounds, education, and age to encourage frank conversations on race and racial inequity.

Section 2. Effective Date.

This resolution shall become effective immediately upon its adoption.

DONE, ADOPTED AND PASSED by the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, this 20th day of February, 2024.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #3

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #3

January 22, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Community Value of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Summary:

At its January 8, 2026 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to adopt a community value statement in support of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report on a community value statement in support of diversity, equity, and inclusion and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its January 8, 2026 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to adopt a community value statement in support of diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). As highlighted in the January 22, 2026 Committee item on poverty and inequity, the County has a long history of investing critical resources to improve the quality of life and spur economic prosperity in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities. These efforts have been consistent with state and federal requirements, and do not jeopardize the County's ability to secure critical state and federal funding.

As detailed in the Analysis section, state and federal rules and legislation seek to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that address historic racial disenfranchisement, diversity, equity, and inclusion. While a community value statement expresses a shared belief and is generally considered non-binding, a charter provision supporting DEI may jeopardize the County's future state and federal funding opportunities. Therefore, it is recommended that the Committee not consider the adoption of a community value statement in the County Charter specifically in support of DEI.

Analysis:

The Leon County Charter provides for the structure, organization, and authority of County government. Though the County Charter does not include specific value statements or policy priorities, Section 1 of the Charter provides a Preamble which affirms the broad values and beliefs of County residents as follows:

> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally*, rather than by the State, and that* County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government and in order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government*, do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.* [emphasis added]

The Preamble captures broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule and governmental decisions being made at the local level as well as the role of residents in shaping their local government. The Preamble is intentionally broad so that the County can adapt and respond to new challenges as determined by the elected County Commission. Key provisions of the Preamble include:

- County government should be reflective of the people: This provision addresses representative government which, by definition, must be diverse and inclusive in order to reflect our community.
- Should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government: This provision speaks to public service, fairness and equity in serving the community at large, and rising to the challenges of the day which requires flexibility.

- Empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government: This provision addresses the role of citizens to impose changes to the structure of their government including limiting or expanding the County's authority relative to its citizens and municipal governments.

While the Committee may wish to consider recommending an amendment to the Charter to incorporate a community value statement in support of DEI, ongoing efforts at the state and federal levels threaten to reduce funding to the County for dedicated programs and initiatives in support of DEI. Acknowledging that poverty and inequity continue to exist in our community, the Committee may wish to reinforce specific policy recommendations encouraging Board action to continue its efforts to reduce poverty in the community. A recommendation by the Committee would be included as part of its report for Board consideration.

Federal and State Efforts to Prohibit Policies and Investment Based on Historic Discrimination

Recent and ongoing state and federal actions are focused on prohibiting the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that seek to address historic racial disenfranchisement or DEI. The definition of DEI in Presidential Executive Orders and legislation have generally included employment, policies, programs, and services that "promote or provide preferential treatment or special benefits to a person or group based on race, color, sex, ethnicity, gender identity, or sexual orientation."

At the state level, Florida passed the Individual Freedom Act in 2022 to restrict training related to systemic racism and identity in schools and workplaces. In addition, several bills have been filed for the 2026 Legislative Session that would prohibit local governments from adopting or funding DEI-related policies and programs. The proposed legislation also seeks to void any current DEI policies and programs that are currently in place, remove elected officials from office that violate the prohibition, and authorize residents to sue local governments that adopt, implement and/or fund DEI-related policies and programs.

At the federal level, Executive Order 14173 issued on January 21, 2025, rescinded long-standing federal contractor requirements related to race and gender-based employment and contracting practices. Additionally, several federal departments have begun including language in grant contracts that require recipients to certify that they do not "operate any programs that advance or promote DEI, DEIA (Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Accessibility), or discriminatory equity ideology". As a result of these ongoing state and federal actions, many local governments have been proactive in reducing or eliminating policies, programs, and services that explicitly or implicitly promote DEI. For example, in June 2025, the City of Orlando suspended its Minority, Women Business Enterprise program effective immediately in order to avoid the freeze or claw back of federal grant funds.

In December 2025, the County was awarded a $16.8 million grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation (US DOT) for safety improvements on North Monroe Street. The County is currently coordinating with US DOT on the development of a contract agreement which may impose similar provisions that prohibit DEI-related policies, programs, and services. Therefore, the adoption of the proposed charter amendment is not recommended as it could immediately jeopardize federal funding recently awarded to the County.

Alternative Option for the Charter Review Committee

The County has been successful in addressing poverty and inequities in accordance with state and federal laws based on empirical data and community needs. The County's human services programs are not specific to, or solely intended for, historically disenfranchised populations. However, the programs often support the quality of life and spur economic prosperity for residents in areas generally considered historically disenfranchised.

The Leon County Charter provides for the structure, organization, and authority of County government. Though the County Charter does not include specific programs or provisions related to DEI, Section 1 of the Charter provides a Preamble which affirms the broad values and beliefs of County residents which address fairness, diversity, equity, and inclusion. Acknowledging that poverty and inequity continue to exist in our community, the Committee may wish to provide a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to advancing the quality of life for all residents in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for Board consideration.

Options:

1. Accept the status on a community value statement in support of diversity, equity, and inclusion and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to prepare a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to advancing quality of life for all residents in the community.
3. Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment to adopt a community value statement in support of diversity, equity, and inclusion.
4. Committee direction.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

APPROVAL OF JANUARY 22, 2026 MEETING MINUTES

Citizen Charter Review Committee
January 22, 2026
11:30 a.m. – 1:30 p.m.
Leon County Main Library
Programming Room

The Leon County 2025-2026 Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC) met on January 22, 2026, at 11:30 a.m. in the Leon County Main Library with Committee members Chauncy Haynes, Joey Davis, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Max Herrle, Darryl Jones, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman, Ryan Ray, Shamarial Roberson, William Smith, Bruce Strouble, Jr., Jarrett Terry, Katrina Tuggerson and Barry Wilcox in attendance. Also present were County Administrator Vincent Long, Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, County Attorney Chasity O'Steen, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Nicki Hatch, Director of the Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships Abby Thomas, Management Analyst Cameron Williams, and Clerks to the Board, Beryl Wood and Daniel J. Antonaccio.

Absent Members: Mary Ann Lindley, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway and Temple Robinson.

Call to Order and Opening Chauncy Haynes, Vice Chairman

Vice Chairman Haynes called the meeting to order at 11:30 a.m. He noted that Chair Mary Ann Lindley was out sick and provided a brief overview of the agenda.

Consent:

Ryan Ray moved, seconded by Max Herrle, to approve the consent agenda as presented.

The motion carried 13 – 0 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Joey Davis, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Slaton Murray, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman and Temple Robinson not present.

Approval of January 8, 2026 Meeting Minutes

Receipt & File of Written Public Comments

- Slaton Murray and Sean Pittman arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

Public Comment:

- Melanie Andrade Williams, 3349 Argonaut Drive, addressed the Committee in support of a proposed charter amendment related to the restoration of communities from historic harm. She stated that historic public policies, including segregation-era decisions related to zoning, housing, education, healthcare, and infrastructure, contributed to long-standing disparities in neighborhoods such as Frenchtown, Bond, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City. She noted that the amendment would not mandate spending or raise taxes, but would establish a framework requiring consideration of historic public policy impacts and urged the Committee to advance the amendment for charter drafting.
- Stephanie McMillon spoke in support of an amendment for restoring communities, stating that historic public policies shaped neighborhood outcomes and current disparities.

- Serenity Williams, 4011 Elder Lane, spoke in support of an amendment to restore communities, stating that disparities were the result of intentional policy choices and that the charter is an appropriate vehicle to address structural issues. She urged the Committee to advance the amendment to allow the community the opportunity to vote.
- Bill Lowaman, 3742 Dorset Way, commented on the discussion around President Lincoln and civility. He also spoke on denying race and the federal government requiring identification by race. He suggested getting rid of those discussions and focusing on the restoration of human beings.
- Mary Miaisha Mitchell, 1009 Ellington Court, addressed the Committee regarding historic displacement and the need for diversity, equity, and inclusion. She referenced the impacts of displacement in the Smokey Hollow community and discussed the elimination of DEI-related policies, noting the effect on public health equity efforts. She urged the Committee to consider Charter language that supports long-term resilience and accountability.
- Joey Davis arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

General Business:

Agenda Item #1: Comparative Analysis of Bill of Rights Provisions in County Charters

Assistant County Administrator Ken Morris introduced the item, noting that the Committee requested a comparative analysis of county charters with a Bill of Rights. He explained that a Bill of Rights is intended to express fundamental community values and may be adopted through a charter, ordinance, or resolution. He noted most are adopted by Ordinance or Resolution. Leon County's Charter includes a Preamble reflecting community values. Among Florida's 20 charter counties, staff identified 4 charters with Bill of Rights provisions (Miami-Dade, Broward, Orange, and Pinellas) done in two different ways. Miami-Dade and Broward have sections with an extensive list of "rights" defined in detail. Orange and Pinellas have succinct sections and direct the BOCC to further address issues by ordinance. He reminded the Committee that anything included cannot conflict with state or federal laws and noted that many listed rights in the four examples discussed overlap with existing protections addressed in county policies and requirements under state and federal laws. He noted that staff recommended Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Max Herrle asked whether the proposal would be legally binding.

Assistant County Administrator Morris responded that Miami-Dade County includes provisions with specific remedies; however, he clarified that Bill of Rights provisions are value statements.

Max Herrle stated that he would like to review Miami-Dade's language and consider implementing similar language in Leon County.

County Attorney Chasity O'Steen cautioned that the County does not have the authority to waive its sovereign immunity through a charter amendment or ordinance, and that any effort to create an enforcement mechanism exposing the County to liability would require action by the Florida Legislature or a constitutional amendment. She noted that limited waivers of sovereign immunity exist only where expressly authorized by state law, and that courts have rejected local attempts to expand liability beyond those statutory limits.

Darryl Jones stated that he has been clear regarding the Charter. He expressed interest in language that esteems shared humanity, whether placed in the Preamble or a Bill of Rights, stating that such language would communicate that neighbors have value.

Joey Davis offered a friendly amendment requesting staff bring back draft language reflecting the rights listed in the Miami-Dade and Broward charter examples as a working framework for Committee consideration.

Max Herrle accepted the friendly amendment.

Linda Bond Edwards asked whether there would be the same legal effect from changes to the Preamble or the creation of a Bill of Rights section.

County Attorney O'Steen stated it would depend on the language used and that intent must be clear that the statements do not create a cause of action.

County Administrator Long explained that the Charter Preamble is where most counties articulate broad community values, including home rule, equity, responsiveness, efficiency, and the ability of residents to effect change in their government, and noted that the Committee may choose to further articulate aspirational values either within the Preamble or through a separate bill of rights. He encouraged the Committee to consider the distinction between aspirational value statements and the County's adopted core practices, emphasizing that both what government says it values and what it does in practice are important considerations.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., for Option #2: Direct staff to prepare a charter amendment providing a Bill of Rights for Leon County citizens with a friendly amendment, as introduced by Joey Davis, to request staff bring back draft language reflecting the rights listed in the Miami-Dade and Broward charter examples as a working framework.

The motion failed 5 – 9 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Darryl Jones, Slaton Murray, Shamarial Roberson, William Smith, Jarrett Terry and Barry Wilcox in opposition. Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman, Ryan Ray and Temple Robinson were not present.

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by Linda Bond Edwards, to direct staff to prepare a charter amendment revising the Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County.

The motion carried 15 – 0 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman and Temple Robinson not present.

Agenda Item #2: Considerations for Addressing Poverty and Racial Inequity in the County Charter

Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy introduced the item, stating that at its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to address communities and neighborhoods impacted by poverty and racial inequities. He summarized existing County and partner investments, and cautioned that adopting charter language tied to race or Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI) concepts could jeopardize state and federal funding. He noted that staff recommended against further consideration, offering an alternative option for a policy recommendation affirming the County's existing data-driven approach.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., commented on the options staff listed in the item.

- Liz Ellis left at this juncture of the meeting.

Vice Chairman Haynes reminded the Committee of the County's civility expectations, emphasizing respectful engagement even when there is disagreement.

County Attorney O'Steen discussed legal considerations related to DEI. She cautioned that charter language explicitly tied to race and gender could be legally problematic.

Linda Bond Edwards asked whether proposed charter language would address issues already identified by the County. She questioned whether the primary challenge was a lack of resources or a lack of awareness of resources.

Katrina Tuggerson asked how the County can continue current efforts in a changing legal and policy environment. She asked, as a community, how the County can "work with what we have" given ongoing changes.

County Attorney O'Steen referenced a document issued by the Florida Attorney General on January 19, 2026, noting that concerns about constitutionality are being raised more frequently. She reiterated the County's current approach is data-driven and intended to remain compliant with state and federal law.

Anita Favors asked Bruce Strouble, Jr., to clarify whether the Committee was considering a policy recommendation or a charter amendment.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., clarified the proposal was a charter amendment.

Slaton Murray asked Bruce Strouble, Jr., how he envisioned funding would work.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., stated the framework would allow restoration actions if grants or other external funding sources become available. He stated it would not require establishing a new department.

County Administrator Long explained that staff highlighted the charter preamble because, in many charters, it is the primary location for aspirational and values-based language, rather than highly specific or enforceable provisions. He noted that the Leon County preamble already emphasizes: home rule and local decision-making; service to the people of the County; government reflecting the community it serves; responsiveness and efficiency; and the ability of residents to effect change in their government.

He stated that if the Committee wished to add additional aspirational language, such as language discussed by Committee Member Jones, that could appropriately occur in the preamble. He cautioned the Committee to distinguish between values statements and operational practices, noting that "core practices often outweigh core values in daily governance." He referenced the County's adopted core practices and beliefs, including language affirming that County government exists to serve residents and demonstrate accountability for tax dollars. He reminded the Committee that while values are important, implementation through policy and practice is equally critical.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., stated the County has not formally acknowledged certain historic public policy harms at the charter level and reiterated why the Charter is the appropriate vehicle for this framework.

Anita Favors asked whether the Committee was directing staff to develop draft language, as reflected in the motion.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Max Herrle, to direct staff to prepare draft language for amending the Charter to require the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions.

The motion carried 13 – 0 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Liz Ellis, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman, Temple Robinson and Barry Wilcox not present.

Agenda Item #3: Community Value of Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion

Assistant County Administrator Lamy introduced the item. He stated at its January 8, 2026 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to adopt a community value statement in support of diversity, equity, and inclusion.

Darryl Jones motioned, seconded by Slaton Murray, for Option #1: Accept the report on a community value statement in support of diversity, equity, and inclusion and take no further action.

The motion carried 13 – 0 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Liz Ellis, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman, Temple Robinson and Katrina Tuggerson not present.

Vice Chairman Haynes reminded the committee of the need for civility in discussions, and the significance of ensuring policies address both current and historical community needs without conflicting with federal and state guidelines.

He acknowledged all staff and departments involved in supporting the Charter Review Committee's work.

Motion to adjourn:

Vice Chairman Haynes adjourned the meeting at 1:13p.m.

Summary:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item provides an analysis on the establishment of an independent Office of Inspector General in the Leon County Charter for the Committee's consideration.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #3: Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its November 6, 2025 meeting, the Committee received a citizen request detailing a proposed Office of Inspector General (OIG) for consideration. The Committee subsequently requested for an agenda item to be brought back with an analysis on independent OIGs to consider advancing the establishment of an Office of Inspector General in the Leon County Charter.

Office of Inspector Generals (OIG) exist across every level of government for detecting, investigating, and preventing matters of fraud, waste, abuse, mismanagement and misconduct within government organizations. Key functions of OIGs can include conducting investigations, audits, and contract oversight to safeguard public resources. At the federal and state levels, OIGs are embedded internally within executive agencies and report to the leadership of the respective agency. Comparatively, the Florida Auditor General is the independent external auditor for state government, universities, and public programs. In addition, the Florida Auditor General is responsible for reviewing audits prepared by State executive agencies and audits required of local governments.

Some local governments in Florida have established independent OIGs to strengthen fiduciary and program controls while others have broadened the responsibilities to include services traditionally provided by the State including investigations of ethics complaints, oversight of municipal governments, and investigations into separate Constitutional Offices. For evaluating the establishment of an OIG in the Leon County Charter, it is important to understand the prevailing structure of local governments in Florida such as Leon County. This includes the election of five independent Constitutional Officers (Sheriff, Tax Collector, Property Appraiser, Supervisor of Election, and the Clerk of Court and Comptroller), the election of a legislative body (seven County Commissioners in Leon County), and the separation of legislative and executive functions as outlined in the Leon County Charter.

The County Commission approves the annual budget for the independent Constitution Offices but has no operational control over said offices. With regard to financial oversight and independence, the Florida Constitution requires the independently elected Clerk of Court and Comptroller to provide the financial oversight, recordkeeping, and audit-related functions for counties. Further, Section 218.33(3), Florida Statutes, mandates that local governments establish internal controls to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse; support economical and efficient operations; and safeguard assets; among various other fiscal management practices.

In Leon County, the audit function of the Clerk is further specified and codified in section 3.3 of the County Charter. The County Charter requires the Clerk to employ a certified internal auditor or public accountant, provides the required education and experience necessary, and requires the Board of County Commissioners to fund the audit function of the Clerk. At the request of the Leon County Clerk, the Board approved funding in the FY 2026 budget for a new Internal Auditor position to expand auditing services, focus on more complex audits, and strengthen the County's internal controls, fiscal discipline, and ability to prevent fraud, waste, and abuse.

Section 3.3 of the Charter also provides for the establishment of an audit committee to adopt an annual plan of work for the Auditor and oversee the work of the Auditor. The Charter includes the requisite experience for the five-member Audit Committee which is appointed by the Board and Clerk and prohibits County employees from serving on the Committee.

At both the state and local level, allegations involving potential criminal conduct are addressed through the State's criminal justice system, including the Office of the State Attorney and appropriate law enforcement entities, and ethics-related matters are administered separately through the Florida Commission on Ethics. The Florida Commission on Ethics is a statutorily designated independent body charged with investigating complaints, recommending penalties, issuing advisory opinions, and enforcing state ethics laws and standards of conduct for state and local public officers and employees throughout the State. Elected and appointed officials are also subject to additional requirements (such as annual ethics training and financial disclosures) and penalties (such as fines, forfeiture of benefits, and removal from office) set forth under state law which are enforced by the Florida Commission on Ethics. The Florida Commission on Ethics, which is based in Tallahassee, received 286 complaints and referrals statewide in 2024 with approximately 29% of the complaints involving county elected officials or employees. This demonstrates an active reporting and oversight structure to pursue ethical complaints related to local government officials and employees.

Only four charter counties establish OIGs to carry out fiduciary responsibilities separate from their County Clerk of Court & Comptroller. As requested by the Committee, this Analysis provides a detailed comparative review of the existing OIGs in charter counties organized by their major structural components (Authority/Jurisdiction; Functions/Enforcement; Selection/Removal; Budget; and Outcome Measures). The Analysis continues with an overview of the existing structure and functions within Leon County Government as well the state's oversight role for conducting investigations into ethics violations, financial and program audits of governmental operations, and safeguarding public resources for the Committee's consideration.

Analysis:

Four counties have established independent OIGs in their respective charters which are implemented by ordinance: Miami-Dade, Broward, Jacksonville-Duval, and Palm Beach Counties. The analysis begins with a high-level summary of the four existing OIG structures in charter counties across the state with additional detail on the major structural components of each OIG. The analysis continues with an overview of the existing structure and functions within Leon County Government that are similar to those provided by OIGs in other counties. This information is provided to facilitate the Committee's consideration of whether an independent OIG should be established through the Leon County Charter.

Comparison of Charter Counties with Offices of Inspector Generals

The following provides a high-level summary of the major structural components of these four OIGs, such as the OIGs' authority related to ethics, oversight of other public entities, budget, personnel, and outcome measures as outlined in Table #1. Detailed overviews of each of the four OIGs are also provided as Attachment #1.

- Ethics Enforcement/Whistleblower Designation: Among the four counties, only Broward County's OIG has designated authority for matters related to ethics regulation or violations. Notably, however, Broward County is the only county that does not designate the OIG as an "appropriate local official" for whistleblower complaints for the purpose of whistleblower protection provided by Section 112.3188, Florida Statutes.
- Oversight of Other Public Entities: Oversight of other public entities varies across each of the four OIGs, including some with oversight of municipalities, Constitutional Offices and/or school districts either on a mandatory or voluntary basis. Table #1 depicts the OIGs' mandatory (M) and voluntary (V) oversight of municipalities (Muni's) within the respective county, along with oversight roles related to Constitutional Offices and school districts.
- Selection/Removal: Selection of the Inspector General is generally conducted by independent bodies comprised of representatives outside the command structure of the respective county government. Two counties, however, require selections to be approved by the respective legislative body (BOCC; City Commission). Comparatively, Broward County is the only county that does not require removal of an Inspector General to be approved by its legislative body.
- Budget/Personnel: On average, the four OIGs operate annual budgets of $4.5 million, ranging from $1.5 million to $8.7 million in FY 2024. Comparatively, the number of full-time employees (FTEs) of each OIG ranged from 12 to 42. Most FTE figures exclude legal counsel, which is often contracted separately.
- Outcome Measures: Each OIG is subject to annual reporting requirements which include varying outcome measures related to the functions of the office. Based on FY 2024 annual reports, complaint intake ranged from 40 to 411 complaints during the year. Across all four counties, the majority of complaints (55%) have required no action from the OIGs, with a significant share of complaints (32%) referred to other governmental agencies, and an average of 13% of complaints resulting in action (full investigations, audits, or other oversight action).

The City of Jacksonville/Duval County is a consolidated government and explicitly provides OIG authority over Constitutional Offices and the School District in its Charter.*

Additional detail on the major structural components (Authority/Jurisdiction; Functions/Enforcement; Selection/Removal; Budget; and Outcome Measures) of each OIG is provided in Attachment #1. The following section highlights Leon County's structure and safeguards for preventing waste, fraud, and abuse, and upholding professional ethics standards throughout the organization.

Leon County's Current Structure and Safeguards

Various functions of OIG's, as demonstrated in other charter counties, currently exist within the structure of Leon County Government – ensuring protection of public resources without further cost to taxpayers. The following provides an overview of Leon County's Code of Ethics and Standards of Conduct; independent auditing functions; contract and procurement review; and other functions similar to those commonly provided by OIGs.

- Leon County's Code of Ethics and Standards of Conduct: Article II, Section 8 of the Florida Constitution provides for "Ethics in Government", which requires that a code of ethics be prescribed by state law. In fulfilling the Constitutional requirement, Section 112, Part III, of Florida Statutes, establishes a "Code of Ethics for Public Officers and Employees" which establishes ethical standards which is applicable to all county governments and includes standards of conduct; ethics training requirements; voting conflict of interest restrictions; financial disclosure requirements; and penalties.

  Under Florida Statutes, local governments are not restricted from imposing additional or more stringent standards of conduct or disclosure as long as the requirements do not conflict with state law. A localized "Code of Ethics" sets clear expectations governing the behavior of the individuals of an organization. An overview of the County's Code of Ethics, including the jurisdiction, implementation, and enforcement is provided below.

  - History and Overview: Since 2002, Leon County's "Ethics Code" has been set forth by Ordinance to provide further specification related to ethical standards for Leon County Commissioners, employees, and members of appointed boards and committees, as well as specific regulations for lobbyists. Notably, the County's Code of Ethics establishes a "standards of conduct" to ensure a high level of transparency and ethical conduct in Leon County government. Consistent with state law, the County's standards of conduct establish restrictions and other protocols related to acceptance of gifts, misuse of public position, confidentiality of information, nepotism, conflicts of interest, outside employment, workplace harassment, among others. In addition, Leon County's Code of Ethics goes beyond those provided by state statute related to post-employment restrictions for county officers and employees (e.g., two-year lobbying prohibition) and non-interference restrictions in county real estate transactions and performance of duties.

    In 2018, voters approved elevating the County's Ethics Code through inclusion in the County's Charter. As a recommendation from the 2018 Leon County Citizen's Charter Review Committee, this Charter amendment required an ethics code to be adopted by a local ordinance (rather than inclusion of the full ethics code in Charter) to preserve the County's ability to be responsive to the needs of the community by allowing future changes to be made by ordinance rather than charter amendments. This approach is similar to how the Florida Constitution addresses ethics by providing broad ethical standards and requiring a code of ethics be adopted as state law. More recently, in 2020, the Board reviewed and made changes in the Code of Ethics with respect to lobbyist regulations, including updating and creating definitions, establishing specific investigation and enforcement procedures for alleged violations of such regulations, and providing for penalties.

- Implementation and Resources: To provide additional guidance and assistance related to the County's Code of Ethics, the County conducts regular ethics training for all County employees. In addition, Leon County's "Field Manual for Employees" is available to all employees as a user-friendly reference guide to reinforce the high standards of ethics behavior required of County employees. When in doubt as to the applicability and interpretation of the County's Code of Ethics, the County Administrator or any County Commissioner may request an advisory opinion from the County Attorney's Office.
- Complaints and Enforcement: The County's Code of Ethics establishes procedures for complaints and investigation of alleged violations. In addition, any person may report suspected fraud, waste, or abuse through the County's hotline or dedicated email. Complaints, depending on the nature, are handled by the County Attorney and/or Human Resources. Any potential criminal violation resulting from such an investigation is referred to the appropriate law enforcement agency for further investigation and potential prosecution. All ethics-related matters are administered separately through the Florida Commission on Ethics, the statutorily designated independent body charged with investigating complaints, recommending penalties, issuing advisory opinions, and enforcing state ethics laws and standards of conduct for public officers and employees throughout the State. Elected and appointed officials are also subject to additional requirements and penalties enforced by the Florida Commission on Ethics, including annual ethics training, financial disclosures, fines and forfeiture of benefits, and removal from office.

- Independent Auditing Functions through the Clerk of Court & Comptroller: As set forth under Leon County's Charter, the Leon County Clerk of the Court and Comptroller serves as the County's independent auditor and custodian of all county funds. These functions are fulfilled through the Clerk's Division of Internal Auditing (DIA) to prevent, detect, and eliminate fraud, waste, mismanagement, misconduct, and other abuses within County operations. The County Charter requires establishment of an Audit Committee, comprised of independent appointees of the BOCC and Clerk, to oversee the functions of the DIA. The Audit Committee serves to preserve the independence and objectivity of the internal audit function by ensuring broad audit coverage, adequate consideration of audit reports, and appropriate action on recommendations.

  Under its authority, the DIA conducts routine audits and tracking of County expenses and activities to ensure County funds are spent in accordance with the law. These efforts include pre-auditing all County expenditures before payment, review of contracts, and post-audits to determine if financial controls are sufficient. In addition to audit reports and findings, the DIA produces management reports with proposed process improvements, as well as the public financial reports to help constituents understand how their tax dollars are managed and spent. The DIA also conducts "anti-fraud awareness" educational campaigns to promote awareness, prevention, and reporting of fraud throughout the organization.

  The County also contracts with an external firm to audit the annual financial statements of the County and its Constitutional Officers and provide independent recommendations regarding financial reporting and compliance.

- Contract & Procurement Review: In addition to oversight provided by the DIA, all competitive solicitations, informal bids, and other certain procurement actions are subject to a centralized and standardized review process administered by the County's Purchasing Division in coordination with the County Attorney's Office. The County's standardized contract review process ensures the County's contracts and grants are managed effectively and include the appropriate provisions to monitor performance, address misuse of funds, and other financial controls in accordance with the DIA payment and reporting review processes. All contracts are required to be reviewed and in a form approved by the County Attorney's Office.
- Employee-Led Efforts to Drive Cost Savings, Avoidances, and Efficiencies: The County systematically and strategically identifies efficiencies and cost savings year-round. This deliberate approach occurs throughout the year and has a significant positive impact on the development of the preliminary budget. Through specific and targeted practices, such as the Employee Innovation Awards Program - I^2 (squared), employees are continuously empowered to seek and implement cost saving measures throughout the organization. During FY 2025, County employees created over $3.4 million in cost savings or avoidances – contributing to the over $80 million in cost savings or avoidances achieved since 2013.

Mr. Ernie Paine's OIG Proposal

On November 6, 2025, the Committee received a detailed citizen proposal from Mr. Ernie Paine seeking to establish an independent OIG in the Leon County Charter (Attachment #2). The request aimed to strengthen public trust by reinforcing transparency, accountability, and oversight within county government. The proposed OIG would have authority to investigate ethics violations, fraud, waste, abuse, mismanagement, misconduct, and service deficiencies. The Committee subsequently requested an agenda item be brought back with an analysis on independent OIGs to consider for the Leon County Charter.

Central to the request is the independence of the OIG from the Board of County Commissioners, County Administrator, and County Attorney. Key elements of the OIG proposal are as follows:

- Calls for the establishment of a 7-member independent committee to select and oversee the Inspector General similar to the four charter counties described in this item.
- Appointments to be made by the five Constitutional Officers, the Superintendent of the Leon County School District, and one appointment by the Leon County Board of County Commissioners.
- Does not include oversight of the City of Tallahassee, Constitutional Offices, or the School District.
- Seeks to include oversight for County Commissioners serving on the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency Board.
- Provides no enforcement powers to the OIG, only auditing and investigative authority.
- Ensure compliance with the Leon County Code of Ethics.
- Designate the OIG as the County's statutory agent for receiving and processing whistleblower complaints under Florida law.
- Requires adequate staffing and contracting of legal counsel.

Mr. Paine's independent OIG proposal is generally consistent with the four independent OIGs established in county charters with a few exceptions. Three of the four charter counties analyzed do not utilize their OIGs for ethics complaints and investigations. Only Broward County's OIG has designated authority for matters related to ethics regulation or violations. Broward County is also the only county that does not designate the OIG as an "appropriate local official" for whistleblower complaints for the purpose of whistleblower protection provided by Section 112.3188, Florida Statutes. Most counties utilize a "no wrong door approach" and designate multiple offices to receive whistleblower complaints. Mr. Paine cites the need for independent legal counsel of both the County Administrator and County Attorney related to whistleblower complaints. However, it is important to remember that in the council-manager form of government, the County Administrator and County Attorney are both independent employees appointed by the Board of County Commissioners. While the incumbents of these positions often work together on important issues, there is no reporting relationship between the two employees as they both serve at the pleasure of the Board.

The proposal does not include oversight of the City of Tallahassee, Constitutional Offices, or the School District but seeks to include oversight for County Commissioners serving on the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency Board (Blueprint) and Blueprint "staff who are listed on the Leon County payroll." However, Blueprint employees are not Leon County employees, , are not paid a salary by the County, and would not be subject to OIG oversight. As a joint intergovernmental agency established by an interlocal agreement between Leon County and the City of Tallahassee, pursuant to Section 163.01, Florida Statutes, the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency is a separate legal entity that is not subordinate to either government individually. Therefore, an OIG created by the Leon County Charter would not have jurisdiction over Blueprint's operations. A County OIG would have authority only over County officials, County employees, and County funds consistent with the County's home-rule powers. To extend oversight to Blueprint, including its staff, programs, procurement activities, and interlocal operations—the County and City would have to adopt corresponding ordinances and amend the Blueprint interlocal agreement.

Conclusion

In evaluating the establishment of an OIG in the Leon County Charter, it is important to note that many core functions commonly associated with an OIG—such as operational and financial oversight, independent auditing functions, contract and procurement review, and other safeguards — currently exist within the current structure of Leon County Government without further cost to taxpayers.

As detailed in this item, the Florida Constitution requires the independently elected Clerk of Court and Comptroller to provide financial oversight, recordkeeping, and audit-related functions for counties - providing an existing independent oversight mechanism within Florida's county government structure. Further, Section 218.33(3), Florida Statutes, mandates that local governments establish internal controls to prevent and detect fraud, waste, and abuse; support economical and efficient operations; and safeguard assets; among various other fiscal management practices.

Across the state, independent OIGs that are separate from a Clerk of Court & Comptroller have been established in four charter counties: Miami-Dade, Broward, Jacksonville-Duval, and Palm Beach Counties. In addition to functions that would otherwise be provided through a Clerk of Court & Comptroller, the core function of these OIGs is investigations into waste, fraud, abuse, and employee misconduct. To provide these services, however, the average annual budget for the OIG across these counties is $4.5 million (ranging from $1.5 million to $8.7 million in FY 2024). Furthermore, the number of full-time employees (FTEs) of each OIG ranges from 12 to 42 FTEs among the four counties – which potentially reflects personnel fulfilling functions that potentially could be otherwise provided for within Florida's county government structure. Finally, the majority of complaints (87%) received across the four OIGs required no action or were referred to other governmental agencies – further reinforcing the existing oversight, investigative, and enforcement functions in place at the state level.

Should the Committee wish to direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment to establish an Office of Inspector General, an agenda item with analysis would be presented to the Committee at its next meeting. At that time, the Committee would have the opportunity to review and refine proposed language related to the major structural components of the office.

Options:

1. Accept this report and table this issue.
2. Direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment to establish an Office of Inspector General.
3. Committee direction.

Recommendation:

Option #3: Committee direction.

Detailed Comparison of Charter County Offices of Inspectors General (OIGs)

Additional detail on the major structural components (Authority / Jurisdiction; Functions / Enforcement; Selection / Removal; Budget; and Outcome Measures) of each OIG is provided below.

Miami-Dade County Office of Inspector General

- Authority and Jurisdiction: Section 9.11 of the Miami-Dade County Charter establishes an Office of Inspector General (OIG) as set forth by Miami-Dade County's Ordinance titled "Office of the Inspector General" (both are included as Exhibit A). The OIG has authority to detect, investigate, and prevent fraud, mismanagement, waste, and abuse of power in County operations. The OIG's authority extends to all elected and appointed officials and employees and all contracted entities for Miami-Dade County under their Board of County Commissioners. The OIG's authority does not include enforcement of the County's ethics ordinances or matters related to the ethics regulation, which is led by the independent Miami-Dade Commission on Ethics and Public Trust.

- Functions and Enforcement: The OIG has the authority to conduct investigations, audits, inspections, and reviews of county affairs. Under its authority, the OIG is authorized to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and require the production of records or reports. The OIG may exercise this authority by their own initiative or to investigate any complaint received. The OIG operates a public hotline and online complaint form for tips and complaints. The OIG, local Commission on Ethics and Public Trust, and the County Mayor are the designated "appropriate local officials" for whistleblower complaints for the purpose of whistleblower protection provided by Section 112.3188, Florida Statutes.

  Upon detection of corruption or fraud, the OIG refers the matter to the appropriate law enforcement agencies. The OIG is authorized to prepare reports and recommendations to any person or entity it inspects or reviews, and follow-up with the responsible county entity to ensure appropriate action is taken. Other functions of the OIG include attending county meetings relating to the procurement of goods or services to pose questions or raise concerns as well as conducting periodic oversight of certain active contracts to ensure all contract terms are being met.

- Selection, Removal, and Abolition of the OIG: The Inspector General is appointed by a selection committee, an independent body set forth by the Ordinance, and subject to approval by a majority of the Board of County Commissioners (BOCC). The Ordinance establishes minimum qualifications for the Inspector General selection such as related years of experience, among others. The Inspector General is appointed for a term of four years with no limit for appointment of subsequent terms. The Inspector General may be removed upon approval by a 2/3 majority of the BOCC. The OIG may also be abolished upon approval by a 2/3 majority of the BOCC. Miami-Dade County is the only one of the four counties that does not specify a requirement that removal of an OIG must be based on legal charges.

- Budget: In FY 2024, the Miami-Dade OIG's adopted budget totaled $8.7 million which supported 42 positions to support the investigative, audit, and contract oversight divisions of the office. The budget also funds the OIG's independent legal counsel to assist with the functions of the office.

  The OIG's budget is supported through the OIG's 0.25% proprietary fee assessed on County contracts (as paid for by the County) and General Funds allocated through the County's budget process. The OIG's budget is subject to approval by the BOCC through its annual budget process.

- Outcome Measures: The OIG is required to submit an annual report to the Mayor and BOCC providing statistical information concerning the work and activities of the office. The most recent Annual Report available (Exhibit B) details the work of the OIG's Investigation, Audit, and Contract Oversight Units during FY 2024. As reported, in FY 2024, the OIG received a total of 411 complaints, with 51% warranting no action and were closed, 43% referred to the appropriate entity that could directly address the complaint, and 6% resulting in action by OIG.

Broward County's Office of Inspector General

- Authority and Jurisdiction: As approved by voters in November 2010, Article X of the Broward County Charter (Exhibit C) established the OIG with authority to investigate gross mismanagement of public resources and misconduct in violation of any federal, state, or local governing laws. The OIG is also the designated entity for enforcement of the Broward Code of Ethics. Broward County's OIG is the only one of the four counties to act as the designated entity for ethics enforcement. The OIG's authority extends to all elected and appointed officials, employees, and all contracted entities for Broward County. All 31 municipalities in Broward County are subject to OIG oversight in accordance with the Broward Charter. Additionally, in November 2024, voters approved a charter amendment extending the OIG's jurisdiction to the Broward County School District and any constitutional office which voluntarily executes an interlocal agreement with the County and OIG for such functions. To date, the Broward County School District is the only entity that has executed a voluntary interlocal agreement.

- Functions and Enforcement: Under its authority, the OIG may open an investigation by its own initiative or based on a signed, verified complaint, upon good cause determination that misconduct or gross mismanagement has occurred. The OIG operates a public hotline, online complaint forms, and walk-up office hours for tips and complaints. For investigations, the OIG is authorized to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, require the production of records, and conduct audits (in coordination with the County Auditor). While the OIG is authorized to conduct audits as part of its investigations, such audits must be conducted in coordination with the County Auditor, which conducts the internal auditing functions of the County. Furthermore, the County Auditor and the County's Human Resources Division - not the OIG - are the designated "appropriate local officials" for whistleblower complaints for the purpose of whistleblower protection provided by Section 112.3188, Florida Statutes.

Upon determination of probable cause that misconduct occurred, the OIG refers matters to the appropriate enforcement agency. If no agency has enforcement jurisdiction, the matter is referred to an OIG Hearing Officer to review misconduct allegations and impose sanctions, as applicable. In addition, the OIG can prepare reports and recommendations to the County or any of its municipalities and voluntary entities and follow-up to determine whether such recommendations have been implemented.

- Selection and Removal: The Inspector General is selected and removed by a Selection-Oversight Committee, an independent body set forth by the Charter, which oversees and annually reviews the OIG's performance. The Broward County Charter establishes minimum qualifications for the Inspector General selection such as related years of experience and restrictions on prior employment, among others. The Inspector General is appointed for a term of four years with no limit for appointment of subsequent terms. The Inspector General may only be removed by the Selection-Oversight Committee for specific charges of neglect of duty, abuse of power or authority, discrimination, or ethical misconduct. The Selection-Oversight Committee also selects qualified Hearing Officers to preside over hearings in certain matters referred to by the OIG.

- Budget: While the OIG's budget is subject to approval by the BOCC, the County Charter requires the County to provide sufficient funds for the OIG to carry out its duties in an efficient manner. In FY 2024, the OIG's adopted budget totaled $3.9 million which supported 20 full time positions across the investigative, audit, and contract oversight units of the office. The budget also provided funding to contract for Hearing Officers and independent legal counsel for complaints referred to the OIG.

  To support the OIG's budget, the Charter authorizes the County to impose a fee of 0.25% on the total value of each County contract (to be paid by the County). Should such contract fees be insufficient, the County may also utilize general revenue to fund the OIG. Voluntary entities, such as the school district, are responsible for expenses associated with the services they receive from the OIG.

- Outcome Measures: The OIG is required to submit an annual report to the County, each municipality, and voluntary entity under its jurisdiction, as well as the Selection-Oversight Committee. Based on the most recent Annual Report available (Exhibit D), in FY 2024, the OIG received a total of 40 complaints which includes departments and personnel under the Board of County Commissioners, the 31 municipalities, and the school district. Of the 40 complaints, 52% were closed without action, 40% were referred to other governmental agencies, and 8% resulted in OIG action (investigation, audit, or other oversight).

The City of Jacksonville./Duval County's Office of Inspector General

- Authority and Jurisdiction: Article I of the City of Jacksonville / Duval County Charter establishes the OIG as set forth by the City's Ordinance entitled "Inspector General" (both are included as Exhibit E). The OIG has oversight authority of all departments, officials, and employees of the City of Jacksonville's consolidated government, including its constitutional offices, the school district, independent agencies and districts, as well as contractors, providers, and recipients of city funds. The OIG is authorized to detect, deter, prevent, and eradicate fraud, waste, abuse, mismanagement, and misconduct within the consolidated government through various functions (as further detailed below). The OIG's authority does not include enforcement of the City's ethics code or matters related to the ethics regulation, which is led by the independent Ethics Oversight and Compliance Office.

- Functions and Enforcement: Under its authority, the OIG conducts investigative, audit, and contract oversight activities upon its own initiative or based upon complaints / referrals received. The OIG operates a public hotline, online complaint forms, and office hours for tips and complaints. To support its functions, the OIG is authorized to administer oaths, issue subpoenas, require the production of records, and review financial and operational practices of all entities within its jurisdiction. The OIG is the designated "appropriate local official" for whistleblower complaints for the purpose of whistleblower protection provided by Section 112.3188, Florida Statutes.

  Upon determination of a possible violation of any federal, state, or local law, the OIG refers such matters to the appropriate law enforcement agency. In addition, the OIG can prepare reports and recommendations to any entity under its jurisdiction and monitor implementation of such recommendations. While the OIG is authorized to conduct audits as part of its investigations, such audits must be conducted in coordination with the City Council Auditor, where practicable, to avoid duplication of efforts in audit functions.

- Selection and Removal: The Inspector General is selected and may be removed by the Inspector General Selection and Retention Committee, an independent body set forth by the Ordinance which oversees and annually reviews the OIG's performance and proposed budget (subject to final approval by the Mayor). The Inspector General is appointed for a term of four years with no limit for appointment of subsequent terms. The Ordinance establishes minimum qualifications for the Inspector General selection such as related years of experience. The Inspector General may be removed for specific charges of neglect of duty, abuse of power or authority, discrimination, or ethical misconduct. Final approval for the selection and removal of the Inspector General is subject to City Council approval through a simple majority vote.

- Budget: As set forth by the Ordinance, the City Mayor establishes the OIG's annual budget similar to other City departments. The City's Ordinance requires the OIG to be funded at a minimum of $400,000 annually. In FY 2024, the OIG's adopted budget totaled $1.5 million which supported 12 full time positions to support the investigative and auditing functions of the office and is funded by general revenue.

- Outcome Measures: The OIG is required to issue an annual report to the Inspector General Selection and Retention Committee, Mayor, and City Council. As reported in the FY 2024 Annual Report (Exhibit F), the OIG received a total of 96 complaints that were opened for review with 59% resulting in no action, 20% referred to another government entity, and 21% resulting in OIG action.

Palm Beach County's Office of Inspector General

- Authority and Jurisdiction: Section 8.3 of the Palm Beach County Charter requires the establishment of an OIG by County Ordinance (both are included as Exhibit G). As set forth by Palm Beach County's Ordinance titled "Inspector General", the OIG has authority to provide oversight of publicly funded transactions, projects, and other local government operations. The OIG's authority does not include enforcement of the Palm Beach County Code of Ethics or matters related to ethics regulation, which is led by the independent Palm Beach Commission on Ethics as established under the County Charter.

The OIG's authority extends to the Palm Beach Board of County Commissioners, all county departments, all municipalities within the County (39), and any other public entity (as a "participating entity") that enters into an agreement with the OIG for such functions. The 39 municipalities were included in the OIG's oversight based on the results of the countywide referendum in each municipality. To date, the Solid Waste Authority of Palm Beach County and the Children's Services Council of Palm Beach County are the only participating entities that have executed such an agreement.

- Functions and Enforcement: The OIG has authority to conduct investigations, audits, reviews, and other oversight activities related to local government operations. The OIG is authorized to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and require the production of records. The OIG may exercise this authority by their own initiative or to investigate any complaint received through its public hotline. The OIG is the designated "appropriate local official" for whistleblower complaints for the purpose of whistleblower protection provided by Section 112.3188, Florida Statutes.

  Upon suspicion of a possible violation of any state, federal, or local law, the OIG refers the matter to the appropriate law enforcement agencies. In addition, the OIG can prepare reports and recommendations to the BOCC, or the subject municipality or participating entities, based on its findings and can follow-up to determine whether recommended remedial actions have been taken. Such reports must also be submitted to the Palm Beach Commission on Ethics. Other functions of the OIG include attending county or municipal meetings relating to the procurement of goods or services, at their own discretion, to pose questions or raise concerns.

- Selection and Removal: The Inspector General is selected by the Inspector General Committee, an independent body set forth by the Charter, to serve for a term of four years with no limit for appointment of subsequent terms. The County's Inspector General Ordinance establishes minimum qualifications for the Inspector General selection such as related years of experience and restrictions on prior employment, among others. The Inspector General may be removed by a 5/7 vote at a public hearing of the BOCC, 5/7 vote of the Inspector General Committee, and a supermajority vote of all participating agencies (39 municipalities, the Solid Waste Authority, and the Children's Services Council). The Inspector General may only be removed for specific charges of neglect of duty, abuse of power or authority, discrimination, or ethical misconduct.

- Budget: In FY 2024, the OIG's adopted budget totaled $3.9 million which supported 27 positions to support the investigative, audit, and contract oversight divisions of the office. The budget included funding for the OIG's independent legal counsel to assist with the functions of the office. The Charter establishes the "funding base" for the OIG's budget as, at minimum, the amount equal to 0.25% of contracts of all governmental entities subject to the OIG's authority (to be paid by the respective governmental entity). The OIG's budget is subject to approval by the BOCC which can increase the OIG's funding base percentage based on demonstration of need as set forth by Ordinance.

- Outcome Measures: The OIG is required to submit an annual report to the County Administrator, Inspector General Committee, and the Palm Beach League of Cities, Inc. Based on the most recent Annual Report available (Exhibit H), in FY 2024, the OIG received 245 complaints for all county entities under the BOCC, the 39 municipalities in the county, the Solid Waste Authority, and the Children's Services Council. Of the 245 complaints, 59% resulted in no OIG action, 26% were referred to other governmental agencies, 8% resulted in action by the OIG, and 7% were pending at the time of the report.

SECTION 9.11. - INSPECTOR GENERAL.

There is hereby created and established an Office of the Inspector General. The Inspector General shall head the Office of the Inspector General. The minimum qualifications, term, powers, duties and responsibilities of the Inspector General as well as the organization of the Office of the Inspector General shall be set forth by Ordinance. Such Ordinance shall, at a minimum, provide that: (1) the Office of the Inspector General be sufficiently independent to assure that no interference or influence external to the Office adversely affects the independence and objectivity of the Inspector General; (2) the Office of the Inspector General be empowered to perform investigations, audits, reviews and oversight of County contracts, programs, projects, abuse, waste and mismanagement as well as County-funded contracts, programs and projects; and (3) the Office of the Inspector General be empowered to provide inspector general services to other governmental entities and municipalities upon the approval of a request to provide such services by a majority of the Board of County Commissioners.

(Res. No. R-683-20, 11-3-2020)

Sec. 2-1076. - Office of the Inspector General.

(a) Created and established. There is hereby created and established the Office of Miami-Dade County Inspector General. The Inspector General shall head the Office. The organization and administration of the Office of the Inspector General shall be sufficiently independent to assure that no interference or influence external to the Office adversely affects the independence and objectivity of the Inspector General.

(b) Minimum Qualifications, Appointment and Term of Office.

(1) Minimum qualifications. The Inspector General shall be a person who:

(a) Has at least ten (10) years of experience in any one, or combination of, the following fields:

(i) as a Federal, State or local Law Enforcement Officer;

(ii) as a Federal or State court judge;

(iii) as a Federal, State or local government attorney;

(iv) progressive supervisory experience in an investigative public agency similar to an inspector general's office;

(b) Has managed and completed complex investigations involving allegations of fraud, theft, deception and conspiracy;

(c) Has demonstrated the ability to work with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies and the judiciary; and

(d) Has a four-year degree from an accredited institution of higher learning.

(2) Appointment. The Inspector General shall be appointed by the Ad Hoc Inspector General Selection Committee ("Selection Committee"), except that before any appointment shall become effective, the appointment must be approved by a majority of the whole number of members of the Board of County Commissioners at the next regularly scheduled County Commission meeting after the appointment. In the event that the appointment is disapproved by the County Commission, the appointment shall become null and void, and the Selection Committee shall make a new appointment, which shall likewise be submitted for approval by the County Commission. The Selection Committee shall be composed of five members selected as follows:

(a) The State Attorney of the Eleventh Judicial Circuit for Miami-Dade County;

(b) The Public Defender of the Eleventh Judicial Circuit for Miami-Dade County;

(c) The Chairperson of the Miami-Dade Commission on Ethics and Public Trust;

(d) The President of the Miami-Dade Police Chief's Association; and

(e) The Special Agent in charge of the Miami Field Office of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

The members of the Selection Committee shall elect a chairperson who shall serve as chairperson until the Inspector General is appointed. The Selection Committee shall select the Inspector General from a list of qualified candidates submitted by the Miami-Dade County Employee Relations Department.

(3) Term. The Inspector General shall be appointed for a term of four (4) years. In case of a vacancy in the position of Inspector General, the Chairperson of the Board of County Commissioners may appoint the deputy inspector general, assistant inspector general, or other Inspector General's office management personnel as interim Inspector General until such time as a successor Inspector General is appointed in the same manner as described in subsection (b)(2) above. The Commission may by majority vote of members present disapprove of the interim appointment made by the Chairperson at the next regularly scheduled County Commission meeting after the appointment. In the event such appointment shall be disapproved by the County Commission, the appointment shall become null and void and, prior to the next regularly scheduled Commission meeting, the Chairperson shall make a new appointment which shall likewise be subject to disapproval as provided in this subsection (3). Any successor appointment made by the Selection Committee as provided in subsection (b)(2) shall be for the full four-year term.

Upon expiration of the term, the Board of County Commissioners may by majority vote of members present reappoint the Inspector General to another term. In lieu of reappointment, the Board of County Commissioners may reconvene the Selection Committee to appoint the new Inspector General in the same manner as described in subsection (b)(2). The incumbent Inspector General may submit his or her name as a candidate to be considered for selection and appointment.

(4) Staffing of Selection Committee The Miami-Dade County Employee Relations Department shall provide staffing to the Selection Committee and as necessary will advertise the acceptance of resumes for the position of Inspector General and shall provide the Selection Committee with a list of qualified candidates. The County Employee Relations Department shall also be responsible for ensuring that background checks are conducted on the slate of candidates selected for interview by the Selection Committee. The County Employee Relations Department may refer the background checks to another agency or department. The results of the background checks shall be provided to the Selection Committee prior to the interview of candidates.

(c) Contract. The Director of the Employee Relations Department shall, in consultation with the County Attorney, negotiate a contract of employment with the Inspector General, except that before any contract shall become effective, the contract must be approved by a majority of Commissioners present at a regularly scheduled Commission meeting.

(1) The Office shall have the authority to make investigations of county affairs and the power to review past, present and proposed County and Public Health Trust programs, accounts, records, contracts and transactions.

(2) The Office shall have the power to require reports from the Mayor, County Commissioners, Manager, County agencies and instrumentalities. County officers and employees and the Public Health Trust and its officers and employees regarding any matter within the jurisdiction of the Inspector General.

(3) The Office shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and require the production of records. In the case of a refusal to obey a subpoena issued to any person, the Inspector General may make application to any circuit court of this State which shall have jurisdiction to order the witness to appear before the Inspector General and to produce evidence if so ordered, or to give testimony touching on the matter in question. Prior to issuing a subpoena, the Inspector General shall notify the State Attorney and the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida. The Inspector General shall not interfere with any ongoing criminal investigation of the State Attorney or the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida where the State Attorney or the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida has explicitly notified the Inspector General in writing that the Inspector General's investigation is interfering with an ongoing criminal investigation;

(4) The Office shall have the power to report and/or recommend to the Board of County Commissioners whether a particular project, program, contract or transaction is or was necessary and, if deemed necessary, whether the method used for implementing the project or program is or was efficient both financially and operationally. Any review of a proposed project or program shall be performed in such a manner as to assist the Board of County Commissioners in determining whether the project or program is the most feasible solution to a particular need or problem. Monitoring of an existing project or program may include reporting whether the project is on time, within budget and in conformity with plans, specifications and applicable law;

(5) The Office shall have the power to analyze the need for, and the reasonableness of, proposed change orders. The Inspector General shall also be authorized to conduct any reviews audits, inspections, investigations or analyses relating to departments, offices, boards, activities, programs and agencies of the County and the Public Health Trust;

(6) The Inspector General may, on a random basis, perform audits, inspections and reviews of all County contracts. The cost of random audits, inspections and reviews shall, except as provided in (a)—(o) in this subsection (6) be incorporated into the contract price of all contracts and shall be one quarter (¼) of one (1) percent of the contract price (hereinafter "IG contract fee").

Posted on September 8, 2026

The IG contract fee shall not apply to the following contracts:

(a) IPSIG contracts;

(b) Contracts for legal services;

(c) Contracts for financial advisory services; Auditing

(d) Auditing contracts;

(e) Facility rentals and lease agreements;

(f) Concessions and other rental agreements;

(g) Insurance contracts;

(h) Revenue-generating contracts;

(i) Contracts where an IPSIG is assigned at the time the contract is approved by the Commission;

(j) Professional service agreements under one thousand dollars ($1,000.00);

(k) Management agreements;

(l) Small purchase orders as defined in Administrative Order 3-2;

(m) Federal, state and local government-funded grants;

(n) Interlocal agreements; and

(o) Grant Agreements granting not-for-profit organizations Building Better Communities General Obligation Bond Program funds.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Commission may by resolution specifically authorize the inclusion of the IG contract fee in any contract. Nothing contained in this Subsection (c)(6) shall in any way limit the powers of the Inspector General provided for in this Section to perform audits, inspections, reviews and investigations on all county contracts including, but not limited to, those contracts specifically exempted from the IG contract fee.

(7) Where the Inspector General detects corruption or fraud, he or she shall notify the appropriate law enforcement agencies. Subsequent to notifying the appropriate law enforcement agency, the Inspector General may assist the law enforcement agency in concluding the investigation. When the Inspector General detects a violation of one (1) of the ordinances within the jurisdiction of the Ethics Commission, he or she may file a complaint with the Ethics Commission or refer the matter to the Advocate;

(8) The Inspector General shall have the power to audit, investigate, monitor, oversee, inspect and review the operations, activities and performance and procurement process including, but not limited to, project design, establishment of bid specifications, bid submittals, activities of the contractor, its officers, agenda and employees, lobbyists, County staff and elected officials in order to ensure compliance with contract specifications and detect corruption and fraud.

(9) The Inspector General shall have the power to review and investigate any citizen's complaints regarding County or Public Health Trust projects, programs, contracts or transactions.

(10) The Inspector General may exercise any of the powers contained in Section 2-1076 upon his or her own initiative.

(11) The Inspector General shall be notified in writing prior to any meeting of a selection or negotiation committee where any matter relating to the procurement of goods or services by the County is to be discussed. The notice required by this subsection (11) shall be given to the Inspector General as soon as possible after a meeting has been scheduled, but in no event later than twenty-four (24) hours prior to the scheduled meeting. The Inspector General may, at his or her discretion, attend all duly noticed County meetings relating to the procurement of goods or services as provided herein, and, in addition to the exercise of all powers conferred by Section 2-1076, may pose questions and raise concerns consistent with the functions, authority and powers of the Inspector General. An audio tape recorder shall be utilized to record all selection and negotiation committee meetings.

(12) The Inspector General shall have the authority to retain and coordinate the services of Independent Private Sector Inspectors General (IPSIG) or other professional services, as required, when in the Inspector General's discretion he or she concludes that such services are needed to perform the duties and functions enumerated in subsection (d) herein.

1. The County shall provide the Office of the Inspector General with appropriately located office space and sufficient physical facilities together with necessary office supplies, equipment and furnishings to enable the Office to perform its functions.

2. The Inspector General shall have, subject to budgetary allocation by the Board of County Commissioners, the power to appoint, employ, and remove such assistants, employees and personnel and establish personnel procedures as deemed necessary for the efficient and effective administration of the activities of the Office.

(f) Procedure for finalization of reports and recommendations which make findings as to the person or entity being reviewed or inspected. Notwithstanding any other provision of this Code, whenever the Inspector General concludes a report or recommendation which contains findings as to the person or entity being reported on or who is the subject of the recommendation, the Inspector General shall provide the affected person or entity a copy of the report or recommendation and such person or entity shall have 10 working days to submit a written explanation or rebuttal of the findings before the report or recommendation is finalized, and such timely submitted written explanation or rebuttal shall be attached to the finalized report or recommendation. The requirements of this subsection (f) shall not apply when the Inspector General, in conjunction with the State Attorney, determines that supplying the affected person or entity with such report will jeopardize a pending criminal investigation.

(g) Reporting. The Inspector General shall annually prepare and submit to the Mayor and Board of County Commissioners a written report concerning the work and activities of the Office including, but not limited to, statistical information regarding the disposition of closed investigations, audits and other reviews.

(h) Removal. The Inspector General may be removed from office upon the affirmative vote of two-thirds (⅔) of the whole number of members of the Board of County Commissioners.

(i) Abolition of the Office. The Office of Inspector General shall only be abolished upon the affirmative vote of two-thirds (⅔) of the whole number of members of the Board of County Commissioners.

(j) Retention of current Inspector General. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary, the incumbent Inspector General, Christopher R. Mazzella, shall serve a four-year term of office commencing on December 20, 2005, as provided in the Memorandum of Understanding approved by Resolution No. R-1394-05, and shall not be subject to the appointment process provided for in Section 2-1076(b)(2).

(Ord. No. 97-215, § 1, 12-16-97; Ord. No. 99-63, § 1, 6-8-99; Ord. No. 99-149, § 1, 10-19-99; Ord. No. 00-105, § 1, 7-25-00; Ord. No. 01-114, § 1, 7-10-01; Ord. No. 05-51, § 1, 3-1-05; Ord. No. 06-88, § 2, 6-6-06; Ord. No. 07-165, § 1, 11-6-07)

MESSAGE FROM YOUR INSPECTOR GENERAL

As the Inspector General for Miami-Dade County, I am pleased to present our 2024 Annual Report. This report highlights the continued efforts and accomplishments of our office in promoting accountability, transparency, and integrity within the operations of Miami-Dade County government.

Throughout the past year, the Miami-Dade County Office of Inspector General (OIG) has remained committed to its mission of investigating and preventing misconduct, fraud, waste, and abuse through the independent oversight of County operations and programs. Our office has carried out thorough audits, investigations, and reviews of various county operations and programs to help ensure that taxpayer funds are used effectively.

Notably, we have identified areas of improvement and helped implement measures that will strengthen oversight and promote good governance. Through our oversight work we have not only uncovered instances of inefficiency and corruption but have also facilitated reforms to prevent such issues from recurring. Our commitment to public service and our role in safeguarding the trust of the community remains steadfast.

This report outlines the key findings of our work in 2024, including our investigative outcomes, audit and contract oversight reports, and recommendations. While challenges remain as we enter an era of newly elected constitutional officers and a restructuring of the county's budget, the OIG will continue to work diligently to foster a culture of efficient and responsible management.

As always, we remain dedicated to our mission and look forward to another year of serving the public with transparency and accountability. I invite you to read through the pages of this report to gain insight into our efforts and successes in ensuring that the public's interests are always prioritized.

Sincerely,

Felix Jimenez
Inspector General

ABOUT THE OIG

Autonomous and independent, the Miami-Dade County Office of the Inspector General (OIG) was created by the Board of County Commissioners, and now codified in the County's Home Rule Charter, to serve as a watchdog over County practices. Through three distinct yet overlapping functions – audits, investigations, and contract oversight – the OIG investigates fraud, waste, and abuse, rendering findings based on facts and evidence.

MISSION

To detect, investigate, and prevent fraud, waste, mismanagement, misconduct, and abuse of power through independent oversight of County affairs, and seek appropriate remedies to recover public monies.

VISION

To be recognized as the premier agency in holding Miami-Dade County government accountable, ensuring it continues to provide excellence every day.

VALUES

Integrity

We govern ourselves honestly and ethically.

Impartiality

We conduct our work objectively and independently.

Professionalism

We maintain a staff of diverse and highly skilled professionals.

Accountability

We take responsibility for providing thorough and fair findings and recommendations.

I. THE OIG EXECUTIVE TEAM

Inspector General Felix Jimenez is the head of the organization. His Executive Team includes Deputy Inspector General/General Counsel Patra Liu, Assistant Inspector General for Investigations Hector Ortiz, Deputy General Counsel Marie Perikles, and Director of Data Analytics James Schlotzhauer.

Assistant Inspector General for Investigations Hector Ortiz leads the Investigations Unit, which consists of three squads of experienced Special Agents supported by a team of skilled Investigative Analysts. When investigations of fraud, waste, and abuse of authority reveal criminal wrongdoing, the Assistant Inspector General for Investigations coordinates with state and federal criminal prosecutors to shepherd OIG cases to a successful legal resolution.

Ms. Liu and Deputy General Counsel Marie Perikles manage the Legal Unit, which includes four additional attorneys. The Legal Unit provides continuous support to all OIG activities from the moment a complaint is received to case closure, which oftentimes involves the issuance of public reports and memoranda. OIG attorneys provide counsel on jurisdictional questions and help assess the strengths and weaknesses of OIG cases for potential civil, administrative, or criminal implications. They also review all subpoenas issued by the Inspector General and all public reports prior to release.

Ms. Liu also oversees the OIG's Contract Oversight and Audit Units. Four Contract Oversight Specialists are deployed countywide. Their work includes active monitoring and random inspections of contracting and construction activities to ensure fairness in the procurement process and compliance with contract specifications. The Audit Unit consists of a team of certified professionals with a wide range of government and private sector experience. The Audit Unit frequently coordinates with the Investigations Unit and/or Contract Oversight Unit. All three units work together to advance the mission of the Office.

As the Director of Data Analytics, James Schlotzhauer has the primary responsibility to ensure the alignment, development, and integration of data analytics, business intelligence, and artificial intelligence necessary to support the mission, vision, strategies, objectives, and goals of the OIG. Mr. Schlotzhauer organizes, assembles and supports resources necessary to address the current and future analytical needs of the OIG.

II. OIG BEST PRACTICES & COMMUNITY OUTREACH

U.S. State Department's International Visitor Leadership Program

Inspector General Felix Jimenez and OIG Contract Oversight Specialist Dr. Terry Murphy hosted a successful exchange with international delegates who were invited to the U.S. under the auspices of the State Department's International Visitor Leadership Program arranged by World Learning in coordination with Global Ties Miami. A group of 17 visitors from Benin, Cabo Verde, Cote d'Ivoire, Guinea, Republic of the Congo, Senegal, Sierra Leone, South Africa, Togo, Tunisia, Haiti, and Zimbabwe visited the OIG and explored the crucial roles played by independent oversight agencies in reporting fraud, waste, abuse, and mismanagement to advance transparency and accountability.

The experience of IG Jimenez, a former public corruption investigator, and Dr. Murphy, a professor of Public Administration, provided valuable insights into the workings of an effective watchdog entity.

Vendor Outreach

On September 12, 2024, the Office of the Inspector General's Contract Oversight Specialists and Assistant Legal Counsels participated in the 5th Annual Procurement EXPO sponsored by the Miami-Dade County Strategic Procurement Department (SPD). OIG personnel were available throughout the day to introduce county vendors and potential new vendors to the procurement oversight role of the OIG and to answer questions from the vendor community. In 2024, there were approximately 52 exhibitors and 652 attendees! This was the OIG's fifth appearance at the EXPO—having participated since its inception.

The OIG looks forward to participating in future SPD forums.

Ethical Governance Day

Annually, the Miami-Dade County Commission on Ethics and Public Trust (COE) hosts a countywide event at all public high schools. Ethical Governance Day relies on an army of volunteers to speak to senior high school students about the importance of good government and public service.

On October 23, 2024, Inspector General Felix Jimenez and Assistant Inspector General for Investigations Hector Ortiz volunteered for Ethical Governance Day by speaking to students at Miami Senior High School and Hialeah Miami Lakes Senior High School. They were joined by COE Commissioner Nelson Bellido. They spoke to senior high school students about celebrating the right to vote—2024's theme—and the roles of the Miami-Dade County OIG and COE in helping foster good governance in our public institutions. OIG representatives have been volunteering for this event for over a decade. We look forward to the opportunity to instill public service values among the County's teenagers and young adults.

OIG Presents at the American Society for Public Administration South Florida 18th Annual Best Practices Conference

The OIG was on hand at the American Society for Public Administration (ASPA) South Florida Chapter's Best Practices Conference in February 2024. Inspector General Felix Jimenez, Assistant Inspector General for Investigations Hector Ortiz, and Investigative Analyst Supervisor Kimberly Samuel served on a panel moderated by OIG Contract Oversight Specialist Terry Murphy—an ASPA National Council Board Member. The session entitled "Standing Watch: Accountability and the Role of the Inspector General" provided an overview of the functions and operations of the OIG and highlighted several OIG public corruption investigations in recent years. Following the presentation, the panelists responded to numerous questions from the audience pertaining to the qualifications of OIG personnel, the jurisdiction of the agency, and the agency's independence from political interference.

ASPA's mission is to advance excellence in public service and is the leading professional membership association for public servants. The audience for the conference primarily consisted of individuals employed by government, non-profits, and academia. The conference was also attended by college students pursuing degrees in Public Administration. The 2024 conference theme XYZ: Public Service Across Generations focused on technology, ethics, multigenerational wellbeing, public relations, and workforce development.

Take Your Child to Work Day

Take Your Child to Work Day is a national day that gives children a glimpse into the working world, shows them the value of their education, and provides an opportunity to share how they envision the future. The 2024 theme "Inspire 2 Aspire" aimed to instill a mindset that children can choose their own future. On April 25, 2024, the children of OIG staff spent a day in our office as "Honorary Inspectors General" exploring different career opportunities in investigations, auditing, contract oversight, and the law. OIG Auditor Cristin Revilla looks forward to welcoming our children every year and plans an exciting day for them and our staff. We look forward to seeing them come back each year with enthusiasm and curiosity.

First Aid, CPR, and AED Training

The OIG recognizes the importance of being equipped with life-saving skills as a vital contribution to the safety and security of all while upholding the values of care, responsibility, and preparedness. In 2024, Risk Management Safety Officer Frederick Williams facilitated an all-day training certification course for OIG staff, which included instruction in cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR), automated external defibrillator (AED), and standard first aid.

MIAMI TODAY

WEEK OF THURSDAY, APRIL 11, 2024 ● ● WWW.MIAMITODAYNEWS.COM

On April 11, 2024, Miami Today featured Inspector General Felix Jimenez in an article highlighting his public service career in Miami-Dade County.
A copy of the article can be found at: https://www.miamitodaynews.com/2024/04/09/felix-jimenez-inspector-general-works-to-deter-county-fraud-waste-abuse/

Inspector General oversees diverse team to deter county fraud, waste, and abuse

The comprehensive article, which included an interview, also featured the following profile: "For decades, Felix Jimenez has dedicated his career to ensuring the integrity and accountability of Miami's government institutions. As the Inspector General for the Miami-Dade County Office of the Inspector General (OIG) since February 2009, he has spent 15 years overseeing the efforts of investigators, auditors, lawyers and contract specialists who work together to detect and deter fraud, waste and abuse within county government. Before joining the office, Mr. Jimenez was in the Miami-Dade Police Department for 28 years, when he worked as a supervisor in the Homicide Bureau, participated in over 500 death investigations, and was directly involved in several high-profile cases. He also led the department's Centact-26 squad investigating homicides involving drug trafficking organizations. Mr. Jimenez was later tasked with developing the department's Public Corruption Investigations Unit, where he would go on to supervise investigations involving government employees, law enforcement officers, contractors and elected officials. He has also taught at law enforcement agencies throughout the United States, including the South Florida Metropolitan Police Institute and the FBI Academy, in the areas of public corruption and violent crime investigation.

Mr. Jimenez 's involvement in state and federal prosecutions has not only helped to root out corruption from government but has also raised awareness about the importance of transparency and accountability in institutions.

Born in Cuba, Mr. Jimenez moved to Miami at age 3 after his parents fled the Castro regime. When not working, he enjoys spending time with his wife of 42 years, four children and 11 grandchildren, and numerous hobbies from beekeeping to scuba diving."

III. OPERATING BUDGET

The OIG supports its commitment that we shall be productive and cost effective, being careful to continue doing our part to spend frugally and to not waste economic and environmental resources. Annually, we collaborate with the County's Office of Management and Budget to account for the prior fiscal year's actual expenditures, current year projections, and develop the OIG's prospective proposed budget.

The OIG is funded by three distinct sources. This includes the OIG's proprietary fees assessed on County contracts, direct payments collected through Memorandums of Understanding entered into with various County departments where we have committed substantial resources, and General Funds allocated through the County's budget process. The availability of carryover (higher than expected returns on IG proprietary fees and unspent accumulated savings) also offsets the OIG's need for General Fund dollars.

The chart below shows the OIG's financial summary and comes directly from the County's Fiscal Year 2024-2025 Adopted Budget:

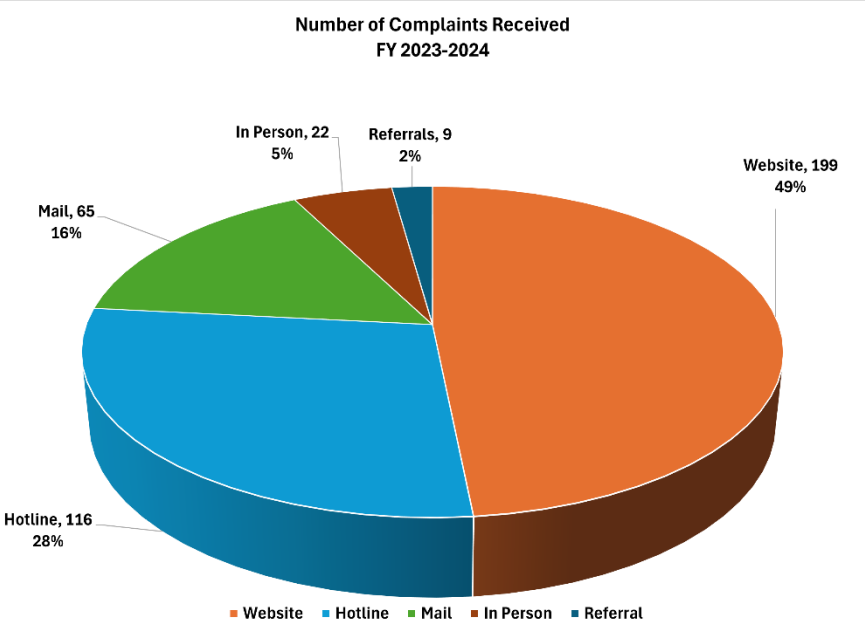
DIVISION: INSPECTOR GENERAL

The OIG's principal objective is to promote honesty and efficiency in government and to prevent and detect misconduct, fraud and abuse in County programs and contracts. The OIG strives to ensure that taxpayers get a fair and honest accounting of their money and, where possible, seeks appropriate remedies to recover public funds.

- Communicates the Office's accomplishments through report distribution, website communication and public awareness initiatives
- Investigates, audits and inspects programs, projects and contracts to detect and prevent fraud, mismanagement, waste and abuse
- Provides all professional support to these functions including publicly reporting findings
- Publicly reports findings and initiates or makes civil, administrative and criminal referrals where necessary

Strategic Plan Objectives



- GG1-1: Support a customer-focused organization by providing convenient access to information and services, and by ensuring processes are easy to navigate

IV. COMPLAINTS & DISPOSITION OF COMPLAINTS

The OIG received 411 complaints in Fiscal Year 2023-2024. Of these, 199 were made using our website's on-line complaint form, 116 were received through our Hotline, 65 by mail, 22 were received from individuals who came to the office and met with an investigator and nine were referrals.

The majority of the complaints received, 51% were assisted by our office, the complaint warranted no further action, and/or were closed. 6% of complaints resulted in Preliminary Inquiries or Investigations, an Audit or Contract Oversight initiated. Of the complaints received, 43% were referred to appropriate County departments or other governmental agencies that could directly address the complaints. The OIG requests responses for any action taken on most of the complaints referred to County departments. Those responses are evaluated, and the complaint may be closed, the OIG may seek further clarification or may initiate its own investigation.

V. INVESTIGATIONS UNIT

The Investigations Unit works toward accomplishing the OIG's mission by conducting investigations of fraud, waste, abuse, and misconduct related to county programs, operations, contracts, vendors, and county employees. OIG Special Agents have a wide variety of experience including prior employment at law enforcement and regulatory agencies. They are skilled in conducting investigations of white-collar crimes, financial fraud, and public corruption. The Investigations Unit coordinates with the Miami-Dade State Attorney's Office, the United States Attorney's Office, and other local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies to leverage resources and fraud-fighting efforts. The OIG is also a member of the Federal Bureau of Investigation's South Florida Public Corruption Task Force. Our investigations often result in the filing of criminal charges; administrative actions, including the implementation of recommendations suggested by the OIG; and monetary recoveries.

The Analyst Unit directly supports the OIG's investigative activities through intelligence gathering and analytical support. OIG Investigative Analysts are dedicated to maintaining relationships with organizations such as the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, the International Association of Financial Crimes Investigators, and the Financial Institution Security Association.

In addition to investigative support, the Analyst Unit conducts criminal history background checks of advisory board nominees as mandated by the Miami-Dade County Code. The Miami-Dade County Board of County Commissioners has created 96 advisory boards comprised of volunteers nominated by individual commissioners. As part of the appointment process, the OIG Analyst Unit conducts State of Florida criminal history background checks on advisory board nominees. In 2024, 95 criminal history background checks were conducted. The OIG Analyst Unit also manages the OIG Hotline that allows the public, county employees, stakeholders, and others to report suspected corruption, fraud, waste, and abuse.

The Investigations Unit conforms with the Association of Inspectors General (AIG) Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspector General and has demonstrated its adherence to those standards during three Peer Reviews completed by the AIG. In addition, the Investigations Unit also complies with the standards developed for the Florida inspector general community by the Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation (CFA). The OIG's Investigations Unit has been re-accredited four times since its initial accreditation in July of 2010. The Investigations Unit will undergo both an Accreditation and Peer Review in 2025.

During this past year, the Investigations Unit completed numerous investigations and reviews. The following pages highlight some of the Investigations Unit's notable cases.

A. ARRESTS, PROSECUTIONS, AND SENTENCINGS

Conviction of Former Miami-Dade County Commissioner

A Former Miami-Dade County District 11 Commissioner was convicted by a Miami-Dade County jury on charges of corruption following an investigation conducted by the OIG in conjunction with the Miami-Dade State Attorney's Office Public Corruption Unit. The former commissioner who had been suspended pending the trial, was found guilty of one count of Unlawful Compensation (a second-degree felony) and one count of Conspiracy to Commit Unlawful Compensation (a third-degree felony).

Arrested in August 2022, the former commissioner had been facing charges stemming from a scheme to use his official position to benefit himself. The investigation found that after his re-election to the Board of County Commissioners in 2016, the commissioner sponsored a revision to the Code of Miami-Dade County. The draft legislation would have assisted the owners of a supermarket and strip mall battling repeated fines from the County due to the number of cargo containers they could legally maintain on the property.

In the complex scheme, the former commissioner not only took $15,000 in payments from the supermarket owner but enlisted the strip mall owner's assistance to negotiate factoring financing for the benefit of his personal employer. The OIG investigation found that the former commissioner's employer was having trouble paying its employees, including the commissioner. Although the code revision was withdrawn, the criminal act was completed as the law does "…not require that the exercise of influence or violation of a public duty… for which a pecuniary benefit was given…was accomplished." Section 838.016 Florida Statute. The former commissioner faces potential prison time; sentencing is scheduled in 2025.

Executive Director of Non-Profit Convicted of Federal Offenses

The OIG assisted the United States Department of Labor, Office of the Inspector General (DOL-OIG) in an investigation into a wire fraud conspiracy to defraud the government of federal workforce program funds administered at the state and local level. CareerSource South Florida (CareerSource), the operating entity in Miami-Dade and Monroe Counties that implements the various workforce development programs, filed a complaint regarding one of its service providers after noting irregularities during routine quality assurance monitoring.

The non-profit organization flagged by CareerSource operated a workforce re-entry program. The non-profit received federal funds from two sources, both of which passed through County-funded programs.

The investigation found a scheme by the organization's executive director and co-defendants to enrich themselves by diverting stolen funds to their personal and corporate bank accounts. The investigation found fraudulent participant files using the personal identifying information of others and fabricated wage records that were created to make it appear that payments were made to program participants employed at specific companies. The companies were owned by the executive director and one of her co-defendants.

The executive director and three co-defendants were indicted on federal charges of Conspiracy to Defraud the United States and Aggravated Identity Theft, all pled guilty. The executive director was sentenced to seven years in federal prison, two co-defendants also were sentenced to at least a year in federal prison and the third co-defendant was sentenced to probation. All were ordered to pay restitution in amounts ranging between $35,000 and over $350,000.

OIG Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security (CARES) Act Task Force Cases

The OIG participates in the FBI's Miami Area Corruption Task Force and has assisted in the investigation of CARES Act fraud cases committed by Miami-Dade County employees. The Task Force, in addition to the OIG, includes investigators from the U.S. Small Business Administration Office of Inspector General (SBA OIG), the Miami-Dade Sheriff's Office, the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI), Miami Field Office, and on some cases have also included the Internal Revenue Service Criminal Investigations Division (IRS-CID).

The CARES Act, enacted in March 2020, provided emergency financial assistance to individuals and eligible small businesses, sole proprietorships, and independent contractors experiencing substantial financial hardships due to the COVID-19 pandemic. Through the CARES Act, the SBA provided several types of loans such as the Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs), and Paycheck Protection Program (PPP) loans.

To obtain the loans, qualifying businesses were required to submit applications and to provide information about its operations such as the number of its employees, gross revenues, etc. Applicants were required to certify under penalty of perjury that all information in either the EIDL or PPP loan application was true and correct. The following case is the result of the OIG's collaboration with the FBI Task Force and involved the investigation of a Miami-Dade County employee who fraudulently applied for CARES Act funds.

Former Corrections Officer Pleads Guilty to CARES Act Fraud

A former Miami-Dade County Corrections and Rehabilitation Department officer pled guilty to wire fraud in connection with his fraudulent application for an Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL). The corrections officer submitted to the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) a false and fraudulent EIDL application claiming to be the 100% owner of a sole proprietorship. As a result of the fraudulent submitted application, the corrections officer received $150,000 in EIDL proceeds from the SBA.

The corrections officer's fraudulent EIDL application to the SBA grossly overstated the company's gross revenues as $450,000 for the 12-month period prior to January 31, 2020, and the number of employees allegedly working for the company. The OIG also found that the request and disclosure forms required to be filed by County employees if engaging in outside employment were not filed. The corrections officer, who retired from the County prior to the commencement of the investigation, was prosecuted by the United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Florida.

B. ADMINISTRATIVE INVESTIGATIONS OF COUNTY PERSONNEL

Outside Employment Activities and Misuse of County Resources by Division Director Results in Updated Policies and Procedures

An OIG investigation based on a confidential complaint revealed that the Benefits Division Director of the Human Resources (HR) Department violated several County policies regarding outside employment and misuse of County personnel and resources to further private personal ventures.

The investigation found that the Benefits Division Director was the owner of two B-12 Store franchises in Palm Beach County. The stores opened for business while HR employees were on a work-from-home status due to COVID-19 pandemic restrictions. The investigation substantiated that the Division Director did, on more than one occasion, work for her personal outside business ventures during County work hours. In addition, the Division Director failed to comply with County policies for requesting and reporting outside employment. The OIG found that the Division Director used County equipment for her personal outside employment business and had a subordinate employee help with her private business and other personal matters.

An allegation that the Division Director improperly modified the insurance election and provided a refund of insurance premiums for a subordinate employee was unfounded. The investigation found the Division Director was authorized to make the modification, however, the required documentation to support those changes was never received by the County or the contractual insurance vendor.

The OIG made several recommendations which have been accepted. HR has made or is in the process of making, the following recommended changes: outside employment request forms will require employees specifically acknowledge certain conditions, such as no outside work to be conducted during County time or with County equipment; issuance of any insurance premium refunds to County employees will not be authorized prior to the receipt of all required documentation; and plan changes or refunds to HR employees will have to be authorized by the HR Division Director and the Department's Director.

An ancillary issue that arose during the investigation led to a proposed change in County policies governing employee responsibilities to report on and off-duty arrests in a timely manner. The OIG's recommendation, which will be presented to the Board of County Commissioners, clarifies and expands who must be notified of an employee's arrest, ensuring the Department is timely aware and can take any necessary personnel actions.

The Division Director was subsequently terminated from County employment.

County Employee's Felony Conviction Leads to New County HR Background Policies and Procedures

The OIG was contacted by a federal agency requesting confirmation of an individual's employment with Miami-Dade County. In determining the status of the employee, the OIG found the County's procedures relating to intra- and inter-departmental transfers of employees were lacking.

The employee, who was initially hired for an entry-level, part-time position by the Seaport Department (Seaport), had since transferred to the Department of Transportation and Public Works (DTPW) reporting directly to its Chief of Contracts and Procurement. His responsibilities at DTPW included preparing procurement documents and ensuring contract compliance of project documentation from initiation to contract award and implementation.

The OIG discovered that the employee had been the Town Administrator for a city in Broward County until he was arrested for defrauding the city of nearly $500,000. He pled guilty to multiple counts of Organized Scheme to Defraud and Money Laundering and was sentenced to 12 years in State prison, followed by 10 years of probation.

Although his criminal history was not a bar to his employment with the Seaport, his responsibilities with DTPW had a nexus to the activity he was convicted of as a public official. As such, he should have been disqualified from the position with DTPW pursuant to Section 2-31(b)(4) of the Code of Miami-Dade County.

The OIG found that the employee had not been forthcoming with the County HR about his previous employment history and ongoing probationary status. In addition, the OIG found that the County had no formal policy or procedure requiring departments to review an employee's criminal history when changing job positions or transferring departments within the County. As a result of the OIG investigation, the County implemented new procedures regarding criminal history background screening and validation/verification of work history before a county employee transfers to another department or assumes a new role within the same department.

The employee was subsequently terminated from County employment.

Alleged Unlicensed Practice of Law by County Employee

The OIG initiated an investigation based on an anonymous complaint alleging that a former Department of Regulatory and Economic Resources (RER) employee held a position requiring membership in the Florida Bar (Bar) but was not licensed to practice law in the State of Florida. The complaint also alleged that the employee represented RER in legal proceedings and used the suffix "Esq." in correspondence and social media.

The OIG determined that the employee, who had graduated from law school but was not a licensed attorney, did not represent the County in legal proceedings and properly attended administrative hearings that did not require her to be an attorney. Based on the OIG's investigation the Human Resources Department (HR) removed the erroneous requirement for Bar membership from the position's job description and pay plan details and changed the position's title.

The OIG also learned that prior to the investigation, the employee had received a Cease-and-Desist Affidavit from the Unlicensed Practice of Law section of the Bar, and had stopped using "Esq." in correspondence. The OIG did note that the employee contributed to a misunderstanding of her membership status with the Florida Bar.

The employee has since resigned from her position with Miami-Dade County.

Submission of Falsified COVID-19 Test Results

The OIG received an anonymous complaint alleging that a Miami-Dade Transit bus operator submitted an altered form that reflected she had tested positive for the COVID-19 virus in order to fraudulently obtain up to 80 hours of special Coronavirus sick leave available at the time to all County employees.

The OIG investigation substantiated that the bus operator did, in fact, submit a doctored document to her supervisors, which indicated she had tested positive for the virus on January 27, 2022, when in fact the actual test results from the captioned date reflected she had tested negative for the COVID-19 virus.

The OIG discovered that the bus operator did, in fact, test positive for the virus approximately four days later. She was then entitled to use the special Coronavirus sick leave, instead of taking her own sick leave hours. The bus operator resigned a few days after her initial interview with the OIG.

C. OTHER INVESTIGATIONS & REVIEWS

Investigation into MDAD Tenant Found to be Operating in Violation of County Lease Agreement Results in Monitoring and Compliance Improvements

The OIG initiated an investigation into allegations that a Miami-Dade Aviation Department (MDAD) tenant was not paying the correct amount of opportunity fees. In consideration of the ability to transact business at the airport, tenants and permittees must pay the County an opportunity fee. Under the tenant's agreement, the fee is a percentage of the monthly gross revenues exceeding the monthly rental. Although the investigation focused on the underreporting of gross revenues, the complaint also alleged that the tenant was operating beyond the scope of its lease agreement. The OIG found that MDAD had reviewed the incidents regarding the tenant operating beyond its authority and MDAD had imposed civil fines; although the OIG found that they were still outstanding.

The investigation revealed the tenant's underreporting of gross revenues and failure to pay required fees at the time they were due was ongoing for at least three years. The OIG found the tenant's underreporting of gross revenues was due to its consistent reporting of cash-basis revenues instead of reporting full gross revenues as mandated by the MDAD lease agreement. The tenant and MDAD used the required annual internal audit to determine and reconcile any shortfalls in reported gross revenues at year-end. The tenant has paid the outstanding opportunity fee balances that totaled over $124,000, plus interest and penalties.

Although the investigation did not find evidence of fraudulent intent, the tenant's practice is problematic as it subjects MDAD to delayed payment and unnecessary risk of non-payment of past-due opportunity fees. The risk is exacerbated due to the tenant's failure to timely provide the mandated yearly audits, and its expanded footprint at Miami International Airport due to a ten-year lease agreement entered into in 2022. The OIG made several recommendations to MDAD, which were accepted. The recommendations as implemented included a review of leases to improve reporting and payment compliance, an audit of the tenant, and a new and updated process of identifying unpaid fines.

Underpayment of Employees and Unauthorized Fees Extracted by an MDAD Contractor

The OIG initiated an investigation predicated on a referral from the County's Office of Small Business Development. Four employees of a Miami-Dade Aviation Department (MDAD) contractor advised that their employer misclassified their positions to pay them lower wages, and that the company's supervisor required employees to pay a $100 weekly cash fee to remain employed.

The OIG investigation confirmed that the company misclassified the employees' positions and paid them at a lower rate than those contracted with MDAD. The investigation also found a scheme by the company's supervisor requiring cash payments from employees under threat of termination.
As a result of the OIG investigation, the company reimbursed the payroll underpayments to all affected employees in the amount of $14,011.90 and terminated the supervisor. In addition, the company reimbursed the affected employees for all unlawfully obtained funds by the fired supervisor in the amount of $7,300. The OIG brought the matter to the State Attorney's Office, however, due to evidentiary issues prosecution was not feasible.

Allegations of Double Billing by an MDAD Contractor

The OIG initiated an investigation into a Miami-Dade Aviation Department Building Security Systems and Maintenance contractor. The investigation focused on whether the contractor (contractor #1) performed work at MDAD both under its contract and as a subcontractor to another MDAD contractor (contractor #2). The concern was that contractor #1 was billing both MDAD and contractor #2 for the same projects.

The OIG conducted a review of all contracts between the parties and determined that the services they provided function independently. Both contractors have individual contracts with MDAD, and a separate sub-contractual relationship with each other that did not adversely affect MDAD.

To determine whether double billing occurred, the OIG conducted a thorough review of select contractor #1 and contractor #2 projects to determine if MDAD maintained a system of controls to ensure that: 1) the appropriate approvals were being obtained; 2) material and equipment installed were verified and operational; and 3) vendors were compensated based on contract terms with no duplication of tasks or billing.

The OIG reviewed documentation which contained the MDAD required authorizations, audits, and final approvals for each project. Once the projects were completed, the parties verified that all the hardware and software was installed for each project. The verification documentation was reviewed by the OIG. Upon the completion of the projects, invoices were submitted to MDAD for payment.

Although the OIG reviewed a limited number of projects, the OIG found no evidence of double billing and it appears from MDAD's established internal controls, redundancies, and segregation of duties that contractor #1 was not double-billing MDAD for services. The projects performed by contractor #1 for contractor #2 were outside the scope of the contract with MDAD.

MDAD Permittee Alleged to have Misrepresented Information

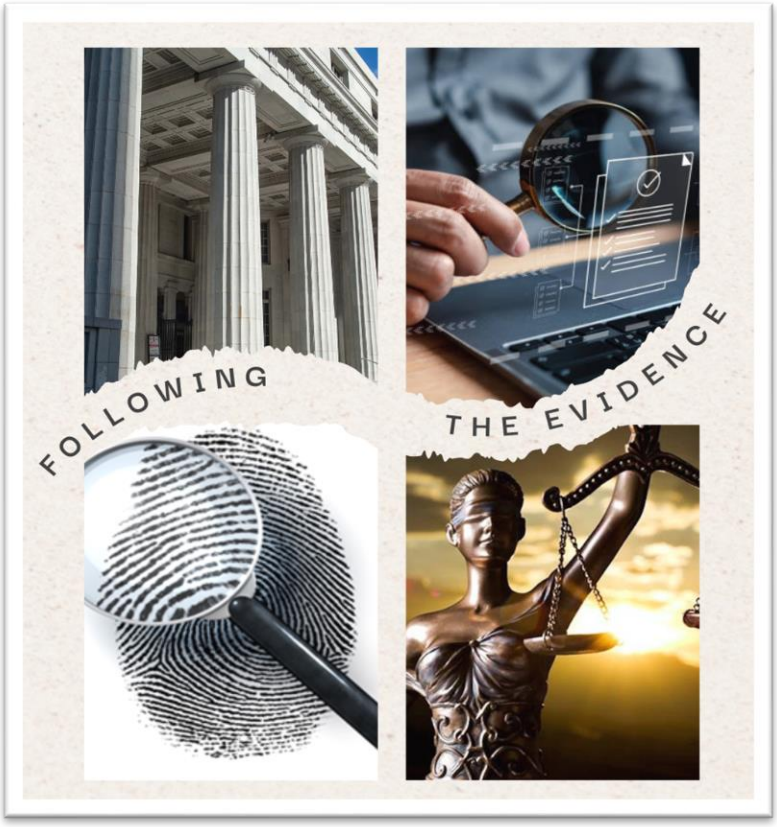
The OIG received an anonymous complaint alleging the owner of a Miami-Dade Aviation Department permittee misrepresented the status of the company's permit with MDAD to obtain a permit with the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA). The company applied for a permit to conduct business within the cargo section of Miami International Airport (MIA) to conduct live animal transport services. It was also alleged that the company was subletting office space from an MDAD leaseholder, without authorization.

The OIG confirmed the company's permit with MDAD and that it had obtained a permit from the USDA. However, USDA was unable to locate the applications, therefore the representations regarding its permit with MDAD could not be substantiated. The allegation regarding the sublease was also unsubstantiated. The permittee has ceased operations and MDAD has cancelled its permit.

Property Conveyances by Former County Commissioner Questioned

The OIG initiated an investigation predicated on allegations of improper property conveyances by a former Board of County Commissioners (BCC) District Commissioner. The complainant alleged that the former Commissioner used her position to improperly give several County surplus real properties within the district to certain non-profit entities.

Florida Statutes and Implementing Order (IO) 8-4 give the BCC sole authority and broad discretion as to how and to whom it conveys surplus real property. Furthermore, the BCC has the flexibility to convey the property without competitive bids and the authority to waive any required advertisement period. The OIG's review of the property conveyances revealed that nothing was done improperly.



The allegation that the former Commissioner was improperly gifting County surplus properties to friends or business partners in violation of state laws and county policies was unfounded.

Shipping Weights of County Garbage Residue Questioned

The OIG initiated an investigation after being contacted by the Department of Solid Waste Management (DSWM) Director concerning a discrepancy in the hauling tonnage of "unders," a residue by-product resulting from the garbage processing system. The discrepancy had a costly financial impact, and DSWM was concerned it may have resulted from the deliberate actions of a party or parties involved in the hauling process.

DSWM requested the OIG review the process of loading and weighing unders at the County's Resource Recovery Facility (RRF), located in Doral, and transporting said unders to Waste Management's Okeechobee Landfill for disposal. The OIG's investigation into the weighing and shipping of unders from the RRF to the Okeechobee Landfill showed that manipulation of truck identification decals and other schemes by drivers, combined with lax weighing protocols, likely contributed to the weight discrepancies, thus resulting in overbilling. The investigation, however, did not reveal sufficient evidence to identify any party as criminally responsible for manipulating the shipping weights of unders.

The OIG found it significant that corrective measures implemented by the company managing the RRF and DSWM, at approximately the same time the investigation began, largely reduced the discrepancies. DSWM and the RRF management company were subsequently able to resolve the billing issues for the periods 2018-2019 and 2019-2020, resulting in the County being credited for the overbilled amounts. The facility has since ceased operations following a destructive fire.

VI. AUDIT UNIT

The OIG Audit Unit's primary objective is to support the mission of the OIG by conducting audits, inspections and evaluations to detect fraud, waste, and mismanagement. Audit engagements generally conclude with the issuance of a final audit report that provide the OIG's findings, observations, and recommendations involving the audited subject matter. The final report also includes the auditee's response to those findings and recommendations. When questioned costs, opportunities for savings, and other financial impacts are uncovered, OIG auditors will make targeted recommendations to mitigate identified risks and recover public monies as appropriate. Most importantly, the OIG Audit Unit follows up with the County entities responsible for implementing those recommendations to ensure that appropriate action is taken to address any noted deficiencies and adverse conditions.

Audits performed are derived mostly from complaints received by the OIG or initiated at the direction of the OIG Executive Team when, in the course of other oversight work performed by the OIG, an area of interest is discovered warranting an in-depth audit of the subject. The OIG's audit authority is embedded in Article 9, Section 11 of the Miami-Dade County Home Rule Charter, which empowers the OIG to conduct audits and reviews of County contracts, programs and projects. More specifically, Section 2-1076(d)(6) of the Code of Miami-Dade County enables the OIG to conduct audits of County contracts at random. The Audit Unit also assists other OIG units by providing financial, accounting, or analytical research as needed.

The Audit Unit conforms with the Association of Inspectors General (AIG) Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspector General (Green Book) and the Generally Accepted Government Auditing Standards (GAGAS aka Yellow Book). The AIG conducted its most recent Peer Review of our office in October 2022 to determine compliance with the Green Book and the Yellow Book. The peer review was passed satisfactorily, meeting all relevant qualitative standards for the period under review. Our next peer review is scheduled for Fall of 2025.

The Audit Unit is comprised of a team of experienced individuals with various auditing backgrounds. All members hold the AIG's Certified Inspector General Auditor designation. Additional designations held by Audit Unit members include that of Certified Public Accountant, Certified Fraud Examiner, Certified Internal Auditor, AIG's Certified Inspector/Evaluator, Certified Risk Management Assurance Auditor, Certified Government Auditing Professional, Certified Government Financial Manager, as well as Certified Financial Services Auditor.

Summaries of our reports issued in 2024 as well as some of our on-going audit activities are noted in the following pages.

A. THE OIG'S ON-GOING REVIEW OF POOL CONTRACTS

One of the main objectives for establishing pool contracts is to make the process for buying regularly accessed items or services simpler and faster to procure. Pool contracts also provide more contracting opportunities to a larger number of firms, and based on the estimated value of the procurement, pools allow for sheltered contracting opportunities to certified small business enterprises (SBEs). Through a solicitation for qualifications, potential contractors, suppliers, and vendors, are screened to develop a pool of qualified firms who will then compete to render goods and/or services, on an as-needed basis. Since 2021, the OIG audited and reported on one of the largest pool contracts established by Miami-Dade County—the Miscellaneous Construction Contracts (MCC) Program. Departments are able to access the MCC's pools to award construction contracts up to $5 million without having to go before the Board of County Commissioners (Board).

The MCC Program 7040 and 7360 Plans

The OIG Audit Unit has initiated several audits involving the MCC Program. The MCC Program was historically administered as two separate renewable contracts to competitively bid smaller construction projects. In 2009, the Board, via passage of Ordinance No. 09-101, codified the contracts into a permanent program establishing a procurement vehicle to expedite construction contracting and to further enhance contracting opportunities for certified Small Business Enterprise (SBE) – construction firms. Projects valued up to $5 million may be procured through the MCC Program.

The MCC Program is comprised of the 7040 Plan and the 7360 Plan. The 7040 Plan is a 100% set-aside pool for SBE construction firms. The 7360 Plan is an open non-restricted pool for all construction firms, which may be used when funding sources prohibit procurement restrictions, such as a sheltered market, or when there are not sufficient firms available in the 7040 Plan. The Office of Small Business Development (SBD), a unit housed in the Mayor's Office, is responsible for promoting and administering the MCC Program. County Code Section 2-8.2.7.01 and Section 10-33.02, as well as Implementing Order 3-53, establish the guidelines and requirements for the overall MCC Program.

The MCC Program works as a pool contract where pre-qualified contractors—whether they are general contractors or trade-specific contractors—bid on construction projects. County departments accessing either the 7040 or 7360 plans solicit bids via Requests for Price Quotes (RPQs). The MCC Program is the primary contracting vehicle to award contracts for new construction, renovations, repairs, and maintenance projects with a maximum value of up to $5 million. The MCC Program consisted of both emergency and non-emergency projects; all projects are tracked using the County's Capital Improvement Information System (CIIS).

The Emergency Response Team (ERT) Pool is accessed on an emergency basis when there are unforeseen, unanticipated, or urgent construction service needs where the protection of life, health, safety, and welfare of the community or preservation of public property would not be possible using any of the County's standard contracting methods. Once an emergency request has been identified and approved, the department contacts and subsequently awards the project to an ERT Pool contractor in CIIS in accordance with SBD's Contractor Rotational Policy, which requires that departments accessing the pool to contact and award the emergency project to the next available contractor in the ERT rotation.

For non-emergency projects, both the 7040 and the 7360 plans provide for solicitations up to $5 million. The RPQ contains an estimated contract value, a work scope, project name and location, contractor requirements, plans, and specifications. The RPQ also includes a bid form and may request that the bidder submit other ancillary pricing and other necessary information. Prior to the issuance of the RPQ, SBD reviews the RPQ for compliance with County guidelines, Florida Statutes, SBE measures, and the required contractor licenses (trade category). Subsequent to SBD's review and approval, SBD creates a bidders list in CIIS. The bidders list, which is thereafter attached to the RPQ, is based on the contract requirements, contractor rotational position, and SBE goals, if applicable.

RPQs issued under the 7040 Plan are not publicly advertised and only SBE firms registered under the 7040 Plan are eligible to bid. The number of SBE contractors solicited for bids is based on the RPQ dollar value. The MCC 7360 Plan is usually accessed when federal funding is involved, when the funding source does not allow for a set-aside, or when a 100% SBE goal is not attainable. These RPQs are advertised publicly and are open to all contractors; however, to be awarded, the contractor has to be registered within the MCC Program.

During 2022, the OIG issued two audit reports that examined Miami-Dade Fire Rescue's and the Housing Department's use of the emergency pool under the MCC Program. This past year, the OIG issued a third report involving the Parks, Recreation, and Open Spaces Department's utilization of the MCC Program (see below). Additionally, the OIG initiated a fourth audit involving the Internal Service Department's utilization of the MCC Program. Fieldwork is currently in progress and an audit report will be issued in 2025.

Parks, Recreation, and Open Spaces (PROS) Department's Utilization of the County's MCC Program

The OIG issued a final audit report. The audit focused on PROS's compliance with the solicitation and award processes, its adherence to the ERT rotational policy, its compliance with the MCC Program's change order submission and approval process, and its compliance with the County's Prompt Payment Policy. The audit also evaluated SBD's monitoring for departmental compliance.

The audit resulted in two findings and one observation. Finding 1 addressed the absence of proper documentation in the PROS emergency project files that could have indicated compliance with the ERT rotational policy. While three of the five project files tested did contain a copy of the Capital Improvement Information System (CIIS) rotation list, the awarded contractors were not selected from the top of the list. For the remaining two projects, the CIIS rotation list was not evident. While the inclusion of the CIIS rotation list in the project files is not a requirement of Implementing Order (IO) 3-53, it is the most authoritative document that can demonstrate that the rotational policy was adhered to. The OIG recommended that PROS's procurement staff should consistently maintain proof that the ERT rotational policy was adhered to by contacting the contractors in the order listed on the CIIS rotation list. PROS agreed and responded that saving a copy of the rotation list in the files is a good practice. PROS also advised that it has and will adhere to the ERT rotational policy by contacting the contractors in the order listed on the CIIS rotation list.

Finding 2 addressed PROS's blanket contract procurements and awards. Blanket contracts are established for singular trade, repetitive scopes of work such as fence installation and repairs, court resurfacing, roof repairs, etc. They are typically awarded for $95,000 and jobs are tasked to the contractor via work orders. These contract awards are competitively awarded by having the contractors bid on line-item components that are then aggregated for bidding comparison among the responding contractors. In one of the five contracts reviewed, OIG auditors found irregularities in the bid evaluation.

One contractor's bid was incomplete in that no sub-totals were provided, and its grand total was approximately off by $50,000 ($84,606.00 vs. $24,044.53). PROS staff completed the mathematical calculations for the vendor to arrive at a bid amount of $24,044.53. Two months after the award date, 43 of the 54 line items were revised through negotiation and the grand total bid amount was revised to $23,606. PROS procurement staff explained that the awarded contractor's bid was considered complete since each line item had a unit price listed. As for the lower bid amount after the awarded date, procurement staff stated that the bid was unbalanced, thus staff negotiated for lower unit prices. The OIG believes that an incomplete and unbalanced bid should have been cause to reject the bid in the first place. The OIG recommended that PROS procurement staff comply with both the County's and Program's requirements that require bid forms to be complete and award contracts to the lowest priced, responsive and responsible bidder. Revising bid prices after contract award was not allowed. PROS advised that it will ensure its procurement staff comply with both the IO and RPQ requirements.

Observation 1 addressed PROS' noncompliance with the County's Prompt Payment Policy, which requires payment to SBE contractors be within 14 days of receipt of the invoice on amounts not in dispute for services procured from the 7040 Plan. Over half of the 7040 projects' invoices tested were paid between 15 days and 69 days. The OIG did not test invoice payments under the 7360 Plan, which is an unrestricted pool open to both SBE and non-SBE firms, where the 14-day prompt payment policy does not apply. (Payments to SBE-certified contractors for work procured under the 7360 Plan must be made within 30 days.) The OIG noted PROS's recent improvement in its payment processing, and we are encouraged that this trend will continue.

OIG Inquiry into the SW 87th Avenue Bridge Over Canal C-100 Project

Predicated upon a complaint received by the OIG from the Village of Palmetto Bay containing various allegations related to a controversial bridge project, the OIG conducted a preliminary inquiry and issued a report into the one allegation involving misuse of the MCC 7360 Plan. Specifically, the complaint alleged that project costs were underestimated to circumvent a formal procurement process—outside of the MCC Program—which would have required contract award by the Board of County Commissioners (Board). Given the OIG's on-going audit series into the MCC 7040/7360 Program, OIG auditors were uniquely positioned to expedite this review.

The review determined that when advertised, the project's Request for Price Quote (RPQ) contained a construction estimate of $3,076,803. An addendum revised quantities in the design plan, which reduced the project's estimated value from $3,076,083 to $2,901,819. A subsequent addendum revised design plans with an increase in the beam sizes, thus increasing the project's estimated value by approximately $37,000 to $2,938,492.

Six firms attended a non-mandatory pre-bid meeting; four bids were received. The lowest base bid was $4,499,077. The second bid was approximately $367,000 higher. The other two bids were over the $5 million maximum allowance. The lowest bid, with the inclusion of the 10% contingency allowance and seven dedicated allowance accounts totaled $4,992,393.81—just under the $5 million maximum. Significant delays, attributed to a lawsuit filed by the Village of Palmetto Bay and permit review by the US Army Corps of Engineers (USACE), of almost two years increased the contractor's prices. Early in the delay, the low bidder was asked by the Department of Transportation and Public Works (DTPW) to extend its bid pricing, which it did. Eighteen months into the delay, given the uncertain timetable for USACE permit approval, the low bidder suggested that price escalation impacts be reviewed only after the permit was approved.

In the subsequent months, the USACE permit was approved, and the low bidder sent a detailed escalation price impact analysis for DTPW's review. Negotiations between DTPW and the low bidder regarding the escalation impact ensued. Around the same time, DTPW in conjunction with the Office of Small Business Development processed the RPQ for award. A final negotiated price escalation of $550,000 was agreed to by the parties. Because this change order will increase the total contract value in excess of $5 million, this change order must be approved by the Board.

The OIG's review concluded that the procurement process for the SW 87 Avenue Bridge Over Canal C-100 Project was consistent with the procedures contained in and the authority provided by AO 3-39 and IO 3-53. In accordance with these policies, DTPW is in the process of seeking the Board's approval for the change order. The OIG continues to monitor to ensure that this change order is promptly processed.

The Equitable Distribution Program

The OIG has initiated several audits on departmental procurement of architectural and engineering (A/E) design services under the County's Equitable Distribution Program (EDP). Miami-Dade County created the EDP to expedite the procurement of A/E services for lower dollar threshold consulting engagements.

The program is structured to equitably distribute projects in all County technical certifications to the program participants through a centralized rotational system. Each firm's position in the technical certification pools is based on their prior contracting opportunities with the County. For the period under review, the EDP may be accessed to obtain A/E services for construction projects with an estimated cost up to $4 million and for studies up to $500,000. Recently, effective July 1, 2024, the construction estimate threshold increased to $7.5 million, while the maximum contract award amount for studies remained at $500,000.

This past year, the OIG initiated audits into four County departments and their utilization of the EDP. These audits will focus on each department's overall compliance with established EDP guidelines, including but not limited to department special requests, emergency awards, and change orders to extend EDP services. Fieldwork is currently in progress for these four departments. Additional departments will be selected for testing in 2025.

B. OTHER AUDITS, INSPECTIONS & REVIEWS

Audit of the Guardianship Program of Dade County's Processes and Procedures used for the Sale of Ward's Real Property

In July 2024, the OIG released an audit report of all property sales conducted by the Guardianship Program of Dade County (GPDC) for a 5 ½ - year period (October 1, 2017, through March 31, 2023). The genesis of the audit was a series of media reports concerning the GPDC and its sale of the real estate assets of its wards. These media reports raised alarms given the vulnerable population served by GPDC. Since the 1990s, GPDC has been designated a public guardian for individuals residing in Miami-Dade County that are unable to care for themselves having been declared incapacitated by a court of law (i.e., wards of the state). Without a family member or other professional guardian to take care of them, GPDC is the guardian of last resort for our most vulnerable citizens. A small percentage of wards owned real property assets, which may be sold for the benefit of the ward.

Upon circulation of the media reports, the County's District 5 Commissioner, noting the County's $2.7 million annual funding to GPDC, requested the Inspector General review GPDC's practices and procedures relating to the sale of real property. This request was promptly followed by a formal request from the County Mayor to also launch a review into how GPDC sells the real estate assets of its wards.

OIG auditors evaluated the process used by the GPDC to manage its wards' real property assets, including steps to secure real property and determinations on whether a sale of the property is needed.

While the Florida Administrative Code (FAC), governing legal guardians, imposes factors that should be taken into consideration in determining whether property should be sold, once a decision has been made to sell the real property, neither Florida Statutes nor FAC Rules impose standards that must be followed in how that property is to be offered for sale. For this, the OIG assessed these transactions against the procedures described in GPDC's own internal procedures and guidelines. The objectives of the audit assessed whether:

1. GPDC's procedures for the solicitation and engagement of real estate sales agents, brokers, appraisers, and potential buyers conform to guardianship best practices and any other legal requirements for guardians receiving public funding.

2. The process used by GPDC to manage its wards' real properties, including the appraisal, advertisement, and sale of said properties, is conducted in a manner that befits its role as the court-appointed fiduciary over the incapacitated person and that its management and disposal of its ward's real properties are in accordance with Florida Statute requirements and FAC Rules.

3. The disposal of wards' real properties is conducted in a manner that precludes a conflict of interest with third parties participating in the sales process of the real property.

The report contained a total of four audit findings and 15 recommendations. Underlying these audit findings, the OIG observed a lack of management oversight, as a key supervisory position responsible for supervising the intake and property function, including the direct supervision of the three property coordinators, had been vacant for almost four years.

The first finding addresses the methodology used by GPDC to engage and rotate both appraisers and real estate agents when needed for the sale of real property. GPDC policy mandates appraisers and real estate agents should be rotated from a pre-approved list. That list, provided to the OIG by GPDC at the onset of the audit, consisted of 10 appraisers and 15 real estate agents. Audit fieldwork shows that 84.5% of all property appraisals were performed by three appraisers and 54% of the properties were sold by three real estate agents. Five real estate agents were never engaged to sell any properties, and five real estate agents not on the list were engaged to sell properties.

A second finding addresses the sale of ward property to investors. GPDC policy allows for direct sales, not utilizing the services of a real estate listing agent. These direct sales are permitted under extenuating circumstances, such as insufficient equity to pay a sales commission, hazardous conditions, presence of unauthorized occupants, etc. For the period under review, a total of eight such properties were sold to investors. GPDC maintains a list of 54 named individuals or businesses that comprise a pool of potential buyers for properties. Documentation related to the sale of these eight properties is silent as to how many investors were contacted and how the offers were received and evaluated by GPDC. While the process was verbally explained to the OIG, documentation in GPDC files did not support the stated process.

The third finding discusses the use of real estate agents to sell wards' homes and the agent's listing of properties on the Multiple Listing Service (MLS). Placing a property on the MLS augments the visibility of the property listing. Forty-eight (48) properties were sold using the services of a licensed real estate agent; however, 18 of these properties were not placed on the MLS despite the Exclusive Right of Sale Listing Agreement (listing agreement) requiring it. These 18 property sales generated $216,078 in real estate commissions that were paid to the real estate agents.

The last finding discusses conflicts that are prohibited by statute, administrative code, and/or GPDC's policies and procedures. Actual conflicts concern two GPDC property coordinators. A property coordinator's wife owns and currently lives in a ward's property and a second property coordinator's friend and business partner bought a ward's home. Both property coordinators have since resigned from GPDC. Another conflict involved an organizational conflict by a GPDC Board Member who served as a title/escrow agent for four property sales, thereby representing both sides of the transaction. Last, we found vendor conflicts including a real estate agent who acquired an interest in a ward's home, and a vendor who is married to a GPDC employee.

During the course of conducting this audit, OIG auditors were stationed at the GPDC's office and not only interacted with staff members but also observed the day-to-day operations of the program. Though case management and the care of wards were not part of this audit, the OIG auditors noticed a dedicated staff who work hard to ensure the wards are well taken care of, are visited by case managers, and receive benefits they are entitled to.

The OIG's recommendations were primarily directed to the County's Office of Management and Budget (OMB)—the county department that manages the grant funding to GPDC. OMB implemented our recommendations to update the GPDC's funding agreement. The new funding agreement requires the GPDC to implement the report's recommendations and for OMB to monitor the GPDC's use of the funds provided by Miami-Dade County.

Review of Construction Engineering Inspection (CEI) Services Utilized by the Department of Transportation and Public Works (DTPW)

In January 2024, the OIG issued an inspection report regarding our review of the potential impact of a proposed resolution mandating lump sum or cost-plus fixed-fee contracts for CEI services. CEI includes project administration, project monitoring, and the inspection of construction work to ensure it is completed in accordance with plans and specifications.

The review focused on DTPW's contracting practices for services. The OIG found that DTPW uses both in-house and external engineering firms to perform CEI work. The review showed that the Time and Material method for contracting CEI services provides transparency and control, whereas utilizing the lump sum contracts could potentially lead to reduced services. The OIG concluded that the proposed resolution would limit flexibility in project management and could negatively impact project administration.

While a lump sum contract might have perceived benefits, the OIG's review did not substantiate that it would lead to faster project completion. The proposed resolution has been deferred indefinitely.

VII. CONTRACT OVERSIGHT

The Contract Oversight Unit (COU) tracks stages of procurement, from pre-bid meetings to contract award, and conducts periodic oversight of certain active contracts to ensure all terms of the agreement are being met. OIG Contract Oversight Specialists will advise County administrators or issue memoranda documenting any observations and recommendations of improper, unsuitable, or non-compliant procurement practices or contract activities. Contract oversight observations can aid in identifying savings or cost avoidance; however, the primary purpose of the COU is to promote integrity, transparency, and accountability in the County's procurement processes and contracting activities.

The duties and responsibilities of the contract oversight function are codified in Section 2-1076 of the Code of Miami-Dade County. Oversight includes reviewing the advertised solicitations and all addenda issued; observation of the evaluation, selection, and negotiation meetings; monitoring of related communications; and tracking the due diligence assessments of participating vendors. The OIG works to ensure that vendors, contractors, and firms interested in doing business with Miami-Dade County compete on a level playing field.

The COU is comprised of a supervisor and three specialists and overseen by the Deputy Inspector General. Contract Oversight Specialists have diverse professional backgrounds including budget and finance, policy and public administration, construction project management, and architecture. All members of the COU have attained the designation of Certified Inspector General Inspector/Evaluator (CIGE) from the Association of Inspectors General.

Input from the COU's contract oversight specialists, whether verbal or in writing, may occur at any step in the process. Contract oversight specialists, exempt from Cone of Silence's restrictions that limit communications once a solicitation has been advertised, are uniquely positioned to consider input from the participating vendors during the bid process. Vendors may contact the OIG to complain about bid specifications or qualifications, process irregularities, or to question selection criterion that appear to provide an unfair advantage to a competitor.

To protect the public's interest throughout the term of a contract, the COU may monitor contract implementation and contractor performance to ensure compliance with the contract's terms and conditions, validate expenditures, and verify that contracted deliverables have been received. For construction contracts, the COU may monitor adherence to specifications, threshold inspections, construction progress, schedule delays, expenses from the contingency allowance account, and change orders. The COU has earned a reputation of providing objective, valuable information that serves to enhance the integrity of the procurement process and contract management.

A. PROVIDING OVERSIGHT VALUE TO OUR MOU DEPARTMENTS & MONITORING CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT PROGRAMS

Miami-Dade County's Aviation Department (MDAD), Water and Sewer Department (WASD), Department of Transportation and Public Works (DTPW), and the Department of Solid Waste Management (DSWM) have entered into Memorandums of Understanding (MOUs) with the OIG. The following pages highlight some contract oversight activities performed during 2024 relating to these four departments.

1. Miami-Dade Aviation Department (MDAD)

In 2000, the Aviation Department became the OIG's first MOU client department. The MOU was predicated on the passage of Board Resolution R-1203-99 that directed the Administration "to provide the necessary resources to the OIG to conduct a thorough investigation and review of existing contracts at [Miami International Airport (MIA)]." The OIG has maintained a fully staffed satellite office at MIA since 2000.

MIA Central Terminal Redevelopment – Phases 1 & 2

In May 2024, the OIG received two complaints regarding the procurement process to retain architectural and engineering (A/E) services for the Phase 1 redevelopment of the Central Terminal (RFP A23AV02) at Miami International Airport. The scope of work involves infrastructure modernization, improving accessibility, and enhancing security measures. This was a highly competitive procurement of a Professional Services Agreement valued over $39 million. The complaint's allegations were: 1) the possible inconsistency in a Competitive Selection Committee (CSC) member's rating of proposals, and 2) that the top-ranked proposer may have misrepresented its principal's professional experience to misguide the CSC.

So as not to adversely delay the procurement process for this critical project, the OIG placed a priority on conducting our inquiries into these complaints. For the first complaint, the OIG conducted interviews, reviewed scoresheets, and the audio recording for the one CSC Tier 1 evaluation meeting. The OIG determined that despite candid remarks made by a CSC member, his scores and the overall the CSC evaluation process was consistent with the procedures contained in the project solicitation, as well as the authority provided by Implementing Order (IO) 3-34 and IO 3-39. The OIG did not find any grounds to recommend that the decision of the CSC be revisited.

For the second complaint, the OIG reviewed the background and experience information provided in the subject proposer's response to the procurement solicitation. The OIG conducted interviews and performed independent open-source research on the subject of the complaint and past projects worked on by her. We also obtained MDAD archived project documents from decades ago regarding MIA's original South Terminal Expansion Project as that project was cited as qualifying professional experience. The OIG concluded that neither false nor misleading information was provided in the proposal. The results of the OIG's inquiries into these two complaints were provided to all parties identified in the complaints and to the MDAD Director and Director of the Strategic Procurement Department. The OIG completed its inquiry into these two complaints in a timely manner so as not to delay the procurement process. On October 16, 2024, the BCC adopted Resolution R-924-24 to approve the award of this contract to the top ranked proposer.

When the companion project for MIA Central Terminal Redevelopment – Phase 2 (RFP A24AV02) was advertised the OIG determined it would be prudent to monitor this procurement. Currently, the Phase 2 procurement remains under the Cone of Silence. During 2025, the OIG plans to continue its oversight of this procurement, and ensure that the process remains fair, open, and transparent.

Baggage Handling System Operations & Maintenance Agreement

Following the award of this contract to John Bean Technologies (JBT), the OIG held meetings with MDAD staff and representatives of JBT to ensure compliance with the minimum staffing requirements contained in the agreement. MDAD had properly imposed penalties (reduced payments) in accordance with contract's terms and conditions for staffing shortages. JBT objected to the reduced payments, as it asserted the key performance indicators had been met. The OIG reminded the contractor of its obligation to provide narrative staffing reports in addition to the payroll reports submitted to the County's Office of Small Business Development. The narrative reports are required to assist MDAD with determining contract compliance with minimum staffing levels, whereas the payroll reports are used to determine compliance with the County's wages and benefits requirements. The parties have reached an understanding of the contract terms and the most recent invoices from the contractor have been approved without penalties. The OIG is satisfied with the implementation of this agreement and has closed this case.

Vertically Integrated Cargo Community (VICC)

On July 16, 2024, the Board of County Commissioners approved a recommended Development Lease Agreement with Miami Gateway Partners, LLC (Gateway) for the development of a vertically integrated cargo facility consisting of a four-level structure with no less than 600,000 square feet of cargo operations space. The fully automated facility is to be vertically integrated to achieve a minimum cargo throughput of at least 2.5 U.S. annual tons per square feet of cargo operations area.

The OIG has been monitoring negotiations for this project for several years. The concept was originally introduced by a joint venture involving AIRIS USA LLC (AIRIS) and CCR USA Airport Management, Inc. (CCR) as an "unsolicited proposal" that would be built with an investment of over $1 billion of private funds, at no cost to the County. The OIG issued a memorandum on January 14, 2022, noting that the County Administration had failed to adhere to the policies and timelines established in the Code of Miami-Dade County for consideration of unsolicited proposals. As a result, Administrative Order 3-65 that governs these procedures was amended on March 29, 2022. Five months after the Board authorized negotiations, CCR (the financial partner) withdrew from the process. MDAD continued to negotiate with AIRIS for two years until a financial partner was identified.

Amidst concerns about the identities of the parties behind the Special Purpose Entity that would be entering into the Development Lease Agreement, the OIG made a formal request pursuant to Section 2-1076(d)(2) of the County Code for that information. Thirty days before the Board approved the Agreement, AIRIS identified the Vantage Airport Group US as the partner prepared to invest a minimum of $400 million to bring the project to fruition.

The project is now in the 18-month Due Diligence phase. The OIG is continuing to monitor the progress Gateway is making to ensure the lease of 11.19 acres of valuable cargo space at MIA yields the increase in cargo capacity to satisfy the key performance metrics pledged in the Development Lease Agreement.

Passenger Lounge at MIA

Upon receipt of a complaint from Avianca Holdings, LLC, (received on November 1, 2021) the OIG began a review of the process used by MDAD for selecting and leasing airline passenger lounges at MIA. The Code of Miami-Dade County grants the administration authority to negotiate such leases. The complaint raised concerns about the integrity and fairness of MDAD's process and alleged that MDAD was imposing burdensome and unfair requirements – namely that Avianca must reach an agreement with Priority Pass to admit their members into the lounge.

Though Avianca has a significantly greater number of gates and scheduled flights in Concourse J, TAP (Transportes Aereos Portugueses), Air Portugal, was preferred by the MDAD business development office based on its willingness to grant lounge access to Priority Pass members, a popular membership program among air travel passengers. The initial objective of this oversight assignment was to ensure that sound business principles and practices were utilized to develop a lease agreement that maximizes both the benefits to the traveling public at MIA and the revenues of MDAD. The OIG, over the course of two years, actively monitored communications among the parties. The OIG's interest in this matter was partially due to the County's commitment to "provide additional passenger facilities and services to accommodate the enhanced traffic and expected increased use of the Airport by members of the general public" during the 2026 World Cup (R-187-18).

Eventually, an agreement was reached with Avianca and TAP as co-lessees (held jointly and severally liable) for the subject lounge space. The OIG is satisfied the lounge will be available to meet the needs of the 2026 World Cup passenger traffic.

2. Water And Sewer Department (WASD)

WASD became the OIG's second strategic partner when, in March 2000, WASD provided the OIG with office space for a permanent on-site oversight presence at its administrative headquarters building. An MOU with the department was executed in January 2001.

Since our creation, the OIG has always been involved in providing oversight and inspectional services for WASD's capital improvement programs (CIPs), including the original pump station improvement program in 1999; the High Yield Disinfection Program in the mid-2000s; and the current capital program highlighted by the federal Consent Decree filed in 2013, the successor pump station improvement program, and the State of Florida's Ocean Outfall Legislation.

Throughout 2024, the OIG continued its oversight presence at WASD. The OIG has one contract oversight specialist designated as its primary representative in matters relating to WASD's CIP, as well as other construction, goods, and services contracts. The OIG has also dedicated investigative resources for WASD issues as needed. OIG staff have participated in meetings with the WASD CIP leadership team, procurement staff, operations personnel, and external program managers to stay abreast of the multiple and shared goals of the different divisions of the department. The following summaries highlight some of our more notable oversight activities.

WASD's Multi-Year Capital Improvement Program (CIP)

Of the 81 capital projects identified in the $1.9 billion EPA/FDEP Consent Decree Program, one more project was completed during 2024 resulting in a total of 62 completed projects. The completed project will eventually be integrated and maintained within the WASD Asset Management System. The OIG's contract oversight specialist is continuing to track the progress of the remaining 19 Consent Decree projects.

Similarly, the OIG continues to oversee the $2.1 billion Ocean Outfall Legislation (OOL) Program with its 13 capital projects located at the North District and Central District wastewater treatment plants. The OOL Program now has 4 completed projects with 3 more under construction, and 6 in design/permitting. Almost half of the funding for the OOL Program is being provided by the federal government through low-interest loans.

WASD has prioritized expanding the capacity of the South District wastewater treatment plant to address the future projected needs of the community. As such, there are 8 critical infrastructure projects planned to increase the permitted capacity as well as the peak flow capacity of the plant. Currently, 2 of the 8 projects are completed and the remaining 6 projects are under construction.

Furthermore, in 2024, WASD continued to implement the septic to sewer conversion program. Two general obligation bond-funded projects were advertised for construction and the sanitary sewer system was expanded to allow approximately 400 properties to connect to the system.

In addition to the above capital programs, OIG contract oversight specialist monitored various procurements throughout the year, including multiple architectural/engineering professional service agreements for County-wide water and wastewater infrastructure upgrades.

To encourage competition and reduce costs for the County, WASD invited interested parties to its biannual industry forums, which provide information on upcoming design and construction projects that would soon be available for bid. The OIG maintained visibility during these forums to reinforce our monitoring and oversight of WASD operations.

Proposed New South Dade Maintenance Facility

In January 2022, WASD advised the OIG of its intention to restart a design project for a new South Dade Maintenance Facility on a county-owned site located at 190 block of SE 108 Avenue. OIG research determined that $1.6 million had already been expended on prior architectural consultant fees, but the resulting construction drawings did not meet code requirements and were never approved by County zoning or permitting authorities.

In July 2022, a new procurement for the project was issued seeking a qualified architectural/engineering (A/E) consultant for the facility project. As part of the OIG's oversight activities, contract oversight specialists monitored the evaluation and selection process, which included conducting research on the project, reviewing the design criteria and technical specifications, and attending the competitive selection committee meetings and resulting negotiations.

By the start of 2024, an award recommendation to the top-ranked proposer was on track for ratification by the BCC. However, due to new information regarding the disposition of the existing site for the project, WASD advised that the item was placed on hold. Almost a year earlier, SG Cutler Bay, LLC had expressed interest in purchasing the subject property to build a Costco Wholesale store, which would supply jobs to the area. By the spring of 2024, the offer from the developer had become more favorable and the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) directed the Administration to negotiate with the developer. It was agreed that the County-owned land would be conveyed to the developer for the development, construction and maintenance of a Costco Warehouse of no less than 151,000 square feet.

As a result, on May 7,2024, with an estimated value and purchase price of $7,177,225, the conveyance of the land to SG Cutler Bay LLC for a Costco facility was approved by the BCC via Resolution R-413-24.

WASD continues to evaluate alternative locations for a new maintenance facility.

Countywide Turnkey Advanced Metering Infrastructure Solution

In May 2023, the OIG began monitoring RFP EVN*0380 for the Turnkey Advanced Metering Infrastructure (AMI) Solution project. This procurement, which was advertised in the same month, sought a proposer to convert WASD's existing water meter reading process to a state-of-the-art solution that would leverage smart devices to improve the County's water operations. The AMI Solution would improve customer experience and efficiency, reduce recurring operating costs, and enhance revenue opportunities while hardening revenue security by transitioning to a monthly billing cycle. The procurement for the system is technically complex due to the geographic size of the County and number of customers in the service area. It is estimated to require replacement of 499,000 water meters at a cost of $250+ million over 6 years.

In September 2023, three proposals were received in response to the RFP, but ultimately, two of the proposals contained exceptions, which were determined non-responsive by the County Attorney's Office (CAO). The CAO also determined that the third proposal was non-compliant. Additionally, a fourth proposal was received after the County deadline and was not accepted.

To cure these exceptions and to allow broader participation and increased competition on this procurement, the County—through a Board-approved resolution—authorized the rejection of all proposals and allowed the procurement process to proceed with an extended evaluation of the four proposals originally received. The Competitive Selection Committee (CSC) evaluated the four proposals, in accordance with criteria published in the RFP, with any exceptions taken by the proposers weighed by the CSC members.

Currently this procurement continues in the negotiation phase with the highest-ranked proposer and remains under the Cone of Silence. The OIG will continue monitoring the procurement to ensure that the process is not only fair and transparent, but that the final award is in the best interest of WASD and the users of the system. The final negotiated agreement will be presented to the Board as a designated purchase (i.e., bid waiver) for final award.

3. Department of Transportation and Public Works (DTPW)

The OIG's MOU originated in January 2006 with the former Miami-Dade Transit Agency. Through its various iterations, the present amended MOU provides the OIG with reimbursement for audit and oversight activities related to work on the Transit Enterprise Fund—an enterprise fund of Miami-Dade County. For other OIG investigations, audits, and oversight activities involving contracts not funded in whole or in part through the Transit Enterprise Fund and which do not carry the quarter of one percent IG Contract Fee, the OIG and DTPW will confer to determine whether reimbursement is available through other sources of revenue.

Advanced Traffic Management System (ATMS)

The OIG has been providing oversight on the Advanced Traffic Management System (ATMS) project since its inception. The ATMS project involves upgrading traffic controllers and installing new video detection systems at the County's 2,900 intersections. Project implementation by the awarded contractor, Yunex Traffic (formerly Siemens Mobility, Inc), has been plagued with construction delays and integration issues.

On March 19, 2024, the BCC, via Resolution R-223-24, directed the administration to terminate the contract with Yunex and to negotiate a completion contract with Horsepower Electric, Inc. As a result of these decisions, the OIG continued to monitor the project but shifted its focus from project implementation to contract negotiations with Horsepower. OIG contract oversight specialists attended numerous in-person negotiation meetings, reviewed pricing proposals, and proposed contract language.

On October 16, 2024, the BCC adopted Resolution R-333-24 that awarded a $199,919,376.66 contract to Horsepower Electric, Inc. for a term of ten years to implement the ATMS.

South Dade Bus Rapid Transit Corridor

OIG contract oversight specialists continue to monitor the construction of the Bus Rapid Transit (BRT) stations strategically located along the 20-mile South-Dade TransitWay. Currently, 13 of 14 stations have been completed. Contract oversight monitoring includes attendance at monthly progress meeting and site visits along the TransitWay.

Due to delays in acquisition and installation of fare collection equipment at the new bus stations, the new service should be implemented later this year (mid-2025 projection).

Both the 60' battery electric buses and the station center platforms are designed for level boarding and the fares are to be collected as patrons enter the BRT stations. The OIG will continue monitoring this project through completion.

40' Battery-Electric Buses

Since issuing our first report on compressed natural gas (CNG) buses in 2019, the OIG has continued to monitor the diversification of the County's bus fleet, including its acquisition of battery-electric buses.

In 2019, the Board awarded Contract No. RFP-00546 for Battery-Electric Buses and Charging Systems to Proterra, Inc. (Proterra). The contract authorized the purchase of 33 battery-electric buses (with chargers and training) up to a maximum of 75 buses, charging systems, and spare parts in the amount of $72,176,322. The contract's capacity for an additional 42 buses would allow other transit agencies to "piggy-back" on the contract and/or enable DTPW to purchase additional buses. To accommodate this option, the contract allowed for inflationary price adjustments based on when the future orders were placed. DTPW elected to order all 75 buses/chargers, albeit, at different times. The OIG's review found that after expending the entire allocation, including a contract modification (increase) of $1.7 million, DTPW was only able to receive and pay for 69 buses, 75 chargers, and three charging systems. Over $900,000 allocated for spare parts were never ordered. There were six buses (valued at approximately $5.3 million) that were ordered but not accepted due to lack of funds available funds. Due to the potential for a change order to pay for the remaining six buses, the OIG determined that an in-depth review of the purchase history was warranted. Significantly, we determined that DTPW overpaid Producer Price Index (PPI) adjustments by $5.15 million using base and future dates not authorized by the contract's pricing terms.

We identified several issues contributing to the $5.15 million overpayment. First, a significant delay in the initial bus order was not properly documented, impacting the calculation of PPI adjustments. Second, DTPW sought and received a contract modification to cover cost shortfalls, but the actual payments to Proterra exceeded the approved amount. Third, DTPW finalized a purchase order revision shortly before Proterra's earnings report, raising concerns about undue vendor influence on procurement decisions. At the conclusion of our review entitled "Contract No. RFP-00456 for Battery-Electric Buses and Charging Systems; Ref: IG23-0007-O", we issued three recommendations. The first was for the Administration to seek and obtain Board approval for a confirmation purchase for payments that exceeded the authorized amount and to secure a release of future claims. The second was to seek a waiver for the remaining six buses ordered but not accepted. Finally, the OIG recommended that SPD establish dedicated allowance accounts for inflationary adjustments.

Recommendations 1 and 2 were accepted as part of Board Resolution No. R-346-24, which ratified a one-time economic price adjustment of $5,150,046.66. As to the third recommendation, the Administration stated that it will collaborate with the County Attorney's Office and the OIG to develop and implement solutions for better contract management and financial oversight. The Strategic Procurement Department issued new guidelines and standardized contract language in future solicitations to address extraordinary or unforeseen inflationary increases.

60' Battery-Electric Buses

On January 7, 2023, the Board of County Commissioners (BCC) approved a negotiated agreement with New Flyer in the amount of $175,594,365 for the manufacturing and delivery of 100, heavy duty, 60-foot electric buses, 50-depot based chargers, and two on-route charging systems, as well as spare parts, training, and tools. These new buses are to be designed for level boarding at the elevated platforms along the South-Dade TransitWay. The agreement provided for the delivery of 2 buses per week between July of 2024 and July of 2025.

When RFP-01966 was issued, it did not include the mast-arm pantographs for overhead charging or other connectivity infrastructure to deliver power to the buses. The County planned to solicit for these elements in a later bid for the construction of the operations center. The County later determined that New Flyer could also be a source for this vital infrastructure and found operational efficiencies associated with expedited delivery and warranty administration.

Noting that this would be a significant change order to the contract, the OIG met with senior DTPW officials to confirm these conclusions prior to the submission of the item to the BCC for approval. To validate the market research and determine that New Flyer's proposed price was reasonable, the firms competing for the construction of the operations center were asked to submit prices for the equipment, allowing the County to confirm the pricing offered by New Flyer was indeed competitive. The OIG confirmed the prices submitted in the construction package for the South Dade Transit Operations Center exceeded the preliminary offer from New Flyer. A Supplemental Agreement for this equipment was negotiated and presented to the BCC. On December 12, 2023, a "Request of Additional Expenditure Authority" in the amount of $15,938,574 to acquire the equipment was approved.

The OIG has been advised that as of this writing, sixteen 60' electric buses have been delivered. Of these, twelve have been accepted.

4. Department of Solid Waste Management (DSWM)

The fiscal challenges confronting the Department of Solid Waste Management require constant vigilance. The OIG began the year by meeting with the Director and senior department staff regarding an unsolicited proposal to create a municipal transfer station and connected rail. The municipality was willing to lease land in exchange for reduced disposal fees, potentially weakening the fiscal strength of the department. The OIG registered its concerns about the potential fiscal impact to the department if it were to be approved. The request for the County to authorize the arrangement was never submitted to the BCC for consideration.

For the past two years, since the Superbowl Sunday fire that shut down operations at the Resource Recovery Facility (RRF) in Doral on February 12, 2023, the OIG has been monitoring the efforts to offset the loss of this critical waste disposal operation. Historically, the RRF processed approximately one million tons annually through the waste to energy (WTE) plant. Despite the loss of this significant disposal capacity, existing contractual agreements for landfill disposal were able to scale up and process the entire waste stream without any disruption in service. During the past year one of the disposal firms began transporting waste by rail to a major landfill in Okeechobee County. On September 4, 2024, the BCC approved a new agreement for waste disposal to ensure financial stability through the year 2055 (2035, plus two 10-year options-to-renew).

Changes in leadership at DSWM and political headwinds have stymied efforts to settle on a plan to rebuild the former RRF or build a new WTE plant on a different site. The bond engineering consultant and the consulting firm serving as the design criteria professional and owner's representative for a new WTE plant have generated various reports and recommendations, yet no decision has been made. While the waste collection fee was increased to $697 per household in the FY 24-25 budget, concerns are being raised that this increased fee may not be enough to cover operating costs. The OIG will continue to monitor this situation.

B. CRIMINAL JUSTICE & THE COURTS

The County's financial obligations and responsibilities for maintaining safety, security, and justice within our community extends beyond funding and operating the County Police Department, Fire Rescue, Code Enforcement, environmental and resilience efforts. Pursuant to the Constitution of the State of Florida, and as stated in Section 29.008, Florida Statutes, the County is also responsible for funding many of the services required to maintain our justice system.

MDCR Replacement Jail – Site 1 Training & Treatment Center

In 2021, the OIG began monitoring a new design-build project for the Miami-Dade Corrections and Rehabilitation Department (MDCR)—the procurement of Design-Build Services for the Master Plan Replacement Jail at the Turner Guilford Knight Correctional Center. The project includes demolition of the existing Training & Treatment Facility and the design/construction of a new Central Intake, Release, and Administration Building.

By the start of 2024, County negotiations were mostly completed with OHLA Building, Inc, the top-ranked proposer. However, since the construction industry had experienced significant supply chain-induced inflation to material and labor costs, it became necessary for the County to agree to a one-time economic adjustment increase to the construction bid price. This was based on the Producer Price Index (PPI). This price adjustment was not specified in the original solicitation and required a bid waiver to award the contract. During the same time, OIG expressed concerns to MDCR regarding the expanded use of the project's design criteria professional (DCP) on the Jail Site 1 project and a second jail site project. The OIG pointed out that the DCP's professional services agreement had effectively expired and an amendment to infuse millions of dollars and expand the work scope would not be compliant. Ultimately, the DCP's Jail Site 1 role was finalized in 2024 when MDCR agreed to have the DCP provide the project's design administration through a separate contract award and competitively advertise the remaining construction administration portion.

On June 18, 2024, the Board adopted Resolution R-540-24 rejecting all proposals received in response to the solicitation and awarded a contract to OHLA by means of a competitive bid waiver in an amount not to exceed $228,733,431.13. Subsequently, in December 2024 MDCR issued a Notice to Proceed to OHLA commencing on December 16, 2024.

The oversight of this complex procurement ensured that the selection and negotiation process was fair, open, and transparent, and that the final product remained in compliance with the project's Design Criteria Package as well as the Department of Justice's Consent Decree.

New Civil and Probate Courthouse

The OIG has been actively monitoring the new Civil and Probate Courthouse project in downtown Miami since its inception through procurement, design and construction. Contract oversight specialists have participated in numerous meetings with County project managers, designers, construction teams, attorneys, and agencies with jurisdiction over the project. The active engagement in this extensive process has allowed the OIG an opportunity to effectively provide suggestions and support to the County in this new endeavor, which is scheduled to be occupied in the coming year. Monitoring will continue through project completion.

Miami Center for Mental Health and Recovery

In 2021, the Administration requested the assistance of the Office of the Inspector General to review and monitor the progress of the mental health diversion facility located at 2200 NW 7th Avenue, Miami.

At inception, this project was undertaken by the County to "free up jail space and provide an effective cost-efficient alternative facility to house the mentally ill as they await a trial date." In 2017, during renovations, the County entered into a sub-lease agreement with South Florida Behavioral Health Network (SFBHN) to take over the project, complete renovations and operate the facility. The remaining unspent Building Better Communities General Obligation Bond (BBC-GOB) allocation of approximately $31.35 million, supplemented with an additional $8 million from the Public Health Trust was also transferred. In March 2021, SFBHN provided "Notice of Termination for Convenience." The County would now have to complete renovations and propose an alternative for its operations.

After reviewing and becoming familiar with all the factors affecting the successful implementation of this project, the OIG focused on the fiscal aspects of completing the renovations and more importantly, the future operations of this new facility and service since viable and sustainable sources of operational funds have not been identified. OIG's contract oversight specialist monitored and participated in many stakeholder meetings to discuss the various options and alternatives for sustainable long-term viability of the Miami Center for Mental Health and Recovery.

C. OVERSIGHT ACTIVITIES IN OTHER AREAS

The Seaport Department

New cruise terminals and renovations to existing buildings taking place at PortMiami were monitored by the OIG in 2024. Oversight activities include attending the various weekly progress meetings, internal County coordination meetings, and construction site visits. An established line of communication with the Seaport has permitted the OIG to have a positive presence in these projects and has continued to encourage the Seaport staff to request OIG involvement in future projects.

Realignment of North Bulkhead Berths 1-6

In 2022, the OIG began monitoring the procurement for a design-build-finance project to realign PortMiami's north bulkhead (Berths 1-6). This procurement has been marred by over two years of delay, and over 38 addenda have been issued. A major sticking point over this construction delivery method has been the financing aspect of this project. A sample contract was not presented until December 2023—two years after the procurement was advertised. This project contemplates the realignment of one berth per year during the off-peak cruise season. Construction timelines are critical to ensure minimal or no impact on cruise schedules. As specified in the procurement documents, the contractor would self-finance this multi-year project until completion.

OIG oversight activities include the attendance at individual negotiation meetings with proposers, internal discussions with staff regarding the preparation and development of proposal addenda and contract language. This procurement remains under the Cone of Silence.

MetroCenter Redevelopment

The OIG is monitoring a County-initiated, history-making project to transform the urban landscape of downtown Miami. The MetroCenter Redevelopment Project is an ambitious plan to transform the urban core of downtown Miami, the current home of the Stephen P. Clark Government Center and a host of County facilities. The project spans 17 acres of County-owned properties that fall under Chapter 33-11(c) of the County Code, referenced as the Government Center Rapid Transit Zone. The assembled parcels are subject to County regulations for zoning and permitting.

The MetroCenter currently has approximately 3.3 million square feet of County-owned improvements. As envisioned, the 11 primary sites are expected to be developed with 17-23 million square feet of improvements, including commercial spaces and affordable housing. On February 10, 2023, Phase I of the RFP was advertised, initiating the process to select a shortlist of firms to serve as Master Developer of this project. The chosen three firms will now compete in Phase 2 of the RFP.

Posted on September 8, 2026

The Master Developer will be responsible for all land development activities, including the permitting, financing, construction and delivery of all open spaces, utilities, infrastructure, drainage, roadway and right-of-way improvements required to make the Development Pads available for construction. The complexity of this project has required retention of outside counsel and consulting firms to assist staff to refine Phase 2 of the RFP. The competing firms have been encouraged to provide input during individual negotiation sessions. As of the close of 2024, eight addenda to the Phase 2 RFP have been issued. It is an ongoing priority for the OIG to monitor the competition among the firms, and the eventual award to the Master Developer.

Flagler Station Property

The OIG took notice of a property acquisition item published in advance of the December 12, 2023, BCC meeting. The item recommended the Board approve a negotiated $205 million purchase for an office complex property. The average appraised value was $110 million for the property. The OIG immediately requested a meeting with the ISD Director to review the matter.

On December 8, 2023, at 5:00 PM, the Inspector General, OIG General Counsel and a member of the Contract Oversight Unit met with the Director of the Internal Services Department (ISD) and am ISD commercial real estate professional to discuss the proposed purchases. The OIG was not satisfied with the explanation of the negotiated purchase price, even when factoring in savings from terminating leases, unique needs of the County departments, alternative sites and renovation costs. Before the scheduled BCC meeting, local journalists raised similar questions, and the item was deferred.

On June 4, 2024, when a revised item was presented to the Borad for approval, the sale price had been reduced by $23 million. As presented, the property is to provide space for multiple offices for various departments, including Regulation and Economic Resources, Office of the Property Appraiser, Clerk of the County Courts, Water and Sewer, and Solid Waste Management. There is also the potential of developing affordable housing on the site.

D. MEETINGS AT A GLANCE

During the past 12 months, OIG contract oversight specialists attended and monitored over 189 procurement-related meetings that included Competitive Selection Committee Evaluation meetings, internal strategy meetings, and negotiations meetings.

For major procurements and capital projects that the OIG monitored through procurement and award, contract oversight specialists continued monitoring through design and implementation/construction phases. In this latter group, we were able to increase our presence by monitoring over 75 construction progress meetings, ensuring that performance is consistent with the terms and conditions of the contracts.

The ability of the OIG to monitor 264 meetings during 2024 has been the direct result of the work transitions implemented since the COVID-19 pandemic. Although post-COVID sunshine meetings still require that they be held in-person, other strategy and negotiation meetings may be conducted virtually. This has provided greater bandwidth for the OIG's contract oversight specialists to attend more meetings by eliminating travel time.

E. EDUCATIONAL OUTREACH

The OIG continued its educational outreach through active involvement in the training for Competitive Selection Committee (CSC) pool members. This training is mandated by Implementing Order 3-34 (Formation and Performance of Competitive Selection Committees) as a pre-requisite for all pool members (employees and non-employees) prior to actual service on a selection committee. During this training, Contract Oversight specialists present the OIG's role, authority, and responsibilities consistent with Section 2-1076 of the County Code in ensuring that the procurement process will be open, fair, transparent, equitable and in compliance with all rules and regulations governing that process.

During the past year, the OIG participated in:

- 12 Competitive Selection Committee (CSC) virtual training sessions for 387 employees representing all departments.
- 1 OIG Orientation and Refresher virtual workshop for 46 Jackson Health System (JHS) employees.
- 2 Vendor Academy workshops for vendors interested in conducting business with the County.
- 1 Procurement Academy virtual workshop for 136 employees that are directly involved in the procurement process.

In addition, the OIG participated in the Annual Procurement Expo sponsored by SPD. This Expo was designed to showcase the different types of goods and services needed by various departments in the County and how local vendors might access these opportunities. The OIG's presence reinforced our objective for an equitable, fair, and transparent procurement process.

VIII. SAVINGS, FINANCIAL RECOVERIES, AND OTHER PERFORMANCE METRICS

Identified Financial Impacts

In Fiscal Year 2023-2024, OIG investigations, audits, inspections, and other reviews identified $1,473,803 in damages and losses due to theft, fraud, and abuse and $11,182,551 in questioned costs. As a result of these cases, and others that began in earlier years, OIG cases in Fiscal Year 2023-2024 have given rise to over $811,180 savings and funds put to better use, and have brought $1,477,713 in recoveries, repayments, and court-imposed restitution.

Questioned Costs
$11,182,551

Damages and Losses Due to Theft, Fraud, and Abuse
$1,471,803

Savings and Funds Put to Better Use
$811,180

Recoveries, Repayments, and Court-Imposed Restitution
$1,477,713

Criminal Charges Filed and Criminal Dispositions Reached

In Fiscal Year 2023-2024, OIG investigations resulting in criminal charges filed against six individuals. The cases were prosecuted in federal court and resulted in sentences ranging from seven years prison to probation.

Additionally, directly resulting from another OIG criminal investigation, a prosecution filed in state court in 2022 concluded with a jury verdict against the individual charged. Sentencing of that individual is still pending.

OIG Reports and Publications

The OIG issued 36 public reports and 10 advisory memoranda during Fiscal Year 2023-2024. The reports include audit reports, contract oversight reports, and reports of investigation. Advisory memoranda include notifications regarding the closure of OIG cases, including announcements of arrests and sentencings in criminal cases.

IX. APPENDIX: CODE OF MIAMI-DADE COUNTY Sec. 2-1076 OFFICE OF THE INSPECTOR GENERAL

(a) Created and established. There is hereby created and established the Office of Miami-Dade County Inspector General. The Inspector General shall head the Office. The organization and administration of the Office of the Inspector General shall be sufficiently independent to assure that no interference or influence external to the Office adversely affects the independence and objectivity of the Inspector General.

(b) Minimum Qualifications, Appointment and Term of Office.

(1) Minimum qualifications. The Inspector General shall be a person who:

(a) Has at least ten (10) years of experience in any one, or combination of, the following fields:

(i) as a Federal, State or local Law Enforcement Officer;
(ii) as a Federal or State court judge;
(iii) as a Federal, State or local government attorney;
(iv) progressive supervisory experience in an investigative public agency similar to an inspector general's office;

(b) Has managed and completed complex investigations involving allegations of fraud, theft, deception and conspiracy;
(c) Has demonstrated the ability to work with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies and the judiciary; and
(d) Has a four-year degree from an accredited institution of higher learning.

(2) Appointment. The Inspector General shall be appointed by the Ad Hoc Inspector General Selection Committee ("Selection Committee"), except that before any appointment shall become effective, the appointment must be approved by a majority of the whole number of members of the Board of County Commissioners at the next regularly scheduled County Commission meeting after the appointment. In the event that the appointment is disapproved by the County Commission, the appointment shall become null and void, and the Selection Committee shall make a new appointment, which shall likewise be submitted for approval by the County Commission.

The Selection Committee shall be composed of five members selected as follows:

(a) The State Attorney of the 11th Judicial Circuit for Miami-Dade County;

(b) The Public Defender of the 11th Judicial Circuit for Miami-Dade County;

(c) The Chairperson of the Miami-Dade Commission on Ethics and Public Trust;

(d) The President of the Miami-Dade Police Chief's Association; and

(e) The Special Agent In Charge of the Miami Field Office of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement.

The members of the Selection Committee shall elect a chairperson who shall serve as chairperson until the Inspector General is appointed. The Selection Committee shall select the Inspector General from a list of qualified candidates submitted by the Miami-Dade County Employee Relations Department.

(3) Term. The Inspector General shall be appointed for a term of four years. In case of a vacancy in the position of Inspector General, the Chairperson of the Board of County Commissioners may appoint the deputy inspector general, assistant inspector general, or other Inspector General's office management personnel as interim Inspector General until such time as a successor Inspector General is appointed in the same manner as described in subsection (b)(2) above. The Commission may by majority vote of members present disapprove of the interim appointment made by the Chairperson at the next regularly scheduled County Commission meeting after the appointment. In the event such appointment shall be disapproved by the County Commission, the appointment shall become null and void and, prior to the next regularly scheduled Commission meeting, the Chairperson shall make a new appointment which shall likewise be subject to disapproval as provided in this subsection (3). Any successor appointment made by the Selection Committee as provided in subsection (b)(2) shall be for the full four-year term.

Upon expiration of the term, the Board of County Commissioners may by majority vote of members present reappoint the Inspector General to another term. In lieu of reappointment, the Board of County Commissioners may reconvene the Selection Committee to appoint the new Inspector General in the same manner as described in subsection (b) (2). The incumbent Inspector General may submit his or her name as a candidate to be considered for selection and appointment.

(4) Staffing of Selection Committee. The Miami-Dade County Employee Relations Department shall provide staffing to the Selection Committee and as necessary will advertise the acceptance of resumes for the position of Inspector General and shall provide the Selection Committee with a list of qualified candidates. The County Employee Relations Department shall also be responsible for ensuring that background checks are conducted on the slate of candidates selected for interview by the Selection Committee. The County Employee Relations Department may refer the background checks to another agency or department.

The results of the background checks shall be provided to the Selection Committee prior to the interview of candidates.

(c) Contract. The Director of the Employee Relations Department shall, in consultation with the County Attorney, negotiate a contract of employment with the Inspector General, except that before any contract shall become effective, the contract must be approved by a majority of Commissioners present at a regularly scheduled Commission meeting.

(1) The Office shall have the authority to make investigations of County affairs and the power to review past, present and proposed County and Public Health Trust programs, accounts, records, contracts and transactions.

(2) The Office shall have the power to require reports from the Mayor, County Commissioners, Manager, County agencies and instrumentalities, County officers and employees and the Public Health Trust and its officers and employees regarding any matter within the jurisdiction of the Inspector General.

(3) The Office shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths and require the production of records. In the case of a refusal to obey a subpoena issued to any person, the Inspector General may make application to any circuit court of this State which shall have jurisdiction to order the witness to appear before the Inspector General and to produce evidence if so ordered, or to give testimony touching on the matter in question. Prior to issuing a subpoena, the Inspector General shall notify the State Attorney and the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida. The Inspector General shall not interfere with any ongoing criminal investigation of the State Attorney or the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida where the State Attorney or the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida has explicitly notified the Inspector General in writing that the Inspector General's investigation is interfering with an ongoing criminal investigation.

(4) The Office shall have the power to report and/or recommend to the Board of County Commissioners whether a particular project, program, contract or transaction is or was necessary and, if deemed necessary, whether the method used for implementing the project or program is or was efficient both financially and operationally. Any review of a proposed project or program shall be performed in such a manner as to assist the Board of County Commissioners in determining whether the project or program is the most feasible solution to a particular need or problem. Monitoring of an existing project or program may include reporting whether the project is on time, within budget and in conformity with plans, specifications, and applicable law.

(5) The Office shall have the power to analyze the need for, and the reasonableness of, proposed change orders. The Inspector General shall also be authorized to conduct any reviews, audits, inspections, investigations or analyses relating to departments, offices, boards, activities, programs and agencies of the County and the Public Health Trust.

(6) The Inspector General may, on a random basis, perform audits, inspections and reviews of all County contracts. The cost of random audits, inspections and reviews shall, except as provided in (a)-(n) in this subsection (6), be incorporated into the contract price of all contracts and shall be one quarter (1/4) of one (1) percent of the contract price (hereinafter "IG contract fee").

The IG contract fee shall not apply to the following contracts:
(a) IPSIG contracts;
(b) Contracts for legal services;
(c) Contracts for financial advisory services;
(d) Auditing contracts;
(e) Facility rentals and lease agreements;
(f) Concessions and other rental agreements;
(g) Insurance contracts;
(h) Revenue-generating contracts;
(i) Contracts where an IPSIG is assigned at the time the contract is approved by the Commission;
(j) Professional service agreements under one thousand dollars;
(k) Management agreements;
(l) Small purchase orders as defined in Administrative Order 3-2;
(m) Federal, state and local government-funded grants; and
(n) Interlocal agreements;
(o) Grant Agreements granting not-for-profit organizations Building Better Communities General Obligation Bond Program funds.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Commission may by resolution specifically authorize the inclusion of the IG contract fee in any contract. Nothing contained in this subsection (c)(6) shall in any way limit the powers of the Inspector General provided for in this section to perform audits, inspections, reviews and investigations on all County contracts including, but not limited to, those contracts specifically exempted from the IG contract fee.

(7) Where the Inspector General detects corruption or fraud, he or she shall notify the appropriate law enforcement agencies. Subsequent to notifying the appropriate law enforcement agency, the Inspector General may assist the law enforcement agency in concluding the investigation. When the Inspector General detects a violation of one (1) of the ordinances within the jurisdiction of the Ethics Commission, he or she may file a complaint with the Ethics Commission or refer the matter to the Advocate.

(8) The Inspector General shall have the power to audit, investigate, monitor, oversee, inspect and review the operations, activities and performance and procurement process including, but not limited to, project design, establishment of bid specifications, bid submittals, activities of the contractor, its officers, agents and employees, lobbyists, County staff and elected officials in order to ensure compliance with contract specifications and detect corruption and fraud.

(9) The Inspector General shall have the power to review and investigate any citizen's complaints regarding County or Public Health Trust projects, programs, contracts or transactions.

(10) The Inspector General may exercise any of the powers contained in Section 2-1076 upon his or her own initiative.

(11) The Inspector General shall be notified in writing prior to any meeting of a selection or negotiation committee where any matter relating to the procurement of goods or services by the County is to be discussed. The notice required by this subsection (11) shall be given to the Inspector General as soon as possible after a meeting has been scheduled, but in no event later than twenty-four (24) hours prior to the scheduled meeting. The Inspector General may, at his or her discretion, attend all duly noticed County meetings relating to the procurement of goods or services as provided herein, and, in addition to the exercise of all powers conferred by Section 2-1076, may pose questions and raise concerns consistent with the functions, authority and powers of the Inspector General. An audio tape recorder shall be utilized to record all selection and negotiation committee meetings.

(12) The Inspector General shall have the authority to retain and coordinate the services of Independent Private Sector Inspectors General (IPSIG) or other professional services, as required, when in the Inspector General's discretion he or she concludes that such services are needed to perform the duties and functions enumerated in subsection (d) herein.

(1) The County shall provide the Office of the Inspector General with appropriately located office space and sufficient physical facilities together with necessary office supplies, equipment and furnishings to enable the Office to perform its functions.

(2) The Inspector General shall have, subject to budgetary allocation by the Board of County Commissioners, the power to appoint, employ, and remove such assistants, employees and personnel and establish personnel procedures as deemed necessary for the efficient and effective administration of the activities of the Office.

(f) Procedure for finalization of reports and recommendations which make findings as to the person or entity being reviewed or inspected. Notwithstanding any other provisions of this Code, whenever the Inspector General concludes a report or recommendation which contains findings as to the person or entity being reported on or who is the subject of the recommendation, the Inspector General shall provide the affected person or entity a copy of the report or recommendation and such person or entity shall have 10 working days to submit a written explanation or rebuttal of the findings before the report or recommendation is finalized, and such timely submitted written explanation or rebuttal shall be attached to the finalized report or recommendation. The requirements of this subsection (f) shall not apply when the Inspector General, in conjunction with the State Attorney, determines that supplying the affected person or entity with such report will jeopardize a pending criminal investigation.

(g) Reporting. The Inspector General shall annually prepare and submit to the Mayor and Board of County Commissioners a written report concerning the work and activities of the Office including, but not limited to, statistical information regarding the disposition of closed investigations, audits and other reviews.

(h) Removal. The Inspector General may be removed from Office upon the affirmative vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the whole number of members of the Board of County Commissioners.

(i) Abolition of the Office. The Office of the Inspector General shall only be abolished upon the affirmative vote of two-thirds (2/3) of the whole number of members of the Board of County Commissioners.

(j) Retention of the current Inspector General. Notwithstanding any provision to the contrary, the incumbent Inspector General, Christopher R. Mazzella [1], shall serve a four year term of office commencing on December 20, 2009, as provided in the Memorandum of Understanding approved by Resolution No. R-1394-05, and shall not be subject to the appointment process provided for in Section 2-1076(b)(2).

(Ord. No. 97-215, § 1, 12-16-97; Ord. No. 99-63, § 1, 6-8-99; Ord. No. 99-149, § 1, 10-19-99; Ord. No. 00-105, § 1, 7-25-00; Ord. No. 01-114, § 1, 7-10-01; Ord. No. 05-51, § 1, 3-1-05; Ord. No. 06-88, § 2, 6-6-06, Ord. No. 07-165; § 1, 11-6-07)

[1] Mr. Chris Mazzella, the County's first Inspector General and the incumbent when this subsection was enacted, retired in April 2013. In August of 2020, an Ad Hoc Selection Committee recommended Felix Jimenez to the Board of County Commissioners as the new Inspector General succeeding Inspector General Mary Cagle who served from February 2014 until her retirement in September 2020.

ARTICLE X. - BROWARD COUNTY OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

Footnotes:

Editor's note— The Election of November 8, 2018, repealed the former Art. X, § 10.01, and renumbered the former Art. XII, § 12.02 as Art. X, § 10.01 as set out herein. The former Art. X pertained to management and efficiency study committee.*

Sec. 10.01. - Broward County Office of Inspector General.

A. Created and Established.

(1) The Broward County Office of Inspector General (the "Office") is created to investigate misconduct and gross mismanagement.

(2) For purposes of this Charter provision, misconduct is defined as any violation of the state or federal constitution, any state or federal statute or code, any county or municipal ordinance or code; or conduct involving fraud, corruption, or abuse.

(3) For purposes of this Charter provision, gross mismanagement is defined as the material waste or significant mismanagement of public resources.

(4) The Office shall be headed by an Inspector General. The organization and administration of the Office shall be independent to assure that no interference or influence external to the Office affects the objectivity of the Office.

(5) Consistent with its approved budget, the Inspector General shall have the power to employ personnel as deemed necessary for the efficient and effective administration of the Office.

B. Functions, Authority, and Powers.

(1) The authority of the Inspector General shall extend only over the following:

(a) All elected and appointed officials ("Officials") and employees ("Employees") of the Charter Government of Broward County ("County") and of all municipalities, including any city, town, or village duly incorporated under the laws of the state within Broward County ("Municipalities");

(b) All Officials and Employees of The School Board of Broward County, Florida, and of any constitutional officer for Broward County as set forth under Article VIII, Section 1(d) of the Florida Constitution (each of the foregoing, a "Voluntary Entity"), provided the Voluntary Entity executes an interlocal agreement with the County and the Inspector General. The interlocal agreement must, in a form approved by the County and the Inspector General, set forth the parameters, budgetary considerations (including as required under Sections 10.01.G(4) and (7) below), and other matters regarding the exercise of the Inspector General's authority with respect to the Voluntary Entity; and

(c) All entities and persons (other than employees of the County, any Municipality, or any Voluntary Entity) that provide goods or services to the County, any Municipality, or any Voluntary Entity under contract for compensation ("Providers"), but solely with respect to the provision of such goods or services.

(2) The Inspector General may commence an investigation if good cause exists that any Official, Employee, or Provider has engaged in misconduct or gross mismanagement.

(3) The Inspector General may find good cause on his or her own initiative or based on a signed, verified complaint (as described below) stating allegations that, if true, would constitute misconduct or gross mismanagement.

(4) In addition to meeting the requirements of paragraph (3) above, a complaint may only serve as a basis for a good cause finding if it is signed by an identified person who verifies the contents of the complaint by including the following statement: "Under penalties of perjury, I declare that I have read the foregoing complaint and that based on my personal knowledge the facts stated in it are true." The Inspector General shall develop a complaint form consistent with the requirements of this paragraph.

(5) Any complaint received by the Office that is made against a candidate for elected office, and received within sixty (60) days of the date of the election, shall be held in abeyance until the election is determined, or, if the complaint is made within sixty (60) days of a primary election, until the general election is determined if the individual against whom the complaint was filed remains a candidate in the general election.

(6) In connection with an investigation, the Inspector General shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and require (through subpoena or otherwise) the production of documents and records.

(7) As part of any investigation, the Inspector General may audit any program, contract, or the operations of any division, department, or office of the County, any Municipality, or any Voluntary Entity. The Inspector General may also audit the operations or performance of any Provider relating to the Provider's contract for compensation with the County, any Municipality, or any Voluntary Entity.

(8) The auditing referenced in paragraph (7) above shall be performed with the cooperation of the County Auditor. When conducting audits, the Inspector General shall have free and unrestricted access to Employees, Officials, records, and reports, and to the records and employees of Providers with respect to any Provider's contract for compensation with the County, any Municipality, or any Voluntary Entity. The Inspector General may require Officials, Employees, and Providers to provide oral and written reports and to produce documents, files, and other records.

(9) All Officials, Employees, and Providers shall fully cooperate with investigations conducted by the Inspector General.

(10) As part of an investigation, the Inspector General shall interview all persons implicated by a complaint, and all persons implicated during the Inspector General's investigation.

(11) As part of an investigation, the Inspector General (or his or her designee) may attend all duly-noticed local government meetings relating to the procurement of goods or services, and may pose questions and raise concerns consistent with the functions, authority, and powers of the Inspector General.

(12) To the full extent provided under applicable law, including under Section 112.3188(2), Florida Statutes, as amended, the Inspector General's records related to active investigations shall be confidential and exempt from disclosure.

(13) In any case in which the Inspector General determines that a person has filed a complaint with a malicious intent to injure an Official's, Employee's, or Provider's reputation with baseless, spurious, or false accusations, or with a reckless disregard for the truth of the allegations, the complainant shall be liable for all costs incurred by the Inspector General in the investigation of the complaint. Upon such a determination, the Inspector General shall issue a demand letter for reimbursement of such costs, which shall be sent to the complainant by certified mail and presumed received three (3) days after mailing. If the complainant objects in writing to the demand for reimbursement of costs within thirty (30) days of receipt of the demand, the matter shall be referred by the Inspector General to a Hearing Officer (as provided below) for adjudication, including a determination of whether the criteria for the imposition of such costs have been met. If there is no timely objection, the Inspector General's determination shall be deemed to be final, conclusive, and binding. Once final, the determination for reimbursement of costs may be enforced by the Inspector General by filing an appropriate action in a court of competent jurisdiction.

(14) An Official or Employee who prevails in full in any administrative hearing in connection with a complaint filed with the Office of Inspector General shall be entitled to reimbursement of all reasonable attorney's fees and costs incurred in the defense against such complaint to the full extent the Official or Employee would be entitled to reimbursement in connection with a complaint filed under the Florida Code of Ethics for Public Officers and Employees.

C. Referral and Prosecution of Misconduct.

(1) After completing his or her investigation and determining that there is probable cause to believe misconduct has occurred, the Inspector General shall notify the appropriate civil, criminal, or administrative agencies charged with enforcement related to the alleged misconduct. If no civil, criminal, or administrative agency has jurisdiction over the alleged misconduct, the matter shall be referred to a Hearing Officer (as provided below) for quasi-judicial enforcement proceedings.

(a) The Inspector General shall refer findings of alleged criminal offenses to the Office of the State Attorney and/or the Office of the United States Attorney.

(b) The Inspector General shall refer findings of alleged civil offenses involving a violation of Chapter 112, Part III, Florida Statutes, to the Florida Commission on Ethics.

(c) The Inspector General shall refer findings of alleged violations of the Florida Election Code, Chapters 97 through 106, Florida Statutes, to the Florida Elections Commission (except as to alleged violations that may be criminal in nature, which shall be referred to the Office of the State Attorney).

(d) The Inspector General shall refer other alleged offenses to the appropriate civil, criminal, or administrative agency that would have jurisdiction over the matter.

(2) Any civil infraction not covered by paragraphs (1)(a) through (d) above shall be stated in a complaint brought in the name of the Inspector General. The Inspector General may retain legal counsel not employed by the County to represent the Inspector General in prosecuting a complaint. The Inspector General shall serve the complaint on the Official, Employee, or Provider accused of misconduct in any manner deemed proper service under the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure. Concurrently with such service, the Inspector General shall refer the complaint to a Hearing Officer randomly chosen from the panel of Hearing Officers selected by the Selection-Oversight Committee (as described below). The accused person or entity shall file a response to the complaint within thirty (30) days after service.

(3) Except to any extent inconsistent with any provision of this section, the Florida Rules of Civil Procedure and Florida Evidence Code, as amended, shall apply to all matters referred to a Hearing Officer under paragraph (2) above.

(4) In addition to all other authority granted in this section, the Hearing Officer shall have the authority to:

(a) Issue scheduling orders, case-management orders, and briefing schedules;

(b) Issue notices of hearings;

(c) Hold hearings on any procedural or substantive matters related to the complaint;

(d) Administer oaths and affirmations;

(e) Issue subpoenas authorized by law, including those requiring the attendance of witnesses and the production of documents and other items which may be used as evidence;

(f) Rule upon motions presented and offers of proof and receive relevant evidence;

(g) Issue appropriate orders to effectuate discovery;

(h) Regulate the course of the hearing;

(i) Dispose of procedural requests or similar matters; and

(j) Enter any order, consistent with his or her authority, to carry out the purposes of this Charter provision.

(5) Within thirty (30) days after completion of the hearing process, the Hearing Officer shall issue a final order determining whether the Inspector General has proved the allegations of the complaint by a preponderance of the evidence. The final order shall contain detailed findings of fact and conclusions of law. If the Hearing Officer determines that misconduct has occurred, the final order shall specify the sanction(s) imposed, if any. The Hearing Officer may impose any of the following sanctions:

1. An Official, Employee, or Provider determined to have committed misconduct shall be assessed a monetary fine of between two hundred and fifty dollars ($250.00) and five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) per violation.

2. In determining the amount of the fine, the Hearing Officer shall consider:
   a) The gravity of the violation;
   b) Whether it was intentional; and
   c) Whether it is a repeat offense.

3. The Hearing Officer may determine that no fine shall be imposed upon making an affirmative, express finding that the violation was unintentional and de minimis.

4. In addition to a fine, the Hearing Officer may order the Official, Employee, or Provider to pay restitution or to disgorge any sums wrongfully received (directly or indirectly) by that person or entity (or any related person or entity).

(b) Public Reprimand/Censure. An Official or Employee who is found to have violated any provision of this Code may be subject to public reprimand or censure.

(6) All orders issued by the Hearing Officer, when final, are subject to judicial review as provided by applicable law.

D. Reports and Recommendations.

(1) The Inspector General shall issue reports, including recommendations, in the following circumstances:

(a) At the conclusion of an investigation involving allegations of gross mismanagement; and

(b) At the conclusion of an investigation involving allegations of misconduct, if the Inspector General determines that a report will assist the County, any Municipality, or any Voluntary Entity in preventing similar future misconduct. However, no report shall be issued if the Inspector General, in conjunction with the State Attorney or United States Attorney, determines that the issuance issuance of such report may jeopardize a pending criminal investigation.

(2) The Inspector General shall issue all reports as follows:

(a) Upon conclusion of an investigation described in paragraph (1) above, the Inspector General shall issue a preliminary report containing findings and recommendations to the County, Municipality, or Voluntary Entity and to the Officials, Employees, or Providers implicated in the report. The recipients of the preliminary report shall have thirty (30) days to respond to the preliminary report's findings and recommendations. The time to respond to a preliminary report may be extended by the Inspector General.

(b) Within thirty (30) days after the response deadline, the Inspector General shall issue a final report containing findings and recommendations to the County, Municipality, or Voluntary Entity and to the Officials, Employees, and Providers implicated in the report. All responses to the Inspector General's preliminary report shall be considered in preparing the final report, and shall be appended to the final report.

(3) The Inspector General may follow up on any recommendations he or she makes to determine whether such recommendations have been implemented.

(4) The Inspector General shall establish policies and procedures to monitor the costs of investigations undertaken.

E. Minimum Qualifications, Selection, and Term of Office.

(1) Minimum qualifications. The Inspector General shall be a person who:

(a) Has at least ten (10) years of experience in any one or a combination of the following fields:

(i) As a federal, state, or local law enforcement officer or official;

(ii) As a federal or state court judge;

(iii) As a federal, state, or local government attorney with expertise in investigating fraud, mismanagement, and corruption;

(iv) As an inspector general, certified public accountant, or internal auditor;

(v) As a person with progressive supervisory experience in an investigative public agency similar to an inspector general's office;

(vi) As a person who has managed and completed complex investigations involving allegations of fraud, theft, deception, or conspiracy; or

(vii) As a person who has demonstrated an ability to work with local, state, and federal law enforcement agencies and the judiciary.

(b) Has, at a minimum, a four-year degree from an accredited institution of higher learning.

(c) Has experience in the management of a private or public entity.

(d) Has not been employed by the County, any Municipality, or any Voluntary Entity during the two (2) year period immediately prior to selection.

(e) Has not been found guilty of or entered a plea of nolo contendere to any felony, or any misdemeanor involving a breach of public trust.

(2) Selection.

(a) Responsibility for selecting the Inspector General shall be vested solely with the Inspector General Selection-Oversight Committee ("Selection-Oversight Committee").

(b) The Selection-Oversight Committee shall be comprised of the following five (5) individuals, none of whom shall be an elected official:

(i) One person appointed by the Broward League of Cities;

(ii) One person appointed by the State Attorney for the Seventeenth Judicial Circuit ex officio, or by his or her designee if the State Attorney is unable or unwilling to appoint;

(iii) One person appointed by the Public Defender for the Seventeenth Judicial Circuit ex officio, or by his or her designee if the Public Defender is unable or unwilling to appoint;

(iv) One person appointed by the Broward County Bar Association; and

(v) One person selected by affirmative vote of at least three (3) members of the Selection-Oversight Committee referenced above.

(c) The appointments to the Selection-Oversight Committee under (b)(i), (ii), and (iii) above, and the United States Attorney's agreement to serve or his or her designation under (b) (iv), shall be made within sixty (60) days of the effective date of this Charter provision.

(d) The selection under (b)(v) shall be made within fifteen (15) days thereafter.

(e) If, for any reason, a timely appointment, agreement to serve, or designation under (b)(i), (ii), (iii), or (iv) does not occur, the members of the Selection-Oversight Committee shall fill the vacant position by affirmative vote of at least three (3) members.

(f) Any appointee or designee may be removed and replaced at any time by the appointing or designating authority.

(g) Except as referenced in (e) above, any vacancy on the Selection-Oversight Committee shall be filled by the appointing or designating authority within thirty (30) days.

(h) The members of the Selection-Oversight Committee shall elect a chairperson who shall preside over the actions of the Committee. The Selection-Oversight Committee shall establish its own rules of procedure.

(i) The Human Resources Division of Broward County shall provide staffing to the Selection-Oversight Committee for the purpose of filling the position of Inspector General.

(j) Within thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Charter provision, the Human Resources Division of Broward County shall solicit qualified candidates for the position of Inspector General. Within one hundred and twenty (120) days after the effective date of this Charter provision, the Selection-Oversight Committee shall select an Inspector General.

(k) In addition to its other responsibilities, the Selection-Oversight Committee shall select qualified Hearing Officers to preside over hearings in connection with those matters referred to Hearing Officers as provided above.

(l) In selecting the Inspector General and qualified Hearing Officers, the Selection-Oversight Committee shall take into consideration the rich diversity of the County's residents.

(3) Term. The Inspector General shall be appointed for a term of four (4) years, commencing from the time the Inspector General and the County enter into a contract. The Selection-Oversight Committee shall convene at least six (6) months prior to the end of the four-year contract term to determine whether to renew the contract of the Inspector General or to solicit new candidates.

(4) Contract. Once the Selection-Oversight Committee selects an Inspector General, the Committee shall notify the Broward County Administrator and County Attorney. The Director of the Broward County Human Resources Division, with the assistance of the Office of the County Attorney, shall promptly negotiate a contract of employment with the Inspector General substantially consistent with the terms included in contracts of other contractual employees of Broward County.

(5) Removal. The Inspector General may be removed based on specified charges of the following: neglect of duty, abuse of power or authority, discrimination, or ethical misconduct. Removal shall be considered at a duly-noticed public hearing of the Selection-Oversight Committee. The Inspector General shall be provided sufficient advance notice of the reasons for the possible removal, and shall be given an opportunity to be heard on the charges.

(6) Vacancy. In the event of a vacancy in the position of Inspector General, the Chairperson of the Selection-Oversight Committee shall appoint an interim Inspector General until such time as a successor Inspector General is selected and assumes office. The Interim Inspector General shall meet all qualifications provided herein for the Inspector General.

F. Annual Report.

(1) The Inspector General shall annually publish a written report to the County, the Municipalities, and the Voluntary Entities detailing the activities of the Office of Inspector General. The annual report of the Inspector General shall, promptly after it is completed, be posted on a website established by the Inspector General and presented to the Selection-Oversight Committee.

(2) The Selection-Oversight Committee shall convene within sixty (60) days of its receipt of the annual report to consider the report and the performance of the Inspector General. Other meetings of the Committee may be set upon the request of any member of the Committee or at the request of the Inspector General.

G. Financial Support and Budgeting.

(1) The Inspector General's budget is subject to approval of the County Commission.

(2) Within sixty (60) days of selection, the Inspector General shall submit a proposed budget to the County Commission covering the remainder of the County's fiscal year in which the Inspector General is selected. In each subsequent County fiscal year, the Inspector General shall submit a proposed budget to the County Commission in accordance with the County's regular budget process.

(3) Each proposed budget shall include a reasonable estimate of operating and capital expenditures of the Office of Inspector General, funds to enable Hearing Officers to be retained, and funds to enable the Inspector General to retain outside counsel to represent the Inspector General in connection with complaints referred to a Hearing Officer. The proposed budget shall indicate, to the extent applicable, expenditures to be funded by each Voluntary Entity.

(4) The County shall provide sufficient funds for the Inspector General to carry out the Inspector General's duties in an efficient manner with respect to the County and Municipalities. Each Voluntary Entity shall provide sufficient funds to the County for the Inspector General to carry out the Inspector General's duties in an efficient manner with respect to that Voluntary Entity.

(5) In order to fund the Office of Inspector General, the County may impose a fee of one-quarter of one percent (0.25%) on the total value of each County contract entered into after the effective date of this Charter amendment.

(6) In the event funds raised from such contract fees in any County fiscal year are insufficient to fund the Office of Inspector General, the County may supplement such funding from the County's general revenue fund, except that the County shall have no obligation to supplement the Office's funding where the insufficiency of funds is related to the Office's duties regarding a Voluntary Entity.

(7) Each Voluntary Entity shall be responsible for funding all Office expenses attributable to duties relating to that Voluntary Entity, and the County shall not be responsible for funding any aspect of the Office's expenses attributable to duties relating to any Voluntary Entity.

H. Conflict. Any County or Municipal ordinance or resolution that creates or has created an Office of Inspector General, or an officer, employees, or agents that function substantially the same as the Office of Inspector General as provided herein, shall be deemed inconsistent with and preempted by this Charter provision.

A MESSAGE FROM THE INSPECTOR GENERAL

Carol J. Breece
Broward Inspector General

This reporting period, the fiscal year ending September 30, 2024, presents an opportunity to discuss the OIG's approach to the intake of complaints and tips.

I first want to recognize Robert Winfield, our Intake Manager who retired in September after serving in the federal government for 26 years and then the OIG for 13 years, the longest tenure of anyone in the agency's history. Bob exemplified what the public deserves in its government employees: a public servant who is thorough, value conscious, fair, dignified, thoughtful, and process oriented.

Bob helped develop and implement our intake system, which requires us to determine first whether the subject matter and individuals complained of are within our authority. If not, we take no action.

If so, we then consider whether the allegation(s), if true, would: (1) be something significant that residents and taxpayers ought to know about, (2) have broad application to our local governments, or (3) otherwise justify the use of our limited resources. In evaluating whether to proceed, we look at the information's reliability and whether there are circumstances that can corroborate the allegation(s).

This being an election year, we also considered whether the allegations were against a candidate in an upcoming election. Although an allegation might merit an investigation, the inferences drawn from knowing the OIG is investigating a candidate close to the election date is unfair to the candidate and to the OIG, whose reputation could be clouded by questions of political manipulation. As the Broward County Charter requires, if we receive an allegation against a candidate within 60 days of their election date, we hold all activity until after the election is decided. We also go further by taking no action in the public realm that would imply we are investigating any candidate within 60 days of his or her election, no matter whether or when the case was opened.

Our intake process is just one way the OIG upholds the value of process orientation and disregards anyone's desired outcome. Only through neutrality and the appearance of neutrality can the OIG maintain its reputation for finding and then fairly reporting the truth.

Sincerely,

Carol J. Breece

BROWARD
OIG
INSPECTOR GENERAL
BROWARD OIG
MISSION STATEMENT
The mission of the Broward Office of the Inspector General (OIG) is to act as an independent watchdog for the residents of Broward County. We promote integrity and accountability by investigating allegations of misconduct including fraud, corruption, and abuse and gross mismanagement, by officials and employees of the charter government of Broward County, its thirty-one municipalities, and all entities and persons who provide goods and services to the County and the municipalities. The OIG publicly reports its findings to keep residents informed. Whenever appropriate, the OIG seeks criminal prosecution, civil recoveries, administrative and monetary sanctions, and ethics sanctions of those responsible for fraud, waste and abuse in government.

AUTHORITY AND RESPONSIBILITIES

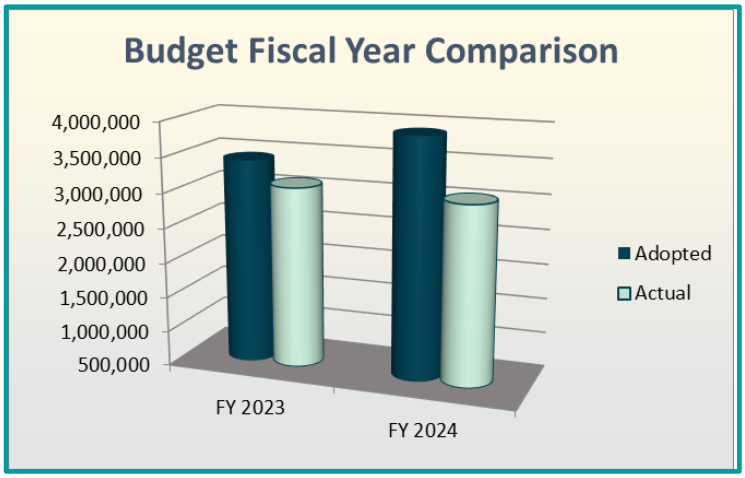
The OIG functions as an independent government watchdog on behalf of more than 1.94 million residents of Broward County. Its purpose, authority, and responsibilities are codified in Section 10.01 of the Broward County Charter.

The OIG's authority extends over:

- all elected and appointed officials and employees of the charter government of Broward County ("the County");
- all elected and appointed officials and employees of the 31 municipalities within the County ("the Municipalities"); and
- all entities and persons that provide goods and services to the County and the Municipalities.

This responsibility encompasses local government budgets totaling over $13 billion, more than 29,000 employees, and more than 450 separate divisions and departments. In addition, the OIG has oversight responsibility for more than 170 elected officials, including county commissioners, mayors, vice mayors, city commissioners, and town council members, as well as more than 20,000 registered vendors that provide goods or services to the County and Municipalities.

The Inspector General has the authority to investigate the material waste or significant mismanagement of public resources ("gross mismanagement") and violations of state and federal constitutions, statutes, and codes; county and municipal ordinances and codes; and conduct involving fraud, corruption, and abuse ("misconduct").



In connection with an investigation, the Inspector General has the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and require the production of documents and records. As part of an investigation, the Inspector General may audit any program, contract, or the operations of any division, department, or office of the County or any Municipality. The Inspector General may also audit the operations or performance of any provider as it relates to its contract with the County or any Municipality.

The Inspector General is also charged with the responsibility to enforce the Broward Code of Ethics for Elected Officials at Section 1-19 of the Broward County Code of Ordinances ("Broward Ethics Code"), which applies to the mayors and members of the governing bodies of the County and municipalities.

BUDGET

Although the OIG's budget is funded through the County general fund, the Charter requires that the OIG remain an independent organization to assure that no interference or external influence affects the objectivity of the office. The Charter further requires that the Inspector General submit a proposed budget which "shall include a reasonable estimate of operating and capital expenditures of the Office of Inspector General, funds to enable Hearing Officers to be retained, and funds to enable the Inspector General to retain outside counsel to represent the Inspector General in connection with complaints referred to a Hearing Officer." Section 10.01 G.(3). The funds must be approved by the County Commission.

In addition, the County Administrator and the County's Office of Management and Budget provide resources and support throughout the budget process.

The OIG remains committed to operating in a fiscally responsible manner. Its approved budget for fiscal year ("FY") 2023 was $3,429,740, with actual expenditures of approximately $3,093,540. The approved budget for FY 2024 was $3,912,018 with an estimated actual expenditure of approximately $3,050,042.

The OIG's FY 2024 budget represented approximately 0.045 percent of the County's total budget. The adopted budget for FY 2025, which commenced on October 1, 2024, is $3,605,030.

Budgeted positions for the OIG have remained at 20 since FY 2016.

THE OIG TEAM

Broward Inspector General Carol J. Breece heads the OIG. Her four-year term began on May 2, 2023. A member of the Broward OIG team since 2012, her over 30-year public service career includes serving as Broward OIG General Counsel, Florida Chief Assistant Statewide Prosecutor, and Assistant State Attorney for Miami-Dade County. In addition, she ran her own law practice specializing in civil and criminal white collar defense and taught graduate-level public service ethics and professionalism for Florida International University. She currently serves on and is active with the national Board of Directors of the Association of Inspectors General ("AIG"). Her law degree is from The Catholic University of America in Washington, D.C., and her B.A. in Criminal Justice is from the University of Maryland at College Park. She is a Certified Inspector General, a Certified Fraud Examiner, Board Certified in Criminal Trial Law by The Florida Bar (1999-2024), and AV Preeminent Rated by Martindale-Hubbell.

The Inspector General is aided by highly experienced, skilled, and credentialed managers who work together to accomplish the OIG's work.

They are

Deputy Inspector General Amy M. Schmidt,
General Counsel Katherine Y. McIntire,
Investigations Manager Hisae A. Tanaka,
Audit and Contract/Procurement Oversight Manager Mark R. Magli, and Operations Manager Monica Vidal.

The OIG team also includes an Intake Coordinator, Investigative Support Specialist, Special Agents, Senior Auditors, a Deputy General Counsel, and an Assistant Legal Counsel, who together support the intake, audit, contract and procurement oversight, investigative, and legal functions of the office.

The OIG has successfully built this diverse team of highly qualified individuals who use their various specialties and skill sets to accomplish the office's mission. These professionals include accountants, former prosecutors, former law enforcement officers, former state regulatory investigators, procurement specialists, and administrative specialists. They hold respected certifications including as fraud examiner, inspector general investigator, inspector general auditor, public accountant, and criminal justice information system operator.

PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

We continue to maintain the highest level of professionalism by investing in our most valuable asset — our staff. In order for us to maintain our skills, our credentials, and our agency's accreditation status, we must continue our professional education.

To date, OIG staff members have received over 5,945 hours of continuing professional education credit, 749 hours of which they obtained during fiscal year 2024.

The OIG provides in-house training to all new staff members on topics including the mission, function, and authority of the OIG; the Charter, the Broward County Code of Ordinances, and municipal codes; county and municipal government organization and function; ethics codes, public records, and the Sunshine laws; the accreditation process; the OIG Manual of Directives; proper investigative techniques and protocols; and our investigative management system software.

Throughout the year, staff members participated in training provided by the County, including in Microsoft Office 365 products; cybersecurity awareness; employment issues; the Family Medical Leave Act; and electronic processes including procurement, payroll, and human resources.

In addition, staff members participated in training classes and conferences provided by various government entities and associations on various legal, investigative, and auditing topics, including:

- AIG Florida Chapter - Training I & II
- AIG Institute - Certified Inspector General Investigator Certification
- American Institute of Certified Public Accountants - Town Hall
- CJIS - eAgent Training
- CJIS - Annual Security and Privacy
- CJIS - Service Area
- FCIC-NCIC - Limited Access Certification
- FDLE - Criminal Justice Officer - Ethics
- Florida Bar - Advanced Federal Practice 2023
- Florida Bar - Criminal Law Update
- Florida Bar - Inside the Florida Legislature
- Florida Bar - Practicing with Professionalism
- OCIG Cyber Pathways Training - Cybersecurity Fundamentals

- Situational Leadership II

OIG staff members are affiliated with the AIG. In addition to providing professional education on topics of interest to inspectors general and their staffs, the AIG awards certification status to individuals who meet the eligibility requirements regarding education and experience and successfully complete their respective certification programs.

After undergoing screening, training, and testing by the AIG, the Inspector General has been awarded the designation of Certified Inspector General; the OIG General Counsel, OIG Deputy General Counsel, OIG Investigations Manager, and five OIG Special Agents (including one this reporting period) have received the designation of Certified Inspector General Investigator; and the ACPO Manager and one Senior Auditor have received the designation of Certified Inspector General Auditor.

TEAM NEWS

The OIG underwent several personnel changes during the reporting period, to include the promotion from within of our Deputy Inspector General, Audit and Contract/Procurement Oversight Manager, and Investigations Manager. We also hired a Senior Auditor, two Special Agents, and an Investigative Support Specialist this year.

At the conclusion of FY 2024, the OIG was continuing the recruitment of two additional auditors or investigators.

With the anticipated passage of the voter referendum to allow the OIG to provide inspector general services to the School Board of Broward County as described in further detail below, we are planning to hire up to another six team members by the end of FY 2025, depending on the quantity and nature of information we receive regarding alleged misconduct and gross mismanagement by officials, employees, and providers of the school system.

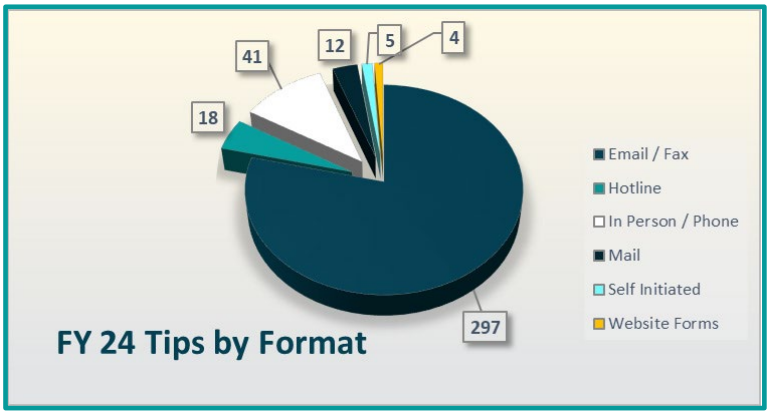
In the prior reporting period, as the effects of the COVID-19 disease became less severe, we designed a schedule to provide team members with the advantages of in-office availability while also acknowledging the benefits of a remote work option to individual staff members and the organization as a whole. Thus, during FY 2023, OIG staff began working remotely on Mondays and from the office Tuesdays through Thursdays. Staff who work five days per week have the option to work remotely or from the office on Friday. In this way, we are open for business from at least 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. every work day and available for walk-ins from the public on Tuesdays through Thursdays. Appointments can be made anytime during the work week. Our walk-in hours and appointment availability is noticed to the public at our website at BrowardIG.org and posted at the entrance to our offices.

We continued this schedule throughout the reporting period, as it has optimized public access, job performance and satisfaction, and the recruitment of highly qualified oversight professionals and support staff.

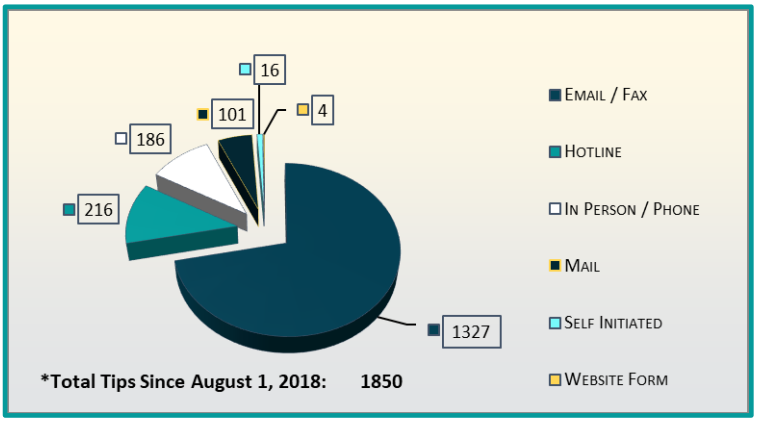
COMPLAINTS, TIPS, AND INFORMATION

Upon receiving a credible complaint, tip, or other information, the OIG conducts a thorough evaluation for legal authority and value to the public. As the Charter provides, the Inspector General has the authority to commence an investigation based on the existence of good cause to believe that any official, employee, or provider of Broward County or one of the municipalities within the county has engaged in misconduct or gross mismanagement. The Inspector General may find good cause based upon her own initiative or on a signed, sworn complaint.

TIPS AND INFORMATION



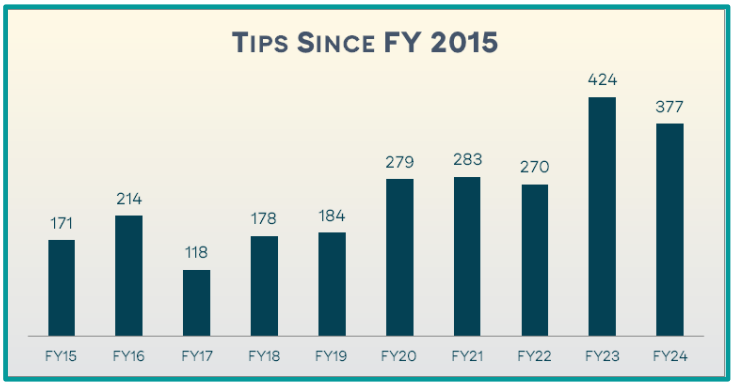
All county and municipal employees and residents are encouraged to assist the OIG in combating misconduct and gross mismanagement by providing tips and information. There are several ways to provide information to the OIG. We now accept tips and information through:



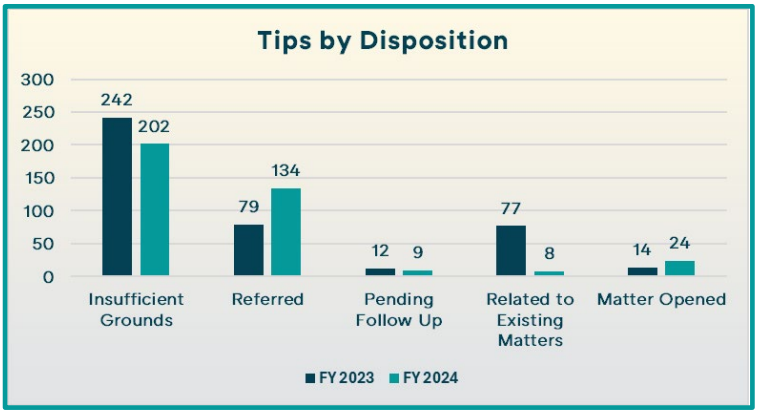
- our Hotline at (954) 357-TIPS (8477),
- by email at InspectorGeneral@broward.org,
- through an online form at our website BrowardIG.org,
- by fax at (954) 357-7857,
- by mail, and
- in person.

Persons may provide information without disclosing their names or contact information, although the OIG encourages people to identify themselves should additional information be needed during the investigative process. In any event, the OIG maintains the confidentiality of the identity of all complainants and tipsters in accordance with State law and the Charter.

To date, the OIG has received 3,172 tips, 377 of which we received during this reporting period. Here are the methods by which we received tips in Fiscal Year 2024.



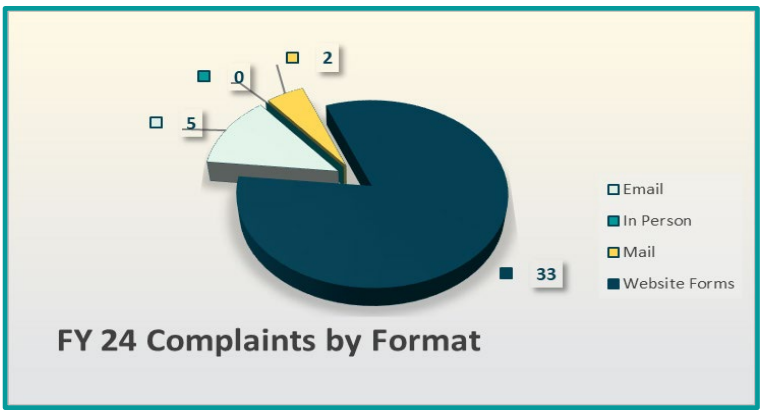
We note that approximately 2% of our tips were received by a new method we instituted in February 2024 - Website Forms.



This is a breakdown of the methods by which we received all tips since we first collected data via our Investigative Management System (IMS).

The number of tips the OIG receives each fiscal year has been increasing overall. Over the past 10 years, the OIG has seen an increase of approximately 120% in the number of tips we receive each fiscal year, as shown here :

Once a tip is received, it is reviewed to determine the appropriate action and assignment. Of all tips received in the reporting period, 24 resulted in investigative matters, and 9 are currently pending a determination by the OIG. This is the action we took on tips this fiscal year compared to last fiscal year.

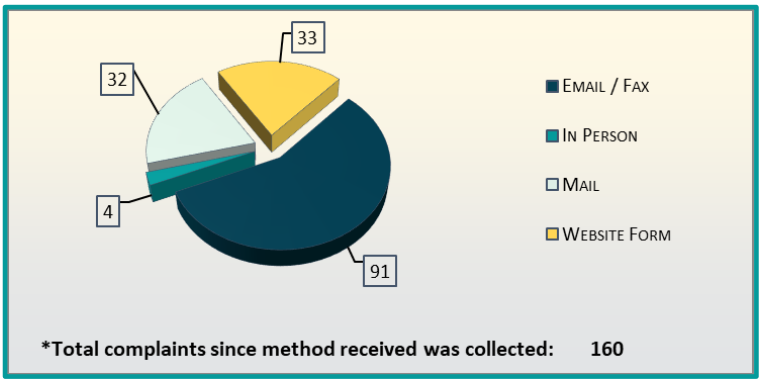


Since our inception, 395 tips have resulted in the initiation of investigative matters, and we have referred 731 tips to other governmental agencies.

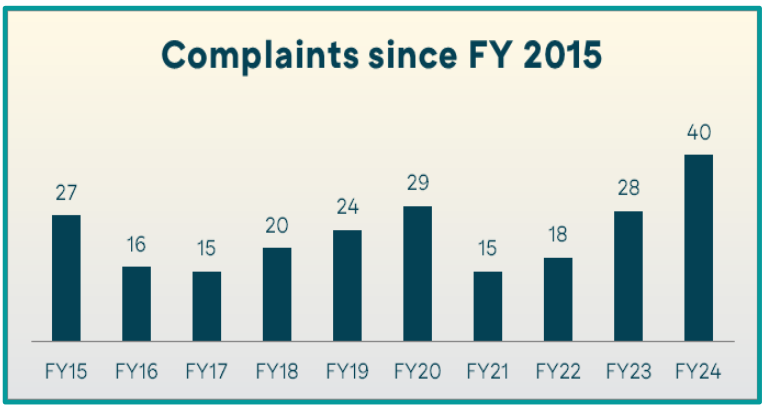
COMPLAINTS

The Inspector General may find good cause based on a signed, verified complaint. The Charter requires a complaint to be signed, under a penalty of perjury, with a statement that the complainant has personal knowledge of the facts. Persons who wish to file a complaint with the OIG may obtain a complaint form from the OIG website BrowardIG.org or by contacting the OIG at (954) 357-7873.

The complaint must be completed, signed, and filed online through the web portal or delivered to the Broward Office of the Inspector General, One North University Drive, Suite 111, Plantation, Florida, 33324.

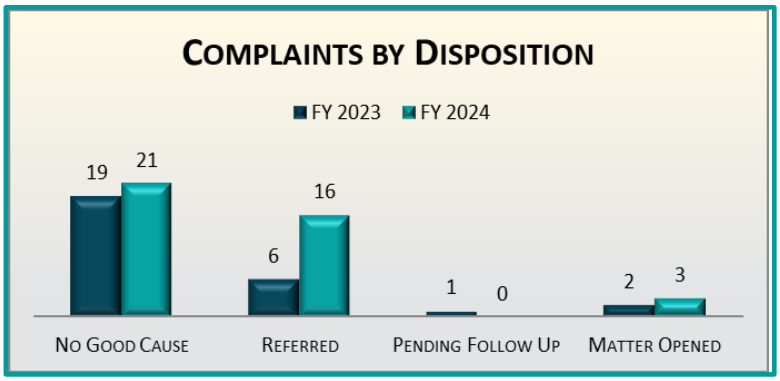


The following charts show the methods by which we received complaints this fiscal year and since we implemented the IMS.



To date, the OIG has received 308 signed complaints, including 40 during this reporting period.

We note that approximately 83% of our complaints this reporting period were received by our new website form method.



This is a breakdown of the methods by which we received all complaints since we first collected "method received" data via IMS.

Like with tips, the number of complaints the OIG receives each fiscal year has been increasing. Over the past 10 years, the OIG has seen an increase of approximately 48%, as shown here.

Of the 40 complaints filed with the OIG this reporting period, three resulted in the initiation of investigative matters or are currently pending a determination, 16 were referred to other government agencies for their appropriate action, and good cause was not established in 21 of them.

Since our inception, 44 complaints have resulted in the initiation of investigative matters, and we have referred 83 complaints to other governmental agencies.

PROGRAMS

The OIG is structured to support its primary mission of investigating gross mismanagement and misconduct. Deputy Inspector General Schmidt directs the work of these programs, which our Audit and Contract/ Procurement Oversight and Investigations units carry out. These units work together to perform investigations and oversight of contract management, procurement, and ethics.

As the result of OIG efforts, we have identified approximately $46.7 million in questionable expenditures to date, including approximately $2.9 million this fiscal year. This averages approximately $3.6 million per year over the OIG's 13 fiscal years of operation. Moreover, our efforts have led to the detection of over $7.3 million in recoverable funds, projected cost savings, and assessed penalties. To date, as a result of our investigations, the OIG has helped local governments recover approximately $925,000 in misspent taxpayer funds, including over $130,000 this fiscal year.

It is impossible to calculate our greatest impact – the millions we save residents and taxpayers through our programs' recommendations and the unseen correction of waste, fraud, and abuse through deterrence.

Each of the programs are discussed in more detail below.

AUDIT AND CONTRACT/ PROCUREMENT OVERSIGHT

The Audit and Contract/Procurement Oversight unit ("ACPO") is under the supervision of ACPO Manager Magli. ACPO focuses on reviewing government expenditures and associated processes, with an emphasis on public procurement and contract execution, administration, and oversight. This unit consists of Special Agents and Senior Auditors. It conducts reviews, audits, and investigations within its area of responsibility.

The OIG designed ACPO around the principles of detection and prevention. Since its inception, the unit has conducted an ongoing effort to help local governments identify and recover misspent taxpayer funds. To date, our efforts have led to the identification of recoverable funds and estimated cost savings totaling approximately $7.3 million.

To accomplish the program's objectives, OIG staff analyzes payments expended by Broward's local governments and detects instances of fraud, contract violations, overbilling, and underpayments. In addition to detecting misspent taxpayer dollars, we also evaluate internal controls; vendor solicitation, negotiation, and selection; purchase order execution; contract management; and other government processes that make local governments susceptible to the waste of public resources. We then recommend controls and other systematic best practice measures, such as staff training, to prevent those vulnerabilities from being exploited. We have found that Broward's county and municipal governments usually embrace such OIG recommendations.

This type of oversight and agency collaboration is crucial to promoting transparency and fairness in public procurement and maintaining fiscal integrity in local government. It not only helps mitigate potential corruption but also ensures that limited government resources are allocated more wisely and efficiently through fair and equitable competition, resulting in more prudent spending and an increase in public confidence.

Occasionally, our reviews identify potential gross mismanagement or misconduct. In those instances, the OIG proceeds with a full investigation and utilizes the expertise of investigative and legal staff, as necessary.

The following are summaries of ACPO's activities that were finalized with reports or memoranda to the affected entities during this reporting period.

Gross Mismanagement Within the City of North Lauderdale Allowed Solid Waste Vendor to Overbill Over $2.58 Million, Ref. OIG 21-008-M

The OIG issued a final report concluding that a former finance director of the City of North Lauderdale engaged in gross mismanagement for his failure to properly manage the financial aspect of a city contract for solid waste services when the service provider, Waste Pro, overbilled the City's residents (through the City) and commercial customers and did not pay all the franchise fees it owed to the City.

In total, from January 2012 through September 2021, Waste Pro's overbillings amounted to approximately $2,589,753.48.

The OIG also determined that no one staff member in the City was responsible for managing the Waste Pro contract overall. Had the former finance director ensured that Waste Pro's rates were correct and in accordance with the contract and had there been proper management of the contract overall, City staff would have or should have realized that the service provider:

- did not lower rates in October 2012 in conformance with the contract's requirement to adjust for reduced tipping fees;
- lowered the residential rate in July 2013 for less than the contract required and did not lower commercial rates according to the contract's Second Amendment;

- when the City Commission agreed to increase rates in January 2016, January 2017, and October 2018, applied a higher rate than agreed for commercial customers;
- when the City Commission agreed to a higher rate on a single component of the overall rate in January 2016 and October 2018, increased the rate on all components for commercial customers; and
- throughout the contract, collected but did not report and remit all franchise fees that were due to the City.

The first two oversights listed above left incorrect rates in place throughout the term of contract, exponentially increasing the overbilling over time. Specifically, the OIG estimated that Waste Pro overbilled the City $599,707.68 for residential solid waste services and that it overbilled commercial customers a total of $1,990,045.80 for container and compactor services. For commercial services, this equated to an overbilling of approximately $1,611,392.17 plus an overbilling of franchise fees of approximately $378,653.63.
Additionally, the OIG found that Waste Pro billed for certain services to commercial customers but did not list them on its monthly franchise fee report to the City. This resulted in Waste Pro underpaying franchise fees to the City in the amount of $42,580.58 for certain service codes related to compactors and $36,207.73 for a frontload overload can fee code, for a total of $78,788.31.

Waste Pro provided the City with a check in the amount of $92,000.00 to remedy the franchise fee payment issue, but, otherwise, the parties have not resolved the overbilling and underpayment described in the OIG's report.

City of Wilton Manors Employees' Gross Mismanagement of a Parking Management Services Contract, Ref. OIG 20-002-M

The OIG issued a final report concluding that two former City of Wilton Manors ("City") finance directors engaged in gross mismanagement in their handling of the City's parking management services contract with Lanier Parking Meter Services, LLC ("Lanier").

The OIG's investigation determined that the former employees failed to sufficiently scrutinize Lanier's invoices from April 1, 2019, through June 30, 2022, the period it reviewed. Their deficiencies included failing to ensure that the revenue Lanier reported as having collected on behalf of the City, which totaled $2,942,099.83, was accurate compared to Lanier's deposits into the City's parking bank account, which totaled $3,056,220.00.

The failure to properly manage the Lanier contract also resulted in questionable expenditures totaling at least $108,093.11, as the employees improperly approved $77,589.36 of reimbursements to Lanier for inadequately documented employee wages and another $30,503.75 for expenses the contract did not authorize.

The OIG identified two other issues of concern that the City and Lanier resolved while the OIG's investigation was ongoing. First, the OIG identified that Lanier remained in possession of a $31,174.27 operating advance that was due back to the City. On March 25, 2024, Lanier sent the City a credit memo reflecting that Lanier applied a $31,174.27 credit to the City's outstanding October 2023 invoice. Furthermore, on March 4, 2024, Lanier transferred to the City a vehicle that it was supposed to have given the City in April 2022, according to the Contract.

In its response to the preliminary version of the OIG's report, the City reported that it had plans to add a Senior Accountant to the Finance Department staff with the necessary expertise and training to complete appropriate reconciliations. The OIG final report" concluded with several recommendations to the City to address the findings of the OIG's investigation.

Pembroke Park Follows OIG's Recommendations to Implement Controls Over Town Purchasing Card or Credit Card Spending, Ref. OIG 23-030-M

In September 2023, the Broward Office of the Inspector General ("OIG") issued numerous recommendations to the Town of Pembroke Park to curb spending on town credit cards, also known as purchasing cards or p-cards. In May 2024, we issued a follow-up memorandum that concluded the Town had followed virtually all the OIG's prior recommendations on the subject. We determined that the Town Commission met two weeks after the OIG issued its September closing memorandum and discussed its observations. Its members then directed staff to update the Town's purchasing manual and any other policies needed to comply with the OIG's recommendations.
Over the ensuing weeks, the commission approved a resolution that authorized the implementation of a purchasing manual that now contains a section on p-card use that answered many of the OIG's concerns. The commission also passed an ordinance that established travel policies and rates that enabled the town to conform with Florida law. The town provided officials and employees with training on the new p-card and travel policies and procedures.

The town also produced several newly executed p-card user agreements by which authorized officials and employees agreed to follow the new policies and procedures. We also received a list of p-card holders and their designated spending limits.
After signing a p-card user agreement and undergoing the required training, the elected official whose town p-card spending was the focus of our initial inquiry, surrendered his p-card in late December 2023.

At the conclusion of the OIG's follow-up, the town had yet to determine how to implement advance approval for p-card purchases and travel; whether purchases from 2019 to the present were made for a primary public purpose; and what disciplinary measures, if any, the town will implement for violations of the policies and procedures.

Deficiencies Identified in North Lauderdale's Procurement Process for Small Purchases, Ref. 22-005-M

The OIG concluded a review of the City of North Lauderdale's disbursement records and transactions of several smaller-scale City purchases from October 1, 2016, through June 29, 2020. The OIG identified several instances where the City did not ensure that it disseminated solicitation specifications equitably and effectively, did not obtain the minimum three quotes for the solicitation of the goods and services sought, or both. The OIG identified that these purchases resulted in questionable expenditures totaling at least $73,800.00.

City purchases of less than $25,000.00 still required employees to exercise due diligence in maintaining a competitive marketplace by, at a minimum, obtaining the required number of quotes as prescribed by code. In public procurement, it is essential that City staff provide all proposers with the same specifications and that they clearly instruct potential vendors on the procurement process, so that the City equitably affords all potential vendors the same opportunity to compete and win a potential award. Additionally, following procurement best practices, staff must analyze proposals under the same "apples to apples" comparison to ensure fairness and sufficient competition.

As a result of the OIG's review, the City took several measures to provide for better oversight of its procurement process, to add additional high-level support, and to better train staff on policies and procedures related to public procurement.

On June 26, 2024, the City's Finance Director confirmed the City's actions to address inconsistencies in the City's procurement process. The OIG recognizes the significant steps the City has taken toward creating a more controlled, efficient, and fair procurement process for small purchases and appreciates its cooperation during this review.

INVESTIGATIONS

Under the supervision of Investigations Manager Tanaka, Special Agents within the Investigations unit are tasked with investigating credible allegations of misconduct and gross mismanagement by County and Municipal elected officials, employees, and providers.

We also investigate alleged violations of the Broward Ethics Code, the Florida Code of Ethics for Public Officials and Employees ("State Ethics Code"), and municipal ethics codes. Special Agents also assist on procurement oversight and audit-related matters.

OIG staff are responsible for reviewing and corroborating information from hundreds of tips and complaints. They must also:

- conduct thorough, well-documented investigations;
- perform extensive background checks; and
- carry out detailed ethics and other regulatory compliance reviews.

Although OIG investigations vary in size and complexity, most require interviews of witnesses and implicated parties, the review of numerous documents, the analysis of financial records, and the preparation of detailed reports that summarize investigative findings.

The OIG issues final reports at the conclusion of investigations of alleged gross mismanagement. We also issue final reports involving alleged misconduct when we determine that such a report will assist the County or any Municipality in preventing similar misconduct in the future. When a final report is not warranted, the OIG may issue and/or publish a closing memorandum notifying officials of the closure of the investigation and detailing what we found.

In addition to one matter reported below in the Ethics Program discussion, the following are summaries of significant investigative findings the OIG made during this reporting period.

Fort Lauderdale City Manager Committed Misconduct by Not Residing in the City and Making a False Statement That He Did Reside in the City, Ref. OIG 23-031-M

The OIG issued a final report concluding that the City of Fort Lauderdale's former City Manager Gregorio "Greg" Chavarria engaged in misconduct by failing to reside in the City during his term as city manager, which ran from July 23, 2022, to June 1, 2024. The OIG also concluded that Mr. Chavarria engaged in criminal misconduct by falsely swearing to the Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles ("DHSMV") to a particular Fort Lauderdale address as his legal residence.

The OIG's investigation determined that, although the City's charter required the city manager to reside within the City during his or her term of office, there were no objective facts that reasonably suggested that Mr. Chavarria did so until at least mid-September 2023. Although Mr. Chavarria and his wife purchased a condominium unit located in Fort Lauderdale on October 31, 2022, the OIG observed factors that showed that he did not appear to reside there, including that he did not change his address with the City or with the DHSMV. Furthermore, he did not request the City to reimburse him for any moving expenses for a move into the City, an allowance to which he was contractually entitled.
The OIG's investigation also determined that Mr. Chavarria falsely swore to the DHSMV to another Fort Lauderdale address as being his legal residence when he changed his address on his driver license on February 25, 2023. As the objective facts, including Mr. Chavarria's travel pattern on work days, showed that he did not reside at that address, his false declaration constituted two types of misdemeanor perjury, perjury not in an official proceeding and making a false official statement.

Mr. Chavarria, through his attorney, and Mayor Dean Trantalis, individually, disputed the OIG's determinations by suggesting that Mr. Chavarria lived at the Fort Lauderdale condominium he owned with his wife. Mayor Trantalis offered that Mr. Chavarria showed a good faith effort to comply with the city charter's mandate by buying the condominium. But, as Mr. Chavarria's ownership of the condominium accounted for less than four months of his 22-month term of office and the city charter did not provide a good faith exemption, the claimed residence at the condominium he purchased in the City did not affect our misconduct findings, which included false statement and perjury findings.

In accordance with our charter mandate, we referred the matter to the Broward State Attorney's Office for whatever action that agency deems appropriate.

Pembroke Park Officials Unlawfully Spent $10,575 of Taxpayer Funds to Charter a Yacht for the Town's 2022 Holiday Party, Ref. OIG 23-018-M

The OIG issued a final report concluding that Town of Pembroke Park Commissioner Geoffrey Jacobs, when he was the Town's mayor, engaged in misconduct by improperly procuring a $10,575.00 yacht charter for the Town's 2022 annual holiday party for its officials, staff, and guests.

The OIG investigation determined that then-Mayor Jacobs selected the vendor by making a non-refundable $3,950.00 deposit with his Town credit card and executing a contract for the Town to charter the Sun Dream yacht for a three-hour cruise for 40 guests from 5:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m. on December 21, 2022, for $10,575.00. The Town's Procurement Code required that, for purchases exceeding $10,000.00, a proper procurement entailed the Town Commission's review of written proposals from at least three different vendors and approval of the most responsible and responsive proposal at a regular or special meeting. The Code also instructed that only the Chief Procurement Officer, that is, the Town Manager or his designee, was authorized to contract on behalf of the Town.

Because only 24 guests reportedly attended the event, the approximate charter cost for each person who cruised was $440.63.

The investigation also determined that the Town's former Finance and Budget Director Roy Brown played a role in the improper procurement when he authorized a $6,625.00 wire transfer to pay the balance due for the holiday party without determining whether the purchase complied with the Town's laws regarding procurement. He did not review the invoice for the yacht charter, endeavor to learn the amount of the deposit, or otherwise determine the total cost of the yacht charter, which would have alerted him about the purchase's procurement deficiencies.

OIG Completes First Compliance Review of County and Municipal Governments' Adherence to State's New Cybersecurity Law, Ref. 24-012-M

The OIG concluded a review into whether the largest 23 local governments within the county had complied with the state statutory requirement to adopt certain cybersecurity standards by January 1, 2024. By the end of the OIG's involvement, all local government entities under review had either certified to the state that they had adopted cybersecurity standards or provided the OIG records reflecting their adoption of cybersecurity standards.

The Local Government Cybersecurity Act requires local governments to adopt standards that safeguard their data, information technology, and information technology resources to ensure availability, confidentiality, and integrity. According to the Act, such standards must be consistent with generally accepted best practices for cybersecurity.

This was the OIG's first review for compliance with the Act's requirements. During the next fiscal year, the OIG intends to conduct a similar review of the county's nine remaining municipalities – those with populations of less than 25,000, as state law requires those municipalities to adopt cybersecurity standards by January 1, 2025.

ETHICS

Consistent with its Charter mandate, the OIG investigates, reports on, and refers state and local ethics code violations that apply to Broward's officials and employees and enforces the Broward Ethics Code.

Ethics Enforcement

The OIG reviewed the tips and complaints it received during the reporting period and determined that we received 18 ethics-related tips within our jurisdiction. Of those 18 total tips, we closed 5 and opened 12. Three (3) tips were related to existing matters, and 9 were opened as new matters involving potential misconduct as defined by state and local ethics laws. One (1) tip was pending further review.

OIG ethics enforcement activity during the reporting year included the following:

Tamarac's Federal Lobbyist Paid for City Officials' Dinner, Ref. OIG 23-029-M

The OIG issued a closing memorandum after the Investigations Unit concluded an investigation into whether certain elected officials from the City of Tamarac accepted a gift prohibited by the Broward Ethics Code when the City's Federal Lobbyist paid for one of their dinners during a City delegation trip to Washington, D.C., in March 2023.

We determined that the City's Federal Lobbyist personally paid $594.46 for beverages and food for three elected officials, among others, who sat at her table at the Clyde's of Gallery Place restaurant on March 29, 2023. Until after the OIG's investigation became known to the City, no one had reimbursed either the lobbyist or her firm for any portion of the total she paid for the meal. Under the Broward Ethics Code, the alcoholic beverages and food constituted gifts from a City vendor or contractor valued at over $5.00. But because the OIG was not able to conclusively determine that any of the elected officials who attended the dinner knew – at the time – that the City's Federal Lobbyist paid for the dinner, it did not find misconduct.

The lobbying firm invoiced the City for the dinner on February 23, 2024, and the City paid $594.46 to the firm on April 26, 2024, more than one year after the meal.

The OIG reminded all of Broward's elected officials that the Broward Ethics Code states it is their responsibility to avoid even the appearance of impropriety, that there are gift prohibitions within the Broward Ethics Code, and that elected officials should be vigilant in holding themselves to the highest ethical standards.

OIG Helps Broward's Elected Officials Make Their 2022 Financial Disclosures Available for Public Inspection, Ref. 24-008-M

Due to the OIG's efforts, all current Broward elected officials have complied with the requirement that they post copies of their 2022 Form 1 and Form 6 disclosures ("financial disclosures") on their governmental entities' websites.

The Broward Ethics Code requires the mayors and members of the governing bodies of the county's local governments ("elected officials") to post copies of their financial disclosures online at the same time they file their original forms with the appropriate government office per state law. The State Ethics Code made all 2022 financial disclosures due by July 1, 2023.

In its initial review that began in February 2024, the OIG determined that 36 of the forms that were due to be online on or by July 1, 2023, were missing. This comprised approximately 21 percent of the forms for the 170 officials in office at the end of 2022. We then communicated and worked with the clerks of the 11 municipalities with missing forms.

By the end of the OIG's involvement, 100 percent of the elected officials who were required to file a 2022 financial disclosure were in compliance with the Broward Ethics Code's requirement to make them available for public inspection.

Former County Convention and Visitors Bureau V.P. of Convention Sales Admits to State Ethics Violation, Ref. OIG 16-019-M

In a matter that the OIG referred to the Florida Commission on Ethics ("CE"), the former Vice President of Convention Sales for the Greater Fort Lauderdale Convention and Visitors Bureau ("CVB") agreed with the CE that she violated the State Ethics Code.

Christine Roberts admitted that she had a conflicting contractual relationship that would create a continuing or frequently recurring conflict between her private interests and the performance of her public duties in violation of section 112.313(7)(a), Florida Statutes. On December 1, 2023, the CE entered a final order adopting the agreement to a public censure, reprimand, and $1,500 civil penalty.

The OIG passed on its findings to the CE after its investigation revealed probable cause to believe that Ms. Roberts corruptly misused her position within the CVB to orchestrate the selection of her boyfriend's event production company for CVB events between 2012, the year she and her boyfriend started dating, and 2015, the year he stopped working with the CVB. The investigation further found probable cause that Ms. Roberts had a conflicting contractual relationship with her boyfriend, as the two entered into a loan agreement at the same time as the CVB was doing business with him. The CE had also found probable cause to believe that Ms. Roberts used or disclosed information not available to the public for her boyfriend's benefit.

Although Ms. Roberts ultimately admitted to the conflicting contractual relationship, she denied the allegations that she misused her position and disclosed information not available to the public, and, as part of the stipulation, the CE dismissed the denied allegations.

CFA ACCREDITATION

In October 2023, the Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation ("CFA"), the accrediting authority for law enforcement agencies and offices of inspectors general in Florida's state and local governments, voted to award the OIG its third reaccreditation.

During the prior reporting period, a team of CFA assessors had conducted its review and recommended reaccreditation, finding the OIG to be in compliance with 43 applicable standards. The CFA's assessment report found that the OIG is committed to maintaining the highest level of professionalism and accountability and that it upholds the CFA standards as part of its daily operations. In the report's conclusion, it lauded the OIG for a "flawless onsite assessment."

The CFA has continually accredited the OIG since 2014. The new reaccreditation is valid until October 2026.

We at the OIG occasionally hear the question, "Who watches the watchdog?" In the case of the OIG, not only do the members of the Inspector General Selection-Oversight Committee – over which the OIG has no jurisdiction or authority – have the responsibility to oversee and annually review the Inspector General, the OIG also voluntarily submits to the CFA's review process so that the public is assured that another third-party organization neutrally assesses whether the OIG has adopted standards to ensure it operates accountably, transparently, and in the public interest. The OIG appreciates the vital contributions of Deputy Inspector General and Accreditation Manager Amy Schmidt and Operations Manager and Assistant Accreditation Manager Monica Vidal to ensure that all OIG staff understand and follow the CFA standards at all times and are well prepared for the assessment process.

BROWARD COUNTY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

In 2022 the School Board of Broward County ("SBBC") submitted a letter to the Broward County Board of County Commissioners ("BCC") requesting the County allow it to receive inspector general services from the OIG. After the Inspector General agreed in principle to providing such services, in October 2023, the BCC gave direction to the County Attorney's Office to begin working with the SBBC and the OIG to draft the necessary legal documents to enable the SBBC or a constitutional officer to receive inspector general services from the OIG if pursuant to an interlocal agreement ("ILA"), in exchange for the payment of costs.

Over the next eight months, the Inspector General, with the substantial assistance of OIG General Counsel McIntire and outside counsel retained for the purpose, met individually and together with counsel for the County and the SBBC to draft a Charter amendment, a tri-party ILA, a ballot question, and a BCC resolution placing the question on the November 2024 general election ballot. Efforts to craft the amendment and the ILA in particular required the OIG to engage in many hours of internal discussion as well as extensive face-to-face and videoconference briefing, discussion, drafting, and negotiation with representatives of the County and the SBBC.

The Inspector General, Deputy Inspector General, ACPO Manager, and General Counsel briefed SBBC officials in detail about how the OIG currently provides inspector general services and how it expected to do so for the SBBC if voters were to approve the ballot question. The Inspector General, Deputy Inspector General, and ACPO Manager met with SBBC officials and staff including the Auditor, Chief Safety and Security Officer, Chief of Police, and General Counsel to gain an understanding of the SBBC's investigative processes.

The Inspector General and Deputy Inspector General also personally met with Miami-Dade OIG's Assistant Inspector General for Investigations Hector Ortiz and Supervisory Special Agent Jose Gonzalez, Palm Beach Schools Inspector General Teresa Michael, Florida Department of Education Inspector General Mike Blackburn, and Florida Chief Inspector General Melinda Miguel and several of their staff members to better understand how local and state inspector general services are provided to Florida's school districts. The Inspector General is grateful for these individuals' insight and generosity of time.

Chief issues to which the parties to the ILA ultimately agreed were:

- ensuring the OIG's independence and discretion to initiate and direct investigations,
- ensuring the SBBC will pay – in advance where possible – for all anticipated incremental costs to the County,
- rule and regulation violations subject to investigation,
- inclusions and exclusions of individuals and entities subject to investigation,
- termination by any party with 30 days' notice and a wind-down period to complete pending matters, and
- SBBC's indemnification of the County and the OIG.

By June 4, 2024, when the BCC passed the resolution to place the referendum on the ballot in the general election, the three parties had agreed to a draft ILA, with only the initial fee to be determined.
The following was approved to appear on the Broward County ballot in the general election of November 5, 2024:

> Expansion of the Broward County Inspector General's Authority
> Amends the Broward County Charter to allow the Broward County Inspector General to provide inspector general services to The School Board of Broward County and the constitutional officers of Broward County if the applicable entity (The School Board or the constitutional officer) contracts with the Broward County Office of Inspector General and with Broward County regarding such inspector general services.

> ☐ YES
> ☐ NO

INTERGOVERNMENTAL COOPERATION AND COMMUNITY OUTREACH

The OIG continues to maintain relationships and work with federal, state, and local law enforcement, regulatory, and governmental agencies throughout the county and state.

We refer completed OIG investigations to the appropriate prosecutive or regulatory agency, such as the Broward State Attorney's Office ("SAO"), the CE, and the Florida Election Commission, for their action as they deem suitable. We provide continuing cooperation with those agencies as their investigations, prosecutions, and administrative actions progress. In March 2024 we met with the new Assistant State Attorney in Charge of the SAO's Public Corruption Unit regarding matters of mutual interest to our respective agencies.

We remain members of the Broward County Public Corruption Task Force, which also includes the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Broward Sheriff's Office, City of Fort Lauderdale Police Department, and United States Attorney's Office for the Southern District of Florida.

We participate in report sharing with the Council of the Inspectors General on Integrity and Efficiency ("CIGIE"), the organization of federal inspectors general that operates and maintains the public database of inspector general reports, Oversight.gov. The OIG is also an active member of the South Florida I.G. Council, from which we received an award this reporting period, as reported below.

We participate as members of the national and Florida Chapter of the AIG and the Council on Government Ethics Laws. The Inspector General is active on the Board of Directors of the national AIG and cooperates with other inspectors general and their key personnel on issues of mutual interest.

The OIG participated in intergovernmental and community outreach during the reporting period as follows:

- In December 2023, General Counsel McIntire and Deputy General Counsel Jenna Gargano presented the OIG's 50th ethics training for Broward's elected officials. This live, in-person training was titled, "Ethics and Open Government Laws for Elected Officials" and designed to assist Broward's elected officials in satisfying their state and county ethics training requirements. Ms. Gargano presented an overview of state and county ethics laws, and Ms. McIntire presented on open meetings and public records laws. The course provided an understanding of these laws by teaching the sources of the law, the standards of conduct expected, and the legal effect of violations.

  Sixteen representatives of municipalities throughout Broward attended the presentation, after which several attendees expressed their gratitude for the OIG's presentations and engaging discussions about the material.

- In February 2024, the South Florida I.G. Council recognized four OIG staff members for their work in investigating and reporting on a matter concerning Plantation's former mayor at its Special Achievement Awards Ceremony held at the United States Attorney's Office in Miami, Florida.

  OIG Special Agent William Cates, Senior Special Agent Hisae Tanaka, General Counsel McIntire, and Deputy Inspector General Schmidt accepted the 2023 Public Corruption Investigation Award. The Council gave the award for this category for results distinguishable from other public corruption matters by factors such as level of complexity, systemic corruption, level of subject(s), and the impact the investigation had on government operation or the public's faith in government.

For the case that resulted in the award, the OIG team reviewed a substantial number of city records from various departments, construction loan records, title insurance services records, campaign finance reports, and city council meeting records and videos and conducted 44 interviews of current and former employees and officials of the city and private companies. The event was attended by approximately 200 guests. Among the attendees were Broward State Attorney Harold Pryor and Chief Assistant State Attorney Regina Faulk, whom the Council invited to recognize for their office's support of the work of inspectors general. The Council, of which the OIG is a member, is comprised of federal, state, and local OIGs with a presence in South Florida. Council members routinely meet to discuss trends, share information with member agencies, host training opportunities, and coordinate the awards program.

- In February 2024, Inspector General Breece participated in the American Society for Public Administration, South Florida Chapter's annual "Best Practices" conference.

  The OIG's participation was on a panel titled "Navigating Between Right and Wrong: Contemporary Ethical Challenges," moderated by Miami-Dade Commission on Ethics and Public Trust ("Miami-Dade Ethics Commission") former Executive Director Jose Arrojo. Former Miami- Dade Ethics Commission Executive Directors Robert A. Meyers, now a city attorney and partner with the law firm Weiss Serota Helfman Cole + Bierman, and Joseph M. Centorino, now the Inspector General for the City of Miami Beach, joined the panel in addressing how to recognize and handle ethical dilemmas in the public workplace. Ms. Breece spoke on the function of inspectors general, the Broward OIG's scope and function, and examples of closed investigations where public employees reported suspected ethical misconduct, specifically in public procurements.

  The South Florida chapter of ASPA is comprised of 1,000 public administration practitioners, academics, and students, established to professionalize the public service, and it provides its members with education, research, technical assistance, and networking opportunities.

- In March 2024, OIG Deputy General Counsel Jenna Gargano spoke on behalf of the agency at a program sponsored by the Broward County Bar Association's government section, titled, "Ethics Lawyering for Local Governments."

  During the program, which was held in Fort Lauderdale, Ms. Gargano, Assistant County Attorney Kristin Carter, and Bradley H. Weissman of Nabors, Giblin & Nickerson, each spoke on the role they served for their own agency or firm in handling public ethics law-related issues. Ms. Gargano presented on the OIG's scope, function, and investigations, focusing on ethics cases. The program was well received by the approximately 21 participants who attended, many of whom were attorneys serving one or more local governments in Broward County.

- In April 2024, the Inspector General participated in a presentation coordinated by the Broward County Attorney's Office for 11 public corruption investigators, prosecutors, and reporters from Eastern Europe visiting the United States.

  The presentation, titled "Combatting Public Corruption," also included Assistant County Attorneys Scott Andron and Kristin Carter and Broward County District 7 Director of Policy and Public Affairs Eugen Bold, who spoke on local government in Florida, the state's open meetings and public records laws, and building public trust and confidence, respectively. Inspector General Breece spoke on inspectors general as a specialized tool to combat public corruption, the authority and function of the Broward OIG, legal mechanisms that enhance interagency information sharing and cooperation, and the role of media and civil society in the OIG's investigating and reporting.

The guests, who included a prosecutor from the European Public Prosecutor's Office and an elected member of the National Assembly of the Republic of Slovenia, competed within their countries for the opportunity to participate in this cohort of the U.S. Department of State International Visitor Leadership Program facilitated by Global Ties Miami and Meridian International Center.

- In August 2024, the OIG's legal staff conducted another live, in-person ethics training titled, "Ethics and Open Government Laws for Broward's Elected Officials." The four-hour course was designed to assist Broward's elected officials in satisfying their state and county ethics training requirements. Ms. Gargano presented an overview of state and county ethics laws, Ms. McIntire presented on open meeting laws, and Assistant Legal Counsel Amy Drever presented on public records laws. Twenty elected officials from municipalities and the county attended the presentation. Following the presentation, many of the attendees expressed appreciation for the OIG's presentation and engagement of the legal staff.

In an effort to better communicate with the public, during FY 2024, the OIG sought and received the substantial, professional assistance of the County's Office of Public Communications ("OPC") in restyling the OIG's logo and website. As the OIG is organized to be independent of the local governments over which it has authority, it was our goal to bring visual distinction between the OIG and the County, whose logos and websites shared the same colors and included overlap in design. Part of an element of the OIG's legacy logo, white stars, appears in the new logo as a nod to the office's history.

OPC designed the OIG's new website, www.browardIG.org, from the ground up for the public to readily view and navigate the site with mobile devices, now the source of most website traffic. The website carries through the color scheme, design, and tone of the restyled logo and was organized to quickly provide relevant information on the following web pages:

- Home
- About Us
- Investigations
- Audit & Contracts
- Ethics
- FAQs
- Careers
- Public Records
- Publications & Press
- Contact Us
- Report Misconduct

It features new content and the technological advance of online forms for tips and complaints. These online forms are embedded within the site and have provided a convenient way for those with information about misconduct and gross mismanagement to report their information immediately and confidentially to the OIG. Following the OIG's implementation of these forms in April 2024, we saw a significant increase in the number of filed complaints, as reported above under “Complaints, Tips, and Information.”

The OIG also brought the new look to other agency products during the fiscal year, such as stationery, forms, internal directives, business cards, and this annual report. In the redesign of our business cards, we included a staff innovation on the reverse of every staff member’s card, two helpful Quick Response (“QR”) codes. The first QR code, labeled “How to Report,” goes directly to the OIG’s “Report Misconduct” web page. The second QR code, labeled, “Witness FAQs,” goes directly to our Frequently Asked Questions or “FAQs” page, and answers questions witnesses would likely have when first encountering the OIG.

The OIG’s restyled website, still at www.browardIG.org, remains an essential resource for providing and receiving information and for staying connected with those whom we serve.

The public and press can stay up to date about our recent activity and access our searchable “Publications & Press” page for final reports, closing memoranda, status reports, press releases, annual reports, and other publications. Site visitors may also find out how to contact us and “Report Misconduct” with conveniently located buttons on every page of the site.

“Report Misconduct” encourages website visitors to assist the OIG in combating misconduct and gross mismanagement by providing information in several ways. At the “Ethics” section’s “Disclosure Sites” page, the OIG’s website also provides a convenient portal for the public to gain access to the County and Municipalities’ ethics disclosure web pages, and it provides open access to ethics training opportunities, OIG ethics training materials, applicable ethics laws, and helpful OIG publications on state and county ethics provisions.

Dockets for open Charter Section 10 Enforcement Hearings Forum cases are also available online. These dockets give the public open access to the text of all documents filed with the OIG Agency Clerk and provide for public notice of upcoming hearings. When such a case is open, you can find its docket under the “Public Records” tab at our website.

The OIG also uses social media messaging to inform the public and press of newly published reports and notices of other important activities. To stay connected to the OIG, follow @BrowardIG on X.

Editor's note— Ord. 2010-616-E, § 1, amended the Charter by adding a new subtitle to Art. 1, and renumbering former §§*

1.01 and 1.02 as §§ 1.101 and 1.102.

Section 1.101. - Consolidated government.

(a) The county government of Duval County, the municipal government of the City of Jacksonville, the Duval County Air Improvement Authority, the east Duval County Mosquito Control District, the northeast Duval County Mosquito Control District, and all boards, bodies, and officers thereof were and are consolidated into a single body politic and corporate pursuant to the power granted by former s. 9 of Article VIII of the Constitution of 1885, as amended, of the State of Florida, which section was continued by and remains in full force and effect under s. of Article VIII of the Constitution of the State of Florida. The name of the consolidated government is City of Jacksonville (herein called "city" or "consolidated government"). The consolidated government succeeds to and possesses all the properties (of whatever nature), rights, capacities, privileges, powers, franchises, immunities, liabilities, obligations, and duties of the former governments and former special districts named in the first sentence of this subsection, without including or affecting the existence, properties, rights, capacities, privileges, powers, franchises, immunities, liabilities, obligations, and duties of the Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin. The consolidated government shall have perpetual existence and shall have only such officers, departments, and other agencies as are provided in this charter or as may be established by the council.

(b) The consolidated government has and shall have jurisdiction as a chartered county government and extend territorially throughout Duval County, and has and shall have jurisdiction as a municipality throughout Duval County except in the Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin.

Section 1.102. - Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and Town of Baldwin.

(a) The territories of the Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin were and are also consolidated into the territory of the consolidated government. The Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin shall each continue to exist and have and retain the same local governmental structure, boards, bodies, officers, laws, municipal charters, and special acts which existed in those areas on September 30, 1968, unless changed in accordance with law. The persons who were officers and members of boards and bodies of the Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin on September 30, 1968, continued after that date to occupy the same position and were entitled to the same compensation therefor, unless changed in accordance with law. All such boards, bodies, and officers continue since October 1, 1968, to be elected at the times, in the manner, and for the terms which were provided under their respective municipal charters and continue to have the same powers and duties which they had under those charters, unless changed in accordance with law. All municipal charters and special and general laws which applied to the Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin on September 30, 1968, continue to apply to the respective governments, boards, bodies, and officers unless changed in accordance with law. These Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin each continue to be entitled to own, acquire, encumber, and transfer property in its own name, by the duly authorized action of its boards, bodies, and officers. The Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin are continued as municipalities having all governmental, corporate, and proprietary powers to enable them to conduct municipal government, perform municipal functions, and render municipal services, and shall be treated, considered, and dealt with as municipalities under the Constitution and laws of the State of Florida and shall be entitled to exercise the same functions, powers, and duties granted to municipalities under the general laws and Constitution of the State of Florida.

(b) The Cities of Jacksonville Beach, Atlantic Beach, and Neptune Beach and the Town of Baldwin shall not be subject to the provisions of section 5.11, article 14, article 16, article 17, or article 19. The council may provide for management or fiscal audits by the council auditor of the second, third, fourth, and fifth urban services districts or their boards, bodies, or officers.

CHAPTER 2. - ETHICS

Section 1.201. - Declaration of Ethics Policy.

The proper operation of responsible government requires that public officials and employees be independent, impartial, and responsible to the people; that government decisions and policy be made in the best interests of the people, the community and the government; that public office not be used for personal gain, and that the public have confidence in the integrity of its government.

Section 1.202. - Ethics code, ethics commission, inspector general.

The City of Jacksonville, acting in its capacity as a county, shall enact an ethics code with jurisdiction over the officers and employees of the consolidated government of the City of Jacksonville, its constitutional officers, and independent agencies and districts, whether elected or appointed, paid or unpaid, and to the officers and employees of the school district. Jurisdiction shall include, but not be limited to the following: The Mayor, the Sheriff, the Supervisor of Elections, the Property Appraiser, the Clerk of the Courts, the Tax Collector, City Council, JEA, the Police and Fire Pension Fund, Jacksonville Aviation Authority, Jacksonville Port Authority, Jacksonville Housing Authority, Jacksonville Housing Finance Authority, Jacksonville Transportation Authority, and the Jacksonville Health Facilities Authority. The ethics code may, as allowed by law, supplement state ethics laws. The ethics code shall provide for an independent ethics commission, whose membership shall have appropriate subject matter expertise, and which shall:

(a) manage a citywide ethics hotline for intakes of allegations of violations of the ethics code;

(b) manage and coordinate the training and education of local officers and employees in state and local ethics;

(c) have the authority to refer ethics matters to appropriate enforcement agencies;

(d) recommend changes in legislation to City Council in the areas of ethics laws and administration, conflicts of interests, hotline policies, ethics education, ethics in procurement, campaign ethics, and lobbying;

(e) have jurisdiction to levy those civil fines or penalties authorized by the City Council for violations of the City's ethics code;

(f) act as the hiring committee for the administrative staff of the ethics oversight and compliance office; and whose enforcement power is limited to the ethics code authorized by this section and enacted by city council. A structure shall be established for the ethics commission that ensures independence and impartiality

(Ord. 2010-616-E, § 1; Ord. 2014-747-E, § 1)

Section 1.203 - Ethics Oversight and Compliance office and Office of Inspector General.

(a) The ethics code provided for in section 1.202 of the Charter shall include the establishment of an independent citywide Ethics Oversight and Compliance office and an independent Office of Inspector General, each with jurisdiction over the City of Jacksonville, its constitutional officers, and its independent agencies.

(b) The Ethics Office shall coordinate ethics training, ethics compliance, and ethics oversight issues and to staff the ethics commission.

(c) The Office of Inspector General shall provide independent oversight of publicly funded activities and transactions and other local government operations. The office shall have jurisdiction to investigate, audit, and provide contract oversight, and to promote economies and efficiencies, improve agency operations, and prevent and deter waste, fraud and abuse.

(d) The Ethics Oversight and Compliance Office and the Office of Inspector General shall, to the extent practicable and advisable, share resources, promote efficiencies and avoid duplications.

(Ord. 2010-616-E, § 1; Ord. 2014-519-E, § 4; Ord. 2014-747-E, § 1)

Section 1.204 - Administrative Support.

(a) Appropriate support, as determined by City Council, shall be provided to the ethics commission and to the citywide Ethics Oversight and Compliance office and to the Inspector General to carry out each of their duties and responsibilities.

(b) Subsection (a) support shall include a mechanism to obtain documents and testimony in connection with violations of the City's ethics code.

(c) The City and the independent agencies may enter into agreements for purposes of providing funding and administrative support for ethics and inspector general activities.

(d) Subject to available funding, the Inspector General may, appoint, employ or retain independent legal counsel to assist with the functions of the office.

(Ord. 2010-616-E, § 1; Ord. 2014-747-E, § 1)

Section 1.205. - Ethics Education and Application of Ethics Laws.

Every elected official within the consolidated government shall complete such ethics training as may be required by the ethics code. This requirement shall apply to all elected officials within the consolidated government, including, without limitation, the Mayor, all City Council Members, all Duval County School Board Members, the Sheriff, the Supervisor of Elections, the Property Appraiser, the Tax Collector, and the Clerk of the Circuit and County Court. Additionally, all such elected officials shall be included in the definition of the term "officer" regarding any ethics code definition referring to officers as any person elected to any City office and all such elected officials shall comply with all laws applicable to officers in the City's ethics code.

Section 1.206. - Professional Standards.

Subject to practicality and available funding, the Office of Inspector General should apply for and pursue professional accreditations for the investigative functions of the office offered by the Florida Commission for Law Enforcement Accreditation.

(Ord. 2014-747-E, § 1)

Section 1.207. - Inspector General Independent Selection.

The City Council shall amend, enact, reenact, or recodify appropriate legislation to ensure that the hiring and removal of the inspector general shall be vested with an independent inspector general selection committee.

(Ord. 2014-747-E, § 1)

PART 3. - INSPECTOR GENERAL

Sec. 602.301. - Establishment; Office of Inspector General.

There is created an Independent Office of Inspector General. The organization and administration of the Office shall be independent to assure that no interference or influence external to the Office adversely affects the independence and objectivity of the Inspector General.

(Ord. 2014-519-E, § 5)

Sec. 602.302. - Purpose.

The purpose of this Part is to establish a full-time Office of Inspector General in order to provide increased accountability, integrity, and oversight of the entire Consolidated Government, to assist in promoting economy and efficiency, improving agency operations, and deterring and identifying waste, fraud and abuse. This Part shall not apply to the Office of the State Attorney, and the Office of the Public Defender.

(Ord. 2014-519-E, § 5; Ord. 2016-332-E, § 3)

Sec. 602.303. - Duties and Functions.

The duties and functions of the Office of Inspector General shall include the authority, power and responsibility to:

(a) Review and evaluate internal controls to protect the resources of the entire Consolidated Government against waste, fraud, inefficiency, mismanagement, misconduct, and other abuses;

(b) Audit, evaluate, investigate and review past and present the activities, accounts, records, contracts, procurements, change orders, grants, agreements, and other programmatic and financial arrangements undertaken by any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government, and any other function, activity, process or operation conducted by any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government; its officials and employees, contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, and other parties doing business with any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government, or receiving funds from any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government;

(c) Conduct investigations, audits, contract oversight and reviews, issue reports, and make recommendations in accordance with applicable laws, rules, regulations, policies and past practices. (f) Establish a "hotline" to receive complaints, from either anonymous or identified persons;

(g) Review referrals from the Director of the Office of Ethics Compliance and Oversight;

(h) Require all officials, employees, and contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, and other parties doing business with any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government or receiving funds from any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government to provide statements; administer oaths; and, require the production of documents, records and other information. In the case of refusal by an official, employee or other person to obey a request by the Office for documents or for an interview, the Inspector General shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and require the production of documents;

(i) In the case of refusal to obey a subpoena served to any person, the Inspector General may make application to any court of competent jurisdiction to order the witness to appear before the Inspector General and to produce evidence, or to give testimony relevant to the matter in question;

(j) Whereas the Inspector General suspects a possible violation of any State, federal or local law, he or she shall notify the appropriate law enforcement agencies;

(k) The Mayor and any and all Officials and employees of any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government, except for employees of the Jacksonville Sheriff's Office, shall promptly notify the Inspector General of possible mismanagement of a contract (misuse or loss exceeding $5,000 in public funds), fraud, theft, bribery, or other violation of law which appears to fall within the jurisdiction of the Inspector General, and may notify the Inspector General of any other conduct which may fall within the jurisdiction of the Inspector General. Employees of the Council Auditor's Office are exempt from disclosing any information obtained during an audit until the audit is complete and the audit report has been issued to the City Council;

(l) Engage in prevention and outreach activities, including but not limited to: develop public awareness to inform government officials and employees, as well as the general public, of the authority and responsibility of the Office;

(m) Recommend remedial actions to be taken by any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government to overcome or correct operating or maintenance deficiencies and inefficiencies that were identified by the Office;

(n) Issue an annual report to the Ethics Commission, the Inspector General Selection and Retention Committee, Mayor, the Council and deliver to the full City Council and the Inspector General Selection and Retention Committee a verbal briefing on activities of the Office every six months;

(o) Monitor implementation of the recommendations made by the Office;

(p) Monitor, inspect and review, without limitation, the operations, activities, performance, and procurement processes including, but not limited to, bid specifications, bid submittals, activities of the contractor, their subcontractors and lower tier contractors, its officers, agents and employees, lobbyists, officials and staff of any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government, in order to ensure compliance with contract specifications and detect waste, fraud and abuse;

(q) Be notified in writing prior to any duly noticed public meeting of a procurement selection committee where any matter relating to the procurement of goods or services by any office, agency, department, or part of the entire Consolidated Government is to be discussed;

(r) Establish policies and procedures to guide functions and processes conducted by the Office;

(s) Reserved;

(t) Exercise any of the powers contained in this Chapter upon his or her own initiative;

(u) The Office records related to active audits, investigations and reviews shall be confidential and exempt from disclosure, as provided by F.S. § 112.3188(2) and Ch. 119;

(v) The Inspector General is considered the "appropriate local official" of the City for purposes of whistleblower protection provided by Section 112.3188(1), Florida Statutes;

(w) The Inspector General has the power to appoint, employ, and remove such other personnel as is deemed necessary for the efficient and effective administration of the activities of the office. All such appointees shall serve at the pleasure of the Inspector General and shall be exempt from civil service; and

(x) To enforce this Chapter by all means provided by law, including seeking injunctive relief in the Fourth Judicial Circuit Court in and for Duval County.

Sec. 602.304. - Inspector General Established; Qualifications.

The Inspector General shall head the Office of Inspector General and shall have a bachelor's degree or higher from an accredited college or university, and at least ten years of experience in government auditing, investigation, or prosecutorial or criminal justice administration, public administration or business administration. A master's degree or higher is preferred. Professional certifications such as certified inspector general, certified inspector general auditor or investigator, certified public accountant, certified internal auditor, or certified fraud examiner are recommended. The Inspector General shall not have been found guilty of or entered a plea of nolo contendere to any felony, or any misdemeanor involving the breach of public trust. If not already certified as an inspector general, the Inspector General shall be required to obtain certification within 24 months of becoming the Inspector General.

Sec. 602.305. - Selection, Term, Contract, Removal and Vacancy.

(a) Selection. The responsibility for selecting the Inspector General shall be vested with the Inspector General Selection and Retention Committee, hereinafter, the "Committee." The Committee shall be composed of seven members selected as follows:

(1) The President of the Jacksonville City Council or his or her designee;

(2) The State Attorney of the Fourth Judicial Circuit or his or her designee;

(3) The Chair of the Jacksonville Ethics Commission or his or her designee;

(4) The Chair of the Jacksonville TRUE Commission or his or her designee;

(5) The Public Defender of the Fourth Judicial Circuit or his or her designee;

(6) The Chief Judge of the Fourth Judicial Circuit or his or her designee; and

(7) The Mayor of the City of Jacksonville or his or her designee.

The chairperson of the Committee will rotate among the members of the Committee starting with the President of the Jacksonville City Council or his or her designee. The chairperson will serve for a term of two years and will be followed in numerical order as outlined above. The position of chairperson is connected with the position and not the individual. The term of the chairperson will commence on July 1. If a member does not wish to serve as chairperson the position will rotate to the next member in numerical order. The Committee shall select the Inspector General with no less than four members approving the appointment from a list of qualified candidates submitted by the City of Jacksonville Employee Services Department. The Committee's selection is subject to confirmation by the City Council.

(b) Term. The Inspector General shall be appointed for a term of four years. The Committee shall convene at least six months prior to the end of the four-year contract term to determine whether to renew the contract of the Inspector General or to solicit new candidates.

(c) Contract. The Chair of the Committee, in coordination with the Office of General Counsel, shall negotiate a contract of employment with the Inspector General. The Inspector General shall be an appointed employee exempt from civil service and shall be entitled to all rights and benefits normally accorded to appointed employees.

(d) Removal. The Inspector General may be removed based on specified charges initiated by the Committee for the following: neglect of duty, abuse of power or authority, discrimination, or ethical misconduct. The Inspector General shall be provided sufficient advance notice of the reasons for the possible removal, and shall be given an opportunity to be heard on the charges. A decision of the Committee to remove the Inspector General must be approved by a minimum of four members of the Committee and be confirmed by the City Council.

(e) Vacancy. In the event of a vacancy in the position of Inspector General, the Committee shall appoint an interim Inspector General until such time as a successor Inspector General is selected and assumes office. The Interim Inspector General shall meet all qualifications provided herein for the Inspector General.

(f) In addition to the responsibility for the selection and retention of the Inspector General, the Committee will meet no less than once every six months to receive an update on the Office of Inspector General's activities and to provide support and assistance to the Inspector General. Additionally, the Committee will review the proposed annual budget for the Office of Inspector General every spring and provide any feedback or comments prior to the Inspector General presenting the proposed budget to the Mayor's Office. The Committee shall on a yearly basis evaluate the performance of the Inspector General based on criteria established by the Committee.

Sec. 602.306. - Records Disclosure.

The Inspector General's final reports shall be public records to the extent that they do not include information that has been made confidential and exempt from release to the public by Florida or federal law.

(Ord. 2014-519-E, § 5)

Sec. 602.307. - Annual Budget.

The Mayor shall establish in the annual budget a separate activity for the Office of Inspector General similar to the budget presentation of a department of the City of Jacksonville. A minimum funding base is hereby established at $400,000 annually.

(Ord. 2014-519-E, § 5; Ord. 2018-262-E, § 1)

Sec. 602.308. - Coordination with City Council Auditor's Office.

The Inspector General and the City Council Auditor shall mutually cooperate, subject to their respective standards on confidentiality, and where practicable, to avoid duplication of efforts in audit functions. The Inspector General and the Council Auditor shall obtain respective approval prior to an offer of employment to their respective employees.

(Ord. 2014-519-E, § 5; Ord. 2018-262-E, § 1)

Sec. 602.309. - Penalty Provisions.

It shall be unlawful and a Class D offense for:

(1) Any person to retaliate, punish, threaten, harass, or penalize any person for assisting, communicating or cooperating with the Office of Inspector General; or

(2) Any person to:

(a) Knowingly interfere, obstruct, or impede any investigation conducted by the Office of Inspector General; or

(b) Knowingly attempt to interfere, obstruct, or impede any investigation conducted by the Office of Inspector General; or

(c) Knowingly, falsify facts in any oral or written statement made as part of any investigation conducted by the Office of Inspector General.

(Ord. 2014-519-E, § 5; Ord. 2018-262-E, § 1)

OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL
CITY OF JACKSONVILLE

January 14, 2025

Citizens of Jacksonville,

As another calendar year ends, I would like to present the 2024 Annual Report for the Jacksonville Office of Inspector General (OIG).

I am very proud of our office's work this year and feel our efforts demonstrated a fully staffed and functioning OIG. When I was appointed to this position three years ago, I promised the community that this office would foster an environment of effective and efficient government through oversight and process improvement.

During the year we received 96 complaints that were opened for review and closed with dispositions, we received 145 additional emails and web submissions that were referred to MyJax and 701 emails that were reviewed, assessed, and filed for intelligence. Our investigative activity identified close to 7 million dollars in unnecessary costs.

Our outreach program has significantly strengthened our partnership with the Mayor and the City Council. Both have shown consistent openness to our efforts to advance transparency and efficiency, recognizing the value of our independent oversight. Our recommendations for change and process improvement were predominantly accepted and implemented.

As the city expands, the demand for accountability will rise, and our office remains dedicated to ensuring that the citizens of this great city can trust their tax dollars are being spent appropriately.

Building public trust in government is a challenge our office faces daily with commitment and determination. Our mission is carried out by a dedicated team of professionals who embody our core values: integrity, accountability, objectivity, respect, and professionalism.

The OIG understands our mission is accomplished through collaboration and partnership with Jacksonville's consolidated government and its citizens. We are committed to strengthening these relationships while actively seeking opportunities to detect and prevent fraud, waste, and abuse.

Thank you for your continued support and we look forward to a productive and efficient new year.

Regards,

Matthew J. Lascell

MISSION STATEMENT

"ENHANCING PUBLIC TRUST IN GOVERNMENT THROUGH INDEPENDENT AND RESPONSIBLE OVERSIGHT."

Offices of Inspector General are entrusted with fostering and promoting accountability and integrity within government. The Office of Inspector General (OIG) for the City of Jacksonville (COJ) was created to provide independent oversight of publicly funded activities. Responsibilities include reviewing and evaluating internal controls to protect the resources of the entire Consolidated Government against waste, fraud, inefficiency, mismanagement, misconduct, and other abuses.

VISION STATEMENT

To be the trusted oversight organization within Duval County, serving all citizens by promoting positive change and increased efficiency throughout the Consolidated Government.

CORE VALUES

Integrity: Our actions shall conform to high standards of ethical conduct and remain free from any financial, social, or other obligation that might influence the performance of our duties.

Respect: We are committed to treating all individuals with dignity and courtesy.

Accountability: Our commitment is to provide value-added service and accept full responsibility for our actions.

Objectivity: We are committed to remaining neutral and unbiased, relying on facts in the performance of our duties.

Professionalism: We are committed to our mission, demand excellence from ourselves, and comply with professional standards.

STRATEGIC GOALS

(Goals for Fiscal Years 2018-2025)

Goal 1: Focus on increasing the efficiency and effectiveness of government to ensure the Consolidated Government serves as a good steward of the funds provided by the citizens of Jacksonville.

Goal 2: Ensure effective and appropriate oversight of the procurement process throughout the Consolidated Government, from bid development through contract execution.

Goal 3: Conduct outreach to the Consolidated Government and the citizens of Jacksonville to solicit input on ways to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the Consolidated Government while educating all stakeholders on our office.

Goal 4: Maintain a team of high performing experts in investigations, audits, and contract oversight through continuing education and professional certifications.

OIG HISTORY

The Office of Inspector General began operations in October 2014 to provide independent oversight of publicly funded activities. Initially, oversight jurisdiction was limited to the City of Jacksonville (COJ) government and did not include the constitutional officers or independent agencies that also comprise the consolidated government.

Voters passed a Charter Referendum in March of 2015 to expand the OIG's jurisdiction from the core City of Jacksonville departments, officials, and employees to include all the Consolidated Government, effective January 1, 2016.

OVERSIGHT

City Government:

- Office of the Mayor
- City Council
- All City Departments and Offices

Constitutional Officers:

- Property Appraiser
- Supervisor of Elections
- Tax Collector
- JSO (Non-Sworn)
- Clerk of the Courts

Independent Agencies and Authorities:

- JEA
- Jacksonville Transportation Authority
- Jacksonville Aviation Authority
- Jacksonville Port Authority
- Jacksonville Housing Authority
- Jacksonville Housing Finance Authority
- Jacksonville Health Facilities Authority
- Downtown Investment Authority
- Duval County School Board
- Kids Hope Alliance

FISCAL YEAR FUNDING

The Fiscal Year 2024 total approved budget was $1,541,177: 90% for hiring, operating expenses, which includes training and supplies.

The approved budget for Fiscal Year 2025 ($1,612,739) increased by $71,562 due to an increase of additional funds for filling the Investigative Support Analyst position, and a de minimis increase in discretionary operating expenses.

The Office of Inspector General has oversight of $7.9 billion* and oversight of Consolidated Government employees, which includes employees of City Government, Constitutional Officers, and Independent Agencies.

*Budget Information from the COJ Council Auditor's Office Report #878, issued January 22, 2024. Employees of Duval County Schools were not included.

OIG STAFF EXPERIENCE

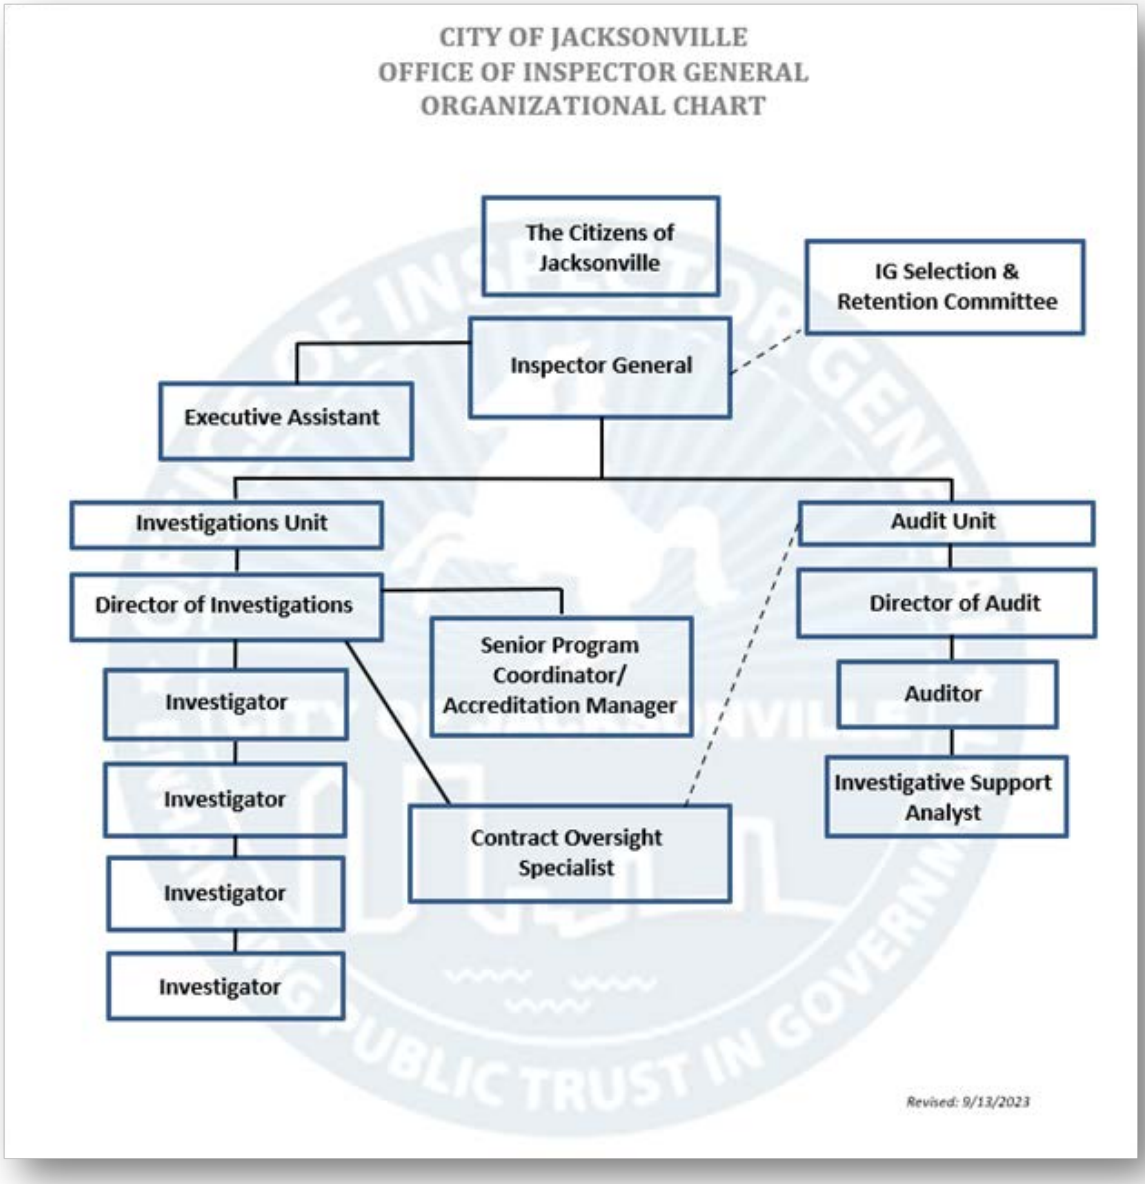
To ensure success in accomplishing the mission of "Enhancing Public Trust in Government Through Independent and Responsible Oversight," the OIG hires qualified individuals who not only reflect the diversity of the community but also have the appropriate level of skills, abilities, and experience necessary for their position on the OIG team. Staff members have backgrounds and academic degrees in investigations, law enforcement, auditing, public administration, and financial analysis. In addition, the OIG staff hold the following certifications and professional memberships:

Certifications:

- Certified Inspector General
- Certified Inspector General Investigator
- Certified Inspector General Auditor
- Certified Government Auditing Professional
- Notary Public

Professional Memberships

- Association of Inspector General (National Chapter)
- Association of Inspector General (Florida Chapter)
- Fraud Prevention Association
- National Institute of Government Procurement
- Institute of Internal Auditors
- Association of Certified Fraud Examiners



INSPECTOR GENERAL SELECTION AND RETENTION COMMITTEE

Sec. 602.305, Ordinance Code, provides for the Inspector General (IG) selection by the Inspector General Selection and Retention Committee (Committee). This seven-member group is responsible for making decisions regarding the IG's retention and removal, providing guidance, direction, and support to the OIG. The Committee's IG selection is subject to confirmation by the City Council. The role of the Committee is set out in Sec. 602.305, Ordinance Code. The Committee's members are set forth as follows:

ORGANIZATIONAL CHART

The OIG is currently comprised of the Investigations Unit and Audit Unit. The office is currently budgeted for 12 full-time positions. As of October 2, 2023, all 12 positions were filled.

REPORTING POLICY

The OIG accepts complaints of potential fraud, waste, abuse, and mismanagement relating to the City of Jacksonville, its Constitutional Officers, its Independent Agencies and Authorities, and contractors/vendors doing business with the Consolidated Government. The information is reviewed and assessed for potential violation(s) of governing laws, rules, policies, and procedures to determine appropriate handling.

Methods of reporting to the OIG are as follows:

Hotline: (904) 255-5800
Email: InspectorGeneral@coj.net
Web: www.jacksonville.gov/oig
Mail: Office of Inspector General
City of Jacksonville
231 E. Forsyth Street, Suite 470

WHISTLE-BLOWER PROTECTION

The State of Florida's Whistle-blower's Act, Sections 112.3187 – 112.31895, Florida Statutes, protects current or former employees, applicants for employment, and independent contractor employees from retaliatory acts associated with the disclosure of:

1) any violation or suspected violation of any federal, state, or local law, rule, or regulation committed by an employee or agent of an agency or independent contractor that creates and presents a substantial and specific danger to the public's health, safety, or welfare; or

2) any act or suspected act of gross mismanagement, malfeasance, misfeasance, gross waste of public funds, suspected or actual Medicaid fraud or abuse, or gross neglect of duty committed by an employee or agent of an agency or independent contractor.

The City of Jacksonville also provides for whistle-blower protection in Part 5, Chapter 602, Ordinance Code. In addition to investigating whistle-blower allegations of fraud, waste, and abuse, the OIG is designated as an appropriate local official responsible for reviewing the allegations of persons seeking whistle-blower protection and granting or denying whistle-blower status.

OUTREACH AND PREVENTION

The Office of Inspector General has energized the Outreach Program to increase awareness of its mission and promote honesty, accountability, and efficiency throughout the City of Jacksonville. Since Inspector General Lascell's appointment in March 2022, the OIG has put a strong emphasis on outreach presentations and ensures attendees are aware of their role in deterring, detecting, and disclosing wrongdoing and mismanagement whether they are an employee, former employee, vendor/contractor, or member of the public.

The OIG has presented to:

- City of Jacksonville (COJ) Departments and Offices
- COJ New Employee Orientation (continuous)
- Independent Agencies and Authorities
- Florida State Agencies and Departments
- Jacksonville Sheriff's Office, Sheriff's Watch
- Local colleges
- DCPS School Board Working Group
- Fraud Prevention Association
- Boards and Commissions CPAC - Greater Arlington Beaches
- North Florida Consumer Council
- US Attorney, Middle District of FL
- Palm Beach County OIG
- Miami-Dade County OIG
- 4th Judicial District State Attorney
- Boards and Commissions Citizens Planning Advisory Committee
    - Southeast District
    - Southwest District
    - Northwest District
    - North District
    - Urban Core

In 2024, the OIG conducted outreach with:

- TRUE Commission
- Chamber of Commerce
- Risk Management Division
- Office of the Ombudsman
- Chief of Procurement
- Florida Department of Education
- U.S. Department of Agriculture, Office of Inspector General
- Human Rights Commission
- Office of Consumer Affairs

The OIG will continue to focus on outreach to ensure all City of Jacksonville employees, Independent Agencies and Authorities, and the citizens of Jacksonville are familiar with our policies and programs.

INVESTIGATIONS UNIT

The Investigations Unit conducts and coordinates investigations to detect, deter, prevent, and eliminate fraud, waste, and abuse within the Consolidated Government. OIG investigations are undertaken to resolve allegations of violations of Florida Statutes, the Ordinance Code, and Consolidated Government policies, rules, and directives.

The Investigations Unit conducts investigations involving Consolidated Government officials, employees (excluding sworn personnel), vendors, contractors, or consultants doing business with the Consolidated Government.

Investigations may be initiated because of information received from employees of the Consolidated Government, private citizens, local, state, or federal agencies, or through the OIGs' or other agencies' hotlines.

The Investigations Unit refers all potential criminal violations to the appropriate local, state, and federal authorities. It works closely with the Office of the State Attorney for the Fourth Judicial Circuit and the United States Attorney's Office for the Middle District of Florida.

Investigations are conducted in accordance with the Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspector General (Green Book) as developed and approved by the Association of Inspectors General. These principles are essential, as they guide the quality of investigations.

The Investigations Unit issued eight investigative reports during Fiscal Year 2024 and referred 10 cases to law enforcement. Please see the highlighted summaries below.

Utility Assistance Program

In an effort to detect and deter wasteful expenditure of government funds, the OIG initiated a review of the Jacksonville Housing (JH) Utility Assistance program. Per the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the program is also known as Utility Reimbursement Payments (URP). Funding for the program comes from the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

The OIG obtained account data for the URP from JH and then contacted the card service provider, ONBE. ONBE is a program manager who issues payments and manages payment programs for corporate clients and government entities. ONBE issues payments through affiliated banks to facilitate a wide variety of payment programs. A representative supplied the total amount allocated for the URP and the percentage of those dollars spent by JH tenants on utilities between October 31, 2022, and October 31, 2023.

During that period, $1,990,166.21 was loaded onto 1,634 JH tenant URP cards which can be used as ATM cards. ONBE data revealed that only 13.49% ($268,473.42) of the funds were spent on utilities. $1,721,692.79 of those expenditures were unrelated to utilities. ONBE explained that the cards could be programmed exclusively for utilities. Additionally, the funds could be paid directly to JEA.

Allegations of Overtime Fraud

The OIG initiated an investigation regarding the alleged falsification of overtime hours by City of Jacksonville Solid Waste employees. According to allegations, several Solid Waste employees had falsely claimed more overtime hours than they worked.

Investigation revealed that multiple Solid Waste employees received over $50,000 in overtime pay between October 1, 2022, and October 31, 2023. While the OIG did not find sufficient evidence to substantiate allegations of fraud, it also could not validate the overtime hours due to the lack of required documentation.

Failure to Conduct Background Checks

The OIG investigated alleged improprieties by Families of Slain Children Incorporated (FOSCI), a non-profit organization contracted through Kids Hope Alliance. During the investigation, the OIG learned several FOSCI employees were deemed Not Eligible for DCF Child Care based on their background checks. As a result, they should have been disqualified from employment for childcare per the DCF Child Care Licensing Program.

The OIG discovered two FOSCI employees under the College and Career Development Program were deemed Not Eligible, and one FOSCI employee was deemed N/A for DCF Child Care. It was also discovered three FOSCI employees under the Family Stability Program were deemed Not Eligible for DCF Child Care.

Internal Control Oversight

The OIG initiated an investigation regarding City of Jacksonville purchasing card (also referred to as P-Card) transactions for the Supervisor of the Elections (SOE) in accordance with §602.303, City of Jacksonville (COJ) Ordinance Code.

The investigation revealed that an SOE employee with an issued P-card amassed over $138,000 in questionable transactions with no corresponding receipts over the last several years. According to SOE officials, the former SOE should have approved these transactions with receipts and then have them approved by the COJ Finance and Administration Department.

Discovered Costs

The total costs that the OIG Investigations Unit discovered during FY24 are as follows:

- Identified Costs: $2,264,490.15
- Questionable Costs: $2,689,062.09
- Recovered Costs: $38,332.00
- Avoidable Costs: $1,721,692.79
- Total: $6,713,577.03

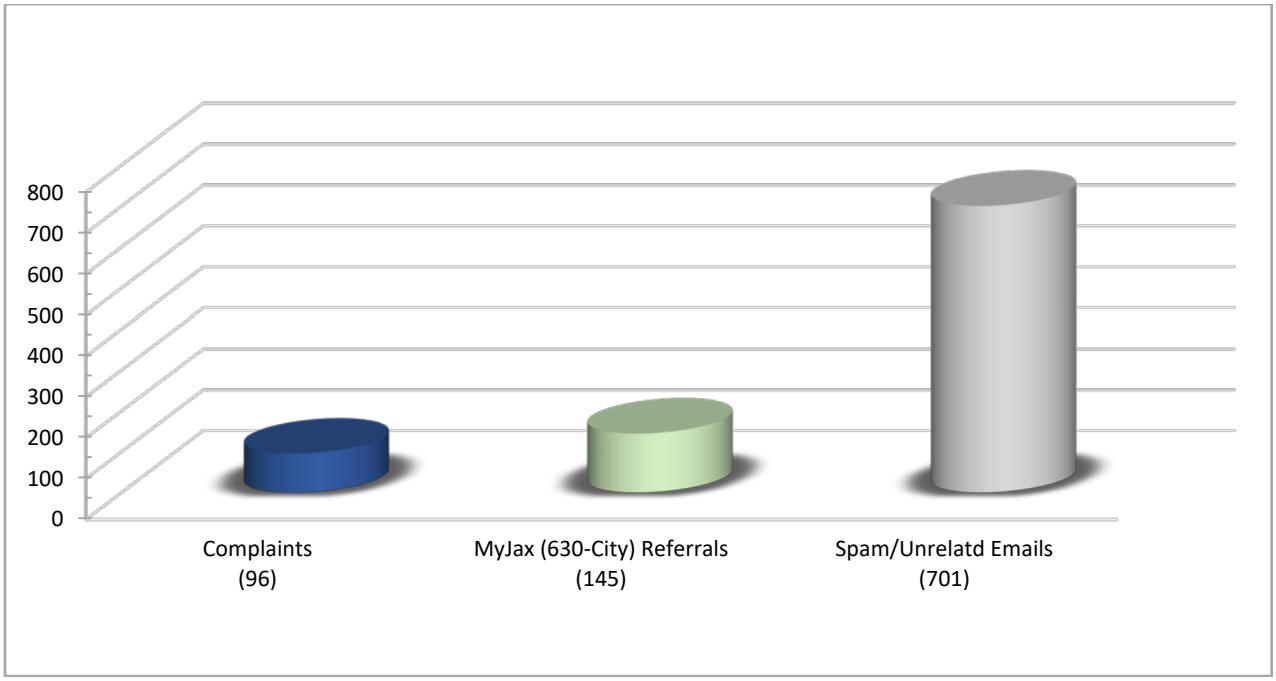
Complaints

The term complaint refers to any accusation of a specific violation of any law, rule, policy, or procedure against any Consolidated Government or Independent Agency and Authority employee or a contractor/sub-contractor employee, made either verbally or in writing, by a citizen, employee, or anonymous source.

During Fiscal Year 2024, the Office of Inspector General:



- received a total of 96 complaints that were open for review and closed with dispositions;
- received 145 additional emails and web submissions that were referred to MyJax; and
- received 701 emails that were reviewed, assessed, and filed for intelligence.

AUDIT UNIT

What the Office of Inspector General's Audit Unit Does

The Audit Unit plays a vital role in supporting this OIG's mission. The Audit Unit accomplishes this by delivering independent and objective assurance and consulting services that enhance the operations of the City. The Audit Unit focuses on strengthening risk management, control, and governance processes through a systematic and disciplined approach. Every aspect of its work is carried out with integrity, objectivity, confidentiality, and professionalism.

Last Year's Accomplishments

The Audit Unit had an exceptionally productive year. Highlights included the Deputy Inspector General for Audit earning the Certified Fraud Examiner accreditation and the Investigative Support Specialist achieving the Certified Inspector General Auditor certification. Beyond the Unit's critical roles in providing investigative support and data analysis, the team also published the following six comprehensive reports:

Career Development Program Audit

Purpose: The Audit Unit audited the City's Career Development Program (CDP), which reimburses tuition for eligible employees. The review focused on compliance with the program's policies and the City's Ordinance Code for reimbursements from Fall 2020 to Fall 2023. It also assessed documentation, payment accuracy and timeliness, and employee repayment for early departures.

Findings: Tuition reimbursements were generally timely and accurate, but issues with CDP's record-keeping raised concerns about potential improper payments and missed repayments. Key findings include:

- 10.5% of reimbursements lacked required documentation.
- 26.9% of reimbursements were not properly recorded in CDP's system.
- Of the five employees who left City employment, repayment status was unclear for three due to insufficient records.

Keeping Families Together Public Service Grant Funding Audit

Purpose: The Audit Unit audited Family Support Services of North Florida's (FSSNF) Keeping Families Together program to evaluate compliance with the City contract terms, municipal ordinances, and delivery of proposed outcomes. This aligned with the OIG's focus on the use of Public Service Grant funds.

Findings: FSSNF complied with COJ contract terms and delivered promised services. While reimbursement submissions were delayed, this did not lead to improper payments or negatively impact the City. However, such delays could have affected FSSNF's program operations.

Oceanfront Parks' Admission Cash Handling Audit

Purpose: The Audit Unit reviewed operations at Kathryn Abbey Hanna Park and Huguenot Memorial Park for compliance with their cash handling policies. The audit analyzed cash reports, credit reports, count sheets, and verification memos for 58 days in Fiscal Year 2022-2023.

Findings: Hanna and Huguenot Parks demonstrated strong internal controls over admission fee handling. Of 58 days of verification memos at each park, only one was missing at Hanna, and one at Huguenot, the latter was irretrievably damaged by hurricane flooding.

Sunshine Law Compliance Review

Purpose: The City's ordinance code requires the OIG to conduct a biannual review to ensure City Council public meetings comply with state and local "Government in the Sunshine" laws. It also mandates that City Council members and their Executive Assistants (ECA) complete an annual ethics training.

Findings: The Audit Unit found that the City Council complied with state and local Sunshine laws. All 243 sampled meetings had proper notices, were held in appropriate locations, and included required meeting minutes. However, the Audit Unit could not verify if one ECA completed the required ethics training, as there was no record of completion was available.

Office of Public Parking DAVID Compliance and Control Measures Attestation

Purpose: The City's Office of Public Parking requested the OIG review its use of the Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles' (FLHSMV) DAVID system, as required by their MOU. The review assessed whether Public Parking had sufficient internal controls to protect DAVID's personal identification data from unauthorized access or misuse.

Findings: The Audit found that Public Parking had effective security measures to protect FLHSMV data. However, it identified areas for improvement in adhering to MOU requirements, specifically regarding the prompt removal of employee access upon termination or transfer, as well as the timely submission of quarterly reports and annual certifications.

Property Appraiser's Office DAVID Compliance and Control Measures Attestation

Purpose: The Duval County Property Appraiser's Office requested the OIG review its use of the FLHSMV's DAVID system, as required by their MOU. The review aimed to assess whether the Property Appraiser has sufficient internal controls to protect personal identity data in DAVID from unauthorized access or misuse.

Findings: The Audit found that the Property Appraiser had effective security measures to protect FLHSMV data. However, it was noted that the Property Appraiser did not audit enough users in 2022 and part of 2023. This issue had already been addressed by the time of the engagement.

This Year's Priorities

The Audit Unit has published its Fiscal Year 2025 Annual Audit Plan, as required by the International Professional Practices Framework. The plan identifies key projects based on a risk assessment of potential impacts on the City's objectives; however, it may be adjusted due to unforeseen circumstances. This year's plan includes the following engagements:

Project	Summary
Opioid and Substance Use Disorder Grants Committee's Opioid Settlement Proceeds Grants Program	The Opioid Settlement Proceeds Grants Program (OSPG) manages funds the City received from lawsuits against opioid manufacturers and distributors. Its goal is to allocate resources to local organizations focused on prevention, treatment, and recovery for those impacted by opioid abuse. This year, OSPG plans to distribute nearly $5 million in grants, with a volunteer committee overseeing the selection process. The Audit Unit prioritized this area due to the significant funds and the sensitive nature of substance abuse and healthcare.
Jacksonville Main Library's Rental Fees and Procedures	The downtown public library is a 300,000-square-foot facility offering traditional services and hosting after-hours events that generate revenue and attract hundreds of attendees and multiple vendors annually. Despite the scale, the rental program is managed by only a few employees who oversee the rental income and library assets. The Audit Unit selected this program for review due to its size, limited staffing, and revenue generated.
Animal Care and Protective Servies's Animal Ordinance Enforcement	The Animal Care and Protective Services Division (ACPS) of the Neighborhoods Department enforces state and local animal laws by investigating complaints, issuing citations, and impounding animals when necessary. Impounded animals may be reunited with owners, adopted, sterilized, or euthanized. Given the importance of these services to public welfare and vulnerable animals, the Audit Unit chose to review how the enforcement process was functioning.
Parks Department's Youth Camp Program Fees and Procedures	The Park's Department manages youth programs, including summer camps and after-school activities, generating nearly half a million dollars annually. Some families can attend for free through financial vouchers distributed via a lottery system. The Audit Unit will review these programs due to the significant revenue and the vulnerability of the children involved.
Audit Policy and Procedures Manual	The OIG has implemented a new case management system, Kaseware, to create, track, and store audit records. Consequently, the Audit Unit's Procedure manual will need to be updated.

Sec. 8.3. - Inspector general.

The County shall, by ordinance, establish an Office of Inspector General to provide independent oversight of publicly funded transactions, projects, and other local government operations. The ordinance shall be prepared, adopted, and amended pursuant to the procedures in Section 8.4 below (hereinafter "Implementing Ordinance"). The Implementing Ordinance shall provide that the Inspector General shall be selected by a Selection Committee, comprised of the Commission on Ethics, the State Attorney or designee, and the Public Defender or designee. The Implementing Ordinance shall further provide that the Inspector General shall serve a fixed term, and prior to completion of that term, may be removed only for cause and pursuant to a procedure requiring, at a minimum, supermajority votes at duly noticed public hearings of the Board of County Commissioners and the Selection Committee. The Office of Inspector General shall be funded at minimum in an amount equal to one quarter of one percent of contracts of the County and all other governmental entities subject to the authority of the Inspector General (the "Funding Base") as determined by the Implementing Ordinance. The Board of County Commissioners may increase or decrease the Funding Base upon a showing of need for such adjustment based upon criteria contained in the Implementing Ordinance but in no event shall be Funding Base be reduced below one quarter of one percent unless the request for such reduction is made by the Inspector General. The demonstration of need shall be subject to review and recommendation by the Review Committee, which recommendation shall only be overruled by a supermajority vote of the Board of County Commissioners. No adjustment shall occur if such adjustment results in the Office of the Inspector General not being adequately funded.

ARTICLE XII. - INSPECTOR GENERAL

Footnotes:

--- (26) ---

Editor's note— Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), adopted May 17, 2011, repealed art. XII and enacted a new article as set out herein. The former art. XII, §§ 2-421—2-432, pertained to similar subject matter and derived from Ord. No. 2009-049, §§ 1, 2(A)—(I), 6 and 7, adopted Dec. 15, 2009; and Ord. No. 2010-041, pts. 1—3, adopted Sept. 28, 2010.*

Sec. 2-421. - Title and applicability.

(1) This article shall be titled the "Office of Inspector General, Palm Beach County, Florida Ordinance."

(2) The Office of Inspector General, Palm Beach County, Florida Ordinance shall apply to the following:

(a) The board of county commissioners (hereinafter "the board") and all county departments;

(b) The thirty-eight (38) municipalities that approved the charter amendment in the countywide referendum held November 2, 2010;

(c) Any other public entity that elects to be bound by this article by entering into a memorandum of understanding or other agreement in accordance with section 2-423(9); and

(d) Any municipality formed after January 1, 2011, except to the extent that an ordinance adopted by that municipality at any time conflicts with this article.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-422. - Office created and established.

There is hereby established the office of inspector general which is created in order to promote economy, efficiency, and effectiveness in the administration of and, as its priority, to prevent and detect fraud and abuse in programs and operations administered or financed by the county or municipal agencies. The inspector general shall initiate, conduct, supervise and coordinate investigations designed to detect, deter, prevent and eradicate fraud, waste, mismanagement, misconduct, and other abuses by elected and appointed county and municipal officials and employees, county and municipal agencies and instrumentalities, contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, and other parties doing business with the county or a municipality and/or receiving county or municipal funds. The inspector general shall head the office of inspector general. The organization and administration of the office of inspector general shall be independent to assure that no interference or influence external to the office of inspector general adversely affects the independence and objectivity of the inspector general.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-423. - Functions, authority and powers.

(1) The inspector general shall have the authority to: (a) make investigations of county or municipal matters and publish the results of such investigations; (b) review and audit past, present and proposed county or municipal programs, accounts, records, contracts, change orders and transactions; and (c) prepare reports and recommendations to the board, or the subject municipality, or participating entities subject to section 2-421(2) based on such audits or investigations. All elected and appointed county and municipal officials and employees, county and municipal agencies and instrumentalities, contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, and other parties doing business with the county or a municipality and/or receiving county or municipal funds shall fully cooperate with the inspector general in the exercise of the inspector general's functions, authority and powers. Such cooperation shall include, but not be limited to providing statements, documents, records and other information, during the course of an investigation, audit or review. The inspector general may obtain sworn statements, in accordance with Florida Statutes, of all persons identified in this subsection as well as other witnesses relevant to an investigation, audit or review. Such audits shall be conducted in accordance with the current International Standards for the Professional Practice of Internal Auditing as published by the Institute of Internal Auditors, Inc., or where appropriate, in accordance with generally accepted governmental auditing standards. Such investigations will comply with the General Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspector General as published and revised by the Association of Inspectors General. The office of inspector general shall develop and adhere to written policies in accordance with the accreditation standards set forth by the Commission on Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation, Inc.

(2) The inspector general shall have the power to conduct audits of, require production of documents from, and receive full and unrestricted access to the records of the board, each municipality, county administrator, city administrator, city manager or other municipal executive, all elected and appointed county and municipal officials and employees, county and municipal departments, divisions, agencies and instrumentalities, contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, and other persons and entities doing business with the county or a municipality and/or receiving county or municipal funds regarding any such contracts or transactions with the county or a municipality. Except as otherwise limited in this subsection (2), the inspector general's jurisdiction includes but shall not be limited to all projects, programs, contracts or transactions that are funded in whole or in part by the county or any municipality. The inspector general may contract with outside entities deemed necessary to perform the functions of that office. Any such contract is subject to final approval by the board, but such approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. The inspector general may conduct investigations and audits, issue reports, and make recommendations regarding collective bargaining agreements. The inspector general shall conduct investigations and audits in accordance with applicable laws, rules, regulations, policies and past practices. The inspector general shall not interfere with collective bargaining negotiations.

(3) As provided in subsection (1), the inspector general can: require all county and municipal officials and employees, contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, and other persons and entities doing business with the county or a municipality and/or receiving county or municipal funds to provide statements; administer oaths; and, require the production of documents, records and other information. In the case of a refusal by an official, employee or other person to obey a request by the inspector general for documents or for an interview, the inspector general shall have the power to subpoena witnesses, administer oaths, and require the production of documents. Seventy-two (72) hours prior to serving a subpoena, the inspector general shall provide written notice to the state attorney and the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida. The inspector general shall not interfere with any ongoing criminal investigation or prosecution of the state attorney or the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida. When the state attorney or the U.S. Attorney for the Southern District of Florida has explicitly notified the inspector general in writing that the inspector general's investigation is interfering with an ongoing criminal investigation or prosecution, the inspector general shall suspend service of subpoena, examination of witnesses, or other investigative activities as set forth in the notice. In the case of a refusal to obey a subpoena served to any person, the inspector general may make application to any circuit court of this state which shall have jurisdiction to order the witness to appear before the inspector general and to produce evidence if so ordered, or to give testimony relevant to the matter in question.

(4) Where the inspector general suspects a possible violation of any state, federal, or local law, he or she shall notify the appropriate law enforcement agencies. The county administrator and each municipal manager, or administrator, or mayor where the mayor serves as chief executive officer, shall promptly notify the inspector general of possible mismanagement of a contract (misuse or loss exceeding five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) in public funds), fraud, theft, bribery, or other violation of law which appears to fall within the jurisdiction of the inspector general, and may notify the inspector general of any other conduct which may fall within the inspector general's jurisdiction. The county administrator and each municipal manager, or administrator, or mayor where the mayor serves as chief executive officer, shall coordinate with the inspector general to develop reporting procedures for notification to the inspector general.

(5) The inspector general shall have the power without limitation to audit, investigate, monitor, inspect and review the operations, activities, performance, and procurement processes including, but not limited to, bid specifications, bid submittals, activities of the contractor, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, its officers, agents and employees, lobbyists, county and municipal staff and officials, in order to ensure compliance with contract specifications and detect corruption and fraud.

(6) The inspector general shall have the power to receive, review and investigate any complaints regarding any municipal or county-funded projects, programs, contracts or transactions. The inspector general shall establish a "hotline" to receive complaints, from either anonymous or identified persons.

(7) The inspector general may exercise any of the powers contained in this article upon his or her own initiative.

(8) The inspector general shall be notified in writing prior to any duly noticed public meeting of a procurement selection committee where any matter relating to the procurement of goods or services by the county or any municipality is to be discussed. The notice required by this subsection shall be given to the inspector general as soon as possible after a meeting has been scheduled. The inspector general may, at his or her discretion, attend all duly noticed county or municipal meetings relating to the procurement of goods or services as provided herein, and may pose questions and raise concerns consistent with the functions, authority and powers of the inspector general. The failure by the county or municipality to give written notice required by this section does not constitute grounds for a protest regarding such procurement and shall not be the cause for the stay of any procurement, and shall not be the basis to overturn the award of a contract.

(9) It is anticipated that special districts and other public officials and entities will recognize and desire to benefit from the services of the county office of inspector general. The inspector general may negotiate agreements or memoranda of understanding with other public entities which would authorize the inspector general to provide independent oversight of any or all of the public entity's transactions, projects and operations, and to exercise any and all authority, functions and powers set forth in this article for the benefit of such public entity. The memorandum of understanding or agreement shall include a provision for fees to be paid to the inspector general from the public entity in exchange for such benefits. Such fees shall be based on a rate established by the inspector general to cover the cost of such benefits and shall include, but not be limited to, one quarter of one percent of the contracts as described in section 2-429(2) (hereafter the "funding base") subject to inspector general review under the agreement. The funding base shall be subject to adjustment as set forth in section 2-429.1. Any such agreement or memorandum of understanding is subject to final approval of the board, but such approval shall not be unreasonably withheld. For the purposes of the removal procedure set forth in section 2-430, a "funding entity" shall mean a public entity that has entered into an agreement or memorandum of understanding to receive services of the inspector general, and has provided funding in exchange for such services equal to at least twenty-five (25) percent of the total annual budget of the inspector general for the county's fiscal year immediately preceding the fiscal year in which the removal procedure takes place.

(10) The inspector general's records related to active audits, investigations and reviews are confidential and exempt from disclosure, as provided by Florida Statutes, § 112.3188(2) and ch. 119.

(11) The inspector general is considered "an appropriate local official" of the county and of any municipality for purposes of whistleblower protection provided by Florida Statutes, § 112.3188(1).

(12) The inspector general may recommend remedial actions and may provide prevention and training services to county and municipal officials, employees, and any other persons covered by this article. The inspector general may follow up to determine whether recommended remedial actions have been taken.

(13) The inspector general shall establish policies and procedures and monitor the costs of investigations undertaken. The inspector general shall cooperate with other governmental agencies to recover such costs from other entities involved in willful misconduct in regard to county or municipal funds.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-423.1. - Outreach.

The inspector general will coordinate with the county administrator and municipal manager or administrator to develop public awareness strategies to inform government officials and employees, as well as the general public, of the authority and responsibilities of the office of the inspector general. Such strategies shall include but not be limited to inclusion in the government's web page with a link to the office of inspector general website, publication of notices in the government's newsletters, and posting information about the office of inspector general in government employee break rooms and other common meeting areas. The inspector general shall provide on its website examples that illustrate fraud, waste, mismanagement, misconduct and abuse.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-424. - Minimum qualifications, selection and term of office.

(1) Minimum qualifications. The inspector general shall be a person who:

(a) Has at least ten (10) years of experience in any one (1) or a combination of the following fields:

1. As a federal, state or local law enforcement officer/official;
2. As a federal or state court judge;
3. As a federal, state or local government attorney with expertise in investigating fraud, mismanagement and corruption;
4. As an inspector general, certified public accountant, or internal auditor;
5. As a person with progressive supervisory and managerial experience in an investigative public agency similar to an inspector general's office;

(b) Has managed and completed complex investigations involving allegations of fraud, theft, deception or conspiracy;

(c) Has demonstrated the ability to work with local, state and federal law enforcement agencies and the judiciary;

(d) Has a four-year degree from an accredited institution of higher learning;

(e) Has not been employed by the county, any municipality or any other governmental entity subject to the authority of the inspector general office during the two-year period immediately prior to selection, unless such employment has been with the Office of Inspector General, Palm Beach County, Florida.

(f) Highly qualified candidates will also have audit-related skills and/or hold one (1) or more of the following professional certifications at the time of selection: certified inspector general (CIG), certified inspector general investigator (CIGI), certified inspector general auditor (CIGA), certified public accountant (CPA), certified internal auditor (CIA), or certified fraud examiner (CFE).

(2) Selection. No official or employee of any governmental entity subject to the authority of the office of inspector general shall participate on the inspector general committee. Responsibility for selecting the inspector general shall be vested solely with the inspector general committee. The inspector general committee shall be comprised of the commission on ethics as established in section 2-254 et seq. of this Code, the state attorney for the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit or his or her designee, and the public defender for the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit or his or her designee. The chairperson of the inspector general committee shall be chairperson of the commission on ethics. After thoroughly reviewing qualifications, background information, and personal and professional referrals, the inspector general committee shall notify the county attorney of its selection. The county attorney shall promptly notify the board that a selection has been made.

(3) Staffing of inspector general committee. The county human resources department shall provide staff to the inspector general committee and as necessary will advertise the acceptance of resumes for the position of inspector general. All resumes received by the human resources department will be forwarded to the inspector general committee for consideration. The human resources department shall contract with an appropriate entity to ensure that background checks are conducted on the candidates selected for interview by the inspector general committee. The results of the background checks shall be provided to the inspector general committee prior to the interview of candidates. Following the initial selection of the inspector general, the inspector general committee, for future selection processes as described in subsection (2) above, may continue to employ the services of the human resources department or may utilize its own staff to solicit candidates for inspector general. All advertisements for the acceptance of resumes for inspector general shall include a salary range commensurate with public officials of like experience and expertise.

(4) Term. The inspector general shall serve for a term of four (4) years. At least six (6) months prior to the end of each contract term, the inspector general committee will determine whether or not to renew the contract for an additional term of four (4) years, and shall promptly notify the inspector general of its decision. In the event the inspector general committee elects not to renew the contract, the inspector general committee shall promptly convene as necessary to solicit candidates for and to select a new inspector general in the same manner as described in subsection (2) above. The incumbent inspector general may submit his or her name as a candidate to be considered for selection. The incumbent inspector general shall serve until a successor is selected and assumes office.

(5) Vacancy. In case of a vacancy in the position of inspector general, the inspector general committee may appoint a member of the inspector general's office as interim inspector general within ten (10) days of the vacancy occurring, until such time as a successor inspector general is selected and assumes office. A successor inspector general shall be selected in the same manner as described in subsection (2) above, except for the following specific time constraints: (a) solicitation for qualified candidates for selection should be published within twenty (20) days, but no later than forty (40) days of the date the vacancy occurs; and (b) the inspector general committee must in good faith endeavor to convene and select an inspector general within ninety (90) days of the date the vacancy occurs.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-425. - Contract.

A designee from the commission on ethics, with the assistance of the county's human resources department and the county attorney's office, shall negotiate a contract of employment with the inspector general substantially consistent with the terms included in contracts of other contractual employees of the county. For the purposes of contract negotiations, such designation by the commission on ethics shall not be deemed a delegation of the commission on ethics' decision making authority. The inspector general shall be paid at a rate commensurate with public officials of like experience and expertise. Before any contract shall become effective, the contract must be approved by a majority of the board present at a regularly scheduled board meeting. The contract will cover the entire four-year term subject to the removal provisions in section 2-430. The contract will include a provision requiring the inspector general committee to provide notice of its decision to renew or not to renew the contract at least six (6) months prior to the termination of the contract. The contract shall provide that the inspector general may not represent a political party or be on any executive committee thereof, or seek public office during his or her term of service, and shall not seek public office or employment with any public entity subject to the jurisdiction of the inspector general for four (4) years thereafter. That limitation does not include seeking selection as inspector general for a subsequent term. The contract shall further provide that the inspector general may not be a lobbyist, as defined in section 2-352 of this Code, for two (2) years after term of service.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-426. - Physical facilities and staff.

(1) The county shall provide the office of inspector general with appropriately located office space and sufficient physical facilities together with necessary office equipment and furnishings to enable the inspector general to perform his or her functions.

(2) The inspector general shall have the power to appoint, employ, and remove such assistants, employees and personnel, and establish personnel procedures as deemed necessary for the efficient and effective administration of the activities of the office of inspector general.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-427. - Procedure for finalization of reports and recommendations which make findings as to the person or entity being reviewed or inspected.

The inspector general shall publish and deliver finalized reports and recommendations to the board or the appropriate municipality, and to the county commission on ethics. Notwithstanding any other provision of this article, whenever the inspector general determines that it is appropriate to publish and deliver a report or recommendation which contains findings as to the person or entity being reported on or who is the subject of the recommendation, the inspector general shall provide the affected person or entity a copy of the findings. Such person or entity, who is the subject of a finding or recommendation resulting from an investigation or review, shall have ten (10) calendar days to submit a written explanation or rebuttal of the findings before the report or recommendation is finalized. In the case of an audit, such person or entity shall have twenty (20) calendar days to submit a written explanation or rebuttal of the audit findings or before the report or recommendation is finalized. The inspector general shall grant reasonable extensions of time for providing a written explanation or rebuttal upon written request. Such timely submitted written explanation or rebuttal shall be attached to the finalized report or recommendation. The requirements of this subsection shall not apply in matters subject to the State of Florida Whistle-blower's Act, or when the inspector general, in conjunction with the state attorney or U.S. Attorney, determines that supplying the affected person or entity with such report will jeopardize a pending criminal investigation.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-428. - Reporting.

(1) Not later than December 31 of each year, the inspector general shall prepare and publish a written annual report summarizing the activities of the office during the immediately preceding fiscal year ended September 30. The report shall be furnished to the inspector general committee, the county administrator and the Palm Beach County League of Cities, Inc., and posted on the inspector general's website. The report shall include, but need not be limited to: a description of significant abuses and deficiencies relating to the administration of programs and operations disclosed by investigations, audits, reviews, or other activities during the reporting period; a description of the recommendations for corrective action made by the inspector general during the reporting period with respect to significant problems, abuses, or deficiencies identified; identification of each significant recommendation described in previous annual reports on which corrective action has not been completed; and a summary of each audit and investigation completed during the reporting period.

(2) The inspector general committee will meet with the inspector general every six (6) months to review the previous six (6) months' activities and the inspector general's plans and objectives for the upcoming six (6) months.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-429. - Financial support and budgeting.

(1) Pursuant to their annual budgeting processes, the county and each municipality shall provide sufficient financial support for the inspector general's office to fulfill its duties as set forth in this article. The county and municipalities shall fund the inspector general's office proportionately, based on the actual expenses of each governmental entity as recorded in the most recent audited year and reported in the Florida Department of Financial Services Local Government Electronic Reporting system (LOGER), pursuant to Florida Statutes, § 218.32, as may be amended.

(2) The county and each municipality's proportionate share shall be based on each entity's actual expenses as defined in the then current Uniform Accounting System Manual, published by the State of Florida, Department of Financial Services, Bureau of Local Government, and shall include the following Object Categories: 30 - Operating Expenditures/Expenses; 60 - Capital Outlay; and 80 - Grants and Aids. Notwithstanding the above, however, law enforcement, pension funds, electric utility services, fire control, and intergovernmental transfer costs shall not be included in the proportionate share calculation. Nothing contained herein shall in any way limit the powers of the inspector general provided for in this article to perform audits, inspections, reviews and investigations on all county and municipal contracts.

(3) The inspector general shall establish and maintain a fiscal year which coincides with that of the county. Beginning May 1, 2011, and every May 1 thereafter, the inspector general shall deliver to the board a budget request including a reasonable estimate of operating and capital expenditures and shall also include, but not be limited to, anticipated revenues from sources other than the county and municipalities, and funds estimated to be received but not expended in the current fiscal year. No later than April 1 of every year, the inspector general shall deliver a preliminary budget request to the Palm Beach County League of Cities, Inc., and be available to discuss the budget request with the League of Cities membership prior to May 1 of every year.

The board shall meet with a delegation selected by the Palm Beach County League of Cities, Inc., to discuss the budget request for each fiscal year. The county shall endeavor to place the matter on a board agenda prior to June 15 of each year, but in no event later than June 30. The parties attending this meeting shall acknowledge the provisions of section 2-429.1(1).

(4) No later than the fifth business day in July of each year, the office of the clerk and comptroller shall prepare an allocation schedule based on the most current LOGER system data. The proportionate share to be paid by the county and each municipality shall be reduced proportionately by the anticipated revenues from sources other than the county and municipalities and the amount of funds estimated to be received but not expended by the inspector general in the current fiscal year.

(5) In the event the county or a municipality does not submit the most recent fiscal year data in the LOGER system, the proportionate share for that municipality shall be based upon its last LOGER system submittal, subject to an escalator for each year the submittal was not made. The escalator shall be based on the Consumer Price Index for All Urban Consumers, U.S. City Average, as set forth in Florida Statutes, § 193.155, as may be amended.

(6) The budget of the inspector general shall be subject to final approval of the board. No later than September 30 of each year, the board shall set the inspector general budget for the coming fiscal year and adjust the proportionate share of the county and each municipality accordingly as described in this section.

(7) The office of the clerk and comptroller shall invoice the county and each municipality one-fourth of the proportionate share as adjusted on October 10, January 10, April 10 and July 10 of each year. Payment shall be submitted to the board and due no later than thirty (30) days from the date of the invoice. Upon receipt, all funds shall be placed in the Office of Inspector General, Palm Beach County, Florida Special Revenue Fund. In the event payment is not timely received, the county or any municipality in compliance with this section may pursue any available legal remedy.

(8) The county and each municipality's proportionate share for the period of June 1, 2011 through September 30, 2011 shall be as set forth in Exhibit A which is attached to Ordinance 2011-009 and incorporated herein by reference.* The office of the clerk and comptroller shall invoice the county, upon adoption of this article, nine hundred forty-six thousand seven hundred sixty-four dollars ($946,764.00).

This amount is based on the estimated expenses through June 1, 2011 of four hundred eighty-three thousand three hundred thirty-three dollars ($483,333.00), plus the county's proportionate share as reflected on Exhibit A. The office of the clerk and comptroller shall invoice each municipality for their proportionate share as set forth in subsection (7) beginning with the first invoice on October 10, 2011.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Editor's note— Section 3 of Ord. No. 2011-009 specifies that section 2-429(3) is expressly declared retroactive to April 1, 2011.

* Exhibit A to Ordinance 2011-009 is on file in the office of the city clerk.

Sec. 2-429.1. - Funding base.

(1) The funding base is a minimum level of funding, determined as a percentage of contract activity of the governmental entities subject to the authority of the inspector general. The purpose of establishing the funding base is to ensure the office is adequately funded. The funding base is currently set at an amount equal to one quarter of one (0.25) percent of the contracts as described in section 2-429(2). Within ten (10) days following establishment of the allocation schedule as described in section 2-429(4), the county will determine whether the calculated funding requirement meets the one quarter of one (0.25) percent funding base. In the event the calculated funding requirement is less than one quarter of one (0.25) percent, but the inspector general's proposed budget is fully funded by the allocation schedule and revenues from sources other than the county and municipalities, the inspector general shall request a reduction of the funding base accordingly for that budget year. Nothing herein shall be construed to:

(a) Limit the calculated funding base to one quarter of one (0.25) percent, as may be required to adequately fund the office of the inspector general;

(b) Limit the inspector general's authority to request a budget that results in a calculated funding base that is less than one quarter of one (0.25) percent at any time; or

(c) Prohibit the inspector general from transmitting to the county supplemental budget requests.

No adjustment to the calculated funding base shall occur if such adjustment results in the office of the inspector general not being adequately funded.

(2) On an annual basis the board of county commissioners may adjust the funding base percentage upon a showing of need which shall be based upon, but need not be limited to, the following criteria:

(a) Additional expenses in a particular year necessitated by an extraordinarily large investigation or audit;

(b) The amount of increases or decreases in budget requests by the inspector general in prior years;

(c) the amount and frequency of surpluses and/or shortfalls in the inspector general's budget in prior years;

(d) The ability of the county and each municipality to bear an increase of the funding base percentage in a particular year.

The demonstration of need shall be subject to review and recommendation by the review committee as established in the Charter of Palm Beach County, section 8.3. The review committee's recommendation shall only be overruled by a supermajority vote of the board of county commissioners. In no event shall the funding base be reduced below one quarter of one (0.25) percent unless such reduction is made by the inspector general.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-430. - Removal.

The inspector general may be removed only for cause based upon specified charges of the following: neglect of duty, abuse of power or authority, discrimination, or ethical misconduct. The removal process shall be initiated at a duly noticed public hearing of either the board, the inspector general committee, or a funding entity as described in section 2-423(9). An affirmative vote of five (5) members of the board, an affirmative vote of five (5) members of the inspector general committee, or an affirmative supermajority vote of a funding entity shall be required to present the inspector general with the charges and to proceed to final public hearings. The board, inspector general committee, or the initiating funding entity, as appropriate, shall transmit a copy of the charges to the inspector general at least sixty (60) days prior to all final public hearings which shall be convened by the board, all funding entities, and the inspector general committee. The inspector general shall have an opportunity to be heard in person and by counsel at the final public hearings prior to the votes being taken on his or her removal. The inspector general may only be removed upon the affirmative vote of five (5) members of the board, five (5) members of the inspector general committee, and a supermajority of all funding entities. A record of the proceedings, together with the charges and findings thereon, shall be filed with the clerk to the board. The inspector general shall be removed without a public hearing in the event the inspector general is convicted of or enters a guilty plea or nolo contendere plea to a state or federal felony. Based upon specified charges of neglect of duty, abuse of power or authority, discrimination, or ethical misconduct, one (1) or more municipalities may file a petition for removal with the general counsel for the office of inspector general. A petition for removal must be duly authorized as a resolution outlining the specific charges and passed by a majority plus one (1) of the governing body. The petition for removal shall be transmitted to the inspector general committee with a copy to the general counsel of the inspector general. The inspector general committee shall decide whether to initiate the removal process or dismiss based on the petition. The inspector general committee may investigate the allegations contained in the petition before deciding whether to initiate the removal process. If the inspector general committee initiates the removal process, the municipality or municipalities making the petition for removal shall have the opportunity to be heard at the final public hearings prior to the votes being taken.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-431. - Enforcement.

This article is enforceable by all means provided by law, including seeking injunctive relief in the Fifteenth Judicial Circuit Court in and for Palm Beach County.

(Ord. No. 2011-009, § 1(Exh. 1), 5-17-11)

Sec. 2-432. - Penalty.

Any person who:

(1) Retaliates against, punishes, threatens, harasses, or penalizes, or attempts to retaliate against, punish, threaten, harass, or penalize any person for assisting, communicating or cooperating with the inspector general; or

(2) Who knowingly interferes, obstructs, impedes or attempts to interfere, obstruct or impede in any investigation conducted by the inspector general shall be guilty of a violation of this article and punished, pursuant to Florida Statutes, § 125.69, in the same manner as a second degree misdemeanor. Any potential violation of this section shall be referred to the state attorney for possible investigation and prosecution.

Message from the Inspector General

Citizens of Palm Beach County:

I am proud to present our Office of Inspector General (OIG) Fiscal Year 2024 (FY2024) Annual Report, covering the activities of the OIG for the period of October 1, 2023 through September 30, 2024. This report summarizes our major efforts to promote integrity, efficiency, and effectiveness in government over the past year.

Some of our most significant accomplishments in our independent oversight of the County government, the 39 municipalities within Palm Beach County, the Solid Waste Authority, and the Children's Services Council include:

- Guarding taxpayers' dollars: We discovered $1,932,603 in questioned costs and over $86,670 in potential cost savings to taxpayers or in future avoidable costs.
- Promoting integrity in government: We referred 41 matters to law enforcement, or to the State or County Commissions on Ethics.
- Preventing fraud, waste, and abuse/Providing oversight: We monitored contract activities involving millions of taxpayers' dollars.
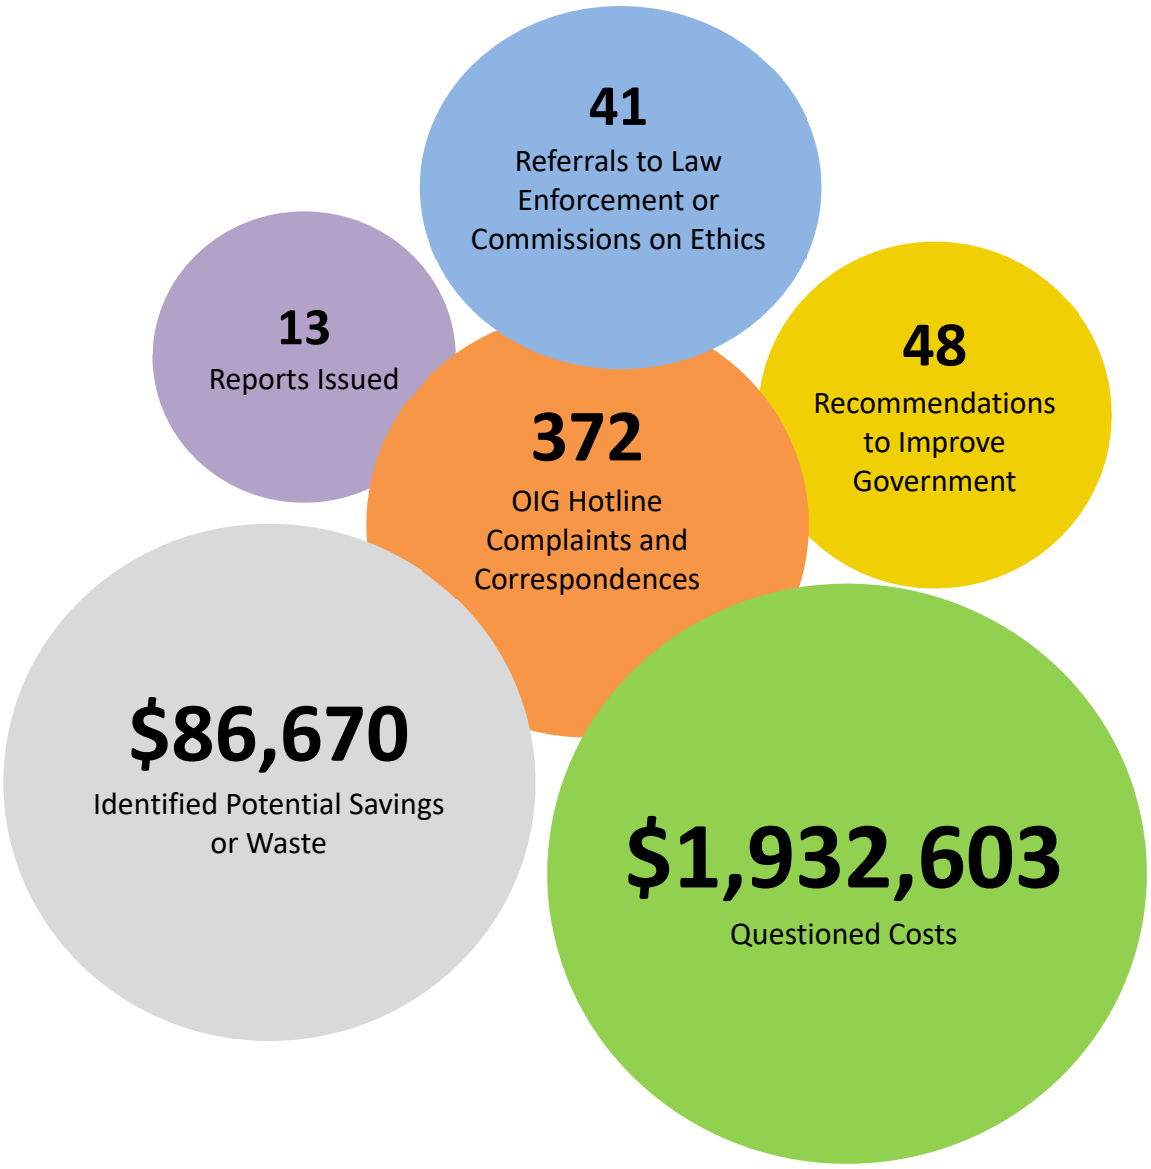
- Making government better: We made 48 recommendations to government management to facilitate compliance with regulations, or to be more efficient or effective.

I want to thank the OIG staff for their commitment and professionalism in serving the citizens of Palm Beach County. This report reflects their great work. Additionally, I want to thank the Inspector General Committee for its continued encouragement and insights. Another factor in our success has been the support from leaders in the County and municipal governments, the Solid Waste Authority, and the Children's Services Council.



Finally, you, the citizens of Palm Beach County, continue to be the bedrock supporters of our office and mission. Public support and input is critical to our mission success. Please feel free to contact us any time. The OIG is here to serve as your independent watchdog to promote the good government that you deserve.

Sincerely,

John A. Carey
Inspector General

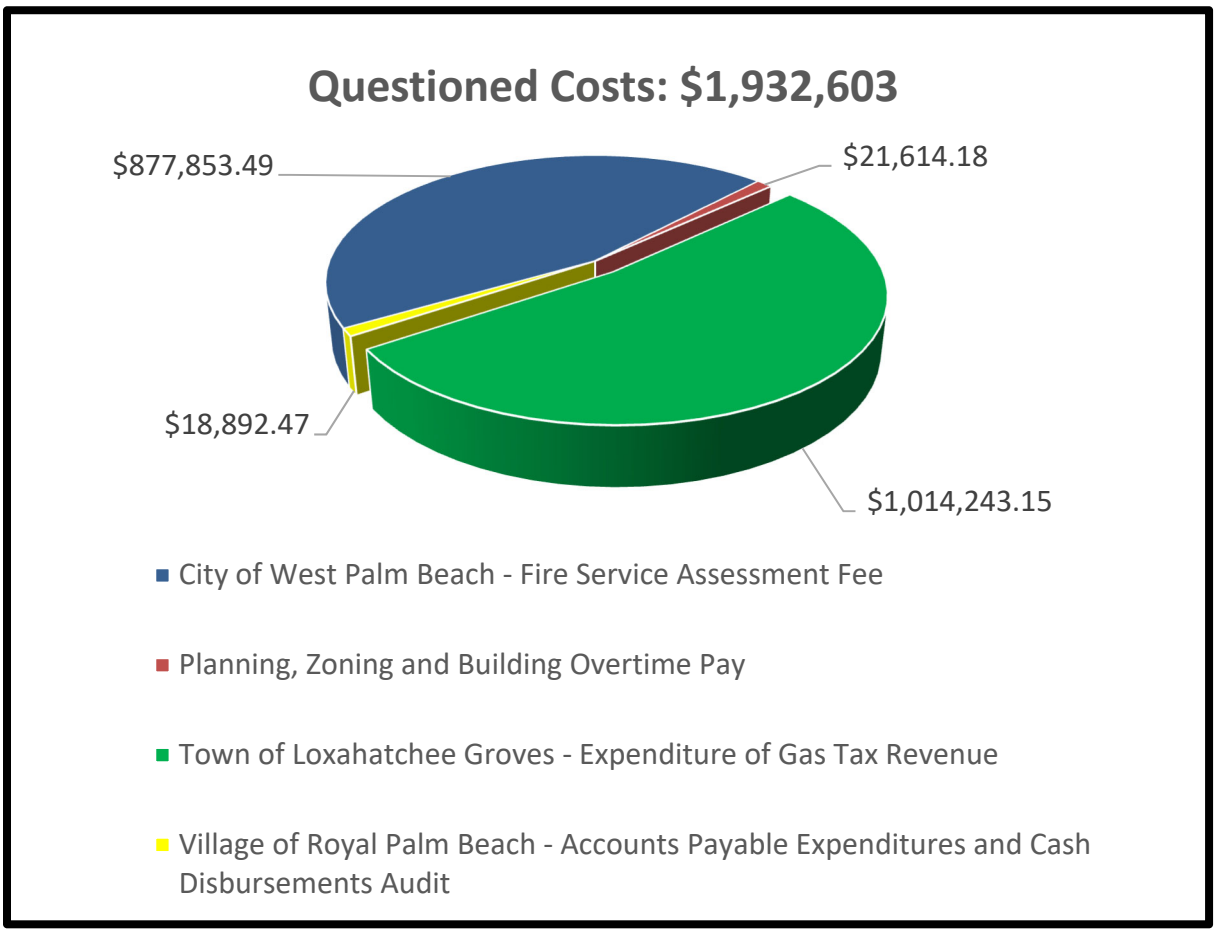
FY2024 ACCOMPLISHMENTS BY THE NUMBERS



At the end of the day, the OIG provides

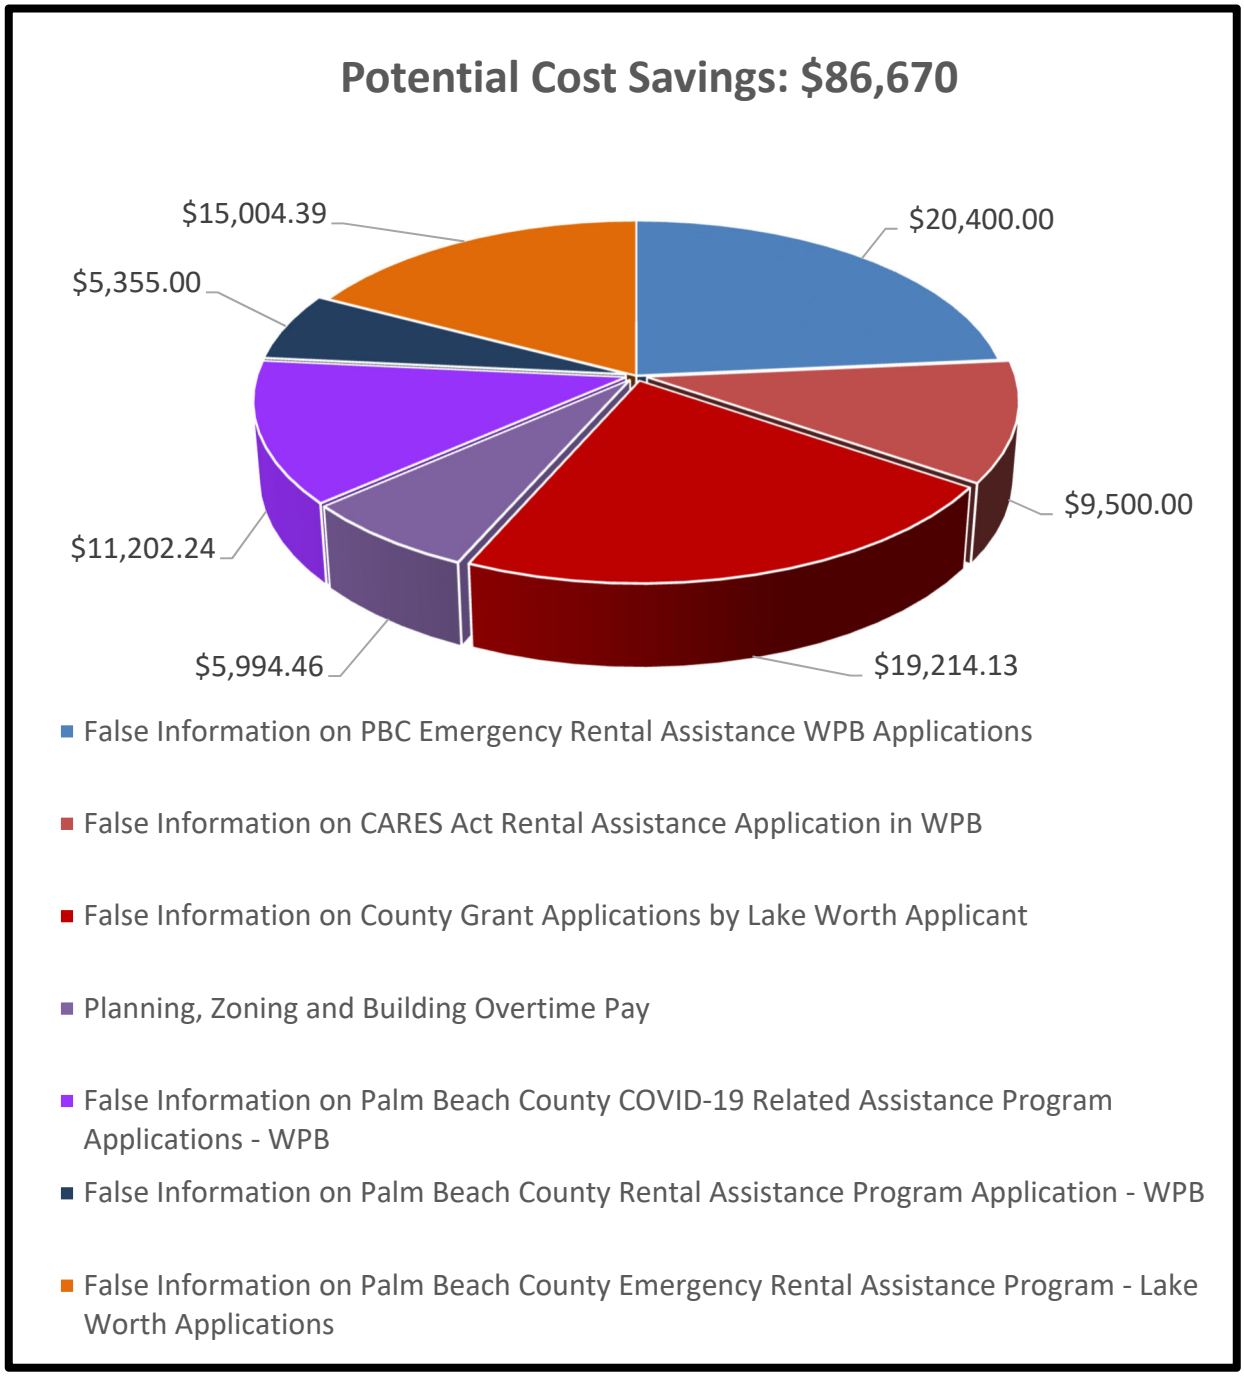
FY2024 FINANCIAL DISCOVERY BREAKDOWN

Guarding Taxpayers' Dollars



Questioned Costs are costs or financial obligations pursuant to an alleged violation of law, regulation, contract, grant, cooperative agreement, other agreement, policy and procedures, or documents governing the expenditure of funds; costs or financial obligations not supported by adequate documentation; and/or the expenditure of funds where the intended purpose is unnecessary or unreasonable. As such, not all questioned costs are indicative of fraud or waste.

Potential Cost Savings Include:

- Identified Costs: Costs that have the potential of being returned to offset the taxpayers' burden.

- Avoidable Costs: The dollar value for costs that will not have to be incurred, lost funds, and/or an anticipated increase in revenue over three years or the contract period (dollars saved) if the OIG's recommendations are implemented.

HISTORY

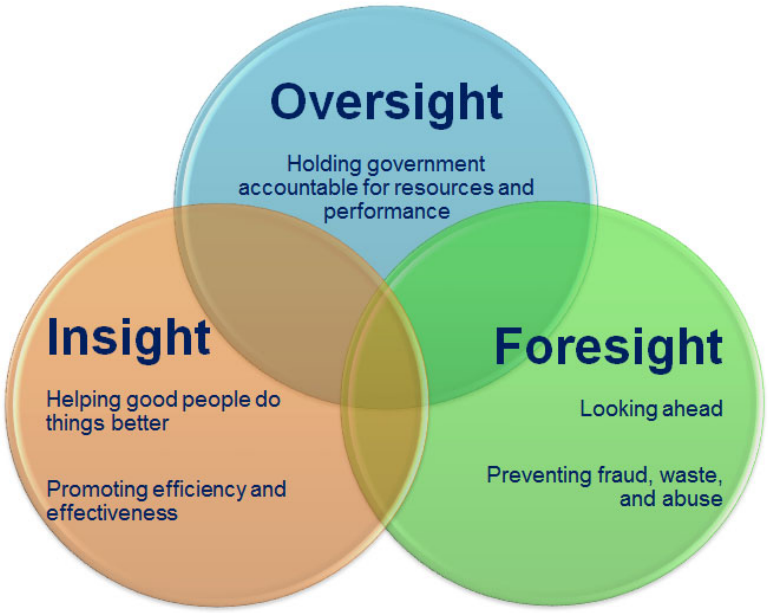
Between 2006 and 2009, a series of federal public corruption prosecutions of elected officials from the Palm Beach County Board of County Commissioners and the West Palm Beach City Commission led the State Attorney to convene a state grand jury. In early 2009, the grand jury issued its report, which included recommendations to create a County Code of Ethics, Commission on Ethics, and OIG. In response to that report, the County began a comprehensive effort to develop an ethics initiative aimed at promoting public trust in government and establishing a more transparent operating model for its citizens. In December 2009, the County Commissioners adopted an ordinance that established the OIG to oversee County government. In November 2010, 72% of the voters approved a countywide referendum to amend the County Charter and permanently establish the OIG. A majority of voters in each of the 38 municipalities that existed at the time within the County approved an expansion of OIG jurisdiction to cover all municipalities within the county.

The IG Committee selected Sheryl G. Steckler as the County's first IG in June 2010. The OIG enabling legislation, known as the IG Ordinance, was drafted in 2011 by the IG Drafting Committee, which was comprised of representatives from the municipalities, County, PBC League of Cities, citizens appointed by the County, and the Inspector General. Once completed, the IG Ordinance was unanimously approved by the County Commissioners, effective June 1, 2011. John A. Carey became the County's second IG in June 2014.

MISSION, VISION, AND VALUES

Mission Statement

To promote integrity, efficiency, and effectiveness in government in order to enhance public trust in government.



To provide independent and objective insight, oversight, and foresight through audits, investigations, contract oversight, reviews, and outreach activities.

Vision Statement

A high-performance team partnering with informed stakeholders making positive impact in government and increasing public trust.

Values (What we believe and How we behave)

Professionalism – We take pride in our purpose, profession, products, results, and conduct.
Respect – We are respectful of others and recognize their value.
Integrity – We do the right thing, the right way, for the right reason.
Dedication – We are dedicated to our purpose, our work, and the people we serve.
Excellence – We strive for excellence in everything we do.

Our Motto

"Enhancing Public Trust in Government"

AUTHORITIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

The purpose, duties, and responsibilities of the OIG are specified in the IG Ordinance (Article XII, Section 2-422 and 2-423, Palm Beach County Code). The IG Ordinance is available on our website at: http://www.pbcgov.com/OIG/docs/ordinances/4_C_ORD_2011-009_0517.pdf. Some of the functions, authority, powers, and mandated requirements include:

The Office of Inspector General Jurisdiction

The OIG jurisdiction covers the County government,[1] the 39 municipalities of Palm Beach County, and other entities that contract with the OIG (currently the Solid Waste Authority [SWA] and the Children's Services Council [CSC]). All elected and appointed officials and employees, instrumentalities, contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier subcontractors, and other parties doing business or receiving funds of covered entities are subject to the authority of the OIG.

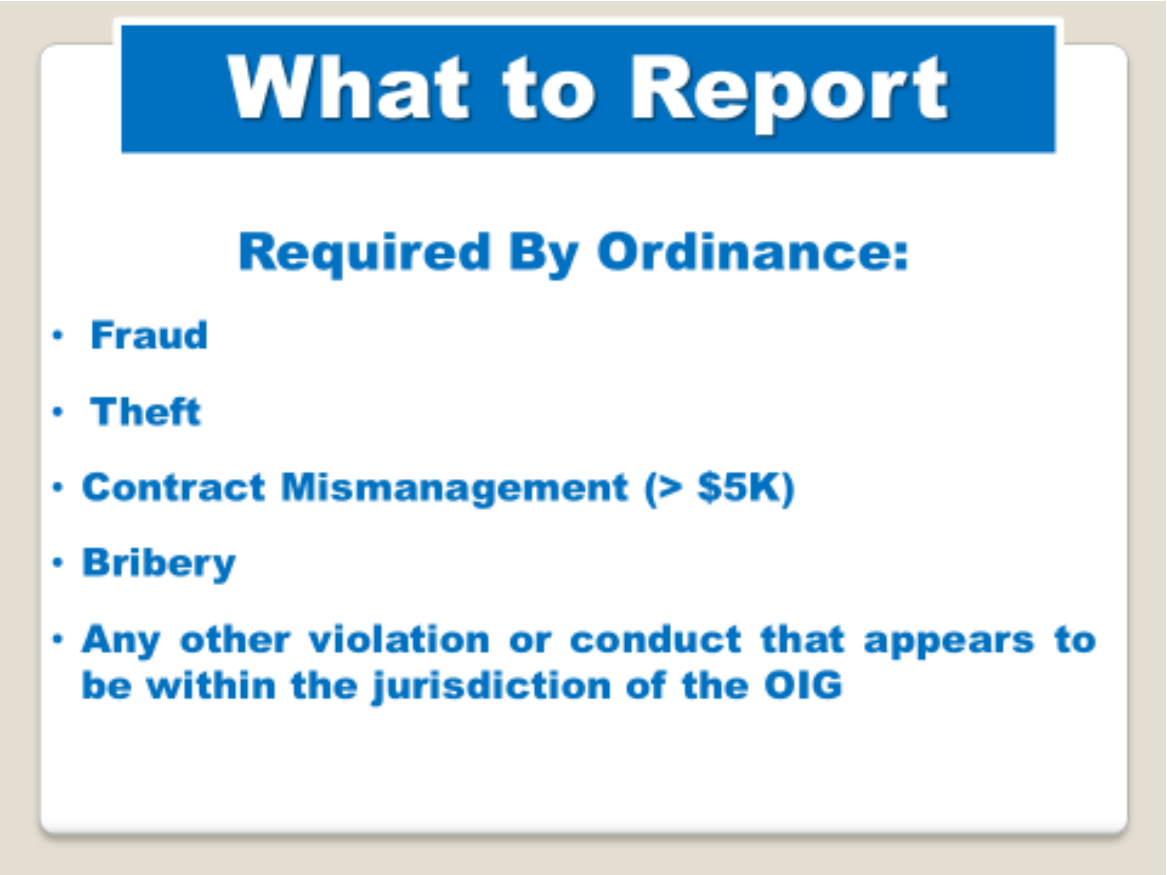
The Office of Inspector General Authority

The Office of Inspector General has the authority to receive, review, and investigate complaints regarding any municipal or County funded programs, contracts, or transactions.

We can review and audit past, present, and proposed municipal or County funded projects, programs, contracts, or transactions.

The OIG can require the production of documents and receive full and unrestricted access to records. The OIG has the power to subpoena witnesses and administer oaths. Additionally, the OIG is "an appropriate local official" for whistleblower reporting and protection. People may also submit anonymous complaints to the OIG.

[1] The OIG does not have jurisdiction over County Constitutional Officers, Judiciary, and Independent Special Districts; however, the OIG may review contracts between these entities and entities within the OIG's jurisdiction. Additionally, the OIG may enter into interlocal agreements with other public entities for services from the OIG.



County and Municipal Officials and Employees, Contractors, and Others
Required Reporting to the OIG

All elected and appointed officials and employees, County and municipal agencies, contractors, their subcontractors and lower tier contractors, and other parties doing business with the County or municipalities and/or receiving County or municipal funds shall fully cooperate with the OIG in the exercise of the OIG's functions, authority, and powers.

The County administrator and each municipal manager, administrator, or mayor, where the mayor serves as chief executive officer, shall:

1) Promptly notify the OIG of:
   a. possible mismanagement of a contract,
   b. fraud,
   c. theft,
   d. bribery, or
   e. other violation of law which appears to fall within the jurisdiction of the OIG; and,

2) Coordinate with the OIG to develop reporting procedures for notification to the OIG.

STANDARDS, ACCREDITATION, AND STAFF QUALIFICATIONS

Peer Reviews by the Association of Inspectors General

The Association of Inspectors General (AIG) is a national professional organization comprised of IGs from federal, state, and local government. The AIG Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspector General is one of the main standards we use. It provides guidelines for the overall operations of OIGs, as well as, specific standards for investigations, audits, and other IG related activities. OIG audits are performed in accordance with Generally Accepted Government Auditing Standards (Yellow Book). In 2015, 2018, 2021, and most recently March 2024, the AIG peer-reviewed the OIG. The AIG found our office met all current and relevant standards.

Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation

The Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation (CFA) is the designated accrediting body for law enforcement and OIGs within the State of Florida. Not every state law enforcement agency or OIG obtains or maintains this high standard of accreditation. The OIG received its initial accreditation from the CFA in 2012, and was re-accredited in 2015, 2018, 2021, and most recently in February 2024. CFA Assessors noted the OIG was 100% in compliance with standards set by CFA.

Inspector General Staff Qualifications

To ensure success in accomplishing our mission, the OIG hires highly qualified individuals who not only reflect the diversity of the community, but also have the necessary level of skills, abilities, and experience for their respective positions on the OIG team. Staff members bring an array of experiences from the Federal and State IG Communities; the Federal Bureau of Investigation; not-for-profit community-based organizations; federal, state, and local government; and the construction industry.

Staff members have backgrounds in and/or academic degrees or certifications in:

- Accounting
- Auditing
- Forensic Accounting
- Public Administration
- Business Administration
- Financial Analysis
- Grant Administration
- Investigations
- Law
- Law Enforcement
- Inspections
- Information Technology

STRUCTURE AND STAFFING OF THE OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL

The Inspector General Structure

In 2010, The Board of County Comissioners approved 40 positions for the OIG. Due to a lawsuit initiated by some of the municipalities within Palm Beach County regarding OIG funding and subsequent County Commission decisions, the OIG has never been fully funded. During FY2024, the OIG was funded at 27 (67.5%) of the originally 40 approved positions. The County Commission approved funding for three additional positions that will bring the OIG staffing up to 30 (75%).

"The sheer size of the operations that your office oversees, your office's jurisdiction and responsibility…is unparalleled by any other local government Inspector General office." 2024 AIG Peer Review Report

The OIG is comprised of a Mission Support Section and three operating divisions: Investigations, Audits, and Contract Oversight and Evaluations.

YOUR INSPECTOR GENERAL

John Carey became Inspector General on June 23, 2014. He has more than 48 years of government service in the areas of intelligence, operations, law enforcement, and Inspector General oversight. He is a retired Marine colonel. Mr. Carey served as the Director of Intelligence for a Joint Task Force in Operation ENDURING FREEDOM/IRAQI FREEDOM.

For the last 24 years, Mr. Carey has served in the Inspector General field. He was the Deputy IG of the Marine Corps; the Deputy IG for Director of National Intelligence; and finally, the Inspector General for the Defense Intelligence Agency before coming to Palm Beach County. Mr. Carey is on the national Executive Board of the Association of Inspectors General and the Chair of its Professional Certification Board. He is a Certified Inspector General, Certified Inspector General Auditor, and Certified Inspector General Inspector/Evaluator.

Mr. Carey holds a Bachelors of Arts degree (cum laude) from the Grace College, a Masters of Strategic Studies from the U.S. Army War College, and a Masters of Arts in Christian Studies from Palm Beach Atlantic University. He also attended the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy, the Federal Executive Institute, and the Kellogg School of Management.

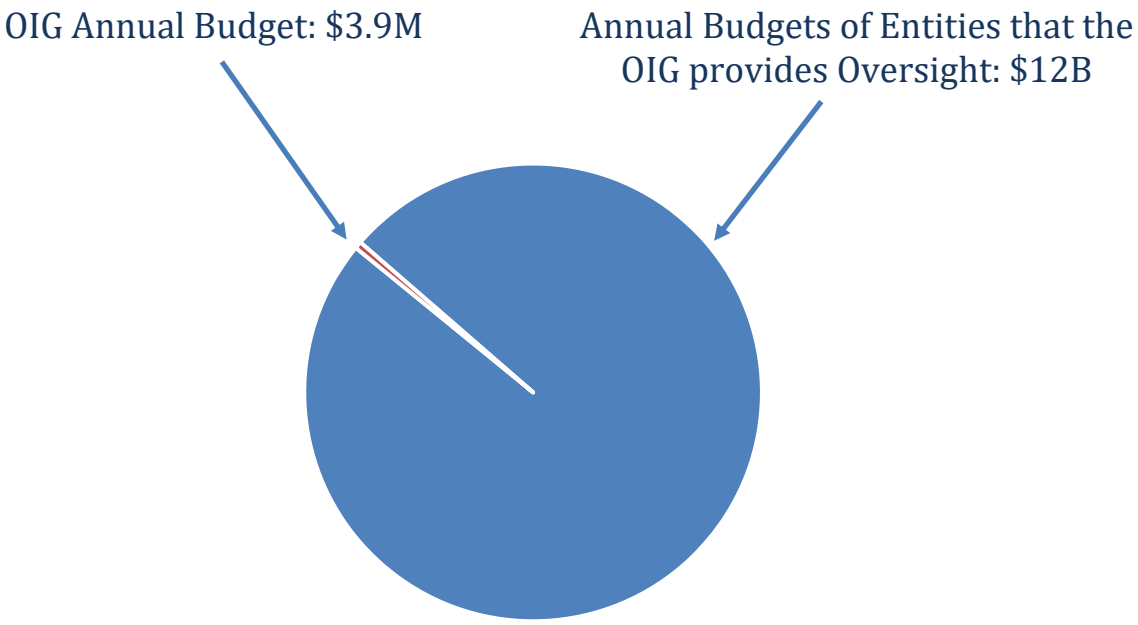
OUR GENERAL COUNSEL AND DEPUTY INSPECTOR GENERAL

Kalinthia Dillard became our General Counsel in June 2015 and General Counsel/Deputy IG in July 2017. After graduating from Clemson University (magna cum laude) and the Florida State University College of Law (cum laude), she moved to PBC to clerk at the 4th District Court of Appeal. Thereafter, she practiced civil litigation at law firms and worked at the School District of PBC. She is a Certified Inspector General, Certified Inspector General Auditor, and Certified Inspector General Investigator.

Ms. Dillard currently serves as President of the Forum Club of the Palm Beaches and Vice Chair of The Florida Bar's Constitutional Judiciary Committee. Additionally, she serves on The Florida Bar's Grievance Committee - 15D and the PBC Bar Association's Judicial Campaign Practices Commission. Ms. Dillard is an alumnus of Leadership PBC and Leadership Florida Cornerstone- Class 39.

Ms. Dillard is a past president of the F. Malcolm Cunningham, Sr. Bar Association; WPB-FL Chapter of The Links, Incorporated; YWCA of PBC; and Virgil Hawkins - FL Chapter National Bar Association. She is a past Chair of The Florida Bar's Law Related Education, Education Law, Professional Ethics, and Grievance - 15A Committees. She was recognized by Florida Trend Magazine as a Legal Elite and received the PBC Chamber Athena Award, the PBC Women' Chamber Giraffe Award, and the Girl Scouts of Southeast Florida Emerald Award.

$ OFFICE OF INSPECTOR GENERAL FY2024 BUDGET $



The OIG strives to use taxpayer dollars frugally. In FY2024, the OIG expended $3.82 million (98%) of its approved $3.9 million budget.

At a cost of $3.82 million with 27 funded positions, OIG oversight responsibilities include:

- The County, municipalities, SWA, and CSC with total annual budgets of approximately $12B
- The County, municipalities, SWA, and CSC employees numbering approximately 22,000 people (excluding part-time, seasonal, and contract employees)
- The County, municipalities, SWA, and CSC auditable units identified: 1,062
- Oversight of billions of dollars of contracting activities

"The sheer size of government operations that your office oversees and your office's jurisdiction and responsibility are unparalleled by any other local government inspectors general office."

OUTREACH, EDUCATION, AND PREVENTION

Outreach is an important component of OIG operations, and takes place both inside and outside of government. OIG outreach includes education on common trends and best practices; red flags to assist in spotting fraud, waste, and abuse; and ways to contact our office. Our success depends on listening as much as speaking.

Outreach/Coordination in Palm Beach County

Promoting integrity, accountability, and transparency in government is a "team sport" that goes beyond the bounds of the OIG. Accordingly, the IG attends and participates in several local forums, including the County Internal Auditor/Inspector General Forum and the South Florida Inspectors General Council. Our Director of Audit serves on the Board of Directors as a Vice Treasurer for the County Chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors and our Investigations Supervisor is the Vice President for the County Chapter of the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners.

During the year, the IG and senior leaders have provided presentations to community businesses and service organizations, and in academic classes and forums on such topics as ethics in government and the role of inspectors general.

Social Media

Citizens can follow us on Facebook, X (formerly known as Twitter), Instagram, YouTube, or through our website, and can subscribe to receive emailed notices of OIG reports and other items of interest.

The OIG posts on Facebook and X on a regular basis to provide regular, up to date OIG Reports, Tips and Trends, contact information, County Government and OIG news. We are dedicated to maximizing our ability to reach the public with valuable information. Our website is also continuously updated to reflect all recent OIG activity. An important section on the website is labeled "Tips, Trends, and Training." Here, we post briefings and information updates throughout the year along with other helpful information for the public and government employees.

Outreach/Impact Beyond Palm Beach County

The OIG does not stop at the borders of Palm Beach County in promoting integrity, effectiveness, and efficiency in government. Of particular note, the IG is on the executive board of the national Association of Inspectors General. The Association is a non-profit organization that promotes excellence in the inspector general community by establishing and encouraging adherence to quality standards, sponsoring professional development, and certifying individuals in IG-specific disciplines.

The IG is the Chair of the Association's Professional Development Board and is responsible for leading four professional certification courses at the Association's Inspector General Institute. The IG, the Deputy IG/General Counsel, the Director of Investigations, and the Director of Contract Oversight and Evaluations instruct at the Institute. Additionally, the IG is on the Association's Training Committee and Annual Training Conference Committee. The Deputy IG/General Counsel serves on the Association's Mentoring Subcommittee. Finally, the IG serves on the board of the Florida Chapter of the Association of Inspectors General.

OIG ADDRESSING THE CORONAVIRUS PANDEMIC

Significant efforts continued to be devoted to reviews of County programs that dispersed federal Coronavirus (COVID-19) pandemic aid funding and investigating pandemic-related complaints. The County received $750 million in federal and state Coronavirus aid and relief funding. We have continued to work with the County in providing independent oversight and accountability associated with the disbursment of those funds.

INVESTIGATIONS DIVISION

The Investigations Division investigates allegations of fraud, waste, abuse, mismanagement, and misconduct. It includes the OIG intake section and social media outreach.

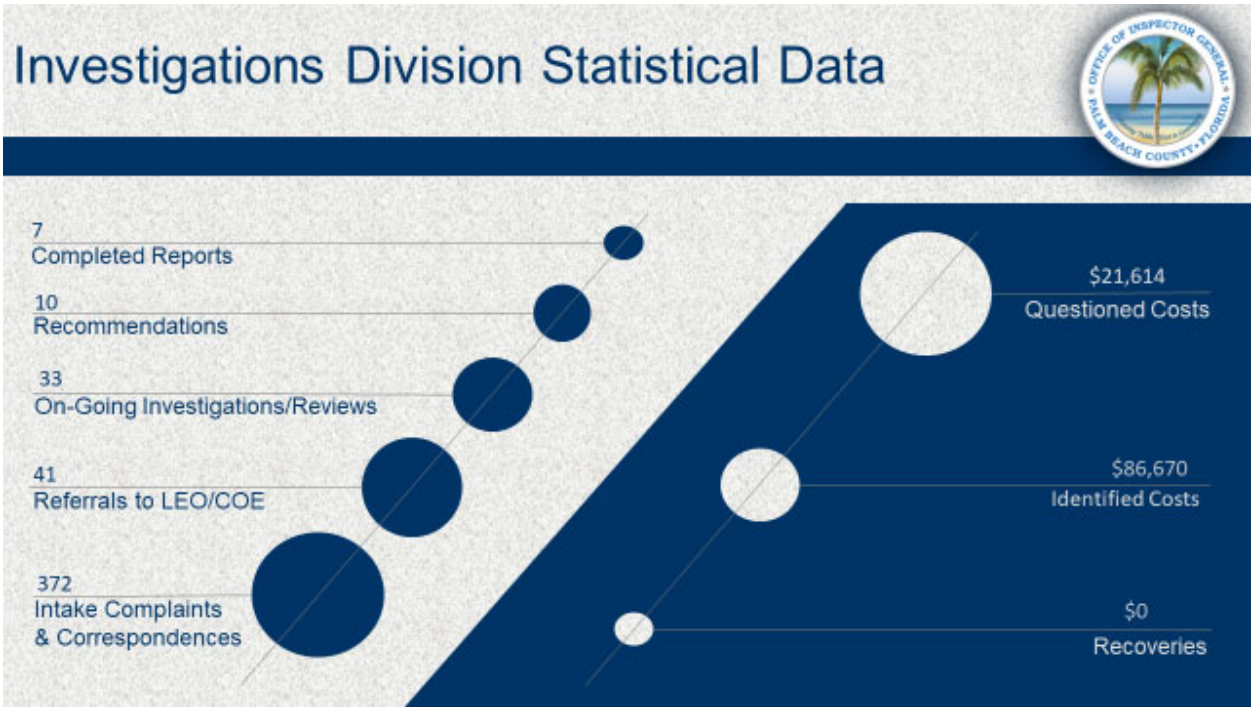
The investigative activity conducted by the Division strictly adheres to the Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspectors General (Green Book) as developed by the Association of Inspectors General and the Inspector General Accreditation Standards issued by the Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation, Inc. These important principles ensure the quality of our investigations.

While OIG investigations are administrative in nature, criminal violations are sometimes discovered during the investigative process. When a determination has been made that the subject of an investigation has potentially committed a criminal violation, those findings are referred to local, state, or federal law enforcement agencies, with notifications to the State Attorney's Office or the U.S. Attorney's Office.

LEADERSHIP TEAM

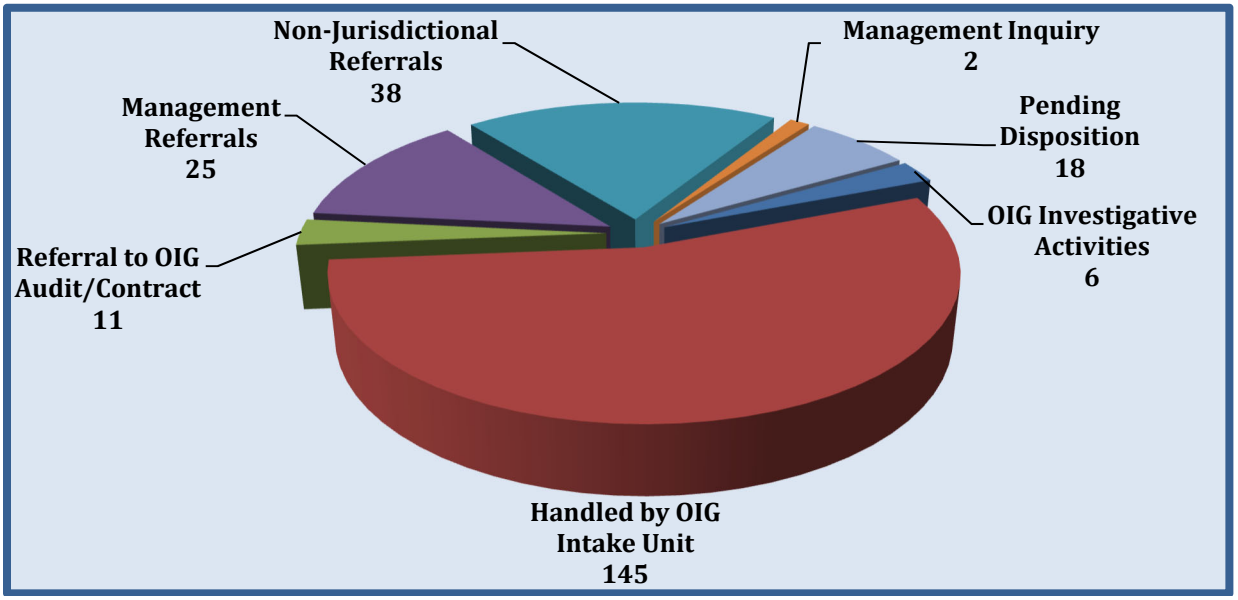
Stuart Robinson is the Director of Investigations. He oversees the OIG's Intake and Investigation programs, and is dedicated to producing valuable, accurate, insightful investigative conclusions based on credible allegations. Prior to joining the OIG in October of 2017, Mr. Robinson spent 26 years with the Federal Bureau of Investigation as a Special Agent and Supervisory Special Agent, specializing in public corruption, financial crimes, and civil rights matters, and then was the Supervisor of Investigations for the Broward County Office of the Inspector General. Mr. Robinson has a Bachelor of Science and Juris Doctorate degree from Indiana University and is a Certified Inspector General and Certified Inspector General Investigator.

Evangeline Rentz is the Investigation Division's Intake Manager. All Hotline calls, complaints, and correspondences that come into the OIG are reviewed by Ms. Rentz. Her section processes, analyzes, and conducts preliminary inquiries to determine the initial course of OIG action. Ms. Rentz joined the OIG in October 2010 shortly after its establishment and is the longest serving leader in the OIG. Ms. Rentz has over 30 years of public service experience in state and county government. Prior to working at the OIG, she served as the Operations and Management Consultant Manager for the Florida Department of Children and Families OIG. Ms. Rentz earned her Bachelor of Science degree from Florida State University and is a Certified Inspector General Investigator.



Christopher Dyckman is the Investigations Supervisor. He is responsible for supervising OIG Investigators; managing investigations; and ensuring the OIG adheres to established CFA standards. Mr. Dyckman joined the OIG in April 2016, and has over 30 years of experience conducting inspections and investigations for federal, state, and local government agencies. Prior to joining the OIG, he spent seven years as a Financial Investigator for the North Carolina Secretary of State, and previously served as a Special Agent with both the U.S. Department of Justice and the U.S. Department of Homeland Security.

Mr. Dyckman holds a Bachelor's degree in Criminal Justice from the University of Scranton. He is a Certified Fraud Examiner and a Certified Inspector General Investigator. Mr. Dyckman is also a founding member and the current Membership Director of the Palm Beach County Chapter of the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners.



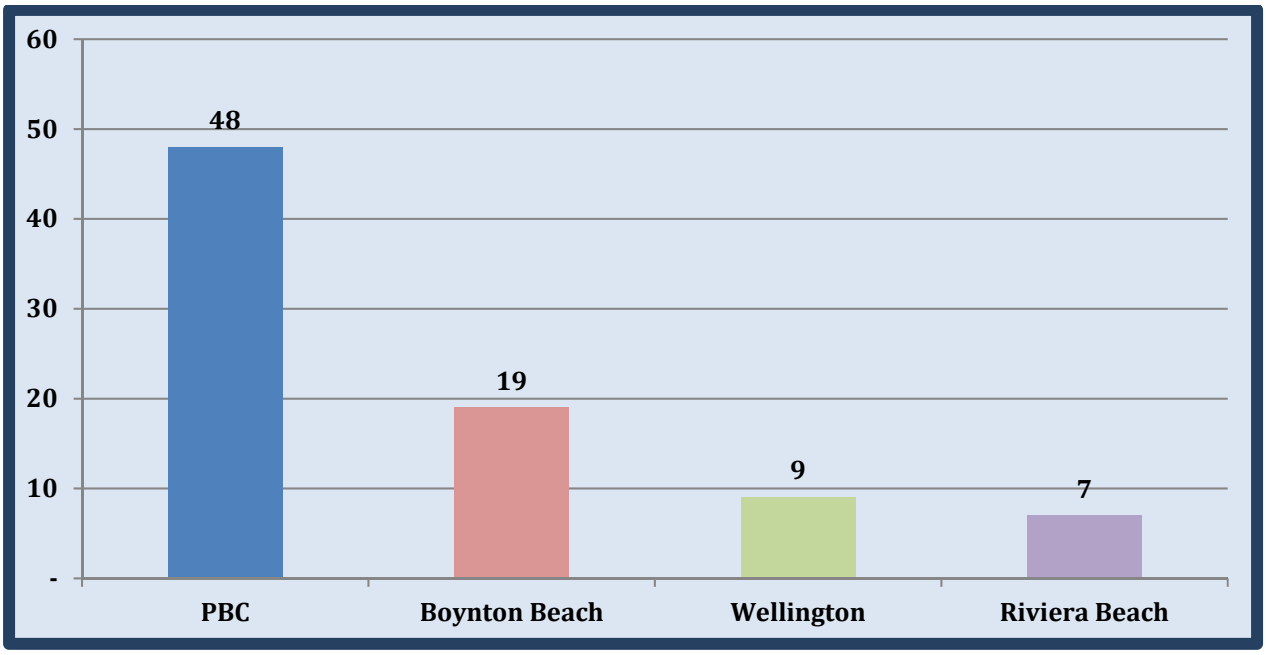
INVESTIGATIONS HIGHLIGHTS

During FY2024, the Investigations Division issued seven reports. Where allegations were substantiated, we referred administrative or disciplinary actions to county, municipal, and/or contracted entities. Additionally, we referred 41 investigative matters to the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the State Attorney's Office, the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office, the Internal Revenue Service Criminal Investigations, and the County and State Commissions on Ethics. These reports and management responses can be found at http://www.pbc.gov/oig/archreports.htm. A brief summary of the recommendations is also contained in Section D Appendix 2 of this report.

INTAKE ACTIVITIES

The OIG received 245 "Intake Activities" during FY2024. Intake Activities include letters, emails, phone calls, and/or walk-ins, and include comments, suggestions, questions, and complaints. These actions are depicted below:

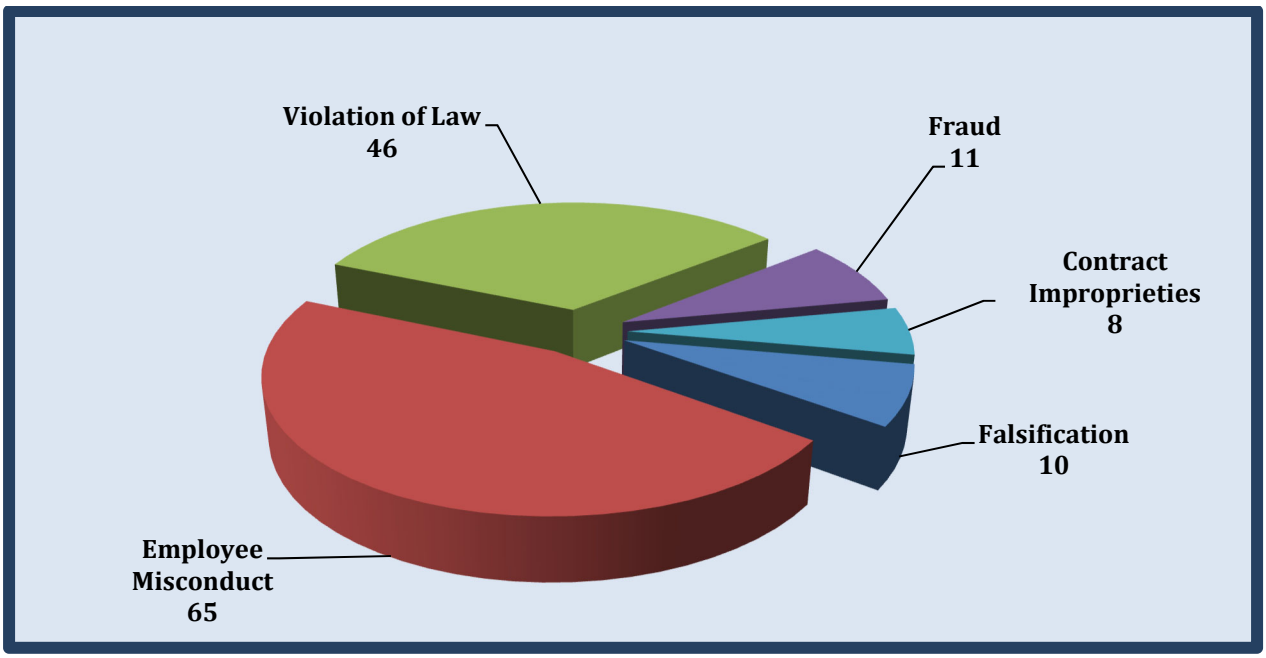
- Handled (Addressed) by OIG Intake Division (145 or 59%): Correspondences that are handled by the OIG, Information Only, and/or Closed with No Action.
- Management Referrals (25 or 10%): Correspondences forwarded to respective management for handling. No response to the OIG is required.
- Non-Jurisdictional Referrals (38 or 16%): Correspondences that do not fall within the jurisdiction of the OIG.[2]
- OIG Investigative Activities (6 or 2%): Correspondences that are assigned to the Investigations Division.
- Referral to OIG Audit or Contract Oversight (11 or 5%): Correspondences forwarded to OIG Audit and/or Contract Oversight Divisions for further review.
- Management Inquiries (2 or 1%): Correspondences forwarded to respective management for handling. A response to the OIG is required.
- Pending Disposition (18 or 7%): Correspondences that have not yet received a disposition.



[2] During FY2024, the OIG received a total of 60 Correspondences related to entities not within the jurisdiction of the OIG. These correspondences were forwarded to entities with jurisdiction for addressing those issues.

ALLEGATIONS BY ENTITY

Of the 245 "Intake Activities," a total of 222 allegations of potential wrongdoing were made. These allegations were related to the following entities:[3]



The following is a breakdown of the top four organizations with the most complaints lodged against them or against individuals within those organizations

[3] "Non-Jurisdictional" refers to correspondences concerning government entities not under the jurisdiction of the OIG. "Other" includes correspondences related to other entities such as private organizations, homeowner's associations, etc.

ALLEGATION TYPES

Of the 222 allegations of potential wrongdoing, 140 were identified as part of the following top five categories:

INVESTIGATIVE ACTIVITIES

The following are highlights from reports issued in FY2024:

False Information on County Grant Applications – Lake Worth

From November of 2020 through November of 2021, a Lake Worth, Florida, woman submitted four applications with falsified employment separation letters that resulted in the County making payments totaling $19,214.13 from the County Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act Emergency Rental and Utilities Assistance Program. On each occasion, the applicant supported her claim of loss of employment due to Covid-19 with falsified letters written without her employer's knowledge and signed in the name of individuals who did not work for her employer. When the employer was notified about these falsified letters, the applicant was terminated from employment.

False Information on County Rental Assistance Applications – West Palm Beach

From August of 2020 through November of 2021, Orlando, Florida, resident Antonio Silva successfully defrauded the County of $5,355 and attempted to obtain $29,300 in additional funds by posing as the landlord for a property for which he had no connection. He submitted multiple applications with falsified employment separation letters, landlord statements, and leases that resulted in the County issuing payments from the County Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act Emergency Rental and Utilities Assistance Program.

Antonio Silva also received governmental funding in multiple additional areas of the country and has since been arrested in Orlando, Florida for financial crimes of over $1 million. The State Attorney's Office in Orlando received information from the OIG Investigation for consideration of additional charges.

False Information on County Rental Assistance Applications – West Palm Beach

From October of 2020 through September of 2021, a West Palm Beach, Florida applicant submitted multiple applications with falsified employment separation letters and altered paystubs that resulted in the County issuing payments totaling $11,202.34 from the County Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act Emergency Rental and Utilities Assistance Program. On each occasion, the applicant supported her claim loss of employment due to Covid-19 with letters that were written without her employer's knowledge and signed in the name of individuals who did not work for her employer. The applicant also submitted paystubs which falsely showed loss of income.

Planning, Zoning, and Building – Overtime Pay

We received a complaint from the Palm Beach County Department of Planning, Zoning and Building (PZB) concerning potential overtime pay and compensatory time abuse by the PZB Deputy Building Official and a PZB Manager. We found that both falsified their employee time records by claiming they worked extra hours and/or violation of County policies regarding overtime and comp time, which resulted in the improper accrual of compensatory time and/or payments for overtime.

We found that the Deputy Building Official approved his own employee time records on multiple occasions and without obtaining authority in writing from his department head. We estimated that 84% of the entirety of his overtime hours were not in compliance with policy or adequately supported, amounting to $18,053.35. Additionally, he was inappropriately paid $5,994.46 for overtime claimed during his lunch period.

We found that the PZB Manager inappropriately requested compensatory time from the County by falsely reporting on numerous occasions that he arrived for work at 6:00 a.m. The County paid him a total of $3,560.83 for corrsponding compensatory time payments.

False Information on County Rental Assistance Applications – Lake Worth

From December of 2020 through September of 2022, a Lake Worth resident received rental and food assistance and engaged in a deliberate scheme to defraud Palm Beach County. She was assisted by a West Palm Beach resident, who knowingly helped the applicant create fraudulent loss of employment documents for four separate applications. Those documents were submitted by the applicant as the basis for the claim for $15,004.39 in assistance.

False Information on County Rental Assistance Applications – West Palm Beach

NEWS

Inspector general: Daughter used dead mother's name to get COVID money for apartment

COVID fraud in Palm Beach County reaches new level with an applicant filing an application for her mother who was already deceased

In November of 2020, a West Palm Beach, Florida resident submitted an application with misrepresentations that caused the County to issue payments totaling $8,600.00 from the County Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act Emergency Rental and Utilities Assistance Program. The individual listed as the applicant passed away six months prior to the application being submitted to the County in her name. The recipient of the funds was not the true landlord, and is the deceased applicant's daughter.

In addition, the County mailed a food card with $900 in food assistance to the deceased applicant's rental property address, which the deceased applicant's daughter assumed the right to occupy after the applicant's death. The food card was used for unallowable expenses.

The deceased applicant's daughter later provided false information to the County in support of one of her own applications wherein she sought $7,100 in rental assistance. The County, however, paid no monies for this application.

False Information on County Rental Assistance Applications – West Palm Beach

From October of 2020 through December of 2021, three West Palm Beach, Florida residents submitted applications with misrepresentations that caused payments totaling $20,400.00 from the County Coronavirus Aid, Relief and Economic Security Act Emergency Rental and Utilities Assistance Program and Emergency Rental Assistance Program.

These applicants submitted falsified documentation about their employer status and the identity of their true landlord, and falsified payroll documents in support of their assistance applications.

Arrest and Conviction as a Result of OIG Investigation

A Palm Beach County Rental Assistance applicant received over $20,000 from the County Emergency Rental Assistance Program using fictitious loss of employment letters.

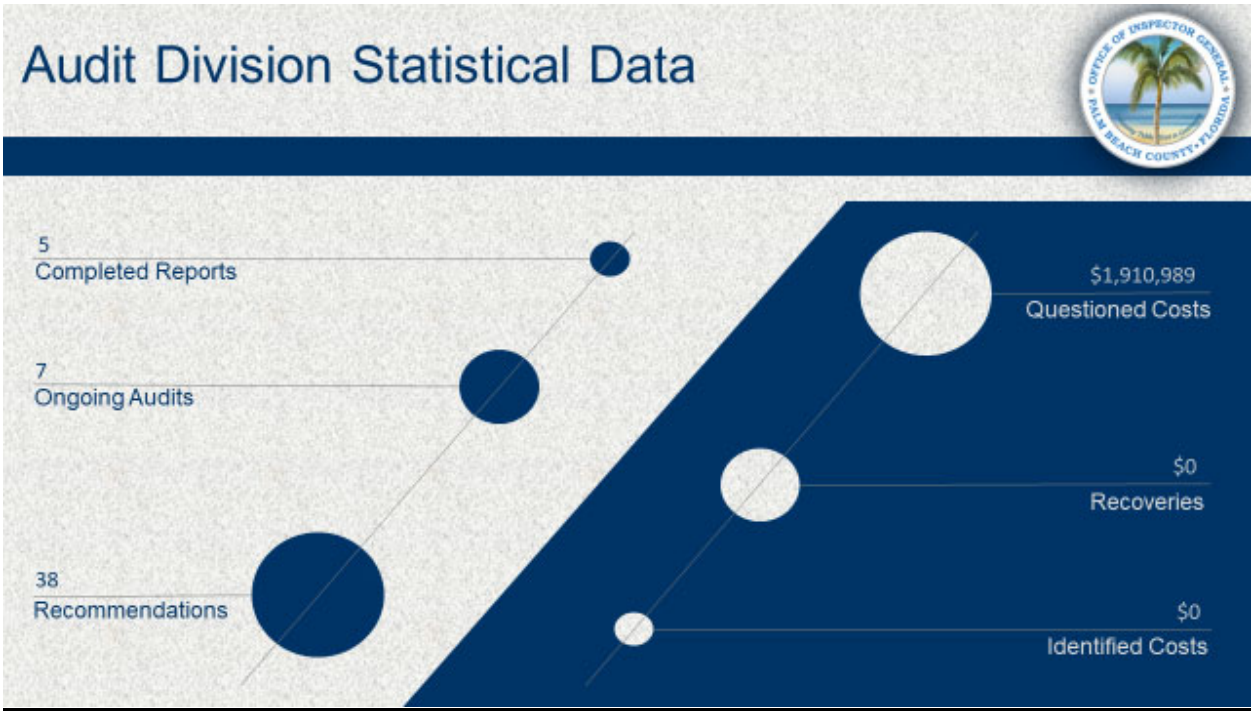
After extensive investigative work by the OIG, a referral was made to the Palm Beach County Sheriff's Office. The applicant was arrested by PBSO in March, 2024 on charges of Fraud - Swindle to Obtain Property $20,000 – $50,000. On April 9, 2024, he pled to the charge and was sentenced to 34 days incarceration, 5 years probation, and ordered to pay $21,553 in restitution.

AUDIT DIVISION

The Audit Division conducts audits intended to add value by helping management strengthen internal controls; prevent fraud, waste, and abuse; and identify opportunities to operate more efficiently and effectively.

All audits are performed in accordance with *Government Auditing Standards (Yellow Book)*.

LEADERSHIP



Hillary Bojan joined the OIG in September 2017 as an Auditor III. In June 2019, she became our Acting Audit Manager and in 2020 was promoted to Director of Audit. She has more than 17 years of local government service in accounting and auditing. Before coming to the OIG, Ms. Bojan served as the Senior Internal Auditor for the Health Care District of Palm Beach County.

Ms. Bojan holds a Bachelor of Science in Accounting (summa cum laude) and a Master of Science in Accounting from the University of Central Florida. Ms. Bojan has obtained the following professional designations: Certified Public Accountant, Certified Information Systems Auditor, Certified Internal Auditor, Certified Fraud Examiner, and Certified Inspector General Auditor. Ms. Bojan serves on the Board of Directors as the Vice Treasurer for the Palm Beach County Chapter of the Institute of Internal Auditors.

AUDIT HIGHLIGHTS

During FY2024, we issued five reports with total Questioned Costs of $1,910,989.11. Collectively, these five reports contain 38 recommendations to strengthen internal controls and improve the efficiency and effectiveness of operations. Management has implemented or is in the process of implementing the majority of our recommendations. The reports and management responses can be found at http://www.pbc.gov/oig/archreports.htm. A brief summary of the recommendations is also contained in Section D Appendix 2 of this report.

Audit of City of West Palm Beach – Fire Service Assessment Fee

At the request of the City of West Palm Beach (City), we conducted an audit of the expenditure of Fire Service Assessment Fee.

We found that the City had generally adequate controls over the receipt and disbursement of Fire Service Assessment Fee funds. However, we found weaknesses with respect to the interdepartmental transfer of Fire Service Assessment Fee monies which lacked sufficient supporting documentation.

As a result of our audit, we identified $877,853.49 in questioned costs for expenditures that lacked sufficient supporting documentation.

Our report contained recommendations to assist the City in strengthening internal controls and help ensure compliance with the Fire Service Special Assessment requirements. The City accepted our recommendations.

Review of the Town of Manalapan – IT Network Security

We conducted an Information Technology (IT) Network Security review of the Town of Manalapan. Our review focused on IT network security records and activities related to network components, such as devices, systems and data, in place during FY 2023.

We found that the Town had processes in place designed to prevent network security intrusions; monitor and detect network security threats, breaches, and intrusions; and, respond to network security threats, breaches, and intrusions.

However, the Town lacked sufficient written guidance for:

- Access control management;
- Data and asset/component sanitization and disposal; and,
- Organizational cybersecurity processes.

Our report contained recommendations to assist the Town of Manalapan in strengthening internal controls over IT Network Security. Management concurred and accepted our recommendations.

Audit of Village of Wellington – IT Application Security

We conducted an audit of the Village of Wellington's Information Technology (IT) Application Security. Overall, we found that user access and administrative privileges for applications were managed effectively and based on job duties and roles, and that application accounts were in compliance with applicable licensing agreements. However, we found that the Village did not always disable separated users' access in a timely manner. The Village's IT policies and procedures did not establish a time period in which departments must notify the IT department of employee separations or for disabling inactive application user accounts.

Our report contained recommendations to assist the Village in strengthening internal controls over IT application security. The City concurred and accepted our recommendations.

Audit of the Town of Loxahatchee Groves Expenditure of Gas Tax Revenue

We conducted an audit of the Town of Loxahatchee Groves' expenditure of gas tax revenue. This audit was initiated because the Town did not respond to an OIG request for information regarding a complaint.

While the audit was in process, a separate, related complaint was received.

Overall, we found the Town had generally adequate controls over the disbursement of gas tax revenue funds. Additionally, we found that:

- The allegation that the Town misused the 5-cent local option fuel tax funds was not supported.
- The allegation that the Town purchased rocks that were distributed on E Road and side roads prior to Council approval in violation of the Town's procurement code was supported.
- The Town's check signing process outlined in Resolution 2018-09 did not align with its Ordinance governing the payment of money.
- The Town did not always comply with its Purchasing Policy & Procedures Manual.
- The Town did not sufficiently provide for separate accountability of gas tax revenues by source.
- The Town lacked sufficient controls over the vendor master file.
- The Town did not sufficiently restrict user access and lacked written policies and procedures for information technology processes.

The total amount of funds expended that was not in compliance with the Town's procurement code, ordinance, or policies was $1,014,243.15 (questioned costs). These questioned costs were not indicative of potential fraud or waste.

Our report contained recommendations to assist the Town in strengthening internal controls and help ensure compliance with Town and statutory requirements. The Town accepted our recommendations.

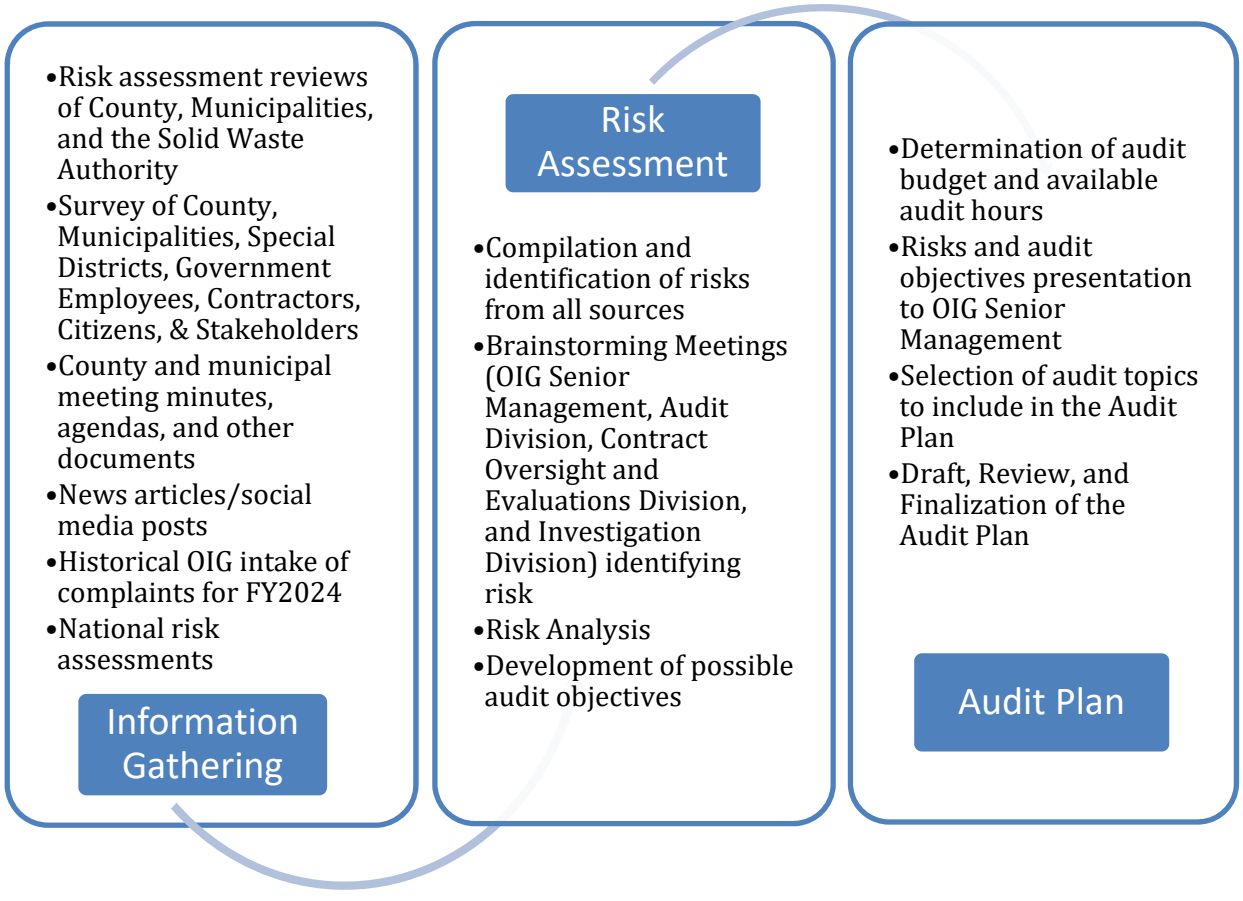
Audit of the Village of Royal Palm Beach Accounts Payable Expenditures and Cash Disbursements

We conducted an audit of the Village of Royal Palm Beach's accounts payable expenditures and cash disbursements.

We found the Village had generally adequate controls over the accounts payable expenditures and cash disbursements processes. However, we found the Village:

- Did not always comply with its Purchasing Guidelines when employees artificially split purchases to circumvent dollar thresholds for approving purchases, and
- Had weaknesses with respect to distributing and safeguarding gift cards, business meeting reimbursements, and managing the vendor master file.

As a result of our audit, we identified $18,892.47 in questioned costs that did not comply with the Village's Purchasing Guidelines for splitting purchases to avoid approval dollar thresholds, or for insufficient processes and documentation relating to gift cards and meeting reimbursements.



Our report contained recommendations to assist the Village in strengthening internal controls and enhancing compliance with the Village's Purchasing Guideline requirements. The Village of Royal Palm Beach concurred and accepted our recommendations.

AUDIT FOLLOW-UP

During the year, we continued to perform semi-annual follow-up on the status of pending audit recommendations. Our follow-up process has helped ensure timely corrective action on our recommendations. Since the inception of the OIG, of the 964 audit recommendations made, 901 (93%) have been implemented or are pending implementation.

AUDIT RISK ASSESSMENT AND ANNUAL AUDIT PLAN

Our "audit universe" is comprised of the County, 39 municipalities, and contracted special districts. Our goal is to make the most effective use of our resources focusing on areas of high risk for fraud, waste, and abuse, as well as, areas where costs can be reduced or revenue increased. To this end, we conducted a comprehensive risk assessment.

The risk assessment process was conducted using a combination of several methods of research and information gathering in order to create an overview of the risks for entities within the OIG's jurisdiction. Additional risks were included drawing upon the professional expertise and experience of the OIG staff. Risks were assessed based on their global area of significance and impact. Our FY2025 Annual Audit Plan (Section D of Appendix 4) was created using this risk assessment methodology.

CONTRACT OVERSIGHT AND EVALUATIONS DIVISION

The Contract Oversight and Evaluations Division reviews procurement and contracting activities and conducts evaluations, inspections, and reviews of operations to promote competition, transparency, accountability, integrity, and efficiency.

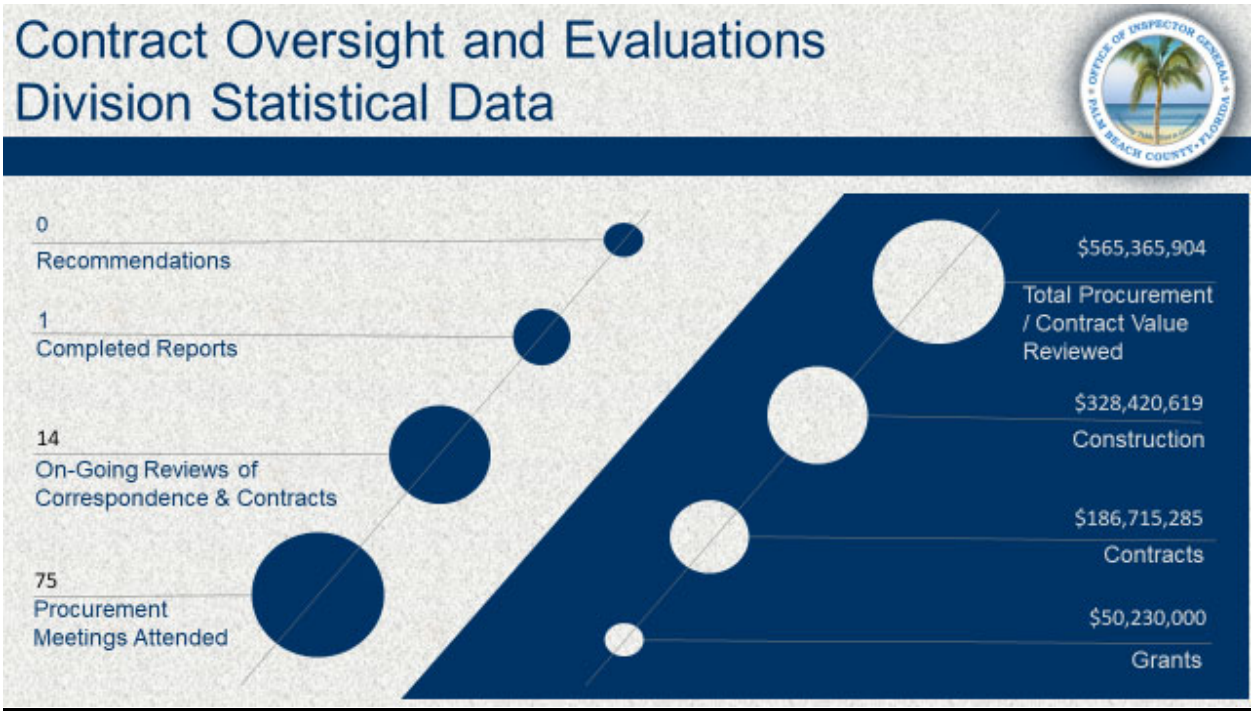
The Contract Oversight and Evaluations Division (COED) reviews procurements completed by municipalities, the County, and special districts. This includes, on a selected basis, following a solicitation from when it is issued until it is awarded; reviewing the implementation of a contract before services are completed; and completing a contract administration review after the close out of a contract.

Additionally, the COED can complete evaluations, reviews, or inspections on a wide variety of operational issues and processes.

All work is completed in accordance with the Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspectors General (Green Book), as developed by the Association of Inspectors General (AIG).

LEADERSHIP

Tony Montero became the Director of Contract Oversight and Evaluations in February 2021. He started his career with the OIG in February 2017 as a Contract Oversight Specialist. Mr. Montero has 36 years of public service experience in federal and state governments, higher education, and private business. He served in the US Air Force as a contracting officer for Tactical Air Command, and was deployed to Saudi Arabia during the Gulf War.



Upon his return, Mr. Montero transferred to the Defense Logistics Agency administering aerospace contracts at a Defense Plant Representative Office. After his military service, he was an independent consultant to Navy and Army contractors before accepting a purchasing position with Florida Atlantic University. Mr. Montero was soon promoted to the Assistant Director of Purchasing, overseeing $100 million in contracts and purchases annually.

Mr. Montero has extensive training and experience in procurement, contract management, and leadership. He has several awards in contracting dating back to his military career as a U.S. Air Force officer. Mr. Montero is a US Air Force Academy graduate, a decorated Gulf War veteran, has a Masters of Engineering Administration from George Washington University, is an AIG Certified IG Inspector/Evaluator, and is an AIG Certified IG Investigator.

CONTRACT OVERSIGHT AND EVALUATIONS HIGHLIGHTS

During FY 2024, the COED issued one formal report, answered 13 complaints, and issued five Tips and Trends. The formal report can be found at http://www.pbc.gov/oig/archreports.htm. Additionally, the COED completed one inspection of a park marina, one road construction jobsite inspection, and 12 onsite reviews for the OIG's compliance assessment report.

County-wide Review of Compliance with the IG Ordinance and Risk Assessment

COED conducted a review of the County and municipal governments and Solid Waste Authority's (SWA) (collectively, "the Entities") compliance with the requirements of the IG Ordinance (Article XII, Palm Beach County Code), and conducted a risk assessment of the Entities in accordance with the OIG's 2023-2028 Strategic Plan.

We found that the Entities were largely in compliance with the IG Ordinance, and the risk concerns expressed by the Entities were similar in scope and nature.

As a result of our review, we conducted outreach with all 39 county municipalities, SWA, and 11 County Departments. In addition to collecting fraud risk information from all Entities for COED's assessment, the data was also utilized by the OIG Audit Division for the 2025 Annual Risk Assessment and Audit Plan report.

The onsite reviews provided all 51 Entities with an OIG media kit containing new and updated informational brochures, cards, and posters for public posting.

OTHER CONTRACT OVERSIGHT and EVALUATIONS ACTIVITIES & OUTREACH

Procurement personnel working for entities within OIG jurisdiction have articulated that OIG presence helps to ensure the integrity of selection processes and assists them in facilitating more efficient and equitable selections. During FY2024, we proactively observed 75 procurement/contracting related activities. These activities included selection committee meetings, contract review committee meetings, pre-construction meetings, construction site visits, inspections, reviews, and meetings with municipal officials.

The specific type and number of meetings attended is as follows:

• County Selection Committees	11
• County Contract Review Committees	12
• County Meetings	29
• Municipal Selection Committees	12
• Municipal Meetings	9
• Other Covered Entities – Selection Committees	0
• Other Covered Entities – Meetings	2
TOTAL	75

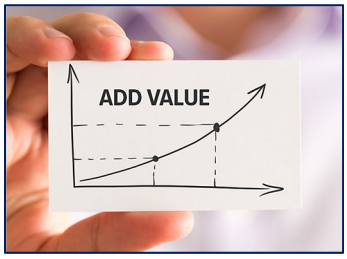
The COED staff's ourteach to the number of people in attendance at those meetings is as follows:



• County Selection Committees	213
• County Contract Review Committees	135
• County Meetings	165
• Municipal Selection Committees	132
• Municipal Meetings	99
• Other Covered Entities – Selection Committees	12
• Other Covered Entities – Meetings	0
TOTAL	756

In the course of these meetings, COED staff is routinely asked to provide guidance to County and municipal staff in an effort to enhance efficiencies. This guidance has resulted in policy and procedure changes by the County and municipalities on how to score and rate proposals, the refinement of determinations of responsiveness reviews, and the development evaluation criteria.

Occasionally, COED staff identifies issues with either a solicitation document or selection process, and advises County or municipal staff of that error so corrections can be made in the solicitation process. Some examples of corrections include; identifying errors or omissions in solicitation documents before the solicitation ends so that an entity can issue an amendment with corrections prior to the solicitation closing date; a scoring sheet not being signed by the selection committee member; miscalculation of selection committee scores; or engaging in activities that do not comply with statutory requirements.

The COED serves as a resource for sharing information and providing references to resource materials by organizations such as the National Institute of Governmental Purchasing.

ADDITIONAL AREAS WHERE CONTRACT OVERSIGHT AND EVALUATIONS ACTIVITIES ADD VALUE

The COED engages in an array of oversight activities that promote an open and competitive business environment, and enhance public confidence that contracts are being awarded equitably and economically. The following highlights the division's positive impact and other proactive/preventative guidance to the County and the municipalities in the following areas:

Audit Services – During FY 2024, after reviewing a solicitation for Audit Services, the OIG noted that the statuory requirements were not met. We provided the entity with a copy of Tips and Trends 2019-0007, External Auditor Selection Procedures. The entity was able to take corrective actions before the RFP closed and proposals were received.

Art in State Buildings – We provided an entity with reference materials by the State of Florida for guidance on best practices for procuring artistic services during construction. We also provided the entity with contact information for another county entity that just completed a similar project, and a State contact with information about local public art experts.

CCNA – A municipality contacted the OIG about the distinction between regular contract services like building inspection officials, and professional architect and engineering services in accordance with the Consultants Competitive Negotiations Act (CCNA, s. 287.055 F.S.). We discussed whether the services were directly related to a fixed capital outlay, study, or public works project for the public entity.

Federal Grants – An entity contacted the OIG, stating that new employees in their finance department were being tasked with administering federal grants and were looking for resources and guidance. The OIG sent them a copy of Tips and Trends 2018-0003 on Uniform Procurement, and a training presentation on the new Uniform Guidance, Code of Federal Regulations, 2 CFR Part 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards.

Negotiations – An entity contacted the OIG regarding negotiations for an already awarded public works project. An oversight committee questioned the final price of the project and wanted to negotiate cost reductions directly with a Construction Manager's subcontractors. The negotiations sought by the committee could have been considered an attempt at auctioning or bid shopping. We discussed any privity of contract relationship between the entity and the subcontractors, the importance of maintaining the integrity of the competitive bid process, and the three discouraged public procurement practices of technical leveling, technical transfusion, and auctioning when negotiating.

Assistance to State OIG – Another Florida IG office that is starting up an Inspections and Evaluations Unit contacted the OIG regarding recent training we conducted at the Association of Inspectors General (AIG) Institute and at an online Florida AIG Chapter training. We sent them copies of our manuals, Inspection and Activity planning templates, and resources toward effectively establishing COED operations.

Piggyback Contracting – Both an entity in Palm Beach County and a public entity from another county in Florida contacted the OIG for legal decisions regarding piggyback contracting, particularly involving a county in Florida. We sent them an article from the Institute of Public Procurement that discussed several prominent cases in this area. We also told them about an upcoming relevant Tips & Trends.

Purchasing Policies – The Legal Counsel and staff of an entity tasked with reviewing and rewriting purchasing policies and procedures held a conference call with the OIG regarding the applicability of Chapter 287, F.S., to non-state agency purchasing policies. We discussed some of the public entity requirements of Ch. 287 such as: CCNA, Public Entity Crime, the prohibition on the use of certain evaluation factors, foreign-owned businesses, and state preferences. We recommended the OIG's Tips and Trends website for procurement information related to statutory requirements and best practices such as, outside audits, piggybacking, and prompt payment.

Selection Committees – An entity contacted the OIG regarding RFP selection committees. The entity conducts general training with the committees prior to the release of proposals for evaluation. This committee would be reviewing two different bids at the same time and wanted to know if it was okay. We suggested that they review their bid evaluation procedures, and to maintain transparency on public meetings that their training meeting be advertised and posted for both solicitations. Also, we advised that committee members should refrain from discussing the solicitation except during the evaluation meetings for that particular bid.

Single Quote – An entity contacted the OIG about situations when they received only one bid or quote. We explained that generally, single bid situations are not described in the Florida Statutes, or County and Municipal Codes. The local purchasing rules and procedures would probably be the guiding authority, unless the funding is federal in which case the Uniform Code conditions would apply. Absent any local guidance, we recommended some best practices to show that their decision on the course of action taken is well documented, legally sufficient, and approved by higher authority. We also discussed avoiding splitting requisitions to reduce the project to the single quote threshold, and alternative price analysis methods.

Vendor Invoices – An entity contacted the OIG regarding a vendor's continued invoicing for a closed equipment rental account. We recommended best practices to avert escalation. We also reminded the entity that it is necessary to promptly reject all improper invoices, and to document all communication attempts in order to preserve legal rights and comply with the prompt payment statutes.

OUTLOOK AND THE WAY AHEAD

Our OIG Strategic Plan sets out the following goals:

- Deliver results that promote integrity, excellence, and accountability in government.
- Strengthen relationships and build trust with external stakeholders.
- Maximize organizational effectiveness.

In FY2025 we will:

- Continue to center audit and contract oversight and evaluations activities on risk/opportunity assessment models to ensure we are focusing on major risks.
- Continue partnering with Florida's Chief Inspector General in a state-wide campaign to enhance government cybersecurity through information technology audits and reviews.
- Prioritize the investigations that maximize our resources and our ability to expose waste, fraud, and mismanagement.
- Increase our outreach and training programs on proactively sharing lessons learned, best practices, activities to avoid, and red flags that may indicate fraud, waste, or mismanagement.
- Continue to focus efforts on providing independent oversight of the County One-Penny Sales Surtax expenditures and use of pandemic-related funds.

Appendix 1 – FY2024 Tips and Trends

As part of our prevention and education focus, the OIG periodically issues Tips and Trends. These brief reports provide lessons learned from OIG projects, research, or new regulatory guidance designed to assist entities in operating in a more compliant, efficient, or effective manner.

OIG Tips and Trends # 2024-0001 – Prohibition against Considering Social, Politicial, or Ideological Interests in Government Contracting – October 26, 2023

Effective July 1, 2023, Chapter 2023-28, Laws of Florida, created section 287.05701, Florida Statutes. This law prohibits consideration of social, political, or ideological interests in state and local government contracting.

Section 287.05701, F.S.:

- Defines "awarding body" to include local government contracts from the governing body of a county, municipality, special district, or any other political subdivision of the state;
- Prohibits an awarding body from requesting documentation of or considering a vendor's social, political, or ideological interests when determining if the vendor is a responsible vendor;
- Prohibits an awarding body from giving preference to vendors based upon their social, political, or ideological interests; and
- Requires that all solicitations for commodities or contractual services include a provision notifying vendors of these requirements.

We recommended that government entities consult with Legal Counsel about the new law, and review policies and procedures to ensure compliance with Section 287.05701.

OIG Tips and Trends # 2024-0002 – Prompt Payment for Public Construction Contracts – January 31, 2024

Effective July 1, 2023, Chapter 2023-134, Laws of Florida, amended the Local Government Prompt Payment Act, section 218.735, F.S..

The amendment:

- Requires developing a punch list and the cost for completion of construction services;
- Requires payment of of contract balance and retainage within 20 days of the punch list; and
- Reduces the invoice payment time from 45 days to 30 days, and the invoice dispute resolution process from 60 days to 45.

The law also amended section 255.0992, Florida Statutes, to change the definition of a "public works project" to include any activity paid for with any state-appropriated funds. The previous definition only included activities exceeding $1 million paid for with any state-appropriated funds.

We recommended that local government entities consult with Legal Counsel regarding policy revisions to comply with the law. Additionally, we recommended training personal on the requirements of the Local Government Prompt Payment act and the expanded definition of public works projects.

OIG Tips and Trends #2024-0003 (supersedes 2019-0001) – Invest Surplus Funds to Increase Revenue

This Tips and Trends offers guidance and suggestions to local governments when considering investment options for surplus funds and notifies governments of recent changes to the law. We suggested that local governments invest surplus funds in the investment options permitted by Florida law in order to increase revenue, adopt an investment policy to increase options available for investing surplus funds, and ensure investment decisions are based solely on pecuniary factors that appropriately reflect a prudent assessment of each factor's impact on risk or returns.

OIG Tips and Trends # 2024-0004 – Foreign Countries of Concern & Scrutinized Companies – June 2024

Effective July 1, 2025, Chapter 2023-33, Laws of Florida, created section 287.138 which prohibits a governmental entity from extending or renewing any contract with an entity owned, or controlled by a foreign country of concern, or whose principal place of business is located in a foreign country of concern. The law also states that, beginning January 1, 2024, the governmental entity may not accept a bid, proposal, or enter into a contract that would grant a business entity access to an individual's personal identifying information unless a signed affidavit from an officer of the company is received attesting that the entity is not owned, or controlled by a foreign country of concern, or whose principal place of business is located in a foreign country of concern.

We recommended that local governments review their policies and procedures, and make any necessary revisions to ensure they receive the required affidavits, attestations, or certifications requirecy by Chapter 287 and Chapter 288, F.S.

OIG Tips and Trends # 2024-0005 –Tangible Personal Property Owned by Local Governments – June 2024

On May 25, 2023, Chapter 2023-144, Laws of Florida was enacted and included a change to section 274.01 (1), F.S.. The definition of "Governmental Unit" was changed to include county agencies, municipalities, and special districts.

Chapter 274, F.S. provides that a governmental unit is primarily responsible for the supervision and control of its property; may acquire property by purchase or exchange; may classify as surplus its property that is obsolete, uneconomical, or serves no useful purpose, and may dispose of surplus property. Florida's Chief Financial Officer is responsible for establishing the requirements for the recording, the periodic review for inventory purposed, and the disposition of property.

We recommended that local governments compare the requirements of Chapter 274, F.S., with their charter provisions, ordinances, polices and procedures pertaining to tangible personal property. We als recommened seeking advice from Legal Counsel, and training staff on the requirements of the statute, especially if they are difference from current property policies and procedures.

OIG Tips and Trends # 2024-0007 –Exempt Purchases that deviate from the Competitive Solicitation Process – July 2024

This Tips and Trends focused on three common exemptions from competitive procurement: emergency purchases, piggybacking, and sole source purchases. The governing directives authorizing governmental entities to use non-competitive methods to acquire goods and services often define the terms "emergency purchase", "piggyback," or "sole source" purchase and set forth the specific circumstances justifying their use. The governmental entity should review its governing directives when evaluating whether a competitive solicitation is appropriate or whether the purchase qualifies for one of the exempt, non-competitive methods. We recommended that entities train staff on the requirements for competitive and non-competitive procurements, and that the records be maintained include supporting rationale and intent of exempt procurement decisions.

Appendix 3 – Prior Years' Significant Open Recommendations

The OIG has issued hundreds of recommendations since its creation in 2010, with 91% of these accepted, or pending implementation by management. This high acceptance/implementation rate reflects that OIG staff works with management to develop realistic and achievable recommendations that make good business sense for the improvement of government operations. The IG Ordinance requires the IG to report on significant recommendations described in previous annual reports for which corrective action has not been completed. We will continue to work with management in monitoring these recommendations.

The following lists these significant recommendations pending implementation:

Proposal for a Leon County Charter Amendment regarding the establishment of an Office of Inspector General

This proposal will reinforce transparency and accountability in the oversight of all aspects of county government in the areas of ethics, fraud, waste, abuse, mismanagement, misconduct and service deficiencies. It would also be the designated statutory agent to process whistleblower complaints, which otherwise is the County Administrator, according to F.S. 112.3187. Some guidelines for defining and establishing this office can be adapted from both the City of Tallahassee Office of Inspector General (OIG) and the Tallahassee Independent Ethics Board (IEB), but this proposal will improve on both of these models by addressing some deficiencies in the structure of each office to bring the OIG in more total compliance with the published national guidelines of the Association of Inspectors General.

Establishing the independence of this office, as stressed by the Association of Inspectors General, is of primary concern. To this end, I propose independent oversight of the OIG in the form of a Board of voluntary citizens who are electors of Leon County, but outside the command structure of County Government (that is, non-County employees, officers, or elected officials). This Board would be responsible for hiring a qualified and certified Inspector General for a designated term of office, supervising and annually evaluating performance to ensure compliance with established legal and policy guidelines, and termination for cause, if necessary, without interfering with the day-to-day operations of the office.

Similar to the structure of the Tallahassee Independent Ethics Board, each of the members of the OIG Board would be appointed by various local community leaders who are outside the command structure of Leon County government. As an example, at the city level, the Tallahassee City Charter designates these appointing parties to be: the FSU President, the FAMU President, the State Attorney, the Public Defender, the City Commission, with the final two members of the seven-member board to be appointed by the rest of the board. This process has been successful in maintaining the independence of the IEB over its ten-year life. In practice, though, there have been problems with filling vacant positions on the Board, possibly because the external appointing bodies don't have a strong natural incentive to take such a substantial role in city government. This has resulted in unfilled vacancies of up to two years or more over the span of the ten years that the IEB has been in existence.

To resolve this, it is proposed that the Leon County OIG Board be made up of an appointment by each of the Leon County constitutional officers: the Sheriff, the School Superintendent, the Supervisor of Elections, the Clerk of Courts, the Tax Collector, and the Property Appraiser. The seventh member (to avoid potential tie votes) would be appointed by the Board of County Commissioners. Although most of these offices are funded through County Government, they are operationally independent, since they are headed by independently elected officials. The exception here would be the School Superintendent, who is funded by the School Board, a separate taxing authority. A possible alternative appointing body to the Superintendent might be the Tallahassee City Commission, who of course is also not funded through County Government, but maintains a symbiotic relationship through various interlocal agreements.

Another deficiency with the Tallahassee Independent Ethics Office is that its scope is restricted by the very limited scope of the Tallahassee Ethics Code, which is entirely under the control of the Tallahassee City Commission. The scope of the proposed Leon County OIG would be much broader, as laid out in great detail by the Principles and Standards for Offices of Inspectors General, as published and revised regularly by the Association of Inspectors General: https://inspectorsgeneral.org/wp-content/uploads/2025/10/Principles-and-Standards-for-OIGs-Eff-July-1-2024_Download.pdf).

At the city level, the OIG and the Ethics Office remain two separate offices. This a somewhat arbitrary arrangement that came about primarily because the Independent Ethics Board was established prior to the creation of the Office of Inspector General. Since its creation the Inspector General has agreed to turn over all issues related to the Ethics Code to the IEB. This has resulted in some confusion with the public regarding the respective jurisdictions of each office, with each maintaining a separate hot line and web site for the receipt of complaints.

The mission of the proposed Leon County Office of Inspector General, like most such offices nation-wide, should encompass prevention and detection of fraud, waste, and abuse; promotion of efficient and effective use of public resources; and promotion of public integrity. This would include ensuring compliance with the Leon County Ethics Code, taking that role out from under the County Administrator.

At the city level, the IEB is a quasi-judicial body when it sits in judgement of alleged infractions of the Ethics Code, which is defined by the City Commission, as are the penalties. They are also in practice entirely reactive, in that they act only in response to sworn complaints. Since the scope of the OIG would be much broader, and the OIG Board would be comprised of volunteer citizens in order to maintain independence, it is recommended that, like the Tallahassee OIG, the Leon County OIG have no assigned enforcement powers. Its role would be entirely investigative, acting in response to sworn complaints, as well as conducting its own schedule of audits. Their work product would be in the form of reports to County management and, separately, to the public, as well as referral of all discovered criminal infractions to the appropriate law enforcement agencies.

Although the City of Tallahassee OIG has a broader range of oversight than the IEB, it lacks the necessary independence that is a critical component of an Office of Inspector General. A City Charter Amendment that was passed in 2024 improved its relative independence by making it more difficult to terminate the IG for political reasons, but it left the IG as an appointee of the City Commission and under its supervision. The proposed structure of the Leon County OIG Board would not have this problem.

One final provision for this proposed Office of Inspector General would be to include legal counsel independent of both the County Administrator and the County Attorney, which would also help to bring it in total compliance with the national standards of the Association of Inspectors General. This would be especially important in the event of the IG pursuing a whistleblower case against the city, in order to prevent conflicts of interest.

It is also recommended that the jurisdiction of the OIG be at least potentially extended to those members of the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency Board and staff who are listed on the Leon County payroll. This last point may be the most logistically difficult to implement, since it may require an amendment to the interlocal agreement with the City of Tallahassee, but the Charter Amendment could be written as to be contingent on such an agreement.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At the direction of the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item presents a draft policy. This item considers a policy recommendation to the Leon County Board of County Commissioners encouraging Leon County to work with the City of Tallahassee to align street renaming policies and procedures to prevent public safety and emergency services-related issues due to lack of uniformity among street names.

At its November 6, 2025 meeting, the Committee received analysis for consideration in evaluating whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing county ordinances to supersede municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict (Attachment #1). The November 6th analysis presented detailed Leon County's authority as a charter county as derived from Article VIII, Section 1(g) of the Florida Constitution (Constitution). This section of the Constitution requires county charters to specify whether county or municipal ordinances prevail in the event of a conflict. Currently, Section 1.6 of Leon County's Charter, "Relation to Municipal Ordinances", provides that municipal ordinances prevail over county ordinances in the event of any conflict within municipal boundaries, with the exception for countywide minimum environmental regulations as set forth under Section 1.6.(2) of the Charter.

At that time, the Committee requested additional information and analysis including examples of existing or potential regulatory conflicts from differing county and city ordinances which were presented at the Committee's November 20, 2025 meeting. Among the examples provided in the November 20th analysis was the differing standards for street renaming as set forth by the County and City's respective street renaming ordinances. As previously reported to the Committee, regulatory uniformity of street renaming supports consistent naming across segments of roadways and chronological numbering of addresses countywide which is critical to ensuring accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property countywide. With these considerations in mind, this issue was presented as one example of countywide regulatory uniformity that the Committee may wish to consider when determining whether county ordinances should prevail when a conflict exists.

Following discussion, the Committee requested additional information on options to unify the street renaming process outside of a charter amendment. As reported in the item presented at the December 4, 2025 meeting, the City of Tallahassee made a deliberate policy decision to adopt its own street renaming ordinance so the County cannot compel a unified street renaming procedure without an amendment to the County Charter. At that time, the Committee requested that staff provide a draft policy recommendation encouraging the BOCC to work with the City of Tallahassee to encourage alignment of street renaming policies to prevent public safety and emergency services-related issues due to lack of uniformity among street names.

Analysis:

Per the Committee's request, staff has prepared the following draft policy recommendation encouraging the County to work with the City of Tallahassee toward aligning the street renaming policies and procedures to prevent public safety and emergency services-related issues due to lack of uniformity among street names:

> The Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee encourages Leon County to work with the City of Tallahassee to align street renaming policies and procedures to prevent public safety and emergency services-related issues due to lack of uniformity among street names.

Upon approval by a simple majority vote of the Committee, the proposed policy recommendation will be included in the status report on the Committee's actions to be presented to the BOCC in March 2026 as well as the Committee's Final Report to be presented in August 2026.

Options:

1. Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging unified street renaming policies and procedures.
2. Do not approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging unified street renaming policies and procedures.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item provides proposed charter amendment language revising the Preamble of the Charter to reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County.

At its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested information on county charters that include a bill of rights. The topic was proposed alongside a distribution of a proposed "Leon County Bill of Rights" for consideration by the Committee. On January 22, 2026, the requested item was presented to the Committee. Following discussion on concerns related to enforceability, sovereign immunity, and potential conflicts with state and federal law, the Committee provided direction to express shared community values and suggested revising the Preamble to reflect "the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County."

This item provides proposed charter amendment language revising the Preamble of the Charter to reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County.

Analysis:

Per the Committee's request, proposed charter amendment language revising the Preamble of the Charter to reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County is provided below.

Recognizing that the Preamble serves as an introduction and broadly reflects what the Charter seeks to achieve, it does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for the county government. With this in mind, the following proposed language incorporates affirmation of esteemed humanity of all residents as a guiding aspiration of the document:

> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our public affairs. ~~and~~ In order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, we do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

In addition, potential ballot language has been prepared for both versions of the proposed charter amendment as reflected in Table #1 below. The proposed ballot titles and ballot language reflected in Table #1 would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #1. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language: Affirmation of Human Dignity

Proposed Ballot Title

Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Preamble of the Leon County Home Rule Charter be amended to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents by affirming shared dignity that is inherent and deserving of consideration in public affairs, while preserving the Charter's existing framework for local self-governance and citizen empowerment?

A simple majority is needed to recommend a Charter Amendment to the Board of County Commissioners. A status report on the Committee's recommendation(s) will be provided to the Board at its regularly scheduled meeting on March 10, 2026. Upon approval by a simple majority vote of the Board, public hearings will be scheduled in June and July 2026, for the Committee to take public input and formally consider the proposed Charter amendments. The outcome of public hearings will be reflected in the Committee's final report to the Board in August 2026.

Options:

1. Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners, revising the Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County.
2. Do not proceed with a charter amendment.

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee, this item provides a proposed amendment to the Leon County Charter with ballot language to establish an affordable housing trust fund in the Charter.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Approve a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item provides a proposed amendment to the Leon County Charter with ballot language to establish an affordable housing trust fund in the Charter (Attachment #1).

On January 8, 2025, the Committee received an analysis of all available funding sources being utilized by Leon County to invest in affordable housing (general revenue, infrastructure surtax, grants, and bond financing). Specifically, the analysis detailed how these revenues are being strategically invested to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community including the County's existing affordable housing trust fund, programs, and services (Attachment #2). Most importantly, the item explained that the County Commission has the policy and budgetary authority to address affordable housing without the need for a charter change. During the meeting, Mr. Max Herrle distributed a handout outlining a potential charter amendment and ballot language on affordable housing (Attachment #3). At that time, the Committee requested staff to review the handout distributed by Mr. Herrle and to prepare proposed charter amendment and ballot language and other related recommendations to support affordable housing.

The following analysis presents a proposed charter amendment for consideration that is similar to language adopted in other charter counties. This similar proposed charter amendment would generally memorialize the broad discretion that the County Commission already has to establish and implement a trust fund dedicated to affordable housing. Subsequently, an analysis of the proposed charter amendment presented by Mr. Herrle is provided. Mr. Herrle's proposed amendment includes the requirement that a portion of future (no sooner than 2040) County infrastructure surtax funding be obligated to fund affordable housing. For many years, the County has utilized its share of the infrastructure sales tax funds to support transportation improvements and roadway resurfacing projects. The County Commission recently rejected a similar proposal to redirect a portion of its share of the infrastructure surtax for affordable housing and instead increased its general revenue support and partnered with the City to utilize the economic development portion of the surtax for affordable housing needs in the community.

As previously stated, the County Commission currently has the authority and actively addresses affordable housing needs through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. The County Charter provides for the structure, organization, and authority of County government and, notably, does not express specific policy priorities which are instead achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. Therefore, rather than a proposed charter amendment, an alternative option available to the Committee is to adopt a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community. Upon approval by the Committee, this policy recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report to the Board.

Analysis:

Leon County is dedicated to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing. To address the highest affordable housing need of rental units in the community, over just the past five years the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months (Attachment #4).

Most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. County charters, generally, set forth the governing authority, structure, and power of a county government. Accordingly, Leon County's Charter does not express specific policy priorities which are otherwise achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. Only four of the 20 charter counties include affordable housing provisions which generally memorialize the existing broad discretion of the county commissions to establish and implement a trust fund dedicated to affordable housing. Leon County already has an existing affordable housing trust fund in place in Chapter 8, Article V of the Code of Laws of Leon County (Code), Florida; therefore, a charter amendment would only highlight the Board's existing authority.

Proposed Charter Amendment

As requested by the Committee, a proposed charter amendment and ballot language (provided in Attachment #1) were developed which would establish the affordable housing trust fund in the County Charter. Similar to language adopted in the other four county charters, the proposed charter amendment does not require an annual minimal financial commitment or prioritize a type of affordable housing program (e.g., home ownership, rental, rehabilitation) due to continuously evolving housing needs and trends specific to Leon County. In addition, the charter amendment maintains the County Commission's explicit authority to determine the appropriate revenue source(s) for an affordable housing trust fund (i.e., general revenue, grants, sales tax, etc.) as part of the annual budget process.

The proposed ballot title and ballot language reflected in Table #1 would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #1. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Leon County Charter Amendment Establishing An Affordable Housing Trust Fund
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Leon County Charter be amended to establish an Affordable Housing Trust Fund to preserve and increase the stock of affordable housing in the community which may be funded by revenue sources as directed by the County Commission?

Should the Committee wish to move forward with a charter amendment, the proposed language in Table #1 is consistent with the four county charters that include affordable housing provisions and would provide the County Commission the continued authority that already exists to address and invest in the changing affordable housing needs in the community.

Mr. Herrle's Proposed Charter Amendment

As mentioned earlier, Mr. Herrle distributed a handout outlining potential charter amendment language on affordable housing. The proposal includes the following:

- Creation of a Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund to be used exclusively to support rental or homeownership programs for households at or below 50% of the area median income (AMI).
- Creation of an Executive Director position for the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund.
- Obligate a minimum of five percent (5%) of sales tax revenues dedicated to the County from a future infrastructure sales surtax to be allocated to the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund. The current infrastructure surtax expires on December 31, 2039 so the earliest that funding would be available, subject to voter approval to extend the tax, is 2040.
- Transfer of all state and federal housing grants awarded to the County into the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund.
- Transfer of net proceeds from the sale, lease, conveyance, or transfer of County-owned real property into the fund.
- Creation of a "Board of Trustees" to provide public oversight and recommendations regarding the administration, management, and budget of the proposed affordable housing trust fund and to conduct and publish an annual audit of the fund.

Creation of a Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund & Executive Director Position

The primary component of Mr. Herrle's proposed charter amendment is to create a Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund to support rental or homeownership programs exclusively for households at or below 50% of AMI. All proceeds related to affordable housing funds would be directed to this Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund. As explained in the following sections, these proceeds include state and federal grants, a portion of future sales tax funds, and proceeds from the sale, lease, conveyance or transfer of County-owned real property. Additionally, as presented in the January 8th item to the Committee, the County already utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including state funding dedicated to affordable housing; federal grants; general revenue (property taxes); bond financing; and the economic development portion of the one-cent infrastructure surtax.

Mr. Herrle's proposal would also create an Executive Director position for the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund. The County Commission would be required to establish a hiring and termination process for the Executive Director by ordinance. However, the proposed charter amendment does not provide any additional information on the purpose, function, or responsibilities of the position.
Most importantly, the County has an existing Housing Services Manager who leads the County's Housing Services Division and is responsible for:

- Administering and overseeing all County Housing Programs including Down Payment Assistance, Emergency Home Repair, Home Rehabilitation, Home Replacement, Homeownership Development, and Rental Development.

- Overseeing the County's existing Affordable Housing Trust Fund which is the primary revenue source of the County's Housing Programs.
- Staffing the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee, which is the statutorily established citizen committee responsible for making recommendations to the County Commission on affordable housing policies and programs.
- Staffing the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County, which is the statutorily established citizen committee responsible for alleviating the shortage of affordable housing primarily through capital investment and bond financing.
- Serving as the State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) Administrator for the County which requires developing, managing, implementing, and reporting on programs invested with the County's SHIP funding (the primary revenue source for County programs).
- Submitting annual reports to the State on the County's investment in SHIP funding in programs and services that are providing housing to low-income households.
- Meeting regularly with community stakeholders including the City of Tallahassee, Tallahassee Housing Authority, Tallahassee Lenders Consortium, and Habitat for Humanity to collaborate, coordinate, and maximize affordable housing resources.
- Applying for additional grant funding opportunities to preserve and increase the stock of affordable housing in the community.

The Division is part of the County's Office of Human Services and Community Partnership (HSCP) which also includes human services, healthcare services, and Veteran services. This current organizational structure creates a synergy with the County programs and services dedicated to reducing poverty and improving the quality of life of the most vulnerable populations in the community.

Obligation of Future Infrastructure Sales Tax Revenues

The proposed charter amendment would require a minimum of five percent (5%) of sales tax revenues dedicated to the County from a future infrastructure sales surtax to be allocated to the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund. The current infrastructure surtax expires on December 31, 2039, so the earliest that funding would be available, subject to voter approval to extend the tax, is 2040. As further detailed in this section, the Board recently rejected a similar proposal to divert a portion of the County's current infrastructure tax from critical transportation needs for affordable housing. Instead, the Board more than doubled its investment in affordable housing with general revenue and in partnership with the City to utilize the economic development portion of the surtax for affordable housing needs in the community.

Pursuant to an interlocal agreement with the City of Tallahassee which established the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (Blueprint), the majority of the infrastructure surtax is allocated for Blueprint and economic development/Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) projects. Additionally, the County and City are each allocated small portions of the surtax for infrastructure improvements. According to Section 212.055(2)(d), Florida Statutes, the primary purpose of the infrastructure surtax is to finance, plan, and construct infrastructure. Florida Statutes explicitly allows the infrastructure portion of the surtax to be expended for affordable housing but only for land acquisition (See section 212.055(2)(d)1.e., Florida Statutes). As a result, infrastructure funding is prohibited from supporting the construction of affordable housing or assisting with gaps in financing which are the greatest financial needs according to affordable housing developers.

Additionally, up to 15% of the surtax proceeds can be utilized for the purpose of funding economic development projects having a general public purpose of improving local economies. See section 212.055(2)(d)3, Florida Statutes. Florida Statutes does not restrict the economic development portion of the surtax to land acquisition for affordable housing and, therefore, provides greater local autonomy to invest in such projects. The County does not receive a portion of the economic development funds which provide greater flexibility to support affordable housing needs. As a result, Mr. Herrle's charter amendment, which is specific to future infrastructure funding dedicated to the County, would limit the use of funds to the purchase of land for affordable housing and would not address the greatest financial needs (i.e., construction funding and financing gaps). Further, the availability of future sales tax funds would be subject to voter approval to extend the tax beyond December 31, 2039.

By interlocal agreement, the County is currently allocated a fixed annual amount of infrastructure surtax funds for water quality projects (septic to sewer), 2% for rural infrastructure (street lights, stormwater improvements, etc.) and 10% for intersection improvements and the County's roadway resurfacing program. The resurfacing program ensures that approximately 600 miles of core County roadway infrastructure is safe for motorists. In January 2025, in response to a request by Capital Area Justice Ministry to redirect a portion of the County's 10% allocation for transportation and resurfacing to support affordable housing, the Board voted not to reallocate the infrastructure surtax funds. Instead, in May 2025, the Blueprint Board, which is comprised of the County and City Commissions, established and funded an affordable housing gap financing program in the amount of $250,000 annually through the OEV portion of the one-cent surtax.

As previously described, the economic development portion of the surtax provides greater flexibility to invest in affordable housing and is utilized in other local communities in Florida. The program was established with annual OEV funding to provide gap financing to affordable rental development that dedicate units to very low (50% or below AMI) and extremely low-income households (30% or below AMI). Therefore, the proposed charter amendment would be inconsistent with the recent actions taken by the Board to fund affordable housing needs.

Transfer of all state and federal housing grants into the Trust Fund

The primary funding source of the County's housing program is the State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP). SHIP is state funding dedicated to affordable housing and allocated to local governments. Florida Statutes requires that local governments establish a trust fund exclusively for SHIP funding. The commingle of other revenue sources is prohibited and could lead to the suspension of SHIP funding. Additionally, the County regularly applies for federal funding for affordable housing. Federal rules and regulations also require federal funding to be deposited in separate and exclusive trust funds. Therefore, the transfer of state and federal housing grants into the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund would violate Florida Statutes as well as federal rules and regulations.

Transfer net proceeds into the Trust Fund

Mr. Herrle's proposed charter amendment would also require the transfer of the net proceeds from the sale, lease, conveyance, or transfer of County-owned real property into the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund. This would be inconsistent with the County's current policy and the interlocal agreement between the County and the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County (HFA).

A common and best practice adopted by local governments, including the County, is to dedicate the proceeds from the sale of properties to affordable housing programs and services. Pursuant to the County's Real Estate Policy and interlocal agreement with the HFA, when the County sells property deemed suitable for affordable housing, the proceeds from the sale are provided to the HFA to invest in affordable housing programs and services. As detailed in the next section, the HFA is a special dependent district of the County, established by the Board to alleviate the shortage of affordable housing primarily through capital investment and bond financing.

The proceeds provided to the HFA are a major source of funding of the County's Emergency Home Repair Program which offers aid to low-income homeowners in need of immediate and dire repairs to their homes. This program is a critical part of the County's Housing services and recognizes that the best way to create affordable housing and prevent homelessness is to ensure that people are able to stay in their homes. Over the past five years, the proceeds from the sale of County properties have generated $672,000 to the HFA for the Emergency Home Repair Program, which has assisted 63 homeowners. These funds have also supported events such as the County's Annual Home Expo and provided match funding for bond financing of affordable rental development projects.

Creation of a Board of Trustees for the Trust Fund and Independent Annual Audit

The proposed charter amendment presented by Mr. Herrle would create an Affordable Housing Citizen Advisory Committee known as a Board of Trustees to provide public oversight and recommendations regarding the administration, management and budget of the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund. The Board of Trustees would be comprised of seven (7) members appointed by the County Commission. The proposed Board of Trustees is very similar to existing citizen committees already established by the Board for affordable housing.

The County currently has two citizen committees that provide oversight and recommendations regarding the County's programs and investments for affordable housing: the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee (AHAC) and the HFA. As previously mentioned, SHIP is the primary source of funding for Leon County's housing programs. Florida Statutes requires each jurisdiction that receives SHIP funding to create an AHAC that submits an annual report of recommendations. As established in Florida Statutes, the AHAC is comprised of at least eight but no more than 11 Leon County citizens appointed by the Board that represent various organizations and industries.

The AHAC's main responsibility is to review the County's established policies and procedures, ordinances, land development regulations, and the comprehensive plan to recommend specific actions or initiatives which encourage or facilitate development of affordable housing while protecting the ability of property to appreciate in value.

The HFA was established by Board pursuant to Florida Statutes and Code to alleviate the shortage of affordable housing primarily through capital investment and bond financing. The HFA is comprised of seven Board-appointed members with expertise in finance, law, and housing development. As mentioned earlier, in addition to capital investment and bond financing, the HFA partners with the County on providing emergency housing repair for low-income households and the sale or lease of County-owned parcels deemed suitable for affordable housing with net proceeds provided to the HFA for affordable housing activities.

Mr. Herrle's proposal would create a third citizen committee focused on affordable housing in addition to the statutorily established AHAC and HFA. Furthermore, the Board of Trustees would be narrowly focused on oversight and recommendations regarding the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund.

Mr. Herrle's proposed charter amendment also requires the County to publish annual reports on the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund and provide an annual independent audit. As mentioned earlier, pursuant to Florida Statutes, the AHAC submits an annual report to the Board with recommendations on enhancing the County's efforts to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing. Additionally, Florida Statues requires the County to submit annual reports on SHIP. The report includes all SHIP revenues and expenditures as well as the demographic data on the clients served. The formulation and administration of the County's affordable housing programs and investments also include measures for financial accountability. Consistent with Florida Statutes, the County's existing affordable housing trust fund undergoes annual audits, coordinated by the Clerk of Court, to ensure that all the County's purpose-driven funds are evaluated for financial transparency and legal compliance in accordance with Generally Accepted Government Auditing Standards.

In summary, Mr. Herrle's proposed charter amendment is not recommended for the following reasons:

- The County Commission recently rejected a similar proposal to divert a portion of the County's current infrastructure surtax from critical transportation needs to affordable housing and instead increased its general revenue support and partnered with the City to utilize the OEV portion of the infrastructure surtax for affordable housing.
- Pursuant to Florida Statutes, allocating a portion of the County's infrastructure surtax would be restricted to land purchases for affordable housing and therefore would not address the greatest financial need (i.e., financing construction) for development.
- The current infrastructure surtax expires on December 31, 2039, so the earliest the sales funds would be available, subject to voter approval to extend the tax, is 2040. An extensive community-driven process, including the appointment of a citizen committee, will be utilized to examine and prioritize project needs at that time to make recommendations to the County and City Commission before placing the sales tax extension referendum on the ballot for voter approval.
- Creates a new Executive Director position for the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund. However, the County has an existing Housing Services Manager that administers and oversees the County's Housing Program including the existing Affordable Housing Trust Fund.

- The transfer of state and federal housing grants into the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund would violate Florida Statutes as well as federal rules and regulations.
- The transfer of the net proceeds from the sale, lease, conveyance, or transfer of County-owned real property into the Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund is inconsistent with the County's policy and interlocal agreement with the HFA.
- The County has two statutorily established citizen committees that are addressing affordable housing and the proposal would create a third citizen committee.
- In accordance with Florida Statutes, the County already develops and submits annual reports on affordable housing expenditures to the State and undergoes annual independent audits by the Clerk of Courts.

Conclusion

The County Commission currently has the authority and actively addresses affordable housing needs through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. As a result, to address the highest affordable housing need in the community, just over the past five years, the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months. In addition, recently the Board more than doubled the County's investment in affordable housing gap financing which will lead to the development of more affordable housing dedicated to low-income individuals and families in the community.

Most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing since charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. However, as requested by the Committee, a proposed charter amendment is provided for the Committee's consideration which would establish the affordable housing trust fund in the County Charter. Similar to the four county charters that include affordable housing provisions, the proposed charter amendment generally memorializes the broad discretion that the County Commission already has to establish and implement a trust fund dedicated to affordable housing.

As mentioned earlier, the County already has and is implementing an affordable housing trust fund. Should the Committee wish to move forward, the proposed amendment would provide the County Commission with the continued authority that already exists to address and invest in the changing affordable housing needs in the community.
A simple majority is needed to recommend a charter amendment to the Board of County Commissioners. A status report on the Committee's recommendation(s) will be provided to the Board at its regularly scheduled meeting on March 10, 2026. Upon approval by a simple majority of the Board, public hearings will be scheduled in June and July 2026, for the Committee to take public input and formally consider the proposed Charter amendments. The outcome of public hearings will be reflected in the Committee's final report to the Board in August 2026.

As requested by the Committee, this item also provides an analysis of the proposed charter amendment presented by Mr. Herrle at the January 8, 2026, meeting. As detailed, the proposed charter amendment to establish a Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund is inconsistent with recent actions taken by the Board as well as current County policies, interlocal agreement with the HFA, Florida Statutes, and federal rules and regulations. Therefore, the proposed charter amendment proposed by Mr. Herrle is not recommended.

Alternatively, the Committee could provide a policy recommendation rather than a charter amendment. The County Charter provides for the structure, organization, and authority of County government. The County Charter does not express specific policy priorities which are achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption.

Given the Board's commitment to affordable housing reflected in the County's adopted policies, established programs, standing committees, dedicated staffing, committed funding, long-term agreements, and significant community partnerships, the Committee may determine that a policy recommendation is more appropriate. The policy recommendation would encourage the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community through its existing authority. The policy recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's final report.

Options:

1. Approve a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community.
2. Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to establish an Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the Leon County Charter (Attachment #1).
3. Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to establish a Very Low-Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund, obligate 2040 infrastructure sales tax funds, and create a Board of Trustees and Executive Director position as proposed by Mr. Herrle (Attachment #2).
4. Committee direction.

Proposed Charter Amendment

Sec. 1.10. - Leon County Affordable Housing Trust Fund.

(1) Leon County Affordable Housing Trust Fund established. The Leon County Affordable Housing Trust Fund ("Trust Fund") is hereby established.

(2) Purposes of Trust Fund. The purpose of the Trust Fund is to provide a continuing, non-lapsing fund for the Leon County Commission to use to address the need for affordable housing within Leon County. The Trust Fund will be used to create and sustain affordable housing throughout Leon County for renters and homeowners and increase housing opportunities for very low and extremely low-income households.

(3) Revenue sources. The Trust Fund established under this section shall be funded as directed by the County Commission, and may be comprised of the following sources:

A. Leon County General Revenue appropriated to the Trust Fund by the County Commission as part of the annual budget;

B. Funds voluntarily contributed by municipalities that may elect to participate in the Trust Fund and programs funded by the Trust Fund;

C. Grants or donations of money, property, or any other thing of value made to the Trust Fund;

D. Mandatory or voluntary payments, including but not limited to fees from new commercial and residential development, made pursuant to the development policies established by ordinance; and

E. Other sources as established by ordinance.

(4) Continuing Nature of Trust Fund. Unless otherwise provided by ordinance or required by applicable law, unspent portions of the Trust Fund established under this section, repayments of principal and interest on loans provided from the Trust Fund, and interest earned from the deposit or investment of monies from the Trust Fund:

A. Shall remain in the Trust Fund to be used exclusively for the purposes of the Trust Fund;

B. Do not revert to the general revenues of the County; and

C. Any appropriations do not lapse.

(5) Administration and Oversight of Trust Fund. The Trust Fund shall be administered, appropriated, and expended by the County Commission in a manner consistent with the purposes of the Trust Fund as set forth in this section. The Trust Fund shall be administered in a manner that allows the Trust Fund to leverage other sources of public funds and private investment. The Trust Fund shall be included in the annual audit.

(6) Implementation by Ordinance. No later than March 31, 2027, the County Commission shall adopt one or more ordinances implementing the provisions of this section, which ordinances may be amended from time to time by the County Commission consistent with the provisions of this section.

Proposed Ballot Title

Leon County Charter Amendment Establishing An Affordable Housing Trust Fund

Proposed Ballot Language

Shall the Leon County Charter be amended to establish an Affordable Housing Trust Fund to preserve and increase the stock of affordable housing in the community which may be funded by revenue sources as directed by the County Commission?

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item

December 18, 2025

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Funding Mechanisms for Affordable Housing

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Human Services & Community Partnerships Jelani Marks, Housing Services Manager

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Committee at its December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides information on funding available to the County to support affordable housing needs and highlights the County's commitment and continued strategic investment to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community. As presented in the item, the County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including general revenue (property taxes), infrastructure surtax (sales tax), grants, and bond financing.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee, this item provides information on funding available to the County for affordable housing and highlights the County's commitment and continued strategic investment to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community. During its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested further information on funding mechanisms available to the County to support affordable housing to determine whether to consider a proposed charter amendment.

Leon County is dedicated to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing. To address the highest affordable housing need of rental units in the community, over just the past five years the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months. As presented in the item, the County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including state funding dedicated to affordable housing; federal grants; general revenue (property taxes); infrastructure surtax (sales tax); and bond financing. These revenues support a variety of affordable housing programs and services such as down payment assistance, emergency home repair, home rehabilitation, homeownership development, and rental development that are increasing and preserving the stock affordable housing. The Analysis section details the County's long history of commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community through County-led policies, programs, partnerships, and investments.

As subsequently presented, most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. Only four of the 20 charter counties include affordable housing provisions that generally memorialize the broad discretion and authority already available to county commissions. As demonstrated in the Analysis, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the authority and actively addresses affordable housing needs through its policy, programming and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

The state and federal governments define affordable housing as housing that costs no more than 30% of the household's total income. Households that must spend more than 30% of their total income for housing expenses are considered "cost burdened". According to the Shimberg Center for Housing Studies at the University of Florida (Shimberg Center), approximately 59% of low-income households (earning 80% or less of area median income; $74,000 or less for a family of four) in Leon County are considered cost burdened. In response, the County has prioritized increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing through policies, partnerships, and investments for low-income households. The following sections provide an overview of County-led programs, policies, partnerships, and investment of various funding sources to address affordable housing needs in the community.

Leon County Housing Programs

Leon County's Housing Services Division administers a wide variety of programs designed to create and maintain affordable homeownership and rental opportunities for low-income individuals and families. The County's programs include the following:

- Down Payment Assistance: The County's First-Time Homebuyer Assistance program which provides low- to moderate-income first-time homebuyers with financial assistance for down payment and closing costs associated with the purchase of a home in unincorporated Leon County.
- Emergency Home Repair: The County's Emergency Home Repair Program aids low-income homeowners in need of immediate and dire repairs to their homes such as roof leaks and septic tank pump outs in unincorporated Leon County.
- Home Rehabilitation: The County's Rehabilitation/Replacement program funds major repairs including full home replacements to preserve affordable homeownership for existing low-income households.
- Homeownership Development: The County's Homeownership Development Program provides funding to developers to pay down the development costs associated with the construction of new homes to reduce the purchase cost for low-income first-time homebuyers in unincorporated Leon County and within the City of Tallahassee (City) limits. This program includes partnership with the City to build new homes in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities (Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City).
- Rental Development: The County's Rental Development Program provides funding to rental developers primarily in the form of gap financing for projects that construct or rehabilitate units dedicated to low-income housing households in unincorporated Leon County and within the City limits. This program includes partnership with the City to construct and rehabilitate rental projects countywide.
- Clear Title Services: In partnership with Legal Services of North Florida, the County provides title clearing services to low-income County residents experiencing issues with heirs' property. Heirs' property refers to property inherited without clear legal ownership.

Leon County's State and Federal Funding Partnerships

The primary and dedicated funding source of the County's housing program is the State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) which is allocated by the State of Florida annually. SHIP funds are generated from the Documentary Stamp Tax (Doc Stamp Tax), appropriated by the Florida Legislature, and administered and distributed by the Florida Housing Finance Corporation (FHFC) to local governments (counties and cities) based on population size. The City is also allocated annual SHIP funds. As a result, the County programs are generally dedicated to affordable housing projects outside the City limits except for the Homeownership and Rental Development programs as previously described. Over the past five years, the County has received an average of $840,000 annually in SHIP funds; the City has received an average of $1.7 million during the same period.

Posted on September 8, 2026

In addition to SHIP, the County regularly seeks other funding opportunities to expand and maintain access to affordable housing for the residents of Leon County. In January 2025, the County applied for and was awarded $750,000 in federal Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) from the State to enhance the County's home rehabilitation program. This will allow the County to perform major repairs to the homes of an additional 13 low-income households over the next three years. It is important to note that due to its population size, the City is designated as an "entitlement community", and as a result receives annual federal CDBG funding in the amount of $1.9 million for housing directly from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. The great majority of local governments in Florida exclusively utilize SHIP and CDBG to fund affordable housing programs.

Other Funding Sources Leveraged for the County's Investment in Affordable Housing

Recognizing the significant need in the community and limited funding provided at the federal and state levels, the County continuously identifies opportunities and resources to enhance its investment and commitment to preserve and increase the stock of affordable housing for low-income residents. As summarized below, these include proceeds from the sales of County owned properties, bond financing through the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County, and local revenue sources (i.e., general revenue and infrastructure surtax).

- Sales of County-Owned Properties: A common and best practice adopted by local governments, including the County, is to dedicate the proceeds from the sale of properties to affordable housing programs and services. Florida Statutes require that at least every three years each county prepare an inventory of county-owned property deemed suitable for affordable housing by the Board. Pursuant to the County's Real Estate Policy, when the County sells a property deemed suitable for affordable housing, the proceeds from the sale are provided to the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County (HFA) to invest in affordable housing programs and services. As detailed in the next section, the HFA is a special dependent district of the County, established by the Board to alleviate the shortage of affordable housing (primarily rental) through capital investment and bond financing.

  The proceeds provided to the HFA are a major source of funding of the County's Emergency Home Repair Program which as described earlier offers aid to low-income homeowners in need of immediate and dire repairs to their homes. Over the past five years, the proceeds from the sale of County properties have generated $672,000 to the HFA for the Emergency Home Repair Program which has assisted 63 homeowners.

- Bond Financing: According to the Shimberg Center, the highest affordable housing need in Leon County is affordable rental units for very low-income households earning 50% or less of the Area Median Income (AMI) ($46,000 for a household of four). As mentioned earlier, the Board established the HFA specifically to address the need for affordable rental developments. Pursuant to state law, counties are authorized to establish housing finance authorities which can issue bonds upon approval of the Board. Bonds are a significant component (50% - 60%) of funding for the construction of affordable housing rental projects that also typically include federal tax credits and private loans.

  As a result, the County actively partners with the HFA to secure and issue tax-exempt, multifamily housing revenue bonds made available through the State to finance projects that construct affordable rental developments for low-income households. Over the past five years, in addition to $5.8 million in direct funding, the County has authorized the HFA to issue approximately $195 million in bond financing that has or will develop more than 1,200 affordable rental units over the next 12-18 months. Additionally, within the past several months the Board has authorized the HFA to secure a total of $100 million in additional bond allocation from the State. The bonds will be utilized to fund additional affordable rental projects in Leon County that dedicate units for very low-income households over the next two years (2026 and 2027).

- Local Revenues for Affordable Rental Housing Gap Financing: Building on its effort and commitment to addressing the highest affordable housing need in the community, the County very recently enhanced its investment in gap financing for rental development projects with the utilization of existing local revenue (general revenue and infrastructure surtax). As mentioned earlier, the County's Rental Development program provides gap financing for projects that construct or rehabilitate units dedicated to low-income housing households in unincorporated Leon County and within the City limits. A gap in financing occurs when construction costs exceed the traditional revenue (bonds, tax credits, private loans) of rental development projects. In recent years, local governments have provided gap financing to ensure the successful completion of such projects.

  Over the past several years, the County in partnership with the City has utilized one-time COVID-19 related federal funding to provide gap financing for affordable rental projects that have since been exhausted. As mentioned earlier, the County provided $5.8 million in direct funding which was primarily one-time federal dollars. SHIP funds have also been utilized for rental development; however, Florida Statutes limits the amount of annual SHIP funds that can be invested into rental projects (no more than 25%).

  In order to address the exhaustion of federal funds, limitation of the SHIP program, and the need for more rental development in the community, the County recently increased its annual investment in rental development projects. In June 2025, the Board approved $250,000 in general revenue annually for gap financing of affordable housing projects for very low- and extremely low-income households. This additional investment in general revenue to support affordable housing is recurring, subject to Board approval during the annual budget process.

  Additionally, the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (IA) Board, which is comprised of the County and City Commissions, established and funded an affordable housing gap financing program in the amount of $250,000 annually through the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) portion of the one-cent infrastructure surtax (sales tax). As approved by the voters of Leon County, the surtax is utilized to invest in countywide infrastructure projects and economic development activities. The utilization of the one-cent infrastructure tax for affordable housing is consistent with several other local governments in Florida including the counties of Alachua, Collier, Palm Beach, Pinellas, and Sarasota. As a result of the recent actions taken by the Board, the County's annual investment in rental development projects for gap financing increased to $500,000 with the combination of SHIP, general revenue, and the County's share of OEV funds.

- Property Tax Exemption for Affordable Housing Projects: In addition to the various funding sources the County utilizes to invest in affordable housing, in early 2026 the Board is scheduled to consider establishing a property tax exemption for affordable housing projects that could result in additional rental units in the community. Pursuant to Florida Statutes, local governments (counties and cities) are authorized to create a property tax exemption for rental developments with at least 50 units that set aside apartments for low-income households and meet other statutory criteria. Staff will bring an agenda item to the Board in January to consider a draft ordinance establishing the property tax exemption for affordable housing projects.

Review of Affordable Housing Provisions in County Charters

Statewide, most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. Only four of the 20 charter counties provide for the establishment of an affordable housing trust fund for funding homeownership and/or rental housing programs: Alachua, Brevard, Broward, and Orange Counties (Attachment #1). The provisions within these county charters are very similar to each other and generally memorialize the broad discretion that county commissions already have to establish and implement a trust fund dedicated to affordable housing. The charters do not require an annual minimal financial commitment or prioritize a type of affordable housing program (home ownership, rental, rehabilitation) due to continuously evolving housing needs and trends specific to each community. Only the Broward County Charter establishes an income eligibility ceiling for funds to serve households below 140% of the median annual income.

The four charters include the explicit authority for county commissions to determine the appropriate revenue source(s) for an affordable housing trust fund (i.e., general revenue, sales tax, etc.) as part of the annual budget process and provide conditions for maintaining unexpended revenue within the trust fund or reallocating funds for other governmental purposes. However, Florida Statutes already provides counties (including the Board) with these authorities which the Board has exercised through adopted ordinances, policies, strategic initiatives, enhanced partnerships, and increased investments in affordable housing. In fact, the affordable housing trust fund ordinance adopted by Leon County is consistent with the trust funds established in the four county charters.

Chapter 8, Article V of the Leon County Code of Laws (Code of Laws) adopted by the Board established the local housing assistance trust fund as authorized in Florida Statutes (Attachment #2). The revenue source for the County's trust fund is SHIP funding. As mentioned earlier, SHIP funding is the primary and dedicated revenue source for affordable housing for the County and many local governments. In addition to the housing trust fund, the County ordinance also establishes the local housing assistance plan (LHAP), which serves as the governing document of the County's housing programs (down payment assistance, emergency home repair, etc.), and creates the Affordable Housing Advisory Committee (AHAC). The AHAC is comprised of County residents appointed by the Board that represents various organizations and industries (private developers, residents, not-for-profit organizations, etc.). The AHAC provides recommendations to the Board on affordable housing policies, LHAP, programs, and services. The AHAC recommendations are brought to the Board annually for consideration.

With the comprehensive affordable housing ordinance established in the County's Code of Laws, amending the County's structural governing document is unnecessary to effectuate strategic programmatic and budgetary support for affordable housing (or most program areas).

Additionally, placing funding and programmatic requirements in the Charter would not be consistent with the County's approach to addressing and investing in the most pressing issues in the community. In order to respond to the ever-changing human service needs in the community, the County regularly conducts data-driven analysis, collaborates with local stakeholders, and engages impacted residents. This approach has successfully led to improved policies, enhanced partnerships, and increased investments in affordable housing.

As mentioned earlier, county charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government rather than specific policy issues. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Conclusion

Leon County is dedicated to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing through policies, partnerships, and investments. To address the highest affordable housing need of rental units in the community, over just the past five years the County has invested $5.8 million in direct funding and authorized $195 million in bond financing that has or will construct 1,200 new affordable units within the next 12-18 months. The County utilizes all available funding sources to invest in affordable housing including state funding dedicated to affordable housing; federal grants; general revenue (property taxes); infrastructure surtax (sales tax); and bond financing.

Adopting a charter amendment would only serve to highlight the Board existing authority. If this were to occur with every high priority issue, then the County Charter would ultimately include volumes of initiatives, polices, programs, and services that are being addressed by the County. Affordable housing was adopted in the charters of other communities that had not placed a high priority on the issue. However, as presented through its policies, programs, partnerships, and investments that include an established trust fund, Leon County is committed to addressing affordable housing.

County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government rather than specific policy issues. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Version 1.3

ARTICLE VI. LEON COUNTY BILL OF RIGHTS

Sec. 1.0. — Reserved

Sec. 2.0. — Very Low Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund

(a) Creation of the Fund

There is hereby created a permanent "Very Low Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund" ("the Fund") of Leon County. The Fund shall exist in perpetuity and shall be used exclusively to support the creation, preservation, rehabilitation, or operation of affordable housing within Leon County.

(b) Dedicated Revenue Sources

The following revenue sources are hereby dedicated to the Fund and shall not lapse to any other use:

1. A minimum of five percent (5%) of all revenue received by the County from any future county infrastructure sales surtax, including any surtax authorized by Florida Statutes Section 212.055 or successor provisions, as may be approved by the electors after the adoption of this section. This funding shall be derived from 5% of Leon County's share of the infrastructure surtax.
2. All State and Federal housing grants awarded to the County, except where State or Federal law requires their use for a more specific housing-related purpose, in which case such funds shall be used first in accordance with that requirement, and any remainder shall be deposited into the Fund.
3. All interest, repayments, program income, or returns on investment generated by activities financed through the Fund, including but not limited to loan repayments, shared equity returns, or the resale or disposition of property financed initially by the Fund.
4. Any voluntary appropriations, gifts, or contributions made by the County or by any other party for the purpose of supporting affordable housing.
5. Mandatory or voluntary payments made pursuant to the development policies established by ordinance.
6. Other sources, as established by ordinance.

(c) County Land-Sale Proceeds.

All net proceeds from the sale, lease, conveyance, or transfer of County-owned real property shall be deposited into the Fund, except:

1. Property encumbered by State or Federal restrictions that legally prohibit such dedication; or

2. Where the Board of County Commissioners determines, by a majority (plus one), that such funds are to be used for a different specified purpose.

Any vote under subsection (c)(2) shall require a public written justification published no later than ten (10) business days after such vote.

Expenditures from the Fund shall be used exclusively to support affordable rental or homeownership housing serving households earning no more than sixty percent (50%) of the Area Median Income (AMI) for Leon County, as annually defined by the United States Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

Eligible uses include, but are not limited to:

1. Acquisition of land or existing housing units;

2. Construction, preservation, or rehabilitation of affordable housing;

3. Gap financing for multi-family housing;

4. Down-payment assistance;

5. Community Land Trust or land-banking activities;

6. Emergency repairs, accessibility improvements, or anti-displacement programs;

7. Any other activity that directly increases or maintains the supply of affordable housing serving eligible households.

(e) Non-Lapse of Funds.

Revenues deposited into the Fund shall remain available for expenditure from year to year. They shall not revert to the General Fund or any other fund of the County, regardless of fiscal year limitations.

(f) Administration.

1. Dedicated Fund - The County shall administer the Fund through a dedicated account within its financial system. The Fund shall be managed in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and State law. The county commission shall establish, by ordinance, the process for hiring and terminating the fund's executive director.

2. Very Low Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund Board of Trustees - There is hereby created an Affordable Housing Citizen Advisory Board ("the Board of Trustees") to provide public oversight and recommendations regarding the administration, management, and budget of the Fund. The board of trustees shall consist of seven (7) members, with one member appointed by each County Commissioner, serving an appointed term at the pleasure of the appointing County Commissioner, for a term equal to the remainder of the appointing commissioner's elected term. The Trust Fund Board shall review funding proposals, evaluate program performance, and issue non-binding recommendations to the County Commission and the Fund's Executive Director at least twice per year. All meetings of the Advisory Board shall be open to the public and publicly noticed.

(g) Annual Reporting and Audit.

The County shall:

1. Publish an annual report detailing all revenues deposited into the Fund, all expenditures, the number and type of housing units created or preserved, and the geographic distribution of funded projects; and

2. Provide for an independent annual audit of the Fund, the results of which shall be publicly available on the County's website.

(h) Transparency.

All meetings in which funding allocations are considered shall be open to the public. The County shall maintain an online, publicly accessible dashboard summarizing current and past allocations

. (i) Definitions.

For purposes of this section:

1. "Affordable housing" means housing affordable to households earning no more than 50% of AMI, such that the total cost of housing does not exceed thirty percent (30%) of household income.

2. "Net proceeds" means gross proceeds minus costs legally required for closing, title, appraisal, surveying, or environmental remediation.

3. "County-owned real property" includes all real estate owned in fee simple or controlled by the County, except public rights-of-way or property held in trust for another government.

4. "Fund" means the Very Low Income Affordable Housing Trust Fund established by this section.

(j) Implementation.

This section shall take effect on January 1 following voter approval. The County shall establish all necessary administrative mechanisms within ninety (90) days of the effective date.

(k) Severability.

If any portion of this section is found invalid by a court of competent jurisdiction, the remaining portions shall remain in full force and effect to the maximum extent permitted by law.

Chair Lindley called the meeting to order at 11:30 a.m.

Proposed Extension of Final Meetings until 2:30 p.m.*

Chair Lindley requested Committee consideration of extending the scheduled end time for the February 5th and 19th meetings until 2:30 p.m., to ensure adequate time for deliberations and completion of Committee business.

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Anita Favors, to extend the scheduled end time for the February 5th and 19th meetings until 2:30 p.m.

The motion carried 12 – 0 with Committee Members Joey Davis, Darryl Jones, Howard Kessler, Slaton Murray, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman, Shamarial Roberson, Katrina Tuggerson and Barry Wilcox not present.

- Sean Pittman arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

Consent:

Max Herrle moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to approve the consent agenda as presented.

The motion carried 13 – 0 with Committee Members Joey Davis, Darryl Jones, Howard Kessler, Slaton Murray, Heidi Otway, Shamarial Roberson, Katrina Tuggerson and Barry Wilcox not present.

Approval of January 22, 2026 Meeting Minutes

Receipt & File of Written Public Comments

- Howard Kessler arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

Public Comment:

- Tiffany Hill, 1401 Lola Drive, spoke in support of Option 2 on Agenda Item #4, stating housing issues are regional and affect workforce stability and community health. She supported the option as a balanced approach that creates a permanent fund while preserving the Board of County Commissioners' budget flexibility and encouraging City-County collaboration.

- Peter Butscene, 2358 Carefree Ct., spoke in favor of creating an independent Office of Inspector General, emphasizing it as a preventative measure to deter future corruption and strengthen public trust despite no current scandals. He stated existing ethics safeguards are weak, and the cost of the office would be minimal compared to the potential consequences of misconduct.
- Ernie Paine, 2006 E. Indianhead Dr., supported establishing an Office of Inspector General as a proactive step to prevent future problems and demonstrate the County's commitment to transparent and ethical government. He noted the Charter sets priorities rather than budgets and argued independent oversight protects economic reputation and public confidence.
- Ben Wilcox, 1719 Old Fort Dr., spoke in support of placing a charter amendment establishing an independent Inspector General before voters, stating independence is essential for investigating fraud, waste, and abuse. He expressed confidence the measure would receive public approval and stated anti-corruption reforms should be decided by the community.

- Darryl Jones, Katrina Tuggerson, Heidi Otway and Shamarial Roberson arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

General Business:

Agenda Item #1: Consideration to Establish an Office of Inspector General in the Leon County Charter

Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives, introduced the item and summarized that an Office of Inspector General (OIG) generally exists to detect, investigate, and prevent fraud, waste, abuse, mismanagement, and misconduct, and reviewed how independent OIGs are structured in four Florida charter counties (Miami-Dade, Broward, Jacksonville-Duval, and Palm Beach), including typical functions such as complaint investigation, auditing, and contract oversight. She noted that most complaints in peer OIGs result in no action or referral elsewhere and that these offices are not small, with staffing and budgets varying significantly by jurisdiction.

County Attorney Chasity O'Steen provided clarification on Leon County's ethics enforcement framework, distinguishing state-level complaints filed under Chapter 112 with the Florida Commission on Ethics from complaints made under the County's Code of Ethics. She explained that the County Code includes provisions addressing investigations and prosecution of alleged violations and referenced the ordinance-based penalty structure applicable to violations of the standards of conduct.

William Smith requested examples of what would constitute financial mishandling.

County Attorney O'Steen explained that allegations of financial impropriety may be reported to the Clerk of Court, which maintains an independent office, or submitted through the County's Fraud and Abuse Hotline, in which case, the Human Resources Department would lead the investigation.

Henry Lewis, III, inquired about the total number of cases that have come before the County.

County Attorney O'Steen responded that there had been one such case, which was resolved through the County's waste, fraud, and abuse process.

Max Herrle referenced the City's process regarding petty cash.

County Administrator Vincent Long explained that the County undergoes an independent audit conducted by the Clerk's Office, which focuses on internal controls. He noted that the audit findings are presented to the Board along with a corrective action plan.

Sean Pittman stated that he was interested in the fiscal implications of the proposal and noted that, based on what he had observed, the associated costs could be significant.

Mrs. Hatch referenced the Office of the Inspector General in Duval County, noting that their Charter requires minimum funding of $400,000; however, their recent adopted budget was $1.5 million.

Linda Bond Edwards inquired about the County's responsibility to consider fiscal impacts and whether a cost analysis would be included as part of the ballot process.

County Attorney O'Steen addressed the use of departmental language regarding fiscal impacts and explained that it had been determined that fiscal impact information could not be included on the ballot.

Chair Lindley asked who would be responsible for hiring the Inspector General.

Mrs. Hatch stated that the matter would depend on the structure adopted and could require approval by the Board.

Darryl Jones commented on the current structure and safeguards already in place and explained the School Board's process as a point of reference.

Mrs. Hatch recalled that there are existing processes already in place, including the Fraud and Abuse Hotline administered by the Clerk's Office.

Shamarial Roberson inquired whether the Office of the Inspector General would consist of a single individual or include staff. She spoke on the importance of autonomy for the position and emphasized the integrity of the program.

Howard Kessler requested the Chair allow Ernie Paine to address questions from the Committee regarding the purpose and structure of his proposed Office of Inspector General. Chair Lindley concurred.

Ernie Paine stated that, while he understood the role of the Clerk's Office in addressing issues related to fraud and financial matters, he believed there should be a dedicated office where complaints could be submitted. He discussed the importance of having appropriate infrastructure in place to handle such matters.

County Attorney O'Steen explained that the County does not have authority over the Clerk, noting that both the County and the Clerk retain a statutory auditor. She referenced corrective updates and findings that are addressed through the Clerk's audit process. She shared an update that the audit will be coming back to the Board at the next BOCC Meeting scheduled for Tuesday, February 10.

DRAFT

Howard Kessler moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment to establish an Office of Inspector General with funding determined by County Government.
The motion failed 4 – 14 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Darryl Jones, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman, Shamarial Roberson, Temple Robinson, William Smith, Jarrett Terry and Katrina Tuggerson in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Slaton Murray and Barry Wilcox were not present.

Darryl Jones called the question since there was confusion on what the previous vote was for.

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by Sean Pittman, to call the question.

The motion carried 18 – 0 with Committee Members Joey Davis, Slaton Murray and Barry Wilcox not present.

Howard Kessler moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to direct staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment to establish an Office of Inspector General with funding determined by County Government.

The motion failed 4 – 14 with Chair Mary Ann Lindley, Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Darryl Jones, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman, Shamarial Roberson, Temple Robinson, William Smith, Jarrett Terry and Katrina Tuggerson in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Slaton Murray and Barry Wilcox were not present.

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by William Smith, to approve Option #1: Accept this report and table this issue.

The motion carried 16 – 2 with Committee Members Max Herrle and Ryan Ray in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Slaton Murray and Barry Wilcox were not present.

Agenda Item #2: Consideration of a Policy Recommendation on Unified Street Renaming

Mrs. Hatch introduced the item and explained that, at the Committee's request, staff prepared a draft policy recommendation encouraging the County and the City to work together to align street renaming policies and procedures in order to prevent public safety and emergency service issues. She noted that, if approved, the recommendation would be included in the Committee's status report to the Board in March and in the Committee's final report later this summer.

Vice Chairman Haynes moved, seconded by Temple Robinson, to approve Option #1: Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging unified street renaming policies and procedures.

The motion carried 18 – 0 with Committee Members Joey Davis, Slaton Murray and Barry Wilcox not present.

Agenda Item #3: Consideration of Revision to the Preamble in the Leon County Charter

Mrs. Hatch introduced the item and explained that, at the Committee's request, staff prepared proposed charter amendment language revising the Preamble of the Leon County Charter to reflect the shared humanity among County residents. She noted that a simple majority vote would be required to recommend the amendment to the Board of County Commissioners and, if approved, the Board would consider whether to advance it to a public hearing later this summer.

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by Vice Chairman Haynes, to approve Option #1: Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners, revising the Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County.

The motion carried 18 – 0 with Committee Members Joey Davis, Slaton Murray and Barry Wilcox not present.

Agenda Item #4: Consideration to Establish an Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the Leon County Charter

Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy introduced this item. As requested by the Committee, this item provides a proposed amendment to the Leon County Charter with ballot language to establish an affordable housing trust fund in the Charter.

Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes moved, seconded by Liz Ellis, to approve Option #1: Approve a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's longstanding commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community.

The motion was not voted on.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., commented on what he described as the affordable housing crisis within the County and emphasized the importance of protecting residents through structural and sustainable measures.

Max Herrle discussed elements he believed were not fully reflected in the County's proposed language and raised concerns regarding governance and structural oversight provisions.

Henry Lewis, III, inquired whether there were any affordable housing funds currently available that the County was not drawing down.

Mr. Lamy responded that staff continuously pursues available funding opportunities, including programs through the Federal Housing Administration (FHA), and confirmed that the County actively seeks and utilizes available funding sources.

County Attorney O'Steen addressed the Committee regarding potential modifications to the existing Trust Fund framework. She emphasized the importance of drafting language that would codify the fund while preserving sufficient flexibility for the Board of County Commissioners to modify or adjust the fund structure in the future as circumstances evolve.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., made a substitute motion, seconded by Max Herrle, to approve Option #2 as amended: Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to ~~establish an~~codify the Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the Leon County Charter.

The motion carried 12 – 6 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Darryl Jones, Howard Kessler and William Smith in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Slaton Murray and Barry Wilcox were not present.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

RECEIPT AND FILE OF WRITTEN PUBLIC COMMENTS

(To be electronically distributed Wednesday before the meeting)

Subject: CCRC Public Comment – Support for Option 2 Charter Amendment

Good afternoon Members of the Citizen Charter Review Committee,

Please accept this written public comment for the record.

My name is Jewel D. Brown, and I live at 950 Edge Hill Circle, Apartment 124, Tallahassee, Florida 32303, in Frenchtown, Leon County.

I'm writing as a mother, a small business owner, an instructor, and a board member of Tallahassee Food Network. I work in Griffin Heights and serve youth and families across multiple neighborhoods in this county.

I see food access challenges firsthand — not just as an advocate, but as someone who lives in the community and works directly with families navigating food insecurity. I have personally experienced food insecurity, and I also work daily with residents who are trying to stabilize their households while navigating inconsistent access to food resources.

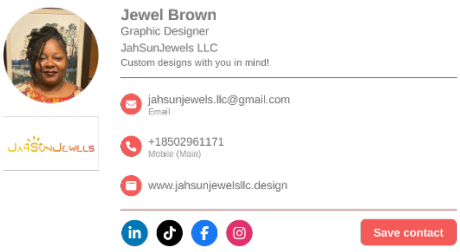
Access looks very different depending on which side of town you live on. In some areas, families have predictable options. In others, people often don't know where food will be available or when. Hours shift. Distribution sites rotate. Information travels by word of mouth instead of through a reliable public system.

Emergency response is also too ad hoc. After storms or crises, families are left trying to figure out where to go first instead of relying on a clear, coordinated structure.

And while we hear about efforts happening, there is no single public scorecard that allows residents to see what is improving countywide and what is not. Without annual reporting and a clear framework, accountability depends on who happens to be in office at the time.

Food access is not a single-agency issue. It intersects with emergency management, health, housing stability, youth development, and economic mobility. That kind of cross-agency work requires a durable structure.

Option 2 creates that structure. It requires a countywide plan and annual public reporting, while preserving Commission control over program details and funding decisions through ordinances and the annual budget. It does not create a blank check. It creates a framework.



For those of us working directly in communities — connecting families to resources, identifying gaps, and coordinating with partners — having a Charter-level coordination point would reduce fragmentation and strengthen long-term reliability.

This is about accountability and stability, not about creating a new program list.

I respectfully urge the Committee to support Option 2 and advance the drafted Charter language for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners.

Thank you for your consideration.

Subject: Public Comment – Support for Restoring Communities Amendment

Good afternoon Members of the Citizen Charter Review Committee,

Please accept this written public comment for the record.

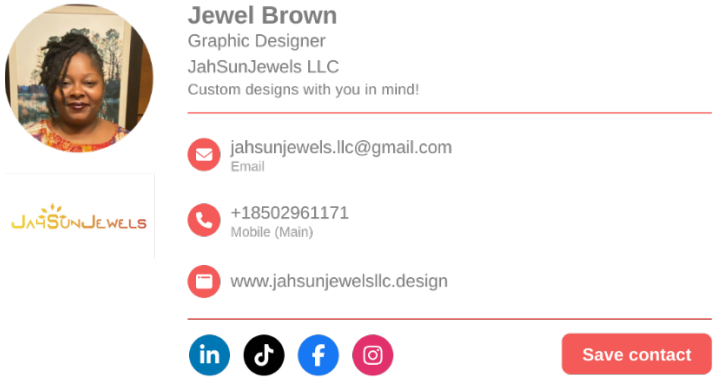
My name is Jewel D. Brown, and I live at 950 Edge Hill Circle, Apartment 124, Tallahassee, Florida 32303, in Frenchtown, Leon County.

I'm writing because public policy decisions don't just affect the present — they shape communities for generations. And when those effects last across generations, governance should respond in a long-term, structured way.

In Leon County, segregation-era public policies influenced where people lived and where public investment flowed. Neighborhoods such as Frenchtown, Bond, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City were shaped by zoning, infrastructure placement, school assignments, and access to services. Today, those same areas still reflect higher poverty rates, lower homeownership, and disparities in health outcomes. Those patterns didn't happen randomly. They were shaped by policy decisions.

The Restoring Communities Amendment does not mandate spending, create quotas, or override state law. It simply authorizes the County to assess and consider documented historic impacts.

Advancing this amendment does not create programs or allocate funds. It allows draft language to be evaluated and ensures that any future ordinance would still comply with state and federal law.



What this amendment does is create a framework — one that allows findings from audits to be integrated into long-term planning and capital improvement strategies. That strengthens transparency and continuity in governance.

Charter language exists to protect responsibilities beyond election cycles. If impacts were created structurally, then the authority to examine and address them belongs structurally as well.

I respectfully encourage you to recommend advancing the Restoring Communities Amendment for inclusion in the Charter.

Thank you for your consideration.

Jewel D. Brown

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #1

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #1

February 19, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Consideration of Language Affirming Leon County's Commitment to Healthcare in the Leon County Charter

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Human Services & Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee, this item provides a proposed charter amendment revising the Preamble of the Leon County Charter with language that affirms Leon County's commitment to healthcare access.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging the continuation of Leon County's longstanding commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item provides a proposed charter amendment revising the Preamble of the Leon County Charter (Charter) with language that affirms Leon County's commitment to healthcare access.

On January 8, 2026, the Committee received an analysis of the County's investment in healthcare for low-income residents (Attachment #1). This includes a total of $7.7 million annually in programs and services for primary, dental, mental, specialty, and pharmaceutical healthcare. Subsequently, the Committee requested staff to draft a proposed charter amendment affirming Leon County's commitment to primary healthcare access.

There are no County charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. As presented in this item and the previous Committee item, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the statutory authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents in the community for over two decades. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Charter.

However, as requested by the Committee, the following analysis proposes charter amendment language for the Committee's consideration to revise the Preamble of the Charter to affirm Leon County's commitment to healthcare access. The proposed charter amendment would incorporate existing language from the County's Vision Statement already approved by the Board that highlights the importance of health for our community. As presented in the analysis, in addition to the Vision Statement, the proposed amendment includes the word "equitable" to reflect the County's approach of utilizing empirical data and community engagement to achieve fair and impartial outcomes in the development and implementation of policies, programs, and services for residents. Consistent with the purpose of the Preamble, which is to uphold the broad values and beliefs of County residents, the proposed charter amendment does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provisions of services of the County government.

As previously stated, the Board currently has the authority and actively addresses access to healthcare through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a Charter change. Therefore, rather than a proposed charter amendment, an alternative option available to the Committee is to adopt a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing dedication to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community. Upon approval by the Committee, this policy recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report to the Board.

Analysis:

For more than 20 years, Leon County has ensured that low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services. The County invests a total of $7.7 million in healthcare annually in mandatory and discretionary programs and services. Pursuant to Florida Statutes, counties (both charter and non-charter) are mandated to contribute annually to the Florida Medicaid Program, County Health Departments (the 67 County Health Departments are operated by state employees under the Florida Department of Health), as well as the Baker and Marchman Act mental health and substance use disorder programs.

In addition to the programs mandated by the State, the County has historically dedicated additional local tax revenue and partnered with local healthcare stakeholders to invest and provide low-income residents with access to critical medical services through its Healthcare Program (CareNet). Annually, the County contracts with Bond Community Health Center, Neighborhood Medical Center, Apalachee Center, Capital Medical Society/We Care, and FAMU Pharmacy to provide low-income uninsured and underinsured residents access to primary care, dental, mental health, specialty care, and/or pharmaceutical services. The services funded by the County are provided at no cost to eligible low-income residents (18-years old or older at 100% or below the Federal Poverty Level).

Despite economic downturns, the County has never reduced funding to the CareNet program. In fact, the County regularly utilizes its investment in the CareNet program to secure additional state and federal funding. Over the past three years, the providers have leveraged County funding to secure $7.5 million in state and federal funding to provide primary and mental health services to additional uninsured and underinsured low-income County residents. The County is among very few counties in Florida that dedicate additional local tax revenue to healthcare not required by state or federal law.

Additionally, the Board has reinforced and memorialized the County's commitment to healthcare through a variety of policies including the County's Vision Statement and Five-Year Strategic Plan. Leon County's vision statement is an aspirational description of what the organization would like to achieve and accomplish in the future and also describes how Leon County, in an ideal state, should look in the future. The County's Vision Statement is as follows:

"A community that is safe, healthy, and vibrant."

Consistent with the Social Determinants of Health, the Vision Statement recognizes that a healthy community is a key component to the well-being, prosperity, and economic stability of every County resident. Furthermore, the County's Five-Year Strategic Plan adopted by the Board incorporates four (4) strategic priorities (Economy, Environment, Quality of Life, and Governance) that are major areas of County responsibility and critical to the success of the community. The Quality of Life Priority states that the County's responsibility is as follows:

> "To be a provider of essential services which promote the well-being of our citizens and the livability of our community in our continuous efforts to make Leon County a place where people are healthy, safe, and connected to their community."

The strategic priorities are supported by strategic initiatives which are program- or area-specific projects to serve and strengthen the community. This includes the CareNet program and other services that enhance the access and delivery of healthcare services to low-income residents. The Vision Statement and Strategic Plan is evaluated annually by the Board to ensure they reflect the ever-changing needs in the community. This has been demonstrated several times in recent years by the Board with enhancements to the CareNet program that included increased reimbursement rates to providers, expansion of services for diagnostic and ancillary services (i.e., labs, X-rays, etc.), and financial assistance for transportation cost for specialty care to address the changing healthcare needs of residents in the community. As a result, the Vision Statement and Five-Year Strategic Plan align with the County's commitment to healthcare.

As previously mentioned, there are no County charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government rather than specific policy issues. However, as requested by the Committee, the following provides proposed charter amendment language that would revise the Preamble of the County Charter to affirm the County's commitment to a healthy community.

Proposed Charter Amendment

Section 1 of the Charter consists of the Preamble which captures broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule and governmental decisions being made at the local level as well as the role of residents in shaping their local government. The Preamble is intentionally broad so that the County can adapt and respond to new challenges as determined by the Board.

On February 5, 2026, the Committee approved a proposed charter amendment to the Preamble for Board consideration that expresses shared community values and reflects the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County (Attachment #2). Aligned with the Committee's recent action, a proposed charter amendment was developed to further revise the Preamble to include language that would reflect the Committee's request of affirming the County's commitment to primary healthcare access. The underlined language reflects the changes previously approved by the Committee. The proposed language in bold would be included in the revision of the Preamble to affirm the County's commitment to healthcare access by incorporating existing language from the County's Vision Statement that has already been adopted by the Board:

> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our effort to create a community that is equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant. ~~and~~ In order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, we do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

In addition to capturing the existing language of the Vision Statement, the proposed charter amendment also includes the word "equitable" to reflect the County's approach of utilizing empirical data and community engagement to achieve fair and impartial outcomes in the development and implementation of policies, programs, and services for residents. This recognizes the County's commitment and ongoing efforts to provide high quality healthcare services to low-income residents in the community.

Should the Committee approve the language incorporating the Vision Statement into the Preamble, it would be combined with the esteemed humanity language for a single charter amendment since both seek to modify the Preamble. Additionally, the ballot title and ballot language previously approved by the Committee would be updated as reflected in Table #1 (in bold) to combine the esteemed humanity and healthcare languages since they both seek to revise the Preamble. The revised proposed ballot titles and ballot language would continue to meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #1. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Affirmation of Human Dignity and Health of the Community
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Preamble of the Leon County Home Rule Charter be amended to affirm that the esteemed humanity and shared dignity of all residents is inherent and deserving of consideration in public affairs and affirm the County's effort to create a community that is equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant, while preserving the Charter's existing framework for local self-governance and citizen empowerment?

A simple majority is needed to recommend a charter amendment to the Board. A status report on the Committee's recommendation(s) will be provided to the Board at its regularly scheduled meeting on March 10, 2026. Upon approval by a simple majority of the Board, public hearings will be scheduled in June and July 2026, for the Committee to take public input and formally consider the proposed Charter amendments. The outcome of the public hearings will be reflected in the Committee's final report to the Board in August 2026.

As previously stated, the Board currently has the authority and actively provides access to healthcare through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a Charter change. Additionally, there are no county charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. Therefore, rather than a proposed charter amendment, an alternative option available to the Committee is to adopt a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community. Table #2 below provides a draft policy recommendation for the Committee's consideration.

Table #2. Draft Policy Recommendation to Board of County Commissioners

Draft Policy Recommendation
The Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee encourages Leon County to continue its longstanding commitment to ensuring low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

The proposed policy recommendation would be included in the status report on the Committee's actions to be presented to the Board in March 2026 as well as the Committee's Final Report to be presented in August 2026.

Options:

1. Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging the continuation of Leon County's longstanding commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.
2. Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners revising the Preamble to affirm the County's commitment to healthcare access.
3. Committee direction.

Title: Funding Mechanisms for Healthcare Access for Low-Income Residents

Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Committee at the December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides information on the County's Health Care Program (known as CareNet) and continued strategic investments to expand healthcare access to low-income residents.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee, this item provides information on the County's Health Care Program (known as CareNet) and continued strategic investments to expand healthcare access to low-income residents. During its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Committee requested further information on funding mechanisms for healthcare access to determine whether to consider a proposed charter amendment.

For more than two decades Leon County has been dedicated to ensuring low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services. In partnership with local providers, the County has expanded healthcare services to uninsured and underinsured low-income Leon County residents for primary care, mental health, dental care, specialty services, and pharmaceutical services. As described in the item, the County invests a total of $7.7 million in healthcare annually in mandatory and discretionary programs and services.

There are no County charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. As presented in this item, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the statutory authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents in the community. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Leon County Charter. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing dedication to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

Healthcare services for uninsured, underinsured, and elderly residents are primarily the statutory responsibility of the federal and/or state governments through programs such as Medicaid, Medicare, and the Affordable Care Act (ACA). However, pursuant to Florida Statutes, counties (both charter and non-charter) are mandated to contribute annually to the Florida Medicaid Program, County Health Departments (the 67 County Health Departments are operated by state employees under the Florida Department of Health) as well as the Baker and Marchman Act mental health and substance use disorder programs. The Florida Legislature annually establishes the level of funding that counties must contribute. For FY 2026, the County is providing $5.9 million in statutorily required contributions. Over the past three years, the County's mandated contribution has increased approximately 15% annually.

In addition to the mandated programs, the County elected to establish the CareNet program to serve as a safety net for residents that are not eligible for healthcare through the state and/or federal programs. Although not required by the State, through CareNet, the County has partnered with local providers to expand access to healthcare for uninsured and underinsured low-income Leon County residents for more than two decades. The County is among very few counties that dedicate additional local tax revenue to healthcare beyond the state mandated programs. The County invests $1.8 million annually in the CareNet program. As a result, the County invests a total of $7.7 million in healthcare annually.

Leon County Health Care Program (CareNet)

Leon County has historically partnered with local healthcare stakeholders to provide low-income residents with access to critical medical services through CareNet. Annually, the County contracts with Bond Community Health Center (Bond), Neighborhood Medical Center (NMC), Apalachee Center (Apalachee), Capital Medical Society/We Care (We Care), and FAMU Pharmacy to provide low-income uninsured and underinsured residents access to primary care, dental, mental health, specialty care, and/or pharmaceutical services.

Bond and NMC are federally qualified healthcare centers (FQHCs) which receive annual federal funding to provide medical services to residents in Leon County. Apalachee is designated by the State of Florida as the public receiving facility for individuals experiencing mental health and/or substance abuse crisis; Apalachee receives annual funding through the State. Through CareNet, Bond, NMC, and Apalachee are reimbursed for costs incurred to provide primary, dental, and mental health visits to eligible County residents. These visits include services such as general annual physical exams; dental cleanings and extractions; case management services for mental healthcare; and more. To be eligible, a patient of Bond, NMC, or Apalachee must be a Leon County resident, 18 years old or older, and uninsured or underinsured. Additionally, the household income of a patient must be 100% or below the federal poverty level (FPL). The income requirement reflects households that are not eligible for public insurance including Medicaid, Medicare, and the ACA in the State of Florida. For example, the ACA Marketplace offers financial assistance known as subsidies for monthly premiums to enrollees with household incomes above 100% of the FPL. Subsidies are not available for individuals or families in households that earn below 100% of the FPL.

In addition to primary, dental, and mental health services, the County provides funding for specialty care and pharmaceutical services (We Care and FAMU Pharmacy, respectively). The County contracts with WeCare, which recruits medical specialists to provide specialty care to low-income residents at no charge. Specialty care services include but are not limited to cardiology, neurology, internal medicine, orthopedics, and orthodontic care. FAMU Pharmacy provides coordinated pharmacy services to County residents and addresses morbid and mortality of African Americans with Type 2 diabetes through educational programming coordination with local healthcare providers including Bond and NMC.

As mentioned earlier, the County invests $1.8 million annually in the CareNet Program. General revenue is the funding source for the CareNet Program as well as the State mandated County contributions (i.e., Medicaid, etc.). The leveraging of County funding has been critical to expanding healthcare in the community. Over the past three years, the providers have leveraged County funding to secure $7.5 million in state and federal funding to provide primary and mental services to additional uninsured and underinsured local-income County residents.

Regular Community Engagement on the CareNet Program

The County regularly engages with the healthcare partners to ensure that the CareNet Program continues to provide low-income residents with access to critical medical services. Staff meets quarterly with the providers to discuss challenges and opportunities to enhance the program. During these meetings quantitative and qualitative data are evaluated and proposed changes are considered for recommendation to the Board to better position the County's program in addressing the changing healthcare needs of residents in the community. Subsequently, County staff brings proposed program enhancements to the Board for consideration as part of the budget process. Over the past several years this has led to:

- 80% increase in the reimbursement rates since FY 2023 for primary care visits to Bond, NMC, and Apalachee to more accurately reflect the cost of diagnostic and ancillary services, such as laboratory and X-Ray services.
- 40% increase in the reimbursement rates since FY 2024 for dental and mental healthcare visits to Bond, NMC, and Apalachee to include diagnostic and ancillary costs as well as the increased costs of mental healthcare.
- 30% increase in the annual investment since FY 2023 to voluntary and involuntary in-patient mental health services to Apalachee better reflect ongoing rise in costs for personnel and operations.
- 9% increase funding to WeCare since FY 2022 to enhance financial assistance to patients for specialty services including laboratory and transportation costs.

The next meeting with the healthcare partners is anticipated for January 2026. At that time any changes to the CareNet Program such as the eligibility criteria and reimbursement rates would be evaluated and discussed for potential recommendations to the Board as part of the budget process for the next fiscal year (FY 2027). This is consistent with the County's approach to addressing the most pressing human service needs in the community which includes conducting data-driven analysis, collaborating with local stakeholders, and engaging residents.

2006 Indigent Healthcare Sales Tax

Florida Statutes provide counties with a population of less than 800,000 the authority to levy a local option sales tax for indigent healthcare subject to voter approval (section 212.055(7), F.S.). Sales tax referenda are a standalone process prescribed in Florida Statutes which cannot be effectuated through a charter amendment. In 2006, the Board of County Commissioners placed a referendum on the ballot for voters to consider a local option ½ cent sales tax to support primary healthcare for low-income residents in our community. Despite the stigma associated with a new ½ cent sales tax and the potential of Leon County having the highest sales tax in the state, the referendum was placed on the 2006 General Election ballot in response to the escalating costs for health insurance, feedback from local healthcare providers, and input from the ministerial community on the long-term financial costs associated with health emergencies. In November 2006, more than three years prior to the passage of the national Affordable Care Act, 60% of Leon County voters rejected the ½ cent sales tax for indigent healthcare. Following voter rejection of the sales tax, the County continued to support primary healthcare needs with ad valorem revenues (property taxes) as previously described in this agenda item.

County Charter Provisions Related to Healthcare Access

In summary, although healthcare services for uninsured, underinsured, and elderly residents are primarily the statutory responsibility of the federal and/or state governments, Leon County has been dedicated to ensuring low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community. Beyond the mandated financial support counties provide for several state healthcare programs, the County has dedicated additional local tax revenue to expand healthcare access for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents through the CareNet Program. In partnership with local providers, CareNet provides access to primary, dental, mental health, and specialty care, and pharmaceutical services. In total, the FY 2026 County budget invests $7.7 million for the provision of healthcare services.

As presented in the item, the Board currently has the authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured local income residents in the community. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Additionally, county charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. For these reasons, there are no county charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to ensure low-income residents have access to high quality healthcare services in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.
3. Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on access to healthcare as determined by the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
4. Board direction.

Recommendation:

Option #1

Proposed Charter Amendment Approved by the Citizen Charter Review Committee

February 5, 2026

We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our public affairs. ~~and~~ In order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, we do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #2

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #2

February 19, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Proposed Charter Amendment on Food Insecurity

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Human Services & Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee, this item provides a proposed amendment to the Leon County Charter with ballot language to address food insecurity in the Charter. The proposed charter amendment is not recommended. There are no other county charters in the State of Florida that include the specific policy issue of food access or food insecurity. Additionally, the County Commission has the policy and budgetary authority to address food insecurity, as detailed in the item, without the need for a charter change.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item provides a proposed amendment to the Leon County Charter with ballot language to address food insecurity in the Charter (Attachment #1).

On December 18, 2025, the Committee received an analysis of the County's ongoing efforts to address food insecurity through community engagement, programs, partnerships, and investment. Specifically, the analysis highlighted the County's more than $7.5 million investment and the delivery of nearly 55 million meals to low-income households over the last five years (Attachment #2). The item also included an analysis on the inclusion of food insecurity in the Leon County Charter and the options provided in the Food Insecurity and Charter Reform handout that was distributed by Dr. Bruce Strouble at the December 4, 2025 Committee meeting (Attachment #3). Most importantly, the item shared that are no other county charters in the State of Florida that include the specific policy issue of food access or food insecurity and that the County Commission has the policy and budgetary authority to address food insecurity without the need for a charter change.

Subsequently during the meeting, the Committee requested staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment and ballot language as determined by the Committee. Based on the direction of the Committee and documents provided by Dr. Strouble, the following analysis presents a proposed amendment for consideration that would establish a specific policy issue in the County Charter by mandating the County to establish an Office of Food Systems to support food access and food system resilience that promote the health and well-being of residents, as well as support of food access and food systems. As presented in the item, the County has an existing department that oversees and administers programs and services dedicated to reducing food insecurity and increasing food access in the community.

Additionally, there are no other county charters in the State of Florida that include the specific policy issue of food access or food insecurity. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. The County Commission currently has the authority and actively addresses food insecurity through its policy, programming, partnerships, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Therefore, the proposed charter amendment is not recommended. An alternative option available to the Committee is to adopt a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community. Upon approval by the Committee, this policy recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report to the Board.

Analysis:

Leon County is dedicated to reducing food insecurity in the community as demonstrated through long-term community partnerships, dedicated programming, and significant investments. Over the last five years, the County has invested more than $7.5 million to support the delivery of nearly 55 million meals to low-income households.

The County has implemented these programs and investments based on strategic priorities of the Board and long-standing partnerships with local stakeholders, including the City of Tallahassee and social services agencies. The County's efforts are similar to how other communities address issues such as food insecurity as no charter counties in the State of Florida include the specific policy issue of food access or food insecurity in any charter.

Dr. Strouble's Proposed Charter Amendment

As previously mentioned, Dr. Strouble distributed a handout outlining potential options for the Committee to consider for a proposed charter amendment (Attachment #3). The options included:

- Creation of the Office of Food Access & Resilience in the County Charter
- Addition of food access and food system resilience in the County Charter as a county responsibility
- Addition of language that affirms "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the preamble of the County Charter

The options were thoroughly analyzed in the December 18, 2025 item to the Committee reflecting the County's existing department, staffing, policies, programs, partnerships, and investments that already align with the options which are further summarized below:

Creation of the Office of Food Access & Resilience in the County Charter

The first option provided by Dr. Strouble's proposal is the establishment of an Office of Food Access & Resilience in the County Charter. However, as stated in the December 18, 2025 analysis, the County has an existing department dedicated to reducing food insecurity. The County's Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships (HSCP) is implementing the programs that address food insecurity in coordination and collaboration with local stakeholders. This includes approximately $565,000 in annual funding to support food pantries, mobile distributions, senior nutrition services, and child meal programs which collectively distribute more than 7 million meals to low-income households annually.

Additionally, following feedback during series of dinner meetings held in neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates, the County established Neighborhood Engagement and Community Partnership position in HSCP which is dedicated to engaging and connecting high poverty and food insecurity neighborhoods with the available resources (i.e., food, housing, healthcare, etc.) in the community. The position actively engages and connects residents to agencies, programs, and services with available resources essential to improving quality of life and economic prosperity for individuals and families.

Addition of food access and food system resilience in the County Charter as a county responsibility

The second option of Dr. Strouble's proposal is the addition of food access and food system resilience in the County Charter as a county responsibility. However, this is primarily the responsibility of the federal and state governments, which administer a variety of programs that provide direct food assistance to address food insecurity, including the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC), and The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEFAP). Nonetheless, the County has a long-standing commitment to address food insecurity through local partnerships that increase access to food, these partnerships include:

- Leon County Community Garden Program: The County's Office of Sustainability provides grant support and technical assistance for residents to start community gardens to increase access to healthy food throughout the County, including on vacant County-owned land, school campuses and community spaces. Grants of up to $1,000 are available to support garden development and sustainability efforts. Since 2024, the County has awarded a total of $5,915 in Community Garden Grants to support eight gardens, including the Frenchtown Heritage Hub, Nims Middle School, and the Promise Land Urban Farm on Orange Street.
- Summer Breakspot: The County partners with Second Harvest to provide kids with free meals and snacks at four library locations during the summer months. In 2025, more than 4,255 meals were distributed.
- Food Council: The County actively participates in a Food Council recently launched by Florida A&M University (FAMU) focused on addressing food access and food insecurity in Leon County. The Council is comprised of local stakeholders including the County, City of Tallahassee, Second Harvest, agricultural extension offices, Leon County Schools, local farmers, and community advocates. The goal of the Food Council is to establish greater coordination and collaboration on planning, investing, and delivering programs, services, and resources that improve food access and the overall community food system for all County residents. During its Retreat in January 2026, the County Commission adopted as part of the County's five-year Strategic Plan support for FAMU's establishment of the food council and memorializing the County's commitment and participation to the effort.
- 2-1-1 Big Bend Lyft Transportation Program: The County invests of $112,500 annually to 2-1-1 Big Bend to provide free transportation for residents to access grocery stores, food banks, and other essential services. According to 2-1-1, nearly 4,000 Lyft rides were provided in FY 2025.
- Partnership with Farm Share: In December 2025, the County entered into an agreement to enhance its relationship with Farm Share to distribute food to residents through regular distribution events. The first event was held on Saturday, February 7, 2026 in the Woodville community and served more than 200 households. In partnership with Farm Share, the County will host distribution events quarterly throughout the community to expand access to healthy food and enhance food security.
- Seed Library: To educate and promote access to food through gardening, the County Library partners with the UF/IFAS extension office to provide seed packets to residents to grow fresh food. Since 2025, the Seed Library has distributed over 1 million seeds to the community.
- Mobile Markets and Neighborhood Empowerment Events: In 2022, the County partnered with Second Harvest to expand mobile food markets and establish Neighborhood Empowerment Events. These programs occur monthly to increase access to food and other social services in neighborhoods with high food insecurity and poverty rates.

Addition of language that affirms "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the preamble of the County Charter

The final option of Dr. Strouble's proposal is the addition of language that affirms "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the preamble of the County Charter. Section 1 of the Charter consists of the Preamble which captures broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule and governmental decisions being made at the local level as well as the role of residents in shaping their local government. The Preamble is intentionally broad so that the County can adapt and respond to new challenges as determined by the Board.

On February 5, 2026, the Committee approved a proposed charter amendment to the Preamble for Board consideration that would express shared community values and reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County (Attachment #4). During its February 19, 2026 meeting, the Committee will consider additional revisions to the Preamble to include language that affirms the County's commitment to healthcare and a healthy community as requested (in bold) and combines the language previously approved by the Committee to read as follows:

> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our effort to create a community that is equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant. ~~and~~ In order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, we do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

This would incorporate the County's existing Vision Statement as well as the include the word "equitable" in recognition of the County's approach of considering individual circumstances to achieve a fair and impartial outcome in developing and implementing policies. That includes the County's policies that implementing programs and making investment to enhance food access in the community. As a result, the Committee may determine that the additional language for the Preamble appropriately captures in the County's commitment and ongoing efforts to address food insecurity and enhance food access.

As previously mentioned, language in the preamble is broad and focuses on the purpose for which residents voted to establish Leon County as a charter county. The preamble does not include any specific policy issues or make commitments for specific programs and/or services. Attempting to prioritize current challenges and preferred programs in the Charter may overlook other important community needs or lead to an endless listing of program areas being identified in the County Charter.

Therefore, given that the County already has a department dedicated to reducing food insecurity, and that food access and food system resiliency is primarily the responsibility of the federal and state government, it is not necessary to codify these matters within the Charter. However, based on the direction of the Committee, the following section presents a proposed charter amendment to the Preamble that would reflect the County's ongoing commitment to provide residents affordable and equitable access to food.

Proposed Charter Amendment

As requested by the Committee, a proposed charter amendment and ballot language (provided in Attachment #1) were developed that would require the County to establish an Office of Food Systems under the County Administrator to support food access and food system resilience that promote the health and well-being of residents. As mentioned earlier, the County has an existing department dedicated to reducing food insecurity. HSCP is implementing programs that address food insecurity in coordination and collaboration with local stakeholders. This includes approximately $565,000 in annual funding to support food pantries, mobile distributions, senior nutrition services, and child meal programs which collectively distribute more than 7 million meals to low-income households annually.

The proposed charter amendment would also require the establishment of a Countywide Food System Plan with annual reporting. This would circumvent the work that is currently being conducted by FAMU to establish a Food Council comprised of local stakeholders including the County, City, Leon County Schools, Second Harvest, 2-1-1 Big Bend and other partners for greater coordination and collaboration on planning, investing, and delivering programs, services, and resources that improve food access and the overall community food system for all County residents. The Council meets monthly and recent meetings have included discussion on developing a plan that captures data, identifies needs, details resources available to and/or required for neighborhoods and communities with high food insecurity rates, and identifies key partners, roles and responsibilities. In recognition of the importance of the Food Council in fostering collective community buy-in on the issue of food security and food access the Board adopted the following strategic initiative the County's five-year Strategic Plan:

- Support the efforts of Florida A&M University, Second Harvest of the Big Bend, Feeding Florida and other stakeholders to establish a food council to coordinate the local food system and food resources.

It is also important to note that requiring the establishment of a Countywide Food System Plan in the Charter would not require any other governments, educational institutions, or nonprofit organizations to adhere to the document. The County Charter cannot compel an independent organization to comply with the a Food System Plan.

Due to the existing County department addressing the food insecurity and the ongoing work of the Food Council established by FAMU, the proposed charter amendment is not recommended. However, should the Committee wish to move forward with the proposed charter amendment, the proposed ballot title and ballot language reflected in Table #1 were developed. The ballot title and ballot language would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #1. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Establishment of an Office of Food Systems in the Leon County Charter
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Leon County Charter be amended to require the County to establish an Office of Food Systems to support food access and food systems, and require the establishment of a Countywide Food Systems Plan?

A simple majority is needed to recommend a charter amendment to the Board. A status report on the Committee's recommendation(s) will be provided to the Board at its regularly scheduled meeting on March 10, 2026. Upon approval by a simple majority of the Board, public hearings will be scheduled in June or July 2026, for the Committee to take public input and formally consider the proposed Charter amendments. The outcome of the public hearings will be reflected in the Committee's final report to the Board in August 2026.

As previously stated, there are no other county charters in the State of Florida that include the specific policy issue of food access or food insecurity. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. The County Commission currently has the authority and actively addresses food insecurity through its policy, programming, partnerships, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Additionally, the Committee may determine its recent approval and further consideration of a proposed charter amendment for revisions to the Preamble appropriately captures in the County's commitment and ongoing efforts to address food insecurity and enhance food access.

Therefore, the proposed charter amendment on the specific policy issue of food access is not recommended. An alternative option available to the Committee is to adopt a policy recommendation as shown in Table #2, encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community. Upon approval by the Committee, this policy recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report to the Board.

Table #2. Draft Policy Recommendation to Board of County Commissioners

Draft Policy Recommendation
The Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee encourages the Board of County Commissioners to continue Leon County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community through the utilization of empirical data, active engagement, significant investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders that increase food access in neighborhoods with high food insecurity rates.

Options:

1. Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community.
2. Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioner to address food insecurity in the Leon County Charter (Attachment #1).

Agenda Item #2

December 18, 2025

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Food Insecurity Provisions

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

At its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) requested an agenda item related to food security in the Leon County Charter. For the Committee's consideration of this issue, this item provides the requested analysis including information on the County's ongoing efforts to address food insecurity through community engagement, programs, partnerships, and investment.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report and take no further action.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Committee at its December 4, 2025 meeting, this item provides an analysis on the inclusion of food security in the Leon County Charter. This item also provides information on the County's longstanding commitment and ongoing efforts to address food insecurity through community engagement, programs, partnerships, and investment.

During the December 4th meeting, Dr. Bruce Strouble disseminated a handout on food security for inclusion in the County Charter. The three options include establishing a new County office in the County Charter related to food access; enacting food security as a County responsibility; and incorporating a value statement to affirm the County's commitment to "equitable access to nutritious food" in the County Charter. Subsequently, the Committee requested an agenda item to further consider the three options for a potential charter amendment.

Reducing food insecurity in the community is a high priority of Leon County as demonstrated through intentional community engagement; innovative programs; long-term community partnerships; and significant investments that are responding to the community needs. This has resulted in over $7.5 million invested by the County and the delivery of nearly 55 million meals to low-income households over the last five years.

As presented in this item, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the authority to address food insecurity. The Board has successfully taken action to reduce food insecurity through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Leon County Charter. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. For this reason, there are no County charters in Florida that include language regarding food insecurity. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community as described in the item. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Analysis:

The United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) defines food insecurity as a household-level economic and social condition characterized by limited or uncertain access to adequate food. According to Feeding America, factors (i.e., root causes) for food insecurity include "a lack of income or other resources" such as transportation and knowledge/access to available services.

Food insecurity is addressed primarily through a variety of programs funded and administered by the federal and/or state governments. The mission of the USDA Division of Food and Nutrition Service is to "increase food security and reduce hunger" by funding a network of programs that provide direct food assistance, including the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP), child nutrition programs, Special Supplemental Nutrition Program for Women, Infants, and Children (WIC), and The Emergency Food Assistance Program (TEAP).

In Florida, several state agencies administer the USDA programs, including the Department of Agriculture and Consumer Sciences, Department of Children and Families, and the Department of Health. In addition to administering the federal programs, the state agencies implement a wide variety of programs that address the factors or root causes of food insecurity including homelessness, housing, and healthcare.

As a long-standing priority of Leon County, the County leads coordination with local partners to identify opportunities to augment state and federal programs in a collective effort to reduce food insecurity. The following information details the County's extensive and ongoing efforts to actively engage residents on short and long-term solutions; investments in established and innovative programming and services that are expanding access to food; and highlights the County's collaboration and coordination with local stakeholders to respond to the changing needs in the community.

Leon County's Ongoing Efforts and Investments to Address Food Insecurity

County-Led Community Engagement

The County places a high emphasis on engaging the community in addressing food insecurity. In 2022, in partnership with Second Harvest, the City, and the Children's Services Council of Leon County (CSC Leon), the County hosted dinners entitled, Breaking Bread Together: Neighborhood Dinner and Conversation on Tackling Food Insecurity. Nearly 300 Leon County residents participated in the nine dinner meetings held in the neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates based on Feed America and U.S. Census data. Participants included neighborhood residents, neighborhood business owners, faith-based leaders, not-for-profit organization representatives, and the United Way of the Big Bend (UWBB). These meetings focused on identifying barriers to food access and developing collaborative solutions.

The main theme that emerged during each meeting was that residents of the neighborhoods were unaware of the significant level of resources available in the community to address food insecurity as well as overall basic needs such as childcare, healthcare, and employment services. In response, the County partnered with the City, CSC Leon, and UWBB to establish the Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Committee (Trusted People Committee). The Committee is comprised of neighborhood leaders and stakeholders from Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, South City, and Woodville neighborhoods that are appointed by the County, City, CSC Leon, and UWBB. The Trusted People Committee works with the County and partners to engage the residents to raise awareness and connect them to resources in the community that provide access to food and enhances their quality of life. Through work with the Trusted People Committee, the County and partners have collaborated on events such as cooking classes, housing workshops, and youth job fairs that seek to reduce food insecurity while also enhancing the overall quality of life and economic security of the neighborhoods. This community-driven approach to address food insecurity was nationally recognized with a National Association of Counties Achievement Award in 2024. As presented further in the item, the dinner meetings also led to the establishment of the Neighborhood Engagement and Community Partnership position which actively engages and connects residents to agencies, programs, and services focused on improving quality of life and economic prosperity for individuals and families.

Community Human Services Partnerships (CHSP) Annual Funding

Leon County is committed to combating food insecurity by providing annual funding to local organizations in partnership with the City through CHSP. For nearly 30 years, the County and City have partnered to plan, coordinate, and invest in human services through CHSP. The County's investment ensures access to nutritious food for individuals and families by supporting a variety of programs ranging from food pantries and mobile distributions to senior nutrition services and child meal programs, including:

- Second Harvest of the Big Bend: Second Harvest operates a variety of robust and comprehensive programs that provide healthy food for individuals and families in Leon County and the surrounding areas. Through CHSP, Second Harvest distributes pantry staples, fresh produce, and meat to approximately 68 pantry partner agencies throughout Leon County. These partners collectively offer food assistance approximately 200 times per month to residents in need. Additionally, Second Harvest has hosted over 30 targeted community food distributions in Leon County this year. Through its Senior Grocery Program, Second Harvest helps feed low-income seniors in the community at the end of the month when their financial resources have been exhausted. Currently, the program provides food to hundreds of seniors each month, including cereal, canned fruits and vegetables, proteins and grains, fresh bread, and produce. In addition, Second Harvest responds to cover the food needs of families during unexpected disasters and emergencies which quickly increase the number of people needing food stabilization support.

  CHSP funding also supports Second Harvest's operation of a robust program through school pantries and mobile markets in the Promise Zone. The CHSP Promise Zone category funds human service programs that specifically serve neighborhoods in census tracts with high poverty rates and include Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City. Though all of these neighborhoods are exclusively within the City limits, County and City funding is provided through CHSP to jointly support social service needs in our community. The School Pantry Program offers access to nutritious food for children and their families struggling with hunger through a food pantry in their school by providing fresh fruits and vegetables, meat or protein options, and other pantry staples. Mobile markets are "pantries on wheels" brought into the targeted neighborhoods to ensure neighbors can obtain nutritious food for their families through a grocery store shopping experience.

- Elder Care Services: CHSP funds Elder Care Services Nutrition Program. Elder Care Services is the leading provider of community-based senior care in Leon County which includes specialized support, outreach services, and meals. Elder Care Services delivers essential nutrition to Leon County residents aged 60 and older who are at nutritional risk and homebound due to illness or disability through their Meals on Wheels program. Additionally, Elder Care Services operates seven congregate meal sites, including Westminster Oaks, the Senior Center, Bethel Towers, Casa Calderon, Lincoln Neighborhood Center, Miracle Village, and Smith-Williams Service Center. The congregate meal sites create opportunities for seniors to build community, receive social support, and reduce food insecurity and isolation. These sites serve older adults who can leave their homes but may face economic or social challenges. Due to CHSP funding,

Elder Care Services served 681 unduplicated seniors with over 91,000 meals through the Meals on Wheels Program and congregate meal sites last year (FY 2025).

- Good News Outreach: CHSP funds the Good News Outreach's Food Pantry Program which provides critical resources to the community through several social safety net programs. For individuals who are disabled or unable to travel, Good News Outreach offers once a month home delivery of groceries to residents in need. In FY 2025, CHSP funding supported the program in serving more than 3,000 unduplicated residents across Leon County.

Expanding Food Access Through Community Partnerships

Building upon the direct support provided through CHSP, the County remains committed to working with local partners in investing in programs to reduce food insecurity by addressing both access and availability within high-need communities. These collaborative efforts include transportation assistance to support access to fresh food, grocery lockers, mobile markets, meal sites for children, innovative gardening incentive programs, and new food distribution opportunities, as detailed below.

- 2-1-1 Big Bend Lyft Program. As previously mentioned, the Breaking Bread Community dinner revealed the lack of access as a significant barrier to food security, particularly for residents in underserved areas. To help address the need for greater knowledge of available resources and transportation, the County expanded its partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to provide annual direct funding for the 24-hour Helpline and the Lyft transportation program. The 2-1-1 Lyft Program provides Leon County residents with free rideshare transportation to grocery stores, food distribution sites, and other critical resources. Through this program, veterans are eligible for up to five rides per month, while other residents can request one ride per month. According to 2-1-1, nearly 4,000 Lyft rides were provided in FY 2025.

- Grocery Lockers. In another effort to expand access to food, the County, in partnership with the City and Second Harvest, purchased and installed four temperature-controlled grocery lockers in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and high food insecurity rates. The lockers were installed at Sabal Palm Elementary in the Providence neighborhood, Hartsfield Elementary, Good News Outreach in Frenchtown, and Neighborhood Medical Center in South City following feedback gathered during nine community dinners in 2022, ensuring alignment with neighborhood needs. The lockers are accessible 24/7 and, through Second Harvest, provide fresh, healthy, and nutritious food options to residents. Since their launch, the food lockers have provided over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents, significantly expanding access to nutritious food in high-need areas.

- Mobile Markets and Neighborhood Empowerment Events: In 2023, the County funded Second Harvest's purchase of a truck for their Mobile Pop-Up Pantry program. The mobile markets provide families with fresh produce, protein, and nonperishable food items. Second Harvest also hosts Neighborhood Empowerment events, which not only provide families with fresh produce and nonperishable food items but also include local human service providers to offer families an array of services, including employment assistance, healthcare, legal support, SNAP benefits enrollment, and other essential resources. Mobile markets are hosted several times a month and Neighborhood Empowerment events are held monthly throughout the community. Both mobile markets and Neighborhood Empowerment events occur in neighborhoods with high food insecurity rates, including the Lincoln Center in Frenchtown, Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, and Bond Community Health Center in South City.

- Summer BreakSpot and Kids Café. The County also partners with Second Harvest to serve as Summer BreakSpot locations at the Main Library, Dr. BL Perry, Jr. Branch, Jane G. Sauls Fort Braden Branch, and the Woodville Branch. Summer BreakSpot provides kids with free meals and snacks during the summer months to ensure that children have a stable source of food when school is out. This year, these four library locations distributed 4,255 meals to kids from June 2nd to August 1st, which is more than any previous summer. Throughout the year, the Main Library is also a location for the Kid's Café program, which provides Leon County children with food from Second Harvest after school. The program operates from August to June and helps bridge the gap for children who receive most of their meals from school.

- Seed Library. To educate and promote access to food through gardening, the Library also partners with UF/IFAS Leon County Extension to host the Seed Library Program. Launched in February 2015, the Seed Library Program provides residents up to five seed packets per month using their library card, or three packets per month without a library card, at any branch library that can be planted to grow food. Each year, the Seed Library hosts two kick-offs at the beginning of the spring and fall to introduce the seasonal seed varieties available to Library patrons and County residents.

- Leon County Community Garden Program. In addition to the Seed Library, to encourage residents to grow their own nutritious food, the County's Sustainability Office operates the Leon County Community Garden Program to provide technical assistance, materials, and grants to support residents in establishing or revitalizing community gardens throughout the County. Eligible locations for grants include vacant County-owned land, school campuses, and other community spaces. Grants of up to $1,000 are available to support garden development and sustainability efforts.

  The gardens play a vital role in enhancing food access; promoting local food production; offering hands-on education in gardening and nutrition for children and families; and strengthening neighborhood connections and community health. Within the past two years, the Community Garden Program has supported the establishment of eight community gardens in neighborhoods such as South City, Frenchtown, and Griffin Heights.

- Partnership with Farm Share. Building on our efforts to address food insecurity in the community, the County recently entered into a formal agreement that will enhance its collaboration with Farm Share, Inc. (Farm Share), to distribute fresh produce to residents. Farm Share is a not-for-profit organization located throughout Florida that works directly with local farmers to provide fresh produce such as fruits and vegetables to the community and neighborhoods in the Big Bend region with high needs. Over the past few years, Farm Share has held more than 120 food distribution events in Leon County, including at the North Florida Fairgrounds and Health Department locations. Each event serves 250 to

1,000 families with 25-pound food boxes. Last year, Farm Share distributed 1.4 million pounds of food through distribution events and food pantries in Leon County.

Upon request, the County coordinates with Farm Share on equipment, supplies needs, and operational support (i.e., equipment, law enforcement, traffic control, event staffing support, insurance, etc.) for food distribution events at the North Florida Fairgrounds, state Health Department locations, and County facilities (parks and libraries). The County also works with Farm Share to promote the food distribution events to neighborhoods in Leon County with high poverty and food insecurity rates, and collaborates with local stakeholders such as Second Harvest, the Tallahassee Urban League, and other social service organizations to connect residents to essential resources during the food distribution events. This partnership expands resident and neighborhood access to fresh produce and nutritious meals that serve to reduce food insecurity in the community.

Consideration of Leon County Charter Amendments Related to Food Security

As mentioned earlier, the Committee requested an analysis on the inclusion of food security in the Leon County Charter. During the December 4th meeting, Dr. Bruce Strouble provided a handout with specific options for the Committee to consider for a proposed charter amendment (Attachment #1). The options included:

- Creation of the Office of Food Access & Resilience in the County Charter
- Addition of food access and food system resilience in the County Charter as a county responsibility
- Addition of language that affirms "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the preamble of the County Charter

The following provides an analysis of each option presented in the handout:

- Creation of the Office of Food Access & Resilience. The County has an existing department dedicated to reducing food insecurity. The County's Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships (HSCP) is implementing the programs (CHSP, Grocery Lockers, etc.) that address food insecurity in coordination and collaboration with local stakeholders including the City, not-for-profit organizations, and neighborhoods. Simultaneously, HSCP coordinates and collaborates with community partners to deliver resources (housing, transportation, healthcare, etc.) that commonly serve as root causes of food insecurity.

  Additionally, following feedback during the series of neighborhood meetings presented earlier, the County established Neighborhood Engagement and Community Partnership position which is dedicated to engaging and connecting high poverty and food insecurity neighborhoods with the available resources (i.e., food, housing, healthcare, etc.) in the community. The position actively engages and connects residents to agencies, programs, and services focused on improving quality of life and economic prosperity for individuals and families. These efforts include staffing quarterly meetings with the Trusted People Committee; holding neighborhood events in partnership with local providers on food, housing and other human services; and participating in neighborhood association meetings to ensure residents have the knowledge and access to essential and available resources.

- Food access and food system resilience as a county responsibility. As presented earlier, food access and food system resilience is primarily the responsibility of the federal and state governments. Federal and state agencies administer a variety of programs including SNAP, WIC, and TEAP that were designed to address food insecurity. As detailed throughout the item, the County has actively identified opportunities to augment state and federal programs in a collective effort improve food access and food system through policies, community engagement, partnerships, programming, and investments.
- Affirming "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the preamble. The County Charter states as follows:
    - We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government and in order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

    The language in the preamble is broad and focuses on the purpose for which residents voted to establish Leon County as a charter county. The preamble does not include any specific policy issues or make commitments for specific programs and/or services. Attempting to prioritize current challenges and preferred programs in the Charter may overlook other important community needs or lead to an endless listing of program areas being identified in the County Charter.

In evaluating the other charter counties in the State of Florida, the specific policy issue of food access or food security is not included in any charter. County charters tend to address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of the government. As presented in this item, the Board currently has the authority to address food insecurity, which continues to be demonstrated through its policy, programming and budgetary decisions without the need for charter change. Therefore, a charter amendment would not be necessary.

Additionally, a proposed charter amendment would not be consistent with the County's methodical approach for addressing food insecurity and the ever-changing needs of their respective communities. As highlighted through the item, in order to respond to the most pressing human service needs in the community, the County regularly conducts data-driven analysis, collaborates with local stakeholders, and engages impacted residents. Through this approach, the County has successfully maximized efficiency, reduced duplication, and optimized limited human services resources to address the community's most critical needs such as food insecurity, as well as emergency homeless shelters, affordable housing, and primary health care.

With these considerations in mind, alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Conclusion

Leon County remains dedicated to addressing food insecurity in the community. Although food access and food resilience is primarily the responsibility of federal and state governments, the County in coordination with local partners have augmented state and federal programs in a collective effort to reduce food insecurity. Over the past five years, the County has invested more than $7.6 million and delivered nearly 55 million meals ion the community. This has been accomplished utilizing data-driven analysis, collaboration with local stakeholders, and engaging impacted residents.

In evaluating the other charter counties in the State of Florida, the specific policy issue of food access or food security is not included in any charter. County charters tend to address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of the government. As presented in this item, the Board currently has the authority to address food insecurity, which continues to be demonstrated through its policy, programming and budgetary decisions without the need for charter change. Therefore, a charter amendment would not be necessary.

Alternatively, the Committee may wish to make a recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for consideration by the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report and take no further action.
2. Direct staff to include a recommendation encouraging Leon County to continue its long-standing commitment to reduce food insecurity in the community as part of the Citizen Charter Review Committee report.
3. Direct staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on food insecurity as determined by the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
4. Committee direction.

1. Food Security & Charter Reform Handout provided by Dr. Bruce Strouble, December 4, 2025

Food Security & Charter Reform

Dr. Bruce Strouble – Leon County Charter Review Committee

Why Food Security Belongs in the Charter

- Over 30,000 Leon County residents are food insecure (Feeding America, 2024).
- Food insecurity rates have been as high as 19.7% in recent years (CLEO Institute, 2019).
- Burden is heaviest on Black households, single mothers, seniors, and 32304 residents (CLEO Institute, 2019; Leon County Prosperity Report, 2023).
- Seniors show significant food insecurity due to fixed incomes and transportation barriers (Opalinski et al., 2023).
- County food relief programs are discretionary; Charter codification ensures continuity regardless of politics (Leon County FY22 Budget Notes).
- Climate shocks, inflation, and supply chain disruptions increase food insecurity risk, making it a public health and resilience obligation (CLEO Institute, 2019).

What Other Governments Are Doing

- New York City Charter mandates an Office of Food Policy and a ten-year coordinated food plan (NYC Charter §§20-a, 20-i).
- Toronto and Vancouver adopted Food Charters establishing food access as a community right (Toronto Food Charter, 2001; Vancouver Food Charter, 2007).
- Belo Horizonte constitutionally guarantees the right to adequate food, which reduced hunger and child malnutrition (Belo Horizonte Food Security Policy, 1993).
- Maine became the first U.S. state to adopt a constitutional Right to Food (Maine Const. Art. I §25, 2021).

Three Options for Leon County

1. Office of Food Access & Resilience (Heaviest Lift)
Creates a permanent office (Article II) dedicated to coordinating food system equity, emergency food planning, and resilience efforts, similar to NYC's charter-based Office of Food Policy (NYC Charter §20-i).

2. Article I Amendment (Medium Lift)
Adds food access and food system resilience as a constitutional county duty, aligning Leon County with global right-to-food frameworks (Toronto Food Charter; Maine Constitution, 2021).

3. Preamble Update (Lightest Lift)
Adds language affirming "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value. This mirrors values-based food security language in Vancouver and Toronto Food Charters.

Closing Statement

Food access is not partisan it is essential. With over 30,000 food-insecure neighbors and disproportionate burdens on historically marginalized communities, Leon County must adopt at least one of these Charter reforms to establish long-term, structural commitment to food access and resilience.

Proposed Charter Amendment Approved by the Citizen Charter Review Committee

February 5, 2026

We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our public affairs. ~~and~~ In order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, we do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

LEON COUNTY CITIZEN CHARTER REVIEW COMMITTEE

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #3

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #3

February 19, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Proposed Charter Amendment on Persistent Disparities Resulting from Historic Public Policies

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Abigail Thomas, Director, Human Services & Community Partnerships

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee, this item provides a proposed charter amendment and corresponding ballot language to address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions in the Leon County Charter (Charter). The proposed charter amendment is not recommended. There are no county charters in Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies. As detailed in the item, consideration and/or adoption of the proposed amendment into the Charter could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as result in legal challenges against the County.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Approve the draft recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to addressing poverty and inequities in the community.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee), this item provides a proposed charter amendment and corresponding ballot language to address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions in the Leon County Charter (Attachment #1). The proposed charter amendment is not recommended. There are no county charters in Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies which, as defined by the proposed amendment, includes slavery and Jim Crow laws. As detailed in the item, consideration and/or adoption of the proposed amendment into the Charter could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as result in legal challenges against the County. The Florida Legislature is actively considering legislation that would prohibit policies and programs that seek to address racial disenfranchisement and/or disparities and enact punitive measures for the adoption and/or implementation of such policies and programs, including the removal of elected officials from office.

On January 22, 2026, the Committee received an analysis of the County's ongoing efforts to reduce poverty and inequity in the community (Attachment #2). Furthermore, the item included an analysis of Dr. Bruce Strouble's proposal (Attachment #3) to amend the County Charter by creating a new section that would require the County to establish programs and funding targeted to communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination. As presented in that item, recent and ongoing state and federal efforts have sought to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that seek to address historic racial disenfranchisement or diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). Accordingly, adopting a charter amendment to establish programs and funding based on historic racial disenfranchisement could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as pose legal challenges to the County.

Subsequently, the Committee requested staff to prepare a proposed charter amendment and corresponding ballot language requiring the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions. There are no county charters in Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies. Additionally, the language such as "persistent disparities" and "historic public policy decisions" are vague and would not provide clarity on the proposed amendment that voters will consider on the ballot. Section 101.161(1), Florida Statutes, states that a ballot summary of any constitutional amendment or other public measure must be printed in clear and unambiguous language. Furthermore, courts have ruled that, while ballot language need not explain every detail or ramification, the language must be clear and give voters fair notice of the decision he or she must make. Therefore, the proposed charter amendment was developed based on the documents submitted by Dr. Strouble which included model language that identifies historic public policy decisions as policies that resulted in racial discrimination (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow laws, etc.). The following analysis presents a proposed charter amendment for consideration that would require the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from any historic public policy decisions such as slavery, Jim Crow laws, and other racial disenfranchisement practices.

However, it is important to note that the County utilizes empirical data and community engagement that has resulted in more than $30 million in human services programs, healthcare, housing, and economic development within the past five years. Additionally, the County has dedicated more than $300 million on infrastructure projects through Blueprint in high poverty neighborhoods which represents 62% of projects planned and underway at Blueprint.

As mentioned earlier, there are no county charters in Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. As presented in this item and the previous Committee item, the Leon County Board of County Commissioners (Board) currently has the statutory authority and has been active in addressing poverty and inequities in the community through policies, programs, and investments. The Board has successfully acted through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Leon County Charter. Adopting language that addresses historic racial discrimination could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as result in legal challenges against the County. Therefore, it is recommended that the Committee not pursue a charter amendment to require the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions.

However, the Committee may determine its recent actions taken to recommend a proposed charter amendment revising the Preamble of the County Charter sufficiently reflects the County's commitment to addressing poverty and inequity in the community. At its February 5, 2026 meeting, the Committee approved a proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board revising the Preamble to affirm the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County is a shared community value. As detailed at that time, the Preamble serves as an introduction and broadly reflects what the Charter seeks to achieve, it does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for the county government. Furthermore, the Preamble is intentionally broad so that the County can adapt and respond to new challenges as determined by the elected County Commission.

Accordingly, the Committee could consider an amendment to the Preamble to codify the County's commitment to addressing poverty and inequity as a guiding aspiration of the document while mitigating potential conflicts with state and federal laws. In addition to the proposed charter amendment to the Preamble, the Committee may wish to provide a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing poverty in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report to the Board.

Analysis:

As previously provided, Leon County has a long history of working to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The County regularly utilizes empirical data developed by federal and state agencies, such as the U.S. Census, Shimberg Center for Housing Studies, and the Florida Department of Health to identify, engage, and invest in local neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty. By utilizing empirical data, including socioeconomic information, the County can target programs and investments in neighborhoods with the highest needs. While the efforts do not specifically focus on racial inequities, the neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty have a higher population of minorities compared to the overall County population. As a result, since 2021, the County has strengthened its efforts to address poverty through the investment of more than $34 million in human services programs, healthcare, housing, and economic development, to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods such as Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City. These actions include the following:

- In 2019, the County in partnership with City established the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) Promise Zone Category which invests $1.1 million each funding cycle to provide direct services such as food, legal aid, after school care, and healthcare to high poverty neighborhoods. For more than 30 years, the County and City have planned, coordinated, and invested in human services through CHSP, which utilizes a competitive grant process to fund essential human services programs delivered by local not-for-profit organizations. As reported through annual reports, 75% of residents served by human service agencies through the CHSP program live in these neighborhoods.
- Over the past several years, the County and City have partnered with Second Harvest of the Big Bend (Second Harvest) to install four temperature-controlled 24/7 food lockers at Good News Outreach in Frenchtown, Neighborhood Medical Center on South Monroe, Hartsfield Elementary School, and Sabal Palm Elementary School. The lockers have distributed over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents.
- In 2024, the County expanded its partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to provide annual direct funding in the amount of $112,500 for the 24-hour Helpline and the Lyft transportation program to address the need for greater knowledge of available resources and transportation. According to 2-1-1, over 4,000 Lyft rides were coordinated in FY 2025. Residents of the 32304 zip code accounted for nearly 830 Lyft rides (22%), the second highest of any zip code behind 32301. Further, the 32304 zip code continues to represent the largest share (31%) of 2-1-1 Helpline call volume.
- The County invests over $1.75 million annually through the Healthcare Services Program (i.e., CareNet) to provide primary care, dental care, mental health services, assistance with prescription medications, and specialty care to uninsured residents. The County partners with Apalachee Center, Bond Community Health Center (Bond), Neighborhood Medical Center (NMC), FAMU Pharmacy, and WeCare. As reported by the healthcare partners, 32304 residents represent the highest percentage of patients served (30%) in the community.
- The County partners with Bond and NMC to provide primary care, dental care, and health screenings through the mobile health units. The mobile units regularly visit Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, Walker Ford Community Center in the Bond Community, and other community hubs to expand access to health care services. Mobile units provide health care services two to three times per week, and at least two Saturdays a month throughout Leon County.
- In 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) through the Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. As part of the partnership, the County donates properties deemed suitable for affordable housing to the CLT to construct new homes. The CLT has completed eight homes thus far on County donated land, including four homes in Griffin Heights.

- In 2022, the County entered into an interlocal agreement with the City to utilize County State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) funds to invest in the construction of new homes in Neighborhood First Program neighborhoods. As a result, the County has invested more than $900,000 for the construction of 13 homes with County SHIP funds in Neighborhood First communities, including six recently completed homes in the Providence and Griffin Heights neighborhoods.
- To address the highest affordable housing need in the community of affordable rental units for very low-income households, the County invested:
    - $5.8 million in direct funding and more than $198 million in bonding for affordable housing rental projects in high poverty communities that have or will build more than 1,200 units within the next 12 to 18 months.
    - $500,000 annually in affordable rental development for very-low and extremely-low income households which includes residents in the 32304 zip code through the combination of SHIP, general revenue, and the County's portion of the newly established affordable housing program in the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV).
    - $175,000 to the Tallahassee Housing Authority to develop a master plan for the Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights.
- Partnering with FAMU Federal Credit Union in 2021 to establish the SmartSteps Microloan Program to provide financial capital to historically marginalized entrepreneurs to build their businesses. The County allocated $2.5 million to establish the program, with FAMU Federal Credit Union contributing a $250,000 match. To date, SmartSteps has distributed over $1 million in microloans to 51 Black, minority, and women-owned businesses. Approximately 36% of loans have gone to businesses located in 32304, more than any other zip code. As a revolving loan program, repaid funds are reinvested to support additional MWSBE businesses.
- Ongoing partnership with Tallahassee State College (TSC) to support the emergency medical technician (EMT) program, including the dual enrollment program located on the campus of Godby High School which is the primary high school for the 32304 zip code. This program provides students in 32304 with the skills and professional certification to work as an EMT upon graduation. Since the program launched in 2023, 23 students have completed the training with an additional 10 students currently enrolled for the 2025-2026 school year.
- Partnering with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber) in 2022 to support the Bank On Tallahassee Initiative which improves access to banks and credit unions for low-income households and helps reduce barriers for households with previous credit issues. This led to the development of a Financial Empowerment Blueprint approved by the Board that memorializes the County's ongoing efforts to spur economic growth in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty.

At the same time, the County has dedicated $319 million through the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (Blueprint) on infrastructure in high poverty neighborhoods. In fact, 20 of the 32 Blueprint projects (62%) planned or underway are 32301, 32303, 32304, and 32305. These projects include:

- $23 million for the construction of the Magnolia Drive Trail that builds sidewalks, installs underground electric utilities, connects South City and surrounding neighborhoods to public transit and employment centers.
- $20 million for stormwater improvements, multi-use trails, and community space that will connect the Bond, Callen, Liberty Park, Lee Manor, and Providence neighborhoods.
- $9 million for the Orange-Meridian Placemaking project which is constructing a new park on the Southside while improving stormwater drainage.
- More than $1.5 million for the ongoing development of the South City Transit Center and improvements in the South City neighborhood.

The County has implemented these programs and investments based on strategic priorities of the Board and long-standing partnerships with local stakeholders, including the City and social services agencies. The County's efforts are similar to how other communities address socioeconomic disparities as no charter counties in the State of Florida include the specific policy issue of addressing harms from historic public policy in any charter. Further, the current practice of addressing poverty through strategic initiatives, targeted investments, and long-standing partnerships that do not utilize race and gender as a determining factor in service provision may reduce the County's risk of jeopardizing federal or state funding and potential for legal challenges.

Minority and Women Business Enterprise (MWSBE) Program

In addition to programs addressing the human services, financial empowerment, infrastructure needs in the community, the County has long operated a narrowly defined race- and gender-based Minority and Women Business Enterprise (MWBE) program to enhance procurement opportunities within the County for small businesses. The program provides an incentive for small businesses to access County, City, and Blueprint procurement opportunities within certain contracting categories (construction, architecture & engineering, professional services, materials and supplies) where minority- and women-owned businesses have historically been underrepresented in the procurement process so long as there is sufficient availability of said businesses to compete for County, City and Blueprint contracts. Today, the program operates as a joint office of the County and City under the OEV.

The MWBE program operates based on the legal defensibility of a disparity study prepared by a third-party which must demonstrate factual predicate evidence of significant disparity and the program must be narrowly tailored to satisfy the legal foundation for administering a race- and gender-based procurement program. Based on the market data provided by the disparity study, the program assigns aspirational goals for contracting with MWBEs by procurement category. The aspirational goals cannot be mandated by the County, the City or Blueprint. The following represents the latest annual reporting figures from FY 2024 on the County's MWBE utilization:

- The County spent approximately $2.2 million with minority-owned vendors which was 148% of the aspirational goal as determined by the disparity study.
- The County spent approximately $7.5 million with women-owned vendors which was 579% of the aspirational goal as determined by the disparity study.

Proposed Charter Amendment

There are no county charters in Florida that include language related to persistent disparities from historic public policies. However, as requested by the Committee, a proposed charter amendment and ballot language is provided in Attachment #1 that would require the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions. Based on the documents provided by Dr. Strouble, the proposed amendment would include the following:

- Defines "persistent disparities" as individuals or communities whose ancestors were subjected to historic policy decisions that resulted in disenfranchisement and/or disinvestment based on race.
- Defines "historic policy decisions" as the following:
    - Forced or compulsory labor systems in effect prior to 1865 (i.e., slavery);
    - Post-Emancipation systems of coerced labor, including debt peonage and convict leasing;
    - Legally mandated racial segregation in housing, education, health care, transportation, employment, or public services;
    - Exclusionary zoning, land use restrictions, or racially restrictive covenants enforced or sanctioned by Leon County;
    - Mid-century urban renewal, clearance, or redevelopment programs that displaced communities based on racial criteria under a then-existing Leon County policy; and
    - Documented denial of access to publicly funded services by the County on the basis of statutory racial classifications.
- Requires the County to conduct historical impact audits every five (5) years to identify individuals and/or communities that experienced disparities from historic public policies as defined in the amendment; document the specific policies; assess the present disparities; and provide recommendations for programs, services, and investments (i.e., restoration activities) to "repair or mitigate" the disparities.
- Requires the County to incorporate the findings of the historical impact audits into planning documents such as capital improvement and the comprehensive plan.
- Authorizes the County Commission to establish a Community Restoration Fund dedicated solely to support programs, services, and investments (i.e., restoration activities) that benefit individuals and/or communities that have experienced disparities from historic public policies as defined in the amendment.

- Authorizes the County to prioritize access to County-owned land to individuals and/or communities that experienced disparities from historic public policies as defined in the amendment.
- Requires the County Commission to adopt an ordinance to implement the proposed charter amendment that would include the definition of eligibility for individuals and/or communities that experienced disparities from historic public policies; process for eligibility verification; structure for community engagement; and safeguards to ensure any programs, services, or investments remain exclusive to individuals and/or communities that experienced disparities from historic public policies as defined in the amendment.

The proposed charter amendment prepared based on the direction of the Committee could present legal and fiscal challenges for the County. Recent and ongoing state and federal efforts have sought to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that seek to address historic racial disenfranchisement or DEI. As a result, adopting a charter amendment to establish programs and funding based on historic racial disenfranchisement could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as result in legal challenges against the County.

Under the U.S. Constitution, generally programs that differentiate based on race are subject to strict scrutiny. Various cases have litigated whether the government may permissibly act to remedy past discrimination. Every case is fact-specific, with few clearly drawn lines. To meet the strict scrutiny test, the government must demonstrate that the law serves a compelling government interest and is narrowly tailored to achieve that interest. The law must also be the least restrictive means available to further that interest. There are recent cases where government programs that used race as an eligibility factor have been enjoined and struck down (see, e.g., Students for Fair Admissions v. President and Fellows of Harvard College and Students for Fair Admissions v. University of North Carolina, 600 U.S. 181 (2023) (holding that racial preferences in college admissions violate the Fourteenth Amendment and Title VI).

At the state level, Florida passed the Individual Freedom Act in 2022 to restrict training related to systemic racism and identity in schools and workplaces. In addition, the Florida Legislature is considering legislation that would prohibit local governments from adopting or funding DEI-related policies and programs. The definition of DEI in the legislation includes promoting or providing "preferential treatment or special benefits to a person or group based on that person's or group's race, color, sex, ethnicity, gender identity, or sexual orientation". Based on the legislation, the proposed charter amendment would meet the DEI definition.

The Florida legislation also voids any current DEI policies and programs that are currently in place, removes elected officials from office who violate the prohibition, and authorizes residents to sue local governments that adopt, implement and/or fund DEI-related policies and programs.

At the federal level, Executive Order 14173 issued on January 21, 2025, rescinded long-standing federal contractor requirements related to race and gender-based employment and contracting practices. Additionally, several federal departments have begun including language in grant contracts that require recipients to certify that they do not "operate any programs that advance or promote DEI, DEIA (Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Accessibility), or discriminatory equity ideology". As a result, many Florida local governments have already eliminated or suspended their minority- and women-owned business programs so not to jeopardize millions of dollars in federal grant funds. In December 2025, the County was awarded a $16.8 million grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation (US DOT) for safety improvements on North Monroe Street. The County is currently coordinating with US DOT on the development of a contract agreement which may impose similar provisions that prohibit DEI-related policies, programs, and services.

There is also the possibility that the federal government, state government and/or individuals may bring action against Leon County for violating various existing federal and/or state laws depending on the programs to be implemented as provided in the proposed charter amendment. For example, the state and federal fair housing laws generally prohibit housing programs based on race, color, religion, sex, national origin, familial status, disability, or age.

Therefore, the adoption of the proposed charter amendment is not recommended as it could violate established federal law, be prohibited by pending Florida legislation, and immediately jeopardize federal funding recently awarded to the County. However, should the Committee wish to recommend the proposed amendment, proposed ballot title and ballot are provided in Table #1 that would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #1. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Leon County Charter Amendment Addressing Persistent Disparities from Historic Public Policy Decisions
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Leon County Charter be amended to require the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions such as slavery and racial segregation, by requiring the County to conduct historical impact audits; authorize the establishment a Community Restoration Fund dedicated solely to support programs, services, and investments that benefit individuals and/or communities that experienced disparities from historic public policy decisions; and provide for other benefits?

A simple majority is needed to recommend a charter amendment to the Board of County Commissioners. A status report on the Committee's recommendation(s) will be provided to the Board at its regularly scheduled meeting on March 10, 2026. Upon approval by a simple majority of the Board, public hearings will be scheduled in June or July 2026, for the Committee to take public input and formally consider the proposed Charter amendments. The outcome of the public hearings will be reflected in the Committee's final report to the Board in August 2026.

As stated earlier, no county charters in Florida include language to assess and address disparities from historic public policies since charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. The County Commission actively addresses poverty and inequity through its policies, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Therefore, a charter amendment to require the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions is not recommended.

On February 5, 2026, the Committee approve a proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board revising the Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity among residents of Leon County as follows:

> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our public affairs. ~~and~~ In order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, we do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

The Preamble captures broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule and governmental decisions being made at the local level as well as the role of residents in shaping their local government. The Preamble is intentionally broad so that the County can adapt and respond to new challenges as determined by the elected County Commission. It does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for the county government. Therefore, the Committee may determine recent actions taken to recommend a proposed charter amendment revising the Preamble sufficiently reflects the County's commitment to addressing poverty and inequity in the community.

In addition to the proposed charter amendment to the Preamble, the Committee may wish to provide a policy recommendation, as shown in Table #2, to encourage the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to addressing poverty through the utilization of empirical data, active engagement, significant investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders that enhance the quality of life and economic prosperity of citizens and neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities.

Draft Policy Recommendation
The Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee encourages the Board of County Commissioners to continue Leon County's long-standing commitment to addressing poverty in the community through the utilization of empirical data, active engagement, significant investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders that enhance the quality of life and economic prosperity of citizens and neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities.

The proposed policy recommendation would be included in the status report on the Committee's actions to be presented to the Board in March 2026 as well as the Committee's Final Report to be presented in August 2026.

Options:

1. Approve a the draft recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to addressing poverty and inequities in the community.
2. Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions in the Leon County Charter (Attachment #1).

Proposed Charter Amendment

Sec. 1.XX – Addressing Persistent Disparities Resulting From Historic Public Policy Decisions

(1) The County shall assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions as provided for in this section.

(2) Definitions.

(A) Persistent disparities shall mean individuals or communities whose ancestors were subjected to historic policy decisions as described in Section 1.XX (2)(B) that resulted in disenfranchisement and/or disinvestment based on race.

(B) Historic Policy Decisions shall mean any of the following government-imposed policies and/or conditions:

a. Forced or compulsory labor systems in effect prior to 1865;
b. Post-Emancipation systems of coerced labor, including debt peonage and convict leasing;
c. Legally mandated racial segregation in housing, education, health care, transportation, employment, or public services;
d. Exclusionary zoning, land use restrictions, or racially restrictive covenants enforced or sanctioned by Leon County;
e. Mid-century urban renewal, clearance, or redevelopment programs that displaced communities based on racial criteria under a then-existing Leon County policy; and
f. Documented denial of access to publicly funded services by Leon County on the basis of statutory racial classifications.

(C) Restoration Activities shall mean County actions including programs, services, and investments that repair or mitigate persistent disparities directly traceable to the policies described in Section 1.XX (2)(B).

(3) Historic Impact Audit

(A) The County shall conduct a historical impact audit every five (5) years to:

a. Determine which individuals and/or communities meet the criteria in Section 1.XX (2)(A);
b. Document the specific policies that caused long-term inequities;
c. Assess current and persistent disparities linked to those policies;
d. Provide recommendations for targeted restoration activities.

(4) Community Restoration Fund

(A) The County Commission may establish a Community Restoration Fund dedicated solely to support Restoration Activities that benefit individuals and communities identified under Section 1.XX (2)(A). Eligible activities include:

a. Multi-generational housing stability
b. Displacement prevention
c. Community land stewardship
d. Environmental health remediation
e. Restoration of cultural and historical sites
f. Community wealth-building initiatives
g. Health and educational infrastructure
h. Neighborhood reinvestment in historically displaced areas

(5) Integration with Planning and Budgeting

(A) Findings from Historical Impact Audits shall be incorporated into:

a. Capital improvement planning
b. Neighborhood planning
c. Housing strategies
d. Environmental and resilience planning

(6) Priority Access to County-owned Land

(A) The County may grant priority access to County-owned land through leasing, stewardship agreements, or community trusts to individuals or communities that meet the criteria in Section 1.XX (2)(A) for the following:

a. Housing
b. Community agriculture
c. Cooperatives
d. Cultural preservation
e. Economic development
f. Memorial or restorative purposes

(7) Implementation and Compliance

(A) The Board of County Commissioners shall enact an ordinance defining the criteria for individual and/or community eligibility, processes for verifying eligibility, structures for community participation in decision-making, and safeguards to ensure restoration activities remain targeted to individuals or communities under Section 1.XX (2)(A).

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #2

January 22, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Considerations for Addressing Poverty and Racial Inequity in the County Charter

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Abigail Thomas, Director, Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

Summary:

At its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to address communities and neighborhoods impacted by poverty and racial inequities. This item provides the requested analysis including information on the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and historic inequity through programs, policies and partnerships in the community.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Accept the report on Leon County's commitment and ongoing efforts to tackle poverty and historic inequities in the community.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its December 4, 2025 meeting, the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) requested an agenda item to consider amending the Leon County Charter to address communities and neighborhoods impacted by poverty and racial inequities. This item provides the requested analysis including information on the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and historic inequity through programs, policies and partnerships in the community.

During the December 4th meeting, Dr. Bruce Strouble distributed a handout that proposed the establishment of a new section in the County Charter that would require the County to establish programs and funds based on communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination (Attachment #1). Subsequently, the Committee requested an agenda item to further consider the proposal for a potential charter amendment. The principal tenets of the proposal, as described further in the Analysis section, are as follows:

- Acknowledgment of historic local and state policies that created "generational disadvantage to specific communities" which the proposal identifies as black residents and neighborhoods.
- Conduct periodic historical disparity audits to identify geographic areas where historic public policies (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow segregation, redlining, etc.) presently produce inequities.
- Establish a Community Restoration Fund dedicated to investing exclusively in areas identified in the audit. Investment would include infrastructure, housing stabilization, environmental remediation, neighborhood revitalization, community wealth-building & economic mobility programs, and community healing.
- Ensure County budgets, planning documents, and capital projects include a clear framework for reducing disparities identified in the audits.
- Prioritize access to County-owned lands for historically burdened communities for agriculture, housing, cooperatives, and restorative development.

The primary goal of the proposed charter amendment is to provide exclusive resources and services to neighborhoods that experienced past and historic racial discrimination in the community (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow, etc.). However, recent and ongoing state and federal efforts have sought to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that seek to address historic racial disenfranchisement or diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI). Some federal agencies now require state and local governments to certify that they do not operate any programs that advance or promote DEI as a condition to receive federal grant funding which has led to the suspension and elimination of said programs.

As presented in the item, Leon County currently has a long history of working to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The County regularly utilizes empirical data developed by federal and state agencies such as the U.S. Census, Shimberg Center for Housing Studies, and the Florida Department of Health to identify, engage, and invest in local neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty. As a result, since 2021, the County has strengthened its efforts to address poverty through the investment of more than $34 million in human services programs, healthcare, housing, and economic development, to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods such as Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City. At the same time, the County has dedicated $319 million through the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (Blueprint) on infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods.

As requested by the Committee, an analysis of Dr. Strouble's proposal is provided along with greater detail on the County's efforts to reduce poverty in neighborhoods based on empirical data and community needs. This includes information on recent and ongoing state and federal efforts to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services based on historic racial disenfranchisement, diversity, equity, and inclusion. With exception to the narrowly tailored Minority and Women Business Enterprise program explained later in this item, County's programs and services are not specific to, or solely intended for, historically disenfranchised populations. However, the programs often support residents and areas of the County generally considered historically disenfranchised.

The County has been successful in addressing poverty and inequities in accordance with state and federal laws and without an amendment to the County Charter. Adopting a charter amendment to establish programs and funding based on historic racial disenfranchisement could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as pose legal challenges to the County that are presented in the Analysis. Therefore, it is recommended that the Committee not pursue a charter amendment. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to provide a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing poverty in the community. The recommendation would be included as part of the Committee's report for Board consideration.

Analysis:

The Leon County Charter provides for the structure, organization, and authority of County government. The County Charter does not express specific policy priorities which are achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. However, this item provides the requested analysis for the Committee to consider addressing poverty and racial inequities through the County Charter as well as information on the County's ongoing efforts to address these issues through programs, policies and partnerships in the community.

The County utilizes empirical data developed by federal and state agencies to identify, engage, and invest in local neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty. A variety of data regularly identify the census tracts of Frenchtown and Griffin Heights, located in the 32304 zip code, as high poverty neighborhoods. In September 2025, the Board was provided a report that detailed the County's efforts to address poverty and inequities in the community with an emphasis on the 32304 zip code (Attachment #2). The report commenced with data that indicated 32304 has the following:

- The highest poverty rate in the community (49.4% compared to 18.1% countywide)
- The lowest homeownership rate (13% compared to 52% countywide)
- The highest uninsured rate (12.9% compared to 7.7% countywide)
- One of the lowest median household incomes ($30,823 compared to $66,000 countywide)
- One of the highest unemployment rates (8% compared to 4.4% countywide)

In addition to Frenchtown and Griffin Heights, the neighborhoods and census tracts with poverty rates higher than the County average include: Bond, Providence, and South City. The neighborhoods are all located within the City of Tallahassee (City) limits. As a result, the County regularly collaborates with the City and other local partners to develop, fund, and support a variety of programs, services, events, and initiatives to address poverty and inequity in the neighborhoods.

The County actively supports the implementation of the City's Neighborhood First Program which aims to reduce crime, enhance quality of life, and increase economic prosperity in Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City. While the efforts do not specifically focus on racial inequities, the neighborhoods have a higher population of minorities compared to the overall County population. Additionally, 75% of residents served by human service agencies through the County and City's Community Human Services Partnership program live in these neighborhoods. Therefore, the programs and services presented in the following section provide critical resources in the neighborhoods with the highest minority populations in the community.

County Efforts to Reduce Poverty and Inequities

Leon County currently has a long history of working to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The following highlights the County's ongoing efforts to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities through human services, healthcare, housing, economic development, and infrastructure improvements. Further details are provided in Attachment #2, which includes the report that was provided to the Board in September 2025.

Human Services

Leon County has been steadfast in its commitment and investment in human service programs that improve the quality of life of our residents. Over the past several years, the County has strengthened efforts in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty, including in the 32304 zip code, by expanding access to human services through the following:

- In 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) Promise Zone Category which invests $1.1 million each funding cycle to provide direct services such as food, legal aid, after school care, and healthcare to high poverty neighborhoods. For more than 30 years, the County and City have planned, coordinated, and invested in human services through CHSP, which utilizes a competitive grant process to fund essential human services programs delivered by local not-for-profit organizations.

- Over the past several years, the County and City have partnered with Second Harvest of the Big Bend (Second Harvest) to install four temperature-controlled 24/7 food lockers at Good News Outreach in Frenchtown, Neighborhood Medical Center on South Monroe, Hartsfield Elementary School, and Sabal Palm Elementary School. The lockers have distributed over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents.
- In 2024, the County expanded its partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to provide annual direct funding in the amount of $112,500 for the 24-hour Helpline and the Lyft transportation program to address the need for greater knowledge of available resources and transportation. According to 2-1-1, over 4,000 Lyft rides were coordinated in FY 2025. Residents of the 32304 zip code accounted for nearly 830 Lyft rides (22%), the second highest of any zip code behind 32301. Further, the 32304 zip code continues to represent the largest share (31%) of 2-1-1 Helpline call volume.

Healthcare Services

As presented earlier, residents of the 32304 zip code are most likely to be uninsured in the community. For over two decades, the County has led the effort to ensure residents have access to high quality health care through the following:

- The County invests over $1.75 million annually through the Healthcare Services Program (i.e., CareNet) to provide primary care, dental care, mental health services, assistance with prescription medications, and specialty care to uninsured residents. The County partners with Apalachee Center, Bond Community Health Center (Bond), Neighborhood Medical Center (NMC), FAMU Pharmacy, and WeCare. As reported by the healthcare partners, 32304 residents represent the highest percentage of patients served (30%) in the community.
- The County partners with Bond and NMC to provide primary care, dental care, and health screenings through the mobile health units. The mobile units regularly visit Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights, Walker Ford Community Center in the Bond Community, and other community hubs to expand access to health care services. Mobile units provide health care services two to three times per week, and at least two Saturdays a month throughout Leon County.

Affordable Housing

Access to safe and affordable housing is another critical tool in addressing poverty and inequity. Homeownership is the primary vehicle for wealth creation and promotes neighborhood stability and therefore the County has taken the following actions:

- In 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) through the Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. As part of the partnership, the County donates properties deemed suitable for affordable housing to the CLT to construct new homes. The CLT has completed eight homes thus far on County donated land, including four homes in Griffin Heights.

- In 2022, the County entered into an interlocal agreement with the City to utilize County State Housing Initiative Partnership (SHIP) funds to invest in the construction of new homes in Neighborhood First Program neighborhoods. As a result, the County has invested more than $900,000 for the construction of 13 homes with County SHIP funds in Neighborhood First communities, including six recently completed homes in the Providence and Griffin Heights neighborhoods.
- In 2025, the County contracted with Legal Services of North Florida in the amount of $50,000 annually to provide legal assistance to help low-income families clear title and resolve heirs' property issues, which is anticipated to serve 20 families annually with a focus on high poverty neighborhoods.

Additionally, the highest affordable housing need in the community is affordable rental units for very low-income households. As a result, the County has invested a majority of its affordable housing funds for rental development over the previous five years within 32304 and other zip codes with high poverty rates. Such investments include:

- $5.8 million in direct funding and more than $198 million in bonding for affordable housing rental projects in high poverty communities that have or will build more than 1,200 units within the next 12 to 18 months (Attachment #3).
- $500,000 annually in affordable rental development for very-low and extremely-low income households which includes residents in the 32304 zip code through the combination of SHIP, general revenue, and the County's portion of the newly established affordable housing program in the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV).
- $175,000 to the Tallahassee Housing Authority to develop a master plan for the Springfield Apartments in Griffin Heights.

Financial Empowerment and Economic Development

As presented earlier, unemployment in high poverty neighborhoods is higher than the Countywide average. In addition, businesses in the neighborhoods report a lack of access to capital due to limited banking institutions in their communities. As a result, the County has taken considerable action to address the disparities, including the following:

- Partnering with FAMU Federal Credit Union in 2021 to establish the SmartSteps Microloan Program to provide financial capital to historically marginalized entrepreneurs to build their businesses. The County allocated $2.5 million to establish the program, with FAMU Federal Credit Union contributing a $250,000 match. To date, SmartSteps has distributed over $1 million in microloans to 51 Black, minority, and women-owned businesses. Approximately 36% of loans have gone to businesses located in 32304, more than any other zip code. As a revolving loan program, repaid funds are reinvested to support additional MWSBE businesses.
- Ongoing partnership with Tallahassee State College (TSC) to support the emergency medical technician (EMT) program, including the dual enrollment program located on the campus of Godby High School which is the primary high school for the 32304 zip code. This program provides students in 32304 with the skills and professional certification to work as an EMT upon graduation. Since the program launched in 2023, 23 students have completed the training with an additional 10 students currently enrolled for the 2025-2026 school year.

- Partnering with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber) in 2022 to support the Bank On Tallahassee Initiative which improves access to banks and credit unions for low-income households and helps reduce barriers for households with previous credit issues. This led to the development of a Financial Empowerment Blueprint approved by the Board (Attachment #4) that memorializes the County's ongoing efforts to spur economic growth in neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty.

MWSBE Program

In addition to programs addressing the human services and financial empowerment needs in the community, the County has long operated a narrowly defined race- and gender-based Minority and Women Business Enterprise (MWBE) program to enhance procurement opportunities with the County for small businesses. The program provides an incentive for small businesses to access County procurement opportunities within certain contracting categories (construction, architecture & engineering, professional services, materials and supplies) where minority- and women-owned businesses have historically been underrepresented in the procurement process so long as there is sufficient availability of said businesses to compete for County contracts. Today, the program operates as a joint office of the County and City under the Office of Economic Vitality.

The MWBE program operates based on the legal defensibility of a disparity study prepared by a third-party which must demonstrate factual predicate evidence of significant disparity and the program must be narrowly tailored to satisfy the legal foundation for administering a race- and gender-based procurement program. Based on the market data provided by the disparity study, the program assigns aspirational goals for contracting with MWBEs by procurement category. The aspirational goals cannot be mandated by the County. The following represents the latest annual reporting figures from FY 2024 on the County's MWBE utilization:

- The County spent approximately $2.2 million with minority-owned vendors which was 148% of the aspirational goal as determined by the disparity study.
- The County spent approximately $7.5 million with women-owned vendors which was 579% of the aspirational goal as determined by the disparity study.

Infrastructure Investments

Investment in infrastructure is also essential to the quality of life and economic prosperity in neighborhoods and communities that have historically experienced poverty and inequities. Therefore, the County and City have made significant infrastructure investments in zip codes with the highest poverty rates through Blueprint. In fact, 20 of the 32 Blueprint projects (62%) planned or underway are local in 32301, 32303, 32304, and 32305, for a total investment of $319 million.

As provided in the September 2025 report to the Board (Attachment #2), these projects include:

- $23 million for the construction of the Magnolia Drive Trail that builds sidewalks, installs underground electric utilities, connects South City and surrounding neighborhoods to public transit and employment centers.
- $20 million for stormwater improvements, multi-use trails, and community space that will connect the Bond, Callen, Liberty Park, Lee Manor, and Providence neighborhoods.
- $9 million for the Orange-Meridian Placemaking project which is constructing a new park on the Southside while improving stormwater drainage.
- More than $1.5 million for the ongoing development of the South City Transit Center and improvements in the South City neighborhood.

These projects reflect the County's commitment to identify and engage the neighborhoods and make critical investments that improve the quality of life and economic prosperity for the residents.

Analysis of Proposed Leon County Charter Amendment

As demonstrated, the County has a long and ongoing history of reducing poverty and inequity in the community. These efforts do not require an amendment to the County Charter. As mentioned earlier, the Committee requested further analysis to consider Dr. Strouble's proposal that would create a new section in the County Charter that requires the County to establish programs and funds based on communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination. The following presents the specifics of the proposal and reiterates the policies, programs, services, and investment that align with the proposal that are already being implemented by the County:

Acknowledgment of historic local and state policies that created "generational disadvantage to specific communities" which the proposal identifies as black residents and neighborhoods.

On February 20, 2024, the Board adopted a resolution to acknowledge and apologize for the history of slavery and racism in Leon County (Attachment #5). Resolution 24-11 acknowledges racial inequities that occurred in the County and provides an apology for "the enslavement and segregation of African Americans in the community. The Resolution expressed the Board's commitment to acknowledge and remember the errors that took place while also celebrating the strides that our community has made toward racial equality. It is important to note that the Board of County Commissioners did not have a policy making role in many of these historic inequities such as the segregation of schools, land use decisions within the City limits, lending decisions by private institutions, or operational control of law enforcement actions. However, as detailed throughout this analysis, the County has intentionally led the effort to respond to the impact of racial inequities on poverty in the community.

Conduct periodic historical disparity audits to identify geographic areas where historic public policies (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow segregation, redlining, etc.) presently produce inequities.

The County regularly conducts data driven analysis to respond to the most pressing needs in the community, including poverty and inequity. The County utilizes empirical data developed by federal and state agencies such as the U.S. Census, Shimberg Center for Housing Studies, and the Florida Department of Health to identify, engage, and invest in local neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty. As mentioned earlier, the data has identified neighborhoods such as Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City with: the highest poverty rates, median household income below the County average, high percentage of residents without a high school diploma, and zoned for schools that have historically struggled to meet benchmarks for key educational attainment such as kindergarten readiness.

These neighborhoods also have census tracts with a higher percentage of minorities than other parts of the community. However, it is the empirical data with poverty indicators that the County utilizes for addressing poverty and inequities rather than the racial composition of the neighborhoods. This ensures County programs, services, and investments are consistent with state and federal restrictions on race-related programming presented further in the item.

Establish a Community Restoration Fund dedicated to investing exclusively in areas identified in the audit. Investment would include infrastructure, housing stabilization, environmental remediation, neighborhood revitalization, community wealth-building & economic mobility programs, and community healing.

As described through the item and Attachment #2, the County continues to make significant investment in addressing poverty and inequities in the community. Since 2021, the County has invested more than $34 million to improve the lives of residents in neighborhoods such as Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, and South City through human services programs, healthcare, housing, and economic development. At the same time, another $319 million has been dedicated through Blueprint for infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods.

Additionally, through an interlocal agreement with the City, the Frenchtown/Southside Community Redevelopment Agency (CRA) was established to revitalize the neighborhoods within its boundaries which include Frenchtown and South City. Through the partnership with the City, the County dedicates approximately $4.2 million in annual property tax revenues to the CRA to make critical investments in the neighborhoods in the areas of affordable housing, economic development, and neighborhood revitalization.

Ensure County budgets, planning documents, and capital projects include a clear framework for reducing disparities identified in the audits.

The County's commitment to addressing poverty and inequities is well documented and reflected in its annual investment, policies, and plans adopted by the Board. In addition to the more than $34 million invested since 2021 in human services programs as well as $319 million dedicated through Blueprint for infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods, the County's annual budget includes:

- $7.7 million annually in healthcare for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents.
- $4.2 million annually to the Frenchtown/Southside CRA to invest and revitalize neighborhoods including Frenchtown and South City.
- $1.3 million annually in CHSP for human services for which 75% of funding serves residents in high poverty neighborhoods.

- $1.5 million annually to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing for low-income households.

Additionally, through the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan, the County and City have adopted policies and made capital investments to spur long-term economic growth in high poverty neighborhoods. Incorporated into the Comprehensive Plan is the Southside Action Plan (SAP) which is a robust three-phased approach to creating balanced and equitable growth in those areas designated within the SAP boundary of southern Leon County. The boundary includes Bond, Frenchtown, Griffin Heights, Providence, and South City neighborhoods. The primary goal of the policy is to encourage quality land development and redevelopment within the area to support equitable population growth, establish an environment that incentivizes retention and expansion of business and employment opportunities, and to attain an income mix comparable to the remainder of the urbanized County.

Over the past five years, more than $1.13 billion in public and private investments have been made within the SAP area, which includes an increase in available affordable housing; expansion of businesses and employment centers; and infrastructure improvements. The infrastructure improvements have included road resurfacing, new sidewalks, and access to sewer service. These improvements have been critical to attracting greater private investment to enhance the quality of life and economic opportunities for residents within the SAP area.

Prioritize access to County-owned lands for historically burdened communities for agriculture, housing, cooperatives, and restorative development.

As shared earlier, in 2019, the County, in partnership with the City, established the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. As part of the partnership, the County donates properties deemed suitable for affordable housing to the CLT to construct new homes. The homes are sold to low-income households that have the credit and financial history, but not the capital. The CLT has completed eight homes thus far on County donated land, including four homes in the Griffin Heights neighborhood.

In addition to affordable housing, the County's Sustainability Office operates the Leon County Community Garden Program to provide technical assistance, materials, and grants to support residents in establishing or revitalizing community gardens throughout the County. Eligible locations for grants include vacant County-owned land, school campuses, and other community spaces. Grants of up to $1,000 are available to support garden development and sustainability efforts. Within the past two years, the Community Garden Program has supported the establishment of eight community gardens in neighborhoods such as South City, Frenchtown, and Griffin Heights.

Although the CLT and Community Garden Program have targeted and benefited households and neighborhoods that have historically experienced poverty and inequities, the County does not prioritize programs and services based on race and/or ethnicity. As mentioned throughout the item, the County utilizes empirical data to identify households and neighborhoods most impacted by poverty, and subsequently develops and implements programs and services to improve their quality of life and enhance their economic security.

Federal and State Efforts to Prohibit Policies and Investment Based on Historic Discrimination

The primary goal of the proposed charter amendment is to provide exclusive resources and services to neighborhoods that experienced past and historic racial discrimination in the community (i.e., slavery, Jim Crow, etc.). However, recent and ongoing state and federal efforts have sought to prohibit the adoption and implementation of policies, programs, and services that seek to address historic racial disenfranchisement or DEI. The definition of DEI in Presidential Executive Orders and legislation have generally included employment, policies, programs, and services that "promote or provide preferential treatment or special benefits to a person or group based on race, color, sex, ethnicity, gender identity, or sexual orientation."

At the state level, Florida passed the Individual Freedom Act in 2022 to restrict training related to systemic racism and identity in schools and workplaces. In addition, several bills have been filed for the 2026 Legislative session that would prohibit local governments from adopting or funding DEI-related policies and programs. The proposed legislation also seeks to void any current DEI policies and programs that are currently in place, remove elected officials from office that violate the prohibition, and authorize residents to sue local governments that adopt, implement and/or fund DEI-related policies and programs.

At the federal level, Executive Order 14173 issued on January 21, 2025, rescinded long-standing federal contractor requirements related to race and gender-based employment and contracting practices. Additionally, several federal departments have begun including language in grant contracts that require recipients to certify that they do not "operate any programs that advance or promote DEI, DEIA (Diversity, Equity, Inclusion, and Accessibility), or discriminatory equity ideology". As a result, many Florida local governments have already eliminated or suspended their minority- and women-owned business programs so not to jeopardize millions of dollars in federal grant funds. In December 2025, the County was awarded a $16.8 million grant from the U.S. Department of Transportation (US DOT) for safety improvements on North Monroe Street. The County is currently coordinating with US DOT on the development of a contract agreement which may impose similar provisions that prohibit DEI-related policies, programs, and services. Therefore, the adoption of the proposed charter amendment is not recommended as it could immediately jeopardize federal funding recently awarded to the County.

Alternative Option for the Charter Review Committee

The County has been successful in addressing poverty and inequities in accordance with state and federal laws and without specific programs or provisions in the County Charter. Further, the adoption of the proposed charter amendment is not recommended as it could immediately jeopardize federal funding recently awarded to the County. Alternatively, the Committee may wish to provide a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing poverty in the community. The recommendation would be brought back to the Committee for final approval to be included as part of the Committee's report to the Board.

Options:

1. Accept the report on Leon County's commitment and ongoing efforts to tackle poverty and historic inequities in the community.
2. Direct staff to prepare a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing poverty in the community.
3. Committee direction.

Recommendation:

Policy Brief: Proposal to amend the Leon County Charter with an Article that Addresses Impacts of Harmful Public Policy

Prepared for: Leon County Charter Review Committee

Prepared by: Dr. Bruce Strouble

Date: November 2025

Attachments: ARTICLE X - Draft Article 10: FAQ

Executive Summary

Leon County faces persistent and well-documented disparities in wealth, health, housing, environmental exposure, and neighborhood opportunity. These inequities align closely with historic patterns of slavery, segregation, discriminatory housing policy, and public disinvestment—policies that were enacted or enforced by Leon County's government institutions across generations.

In February 2024, the Board of County Commissioners formally acknowledged and apologized for the County's role in these systems of harm. The proposed Charter Amendment provides the structural mechanism to act on that commitment by ensuring that acknowledged harms are matched with concrete, long-term restoration efforts.

This policy brief recommends creating a new Article in the Leon County Charter—Restoring Communities Impacted by Harmful Public Policy—to provide the structural authority, continuity, and long-term mandate necessary to address these historical harms and restore communities still impacted today.

A Charter-level provision is essential because the harm is structural, ongoing, and rooted in public policy; therefore, the remedy must be structural, ongoing, and institutional.

Problem Statement

Leon County continues to exhibit some of Florida's starkest geographic disparities. These disparities, from poverty rates and homeownership gaps to health outcomes and food insecurity, map directly onto historically Black neighborhoods targeted by slavery, Jim Crow segregation, redlining, urban renewal, and environmentally hazardous planning decisions.

Key Facts

By 1860, 73–74% of Leon County residents were enslaved—one of the highest ratios in the Deep South.[1]

Leon County was Florida's leading cotton-producing county; enslaved Black people represented the county's primary economic asset.[2]

After Emancipation, Black residents were pushed into sharecropping, debt peonage, and convict leasing, with the Leon County sheriff leasing prisoners to private companies until 1923.[3]

Jim Crow segregation shaped hospitals, schools, transportation, and housing. Tallahassee Memorial Hospital did not treat Black patients until the late 1960s.

Urban renewal demolished 244 structures in the Smokey Hollow neighborhood, displacing 1,200+ Black residents.

Environmental burdens, including brownfields, contaminated industrial sites, and hazardous corridors, are disproportionately located in Black communities, including Tallahassee's Southside .

Today's inequities (poverty, disease, food insecurity, eviction rates, life expectancy gaps) map directly onto these same neighborhoods. These outcomes cannot be explained by contemporary policy alone; they are the predictable continuation of historical public decisions.

Analysis: Why the Charter Must Address Historic Impacts

1. Historic harms were created through “county policy”.

Laws, zoning, lending restrictions, policing, and infrastructure choices produced patterns that continue today. The County cannot fully address inequity without addressing its policy roots.

2. The consequences are multi-generational and ongoing.

The same neighborhoods harmed by historical policies remain the most disadvantaged in terms of mobility, health, and economic opportunity.

3. Programs alone cannot correct structural inequity.

Programs are temporary—grant cycles end. Priorities shift with elections.
A Charter Article ensures consistent, long-term responsibility.

4. Equal protection requires mitigation—not neutrality.

Courts, planners, and public administrators increasingly affirm that treating unequal conditions equally reinforces inequity.

Structural harm requires structural mitigation.

5. Community restoration strengthens the whole county.

Investing in historically harmed communities improves:

- workforce readiness
- public health
- climate resilience
- economic development
- neighborhood stability

Leon County cannot meet its long-term goals while key communities remain structurally burdened.

Policy Recommendation: Add a New Article to the Charter

Proposed Title: Article X – Restoring Communities Impacted by Harmful Public Policy

Core Functions of the Article

1. Acknowledge the impacts of historic harmful policy

Recognizes that past county, city, and state policies created generational disadvantage in specific communities.

2. Mandate periodic Historical Disparity Audits

To identify geographic areas where historic public policy harms continue to produce inequity.

3. Establish a Community Restoration Fund

Supports investments in:

- infrastructure
- housing stabilization
- environmental remediation
- neighborhood revitalization
- community wealth-building & economic mobility programs
- Community Healing

All targeted to areas identified by the audits.

4. Create authority for Priority Land-Leasing

Allows historically burdened communities priority access to county-owned land for agriculture, housing, cooperatives, and restorative development.

5. Require Restorative Investment Strategies

Ensures that county budgets, planning documents, and capital projects include a clear framework for reducing disparities identified in the audits.

Expected Benefits

For impacted neighborhoods:

- Improved housing stability
- Increased homeownership and land access
- Better health outcomes
- Cleaner environments and reduced risk
- Greater access to food and transportation
- Increased economic mobility
- Enhanced climate resiliency

For the entire county:

- Reduced costs of social services
- More equitable economic development
- Healthier workforce
- Reduced crime and violence
- Improved intergenerational outcomes
- Stronger civic trust and social cohesion

Community restoration is not only just—it is economically efficient.

Conclusion

The evidence is overwhelming:

Historic public policies created the inequities we now face.

A Charter Article on Historic Impact Mitigation & Community Restoration provides the structural authority, constitutional continuity, and policy stability necessary to repair these harms and build a more resilient, prosperous Leon County.

This amendment is a commitment to fairness, equal opportunity, and the long-term health of the entire community.

Leon County cannot move forward without addressing the legacy it inherited—and this Charter Review cycle is the moment to do so.

ARTICLE X. (Sample)

Restoring Communities Impacted by Historic Government-Imposed Structural Exclusion

Section 1. Purpose and Intent.

Leon County recognizes that specific communities within the County continue to experience persistent inequities directly traceable to public policies, including compulsory labor systems, legally mandated segregation, exclusionary housing practices, discriminatory land use decisions, and state-sanctioned displacement, that were applied to specific populations under prior law.

The intent of this Article is to:

1. acknowledge these historic impacts;

2. identify communities whose long-term inequities stem directly from these policies;

3. authorize County action to mitigate those impacts; and

4. support the restoration, stabilization, and advancement of affected communities.

Section 1A. Alignment With Prior County Acknowledgment.

This Article is adopted in furtherance of the Board of County Commissioners' Resolution of February 20, 2024, in which the County formally acknowledged and apologized for the enslavement, segregation, displacement, and state-sanctioned exclusion of African Americans in Leon County.

In that Resolution, the Board recognized the historic systems of slavery, Jim Crow laws, racial segregation, discriminatory land use and redevelopment practices, the destruction of communities such as Smokey Hollow, and the denial of equal access to public services. The Board affirmed its commitment to eliminate the lingering effects of these policies and to uphold the principle that all people are created equal and endowed with inalienable rights.

This Article provides the structural framework necessary for the County to carry out the commitments expressed in that Resolution by identifying communities whose inequities stem directly from those historic public policies and authorizing targeted restoration efforts designed to mitigate the continuing impacts of those harms.

Section 2. Definitions.

(a) “Historically Impacted Communities.”

Cohesive communities whose ancestors or long-term members were subjected to any of the following government-imposed conditions within Leon County:

1. forced or compulsory labor systems in effect prior to 1865;

2. post-Emancipation systems of coerced labor, including debt peonage and convict leasing;

3. legally mandated racial segregation in housing, education, health care, transportation, employment, or public services;

4. exclusionary zoning, land use restrictions, or racially restrictive covenants enforced or sanctioned by government;

5. mid-century urban renewal, clearance, or redevelopment programs that displaced communities based on racial criteria under the then-existing policy;

6. documented denial of access to publicly funded services on the basis of statutory racial classifications.

A community must demonstrate longstanding cultural, familial, or historical continuity within Leon County during the time such policies were in force.

This is not an individual-level designation; it applies to multi-generational communities, not transient populations.

(b) “Restoration Activities.”

County actions that repair or mitigate inequities directly traceable to the policies described in Section 2(a).

Section 3. Historical Impact Audit.

The County shall conduct a Historical Impact Audit every five years to:

1. determine which communities meet the criteria in Section 2(a);
2. document the specific policies that caused long-term inequities;
3. assess current disparities linked to those policies;
4. provide recommendations for targeted restoration activities.

Audit findings must be publicly accessible.

Section 4. Community Restoration Fund.

The County Commission may establish a Community Restoration Fund dedicated solely to supporting Restoration Activities that benefit communities identified under Section 2(a). Eligible activities include:

- multi-generational housing stability
- displacement prevention
- community land stewardship
- environmental health remediation
- restoration of cultural and historical sites
- community wealth-building initiatives
- health and educational infrastructure
- neighborhood reinvestment in historically displaced areas

Funds cannot be diverted to communities or populations not identified as Historically Impacted.

Section 5. Priority Access to County-Owned Land.

The County may grant priority access to County-owned land—through leasing, stewardship agreements, or community trusts—to Historically Impacted Communities for:

- housing
- community agriculture
- cooperatives
- cultural preservation
- economic development
- memorial or restorative purposes

All actions must comply with Florida Statutes regarding public lands.

Section 6. Integration with Planning and Budgeting.

Findings from Historical Impact Audits shall be incorporated into:

- capital improvement planning
- neighborhood planning
- housing strategies
- environmental and resilience planning

- budget proposals

County actions in these areas must demonstrate efforts to mitigate disparities documented through the Audit.

Section 7. Implementation and Compliance.

The County Commission shall enact ordinances defining:

- criteria for community eligibility,
- processes for verifying multi-generational continuity,
- structures for community participation in decision-making,
- and safeguards to ensure benefits remain targeted to communities identified under Section 2(a).

Restoring Communities Impacted by Harmful Public Policy

Substantive Responses to Common Objections

1. "I didn't own slaves—why am I responsible?"

Response: This Article assigns responsibility to the Leon County government, not individuals. Governments routinely repair harms created by their own policies—Japanese-American internment reparations, court-ordered desegregation, and local restoration programs in places like Evanston and Asheville. This isn't about personal guilt; it's about institutional accountability

---

2. "This is unconstitutional or reverse discrimination."

Response: The proposal uses race-neutral, historically grounded criteria, which courts consistently uphold when the government created the harm, the remedy matches the harm, and the criteria track policy lineage rather than racial identity. Evanston, Asheville, and California's AB 3121 provide clear modern examples of legally sound approaches

---

3. "Taxpayers shouldn't pay for 100-year-old mistakes."

Response: Taxpayers already pay for the consequences: concentrated poverty, higher emergency and policing costs, depressed property values, and failing infrastructure in neglected neighborhoods. Restoration lowers costs over time and strengthens the local tax base

---

4. "Everyone struggles—why focus on certain communities?"

Response: This article addresses government-produced inequity, not general hardship. Slavery, segregation, redlining, convict leasing, and urban renewal harmed specific multi-generational communities in Leon County. Constitutional law requires narrow tailoring—this Article meets that requirement

---

5. "This will open the door to endless claims."

Response: Eligibility is limited to specific policy eras, documented harms, and communities with multi-generational continuity in Leon County. The framework is tightly bound and historically defined.

---

6. “This sounds like reparations.”

Response: The article does not provide individual cash payments, use racial criteria, or redistribute wealth. It invests in infrastructure, environmental cleanup, housing stability, cultural restoration, community land access, and neighborhood revitalization. This is public-purpose restoration, not personal compensation

---

7. “Florida prohibits race-based programs.”

Response: Eligibility is based on exposure to historically documented public policies: compulsory labor before 1865, convict leasing and Jim Crow statutes, redlining and displacement, and segregated public services. These policies applied overwhelmingly to Black residents, without the Article ever mentioning race. It is legally safe and functionally precise

---

8. “Why dredge up the past?”

Response: The past is still with us. Disparities in Leon County map directly onto historic policy decisions: 32304 remains the poorest ZIP code in Florida, the Southside carries environmental burdens, Frenchtown and Smokey Hollow bear the scars of displacement, and life expectancy varies by more than ten years across neighborhoods. If the impact remains, the duty remains

---

9. “Won’t this divide the community?”

Response: The reality is the opposite. Restoration reduces division by stabilizing neighborhoods, reducing inequity, and strengthening the economy—mirroring successful models in Toronto, Belo Horizonte, and Asheville

---

10. “Let nonprofits handle this.”

Response: Nonprofits didn’t create slavery, Black Codes, segregation, redlining, exclusionary zoning, environmental targeting, or urban renewal displacement. The government created these harms, and therefore, the government is best suited to repair said harms

Public Comment:

- Susan Robinson, 4656 Inisheer Drive, spoke in support of establishing an Office of Food Systems, stating the office would improve coordination, public awareness of services, and accountability. She noted many residents are unaware of available resources and emphasized the need for centralized coordination of existing efforts.
- Melanie Andrade Williams, 3349 Argonaut Drive, spoke in support of establishing an Office of Food Systems, emphasizing the importance of centralized coordination and accountability to ensure equitable access to food. She also expressed support for the proposed charter amendment related to restoring communities impacted by historic harms.
- Judy Shipman, 2145 Sand Dune Court, spoke in support of establishing an Office of Food Systems.
- Serenity Williams, 4011 Elder Lane, spoke in support of the proposed charter amendment addressing historic disparities, stating it would provide long-term stability and allow the County to assess historic impacts without mandating funding or creating quotas. She emphasized the amendment would allow further evaluation of the issue and urged the Committee's support.

- Ebony Yarbrough, 1575 Paul Russell Road, spoke regarding barriers to food access, noting that while many assistance resources exist, residents often struggle to locate and utilize them due to limited awareness of services, hours, eligibility, and transportation options. She emphasized the need for centralized coordination and stated that establishing an information hub would improve nonprofit collaboration, resource management, accountability, and overall service delivery. She expressed support for establishing an Office of Food Systems.
- Mary Miaisha Mitchell, 1009 Ellington Court, praised committee for their work and expressed that incorporating food security into the County Charter would provide the necessary structural dedication to strengthen and optimize services.
- Camille Lewis, 1639 Corey Wood Circle, spoke about food insecurity from the perspectives of public health, agriculture, and nonprofit work, acknowledging current County efforts while noting the lack of centralized coordination. She stated a unified structure could improve overall effectiveness of food system efforts.
- Stanley Sims, 1320 Avondale Way, thanked the committee for their time and efforts and shared his perspective on additional issues he believed the Committee should have addressed.
- Amanda Shebake Haynes, 808 Goodbread Lane, spoke on food insecurity in the community and the impact on mental health. She urged support for establishing an Office of Food Systems.
- Jada Brown, 512 Norma Street, NACCP Tallahassee Chapter, urged support for all three agenda items. She highlighted the Weed to Seed Program where they learned how to be sustainable while growing up and thanked the library for a similar program.
- Joey Davis, Max Herrle, Sean Pittman, Shamarial Roberson, Jarrett Terry and Katrina Tuggerson arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

General Business:

Agenda Item #1: Consideration of Language Affirming Leon County's Commitment to Healthcare in the Leon County Charter

Mr. Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator, introduced the item which provided a proposed charter amendment revising the Preamble of the Leon County Charter with language that affirms Leon County's commitment to healthcare access. He shared that no other charter counties in the State of Florida include healthcare in their charters, and a similar commitment is already expressed in the Leon County Strategic Plan, which envisions a community that is safe, healthy and vibrant. Therefore, staff recommended Option #1: Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging the continuation of Leon County's long-standing commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

Temple Robinson expressed concerns that the options presented did not fully reflect her intended direction. While she described the proposed language as well written, she stated that it does not convey the strength of the message the Committee sought to communicate.

Shamarial Roberson sought clarification from staff regarding potential state and federal policy changes, asking whether the proposed language could have implications for the County's ability to access state or federal funding related to healthcare.

County Attorney O'Steen explained that some concerns relate to a federal executive order tied to grant funding that requires entities to certify they do not operate Diversity, Equity and Inclusion (DEI) programs that violate federal anti-discrimination laws or provide preferential treatment based on protected classes. She also informed the Committee that a bill currently moving through the Florida Senate broadly defines diversity, equity, and inclusion and could restrict counties from funding or promoting such programs if enacted. She noted the bill has advanced through committees and could still be amended. She concluded that the proposed language is permissible under current law, though future interpretations could depend on whether the pending legislation becomes law.

Anita Favors asked for clarification regarding what additional language Temple Robinson believed should be included to better reflect the Committee's intent.

Temple Robinson stated that the intent was to include clear language affirming the County's commitment to access to primary care, including for uninsured and underserved residents, as an enduring statement of the County's values.

County Administrator Long explained that the proposed language was intentionally drafted to be broad and inclusive rather than focused on a specific program or policy area. He added that the County addresses health in many ways, including infrastructure, parks, emergency services, and primary care initiatives, making it difficult to highlight a single area within a value statement. He stated that staff would revise the language based on the direction of the Committee.

Darryl Jones suggested that the originator of the idea, Temple Robinson, provide guidance on how the Committee might proceed considering the discussion. He expressed interest in hearing further recommendations from members with public health expertise before determining a final recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners.

Chair Lindley stated that, at that point in the discussion, no specific alternative language had been proposed by the Committee. She noted that the Committee still had additional agenda items to address and emphasized the need to move the discussion forward. C hair Lindley indicated she would be willing to entertain a motion if members wished to approve or reject the proposal or offer specific language revisions.

Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes moved for Option #1 as amended: Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging the continuation of Leon County's long-standing commitment to ensuring ~~healthcare access for low-income residents~~ access to public healthcare and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

The motion failed for lack of a second.

Temple Robinson requested that the item be temporarily postponed, asking that the Committee return to the matter later in the meeting to allow members time to consider the discussion and develop a motion.

Chair Lindley entertained discussion on temporarily postponing the discussion.

Howard Kessler moved, seconded by Henry Lewis, III, to table Agenda Item #1 for the time being.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Liz Ellis and Slaton Murray not present.

The Committee later returned to Agenda Item #1 after the conclusion of Agenda Item #2.

Temple Robinson moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, to bring Agenda Item #1 back for discussion.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Liz Ellis and Slaton Murray not present.

Temple Robinson read her proposed ballot language.

Vice Chairman Haynes requested a five-minute break to allow staff to place the proposed ballot language on the screen. He explained that displaying the language would ensure clarity and prevent any confusion or debate about the exact wording of the motion that had been read aloud.

The proposed revision to the Preamble included the CCRC's previous recommendation from its February 5, 2026 meeting, regarding the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County in the Preamble (bold), with additional language (bold and underlined) to reflect the Committee's request to affirm the County's long-standing commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

Temple Robinson moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, to accept the proposed Preamble language as amended*: We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government,* hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our ~~public affairs~~ effort to create a community that is safe, vibrant, and provides access to healthcare for all citizens.

The motion carried 19 – 0 with Committee Members Liz Ellis and Slaton Murray not present.

Agenda Item #2: Proposed Charter Amendment on Food Insecurity

Mr. Lamy introduced the item which discussed a proposed charter amendment establishing an Office of Food Systems to address food insecurity. He noted that no Florida county charters address food insecurity and that the Board of County Commissioners already has the authority to address these issues without a charter amendment. He highlighted new and existing initiatives of the Leon County Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships (HSCP) addressing food insecurity, as well as ongoing coordination through a food council led by Florida A&M University (FAMU). He also noted that the Charter cannot require participation from independent organizations, and that current collaboration efforts are voluntary. Therefore, staff recommended Option #1: Approve the draft policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., stated that community feedback indicates residents often lack awareness of available resources and that services can be improved. He noted that the County is in a unique position to organize and centralize these efforts. He also suggested including annual reporting and a countywide food systems plan.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, for Option #2: Approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners to address food insecurity in the Leon County Charter.

The motion was not voted on.

William Smith asked for clarification regarding the difference between the proposed Office of Food Systems and the office that is currently addressing food insecurity and related services.

Mr. Lamy explained that the proposed office would perform the same functions currently carried out by HSCP.

Shamarial Roberson asked whether there is currently an annual plan or report related to food access or food systems that is publicly released. She also requested clarification on the current organizational structure within HSCP related to food insecurity efforts.

Ms. Abigail Thomas, Director of the Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships, explained that staff previously provided a report to the Board in the fall regarding food insecurity in the community, which highlighted current initiatives and provided general information about food insecurity. She noted that agencies funded by Leon County, such as Second Harvest, Elder Care Services, and Good News Outreach, are required to submit quarterly and annual reports because they receive County funding. She added that staff is currently preparing a Human Services report that will include FY 2025 data for programs funded by the County.

Mr. Lamy explained that the County created a Neighborhood Engagement position following community meetings held in 2021 across ten neighborhoods identified as having high food insecurity rates based on Feeding America and Second Harvest data.

Anita Favors stated that she supported the intent of the proposed Charter amendment but raised concerns about the potential cost of establishing a new Office of Food Systems. She asked whether the Committee's intent would allow the County Administrator or Board of County Commissioners flexibility to reorganize or combine existing functions rather than create a completely new office, to avoid significant administrative costs and ensure that resources are directed toward addressing food insecurity in the community. She asked Dr. Strouble to expound.

Barry Wilcox stated that while he supports the idea of coordinating food insecurity efforts and producing annual reports, he believes establishing an Office of Food Systems should be done through a recommendation to the Board rather than through a charter amendment. He suggested the office could be created within the existing Office of HSCP, like other divisions such as housing or veterans services.

Barry Wilcox made a substitute motion, seconded by Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, to approve a policy recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners encouraging the establishment of a Division of Food Systems under the Leon County Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships.

The motion carried 12 – 7 with Committee Members Max Herrle, Howard Kessler, Ryan Ray, Shamarial Roberson, Temple Robinson, William Smith and Bruce Strouble, Jr., in opposition. Committee Members Liz Ellis and Slaton Murray were not present.

Agenda Item #3: Proposed Charter Amendment on Persistent Disparities Resulting from Historic Public Policies

Mr. Lamy introduced this item which provided a proposed charter amendment and corresponding ballot language to address disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions. He stated that there are no county charters in the State of Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies. He also explained that adoption of the proposed amendment into the Charter could put the County's federal and state funding in jeopardy, as well as result in legal challenges against the County. Therefore, staff recommended Option #1: Approve the draft recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to addressing poverty and inequities in the community.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., acknowledged the concerns raised by County staff about legal risks related to addressing historical harm in a charter amendment. He explained that, after discussions with the County Attorney, he prepared alternative language that removes references to race while still addressing the lingering impacts of historic unconstitutional policies. He distributed a handout with his revised alternative language and stated that this approach would avoid potential conflicts with federal and state laws while still addressing disparities caused by past policies. He then made a motion to recommend his revised language to the Board of County Commissioners.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, to recommend to the Board of County Commissioners a proposed charter amendment and ballot language (as distributed by Mr. Strouble during the meeting) to require the County to assess persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions and establish a framework for addressing those impacts, including periodic audits and potential restoration strategies.

County Attorney O'Steen explained that the revised language removes explicit references to race or DEI, but potential legal risks remain. She noted that if any programs or policies developed under the amendment were ultimately based on a protected class, such as race, gender, or national origin, they could be subject to strict scrutiny under the U.S. Constitution. She added that case law on programs addressing historic wrongs is inconsistent, with many recent federal programs being struck down in court. She cautioned that such programs could also jeopardize federal funding depending on their structure and target population.

- Joey Davis left at this juncture of the meeting.

William Smith asked for clarification about the funding referenced in the proposed charter amendment, specifically regarding the creation of a restoration fund.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., explained that the proposed charter amendment would create a restoration fund, but it would not specify the funding sources within the charter itself. Instead, the County Commission would have discretion to determine how the fund is financed. He also questioned the legal concern raised by the County Attorney, asking how the County could conduct any data-driven programs if identifying disparities among protected classes automatically creates legal risk.

County Attorney O'Steen explained that the County's current programs are legally defensible because they rely primarily on socioeconomic data rather than targeting protected classes directly. While such programs may indirectly benefit individuals who belong to protected classes, the benefits are not explicitly tied to race, gender, or other protected characteristics. In contrast, the proposed amendment references historical policies like segregation, which specifically impacted certain protected classes. If programs are created based on that rationale, they could raise legal concerns because the benefits would be directly connected to a protected class, potentially violating anti-discrimination laws.

Vice Chairman Haynes asked the County Attorney what her professional recommendation would be to the Board of County Commissioners regarding the proposed ballot language.

County Attorney O'Steen stated that the proposed charter language itself is legally acceptable but federal and state constitutional and statutory restrictions could limit what the County is able to do in practice, even if the amendment was adopted.

Chair Lindley asked whether placing the language in the charter now, despite the current legal risks, could still be valuable because future circumstances might change. She suggested that even if the amendment cannot be fully implemented today due to legal constraints, a future County Commission might be able to act on it more freely if laws or policies change, since the language would already be embedded in the charter.

County Attorney O'Steen noted that the proposed charter language might have little practical effect right now due to current legal limitations, but future legal changes could either expand or further restrict what the County could do.

Henry Lewis, III, warned that the language might be used to challenge or dismantle single-member districts and other programs created to address past disparities.

Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes made a substitution motion for Option #1: Approve the draft recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to addressing poverty and inequities in the community.

The motion failed for lack of a second.

Linda Bond Edwards asked the County Attorney for further clarity on the viability of using economic data for related programs.

County Attorney O'Steen cited the County's MWSBE (Minority/Women-owned Small Business Enterprise) program as an example, which is based on a third-party disparity study showing a need for corrective action. She noted that similar programs across the country are currently being challenged in court, so the legal landscape is still evolving. She emphasized that legal risk increases when a program explicitly targets a protected class, because that triggers strict scrutiny under constitutional law. In contrast, policies based on geographic need or general socioeconomic data—such as addressing food access in an underserved area, are more legally defensible, even if they indirectly benefit members of a protected class.

Sean Pittman stated he would support the proposal, but suggested that the structure might be better implemented through an ordinance rather than a charter amendment.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, to recommend to the Board of County Commissioners a proposed charter amendment and ballot language (as distributed by Mr. Strouble during the meeting) to require the County to assess persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions and establish a framework for addressing those impacts, including periodic audits and potential restoration strategies.

The motion failed 9 – 9 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Anita Favors, Darryl Jones, Henry Lewis, III, Heidi Otway, Shamarial Roberson, William Smith and Barry Wilcox in opposition. Committee Members Joey Davis, Liz Ellis and Slaton Murray were not present.

Chair Lindley thanked Committee Members for their time, thoughtful participation, and respectful discussion of complex issues. She noted that their work helped the community better understand how local decisions are made and expressed appreciation for everyone's effort. She shared that she had been invited to speak to the League of Women Voters in March to provide an overview of the Committee's work. She also thanked County staff for their support and dedication throughout the process.

Darryl Jones asked whether the two recommended changes to the Preamble of the Leon County Charter, related to esteemed humanity and affirming access to health care, would be presented separately to the Board of County Commissioners.

Mrs. Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives, clarified that proposed amendments would be presented separately.

Linda Bond Edwards made a special announcement congratulating the County Attorney for recently receiving the Martha Barnett Outstanding Attorney Award from the Tallahassee Women Lawyers. She thanked County Attorney O'Steen for her professionalism and for patiently addressing the Committee's many questions during the meeting.

Sean Pittman congratulated the County Attorney on receiving the Martha Barnett Outstanding Attorney Award, noting that it is a significant honor given Martha Barnett's reputation. He also thanked Chair Lindley for her leadership in guiding the Committee through the process and expressed appreciation to the staff, particularly Mrs. Hatch, for their dedication and hard work.

County Administrator Long thanked the Committee Members and Chair Lindley on behalf of County staff for their work and participation. He also noted that the Board of County Commissioners will formally recognize the Committee in the future and that staff will notify members when that occurs.

Adjournment:

Chair Lindley adjourned the meeting at 2:22 p.m.

Subject: Accountability Amendment - May 28, 2026

Greetings, Commissioners.

My name is Darchelle Pickett, and I am a Florida resident in District 2 of Leon County, with Christian Caban as our County Commissioner.

Public policy decisions have long-term effects. When those effects persist across generations, governance should respond in a long-term way.

Urban renewal projects displaced communities, such as Smokey Hollow, without equivalent long-term reinvestment.

The results of that disruption have economic and social effects that remain visible in present-day community conditions.

Any future ordinance or implementation process under this framework would still be required to comply with all applicable state and federal law.

This geographically-based, data-informed framework is focused on community conditions and policy impacts—not identity-based preferences.

This amendment creates authority, not mandates. It strengthens long-term governance without creating legal or fiscal risk. I urge you to advance it.

As a resident in District 2, I ask the Committee to approve the proposed charter amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners. Thank you for your dedication to the people of Leon County.

Sincerely,

D. C. Pickett,

FL College Student, U.S. Military Veteran, & Commissioned Notary Public of Florida.

Subject: Support for the Restoration of Communities from Historic Harm Amendment (RCA)

Greetings!

My name is Trishay Young, I live in the Callen Neighborhood zip code 32310 of Leon County.

Thank you for your time today for this important work!

Transparent assessment and recurring review processes strengthen public trust in government. This framework creates a lawful structure for informed decision-making.

Historic housing and lending practices limited wealth-building opportunities in certain Leon County neighborhoods. Today, those same areas continue to experience lower homeownership rates and greater housing instability.

This framework is also about improving future decision-making by encouraging governments to consider potential long-term community impacts before major actions are taken.

Charter language protects responsibilities across administrations. I encourage you to advance the Amendment.

Thank you again!

Peace,

Mrs. Young

NOTES FOR AGENDA ITEM #1

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #1

May 28, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Consideration of Advancing a Proposed Charter Amendment Addressing Historic Harmful Public Policy Decisions

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Cameron Williams, Management Analyst

Summary:

As requested by the Board of County Commissioners at its May 12, 2026 meeting, this item seeks the Citizen Charter Review Committee's consideration of whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

Staff Recommendation:

Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Board of County Commissioners (Board) at its May 12, 2026 meeting, this item seeks the Citizen Charter Review Committee's (Committee) consideration of whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class; compliant with state and federal laws; and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

On January 22, 2026, the Committee received an analysis of the County's ongoing efforts to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The item included an analysis of Dr. Bruce Strouble's proposal to amend the County Charter by creating a new section that would require the County to establish programs and funding targeted to communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination. As presented in that item, adopting a Charter Amendment to establish programs and funding based on historic racial disenfranchisement could create legal challenges and jeopardize federal and state funding due to recent and ongoing state and federal actions to prohibit diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) related activities. Despite these considerations, the Committee requested a proposed Charter Amendment and corresponding ballot language to be prepared for consideration requiring the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions.

On February 19, 2026, the Committee received the proposed Charter Amendment and ballot language. Due to recent and ongoing state and federal actions to prohibit diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) related activities as well as the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and inequities in the community within the Board's existing authority, the Committee did not advance the proposed Charter Amendment. Throughout the process, the Committee expressed strong support for the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and inequities in historically underserved areas and support vulnerable populations in the community.

Subsequently, at its March 20, 2026 meeting, the Board requested an item on the proposed Charter Amendment considered, but ultimately not recommended, by the Committee related to persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions based on certain occurrences including slavery and segregation. It is important to note that on that same day, the Florida Legislature also approved SB 1134 which prohibits local governments from adopting and implementing DEI-related activities such as those proposed in the Charter Amendment considered by the Committee. Additionally, on March 26, 2026, President Trump issued another executive order, Executive Order (2026 EO), that requires all recipients of federal funding to agree that they will not engage in racially discriminatory DEI activities.

The requested item on the proposed Charter Amendment not recommended by the Committee was presented to the Board at its April 10, 2026 meeting. The item provided a comprehensive analysis on the proposed Charter Amendment as well as the recent state and federal actions that prohibit local governments from adopting and implementing DEI-related activities such as those proposed in the Charter Amendment. Recognizing these considerations, the Board requested a revised framework to address historic harmful public policy decisions that could be provided to the Citizen

Charter Review Committee for further consideration as a Charter Amendment that examines the following:

- Public policy decisions enacted by the Board;
- Focuses on geographic areas and does not consider race, gender, ethnicity or any other protected class (i.e., sexual orientation, etc.);
- Complies with state and federal laws; and
- Does not jeopardize state and federal funding requirements.

At its May 12, 2026 meeting, the proposed framework was presented to the Board which included important context regarding the County's comprehensive and ongoing efforts in alignment with the criteria above by addressing the needs in geographic areas through investment and engagement in underserved areas and vulnerable populations. As detailed in that item, these existing efforts align with best practices, are consistent with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding awarded to the County. Notwithstanding the County's existing ongoing efforts, as requested by the Board, the item presented an option for consideration to revise the Charter Preamble to affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. At that time, the Board voted to reconvene the Committee for its consideration of whether a Charter Amendment should be advanced addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

Analysis:

Leon County comprehensively addresses the long-standing and evolving needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations (i.e., homeless, low-income, etc.) through countless policies, innovative programs, ongoing partnerships, and active engagement – all of which are data-driven, strategically implemented, and consistent with best practices. With this approach and focus, the County regularly addresses the highest and most challenging needs that historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations often experience.

Based on empirical data such as U.S. Census and U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, the common challenges of historically underserved areas include economic inequities that are often highlighted by persistent and disproportionate high poverty and unemployment rates; the lack of public infrastructure that prevents access to basic and essential services; the degradation of natural and environmental resources that adversely affect health and welfare; and limited access to social services that are critical to enhancing quality of life.

As presented to the Board at its May 12, 2026 meeting, the following analysis details the numerous policies, programs, partnerships, and investments the County is actively implementing in historically underserved areas to:

- Reduce Economic Inequities;
- Expand Infrastructure for Access to Basic and Essential Services;
- Protect the Environment for Health, Safety, and Welfare; and
- Deliver Critical Social Services to Enhance Quality of Life.

Consistent with the Board's direction, these efforts align with best practices that address historic harmful policy decisions, comply with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding. Additionally, these efforts have been implemented within the Board's existing authority and without any change to the County Charter.

Reduce Economic Inequities

The County has actively spearheaded efforts to reduce economic inequities and private sector disinvestment in historically underserved areas. Aligned with best practices, the County utilizes empirical data developed by the U.S. Census and Florida Office of Economic & Demographic Research to identify neighborhoods and communities with persistent and disproportionate levels of high poverty and unemployment rates. Subsequently, programs, partnerships, initiatives, and investments are adopted and implemented in collaboration and coordination with residents and stakeholders to increase economic prosperity and private sector investment. Although not exhaustive, significant examples of the County efforts include:

- Establishment of the Downtown and Greater Frenchtown-Southside Community Redevelopment Areas (CRAs) in partnership with the City of Tallahassee (City) to increase economic growth in areas that for years experienced slum, blight, and private sector disinvestment. Through the CRAs, the County has invested more than $56 million in property tax revenue that has improved public infrastructures (roads, sidewalks, stormwater, etc.); constructed new affordable housing including Goodbread Hills, Columbia Gardens, and Magnolia Oaks; and invested in local businesses to spur private sector investment in housing, retail, and restaurants.
- Adoption of the Southside Action Plan (SAP) within the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan to promote balanced and equitable growth in southern Leon County neighborhoods, including Bond, Providence, and South City. This has resulted in more than $1.13 billion in public and private investment within the SAP boundaries including more than $125 million in direct County funding.
- Development of Sense of Place Plans that intentionally engage residents to strengthen the unique identity of local neighborhoods and rural communities while enhancing public investment. Sense of Place plans developed by the County include:
    - Miccosukee Community Sense of Place – led to $5.9 million in County and federal investment for the redevelopment of the Old Concord School into the new Miccosukee Community Center.
    - Lake Jackson Town Center Huntington Sense of Place – transformed a traditional shopping center into a cohesive public gathering spot that resulted in the expansion of the Lake Jackson Branch Library, a new community center, and enhanced retail space for greater private sector investment.
    - Woodville Community Sense of Place – adopted as a County Strategic Initiative by the Board, this plan focuses on activating and enhancing the rural town center through placemaking and infrastructure investment. It prioritizes the revitalization of Woodville and Robinson Road Parks alongside the development of a new trail hub on the St. Marks Trail, all supported by landscaping and gateway signage to strengthen community identity. These aesthetic improvements are paired with critical infrastructure projects, including streetscaping, expanded pedestrian and bicycle connectivity, roadway safety enhancements, and the ongoing septic-to-sewer conversion program. Ultimately, the plan drives economic vitality by promoting trail-oriented development and updating zoning to foster compatible, small-scale business opportunities.

- Adoption of land use and zoning tools under the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan — including the Land Use and Mobility Element adopted in December 2025 — to protect existing neighborhoods from incompatible development and guide growth in a manner that preserves neighborhood character. These tools include low-density residential zoning classifications that prevent the conversion of single-family neighborhoods to high-density multifamily or large-format retail, and the Neighborhood Boundary land use category developed in partnership with the Bond Neighborhood to allow small-scale mixed uses — such as corner stores, daycares, and small cafes — while prohibiting strip malls, apartments, and big box retail that would alter the neighborhood's scale and character.
- Administration of the Small Business Enterprise (SBE) program through the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) to provide business support to qualifying small businesses based on size and revenue, ensuring local enterprises in underserved areas can compete for and benefit from public investment opportunities.
- Partnership with the Small Business Development Center at FAMU to provide technical assistance to new and existing small business owners at every phase of the business lifecycle, preparing them to take advantage of economic opportunities generated by new public and private development in their communities.
- Implementation of robust public engagement on all public projects — including stakeholder meetings, online and in-person surveys, and public open houses — to ensure residents in historically underserved areas are informed of and have meaningful input into investments being made in their communities. For private development proposals, public engagement includes direct mailed notifications, legal advertisements, on-site signage, citizen committee review, and public hearings, ensuring that residents have a voice in the development occurring in their neighborhoods.
- Availability of urban area opportunity incentives to attract jobs and private investment to the urban core, directly benefiting residents of historically underserved neighborhoods.

Expand Infrastructure for Access to Basic and Essential Services

The County has been steadfast in its commitment to infrastructure improvements in historically underserved areas that expand access to basic and essential services. These improvements include paved roads, sidewalks, and traffic lights that connect underserved neighborhoods to the broader community. Through a combination of data evaluation, extensive planning, active community engagement, and strategic investments, the County's efforts have included:

- The establishment of the Livable Infrastructure for Everyone (L.I.F.E.) funding through the one-cent infrastructure surtax — a dedicated mechanism designed to direct resources toward communities that have long been overlooked. Through this initiative, Leon County has been able to translate policy commitments into tangible, on-the-ground improvements, including:
    - Rural Road Safety Stabilization Program – addressing road conditions in rural corridors to improve safety and accessibility for all residents.
    - Rural Broadband – expanding high-speed internet access to underserved rural communities, bridging the digital divide and connecting residents to economic and educational opportunities.
    - Fire Hydrants – extending fire suppression infrastructure into rural areas that previously lacked adequate protection, improving public safety for residents historically outside the reach of essential services.
    - Intersection Street Lighting – illuminating key intersections in underserved areas to enhance safety for drivers, pedestrians, and cyclists.
    - School Bus Lighting – improving visibility and safety at school bus stops, protecting children in rural communities who were previously without adequate lighting infrastructure.
- Dedication of $319 million through the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (Blueprint) on infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods that equates to approximately 62% of Blueprint funding including:
    - More than $1.5 million for the development of the South City Transit Center and improvements in the South City neighborhood.
    - Approximately $9 million in Blueprint funding for the Orange-Meridian Placemaking project for construction of a new park and investment in the South City Transit Center.
    - Planned construction of Segment 4 of the Capital Cascades Trail in the amount of $20 million for stormwater improvements, multi-use trail, and community gathering spaces connecting the Bond, Callen, Liberty Park, Lee Manor, and Providence neighborhoods.
    - Construction of the Magnolia Drive Trail, including underground electric utilities adjacent to the South City neighborhood in the amount of $23.6 million.
- Adoption of the Family Heir Policy to support intergenerational land use and help families in underserved areas retain and utilize property that might otherwise remain undevelopable under standard regulations.
- Investment in multimodal transportation infrastructure, including new sidewalks and trail connections to the St. Marks Trail, to expand access to affordable non-motorized transportation — including walking, bicycling, and micro-mobility — for residents in historically underserved areas, reducing transportation costs and improving connectivity to employment, services, and recreation.

- Adoption of two Neighborhood First Plans — for the Greater Bond Neighborhood and the Providence Neighborhood — containing infrastructure investment components that expand mobility options, improve public spaces, and strengthen connectivity within and between neighborhoods in historically underserved areas of the incorporated community.

Protect the Environment for Health, Safety, and Welfare

For much of the twentieth century, a combination of public policies and private sector activities prioritized development and economic growth that adversely impacted the environment. This included the direct discharge of effluent and untreated wastewater into surface waters, development within designated flood hazard areas, and the systematic filling of floodplains and wetlands. According to the Environmental Law Institute, a research-based organization in Washington, D.C. that focuses on environmental policies, local governments address public policies and private activities that have adversely impacted the environment in their communities through integrated strategies of regular testing and observation, remedial projects, and community engagement. Through rigorous evaluation and monitoring of scientific data, the County has incorporated similar strategies with the adoption policies, plans, and programs aimed at reversing decades of environmental degradation while improving health, safety, and welfare in historically underserved areas. These efforts have resulted in the following:

- Adoption of the Leon County Environmental Management Act (EMA) to establish rigorous local standards for the protection of property and the natural environment that takes into consideration the unique ecology of natural resources within geographic areas. In underserved areas, the County's EMA standards is mitigating flooding, protecting waterbodies, and reducing pollution.
- Adoption of the Primary Spring Zone Protection to safeguard groundwater quality within neighborhoods in Southern Leon County where the Florida Aquifer is most vulnerable while to protecting the water quality and biological health of Wakulla Springs.
- Establishment of Woodville Septic to Sewer Program to convert septic tanks to central sewer system, eliminating decades of groundwater and surface water contamination. The program provides homeowners in the Woodville area up to $12,000 in grant funding. Thus far, the County has invested $63 million and expanded sewer services to 709 properties.
- Adoption of the Lake Munson Action Plan to restore Lake Munson to address the legacy of pollution and nutrient loading that degraded the lake over generations with algal blooms, fish kills, and invasive plant growth. The plan includes:
    - Advancement of the $1.6 million Munson Slough Embankment Repair Project to stabilize eroded banks, reestablish native vegetation, and reduce sediment transport into Lake Munson;
    - An initial drawdown to facilitate sediment drying and nutrient reduction;
    - Periodic routine drawdowns to sustain long-term water quality improvements;
    - Post-Drawdown Water Quality Study from May 2024 through April 2026, including monthly water quality and flow data collection at four monitoring locations;
    - Enhanced water quality monitoring;

  - Aerial topographic surveys of the lake bottom; and
  - Expanded invasive exotic vegetation and algal bloom management programs.

- Investment in the Lake Henrietta stormwater management facility project to address decades of polluted stormwater runoff that has contributed to the degradation of Lake Munson. This Lake Henrietta Project includes:
  - Construction of Lake Henrietta as a regional stormwater management facility to intercept polluted stormwater runoff upstream of Lake Munson, capturing sediment, floating debris, and nutrient-rich material before it can enter the lake.
  - Investment of over $1 million in the Lake Henrietta facility, which has captured over 53,000 cubic yards of sediment and debris from flowing downstream into Lake Munson since construction in the early 2000s.
  - Receipt of a $2 million U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grant for the Lake Henrietta Sediment Removal Project to remove the accumulated sediment the facility was designed to capture, restoring the facility's stormwater treatment capacity and reducing nutrient loading into Lake Munson, with design anticipated in Summer 2026 and construction to follow in 2027.
  - Development of the Anita Davis Preserve at Lake Henrietta, which serves the surrounding community as a public park featuring a walking trail and outdoor recreational amenities, providing dual environmental and quality-of-life benefits to residents in the area.

Deliver Critical Social Services to Enhance Quality of Life

In order to deliver critical social services, the County has adopted and implemented numerous programs consistent with best practices that are data driven, strategically implemented, and community-focused to improve the quality of life for the residents in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations. The County's recent and ongoing efforts include:

- Hosted the 32304 Summit in March 2026 to highlight the efforts of the County and community partners to reduce poverty in 32304 neighborhoods including Frenchtown and Griffin Heights which has resulted in an 8% decrease in the 32304 poverty rate since 2019 (more than the 2% Countywide reduction during the same period).
- Establishment of the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) Promise Zone in partnership with the City which invests $1.1 million each funding cycle to provide direct services such as food, legal aid, and healthcare to high poverty neighborhoods.
- Hosted nine (9) Breaking Bread Dinner series in the neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates to identify barriers to food access with more than 200 participants.
- Establishment of the Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Committee (Trusted People Committee) comprised of leaders of the neighborhoods with high food insecurity rates that meet bi-monthly to work with the County and partners to engage and connect residents to available resources in the community.

- Installation of temperature-controlled food lockers available 24/7 in Frenchtown, South City, and Providence neighborhoods that have distributed over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents.
- Strengthened partnership this year (2026) with Farm Share to increase fresh produce distribution capacity in neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates which will serve over 1,000 households annually.
- Partnership with the City to implement the City's Neighborhood First Plans to improve the quality of life and spur economic growth in high poverty neighborhoods which has resulted in more than $1.1 million in County funding for the construction of 16 homes in Bond, Griffin Heights, and Providence.
- Implementation of the Home Rehabilitation and Replacement Program to perform emergency home repairs, rehabilitate projects, and/or replace the homes of low-income families in rural and underserved regions of the County.
- Partnership with the City and Tallahassee Housing Authority to create and provide seed funding for the establishment of the South City Foundation to revitalize the neighborhood through engagement, economic development, healthcare, and affordable housing.
- Establishment of the Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) Program in partnership with Tallahassee State College and Leon County Schools to create a career path at the Leon County Emergency Medical Services for students at Godby High School which is the primary high school for the 32304-zip code and neighborhoods with the highest poverty rate in the County.

In addition to neighborhood specific programs, initiatives, and investments, the County's communitywide efforts to deliver resources to the most vulnerable populations include:

- Investment of $1.4 million annually to prevent and reduce homelessness in the community through dedicated funding to the five (5) emergency homeless shelters, street outreach initiatives, and Leon County Sheriff HOST deputies.
- Investment of more than $1.75 million annually through the Healthcare Services Program (i.e., CareNet) to provide primary care, dental care, mental health services, assistance with prescription medications, and specialty care to low-income, uninsured residents.
- More than $500,000 annually in County funding to support food pantries, mobile food distributions, senior nutrition services, and child meal programs.
- Distribution of over 4,000 summer meals through the Summer BreakSpot program at the Leon County Main Library and branch locations for kids during summer 2025.
- Expanded partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to invest more than $100,000 annually in the 2-1-1 Lyft program that provides County residents free transportation to medical appointments, grocery stores, and employment interviews.
- Investment of $5.8 million in direct funding and more than $198 million in bonding for affordable housing rental projects that have or will build more than 1,200 units within the next 12 to 18 months for low-income households.

- Investment of $500,000 annually in affordable rental development for very-low and extremely-low income households.
- Secured $100 million in bonds through the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County (HFA) for the development of future affordable rental housing projects for low-income renters.
- Adoption of the local option property tax exemption to incentivize market rate rental development projects to dedicate units for low-income households at affordable rates.
- Establishment of the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) in partnership with the City and Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. The County donates properties to the CLT to construct new homes (eight homes completed thus far).
- Partnership with Legal Services of North Florida to provide legal assistance to help low-income families clear title and resolve heirs' property issues.
- Partnership with FAMU Federal Credit Union to establish the SmartSteps Microloan Program to provide financial capital to historically marginalized entrepreneurs to build their businesses. The County allocated $2.5 million, and to-date SmartSteps has distributed over $1 million in microloans to 51 small local businesses.
- Partnership with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber) to support the Bank On Tallahassee Initiative which improves access to banks and credit unions for low-income households and helps reduce barriers for households with previous credit issues.

As extensively detailed, the County is actively addressing historic harmful public policy decisions in geographic areas utilizing best practices to adopt policies, implement programs, strengthen partnerships, enhance community engagement, and make significant investment in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations. The County's efforts are reducing economic inequities; providing public infrastructures essential to health, safety, and welfare; protecting the environment; and delivering critical social services to enhance the quality of life of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations.

Consistent with the Board's direction, the County's approach addresses historic harmful public policy decisions in geographic areas, complies with state and federal laws and does not jeopardize any state and federal funding requirements. These targeted efforts align with best practices that address historic harmful policy decisions, comply with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding. Furthermore, these efforts are strategically planned, annually funded by the Board, and carried out on a day-to-day basis by staff, community partners, and key stakeholders Most importantly, the County's efforts have been successfully implemented within the Board's existing authority and without the need for an amendment to the County Charter.

Further Consideration by the Citizen Charter Review Committee

As previously reported to the Committee, there are no county charters in Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government.

Operational detail or program-specific policy, such as the establishment of programs or targeted resource allocation, is more appropriately implemented through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. In fact, the Board currently has the statutory authority and has been active in addressing the long-standing and evolving needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations through policies, programs, and investments – all of which have been done without amending the County Charter.

In light of the Board's existing authority and ongoing actions, a Charter Amendment is not necessary and could be limiting. Specifically, creation of policy and programmatic mandates in the Charter would reduce the County's flexibility to respond to evolving community needs, funding opportunities, and legal requirements, and may not be consistent with the County's data-driven approach to addressing the most pressing issues and investing in time-sensitive needs in the community.

Potential Amendment to Revise the Preamble of the County Charter

Should the Committee wish to consider a proposed Charter Amendment, an option for consideration is to amend the Preamble of the County Charter to affirm County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. As noted previously, this option was presented to the Board at its May 12th meeting, which the Board did not advance and instead voted to reconvene the Committee to consider whether a Charter Amendment on this issue should be advanced.

As previously reported to the Committee, the Preamble sets forth broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule, local decision making, and the role of residents in shaping their local government. As an introduction to what the Charter seeks to achieve, the Preamble does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for County government. Rather, it is intentionally broad to allow the County to adapt and respond to emerging challenges as determined by the elected County Commission.

The Committee previously recommended to the Board a proposed amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. Similarly, the Committee may wish to consider revisions to the Preamble that would reflect the County's long and ongoing efforts to invest and engage in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations.

As shown in Table #1, the proposed language (underlined) could be incorporated to affirm the County's commitment to addressing the needs of underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. The proposed amendment, as drafted below, would not conflict with existing state and federal law.

Table #1. Proposed Amendment to the Charter Preamble
(Proposed language underlined)

PREAMBLE We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government and in order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida. We further affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community.

In addition, potential ballot language has been prepared for the proposed Charter Amendment as reflected in Table #2 below. The proposed ballot title and ballot language reflected in Table #2 would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #2. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Preamble of the Leon County Home Rule Charter be amended to affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved geographic areas and vulnerable populations in our community, while preserving the Charter's existing framework for local self-governance, community values, and citizen empowerment?

The Committee also has the opportunity to propose its own charter amendment as an alternative or any additional direction specific to this issue. Should the Committee not wish to further consider or advance this issue, it may also table the issue at this time.

Next Steps

As directed by the Board, this item provides the Committee with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

A simple majority is needed to advance a Charter Amendment to the Committee's three required public hearings to take public input and formally consider the proposed Amendment. The public hearings have been tentatively scheduled to take place June 30, July 16, and July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. The Committee may consider and approve further revisions to the proposed Amendment during any of its public hearings. Any proposed Charter Amendments, as recommended by the Committee during its public hearings, will be presented for final consideration by the Board at its public hearing on August 17, 2026.

Options:

1. Accept this report and take no further action.
2. Advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions for consideration at the Committee's first of three public hearings on June 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Recommendation:

Special Meeting
May 28, 2026
11:30 a.m. – 2:30 p.m.
Leon County Main Library
Programming Room

The Leon County 2025-2026 Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC) met on May 28, 2026, at 11:30 a.m. in the Leon County Main Library with Committee Members Mary Ann Lindley, Chauncy Haynes, Joey Davis, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Max Herrle, Darryl Jones, Howard Kessler, Henry Lewis, III, Slaton Murray, Ryan Ray, Shamarial Roberson, Temple Robinson, Bruce Strouble, Jr., Jarrett Terry, Katrina Tuggerson and Barry Wilcox in attendance. Also present were County Administrator Vincent Long, Deputy County Attorney Emily Norton, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Nicki Hatch, Management Analyst Cameron Williams, and Clerks to the Board, Beryl Wood and Daniel J. Antonaccio.

Absent Members: Anita Favors, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman, and William Smith.

Call to Order and Opening Mary Ann Lindley, Chair

Chair Lindley called the meeting to order at 11:30 a.m. and asked County Administrator Long to provide a brief overview of the meeting.

County Administrator Long recapped the Committee's previous consideration of a proposed Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions, which failed to advance on a 9 – 9 vote. He explained that the Board of County Commissioners subsequently requested additional analysis related to Senate Bill 1134 and recent federal actions and directed staff to develop a legally compliant, geographically based framework for addressing the effects of historic public policy decisions.

County Administrator Long noted that the agenda materials summarized the County's existing geographically focused programs, investments, and initiatives supporting vulnerable communities. While the Board did not advance a Board-initiated Charter Amendment, it referred the matter back to the Committee for further consideration and possible recommendation.

Chair Lindley stated that the consideration of advancing a proposed Charter amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions would be the only issue for consideration by the Committee during the special meeting.

Consent:

Henry Lewis, III, moved, seconded by Ryan Ray, to approve the consent agenda as presented.

The motion carried 16 – 0 with Committee Members Anita Favors, Darryl Jones, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman and William Smith not present.

Approval of February 19, 2026 Meeting Minutes

Receipt & File of Written Public Comments

- Darryl Jones arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

Public Comment:

- Stanley Sims, 1320 Avondale Way, stated that the Board was not rejecting the concept but seeking to avoid potential legal and financial risks. He emphasized that the issue should focus on the impacts of past public policies and strengthening community unity rather than race, labels, or division.
- Serenity Williams, 4011 Elder Lane, spoke in support of the proposed amendment, stating that recurring assessment, transparency, and public review are appropriate Charter functions and that the proposal would not mandate spending, create quotas, or establish preferential treatment.
- Darchelle Pickett, a District 2 resident, spoke in support of the proposed amendment, stating that public policy decisions can have lasting community impacts. She cited Smoky Hollow as an example and described the proposal as a geographically based framework for assessing community conditions.
- Bryan Stringer, 8479 Southern Park Drive, spoke in support of the proposed amendment, stating that the proposal would establish a long-term framework for transparency, accountability, recurring community impact assessments, and public reporting without creating spending mandates, quotas, or race-based preferences.

General Business:

Agenda Item #1: Consideration of Advancing a Proposed Charter Amendment Addressing Historic Harmful Public Policy Decisions

Nicki Hatch introduced the item, which requested the Committee's consideration of whether to advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions. As directed by the Board of County Commissioners at its May 12, 2026 meeting, the proposed amendment would use a geographically based framework rather than protected-class criteria and would be developed consistent with applicable state and federal law without jeopardizing state or federal funding. Staff presented the following options: (1) accept the report and take no further action; or (2) advance a proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's first public hearing on June 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., presented a revised charter amendment proposal developed in response to concerns raised by staff and legal counsel. He distributed handouts with his revised proposal and explained that the proposal removed references to protected classes and funding requirements, instead establishing a geographically based framework for recurring assessments of the impacts of historic public policies and governmental practices. He stated that the proposal was intended to promote accountability, transparency, and public reporting rather than create mandates or race-based programs.

Slaton Murray moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, to open the item for discussion.

The motion carried 17 – 0 with Committee Members Anita Favors, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman and William Smith not present.

Slaton Murray asked who would oversee the framework and whether a new board, committee, or governmental function would be required. He also asked whether implementation would create financial obligations for the County.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., responded that the proposal intentionally leaves implementation details to County staff and the Board of County Commissioners. He explained that the framework would require a formal assessment every four years, with findings presented to the Board for public review and consideration. The Board would then determine how to respond to the findings and whether the information should be incorporated into County decision-making. He emphasized that the proposal itself does not create automatic expenditures and leaves any financial commitments to the discretion of the Board.

County Administrator Long advised that if the Committee wished to advance a Charter Amendment, it would need to specify the language it intended to recommend before taking final action.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, for Option #2: Advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions for consideration at the Committee's first of three public hearings on June 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Joey Davis questioned why the proposed language applied countywide rather than to specific geographic areas and asked how the proposed assessment and reporting process would differ from existing County evaluations and reporting practices.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., explained that the proposed language was intentionally broad to allow the framework to address community concerns throughout Leon County, including issues that may emerge in the future.

County Administrator Long stated that while the County conducts numerous program-specific evaluations and reporting activities, it does not currently have a single, comprehensive process for assessing historic harms as illustrated in the proposal.

Barry Wilcox requested a practical example of how the proposed framework would work.

Chair Lindley invited Commissioner Bill Proctor to respond to Mr. Wilcox's question.

Commissioner Bill Proctor cited examples of annexation, infrastructure, and service disparities in certain communities, stating that such issues illustrate the types of historic public policy decisions that could be reviewed under the proposed amendment.

Vice Chairman Haynes stated that he would oppose the amendment, arguing that the County already addresses historical inequities through existing programs and investments. He expressed concern that adding the issue to the Charter could expand it beyond its intended role. He then questioned whether similar charter provisions exist elsewhere and expressed concern that the proposal could be perceived as a DEI initiative. He also questioned the need for recurring assessments focused on historical harms.

County Administrator Long responded that such provisions are generally uncommon.

Slaton Murray noted that ongoing Blueprint investments are helping address infrastructure and equity concerns in underserved communities and praised the County's existing efforts.

Henry Lewis, III, proposed a friendly amendment revising the ballot title to "Affirmation of County's Commitment to Historically Underserved Areas and Vulnerable Populations in Our Community" and removing the phrase "later determined to be unlawful or unconstitutional" from the amendment language. He stated that the changes would provide greater clarity and broaden the amendment's scope.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., accepted the friendly amendment.

Joey Davis proposed a friendly amendment to remove the word "historic" from the charter language, arguing that the amendment should address both past and future policy impacts and remain relevant over time.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., accepted the friendly amendment.

Shamarial Roberson stated that removing the word "historic" would make the amendment more relevant to current and future issues. She also sought assurance from legal counsel that the revised language would not conflict with state or federal law before supporting the proposal.

Deputy County Attorney Norton stated that she could review the proposed language for potential conflicts with applicable law but could not predict the legality of future actions or policies that might result from the amendment.

Linda Bond Edwards stated that the phrase "adverse community conditions" would provide flexibility and allow residents to raise concerns about the impacts of County policies or actions. She argued that the amendment could benefit any resident affected by such conditions.

Deputy County Attorney Norton cautioned that the term "adverse community conditions" may be too broad and undefined, potentially creating ambiguity about what issues would qualify for review under the amendment.

County Administrator Long advised that removing limited language could make the amendment difficult to implement by creating uncertainty about which policies, actions, or conditions should trigger an assessment.

Deputy County Attorney Norton added that any approved charter language would need to be sufficiently clear because the charter does not contain a general definitions section.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., cautioned that removing the word "historic" could make the proposal overly broad and weaken its original purpose. He requested that Joey Davis withdraw his friendly amendment.

Chair Lindley supported retaining the word "historic," stating that it better reflects the amendment's intent and provides greater clarity for voters.

Joey Davis withdrew his friendly amendment.

Vice Chairman Haynes offered a substitute motion, stating his preference for using the Charter Preamble to affirm the County's existing commitment to historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations without establishing a new Charter-based assessment process.

Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes made a substitute motion to adopt the ballot title and ballot language presented by staff in the agenda item, which would amend the Charter Preamble to affirm the County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved geographical areas and vulnerable populations of the community while preserving the County's existing framework for local self-governance, community values, and citizen empowerment.

The motion failed for lack of a second.

Shamarial Roberson asked whether Leon County has a defined meaning for "historic public policies" or any formally identified unlawful historic policies.

Deputy County Attorney Norton responded that the County does not have a specific definition or formal classification for historic public policies.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., requested to proceed with the vote.

Vice Chairman Haynes questioned how Committee members could evaluate the proposal without a clear definition of "historic public policies".

Committee members sought clarification on the motion.

Ms. Hatch explained that the motion consisted of three components: the proposed ballot title, ballot language, and charter amendment language as revised by the Committee. It was also confirmed that the proposed charter amendment language would be revised to reflect the changes made by the Committee to the ballot title and ballot language.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Howard Kessler, for Option #2, as amended: Advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions for consideration at the Committee's first of three public hearings on June 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. based on the Ballot Title and Language as amended and approved by the Committee as follows:

- Proposed Ballot Title (As Revised and Approved by Committee): "Affirmation Of County's Commitment To Historically Underserved And Vulnerable Populations"
- Proposed Ballot Language (As Revised and Approved by Committee): "Shall the Home Rule Charter of Leon County, Florida be amended to provide for a recurring Community Impact Assessment process, public reporting, and Board of County Commissioners' review and response regarding adverse community conditions related to historic public policies or governmental practices?"

The motion carried 14 – 3 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Slaton Murray and Shamarial Roberson in opposition. Committee Members Anita Favors, Heidi Otway, Sean Pittman and William Smith were not present.

Ms. Hatch announced public hearings on June 30, July 16, and July 30, advising that the Committee's attendance was required and that votes would be taken at each hearing. She noted that additional revisions to the language could be considered and that, if approved, the proposal would advance to the Board of County Commissioners in August of 2026.

Committee members acknowledged the complexity of the issue, noting that questions involving historical inequities and governmental authority present significant legal and policy considerations.

Commissioner Proctor thanked the Committee for its work and described the discussion as one of the most thoughtful public policy conversations he had witnessed during his tenure.

Committee members expressed appreciation for the respectful and professional dialogue throughout the process despite differing viewpoints. Thanks were extended to the Chair, legal counsel, the County Administrator, and supporting staff for their assistance throughout the review process.

Agenda Item #1

June 30, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: First of Three Public Hearings to Consider the Proposed Charter Amendment Language to Provide for Community Impact Assessments

Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Cameron Williams, Management Analyst

Summary:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee at its May 28, 2026, special meeting, this item seeks to conduct the first of three public hearings on the proposed Charter Amendment to add an article to the Leon County Home Rule Charter. The proposed Charter Amendment would establish a periodic framework for the performance of a Community Impact Assessment, results publication, and Board of County Commissioners' review of adverse community conditions related to historic County laws, policies or practices.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Conduct the first of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's second of three public hearings on July 16, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Citizen Charter Review Committee (Committee) at its May 28, 2026, special meeting, this item seeks to conduct the first of three public hearings on the proposed Charter Amendment to add an article to the Leon County Home Rule Charter (Attachment #1). The proposed Charter Amendment would establish a periodic framework for the performance of a Community Impact Assessment, results publication, and Board of County Commissioners' (Board) review of adverse community conditions related to historic County laws, policies or practices.

On January 22, 2026, the Committee received an analysis of the County's ongoing efforts to reduce poverty and inequity in the community, including an analysis of a proposal by Committee Member Bruce Strouble to amend the County Charter to establish programs and funding targeted to communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination. Following discussion, the Committee requested that staff prepare a proposed Charter Amendment and corresponding ballot language requiring the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions.

On February 19, 2026, staff presented the proposed Charter Amendment and ballot language. Due to recent and ongoing state and federal actions related to diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) activities, as well as the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and inequities in the community within the Board's existing authority, the Committee did not advance the proposed Charter Amendment.

Subsequently, the Board considered the proposed Charter Amendment at its April 10 and May 12, 2026, meetings. At the May 12th meeting, the Board voted to reconvene the Committee to consider whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

At the May 28, 2026, special meeting, the Committee received an overview of the Board's direction, the County's existing efforts to address the needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations, and options for the Committee's consideration of whether to advance a proposed Charter Amendment. At that time, the Committee voted 14-3 to advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing adverse community conditions related to historic public policies or governmental practices to the public hearing process. As advanced by the Committee, the draft Charter Amendment language provides for a periodic Community Impact Assessment, results publication, and the Board's review of adverse community conditions related to historic County laws, policies or practices.

Three public hearings have been scheduled for the Committee's consideration of proposed Charter Amendment language on June 30, July 16, and July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. in the Leon County Main Library Program Room.

Analysis:

If the Board adopts an ordinance to place the proposed Charter Amendment on the ballot, and if approved by a majority of electors voting in November, an article would be added to the Leon County Home Rule Charter. Consistent with the Board's direction, the proposed Charter Amendment would establish a periodic framework for the assessment and public reporting of adverse community conditions related to historic County laws, policies or practices in geographical areas of the County, rather than on the basis of race, gender, ethnicity, or another protected class. The proposed Charter Amendment would also provide for Board review following the performance of each Community Impact Assessment.

The proposed Charter Amendment would require Leon County to conduct a periodic assessment of adverse community conditions within geographic areas of the County related to historic County public policies or governmental practices, subject to appropriation and funding availability. The County would be required to publish the findings of such assessments in a publicly accessible format. The Board would also be required to review the findings of each Community Impact Assessment during a public meeting. This framework is intended to inform County decision-making in a manner consistent with applicable state and federal law. Accordingly, the Board would be authorized to consider the findings of Community Impact Assessments when exercising its legislative authority provided by the Charter and in compliance with applicable state and federal law.

The proposed Charter Amendment does not mandate specific policy outcomes, funding allocations, or preferential treatment for any individual or group. The proposed Charter Amendment further provides that nothing in the article shall be construed to authorize any program, policy, or action inconsistent with applicable state or federal constitutional provisions or statutes, rules, or regulations or applicable court order.

The proposed Charter Amendment language is included in Attachment #1. The language in Attachment #1 provides a general starting point based on the Committee's prior direction. As reflected in the proposed language, the Charter Amendment would require the Board to adopt an Ordinance for implementation no later than April 1, 2027. The Ordinance will set forth additional detail – such as definition of key terms (i.e., "historically underserved" and "vulnerable populations") and neutral, geographically based criteria for selecting areas for assessment – as necessary for implementation of the proposed Amendment if approved for inclusion in the Charter. This implementation approach is consistent with all previous Charter Amendments advanced through the Citizen Charter Review Committee process.

The draft ballot language approved by the Committee at the May 28, 2026, special meeting is provided in Table #1 below. The Committee may wish to further amend the proposed ballot language and title after final approval of proposed Charter Amendment language. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #1. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Affirmation Of County's Commitment To Historically Underserved And Vulnerable Populations
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Home Rule Charter of Leon County, Florida be amended to provide for a recurring Community Impact Assessment process, public reporting, and Board of County Commissioners' review and response regarding adverse community conditions related to historic public policies or governmental practices?

Next Steps

This item provides the Committee with the opportunity to conduct the first of three required public hearings to receive public input and consider the proposed Charter Amendment. The second and third public hearings are scheduled for July 16 and July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. in the Leon County Main Library Program Room.

The Committee may consider and approve further revisions to the proposed Charter Amendment during any of its public hearings. A Committee vote will be required at each public hearing to continue advancing the proposed Charter Amendment through the public hearing process.

Following the Committee's three public hearings, any proposed Charter Amendment recommended by the Committee will be presented to the Board for consideration at a public hearing on August 17, 2026. If approved by the Board, the proposed Charter Amendment would be placed on the November 3, 2026, General Election ballot for consideration by the Leon County electorate. If approved by a majority of electors voting on the referendum, the Charter Amendment would become effective January 1, 2027.

Options:

1. Conduct the first of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's second of three public hearings on July 16, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.
2. Conduct the first of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and do not advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's second of three public hearings.

Summary:

As requested by the Board of County Commissioners at its May 12, 2026 meeting, this item seeks the Citizen Charter Review Committee's consideration of whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

Staff Recommendation:

Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Board of County Commissioners (Board) at its May 12, 2026 meeting, this item seeks the Citizen Charter Review Committee's (Committee) consideration of whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class; compliant with state and federal laws; and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

On January 22, 2026, the Committee received an analysis of the County's ongoing efforts to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The item included an analysis of Dr. Bruce Strouble's proposal to amend the County Charter by creating a new section that would require the County to establish programs and funding targeted to communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination. As presented in that item, adopting a Charter Amendment to establish programs and funding based on historic racial disenfranchisement could create legal challenges and jeopardize federal and state funding due to recent and ongoing state and federal actions to prohibit diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) related activities. Despite these considerations, the Committee requested a proposed Charter Amendment and corresponding ballot language to be prepared for consideration requiring the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions.

On February 19, 2026, the Committee received the proposed Charter Amendment and ballot language. Due to recent and ongoing state and federal actions to prohibit diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) related activities as well as the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and inequities in the community within the Board's existing authority, the Committee did not advance the proposed Charter Amendment. Throughout the process, the Committee expressed strong support for the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and inequities in historically underserved areas and support vulnerable populations in the community.

Subsequently, at its March 20, 2026 meeting, the Board requested an item on the proposed Charter Amendment considered, but ultimately not recommended, by the Committee related to persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions based on certain occurrences including slavery and segregation. It is important to note that on that same day, the Florida Legislature also approved SB 1134 which prohibits local governments from adopting and implementing DEI-related activities such as those proposed in the Charter Amendment considered by the Committee. Additionally, on March 26, 2026, President Trump issued another executive order, Executive Order (2026 EO), that requires all recipients of federal funding to agree that they will not engage in racially discriminatory DEI activities.

The requested item on the proposed Charter Amendment not recommended by the Committee was presented to the Board at its April 10, 2026 meeting. The item provided a comprehensive analysis on the proposed Charter Amendment as well as the recent state and federal actions that prohibit local governments from adopting and implementing DEI-related activities such as those proposed in the Charter Amendment. Recognizing these considerations, the Board requested a revised framework to address historic harmful public policy decisions that could be provided to the Citizen

Charter Review Committee for further consideration as a Charter Amendment that examines the following:

- Public policy decisions enacted by the Board;
- Focuses on geographic areas and does not consider race, gender, ethnicity or any other protected class (i.e., sexual orientation, etc.);
- Complies with state and federal laws; and
- Does not jeopardize state and federal funding requirements.

At its May 12, 2026 meeting, the proposed framework was presented to the Board which included important context regarding the County's comprehensive and ongoing efforts in alignment with the criteria above by addressing the needs in geographic areas through investment and engagement in underserved areas and vulnerable populations. As detailed in that item, these existing efforts align with best practices, are consistent with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding awarded to the County. Notwithstanding the County's existing ongoing efforts, as requested by the Board, the item presented an option for consideration to revise the Charter Preamble to affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. At that time, the Board voted to reconvene the Committee for its consideration of whether a Charter Amendment should be advanced addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

Analysis:

Leon County comprehensively addresses the long-standing and evolving needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations (i.e., homeless, low-income, etc.) through countless policies, innovative programs, ongoing partnerships, and active engagement – all of which are data-driven, strategically implemented, and consistent with best practices. With this approach and focus, the County regularly addresses the highest and most challenging needs that historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations often experience.

Based on empirical data such as U.S. Census and U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, the common challenges of historically underserved areas include economic inequities that are often highlighted by persistent and disproportionate high poverty and unemployment rates; the lack of public infrastructure that prevents access to basic and essential services; the degradation of natural and environmental resources that adversely affect health and welfare; and limited access to social services that are critical to enhancing quality of life.

As presented to the Board at its May 12, 2026 meeting, the following analysis details the numerous policies, programs, partnerships, and investments the County is actively implementing in historically underserved areas to:

- Reduce Economic Inequities;
- Expand Infrastructure for Access to Basic and Essential Services;
- Protect the Environment for Health, Safety, and Welfare; and
- Deliver Critical Social Services to Enhance Quality of Life.

Consistent with the Board's direction, these efforts align with best practices that address historic harmful policy decisions, comply with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding. Additionally, these efforts have been implemented within the Board's existing authority and without any change to the County Charter.

Reduce Economic Inequities

The County has actively spearheaded efforts to reduce economic inequities and private sector disinvestment in historically underserved areas. Aligned with best practices, the County utilizes empirical data developed by the U.S. Census and Florida Office of Economic & Demographic Research to identify neighborhoods and communities with persistent and disproportionate levels of high poverty and unemployment rates. Subsequently, programs, partnerships, initiatives, and investments are adopted and implemented in collaboration and coordination with residents and stakeholders to increase economic prosperity and private sector investment. Although not exhaustive, significant examples of the County efforts include:

- Establishment of the Downtown and Greater Frenchtown-Southside Community Redevelopment Areas (CRAs) in partnership with the City of Tallahassee (City) to increase economic growth in areas that for years experienced slum, blight, and private sector disinvestment. Through the CRAs, the County has invested more than $56 million in property tax revenue that has improved public infrastructures (roads, sidewalks, stormwater, etc.); constructed new affordable housing including Goodbread Hills, Columbia Gardens, and Magnolia Oaks; and invested in local businesses to spur private sector investment in housing, retail, and restaurants.
- Adoption of the Southside Action Plan (SAP) within the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan to promote balanced and equitable growth in southern Leon County neighborhoods, including Bond, Providence, and South City. This has resulted in more than $1.13 billion in public and private investment within the SAP boundaries including more than $125 million in direct County funding.
- Development of Sense of Place Plans that intentionally engage residents to strengthen the unique identity of local neighborhoods and rural communities while enhancing public investment. Sense of Place plans developed by the County include:
    - Miccosukee Community Sense of Place – led to $5.9 million in County and federal investment for the redevelopment of the Old Concord School into the new Miccosukee Community Center.
    - Lake Jackson Town Center Huntington Sense of Place – transformed a traditional shopping center into a cohesive public gathering spot that resulted in the expansion of the Lake Jackson Branch Library, a new community center, and enhanced retail space for greater private sector investment.
    - Woodville Community Sense of Place – adopted as a County Strategic Initiative by the Board, this plan focuses on activating and enhancing the rural town center through placemaking and infrastructure investment. It prioritizes the revitalization of Woodville and Robinson Road Parks alongside the development of a new trail hub on the St. Marks Trail, all supported by landscaping and gateway signage to strengthen community identity. These aesthetic improvements are paired with critical infrastructure projects, including streetscaping, expanded pedestrian and bicycle connectivity, roadway safety enhancements, and the ongoing septic-to-sewer conversion program. Ultimately, the plan drives economic vitality by promoting trail-oriented development and updating zoning to foster compatible, small-scale business opportunities.

- Adoption of land use and zoning tools under the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan — including the Land Use and Mobility Element adopted in December 2025 — to protect existing neighborhoods from incompatible development and guide growth in a manner that preserves neighborhood character. These tools include low-density residential zoning classifications that prevent the conversion of single-family neighborhoods to high-density multifamily or large-format retail, and the Neighborhood Boundary land use category developed in partnership with the Bond Neighborhood to allow small-scale mixed uses — such as corner stores, daycares, and small cafes — while prohibiting strip malls, apartments, and big box retail that would alter the neighborhood's scale and character.
- Administration of the Small Business Enterprise (SBE) program through the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) to provide business support to qualifying small businesses based on size and revenue, ensuring local enterprises in underserved areas can compete for and benefit from public investment opportunities.
- Partnership with the Small Business Development Center at FAMU to provide technical assistance to new and existing small business owners at every phase of the business lifecycle, preparing them to take advantage of economic opportunities generated by new public and private development in their communities.
- Implementation of robust public engagement on all public projects — including stakeholder meetings, online and in-person surveys, and public open houses — to ensure residents in historically underserved areas are informed of and have meaningful input into investments being made in their communities. For private development proposals, public engagement includes direct mailed notifications, legal advertisements, on-site signage, citizen committee review, and public hearings, ensuring that residents have a voice in the development occurring in their neighborhoods.
- Availability of urban area opportunity incentives to attract jobs and private investment to the urban core, directly benefiting residents of historically underserved neighborhoods.

Expand Infrastructure for Access to Basic and Essential Services

The County has been steadfast in its commitment to infrastructure improvements in historically underserved areas that expand access to basic and essential services. These improvements include paved roads, sidewalks, and traffic lights that connect underserved neighborhoods to the broader community. Through a combination of data evaluation, extensive planning, active community engagement, and strategic investments, the County's efforts have included:

- The establishment of the Livable Infrastructure for Everyone (L.I.F.E.) funding through the one-cent infrastructure surtax — a dedicated mechanism designed to direct resources toward communities that have long been overlooked. Through this initiative, Leon County has been able to translate policy commitments into tangible, on-the-ground improvements, including:
    - Rural Road Safety Stabilization Program – addressing road conditions in rural corridors to improve safety and accessibility for all residents.
    - Rural Broadband – expanding high-speed internet access to underserved rural communities, bridging the digital divide and connecting residents to economic and educational opportunities.
    - Fire Hydrants – extending fire suppression infrastructure into rural areas that previously lacked adequate protection, improving public safety for residents historically outside the reach of essential services.
    - Intersection Street Lighting – illuminating key intersections in underserved areas to enhance safety for drivers, pedestrians, and cyclists.
    - School Bus Lighting – improving visibility and safety at school bus stops, protecting children in rural communities who were previously without adequate lighting infrastructure.
- Dedication of $319 million through the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (Blueprint) on infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods that equates to approximately 62% of Blueprint funding including:
    - More than $1.5 million for the development of the South City Transit Center and improvements in the South City neighborhood.
    - Approximately $9 million in Blueprint funding for the Orange-Meridian Placemaking project for construction of a new park and investment in the South City Transit Center.
    - Planned construction of Segment 4 of the Capital Cascades Trail in the amount of $20 million for stormwater improvements, multi-use trail, and community gathering spaces connecting the Bond, Callen, Liberty Park, Lee Manor, and Providence neighborhoods.
    - Construction of the Magnolia Drive Trail, including underground electric utilities adjacent to the South City neighborhood in the amount of $23.6 million.
- Adoption of the Family Heir Policy to support intergenerational land use and help families in underserved areas retain and utilize property that might otherwise remain undevelopable under standard regulations.
- Investment in multimodal transportation infrastructure, including new sidewalks and trail connections to the St. Marks Trail, to expand access to affordable non-motorized transportation — including walking, bicycling, and micro-mobility — for residents in historically underserved areas, reducing transportation costs and improving connectivity to employment, services, and recreation.

- Adoption of two Neighborhood First Plans — for the Greater Bond Neighborhood and the Providence Neighborhood — containing infrastructure investment components that expand mobility options, improve public spaces, and strengthen connectivity within and between neighborhoods in historically underserved areas of the incorporated community.

Protect the Environment for Health, Safety, and Welfare

For much of the twentieth century, a combination of public policies and private sector activities prioritized development and economic growth that adversely impacted the environment. This included the direct discharge of effluent and untreated wastewater into surface waters, development within designated flood hazard areas, and the systematic filling of floodplains and wetlands. According to the Environmental Law Institute, a research-based organization in Washington, D.C. that focuses on environmental policies, local governments address public policies and private activities that have adversely impacted the environment in their communities through integrated strategies of regular testing and observation, remedial projects, and community engagement. Through rigorous evaluation and monitoring of scientific data, the County has incorporated similar strategies with the adoption policies, plans, and programs aimed at reversing decades of environmental degradation while improving health, safety, and welfare in historically underserved areas. These efforts have resulted in the following:

- Adoption of the Leon County Environmental Management Act (EMA) to establish rigorous local standards for the protection of property and the natural environment that takes into consideration the unique ecology of natural resources within geographic areas. In underserved areas, the County's EMA standards is mitigating flooding, protecting waterbodies, and reducing pollution.
- Adoption of the Primary Spring Zone Protection to safeguard groundwater quality within neighborhoods in Southern Leon County where the Florida Aquifer is most vulnerable while to protecting the water quality and biological health of Wakulla Springs.
- Establishment of Woodville Septic to Sewer Program to convert septic tanks to central sewer system, eliminating decades of groundwater and surface water contamination. The program provides homeowners in the Woodville area up to $12,000 in grant funding. Thus far, the County has invested $63 million and expanded sewer services to 709 properties.
- Adoption of the Lake Munson Action Plan to restore Lake Munson to address the legacy of pollution and nutrient loading that degraded the lake over generations with algal blooms, fish kills, and invasive plant growth. The plan includes:
    - Advancement of the $1.6 million Munson Slough Embankment Repair Project to stabilize eroded banks, reestablish native vegetation, and reduce sediment transport into Lake Munson;
    - An initial drawdown to facilitate sediment drying and nutrient reduction;
    - Periodic routine drawdowns to sustain long-term water quality improvements;
    - Post-Drawdown Water Quality Study from May 2024 through April 2026, including monthly water quality and flow data collection at four monitoring locations;
    - Enhanced water quality monitoring;

  - Aerial topographic surveys of the lake bottom; and
  - Expanded invasive exotic vegetation and algal bloom management programs.

- Investment in the Lake Henrietta stormwater management facility project to address decades of polluted stormwater runoff that has contributed to the degradation of Lake Munson. This Lake Henrietta Project includes:
  - Construction of Lake Henrietta as a regional stormwater management facility to intercept polluted stormwater runoff upstream of Lake Munson, capturing sediment, floating debris, and nutrient-rich material before it can enter the lake.
  - Investment of over $1 million in the Lake Henrietta facility, which has captured over 53,000 cubic yards of sediment and debris from flowing downstream into Lake Munson since construction in the early 2000s.
  - Receipt of a $2 million U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grant for the Lake Henrietta Sediment Removal Project to remove the accumulated sediment the facility was designed to capture, restoring the facility's stormwater treatment capacity and reducing nutrient loading into Lake Munson, with design anticipated in Summer 2026 and construction to follow in 2027.
  - Development of the Anita Davis Preserve at Lake Henrietta, which serves the surrounding community as a public park featuring a walking trail and outdoor recreational amenities, providing dual environmental and quality-of-life benefits to residents in the area.

Deliver Critical Social Services to Enhance Quality of Life

In order to deliver critical social services, the County has adopted and implemented numerous programs consistent with best practices that are data driven, strategically implemented, and community-focused to improve the quality of life for the residents in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations. The County's recent and ongoing efforts include:

- Hosted the 32304 Summit in March 2026 to highlight the efforts of the County and community partners to reduce poverty in 32304 neighborhoods including Frenchtown and Griffin Heights which has resulted in an 8% decrease in the 32304 poverty rate since 2019 (more than the 2% Countywide reduction during the same period).
- Establishment of the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) Promise Zone in partnership with the City which invests $1.1 million each funding cycle to provide direct services such as food, legal aid, and healthcare to high poverty neighborhoods.
- Hosted nine (9) Breaking Bread Dinner series in the neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates to identify barriers to food access with more than 200 participants.
- Establishment of the Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Committee (Trusted People Committee) comprised of leaders of the neighborhoods with high food insecurity rates that meet bi-monthly to work with the County and partners to engage and connect residents to available resources in the community.

- Installation of temperature-controlled food lockers available 24/7 in Frenchtown, South City, and Providence neighborhoods that have distributed over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents.
- Strengthened partnership this year (2026) with Farm Share to increase fresh produce distribution capacity in neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates which will serve over 1,000 households annually.
- Partnership with the City to implement the City's Neighborhood First Plans to improve the quality of life and spur economic growth in high poverty neighborhoods which has resulted in more than $1.1 million in County funding for the construction of 16 homes in Bond, Griffin Heights, and Providence.
- Implementation of the Home Rehabilitation and Replacement Program to perform emergency home repairs, rehabilitate projects, and/or replace the homes of low-income families in rural and underserved regions of the County.
- Partnership with the City and Tallahassee Housing Authority to create and provide seed funding for the establishment of the South City Foundation to revitalize the neighborhood through engagement, economic development, healthcare, and affordable housing.
- Establishment of the Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) Program in partnership with Tallahassee State College and Leon County Schools to create a career path at the Leon County Emergency Medical Services for students at Godby High School which is the primary high school for the 32304-zip code and neighborhoods with the highest poverty rate in the County.

In addition to neighborhood specific programs, initiatives, and investments, the County's communitywide efforts to deliver resources to the most vulnerable populations include:

- Investment of $1.4 million annually to prevent and reduce homelessness in the community through dedicated funding to the five (5) emergency homeless shelters, street outreach initiatives, and Leon County Sheriff HOST deputies.
- Investment of more than $1.75 million annually through the Healthcare Services Program (i.e., CareNet) to provide primary care, dental care, mental health services, assistance with prescription medications, and specialty care to low-income, uninsured residents.
- More than $500,000 annually in County funding to support food pantries, mobile food distributions, senior nutrition services, and child meal programs.
- Distribution of over 4,000 summer meals through the Summer BreakSpot program at the Leon County Main Library and branch locations for kids during summer 2025.
- Expanded partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to invest more than $100,000 annually in the 2-1-1 Lyft program that provides County residents free transportation to medical appointments, grocery stores, and employment interviews.
- Investment of $5.8 million in direct funding and more than $198 million in bonding for affordable housing rental projects that have or will build more than 1,200 units within the next 12 to 18 months for low-income households.

- Investment of $500,000 annually in affordable rental development for very-low and extremely-low income households.
- Secured $100 million in bonds through the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County (HFA) for the development of future affordable rental housing projects for low-income renters.
- Adoption of the local option property tax exemption to incentivize market rate rental development projects to dedicate units for low-income households at affordable rates.
- Establishment of the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) in partnership with the City and Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. The County donates properties to the CLT to construct new homes (eight homes completed thus far).
- Partnership with Legal Services of North Florida to provide legal assistance to help low-income families clear title and resolve heirs' property issues.
- Partnership with FAMU Federal Credit Union to establish the SmartSteps Microloan Program to provide financial capital to historically marginalized entrepreneurs to build their businesses. The County allocated $2.5 million, and to-date SmartSteps has distributed over $1 million in microloans to 51 small local businesses.
- Partnership with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber) to support the Bank On Tallahassee Initiative which improves access to banks and credit unions for low-income households and helps reduce barriers for households with previous credit issues.

As extensively detailed, the County is actively addressing historic harmful public policy decisions in geographic areas utilizing best practices to adopt policies, implement programs, strengthen partnerships, enhance community engagement, and make significant investment in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations. The County's efforts are reducing economic inequities; providing public infrastructures essential to health, safety, and welfare; protecting the environment; and delivering critical social services to enhance the quality of life of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations.

Consistent with the Board's direction, the County's approach addresses historic harmful public policy decisions in geographic areas, complies with state and federal laws and does not jeopardize any state and federal funding requirements. These targeted efforts align with best practices that address historic harmful policy decisions, comply with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding. Furthermore, these efforts are strategically planned, annually funded by the Board, and carried out on a day-to-day basis by staff, community partners, and key stakeholders Most importantly, the County's efforts have been successfully implemented within the Board's existing authority and without the need for an amendment to the County Charter.

Further Consideration by the Citizen Charter Review Committee

As previously reported to the Committee, there are no county charters in Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government.

Operational detail or program-specific policy, such as the establishment of programs or targeted resource allocation, is more appropriately implemented through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. In fact, the Board currently has the statutory authority and has been active in addressing the long-standing and evolving needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations through policies, programs, and investments – all of which have been done without amending the County Charter.

In light of the Board's existing authority and ongoing actions, a Charter Amendment is not necessary and could be limiting. Specifically, creation of policy and programmatic mandates in the Charter would reduce the County's flexibility to respond to evolving community needs, funding opportunities, and legal requirements, and may not be consistent with the County's data-driven approach to addressing the most pressing issues and investing in time-sensitive needs in the community.

Potential Amendment to Revise the Preamble of the County Charter

Should the Committee wish to consider a proposed Charter Amendment, an option for consideration is to amend the Preamble of the County Charter to affirm County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. As noted previously, this option was presented to the Board at its May 12th meeting, which the Board did not advance and instead voted to reconvene the Committee to consider whether a Charter Amendment on this issue should be advanced.

As previously reported to the Committee, the Preamble sets forth broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule, local decision making, and the role of residents in shaping their local government. As an introduction to what the Charter seeks to achieve, the Preamble does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for County government. Rather, it is intentionally broad to allow the County to adapt and respond to emerging challenges as determined by the elected County Commission.

The Committee previously recommended to the Board a proposed amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. Similarly, the Committee may wish to consider revisions to the Preamble that would reflect the County's long and ongoing efforts to invest and engage in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations.

As shown in Table #1, the proposed language (underlined) could be incorporated to affirm the County's commitment to addressing the needs of underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. The proposed amendment, as drafted below, would not conflict with existing state and federal law.

The remainder of this page intentionally left blank.

Table #1. Proposed Amendment to the Charter Preamble
(Proposed language underlined)

PREAMBLE We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government and in order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida. We further affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community.

In addition, potential ballot language has been prepared for the proposed Charter Amendment as reflected in Table #2 below. The proposed ballot title and ballot language reflected in Table #2 would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #2. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Affirmation of County's Commitment to Historically Underserved Areas as proposed by Citizen Charter Review Committee
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Preamble of the Leon County Home Rule Charter be amended to affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved geographic areas and vulnerable populations in our community, while preserving the Charter's existing framework for local self-governance, community values, and citizen empowerment?

The Committee also has the opportunity to propose its own charter amendment as an alternative or any additional direction specific to this issue. Should the Committee not wish to further consider or advance this issue, it may also table the issue at this time.

Next Steps

As directed by the Board, this item provides the Committee with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

A simple majority is needed to advance a Charter Amendment to the Committee's three required public hearings to take public input and formally consider the proposed Amendment. The public hearings have been tentatively scheduled to take place June 30, July 16, and July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. The Committee may consider and approve further revisions to the proposed Amendment during any of its public hearings. Any proposed Charter Amendments, as recommended by the Committee during its public hearings, will be presented for final consideration by the Board at its public hearing on August 17, 2026.

Options:

1. Accept this report and take no further action.
2. Advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions for consideration at the Committee's first of three public hearings on June 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Recommendation:

Committee direction.

Chair Lindley called the meeting to order at 6:04 p.m.

Consent:

Ryan Ray moved, seconded by Darryl Jones, to approve the consent agenda as presented.

The motion carried 12 – 0 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Max Herrle, Howard Kessler, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman, Shamarial Roberson, and William Smith not present.

Approval of May 28, 2026 Meeting Minutes

Receipt & File of Written Public Comments

- Shamarial Roberson and Max Herrle arrived at this juncture of the meeting.

Public Comment:

- Melanie Andrade, 3349 Argonaut Drive, spoke in support of advancing the proposed amendment to be considered by the Board of County Commissioners, stating that public policy decisions have long-term impacts and the proposed amendment language would preserve accountability across administrations and political cycles.
- Delilah Pierre, 3303 Ty Cobb Road, spoke in support of the proposed amendment. She cited disparities in infrastructure, schools, access to resources, and economic conditions among Tallahassee communities.
- Thomas Speirs, 123 Locke Street, spoke in support of the proposed amendment, stating that it represented a concrete step toward addressing historic harms.
- Stephanie McMillion, a resident of 32301, spoke in support of the proposed amendment. She stated that long-term assessment, transparency, and accountability are appropriate Charter functions and cited urban renewal projects, including Smokey Hollow, as examples of lasting impacts.

- Julie Meadows Keefe, 3256 Appleton Drive, spoke in support of the proposed amendment. She stated that the amendment does not mandate spending or preferential treatment but requires a transparent assessment of lasting public harms from past governmental decisions.

Public Hearing:

Agenda Item #1: First of Three Public Hearings to Consider the Proposed Charter Amendment Language to Provide for Community Impact Assessments

Nicki Hatch introduced the proposed charter amendment addressing adverse community conditions related to historic County laws, policies and governmental practices. She noted that the proposed amendment would require periodic community impact assessments, publicly available findings, the Board of County Commissioners' public review and consideration of each assessment, and adoption of an implementing ordinance by April 1, 2027.

She stated that the ordinance would establish the operational procedures such as geographically based assessment criteria. Placing these details in an ordinance would provide flexibility to respond to changing community needs, legal requirements, and restrictions without requiring future Charter amendments. She clarified that the draft amendment was a starting point, reminding the Committee that they may revise it or provide additional direction during any of the three public hearings before recommending it to the Board of County Commissioners (Board) for consideration in August 2026.

Bruce Strouble, Jr., moved, seconded by Ryan Ray, for approval of Option #1: Conduct the first of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's second of three public hearings on July 16, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

The motion carried 14 – 0 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Howard Kessler, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman, and William Smith not present.

Max Herrle raised questions regarding public participation and notification of the proposed amendment. He asked how the public would be informed as the item moved forward and inquired about a presentation explaining the proposal.

Nicki Hatch responded that meetings are publicly noticed through standard channels and social media. She added that an agenda item would be presented to the Board during its public hearing in August. That agenda item would summarize the proposal and its development. She also confirmed that a comprehensive final report documenting the Committee's actions would be presented to the Board at a later date.

Max Herrle suggested holding a public meeting or one of the upcoming public hearings in other locations, such as Frenchtown or Southside.

Nicki Hatch noted that moving a formal hearing would involve significant logistical considerations, including accommodating the 21-member committee, public participation, and broadcasting requirements.

Darryl Jones encouraged Committee members to participate in future public discussions as private citizens after the Committee is dissolved. He noted that community organizations, such as the NAACP, would likely hold public discussions if the proposed amendment advances to the ballot.

County Attorney O'Steen stated that after the Committee submits its recommendation, the Board may only approve or reject the proposed amendment. The Committee's final public hearing is the last time that proposed language can be modified.

Joey Davis asked for clarification on when Sunshine Law restrictions will no longer apply to Committee members.

Nicki Hatch clarified that following its final public hearing, the Committee will dissolve, and members will no longer be subject to the Committee's Sunshine Law restrictions. Once the measure is placed on the ballot, the County will be subject to additional legal restrictions regarding how it communicates about the proposal.

Adjournment:

Darryl Jones moved, seconded by Bruce Strouble, Jr., to adjourn the meeting.

The motion carried 14 – 0 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Liz Ellis, Anita Favors, Howard Kessler, Slaton Murray, Sean Pittman, and William Smith not present.

Chair Lindley reminded the Committee that its next public hearing would be on July 16, 2026, and adjourned the meeting at 6:34 p.m.

Citizen Charter Review Committee

Agenda Item #1

July 16, 2026

To: 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Second of Three Public Hearings to Consider the Proposed Charter Amendment Language to Provide for Community Impact Assessments

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Shington Lamy, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Cameron Williams, Management Analyst

Summary:

This item seeks to conduct the second of three public hearings on the proposed Charter Amendment to add an article to the Leon County Home Rule Charter. The proposed Charter Amendment would provide for the periodic assessments, public reporting, and the Leon County Board of County Commissioners' review of adverse community conditions in historically underserved and vulnerable populations related to the County's historic laws, policies, and practices.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Conduct the second of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's third and final public hearing on July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At the Citizen Charter Review Committee's (Committee) Special Meeting held on May 28, 2026, the Committee voted 14-3 to advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing adverse community conditions related to historic public policies and governmental practices to the public hearing process. This item seeks to conduct the second of three public hearings on the proposed Charter Amendment to add an article to the Leon County Home Rule Charter (Attachment #1). The proposed Charter Amendment would provide for the periodic assessments, public reporting, and the Leon County Board of County Commissioners' (Board) review of adverse community conditions in historically underserved and vulnerable populations related to the County's historic laws, policies, and practices.

Three public hearings have been scheduled for the Committee's consideration of proposed Charter Amendment language on June 30, July 16, and July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. in the Leon County Main Library Program Room. At the Committee's first public hearing on June 30, 2026, proposed Charter Amendment language was presented as a general starting point based on the Committee's prior direction. At that time, the Committee advanced the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at its second of three public hearings.

Analysis:

If the Board adopts an ordinance to place the proposed Charter Amendment on the ballot, and if approved by a majority of electors voting in November, an article would be added to the Leon County Home Rule Charter (Charter). As reflected in Attachment #1, the proposed Charter Amendment would require Leon County to conduct a periodic assessment of adverse community conditions in historically underserved and vulnerable populations related to the County's historic laws, policies, and practices, subject to appropriation and funding availability. The County would be required to publish the findings of such assessments in a publicly accessible format. The Board would also be required to review the findings of each Community Impact Assessment during a public meeting. Accordingly, the Board would be authorized to consider the findings of Community Impact Assessments when exercising its legislative authority provided by the Charter and in compliance with applicable state and federal law.

The proposed Charter Amendment does not mandate specific policy outcomes, funding allocations, or preferential treatment for any individual or group. The proposed Charter Amendment further provides that nothing in the article shall be construed to authorize any program, policy, or action inconsistent with applicable state or federal constitutional provisions or statutes, rules, or regulations or applicable court order. The Charter Amendment would require the Board to adopt an Ordinance for implementation no later than April 1, 2027. The Ordinance would set forth additional detail – such as providing definitions for key terms (i.e., "historically underserved" and "vulnerable populations") and neutral, geographically based criteria for selecting areas for assessment – necessary for implementation of the proposed Amendment if approved for inclusion in the Charter. This implementation approach is consistent with all previous Charter Amendments advanced through the Citizen Charter Review Committee process.

As previously reported to the Committee, the proposed language in Attachment #1 provides a general starting point based on the Committee's prior direction. Based on the County's legal review of the proposed language advanced to date, the following revisions have been incorporated for the Committee's consideration to provide additional consistency and clarity:

- Periodic Community Impact Assessment Process: The terms "periodic" and "recurring" were previously utilized interchangeably in the proposed language. For consistency, the proposed language has been revised to reflect the term "periodic" throughout the amendment.
- Review of County Laws, Policies, and Practices: The proposed language has been revised to require the County to conduct periodic community impact assessments related to historic County laws, policies and practices ("and" rather than "or") to clarify that each are subject to review.

These recommended revisions to the proposed Charter Amendment language are reflected in Attachment #1.

The draft ballot language approved by the Committee at the May 28, 2026, special meeting is provided in Table #1 below. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words. Following approval of the proposed Charter Amendment language, the Committee will have the opportunity to further amend the proposed ballot language and title at its third and final public hearing scheduled to take place on July 30, 2026.

Shall the Home Rule Charter of Leon County, Florida, be amended to provide for a recurring Community Impact Assessment process, public reporting, and Board of County Commissioners' review and response regarding adverse community conditions related to historic public policies or governmental practices?

Next Steps

This item provides the Committee with the opportunity to conduct the second of three required public hearings to receive public input and consider the proposed Charter Amendment. The third and final public hearing is scheduled for July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m., in the Leon County Main Library Program Room.

The Committee may consider and approve further revisions to the proposed Charter Amendment during any of its public hearings. A Committee vote is required at each public hearing to continue advancing the proposed Charter Amendment through the public hearing process.

Following the Committee's three public hearings, any proposed Charter Amendment recommended by the Committee will be presented to the Board for consideration at a public hearing on August 17, 2026. If approved by the Board, the proposed Charter Amendment would be placed on the November 3, 2026, General Election ballot for consideration by the Leon County electorate. If approved by a majority of electors voting on the referendum, the Charter Amendment would become effective January 1, 2027.

Options:

1. Conduct the second of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's third and final public hearing on July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.
2. Conduct the second of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments, and do not advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's third public hearing.
3. Committee direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Board of County Commissioners (Board) at its May 12, 2026 meeting, this item seeks the Citizen Charter Review Committee's (Committee) consideration of whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class; compliant with state and federal laws; and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

On January 22, 2026, the Committee received an analysis of the County's ongoing efforts to reduce poverty and inequity in the community. The item included an analysis of Dr. Bruce Strouble's proposal to amend the County Charter by creating a new section that would require the County to establish programs and funding targeted to communities that have experienced historic racial discrimination. As presented in that item, adopting a Charter Amendment to establish programs and funding based on historic racial disenfranchisement could create legal challenges and jeopardize federal and state funding due to recent and ongoing state and federal actions to prohibit diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) related activities. Despite these considerations, the Committee requested a proposed Charter Amendment and corresponding ballot language to be prepared for consideration requiring the County to assess and address persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions.

On February 19, 2026, the Committee received the proposed Charter Amendment and ballot language. Due to recent and ongoing state and federal actions to prohibit diversity, equity, and inclusion (DEI) related activities as well as the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and inequities in the community within the Board's existing authority, the Committee did not advance the proposed Charter Amendment. Throughout the process, the Committee expressed strong support for the County's ongoing efforts to address poverty and inequities in historically underserved areas and support vulnerable populations in the community.

Subsequently, at its March 20, 2026 meeting, the Board requested an item on the proposed Charter Amendment considered, but ultimately not recommended, by the Committee related to persistent disparities resulting from historic public policy decisions based on certain occurrences including slavery and segregation. It is important to note that on that same day, the Florida Legislature also approved SB 1134 which prohibits local governments from adopting and implementing DEI-related activities such as those proposed in the Charter Amendment considered by the Committee. Additionally, on March 26, 2026, President Trump issued another executive order, Executive Order (2026 EO), that requires all recipients of federal funding to agree that they will not engage in racially discriminatory DEI activities.

The requested item on the proposed Charter Amendment not recommended by the Committee was presented to the Board at its April 10, 2026 meeting. The item provided a comprehensive analysis on the proposed Charter Amendment as well as the recent state and federal actions that prohibit local governments from adopting and implementing DEI-related activities such as those proposed in the Charter Amendment. Recognizing these considerations, the Board requested a revised framework to address historic harmful public policy decisions that could be provided to the Citizen

Charter Review Committee for further consideration as a Charter Amendment that examines the following:

- Public policy decisions enacted by the Board;
- Focuses on geographic areas and does not consider race, gender, ethnicity or any other protected class (i.e., sexual orientation, etc.);
- Complies with state and federal laws; and
- Does not jeopardize state and federal funding requirements.

At its May 12, 2026 meeting, the proposed framework was presented to the Board which included important context regarding the County's comprehensive and ongoing efforts in alignment with the criteria above by addressing the needs in geographic areas through investment and engagement in underserved areas and vulnerable populations. As detailed in that item, these existing efforts align with best practices, are consistent with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding awarded to the County. Notwithstanding the County's existing ongoing efforts, as requested by the Board, the item presented an option for consideration to revise the Charter Preamble to affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. At that time, the Board voted to reconvene the Committee for its consideration of whether a Charter Amendment should be advanced addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

Analysis:

Leon County comprehensively addresses the long-standing and evolving needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations (i.e., homeless, low-income, etc.) through countless policies, innovative programs, ongoing partnerships, and active engagement – all of which are data-driven, strategically implemented, and consistent with best practices. With this approach and focus, the County regularly addresses the highest and most challenging needs that historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations often experience.

Based on empirical data such as U.S. Census and U.S. Bureau of Economic Analysis, the common challenges of historically underserved areas include economic inequities that are often highlighted by persistent and disproportionate high poverty and unemployment rates; the lack of public infrastructure that prevents access to basic and essential services; the degradation of natural and environmental resources that adversely affect health and welfare; and limited access to social services that are critical to enhancing quality of life.

As presented to the Board at its May 12, 2026 meeting, the following analysis details the numerous policies, programs, partnerships, and investments the County is actively implementing in historically underserved areas to:

- Reduce Economic Inequities;
- Expand Infrastructure for Access to Basic and Essential Services;
- Protect the Environment for Health, Safety, and Welfare; and
- Deliver Critical Social Services to Enhance Quality of Life.

Consistent with the Board's direction, these efforts align with best practices that address historic harmful policy decisions, comply with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding. Additionally, these efforts have been implemented within the Board's existing authority and without any change to the County Charter.

Reduce Economic Inequities

The County has actively spearheaded efforts to reduce economic inequities and private sector disinvestment in historically underserved areas. Aligned with best practices, the County utilizes empirical data developed by the U.S. Census and Florida Office of Economic & Demographic Research to identify neighborhoods and communities with persistent and disproportionate levels of high poverty and unemployment rates. Subsequently, programs, partnerships, initiatives, and investments are adopted and implemented in collaboration and coordination with residents and stakeholders to increase economic prosperity and private sector investment. Although not exhaustive, significant examples of the County efforts include:

- Establishment of the Downtown and Greater Frenchtown-Southside Community Redevelopment Areas (CRAs) in partnership with the City of Tallahassee (City) to increase economic growth in areas that for years experienced slum, blight, and private sector disinvestment. Through the CRAs, the County has invested more than $56 million in property tax revenue that has improved public infrastructures (roads, sidewalks, stormwater, etc.); constructed new affordable housing including Goodbread Hills, Columbia Gardens, and Magnolia Oaks; and invested in local businesses to spur private sector investment in housing, retail, and restaurants.
- Adoption of the Southside Action Plan (SAP) within the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan to promote balanced and equitable growth in southern Leon County neighborhoods, including Bond, Providence, and South City. This has resulted in more than $1.13 billion in public and private investment within the SAP boundaries including more than $125 million in direct County funding.
- Development of Sense of Place Plans that intentionally engage residents to strengthen the unique identity of local neighborhoods and rural communities while enhancing public investment. Sense of Place plans developed by the County include:
    - Miccosukee Community Sense of Place – led to $5.9 million in County and federal investment for the redevelopment of the Old Concord School into the new Miccosukee Community Center.
    - Lake Jackson Town Center Huntington Sense of Place – transformed a traditional shopping center into a cohesive public gathering spot that resulted in the expansion of the Lake Jackson Branch Library, a new community center, and enhanced retail space for greater private sector investment.
    - Woodville Community Sense of Place – adopted as a County Strategic Initiative by the Board, this plan focuses on activating and enhancing the rural town center through placemaking and infrastructure investment. It prioritizes the revitalization of Woodville and Robinson Road Parks alongside the development of a new trail hub on the St. Marks Trail, all supported by landscaping and gateway signage to strengthen community identity. These aesthetic improvements are paired with critical infrastructure projects, including streetscaping, expanded pedestrian and bicycle connectivity, roadway safety enhancements, and the ongoing septic-to-sewer conversion program. Ultimately, the plan drives economic vitality by promoting trail-oriented development and updating zoning to foster compatible, small-scale business opportunities.

- Adoption of land use and zoning tools under the Tallahassee-Leon County Comprehensive Plan — including the Land Use and Mobility Element adopted in December 2025 — to protect existing neighborhoods from incompatible development and guide growth in a manner that preserves neighborhood character. These tools include low-density residential zoning classifications that prevent the conversion of single-family neighborhoods to high-density multifamily or large-format retail, and the Neighborhood Boundary land use category developed in partnership with the Bond Neighborhood to allow small-scale mixed uses — such as corner stores, daycares, and small cafes — while prohibiting strip malls, apartments, and big box retail that would alter the neighborhood's scale and character.
- Administration of the Small Business Enterprise (SBE) program through the Office of Economic Vitality (OEV) to provide business support to qualifying small businesses based on size and revenue, ensuring local enterprises in underserved areas can compete for and benefit from public investment opportunities.
- Partnership with the Small Business Development Center at FAMU to provide technical assistance to new and existing small business owners at every phase of the business lifecycle, preparing them to take advantage of economic opportunities generated by new public and private development in their communities.
- Implementation of robust public engagement on all public projects — including stakeholder meetings, online and in-person surveys, and public open houses — to ensure residents in historically underserved areas are informed of and have meaningful input into investments being made in their communities. For private development proposals, public engagement includes direct mailed notifications, legal advertisements, on-site signage, citizen committee review, and public hearings, ensuring that residents have a voice in the development occurring in their neighborhoods.
- Availability of urban area opportunity incentives to attract jobs and private investment to the urban core, directly benefiting residents of historically underserved neighborhoods.

Expand Infrastructure for Access to Basic and Essential Services

The County has been steadfast in its commitment to infrastructure improvements in historically underserved areas that expand access to basic and essential services. These improvements include paved roads, sidewalks, and traffic lights that connect underserved neighborhoods to the broader community. Through a combination of data evaluation, extensive planning, active community engagement, and strategic investments, the County's efforts have included:

- The establishment of the Livable Infrastructure for Everyone (L.I.F.E.) funding through the one-cent infrastructure surtax — a dedicated mechanism designed to direct resources toward communities that have long been overlooked. Through this initiative, Leon County has been able to translate policy commitments into tangible, on-the-ground improvements, including:
    - Rural Road Safety Stabilization Program – addressing road conditions in rural corridors to improve safety and accessibility for all residents.
    - Rural Broadband – expanding high-speed internet access to underserved rural communities, bridging the digital divide and connecting residents to economic and educational opportunities.
    - Fire Hydrants – extending fire suppression infrastructure into rural areas that previously lacked adequate protection, improving public safety for residents historically outside the reach of essential services.
    - Intersection Street Lighting – illuminating key intersections in underserved areas to enhance safety for drivers, pedestrians, and cyclists.
    - School Bus Lighting – improving visibility and safety at school bus stops, protecting children in rural communities who were previously without adequate lighting infrastructure.
- Dedication of $319 million through the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency (Blueprint) on infrastructure investments in high poverty neighborhoods that equates to approximately 62% of Blueprint funding including:
    - More than $1.5 million for the development of the South City Transit Center and improvements in the South City neighborhood.
    - Approximately $9 million in Blueprint funding for the Orange-Meridian Placemaking project for construction of a new park and investment in the South City Transit Center.
    - Planned construction of Segment 4 of the Capital Cascades Trail in the amount of $20 million for stormwater improvements, multi-use trail, and community gathering spaces connecting the Bond, Callen, Liberty Park, Lee Manor, and Providence neighborhoods.
    - Construction of the Magnolia Drive Trail, including underground electric utilities adjacent to the South City neighborhood in the amount of $23.6 million.
- Adoption of the Family Heir Policy to support intergenerational land use and help families in underserved areas retain and utilize property that might otherwise remain undevelopable under standard regulations.
- Investment in multimodal transportation infrastructure, including new sidewalks and trail connections to the St. Marks Trail, to expand access to affordable non-motorized transportation — including walking, bicycling, and micro-mobility — for residents in historically underserved areas, reducing transportation costs and improving connectivity to employment, services, and recreation.

- Adoption of two Neighborhood First Plans — for the Greater Bond Neighborhood and the Providence Neighborhood — containing infrastructure investment components that expand mobility options, improve public spaces, and strengthen connectivity within and between neighborhoods in historically underserved areas of the incorporated community.

Protect the Environment for Health, Safety, and Welfare

For much of the twentieth century, a combination of public policies and private sector activities prioritized development and economic growth that adversely impacted the environment. This included the direct discharge of effluent and untreated wastewater into surface waters, development within designated flood hazard areas, and the systematic filling of floodplains and wetlands. According to the Environmental Law Institute, a research-based organization in Washington, D.C. that focuses on environmental policies, local governments address public policies and private activities that have adversely impacted the environment in their communities through integrated strategies of regular testing and observation, remedial projects, and community engagement. Through rigorous evaluation and monitoring of scientific data, the County has incorporated similar strategies with the adoption policies, plans, and programs aimed at reversing decades of environmental degradation while improving health, safety, and welfare in historically underserved areas. These efforts have resulted in the following:

- Adoption of the Leon County Environmental Management Act (EMA) to establish rigorous local standards for the protection of property and the natural environment that takes into consideration the unique ecology of natural resources within geographic areas. In underserved areas, the County's EMA standards is mitigating flooding, protecting waterbodies, and reducing pollution.
- Adoption of the Primary Spring Zone Protection to safeguard groundwater quality within neighborhoods in Southern Leon County where the Florida Aquifer is most vulnerable while to protecting the water quality and biological health of Wakulla Springs.
- Establishment of Woodville Septic to Sewer Program to convert septic tanks to central sewer system, eliminating decades of groundwater and surface water contamination. The program provides homeowners in the Woodville area up to $12,000 in grant funding. Thus far, the County has invested $63 million and expanded sewer services to 709 properties.
- Adoption of the Lake Munson Action Plan to restore Lake Munson to address the legacy of pollution and nutrient loading that degraded the lake over generations with algal blooms, fish kills, and invasive plant growth. The plan includes:
    - Advancement of the $1.6 million Munson Slough Embankment Repair Project to stabilize eroded banks, reestablish native vegetation, and reduce sediment transport into Lake Munson;
    - An initial drawdown to facilitate sediment drying and nutrient reduction;
    - Periodic routine drawdowns to sustain long-term water quality improvements;
    - Post-Drawdown Water Quality Study from May 2024 through April 2026, including monthly water quality and flow data collection at four monitoring locations;
    - Enhanced water quality monitoring;

- Aerial topographic surveys of the lake bottom; and
- Expanded invasive exotic vegetation and algal bloom management programs.

- Investment in the Lake Henrietta stormwater management facility project to address decades of polluted stormwater runoff that has contributed to the degradation of Lake Munson. This Lake Henrietta Project includes:
  - Construction of Lake Henrietta as a regional stormwater management facility to intercept polluted stormwater runoff upstream of Lake Munson, capturing sediment, floating debris, and nutrient-rich material before it can enter the lake.
  - Investment of over $1 million in the Lake Henrietta facility, which has captured over 53,000 cubic yards of sediment and debris from flowing downstream into Lake Munson since construction in the early 2000s.
  - Receipt of a $2 million U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) grant for the Lake Henrietta Sediment Removal Project to remove the accumulated sediment the facility was designed to capture, restoring the facility's stormwater treatment capacity and reducing nutrient loading into Lake Munson, with design anticipated in Summer 2026 and construction to follow in 2027.
  - Development of the Anita Davis Preserve at Lake Henrietta, which serves the surrounding community as a public park featuring a walking trail and outdoor recreational amenities, providing dual environmental and quality-of-life benefits to residents in the area.

Deliver Critical Social Services to Enhance Quality of Life

In order to deliver critical social services, the County has adopted and implemented numerous programs consistent with best practices that are data driven, strategically implemented, and community-focused to improve the quality of life for the residents in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations. The County's recent and ongoing efforts include:

- Hosted the 32304 Summit in March 2026 to highlight the efforts of the County and community partners to reduce poverty in 32304 neighborhoods including Frenchtown and Griffin Heights which has resulted in an 8% decrease in the 32304 poverty rate since 2019 (more than the 2% Countywide reduction during the same period).
- Establishment of the Community Human Services Partnership (CHSP) Promise Zone in partnership with the City which invests $1.1 million each funding cycle to provide direct services such as food, legal aid, and healthcare to high poverty neighborhoods.
- Hosted nine (9) Breaking Bread Dinner series in the neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates to identify barriers to food access with more than 200 participants.
- Establishment of the Trusted People Neighborhood Engagement Committee (Trusted People Committee) comprised of leaders of the neighborhoods with high food insecurity rates that meet bi-monthly to work with the County and partners to engage and connect residents to available resources in the community.

- Installation of temperature-controlled food lockers available 24/7 in Frenchtown, South City, and Providence neighborhoods that have distributed over 17,000 meals to more than 3,200 residents.
- Strengthened partnership this year (2026) with Farm Share to increase fresh produce distribution capacity in neighborhoods with the highest food insecurity rates which will serve over 1,000 households annually.
- Partnership with the City to implement the City's Neighborhood First Plans to improve the quality of life and spur economic growth in high poverty neighborhoods which has resulted in more than $1.1 million in County funding for the construction of 16 homes in Bond, Griffin Heights, and Providence.
- Implementation of the Home Rehabilitation and Replacement Program to perform emergency home repairs, rehabilitate projects, and/or replace the homes of low-income families in rural and underserved regions of the County.
- Partnership with the City and Tallahassee Housing Authority to create and provide seed funding for the establishment of the South City Foundation to revitalize the neighborhood through engagement, economic development, healthcare, and affordable housing.
- Establishment of the Emergency Medical Technician (EMT) Program in partnership with Tallahassee State College and Leon County Schools to create a career path at the Leon County Emergency Medical Services for students at Godby High School which is the primary high school for the 32304-zip code and neighborhoods with the highest poverty rate in the County.

In addition to neighborhood specific programs, initiatives, and investments, the County's communitywide efforts to deliver resources to the most vulnerable populations include:

- Investment of $1.4 million annually to prevent and reduce homelessness in the community through dedicated funding to the five (5) emergency homeless shelters, street outreach initiatives, and Leon County Sheriff HOST deputies.
- Investment of more than $1.75 million annually through the Healthcare Services Program (i.e., CareNet) to provide primary care, dental care, mental health services, assistance with prescription medications, and specialty care to low-income, uninsured residents.
- More than $500,000 annually in County funding to support food pantries, mobile food distributions, senior nutrition services, and child meal programs.
- Distribution of over 4,000 summer meals through the Summer BreakSpot program at the Leon County Main Library and branch locations for kids during summer 2025.
- Expanded partnership with 2-1-1 Big Bend to invest more than $100,000 annually in the 2-1-1 Lyft program that provides County residents free transportation to medical appointments, grocery stores, and employment interviews.
- Investment of $5.8 million in direct funding and more than $198 million in bonding for affordable housing rental projects that have or will build more than 1,200 units within the next 12 to 18 months for low-income households.

- Investment of $500,000 annually in affordable rental development for very-low and extremely-low income households.
- Secured $100 million in bonds through the Housing Finance Authority of Leon County (HFA) for the development of future affordable rental housing projects for low-income renters.
- Adoption of the local option property tax exemption to incentivize market rate rental development projects to dedicate units for low-income households at affordable rates.
- Establishment of the Tallahassee-Leon County Community Land Trust (CLT) in partnership with the City and Tallahassee Lenders' Consortium to construct new homes for low-income households that will remain affordable in perpetuity. The County donates properties to the CLT to construct new homes (eight homes completed thus far).
- Partnership with Legal Services of North Florida to provide legal assistance to help low-income families clear title and resolve heirs' property issues.
- Partnership with FAMU Federal Credit Union to establish the SmartSteps Microloan Program to provide financial capital to historically marginalized entrepreneurs to build their businesses. The County allocated $2.5 million, and to-date SmartSteps has distributed over $1 million in microloans to 51 small local businesses.
- Partnership with the Capital City Chamber of Commerce (Capital City Chamber) to support the Bank On Tallahassee Initiative which improves access to banks and credit unions for low-income households and helps reduce barriers for households with previous credit issues.

As extensively detailed, the County is actively addressing historic harmful public policy decisions in geographic areas utilizing best practices to adopt policies, implement programs, strengthen partnerships, enhance community engagement, and make significant investment in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations. The County's efforts are reducing economic inequities; providing public infrastructures essential to health, safety, and welfare; protecting the environment; and delivering critical social services to enhance the quality of life of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations.

Consistent with the Board's direction, the County's approach addresses historic harmful public policy decisions in geographic areas, complies with state and federal laws and does not jeopardize any state and federal funding requirements. These targeted efforts align with best practices that address historic harmful policy decisions, comply with state and federal laws, and do not jeopardize state and federal funding. Furthermore, these efforts are strategically planned, annually funded by the Board, and carried out on a day-to-day basis by staff, community partners, and key stakeholders Most importantly, the County's efforts have been successfully implemented within the Board's existing authority and without the need for an amendment to the County Charter.

Further Consideration by the Citizen Charter Review Committee

As previously reported to the Committee, there are no county charters in Florida that include language related to disparities from historic public policies. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government.

Operational detail or program-specific policy, such as the establishment of programs or targeted resource allocation, is more appropriately implemented through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. In fact, the Board currently has the statutory authority and has been active in addressing the long-standing and evolving needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations through policies, programs, and investments – all of which have been done without amending the County Charter.

In light of the Board's existing authority and ongoing actions, a Charter Amendment is not necessary and could be limiting. Specifically, creation of policy and programmatic mandates in the Charter would reduce the County's flexibility to respond to evolving community needs, funding opportunities, and legal requirements, and may not be consistent with the County's data-driven approach to addressing the most pressing issues and investing in time-sensitive needs in the community.

Potential Amendment to Revise the Preamble of the County Charter

Should the Committee wish to consider a proposed Charter Amendment, an option for consideration is to amend the Preamble of the County Charter to affirm County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. As noted previously, this option was presented to the Board at its May 12th meeting, which the Board did not advance and instead voted to reconvene the Committee to consider whether a Charter Amendment on this issue should be advanced.

As previously reported to the Committee, the Preamble sets forth broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule, local decision making, and the role of residents in shaping their local government. As an introduction to what the Charter seeks to achieve, the Preamble does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for County government. Rather, it is intentionally broad to allow the County to adapt and respond to emerging challenges as determined by the elected County Commission.

The Committee previously recommended to the Board a proposed amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. Similarly, the Committee may wish to consider revisions to the Preamble that would reflect the County's long and ongoing efforts to invest and engage in historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations.

As shown in Table #1, the proposed language (underlined) could be incorporated to affirm the County's commitment to addressing the needs of underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community. The proposed amendment, as drafted below, would not conflict with existing state and federal law.

The remainder of this page intentionally left blank.

Table #1. Proposed Amendment to the Charter Preamble
(Proposed language underlined)

PREAMBLE We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government and in order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida. We further affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved areas and vulnerable populations in our community.

In addition, potential ballot language has been prepared for the proposed Charter Amendment as reflected in Table #2 below. The proposed ballot title and ballot language reflected in Table #2 would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words.

Table #2. Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Affirmation of County's Commitment to Historically Underserved Areas as proposed by Citizen Charter Review Committee
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Preamble of the Leon County Home Rule Charter be amended to affirm Leon County's commitment to addressing the needs of historically underserved geographic areas and vulnerable populations in our community, while preserving the Charter's existing framework for local self-governance, community values, and citizen empowerment?

The Committee also has the opportunity to propose its own charter amendment as an alternative or any additional direction specific to this issue. Should the Committee not wish to further consider or advance this issue, it may also table the issue at this time.

Next Steps

As directed by the Board, this item provides the Committee with information and analysis for consideration in evaluating whether to advance a Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions based on geographical areas in the community rather than race, gender, ethnicity, or any other protected class, that is compliant with state and federal laws, and in a manner that does not jeopardize state or federal funding.

A simple majority is needed to advance a Charter Amendment to the Committee's three required public hearings to take public input and formally consider the proposed Amendment. The public hearings have been tentatively scheduled to take place June 30, July 16, and July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m. The Committee may consider and approve further revisions to the proposed Amendment during any of its public hearings. Any proposed Charter Amendments, as recommended by the Committee during its public hearings, will be presented for final consideration by the Board at its public hearing on August 17, 2026.

Options:

1. Accept this report and take no further action.
2. Advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing historic harmful public policy decisions for consideration at the Committee's first of three public hearings on June 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Recommendation:

Approval of June 30, 2026 Meeting Minutes

Receipt & File of Written Public Comments

Public Comment:

- Katherine Kurzweil, a Florida State University (FSU) student residing in Tallahassee, expressed support for the proposed amendment related to historic harms. She cited disparities in transportation and infrastructure between FSU and lower-income communities, including Frenchtown. She also discussed the displacement and environmental contamination of the historic Smokey Hollow community, encouraging the County to examine similar harms, prevent their recurrence, and consider remedies for affected families and their descendants.
- Thomas Speirs, 123 Locke Street, discussed the history of the Smokey Hollow community and expressed support for the proposed amendment related to historic harms.

Public Hearing:

Agenda Item #1: Second of Three Public Hearings to Consider the Proposed Charter Amendment Language to Provide for Community Impact Assessments

Nicki Hatch introduced the proposed Charter Amendment addressing adverse community conditions resulting from historic County laws, policies, and practices. She explained that the amendment would require periodic community impact assessments, publicly available findings, and the Board of County Commissioners' public review and consideration of each assessment. The proposed Charter Amendment would also require the adoption of an implementing ordinance by April 1, 2027, to establish operational procedures, including geographically based assessment criteria, while allowing flexibility to address changing community needs and legal requirements.

Mrs. Hatch clarified that the proposed Charter Amendment language remained subject to revision during the Committee's three public hearings. She noted that County staff proposed minor revisions following legal review to improve clarity and consistency. These revisions included using the term "periodic" consistently throughout the draft and replacing "or" with "and" when referring to County laws, policies, and practices.

She noted that the Committee had previously approved the proposed ballot title and language, clarifying that the Committee will have the opportunity to further refine the proposed Charter Amendment, as well as the ballot title and ballot language, at its third and final public hearing on July 30. Upon approval by the Committee, the proposed amendment would then proceed to the Board for consideration at a public hearing in August 2026.

Jarrett Terry questioned whether the terms "periodic" and "recurring" had different meanings and asked whether "recurring" should also be replaced in the ballot language for consistency.

County Attorney Chasity O'Steen recommended using the term "periodic" consistently throughout both the proposed Charter Amendment and ballot language.

Mrs. Hatch reminded the Committee that they will have the opportunity to further refine the ballot language for such changes at its third and final public hearing on July 30th.

Max Herrle reminded the Committee that July 30th would be the final opportunity to amend the proposed language and that the Board could not make changes during the August 2026 public hearing. He encouraged members to share the full language with their appointing Commissioners before the Committee's final public hearing so any concerns could be addressed.

Mrs. Hatch reminded the Committee that its third and final public hearing was scheduled for July 30th at the same time and location, and that the Board's subsequent public hearing would be held on August 17, 2026.

Henry Lewis, III, moved, seconded by Jarrett Terry, for approval of Option #1, as amended: Conduct the second of three public hearings to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at the Committee's third and final public hearing on July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m., with the term "recurring" replaced with "periodic" in recommended ballot language.

The motion carried 11 – 0 with Vice Chairman Chauncy Haynes, Linda Bond Edwards, Liz Ellis, Darryl Jones, Slaton Murray, Heidi Otway, Shamarial Roberson, Temple Robinson, William Smith, and Katrina Tuggerson not present.

Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Cameron Williams, Management Analyst

Summary:

This item seeks to conduct the third and final public hearing on the proposed Charter Amendment to add an article to the Leon County Home Rule Charter. The proposed Charter Amendment would provide for the periodic assessments, public reporting, and the Leon County Board of County Commissioners' review of adverse community conditions in historically underserved and vulnerable populations related to the County's historic laws, policies, and practices.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Conduct the third and final public hearing to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners for placement on the 2026 General Election ballot.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At the Citizen Charter Review Committee's (Committee) Special Meeting held on May 28, 2026, the Committee voted 14-3 to advance a proposed Charter Amendment addressing adverse community conditions related to historic public policies and governmental practices to the public hearing process. This item seeks to conduct the third and final public hearing on the proposed Charter Amendment to add an article to the Leon County Home Rule Charter (Attachment #1). The proposed Charter Amendment would provide for periodic assessments, public reporting, and the Leon County Board of County Commissioners' (Board) review of adverse community conditions in historically underserved and vulnerable populations related to the County's historic laws, policies, and practices.

Three public hearings have been scheduled for the Committee's consideration of proposed Charter Amendment language on June 30, July 16, and July 30, 2026, at 6:00 p.m., in the Leon County Main Library Program Room. At the Committee's first public hearing on June 30, 2026, proposed Charter Amendment language was presented as a general starting point based on the Committee's prior direction. At that time, the Committee advanced the proposed Charter Amendment for consideration at its second of three public hearings. At its second public hearing on July 16, 2026, the Committee approved revisions to provide additional consistency and clarity based on the County's legal review of the proposed language.

At its third and final public hearing on July 30, 2026, the proposed Charter Amendment language will be presented to the Committee for final approval to be recommended to the Board for placement on the 2026 General Election ballot. At that time, the Committee will also have the opportunity to further amend the proposed ballot language and title based on the revised Charter Amendment language as further detailed in this item.

Analysis:

If the Board adopts an ordinance to place the proposed Charter Amendment on the ballot, and if approved by a majority of electors voting in November, an article would be added to the Leon County Home Rule Charter (Charter). As reflected in Attachment #1, the proposed Charter Amendment would require Leon County to conduct a periodic assessment of adverse community conditions in historically underserved and vulnerable populations related to the County's historic laws, policies, and practices, subject to appropriation and funding availability. The County would be required to publish the findings of such assessments in a publicly accessible format. The Board would also be required to review the findings of each Community Impact Assessment during a public meeting. Accordingly, the Board would be authorized to consider the findings of Community Impact Assessments when exercising its legislative authority provided by the Charter and in compliance with applicable state and federal law.

The proposed Charter Amendment does not mandate specific policy outcomes, funding allocations, or preferential treatment for any individual or group. The proposed Charter Amendment further provides that nothing in the article shall be construed to authorize any program, policy, or action inconsistent with applicable state or federal constitutional provisions or statutes, rules, or regulations or applicable court order. The Charter Amendment would require the Board to adopt an Ordinance for implementation no later than April 1, 2027. The Ordinance would set forth additional detail – such as providing definitions for key terms (i.e., "historically underserved" and "vulnerable populations") and neutral, geographically based criteria for selecting areas for assessment – necessary for implementation of the proposed Amendment if approved for inclusion in the Charter. This implementation approach is consistent with all previous Charter Amendments advanced through the Citizen Charter Review Committee process.

Table #1 provides the draft ballot title and ballot language approved by the Committee at the May 28, 2026, Special Meeting, with proposed revisions underlined for the Committee's consideration. As reflected below, the draft ballot title and ballot language have been revised to reflect the proposed Charter Amendment language advanced to date.

Table #1: Proposed Ballot Title and Ballot Language

Proposed Ballot Title
Affirmation Of County's Commitment To Historically Underserved And Vulnerable Populations
Proposed Ballot Language
Shall the Home Rule Charter of Leon County, Florida, be amended to provide for a ~~recurring~~ periodic Community Impact Assessment process, public reporting, and Board of County Commissioners' review and consideration ~~response~~ regarding adverse community conditions related to the County's historic laws, policies, and practices~~historic~~ ~~public policies or governmental practices~~?

The proposed ballot title and ballot language as revised and reflected in Table #1 would meet the statutorily required word count limit. The ballot title is limited to 15 words, and the ballot language is limited to 75 words. The Committee will have the opportunity to consider further amendments to the proposed ballot title and ballot language at its third and final public hearing.

Next Steps

This item provides the Committee with the opportunity to conduct the third and final required public hearing to receive public input and consider the proposed Charter Amendment.

The Committee may consider and approve further revisions to the proposed Charter Amendment (ballot title, ballot language, and amendment language) during the third and final public hearing. A Committee vote is required at each public hearing to continue advancing the proposed Charter Amendment through the public hearing process.

Following the Committee's three public hearings, any proposed Charter Amendment recommended by the Committee will be presented to the Board for consideration at a public hearing on August 17, 2026. If approved by the Board, the proposed Charter Amendment would be placed on the November 3, 2026, General Election ballot for consideration by the Leon County electorate. If approved by a majority of electors voting on the referendum, the Charter Amendment would become effective January 1, 2027.

Options:

1. Conduct the third and final public hearing to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments (Attachment #1), and advance the proposed Charter Amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners for placement on the 2026 General Election ballot.
2. Conduct the third and final public hearing to consider a proposed Charter Amendment to provide for Community Impact Assessments, and do not advance the proposed Charter Amendment for recommendation to the Board of County Commissioners.
3. Committee direction.

Title: Status Report on the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Nicki Hatch, Assistant to the County Administrator for Legislative and Strategic Initiatives Cameron Williams, Management Analyst

Statement of Issue:

This agenda item provides a status report on the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC) process and seeks the Board's consideration of the CCRC's policy recommendations and proposed charter amendments for placement on the 2026 General Election ballot.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has no fiscal impact to the County. As detailed in this item, however, one of the CCRC's policy recommendations would have a fiscal impact should the Board choose to pursue the recommendation. As directed by the Board, staff would bring back an analysis to identify the resource needs and potential funding strategies for Board consideration.

Staff Recommendation:

Provided on the following page.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Board direction on Unification of Street Renaming Procedures.

Option #2a: As presented to the CCRC, continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community through the County's existing structure, active engagement, ongoing investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders to increase food access.

Option #3a: Direct staff to prepare a Board-initiated Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County, and schedule the Board's first and only public hearing on May 12, 2026.

Option #4a: As presented to the CCRC, continue Leon County's long-standing commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

Option #5a: As presented to the CCRC, continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community.

Option #6: Direct staff to prepare a Proclamation recognizing the work of the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee.

Report and Discussion

Background:

This agenda item provides a status report on the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee (CCRC) process and seeks the Board's consideration of the CCRC's policy recommendations and proposed charter amendments for placement on the 2026 General Election ballot.

Since the Charter was adopted in 2002, the Board has appointed three CCRCs (2009-2010; 2017-2018; and 2025-2026) to review the County's Home Rule Charter and propose amendments or revisions for placement on the general election ballot. As expected, the first charter review process resulted in the most recommended amendments. The 2009-2010 CCRC recommended seven proposed charter amendments, six were advanced by the Board and placed on the ballot with five approved by voters. The 2017-2018 CCRC recommended two charter amendments to the Board, one of which was placed on the ballot and approved by voters, and the other was implemented by the Board through adoption of an ordinance rather than amending the Charter.

During the course of its work, the 2025-2026 CCRC advanced two policy recommendations and three proposed charter amendments to the Board as summarized below:

- Policy Recommendation Encouraging Leon County and the City of Tallahassee to Consider Alignment of Street Renaming Policies and Procedures to Promote Public Safety.
- Policy Recommendation Encouraging the Board to Create a Division of Food Systems within the Leon County Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships.
- Proposed Amendment Revising the Charter Preamble to Reflect the Esteemed Humanity of all Residents of Leon County.
- Proposed Amendment Revising the Charter Preamble to Affirm the County's Commitment to Creating a Community that is Safe, Vibrant, and Provides Access to Healthcare for All Citizens.
- Proposed Amendment to Codify the County's Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the County Charter.

The Leon County Charter provides three ways by which Charter amendments may be proposed: (1) Petition; (2) Board of County Commissioners; or (3) a CCRC. All three methods require a referendum approved by a majority of the Leon County electorate in order to be included in the Charter. If approved by a majority of the Leon County electorate, the amendment would be effective on the date specified in the amendment or, if not specified in the amendment, on January 1st of the following year. In each case, the Board plays a vital role in placing amendments on the ballot.

As reflected above, the CCRC advanced two policy recommendations for Board consideration, and the Board may accept, reject, and/or provide direction related to these recommendations. In contrast to proposed charter amendments, policy recommendations generally concern matters that are more appropriately addressed through County budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption rather than charter change. Throughout its work, the CCRC received guidance on charter-appropriate subject matter. Since the Charter functions as the County's constitutional framework, it is generally reserved for broad issues of governmental authority, structure, and powers—not operational detail or program-specific policy, which is more appropriately implemented through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. Accordingly, the Board has the discretion to take the CCRC's policy recommendations into consideration when taking future actions on these matters, along with any additional analysis and considerations presented at that time.

The Board may also accept, reject, or propose revisions to the three charter amendments recommended by CCRC. Should the Board accept the CCRC's proposed charter amendments, the committee's three required public hearings would be scheduled in June and July 2026, to take public input and formally consider the proposed amendments. Any proposed charter amendments, as recommended by the CCRC during its public hearings, will be presented for final consideration by the Board at its public hearing on August 17, 2026. At that time, the Board can accept or reject the CCRC's proposed charter amendments but cannot make any changes due to the required public notice deadlines.

Should the Board wish to make changes to any of the proposed amendments recommended by the CCRC, it would become a Board-initiated Charter amendment which is subject to different procedures as set forth under the County Charter. Board-initiated amendments to the Charter must be proposed by ordinance and be approved by an affirmative vote of a majority plus one of the Board to be placed on the ballot. A public hearing to adopt the ordinance must be held at least 90 days prior to the general election in order to be placed on the 2026 General Election ballot (no later than August 5, 2026). The Board may also elect to advance the proposed charter amendments as Board-initiated amendments. In this scenario, the CCRC would no longer be required to conduct its three public hearings in the summer.

The consideration of charter amendments proposed by the CCRC is essential to the following FY 2022 – FY 2026 Strategic Initiative:

- Establish a Citizen Charter Review Committee to review the County's Home Rule Charter and propose any amendments or revisions ahead of the 2026 General Election. (2025-101)

This particular Strategic Initiative aligns with the Board's Governance Strategic Priority:

- (G1) Sustain a culture of transparency, accessibility, accountability, civility, and the highest standards of public service.

Leon County Charter Review Process

On November 5, 2002, the citizens of Leon County adopted a Home Rule Charter providing for full home rule authority under the law and citizen determination of the structure, powers, and functions of County government. Leon County's Charter outlines the roles and responsibilities of the County's officers, the County's relationship with its municipalities, and provides for a separate executive and legislative branch under the council-manager form of government. The Charter also establishes the process for amendments thereto. The Leon County Charter provides three ways in which amendments to the Charter may be proposed, one of which is through a CCRC. The Leon County Charter requires that a CCRC be appointed by the Board every eight years at least 12 months before the general election to review the County's Home Rule Charter and propose amendments or revisions for consideration by the Board to be placed on the general election ballot. The first CCRC was convened in 2009, the second was convened in 2017, with the third and most recent convened in 2025 as detailed in this item.

Leon County 2025-2026 Citizen Charter Review Committee

On July 8, 2025, the Board approved the proposed charter review process, including the establishment of the 2025-2026 CCRC. At that time, the Board directed staff to prepare an agenda item for the Board's appointment of a 21-member CCRC (three appointments per Commissioner) and consideration of preliminary CCRC Bylaws. The Board also requested legal analyses on seven issues to determine whether to advance them for consideration by the CCRC.

On September 15, 2025, the Board appointed the following twenty-one citizens (three appointments per Commissioner) to the 2025-2026 CCRC:

1. Mary Ann Lindley, Chair	8. Darryl Jones	15. Shamarial Roberson
2. Chauncy Haynes, Vice Chair	9. Howard Kessler	16. Temple Robinson
3. Joey Davis	10. Henry Lewis, III	17. William Smith
4. Linda Bond Edwards	11. Slaton Murray	18. Bruce Strouble, Jr.
5. Liz Ellis	12. Heidi Otway	19. Jarrett Terry
6. Anita Favors	13. Sean Pittman	20. Katrina Tuggerson
7. Max Herrle	14. Ryan Ray	21. Barry Wilcox

On September 23, 2025, the Board received legal analyses for the seven potential charter issues, previously identified by the Board on July 8th, to determine whether to advance any of the issues for consideration by the CCRC. At that time, the Board advanced one issue to the CCRC for consideration relating to County ordinances prevailing over City ordinances which is summarized in the analysis section. In addition, the Board requested a potential Board-initiated amendment related to outdated statutory references in the County Charter to be brought back for consideration which is presented in a separate agenda item for the Board's March 10, 2026, meeting.

As reflected throughout this item, the CCRC considered and advanced recommendations on a number of policy-related matters. It should be noted that County charters, generally, set forth the governing authority, structure, and power of a county government. Accordingly, Leon County's Charter does not express specific policy priorities which are otherwise achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. Furthermore, the majority of county charters in Florida similarly do not include language regarding the provision of services such as healthcare, housing, and food access.

This status report summarizes the 2025-2026 Leon County CCRC process and seeks the Board's guidance on the CCRC's two policy recommendations and three proposed charter amendments for placement on the 2026 General Election ballot.

Analysis:

Pursuant to the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee Bylaws approved by the Board, the CCRC conducted nine regular meetings between October 23, 2025, and February 19, 2026. The meetings were divided among two phases: issue/discussion meetings and decision meetings.

During the issue/discussion meetings, Committee members identified charter amendment proposals for additional analysis and deliberation. Following Committee discussion and approval, proposals advanced to the second phase of meetings for Committee consideration of proposed charter amendment language.

As part of this process, the Board had the ability to limit or provide direction to the CCRC to address specific issues it deems appropriate. For the current charter review process, the CCRC was not limited in its purview and had full discretion to review any and all relevant issues. After consideration and deliberation of numerous policy issues, however, the Board selected one issue for the Committee to consider for advancement as a proposed charter amendment - whether the Leon County Charter should provide for County ordinances to prevail over City ordinances in the event of conflict. The CCRC discussed this issue at length but did not recommend a Charter amendment on this issue. Summaries of recommendations which advanced through the charter review process are provided herein for Board consideration.

This status report provides the Board the opportunity to approve, reject, or modify any recommendation advanced by the CCRC. If the Board modifies a proposed amendment, it is then considered a Board-initiated charter amendment, which triggers additional requirements for placing the amendment on the ballot. The Board may also elect to pursue a CCRC recommendation as a Board-initiated charter amendment without making any changes to the recommendation at this time. This would provide the Board maximum flexibility on determining the final amendment and ballot language and would accelerate the timeline for the required public hearing to place the proposed amendment on the November General Election ballot.

Alternatively, the proposed amendment language in this status report can be modified by the CCRC during its public hearings this summer before transmitting the final report to the Board 90 days prior to the general election. However, at that time, the Board would only be able to approve or reject proposed amendments. The Board would be unable to modify CCRC recommendations in August due to the noticing requirements for Board-initiated amendments. As explained in a separate agenda item seeking to remove outdated statutory citations from the Leon County Charter which pose conflicting requirements for the charter review process, subsection 5.2(3) of the Charter requires at least 90 days' notice prior to the general election for Board-initiated amendments – the same deadline for the CCRC's final report and recommendations. Moving up the CCRC's submittal deadline is not recommended as it may require calling a special election based on the outdated statutory citations.

Based on the 2026 election calendar, there is only a 13-day window for the Board to consider the CCRC's final report and recommendations, which is due by August 5th, and comply with the Supervisor of Elections' deadline of August 18th to submit ballot language to be placed on the general election ballot in November. This limits the time for the Board to consider CCRC proposals and for the public to consider the proposed amendments prior to the election. The Board cannot make any changes due to the public notice requirements. Should the Board wish to amend any of the CCRC charter amendment recommendations provided in this status report, this item seeks Board direction to schedule public hearing(s) to consider the proposals as Board-initiated charter amendments. Board-initiated amendments require a majority plus one vote for approval at the public hearing.

Citizen Charter Review Committee Proposed Policy Recommendations

During the course of its work, the CCRC considered two topics which it recognized as important but not appropriate or necessary for inclusion in the Leon County Charter. As a result, the CCRC provided two policy recommendations for Board consideration rather than charter amendment proposals. The two policy recommendations are as follows with additional detail provided on both issues:

- Policy Recommendation Encouraging Leon County and the City of Tallahassee to Consider Alignment of Street Renaming Policies and Procedures to Promote Public Safety.
- Policy Recommendation Encouraging Creation of a Division of Food Systems within the County's Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships.

Policy Recommendation Encouraging Leon County and the City of Tallahassee to Consider Alignment of Street Renaming Policies and Procedures to Promote Public Safety

This CCRC recommendation asks the Board to work with the City of Tallahassee to align street renaming policies and intergovernmental coordination to ensure consistent naming throughout roadway segments and sequential addressing to support emergency response. This policy recommendation was borne from the Board's direction to advance to the CCRC for consideration whether County ordinances should prevail over municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict.

As directed by the Board, the CCRC received an analysis to evaluate whether a charter amendment should be placed on the ballot providing County ordinances to prevail over municipal ordinances in the event of a conflict. To support its consideration, the CCRC received analysis on the County's existing regulatory authority and examples of conflicts between County and City ordinances. Among examples provided to the CCRC was the County and City's differing street renaming ordinances and the potential for public safety and emergency services-related issues due to inconsistent naming across segments of roadways.

Historically, the County and City operated under a unified system established through the County's Uniform Street Naming and Property Numbering System Ordinance, applying consistent criteria to roadway naming and numbering for public safety purposes. However, in May 2024, the City adopted a separate ordinance establishing its authority to rename streets within the municipal limits (excluding County-maintained and state roads), resulting in the County no longer being able to apply its standards to City-maintained streets. Since that time, more than ten streets and segments of roadways have been renamed. Four of the renamed streets have resulted in roadways bearing multiple names along the same corridor, creating fragmented street names across a single roadway. In regard to street renaming, regulatory uniformity is critical to ensuring accurate GPS routing, timely emergency response, and the protection of life and property for citizens no matter where they reside within the County. With these considerations in mind, this issue was presented as one example of countywide regulatory uniformity that the Committee may wish to consider when determining whether County ordinances should prevail when a conflict exists (Attachment #1).

Following deliberations, the CCRC did not support advancing a charter amendment providing for County ordinances to prevail over City ordinances in the event of conflict or in this specific circumstance regarding street renaming standards. However, the CCRC recognized the public safety concerns in unifying the street renaming standards and sought to make a policy recommendation to the Board. On February 5, 2026, the CCRC approved the policy recommendation encouraging the County to work with the City to align street renaming policies and procedures.

The agenda materials provided to the CCRC made clear that the City made a deliberate decision within its legal authority to adopt its own street renaming process, and the County has no means to effectuate a unified process other than a charter amendment providing County ordinances to prevail over City ordinances, broadly or specific to this issue (Attachment #1). For these reasons, this item provides an alternative option to the CCRC's policy recommendation. The Board can advance this issue as a Board-initiated Charter Amendment to providing uniform countywide street naming, renaming, and property numbering (addressing) standards to be established by County ordinance which would prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinance to the extent otherwise permitted by law. This item seeks Board direction on the unification of street renaming procedures and provides the following options for consideration.

> CCRC Policy Recommendation: The Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee encourages Leon County to work with the City of Tallahassee to align street renaming policies and procedures to prevent public safety and emergency services-related issues due to lack of uniformity among street names.
> Potential Board-Initiated Amendment: Direct staff to prepare a Board-initiated charter amendment providing for uniform countywide street naming, renaming, and property numbering (addressing) standards to be established by County ordinance which shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, to the extent otherwise permitted by law, and schedule the Board's first and only public hearing on May 12, 2026.

Policy Recommendation Encouraging Creation of a Division of Food Systems within the Leon County Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships

This CCRC recommendation asks the Board to consider creating a Division of Food Systems within the Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships to be responsible for countywide food security efforts and providing adequate staffing and resources. On December 4, 2025, the CCRC requested an analysis related to food security in the Leon County Charter. On December 18, 2025, the requested analysis was presented with information on the County's ongoing efforts to address food insecurity through community engagement, programs, partnerships, and investment. Throughout its consideration of this issue, CCRC members expressed strong support for the County's ongoing efforts and investment in addressing local food insecurity. Committee members noted increased awareness of resources available and coordination among community partners could further enhance these efforts.

On December 18, 2025, the CCRC directed staff to draft a proposed charter amendment on food security based on documents provided by committee member Dr. Strouble with specific options for charter amendments related to food security. The options included mandating the creation of the Office of Food Access & Resilience, establishing food access and food system resilience as a County responsibility, and including "equitable access to nutritious food" as a guiding value in the Preamble of the Charter. On February 19, 2026, the proposed charter amendment with ballot language was presented for the CCRC's consideration (Attachment #2). As presented in the analysis to the CCRC, the County has an existing department that oversees and administers programs and services dedicated to reducing food insecurity and increasing food access in the community. Additionally, there are no other county charters in the State of Florida that include the specific policy issue of food access or food insecurity. Furthermore, the Board currently has the authority and actively addresses food insecurity through its policy, programming, partnerships, and budgetary decisions without the need for a charter change. Accordingly, it was not recommended to the CCRC to advance a proposed charter amendment on food insecurity and staff presented an alternative option for the CCRC to provide a policy recommendation encouraging the Board to continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community. Following its consideration of the issue, the CCRC did not support advancing the proposed charter amendment. Instead, the CCRC advanced a policy recommendation to the Board encouraging the establishment of a Division of Food Systems under the Leon County Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships (HSCP) and providing for staff to coordinate reporting and increase awareness of existing food access efforts throughout the community. The proposed Division of Food Systems would be responsible for countywide implementation and facilitation of local food security efforts, which would require a community assessment of existing food security initiatives and service gaps. Implementation would require additional staffing and resources commensurate with the new responsibilities. As previously reported to the CCRC, the County has limited authority to mandate actions of any other governments, educational institutions, or nonprofit organizations in participating in efforts to reduce food insecurity in the community.

It should also be noted that HSCP is currently responsible for supporting and managing the County's health and human services functions, including efforts to address food insecurity. This includes implementation of the County's strategic investments, responsive policies, and community-based programs that enhance the quality of life for its most vulnerable residents through comprehensive and aligned delivery of services. Recognizing that the County has existing personnel dedicated to reducing food insecurity, creation of a separate office is not needed or recommended in light of the existing alignment and coordinated human services functions under HSCP. Based on these considerations, and consistent with the CCRC's feedback supporting the County's existing efforts, staff provided the CCRC an alternative option to provide a policy recommendation encouraging the continuation of the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community through the utilization of empirical data, active engagement, significant investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders that increase food access in neighborhoods with high food insecurity rates. The following options are provided for the Board's consideration. The staff recommendation reflects our current structure and services as determined by the Board.

> CCRC Policy Recommendation: The Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee encourages the establishment of a Division of Food Systems under the Leon County Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships.

Staff Recommendation: As presented to the CCRC, continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community through the County's existing structure, active engagement, ongoing investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders to increase food access.

Citizen Charter Review Committee Proposed Amendment Recommendations

In addition to the policy recommendations, the CCRC advanced the following three proposed charter amendment recommendations:

- Proposed amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County.
- Proposed amendment revising the Charter Preamble to affirm the County's commitment to creating a community that is safe, vibrant, and provides access to healthcare for all citizens.
- Proposed amendment to codify the County's Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the County Charter.

As reflected above, two of the CCRC's recommendations propose amendments to the Preamble at the beginning of the Leon County Charter. As reported to the CCRC during its consideration of these issues, the Preamble captures broad community values which emphasize the importance of home rule and governmental decisions being made at the local level as well as the role of residents in shaping their local government. Recognizing that the Preamble serves as an introduction to what the Charter seeks to achieve, it does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for County government. The Preamble is intentionally broad so that the County can adapt and respond to new challenges as determined by the elected County Commission.

Both of the CCRC's recommended amendments to the Leon County Charter Preamble seek to incorporate community values (esteemed humanity and healthcare access) as guiding aspirations of the document. While both of the recommendations seek to amend consecutive sentences of the Preamble, these issues were proposed and approved by the Committee at separate meetings. Both proposed community values (esteemed humanity and healthcare access) for incorporation into the Preamble are reflected in language approved by the CCRC at its final meeting on February 19, 2026 (as detailed in the summary below). It should be noted, however, that the proposed provision affirming healthcare access in the Preamble is not recommended as it reflects a policy-specific issue that is more appropriately addressed through County policy or procedure rather than charter change.

Proposal to Reflect the Esteemed Humanity of all Residents of Leon County in the Charter Preamble

The CCRC has recommended a proposed amendment to revise the Preamble of the Charter to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. This CCRC recommendation would add language regarding the County's values to the Charter's Preamble without creating enforceable rights or service requirements.

At its January 22, 2026 meeting, the CCRC requested charter amendment language to incorporate affirmation of the esteemed humanity of all residents as a shared community value in the Charter. Recognizing that the Preamble serves as an introduction and broadly reflects what the Charter seeks to achieve, it does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for County government. With this in mind, the CCRC was presented with proposed language that incorporates the affirmation of esteemed humanity of all residents as a guiding aspiration of the Charter document (Attachment #3).

On February 5, 2026, the CCRC recommended the following proposed amendment language to the Board (proposed language is underlined):

> SECTION 1. HOME RULE CHARTER
> PREAMBLE
> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our public affairs. In order to empower the people of this County to make changes in their own government, we do ordain and establish this Home Rule Charter for Leon County, Florida.

Should the Board support the recommended charter amendment, staff recommends advancing it as a Board-initiated Charter Amendment to be considered by the Board at a public hearing on May 12th rather than waiting until August 17th and requiring the CCRC to conduct three public hearings for an amendment to the Preamble.

> CCRC Recommendation (Charter Amendment): Advance the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee's proposed Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County to be considered at the CCRC's public hearings in June and July 2026.
> Potential Board-Initiated Amendment: Direct staff to prepare a Board-initiated Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County, and schedule the Board's first and only public hearing on May 12, 2026.
> Staff Recommendation: Direct staff to prepare a Board-initiated Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County, and schedule the Board's first and only public hearing on May 12, 2026.

Proposal to Affirm the County's Effort to Create a Community That Is Safe, Vibrant, and Provides Access to Healthcare for All Citizens in the Charter Preamble

The CCRC has recommended a proposed amendment to revise the Preamble of the Charter to affirm the County's efforts to create a community that is safe, vibrant, and provides access to healthcare for all citizens. Similar to the charter amendment proposal to reflect esteemed humanity in the Preamble, this CCRC recommendation seeks to add language regarding the County's values to the Charter without mandating services or funding. However, this item does not recommend the proposed Charter amendment affirming healthcare access in the Preamble because it reflects a policy-specific issue that is more appropriately addressed through County policy or procedure than charter change.

During its December 4, 2025, meeting, the CCRC requested information on funding mechanisms available to support healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured local income residents in the community to determine whether to consider a proposed charter amendment. On January 8, 2026, the Committee received an analysis of the County's investment in healthcare for low-income residents, including the $7.7 million in annual funding support for primary, dental, mental, specialty, and pharmaceutical healthcare access for low-income residents. Throughout its consideration of this issue, CCRC members expressed strong support of the County's long-standing efforts and investment in addressing ensuring healthcare for low-income residents.

As reported to the CCRC throughout its consideration of this issue (Attachment #4), there are no county charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. County charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and powers of county government. In addition, the Board currently has statutory authority and has been active in expanding healthcare services for uninsured and underinsured low-income residents in the community for over two decades. The Board has successfully taken action to expand healthcare access through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without amending the Charter. At that time, the CCRC directed staff to draft a proposed charter amendment affirming the County's commitment to primary healthcare access.

On February 19, 2026, the CCRC recommended the following proposed amendment language. The proposed revision to the Preamble includes the CCRC's previous recommendation regarding the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County in the Preamble (bold), with additional language (bold and underlined) to reflect the Committee's request to affirm the County's long-standing commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

> We, the citizens of Leon County, Florida, united in the belief that governmental decisions affecting local interests should be made locally, rather than by the State, and that County government should be reflective of the people of the County and should serve them in achieving a more responsive and efficient form of government, hereby affirm the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County. We recognize in every person a shared dignity, not granted by government, but inherent and deserving of consideration in our ~~public affairs~~ effort to create a community that is safe, vibrant, and provides access to healthcare for all citizens.

As previously noted, the Preamble serves as an introduction and broadly reflects what the Charter seeks to achieve; it does not delineate specific structures, authorities, policies, or provision of services for county government. The proposed language incorporates the County's Vision Statement, "a community that is safe, healthy, and vibrant.", already adopted by the Board which highlights the importance of health for our community. In addition, as requested by the CCRC, the proposed language also incorporates affirmation of ensuring healthcare access for local residents as a guiding aspiration of the Charter document.

As presented to the CCRC, county charters generally address large organizational issues focused on the authority, structure, and power of county government. The Board currently has the authority and actively provides access to healthcare through its policy, programming, and budgetary decisions without the need for a Charter change. Furthermore, the provision of healthcare access is currently, and more appropriately, implemented through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, and policy making authority. For these reasons, there are no county charters in Florida that include language regarding the provision of healthcare. Based on these considerations, this item does not recommend amending the Charter Preamble related to healthcare access. Consistent with the CCRC's feedback supporting the County's long-standing efforts, staff provided the CCRC an alternative option to provide a policy recommendation encouraging the continuation of Leon County's longstanding commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community. Both options are provided for the Board's consideration.

> CCRC Recommendation (Charter Amendment): Advance the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee's proposed Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to affirm the County's commitment to healthcare access to be considered at the CCRC's public hearings in June and July 2026.
> Staff Recommendation: As presented to the CCRC, continue Leon County's longstanding commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.

Proposal to Codify the Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the Charter

The CCRC has recommended a proposed amendment to codify the County's affordable housing trust fund (trust fund) in the Charter. This CCRC recommendation would recognize the County's existing trust fund in the Charter and maintains the Board's explicit authority to determine the appropriate revenue source(s) for the trust fund.

On January 8, 2025, the CCRC received an analysis of all available funding sources being utilized by Leon County to invest in affordable housing (general revenue, infrastructure surtax, grants, and bond financing). The analysis detailed how these revenues are being strategically invested to increase and preserve the stock of affordable housing in the community including the County's existing affordable housing trust fund, programs, and services. Throughout its consideration of this issue, CCRC members expressed support for the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community.

Leon County currently has an affordable housing trust fund as set forth under Chapter 8, Article V, of Leon County's Code of Laws; accordingly, a charter amendment is not necessary or recommended to provide the Board any new or additional authority to address and invest in the changing affordable housing needs in the community. As reported to the CCRC throughout its consideration of this issue (Attachment #5), most county charters do not include language regarding affordable housing. County charters, generally, set forth the governing authority, structure, and power of a county government. Accordingly, Leon County's Charter does not express specific policy priorities which are otherwise achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. Only four of the 20 charter counties include affordable housing provisions which generally memorialize the existing broad discretion of the county commissions to establish and implement a trust fund dedicated to affordable housing.

On February 5, 2026, the CCRC recommended a proposed amendment to the Board codifying the County's affordable housing trust fund in the Charter as follows:

- Establishment, Purpose, and Implementation: Formal establishment of the Leon County Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the County Charter with the purpose of a continuing, non-lapsing fund for the Leon County Commission to use to address the need for affordable housing within Leon County. The trust fund would adopt an ordinance implementing the provisions of this new section of the Charter no later than March 31, 2027.
- Revenue Source: To provide for broad discretion of the Board to determine the annual funding appropriated to the trust fund through its annual budget process, with committed funds to be remained in and used exclusively for the trust fund.
- Administration and Oversight: To provide for funds to be administered, appropriated, and expended by the County Commission in a manner consistent with the purposes of the trust fund. This section would provide for other sources of public funds and private investment to be leveraged for the trust fund, and for the trust fund to be included in the annual audit.

The proposed language, as reflected in full detail in Attachment #6 , would generally memorialize the broad discretion that the Board already has to address and invest in the changing affordable housing needs in the community. Similar to language adopted in the other four county charters, the proposed language does not require an annual minimal financial commitment or prioritize a type of affordable housing program (e.g., home ownership, rental, rehabilitation) due to continuously evolving housing needs and trends specific to Leon County. In addition, the Charter amendment maintains the Board's explicit authority to determine the appropriate revenue source(s) for an affordable housing trust fund (i.e., general revenue, grants, sales tax, etc.) as part of the annual budget process.

As previously reported to the CCRC, adopting a Charter amendment would only serve to highlight the Board's existing authority. If this were to occur with every high priority issue, then the County Charter would ultimately include volumes of initiatives, polices, programs, and services that are being addressed by the County.

Recognizing that the County has an existing affordable housing trust fund set forth by ordinance, a Charter amendment is not needed and is not recommended for specific policy priorities which are otherwise achieved through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. Based on these considerations, and consistent with the CCRC's feedback supporting the County's existing efforts, staff provided the CCRC an alternative option to provide a policy recommendation encouraging the continuation of Leon County's longstanding commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community which can be achieved without charter change.

> CCRC Recommendation (Charter Amendment): Advance the Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee's proposed Charter Amendment codifying the County's Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the County Charter to be considered at the CCRC's public hearings in June and July 2026.
> Staff Recommendation: As presented to the CCRC, continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community.

Next Steps and Recommendations

This status report provides the 2025-2026 CCRC's recommendations to the Board for consideration. As detailed in this item, the CCRC advanced two policy recommendations and three proposed charter amendments. Policy recommendations generally concern matters that are more appropriately addressed through County budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. The County Charter, and amendments thereto, are generally reserved for broad issues of governmental authority, structure, and powers—not operational detail or program-specific policy which is more appropriately implemented through the Board's strategic planning process, budgetary priorities, or policy and ordinance adoption. Throughout its work, the CCRC received guidance on charter-appropriate subject matter but focused much of its time on important policy issues which are reflected in this status report.

The Board may accept, reject, and/or provide direction related to the CCRC's policy recommendations. Similarly, the Board may take any of the following actions on the CCRC's recommended charter amendments:

- Accept the proposed charter amendments to be advanced for consideration at the CCRC's public hearings in June and July 2026, followed by a Board public hearing on August 17, 2026.
- Reject the recommended charter amendments and provide direction to dissolve the CCRC.
- Modify a proposed charter amendment which will then be considered a Board-initiated charter amendment, and schedule a public hearing for Board consideration on May 12, 2026.
- Advance a proposed charter amendment as Board-initiated Charter amendment, without making any changes to the recommendation, and schedule a public hearing for Board consideration on May 12, 2026.

Should the Board accept the CCRC's proposed charter amendment recommendations, the Committee's three required public hearings would be scheduled in June and July 2026, to take public input and formally consider the proposed amendments. The final report and recommendations will be transmitted to the Board on August 5, 2026 (90 days prior to the Election), to be formally presented to the Board for consideration at its public hearing on August 17, 2026. It is important to note that the CCRC may amend the proposed charter amendments during its public hearings before approving final recommendations and transmitting them to the Board on August 5, 2026. However, at the public hearing on August 17, 2026, the Board can only accept or reject the CCRC's proposed charter amendments. At that time, the Board cannot make any changes to the recommended charter amendments due to public noticing requirements.

Should the Board wish to modify the CCRC recommendations provided in this status report to amend the Charter at this time, it would then be considered a Board-initiated amendment which requires approval of an ordinance by a majority plus one of the Board to place the amendment on the ballot. If there are no other remaining Charter amendments for the CCRC to consider at its three public hearings this summer, the Committee would be dissolved and the Board's public hearing(s) on proposed Charter amendment(s) would take place on May 12, 2026 (Option #7).

The Board may also elect to pursue a CCRC recommendation as a Board-initiated charter amendment without making any changes to the recommendation at this time (Option #8). This would accelerate the timeline for required public hearing(s) and allow for the dissolution of the 2025-2026 CCRC. As a Board-initiated charter amendment, the public hearing would be scheduled for May 12th. This approach also provides the Board with maximum flexibility on determining the final amendment and ballot language. If the CCRC were to proceed with its public hearings in the summer and make changes to the recommended Charter amendments, the Board would only be able to accept or reject the final recommendations if it holds a public hearing in August due to public notice requirements. The Board would be unable to make modifications to the CCRC recommendations at that time.

Should the Board not wish to advance any of the proposed CCRC amendments, Option #9 would reject all of the recommended amendments and specifically provides for the dissolution of the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee. Should the Board's actions result in the CCRC no longer having to hold public hearings to consider proposed charter amendments, the Committee would automatically be dissolved.

Extensive agenda materials were provided to the CCRC on the requested subject matters including the County's prior and current efforts, any related Board strategic initiatives, budgetary commitment, or policy directives, and when appropriate, comparison data of other charter counties. For the two policy and three proposed charter recommendations provided herein, The following are the staff recommendations on each issue for Board consideration:

- Policy Recommendation Related to the Unification of Street Renaming Procedures: This item provides two options and seeks Board direction on the unification of street renaming procedures including the CCRC's recommendation to work with the City to unify street renaming procedures, and an option for the Board to pursue a charter amendment providing for uniform countywide street naming, renaming, and property numbering (addressing) standards to be established by County ordinance which shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances.

- Policy Recommendation Related to Food Insecurity: As presented to the CCRC, this item recommends continuing the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community through the County's existing structure, active engagement, ongoing investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders to increase food access.
- Proposed Charter Amendment to the Preamble related to Esteemed Humanity: This item recommends directing staff to advance as a Board-initiated Charter Amendment and scheduling the Board's first and only public hearing on May 12, 2026. This would accelerate the adoption process by three months and alleviate the CCRC from conducting three public hearings for an amendment to the Preamble.
- Proposed Charter Amendment to the Preamble related to Healthcare Access: As presented to the CCRC, this item recommends continuing the County's long-standing commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community.
- Proposed Charter Amendment Codifying the Affordable Housing Trust Fund: As presented to the CCRC, this item recommends continuing the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community.

Finally, acknowledging the work and contributions of the 21-member CCRC over the last four months, Option #6 seeks direction to prepare a Proclamation recognizing the 2025-2026 CCRC members for their efforts which will be presented at a future Board meeting.

Options:

1. Board direction on Unification of Street Renaming Procedures:
    a. Direct staff to prepare a Board-initiated Charter Amendment providing for uniform countywide street naming, renaming, and property numbering (addressing) standards to be established by County ordinance which shall prevail in the event of a conflict with municipal ordinances, and schedule the Board's first and only public hearing on May 12, 2026; or
    b. Accept the CCRC's policy recommendation encouraging the County to work with the City of Tallahassee to align street renaming policies and procedures to prevent public safety and emergency services-related issues due to lack of uniformity among street names.
2. Food Insecurity Policy Recommendation:
    a. As presented to the CCRC, continue the County's long-standing commitment to reducing food insecurity in the community through the County's existing structure, active engagement, ongoing investment, and critical programming in partnership with local stakeholders to increase food access; or
    b. Accept the CCRC's policy recommendation encouraging the County to establish a Division of Food Systems under the Leon County Office of Human Services and Community Partnerships.
3. Esteemed Humanity Charter Amendment:
    a. Direct staff to prepare a Board-initiated Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County, and schedule the Board's first and only public hearing on May 12, 2026.
    b. Advance the CCRC's proposed Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to reflect the esteemed humanity of all residents of Leon County to be considered at the CCRC's public hearings in June and July 2026; or
4. Healthcare Access Charter Amendment:
    a. As presented to the CCRC, continue Leon County's long-standing commitment to ensuring healthcare access for low-income residents and thereby supporting an equitable, safe, healthy, and vibrant community; or
    b. Advance the CCRC's proposed Charter Amendment revising the Charter Preamble to affirm the County's commitment to healthcare access to be considered at the CCRC's public hearings in June and July 2026.
5. Affordable Housing Trust Fund Charter Amendment
    a. As presented to the CCRC, continue the County's long-standing commitment to increasing and preserving the stock of affordable housing in the community; or
    b. Advance the CCRC's proposed Charter Amendment codifying the County's Affordable Housing Trust Fund in the County Charter to be considered at the CCRC's public hearings in June and July 2026.
6. Direct staff to prepare a Proclamation recognizing the work of the 2025-2026 Leon County Citizen Charter Review Committee.

7. Modify recommended Charter Amendment(s) and schedule public hearing(s) as Board-initiated Charter Amendment(s), as determined by the Board, for May 12, 2026 at 6:00 p.m., and dissolve the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
8. Advance recommended Charter Amendment(s) as Board-initiated Charter Amendment(s) without modification, as determined by the Board, schedule public hearing(s) for May 12, 2026 at 6:00 p.m., and dissolve the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
9. Reject the recommended charter amendments and dissolve the Citizen Charter Review Committee.
10. Board direction.

Recommendation:

Board Direction on Option #1; Options #2a, #3a, #4a, #5a, and #6.

Leon County
Board of County Commissioners

Notes for Agenda Item #24

Leon County Board of County Commissioners

Agenda Item #24

September 15, 2026

To: Honorable Chairman and Members of the Board

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: Safe Streets for All Grant Agreement with the U.S. Department of Transportation for the North Monroe Street Safety Improvements Project

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Nawfal Ezzagaghi, Assistant County Administrator Roshaunda Bradley, Director, Office of Management and Budget Brent Pell, Director, Public Works Charles Wu, Director, Engineering Services
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Samuel Ijeoma, Senior Design Engineer Chris Muehlemann, Chief of Engineering Design Eryn Calabro, Principal Budget and Grants Coordinator Timothy Barden, Administrative Services Manager

Statement of Issue:

This item seeks Board acceptance of a Safe Streets for All (SS4A) Grant Agreement with the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) for the North Monroe Street Safety Improvements Project and adoption of a Resolution approving the SS4A Grant Agreement.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has a fiscal impact. If approved, $16.8 million in grant funds would be realized from the USDOT for design, construction, and Construction Engineering and Inspection (CEI) services, with the 20% County match required. Blueprint will provide the local match of $4.2 million toward the project total cost of $21 million. A Resolution and Budget Amendment is provided to realize these funds into the Fiscal Year (FY) 2026 budget.

Staff Recommendation:

Provided on the following page.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Approve the Safe Streets for All Grant Agreement with the U.S. Department of Transportation for the North Monroe Street Safety Improvements Project (Attachment #1), and authorize the County Administrator to execute the Agreement and approve and execute any modifications, amendments, or associated agreements thereto, all subject to legal review and revision by the County Attorney.

Option #2: Approve the Resolution and associated Budget Amendment Request realizing $16,800,000 from U.S. Department of Transportation and the $4,200,000 local match from Blueprint into the County budget (Attachment #2).

Option #3 Adopt the Resolution authorizing the Safe Streets for All Grant Agreement with the U.S. Department of Transportation for the design, construction and Construction Engineering Inspection for North Monroe Street Safety Improvement Project (Attachment #3), and authorize the Chairman to execute.

Report and Discussion

Background:

This item seeks Board acceptance of a Safe Streets for All (SS4A) Grant Agreement (Attachment #1) with the U.S. Department of Transportation (USDOT) for the North Monroe Street Safety Improvements Project and adoption of a Resolution approving the SS4A Grant Agreement (Attachment #3).

This project is essential to the following FY 2022 – FY 2026 Strategic Initiative:

- Continue to work with the Florida Department of Transportation for safety improvements on State and County roadways to include accessibility enhancements, street lighting installations, sidewalk additions, safety audits, and intersection improvements. (2022-26)

This particular Strategic Initiative aligns with the Board's Quality of Life Strategic Priorities:

- (Q3) Provide essential public safety infrastructure and services while supporting early intervention and prevention strategies.
- (Q5) Promote livability, health and sense of community by supporting strong neighborhoods, enhancing mobility, encouraging human scale development, and creating public spaces for people of all ages.

The North Monroe Street (SR 263/US 27) corridor (the corridor) is a primary arterial roadway linking the interstate to downtown Tallahassee. It serves as a high-volume route essential for regional freight, commuting, and tourism. This corridor has a history of safety concerns which have been identified and prioritized by the Board, the City Commission, the Blueprint Intergovernmental Agency, and the Capital Region Transportation Planning Agency (CRTPA). Between 2018 and 2022, the segment from Tharpe Street to Capital Circle Northwest experienced 10 fatal crashes – seven involving pedestrians, one involving a bicyclist, and two involving motor vehicle occupants – accounting for approximately 5% of the County's total fatal crashes during that period.

The corridor was identified as part of the CRTPA's High Injury Network (HIN) that was developed within the Safe Streets and Roads for All Safety Action Plan (Safety Action Plan) completed in 2023 and further analyzed as part of the 2024 North Monroe Street Implementation Plan (Implementation Plan) which identified conditions and potential improvements, including sidewalk construction, additional signage, improved pavement markings, and bicycle lanes throughout the corridor. In 2024, the CRTPA applied for SS4A funding based on the Implementation Plan and received partial funding limited to minor median modifications.

On February 20, 2024, the Board accepted the North Monroe Corridor Charrette Final Report which included an action item to coordinate with the CRTPA to support additional safety improvements along North Monroe Street and seek future SS4A grant funding.

On March 28, 2025, the USDOT issued a SS4A grant Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO). Authorized under the Bipartisan Infrastructure Law (BIL) – which allocated $5 billion from 2022 to 2026 – the program funds regional, local, and tribal projects designed to eliminate roadway fatalities and serious injuries.

On June 10, 2025, the Board approved a resolution in support of an application for the USDOT Safe Streets for All Grant for North Monroe Street Safety Improvements. This SS4A grant is part of the County's ongoing efforts to enhance safety for all users of our multimodal transportation system including bicyclists, pedestrians, and motorists.

On January 8, 2026, USDOT selected the North Monroe Street Safety Improvements Project for an SS4A grant award of $16,800,000 for design, construction, and CEI services, covering approximately 80% of the total project cost of $21,000,000. The remaining 20% ($4.2 million) will be funded through Blueprint sales tax revenue as the local match. The USDOT project-specific agreement (Attachment #1) requires Board approval.

Analysis:

As previously stated, North Monroe Street is one of the most heavily traveled corridors in the Florida capital region, providing direct access from the interstate to the downtown area. This corridor, which spans from Capital Circle Northwest to Tharpe Street, experienced 10 fatal crashes between 2018 and 2022, accounting for approximately 5% of the County's total fatal crashes. To address these safety concerns, a conceptual safety improvement plan was developed to enhance pedestrian safety through sidewalk construction, additional signage, improved pavement markings, and the implementation of bike lanes. To fund implementation of this plan, the Board approved a resolution to pursue an SS4A grant. USDOT subsequently awarded the County $16.8 million in federal grant funding for design, construction, and CEI services.

Upon execution of the SS4A Agreement, an Invitation to Bid for the Design services of the project will be advertised in December 2026, and approval of the bid award will be subsequently brought to the Board. Design is anticipated to begin early 2027, with an estimated duration of nine months.

GRANT AGREEMENT UNDER THE FISCAL YEAR 2025 SAFE STREETS AND ROADS FOR ALL GRANT PROGRAM

This agreement is between the United States Department of Transportation's (the "USDOT") Federal Highway Administration (the "FHWA") and the Leon County, Florida (the "Recipient").

This agreement reflects the selection of the Recipient to receive a Safe Streets and Roads for All ("SS4A") Grant for the North Monroe Street Safety Implementation.

The parties therefore agree to the following:

ARTICLE 1
GENERAL TERMS AND CONDITIONS

1.1 General Terms and Conditions.

(a) In this agreement, "General Terms and Conditions" means the content of the document titled "General Terms and Conditions Under the Fiscal Year 2025 Safe Streets and Roads for All ("SS4A") Grant Program," dated January 22, 2026 which is available at https://www.transportation.gov/grants/ss4a/grant-agreements under "Fiscal Year 2025." Articles 7–33 are in the General Terms and Conditions. The General Terms and Conditions are part of this agreement.

(b) The Recipient acknowledges that it has knowledge of the General Terms and Conditions. Recipient also states that it is required to comply with all applicable Federal laws and regulations including, but not limited to, the Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards (2 CFR part 200); National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) (42 U.S.C. § 4321 et seq.); and Build America, Buy America Act (IIJA, div. G §§ 70901-27).

(c) The Recipient acknowledges that the General Terms and Conditions impose obligations on the Recipient and that the Recipient's non-compliance with the General Terms and Conditions may result in remedial action, termination of the SS4A Grant, disallowing costs incurred for the Project, requiring the Recipient to refund to the FHWA the SS4A Grant, and reporting the non-compliance in the Federal-government-wide integrity and performance system.

ARTICLE 3
SUMMARY PROJECT INFORMATION

3.1 Summary of Project's Statement of Work.

Narrative: This award is for an implementation project.

This award will be used by Leon County, Florida to implement corridor-wide safety improvements along the seven-mile North Monroe Street (US 27/SR 63) high-injury network. The project will fill sidewalk and bike lane gaps; install pedestrian fencing; and add seven signalized mid-block crossings, raised medians, median refuges, and high emphasis crosswalks. Intersections will receive 15 leading pedestrian intervals, four rectangular rapid flashing beacons at ramps, speed feedback signs, blank-out signs, turn-lane modifications, and detectable warning surfaces. Between 2018 and 2022, there were 2,155 crashes on the corridor, including 10 fatalities, and 26 serious injuries; eight of 10 fatalities involved pedestrians or bicyclists, and 4-10% of observed nonmotorized movements resulted in near misses. Improvements align with FHWA's Proven Safety Countermeasures and the Safe System Approach, targeting reductions in rear-end, angle, and sideswipe crashes and safer crossings for vulnerable roadway users. Work will occur within existing right-of-way with engineering and construction are staged to deliver improvements within 5 years.

The project will be completed in three phases.

Base Phase: Pre-NEPA: The NEPA phase will be used to clarify the project's purpose and need, define the scope and scale of the project, identify preliminary environmental issues, and perform the project survey.

Option Phase 1: Final Design, Right-of-Way, and Utility Relocation: The final design will include survey control point, roadway plan, typical sections, general notes, signing and pavement marking plans, lighting plan, and utility adjustments plan.

Option Phase 2: Construction: Construction will consist of implementation of safety improvements along seven miles corridor on North Monroe Street (SR 63/US 27) from Tharpe Street to Capital Circle (State Road (S.R) 263). This will involve the construction of 6' concrete sidewalks and bike lanes to fill the gap along the project corridor, installation of pedestrian fencing, Right turn modifications on multiple street intersection, midblock crossings, realignment and crossing improvements, crosswalk improvements, installation of street lighting, railing, upgrade pavement markings, delineators, and roadside ditch grading in limited circumstances.

3.2 Project's Estimated Schedule.

Implementation Schedule (Construction)

Milestone	Schedule Date
Planned NEPA Completion Date:	03/31/2027
Planned Construction Substantial Completion and Open to Public Use Date:	08/01/2031

(b) Cost Classification Table

Cost Classification	Total Costs	Non-SS4A Previously Incurred Costs	Eligible Costs
Architectural and engineering fees	$2,420,000	$0	$1,936,000
Other architectural and engineering fees	100,000	$0	$80,000
Project inspection fees	$1,500,000	$0	$1,200,000
Construction	$12,780,000	$0	$10,224,000
Contingency	$4,200,000	$0	$3,360,000
Project Total	$21,000,000	$0	$16,800,000

(c) Indirect Costs

Indirect costs are allowable under this Agreement in accordance with 2 CFR part 200 and the Recipient's approved Budget Application. In the event the Recipient's indirect cost rate changes, the Recipient will notify FHWA of the planned adjustment and provide supporting documentation for such adjustment. This Indirect Cost provision does not operate to waive the limitations on Federal funding provided in this document. The Recipient's indirect costs are allowable only insofar as they do not cause the Recipient to exceed the total obligated funding.

USDOT ADMINISTRATIVE INFORMATION

5.1 Office for Subaward and Contract Authorization.

USDOT Office for Subaward and Contract Authorization: FHWA Office of Competitive Grants and Workforce Programs

SUBAWARDS AND CONTRACTS APPROVAL

Note: See 2 CFR § 200.331, Subrecipient and contractor determinations, for definitions of subrecipient (who is awarded a subaward) versus contractor (who is awarded a contract).

Note: Recipients with a procurement system deemed approved and accepted by the Government or by the Agreement Officer (the "AO") are exempt from the requirements of this clause. See 2 CFR 200.317 through 200.327.

In accordance with 2 CFR 200.308(f)(6), the recipient or subrecipient shall obtain prior written approval from the USDOT agreement officer for the subaward, if the subaward activities were not proposed in the application or approved in the Federal award. This provision is in accordance with 2 CFR 200.308 (f) (6) and does not apply to procurement transactions for goods and services. Approval will be issued through written notification from the AO or a formal amendment to the Agreement.

5.2 Reimbursement Requests

(a) The Recipient may request reimbursement of costs incurred within the budget period of this agreement if those costs do not exceed the amount of funds obligated and are allowable under the applicable cost provisions of 2 C.F.R. Part 200, Subpart E. The Recipient shall not request reimbursement more frequently than monthly.

(b) The Recipient shall use the DELPHI iSupplier System to submit requests for reimbursement to the payment office. When requesting reimbursement of costs incurred or credit for cost share incurred, the Recipient shall electronically submit supporting cost details with the SF-270 (Request for Advance or Reimbursement) or SF-271 (Outlay Report and Request for Reimbursement for Construction Programs) to clearly document all costs incurred.

(c) The Recipient's supporting cost detail shall include a detailed breakout of all costs incurred, including direct labor, indirect costs, other direct costs, travel, etc., and the Recipient shall identify the Federal share and the Recipient's share of costs. If the Recipient does not provide sufficient detail in a request for reimbursement, the Agreement Officer's Representative (the "AOR") may withhold processing that request until the Recipient provides sufficient detail.

(d) The USDOT shall not reimburse costs unless the AOR reviews and approves the costs to ensure that progress on this agreement is sufficient to substantiate payment.

(e) In the rare instance the Recipient is unable to receive electronic funds transfers (EFT), payment by EFT would impose a hardship on the Recipient because of their inability to manage an account at a financial institution, and/or the Recipient is unable to use the DELPHI iSupplier System to submit their requests for disbursement, the FHWA may waive the requirement that the Recipient use the DELPHI iSupplier System. The Recipient shall contact the Division Office Lead Point of Contact for instructions on, and requirements related to pursuing a waiver.

(f) The requirements set forth in these terms and conditions supersede previous financial invoicing requirements for Recipients.

ARTICLE 6
SPECIAL GRANT TERMS

6.1 SS4A funds must be expended within five years after the grant agreement is executed and DOT obligates the funds, which is the budget period end date in section 10.3 of the Terms and Conditions and section 2.4 in this agreement.

6.2 The Recipient demonstrates compliance with civil rights obligations and nondiscrimination laws, including Titles VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA), and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act, and accompanying regulations. Recipients of Federal transportation funding will also be required to comply fully with regulations and guidance for the ADA, Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and all other civil rights requirements.

6.3 SS4A Funds will be allocated to the Recipient and made available to the Recipient in accordance with FHWA procedures.

6.4 The Recipient of an Implementation Grant agrees to update its Action Plan within two years of the date of this agreement to: align with all Comprehensive Safety Action Plan components in Table 1 of the SS4A FY 2025 NOFO corresponding with any "no" responses in the Self-Certification Eligibility Worksheet; ensure that the Action Plan's safety focus includes all road users, including pedestrians, bicyclists, and motor vehicle safety; and ensure that the Action Plan was last updated not more than three years prior.

6.5 The Recipient acknowledges that it is required to conduct certain environmental analyses and to prepare and submit to FHWA, or State with applicable NEPA Assignment authority, documents required under NEPA, and other applicable environmental statutes and regulations before the Government will obligate funds for Option Phase 1 under this agreement and provide the Recipient with a written notice to proceed with Option Phase 1.

6.6 The Government's execution of this agreement does not in any way constitute pre-approval or waiver of any of the regulations imposed upon Recipient under the applicable Federal rules, regulations and laws regarding SS4A projects undertaken in accordance with the terms and conditions of this agreement. The Recipient shall comply with all applicable Federal requirements before incurring any costs under this agreement.

6.7 There are no other special grant requirements.

LABOR AND WORK

1. Efforts to Support Good-Paying Jobs and Strong Labor Standards

The Recipient states that rows marked with "X" in the following table align with the application:

	The Recipient or a project partner promotes robust job creation by supporting good-paying jobs directly related to the project with free and fair choice to join a union. (Describe robust job creation and identify the good-paying jobs in the supporting narrative below.)
X	The Recipient or a project partner will invest in high-quality workforce training programs such as registered apprenticeship programs to recruit, train, and retain skilled workers, and implement policies such as targeted hiring preferences. (Describe the training programs in the supporting narrative below.)
	The Recipient or a project partner will partner with high-quality workforce development programs with supportive services to help train, place, and retain workers in good-paying jobs or registered apprenticeships including through the use of local and economic hiring preferences, linkage agreements with workforce programs, and proactive plans to prevent harassment. (Describe the supportive services provided to trainees and employees, preferences, and policies in the supporting narrative below.)
	The Recipient or a project partner will partner and engage with local unions or other worker-based organizations in the development and lifecycle of the project, including union participation or project labor agreements which promote cost-effectiveness and open competition. (Describe the partnership or engagement with unions and/or other worker-based organizations and agreements in the supporting narrative below.)
	The Recipient or a project partner will partner with communities or community groups to develop workforce strategies. (Describe the partnership and workforce strategies in the supporting narrative below.)
	The Recipient or a project partner has taken other actions related to the Project to create good-paying jobs with the free and fair choice to join a union and incorporate strong labor standards. (Describe those actions in the supporting narrative below.)
	The Recipient or a project partner has not yet taken actions related to the Project to create good-paying jobs with the free and fair choice to join a union and incorporate strong labor standards but, before beginning construction of the Project, will take relevant actions described in Attachment B. (Identify the relevant actions from Attachment B in the supporting narrative below.)
	The Recipient or a project partner has not taken actions related to the Project to improve good-paying jobs and strong labor standards and will not take those actions under this award.

2. Supporting Narrative. The proposed project will support good-paying jobs and strong labor standards through the creation and retention of quality employment opportunities associated with project planning, design, construction, implementation, and ongoing operations. Leon County, Florida is committed to ensuring that all work performed under the project complies with applicable federal, state, and local labor laws and regulations, including requirements related to prevailing wages, workplace safety, nondiscrimination, and equal employment opportunity.

The County will encourage contractors and subcontractors to recruit and retain a skilled local workforce and provide fair wages and benefits consistent with industry standards. Procurement and contracting processes will promote competition while encouraging participation from firms that demonstrate strong labor practices, workforce development initiatives, and compliance with occupational safety standards.

In addition, the project will create opportunities for workforce training and career development through collaboration with local educational institutions, workforce boards, trade organizations, and apprenticeship or internship programs, where applicable. These efforts will help strengthen the regional workforce pipeline while supporting long-term economic mobility for residents.

By investing in transportation safety improvements, the project will also generate broader economic benefits through increased reliability, reduced crash-related costs, and improved access to employment centers, schools, healthcare, and commercial areas. Collectively, these efforts align with the goals of the Safe Streets and Roads for All (SS4A) program by advancing infrastructure investments that support both public safety and equitable economic opportunity.

ATTACHMENT F
CRITICAL SECURITY INFRASTRUCTURE AND RESILIENCE

1. Efforts to Strengthen the Security and Resilience of Critical Infrastructure Against Both Physical and Cyber Threats.

The Recipient states that rows marked with "X" in the following table are accurate:

	The Recipient demonstrates, prior to the signing of this agreement, effort to consider and address physical and cyber security risks relevant to the transportation mode and type and scale of the activities.
	The Recipient appropriately considered and addressed physical and cyber security and resilience in the planning, design and oversight of the project, as determined by the Department and the Department of Homeland Security.
	The Recipient complies with 2 CFR 200.216 and the prohibition on certain telecommunications and video surveillance services or equipment.
X	Not applicable. Grant does not require the purchase of information technology or operational technology.

2. Supporting Narrative.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, The United States Department of Transportation's Federal Highway Administration (the "DEPARTMENT") and Leon County, Florida, a charter county and political subdivision of the State of Florida (the "COUNTY") are desirous of having the DEPARTMENT participate in the North Monroe Street Safety Improvement Implementation Project, the details of which are described in the Grant Agreement between the DEPARTMENT and the COUNTY presented to the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida at its regular meeting on September 15, 2026 (the Grant Agreement"); and

WHEREAS, the North Monroe Street Safety Improvement Implementation Project (the "PROJECT"), will be conducted in Leon County, and the DEPARTMENT is prepared to provide grant funds for the design, construction, and Construction Engineering and Inspection (CEI) of the PROJECT; and

WHEREAS, completion of the PROJECT is in the interest of the DEPARTMENT and the COUNTY, as it will provide safety improvements along the seven-mile North Monroe Street (US 27/SR 63) high-injury network.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA, that:

Section 1. Approval and Authorization.

The Board hereby approves the Grant Agreement and hereby authorizes the County Administrator to execute the Grant Agreement and approve and execute any modifications, amendments, or associated agreements thereto, all subject to legal review and revision by the County Attorney.

Section 2. Effective Date.

This resolution shall become effective immediately upon its adoption.

DONE, ADOPTED AND PASSED by the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, this 15th day of September, 2026.

Title: Status Report on the Board's Legal Purview and Oversight Options Regarding the Use of Automated License Plate Recognition Systems

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Nawfal Ezzagaghi, Assistant County Administrator
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Kyle L. Kemper, Senior Assistant County Attorney

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Board, this item provides information regarding the Board's legal purview and oversight options regarding the use of video cameras, particularly automated license plate recognition systems, in public spaces to protect privacy rights and limit the collection of data by third parties.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has no fiscal impact.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #4: Board Direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its May 12, 2026, meeting the Board accepted a status report on the utilization of video cameras in public spaces and further directed that an agenda item be brought back regarding the Board's legal purview and oversight options regarding the use of video cameras, particularly automated license plate recognition (ALPR) systems, in public spaces to protect privacy rights and limit the collection of data by third parties. Since that time, on August 31, 2026, the Florida Department of Transportation directed all local law enforcement agencies to remove their ALPRs from the State Highway System within 30 days and, on that same day, the Leon County Sheriff announced that he will suspend the use of ALPRs in the County. This item provides the requested information to the Board.

Analysis:

There has been a readily observable expansion of cameras located within public spaces, particularly public rights-of-way (ROW). Some cameras are used for traffic control purposes, while others are ALPRs. With regard to the former, the Tallahassee Regional Transportation Management Center (RTMC), which is operated by the City of Tallahassee (City) in partnership with the County and other partners, serves as the control center for the Tallahassee Advanced Traffic Management System (TATMS). The TATMS oversees hundreds of traffic signals across the Tallahassee area, including those owned by the City, County, Florida State University, and the Florida Department of Transportation, as well as signals in Gadsden County. For traffic control purposes, the RTMC has installed cameras at many intersections throughout the County, and live camera feeds are utilized to monitor and report traffic conditions and incidents and promptly make temporary traffic signal timing changes to ensure traffic flows more smoothly. These cameras are typically installed on or near the intersection, frequently above the traffic lights, as part of the City-maintained traffic control devices, and are not ALPRs. A map showing the locations of the cameras together with live video and intermittent still images are open to public viewing on the City's Traffic subpage. The RTMC also acts as an emergency backup for the Northwest Florida Regional Transportation Management Center.

By contrast ALPRs are a system of one or more mobile or fixed high-speed cameras that are aided by computer algorithms to convert images of license plates into computer-readable data. The cameras are often mounted in a fixed location within the ROW or on a law enforcement vehicle or mobile unit. These cameras automatically capture license plate data of vehicles, along with related information, such as vehicle type and color and location data. ALPRs are capable of scanning the license plate of nearly every vehicle that goes by. Collected data include location and timestamps, and the data is retained for a period of time and can be queried and compared against other various databases, including hotlists, which are lists of known license plates and vehicles of interest such as those associated with unlawful activity or missing persons. Law enforcement agencies may share collected ALPR data with other law enforcement agencies throughout the state and country. ALPRs can be an effective law enforcement investigative and enforcement tool, and law enforcement agencies utilize ALPRs for a variety of policing purposes, including gathering intelligence and evidence, identifying potential suspects, and facilitating crime scene analysis.

Law enforcement agencies report that ALPRs improve public safety and reduce crime rates. The County is not a law enforcement agency and does not operate any ALPRs, although the County may contract with a company to enforce the County's School Zone Speed Enforcement Program, Chapter 17, Article IV, Leon County Code of Laws, when that program is activated, for the use of Speed Detection Systems (SDSs). SDSs, like ALPRs, capture pictures of license plates, but SDSs serve a limited function, and unlike ALPRs, they are not installed to capture the license plates of all vehicles traveling by. Rather, SDSs are placed in school zones and capture the license plate of vehicles traveling more than 10 miles per hour over the applicable school zone speed limit during certain enumerated hours of the school day.

Critics have raised privacy and policy concerns regarding the use of ALPRs, which may infringe upon citizens' privacy and civil liberties. Privacy advocates, civil liberties groups, and ordinary citizens assert that ALPRs operate as a mass surveillance tool, collecting data from nearly every vehicle passing within their line of sight. This mass data can be used to reconstruct past movements and is accessible by the law enforcement agencies operating the ALPRs within their jurisdictions. The collected data can also be shared with other law enforcement agencies throughout the country. Opponents of the ALPRs assert law enforcement queries of databases, even as intended, contravene citizens' reasonable expectation of privacy and violate Fourth Amendment protections from unreasonable searches and seizures. There have also been concerns involving individuals within law enforcement agencies abusing their access to the ALPR data for unauthorized purposes, including stalking, tracking, or harassing innocent people. In many cases, this unauthorized activity has resulted in adverse employment action against the offending law enforcement officers, including suspensions and dismissals, as well as criminal prosecutions. Law enforcement agencies and ALPR vendors assert that policies and audits can protect against and deter such unauthorized activity.

Accuracy problems have also been reported where an ALPR misreads a character on a license plate, reportedly leading to the detention of innocent people. Even when the ALPR data is accurate, law enforcement personnel's mistaken interpretation of the data has led to the investigation of innocent people. For example, an individual reported that she was investigated because her vehicle movements near her home happened to coincide with a series of thefts.

Proponents of ALPRs counter that appropriate regulations and safeguards can be put in place and that ALPR use does not constitute an unreasonable search because citizens do not have a reasonable expectation of privacy in the visible exterior parts of an automobile traveling on a public road or highway. They further claim there is no reasonable expectation of privacy in ALPR data and at least some courts have agreed, finding the data contains no more information than could have been obtained through traditional police surveillance.

Although the United States Supreme Court has found that individuals have a reasonable expectation of privacy in the whole of their physical movements, courts have consistently held that individuals do not have a reasonable expectation of privacy in a public place. The observation of an object in plain view does not typically implicate the Fourth Amendment. Thus, a person traveling in an automobile on public thoroughfares has no reasonable expectation of privacy because the car is always in plain view. However, courts have cautioned that the day may come when technology could run afoul of the Fourth Amendment with sustained tracking of individuals, more comprehensive databases, using ALPRs in conjunction with other surveillance tools, among other measures. This is an unresolved area of the law, and there are pending challenges to the constitutionality regarding the use of ALPRs making their way through the federal courts.

ALPRs may therefore be an effective law enforcement tool to improve public safety and solve crimes, but they also raise legal and policy concerns. The remainder of this item addresses the Board's purview to regulate the use of ALPRs while identifying areas beyond the Board's regulatory authority. Legislatively, there have been proposed and, in some instances adopted, laws on the federal, state, and local levels regulating the use of ALPRs. Although federal and state legislation may ultimately regulate the use of ALPRs, Florida local governments, in particular county governments without a law enforcement component, have limited regulatory authority over this area.

Charter counties may legislate concurrently with the Legislature on any subject which has not been preempted to the State. There are several areas where a County ordinance seeking to regulate ALPRs would conflict with State law or violate separation of powers. The County may regulate and even exclude the use of ALPRs within its ROW, but the County does not have jurisdiction over the state highway system or City streets, nor can the County directly regulate the Tallahassee Police Department (TPD), Leon County Sheriff, or other law enforcement agencies. Similarly, the ALPR data is subject to the Florida Public Records Law. As addressed in more detail below, the Public Records Law requires law enforcement agencies and their contractors to implement appropriate safeguards to protect ALPR data and prohibits disclosure of much of the collected data, but the law also limits the County's ability to regulate in this area.

Within this framework, various law enforcement agencies and their contractors have installed ALPR systems within State, city and county ROWs, including throughout Leon County. However, and as addressed in more detail below, on August 31, 2026, the Florida Department of Transportation (FDOT) directed all local law enforcement agencies to remove their ALPRs from the State Highway System within 30 days (Attachment #1), and on that same day the Leon County Sheriff announced that he will suspend the use of ALPRs in the County (Attachment #2). These actions are in apparent recognition that, at the very least, this area needs additional regulation. The City took a different approach and during the City Commission's August 26, 2026 meeting, the City rejected an effort to explore terminating the TPD's use of ALPRs, although at that meeting the City Commission indicated a town hall would be scheduled on the issue. Following the Sheriff and FDOT's announcements, however, the City's use of ALPRs was once again placed on the agenda, this time for consideration at the City Commission's September 9, 2026 meeting. The City agenda materials do not provide a recommendation for TPD's continued use of ALPRs and seek Commission Direction.

Rights-of-Way

Under Florida law, the State has jurisdiction over state roads while municipalities have jurisdiction over city streets and highways, and counties are vested with the general superintendence and control of county roads. Each county and municipality retains authority to regulate and manage county and municipal ROW, respectively, in exercising its police power, and the decision to place

ALPRs within the various governmental entities' ROW lies within the purview of the respective governments.

On the State level, section 316.0777, Florida Statutes (F.S.), further expressly grants to the Department of Transportation (FDOT) discretion to allow ALPRs to be installed within a road of the State Highway System at the request of a law enforcement agency. Such installation must be in accordance with FDOT's placement and installation guidelines. By statute, FDOT may require any ALPR to be removed with 30 days' notice to the requesting law enforcement agency.

FDOT authorized the installation of ALPRs within the State Highway System throughout the State, including within Leon County. However, on August 31, 2026, FDOT issued a memorandum expressing concern with the exponential increase in ALPR deployments in the State Highway System coupled with reports of misuse, data privacy concerns, and surveillance schemes (Attachment #1). Through that memorandum, FDOT exercised its discretion and revoked all ALPR approvals to local law enforcement agencies and required such local agencies to remove their ALPRs from the State Highway System within 30 days. The memorandum stated that the FDOT will not approve future ALPR requests. The memorandum is limited to local law enforcement agencies.

The County exercises control over County roads, and several ALPRs have been installed within County ROW. The Board's Real Estate Policy (Policy No. 16-5) provides for the care and custody of all County-owned property including the authority to license County-owned real estate and portions of the ROW. Consistent with this authority, staff have been engaged with local and state law enforcement agencies to allow the agencies and their contractors to install ALPRs in County ROW. Initially handled via a ROW permit, it is contemplated that any future authorization to place ALPRs within the ROW would be granted in license agreements that contain requirements modeled from FDOT's placement and installation guidelines. As with the FDOT guidelines, these requirements govern the physical placement and installation of the equipment in the ROW – location, clearances, structural, and traffic-safety specifications – and do not constitute County review, endorsement, or regulation of ALPR technology or its use as a law enforcement tool. The license agreements would grant no permanent rights to the law enforcement agencies or their contractors. It is within the Board's prerogative to limit or prohibit installation of ALPRs within County ROW, which can be accomplished by directing the Administrator to terminate all existing ALPR approvals and to pause or stop future approvals.

Law Enforcement Agencies

The Sheriff is an independently elected constitutional officer directly accountable to the voters. The Sheriff has exclusive authority to administer his agency and is neither generally accountable to the Board for conduct in office nor subject to the Board's direction for fulfillment of his duties. Consequently, although the Board may restrict the placement of ALPRs in County ROW, it cannot otherwise regulate the Sheriff's law enforcement activities. Regardless of Board action, the Sheriff may therefore, among other things, seek authority to place ALPRs in other agencies' ROW and install them in Sheriff's Office vehicles. The County's authority over other law enforcement agencies, including TPD, is similarly limited. The TPD is a department of the City, and the City Commission governs its police department. The County may limit or exclude the TPD's use of ALPRs in County ROW, but the Board cannot otherwise direct or proscribe the work of law enforcement agencies.

The Sheriff and TPD each recently launched public transparency portals to provide community members with a centralized resource to better understand how ALPR technology is used by each agency, while providing access to data related to reads, searches, and hits. The portals also include frequently asked questions to help explain the information presented and provide additional context about the technology and its use. The Sheriff's portal can be found at https://transparency.flocksafety.com/leon-county-fl-so and TPD's portal is located at https://transparency.flocksafety.com/tallahassee-fl-pd.

After launching the public transparency portal, the Sheriff announced on August 31, 2026, that he will suspend the use of ALPRs pending further oversight, guidance, or regulation from law enforcement accrediting bodies (Attachment #2). The Sheriff has formally requested the Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation and the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies to establish accreditation standards. As of the date of publication, TPD continues to use ALPRs but, as previously mentioned, the City Commission is once again considering this matter at its September 9, 2026 meeting.

ALPR Data and Public Records Law

ALPR images and data are subject to the Florida Public Records Law, section 119.01, F.S., et seq., which provides a right of access to the records of state and local government and to private entities acting on their behalf, and imposes duties regarding access, maintenance, storage, protection, and retention of such public records. The Florida Public Records Law preempts local governments from legislating in that area.

Although ALPR images and data are public records, many of them are confidential and exempt from disclosure. Specifically, section 316.0777(3), F.S., provides: "The following information held by an agency is confidential and exempt from s. 119.07(1) and s. 24(a), Art. I of the State Constitution: (a) Images and data containing or providing personal identifying information obtained through use of an automated license plate recognition system. (b) Personal identifying information of an individual in data generated or resulting from images obtained through the use of an automated license plate recognition system." The custodian of these public records must provide safeguards to protect the contents of public records from unauthorized remote electronic access or alteration and to prevent the disclosure or modification of those portions of public records which are exempt or confidential. § 119.07(2)(b), F.S. Confidential and exempt ALPR records can only be disclosed to: (a) a criminal justice agency in the performance of the criminal justice agency's official duties; and (b) information relating to a license plate registered to an individual may be disclosed to the individual unless the information constitutes active criminal intelligence information or active criminal investigation information. § 316.0777(4), F.S.

Personal identifying information (PII) is not specifically defined in section 316.0777, F.S. However, the Criminal and Juvenile Justice Information Systems Council (CJJIS Council) has provided guidance to law enforcement agencies. The CJJIS Council was statutorily created and provides statewide oversight of justice information systems and data while developing plans and policies to facilitate the coordination of information sharing and interoperability and ensuring appropriate access and security. The CJJIS makes recommendations to guide state and local agencies. In 2024 the CJJIS Council developed Guidelines for the Use of Automated License Plate Readers (Attachment #3) to provide direction to law enforcement agencies in Florida regarding the use of ALPRs and associated data. The CJJIS Council's guidelines define PII as information that can be used to distinguish or trace an individual's identity, either alone or when combined with other personal or identifying information that is linked or linkable to a specific individual. PII includes names, gender, race, date of birth, photographs, addresses, social security numbers, driver's license numbers, or biometric data.

In addition to these data protections, section 316.0777, F.S. states that records containing images and data generated using an ALPR can only be retained for a limited period and must then be destroyed. In addition, section 316.0778, F.S. tasked the Florida Department of State, in consultation with the Florida Department of Law Enforcement, to develop a retention schedule for records containing images and data generated using an ALP. The custodian of these records must retain them until obsolete, superseded, or administrative value is lost, but no longer than 3 anniversary years unless required to be retained under another record series per Rule 1B-24.003(1)(b), Florida Administrative Code.

Staff was unable to identify any caselaw specifically addressing the public records elements of ALPR data as this is a relatively new area, but the law applies to state and local records as well as private entities acting on behalf of public agencies. Under existing law, these public records must be maintained and protected, and the public has a right of access unless those records are exempt or confidential.

Legislative Priorities

Laws regulating the use of ALPRs have been proposed and, in some instances, adopted on the federal, state, and local levels. Legislation is most effective when it directly regulates the conduct of the various law enforcement agencies, which the County generally cannot do. Among other things, legislation can limit the use of ALPRs on public property to law enforcement agencies, place limits on access to ALPR data, address data retention, require law enforcement agencies to develop policies regarding ALPRs, require warrants or at least an open case code to search ALPR databases, and outright prohibit ALPRs on public property.

Although federal and state legislation may broadly regulate the use of ALPRs, in Florida local governments that do not have a law enforcement component have limited regulatory authority over this area. Locally, the County may regulate and even exclude the use of ALPRs within its ROW, but the County does not otherwise have jurisdiction over the State Highway System or City streets, nor can the County direct the activities or conduct of law enforcement agencies, including the Sheriff and TPD. The Board may wish to add a state legislative policy priority, directly or through the Florida Association of Counties, to encourage the Legislature to further regulate this area and establish statewide standards.

Options:

1. Accept the status report on the Board's legal purview and oversight options regarding the use of automated license plate recognition systems and take no further action.
2. Accept the status report on the Board's legal purview and oversight options regarding the use of automated license plate recognition systems and authorize the County Administrator to revise the Real Estate Policy (Policy No. 16-5) to prohibit the installation and use of automated license plate recognition systems on County property, including rights-of-way, subject to review and revision by the County Attorney; and, direct staff to initiate the termination and removal process for existing automated license plate recognition systems on County property and rights-of-way.
3. Do not accept the status report on the Board's legal purview and oversight options regarding the use of automated license plate recognition systems.
4. Board direction.

ENGINEERING AND OPERATIONS MEMORANDUM NO. 26-01

DATE: August 31, 2026

TO: Local Agency Permitholders

FROM: Will Watts, P.E., Chief Operating Officer, Assistant Secretary

COPIES: State Agency Officials
Rudy Powell, P.E., Chief Engineer of Operations

SUBJECT: Revocation of General Use Permits for Automated License Plate Readers

The purpose of this memorandum is to notify local law enforcement agencies of updates related to the Florida Department of Transportation's (Department) authority regarding the placement or use of automated license plate recognition systems (LPR) within the right of way of a road on the State Highway System by local agencies.

Automated License Plate Recognition Systems (LPR)

Pursuant to s. 316.0777, Florida Statutes, FDOT is provided with broad authority to approve or deny a local law enforcement agency's request to place a LPR within the right-of-way of a road on the State Highway System—and the authority to remove such at the Department's discretion.

While Florida law limits the issuance of permits for LPR systems to law enforcement agencies, the recent exponential increase in deployments along our roadways, coupled with concerning reports of misuse, data privacy concerns, and surveillance schemes merit immediate action to preserve Floridians' sovereignty and quality of life.

Active Permits

Approvals for the placement of assets in state rights-of-way by the Department are considered temporary in nature. As such, all LPR-related LPR related approvals issued by the Department to a local law enforcement agency are hereby revoked and must be removed by the permittee within 30 days of the date of this memorandum. If such removal has not occurred within the 30-day period, the Department will remove any remaining devices subject to this memorandum.

To that end, nothing in this memorandum prevents or restricts the Department from immediately removing any individual LPR device that is an immediate safety concern or that is causing an unsafe condition.

Discontinuance of All Future LPR Placement Requests

Further, as of the date of this memorandum, the Department will use its discretionary authority to cease the issuance of all future requests for LPR systems within its jurisdictional authority.

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Sheriff Walt McNeil Suspends LCSO Use of License Plate Recognition Technology Pending Additional Oversight

Effective immediately, Sheriff Walt McNeil has directed the Leon County Sheriff's Office to suspend its use of automated license plate recognition technology pending further oversight, guidance or regulation from law enforcement accrediting bodies.

The decision follows Sheriff McNeil's formal request to the Commission for Florida Law Enforcement Accreditation and the Commission on Accreditation for Law Enforcement Agencies to establish accreditation standards requiring agencies using license plate recognition technology to regularly audit system use and publicly report audit findings.

"License plate recognition technology has proven to be a valuable law enforcement tool, helping investigators solve crimes, locate missing and endangered persons, recover stolen vehicles and identify suspects who might otherwise be difficult to find," Sheriff McNeil said. "However, the value of this technology does not eliminate our responsibility to ensure it is used appropriately and with strong safeguards in place."

"Until additional oversight and accountability measures are established, I believe suspending our use of this technology is the responsible course of action," McNeil said. "Public safety and public trust must go hand in hand."

The Leon County Sheriff's Office will continue to work with accreditation partners and monitor developing standards and guidance regarding the appropriate use, auditing and oversight of license plate recognition technology.

Guidelines for the Use of Automated License Plate Readers

Revised and Approved by the CJJIS Council on November 13, 2024

Executive Summary

Automated license plate reader (ALPR) technology is being used by law enforcement agencies throughout the nation. Many Florida law enforcement agencies have acquired, or are planning to acquire, ALPR technology. ALPRs assist law enforcement agencies in detection, identification and recovery of stolen vehicles, wanted persons, missing and/or endangered children/adults, and persons who have committed serious and violent crimes. ALPR data can help detectives develop and pursue leads in criminal investigations by assisting in locating suspects, witnesses, and victims by identifying vehicles in the vicinity at the time of the crime.

An ALPR scans, captures, and compares optical license plate information to vehicles associated with crimes or criminals. A match to a license plate results in an alert that notifies law enforcement officers. ALPRs can also store the digital image of the license plate, the time, date, location of the image capture, and the capturing camera information. Stored ALPR data does not include any Personal Identifying Information (PII) of individuals associated with the license plate. Obtaining persons associated with license plate information requires a separate, legally authorized, inquiry to another restricted-access database. Stored data can be used as part of a criminal investigation to determine the location of a known vehicle. An example is when stored LPR data is used to locate a potential route of travel of a vehicle during an AMBER Alert

In the interest of being good stewards and balancing policy and privacy, the Criminal and Juvenile Justice Information Systems (CJJIS) Council, acting pursuant to Section 943.08, Florida Statutes (2013), will issue and adopt uniform statewide guidelines to ensure that ALPRs are used in accordance with substantive procedural safeguards that balance public safety needs and privacy rights.

1. Purpose

a. The purpose of these Guidelines is to provide direction to law enforcement agencies in Florida regarding the use of their ALPRs and ALPR data. These Guidelines are intended to ensure that ALPRs and ALPR-generated data are used only in a manner that is lawful and serves the public interest and fulfill criminal investigative and intelligence needs.

b. These Guidelines should be interpreted and applied to achieve the following objectives:

- the extract stored into the internal memory of an ALPR consists only of information as a result of the license plate capture, such as the image of the license plate, the optical character recognition rendition of the license plate number, the date/time and location of the capture;

- agencies establish protocols for handling alerts to the extracts and that officers respond in accordance with their agency's policies.

- searching of stored ALPR data is conducted only by authorized persons in furtherance of an active investigation with the safeguarding of individuals' privacy being of paramount concern;

- ALPR data is stored and purged in a defined and secure manner so as to mitigate any potential misuse and improper disclosure of such data.

c. These Guidelines are encouraged for all Florida law enforcement agencies operating under the authority of the laws of the state of Florida that own or operate one or more ALPRs, collect and maintain ALPR data, or receive or are provided access to ALPR data collected by another agency. However, all law enforcement agencies must comply with Florida Statutes governing the use of ALPR data.

2. Policy

a. Every Florida law enforcement agency that uses or possesses an ALPR should implement and enforce a policy that regulates the operation and use of ALPRs and the use, storage, access, and retention of ALPR data. The policy should be consistent with these Guidelines. Specifically, the chief executive will designate appropriate agency personnel to be responsible for administering and overseeing the agency's ALPR program. A designee should be required to ensure that civilian and sworn personnel authorized to use an ALPR or access its data receive proper training in conformity with agency policy, state law, and these Guidelines.

b. ALPRs and data generated by ALPRs shall be used only for a criminal justice purpose.

c. ALPR Scanning Limited to Vehicles Exposed to Public View

- An ALPR may be used only to scan vehicle license plates affixed to public view (i.e., plates of vehicles traveling or parked on any street or highway or other public property, or visible from a place or location at which a law enforcement officer is lawfully present.)

d. Supervisory Approval of ALPR Deployment and Use

- ALPR system use shall be authorized by the chief executive of the agency or his/her designee.

- Authorization may be given for repeated or continuous deployment of an ALPR (e.g., mounting the device on a particular law enforcement vehicle, or positioning the ALPR at a specific stationary location), in which case the authorization shall remain in force and effect unless and until rescinded or modified by the chief executive or his/her designee.

e. Only trained members of a criminal justice agency who are authorized by the chief executive may operate an ALPR

f. Criminal Justice Agency personnel may access or use ALPR stored data only if the person has been designated as an authorized user by the chief executive of the agency or designee, and has been trained by the agency on the proper use of ALPR data.

g. ALPR data may be disclosed by or to a criminal justice agency in the performance of the criminal justice agency's official duties. Any such information relating to a license plate registered to an individual may be disclosed to the individual, unless such information constitutes active criminal intelligence information or active criminal investigative information.

h. ALPR data must be safeguarded in accordance with Florida Statute 316.0777.

3. Definitions and Acronyms

Definitions

a. Automated license plate recognition system. A system of one or more mobile or fixed high-speed cameras combined with computer algorithms to convert images of license plates into computer-readable data.

b. Extract. The files extracted from sources of license plate information such as the Florida Crime Information Center (FCIC) and National Crime Information Center (NCIC) "Hot Files," and DHSMV records including, but not limited to, the expired tag file, expired license file, and sanctioned driver file. The extracted information from the files is considered CJI, and, therefore, the security of the extract should conform to the FBI CJIS Security Policy (CJISSECPOL).

c. Personal identifying information (PII). Information that can be used to distinguish or trace an individual's identity, either alone or when combined with other personal or identifying information that is linked or linkable to a specific individual. PII includes names, gender, race, date of birth, photographs, addresses, social security numbers, driver's license numbers, or biometric data.

Acronyms

a. ALPR – Automated License Plate Reader (system)

b. CJJIS – Florida Criminal and Juvenile Justice Information Systems (council)

c. CJI – Criminal Justice Information

d. CJIS – Criminal Justice Information Services, a Division of FDLE

e. CJISSECPOL – FBI CJIS Security Policy

f. DHSMV – Florida Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles (agency)

g. FCIC – Florida Crime Information Center (system)

h. FDLE – Florida Department of Law Enforcement (agency)

i. NCIC – National Crime Information Center (system)

j. PII – Personal Identifiable Information

4. Management

a. Strategic Alignment: Agencies deploying ALPR systems should describe in agency policy how the technology aligns and furthers the agency's strategic and tactical deployment objectives.

b. Objectives and Performance: Agencies need to clearly define the objectives for the use of ALPR systems, such as recovery of stolen vehicles, identification of vehicles used in the commission of a crime, etc. and a general strategy for assessing performance and compliance with the agency's policy.

c. Ownership: The hardware and software licenses associated with the ALPR system is the property of the agency, regardless of whether it has been purchased, leased, or acquired as a service, and that all deployments of an ALPR system are for official use only (FOUO). All data captured, stored, generated, or otherwise produced by an ALPR system are the property of the collecting agency, regardless where the data are housed or stored.

d. Classification of Data: ALPR data is protected under Florida Statute 316.0777, whether the data is captured, stored, generated, or otherwise produced by an ALPR system

e. Privacy Impact: ALPR data is protected under Florida Statute 316.0777. Additionally, the International Association of Chiefs of Police published the Privacy Impact Assessment report for the utilization of license plate readers, September 2009. Agencies deploying ALPR systems need to consider the privacy risks outlined in this report and include in the ALPR policy, a privacy mitigation strategy that safeguards against potential misuse.

5. Operations

a. Installation, Maintenance, and Support: Agencies shall require regular maintenance, support, upgrades, calibration, and refreshes of an ALPR system to ensure that it functions properly.

b. Deployment: ALPR system use shall be authorized by the chief executive of the agency or his/her designee.

c. Training: Agencies shall require training or other documented proficiency of all personnel who will be managing, maintaining, and/or using an ALPR system. Training should cover privacy protections on the use of the technology, and the impact and sanctions for potential violations.

d. Operational Use: Specific operational factors that must be addressed in deployment and use of an ALPR system:

- The operator should:
  - Verify that the system has correctly "read" the license plate characters
  - Verify the state of issue of the license plate
  - If the vehicle hits against an extract record, verify that the record that triggered the alert is still active in the state or NCIC stolen vehicle or other file, and confirm the hit with the entering agency

- Recognize that the driver of the vehicle may not be the registered owner.

e. Recordkeeping: Agencies should require recordkeeping practices that document all deployments of the ALPR system, including who authorized the deployment; how, when, and where the ALPR system was deployed; results of deployments; and any exceptions. Recordkeeping will support efforts to properly manage ALPR system implementation, ensure compliance with agency policies, enable transparency of operations, enable appropriate auditing review, and help document business benefits realization.

6. Data Collection, Access, Use, and Retention

a. Collection: ALPR data will be collected as a by-product of the active scanning of license plates that are compared with the downloaded extract, searched as part of a criminal investigation or in furtherance of a criminal justice purpose. This data is collected by both mobile and fixed ALPR cameras in the same manner. The data is stored in the ALPR system's database. The ALPR database typically contains the image of the license plate, the optical character recognition rendition of the license plate number, the date/time and location of the capture. If additional information is captured and stored, it shall be defined in the agency's policy document. ALPR data will be stored, purged, destroyed or deleted in accordance with Florida Statute 316.0778.

b. Access and Use: ALPR data will be available to Law Enforcement Agency personnel for the tactical enforcement of state statutes for example, identification of a stolen vehicle. ALPR data will be available to Criminal Justice Agency personnel for the purposes of conducting ongoing or continuing criminal investigations and for the purposes of active criminal intelligence operations. Access to ALPR data is authorized by the chief executive of the agency or his/her designee.

c. Information Sharing: ALPR data captured and stored may be shared with other Criminal Justice Agencies for the purposes of conducting ongoing or continuing criminal investigations and for the purposes of active criminal intelligence operations. Agencies shall record the dissemination of ALPR data and notify the recipient of the applicable Florida statutes regarding the privacy restrictions and retention schedules for ALPR data. The sharing of ALPR data shall be authorized by the chief executive of the agency or his/her designee and may be part of a standing order.

d. Security: ALPR systems that do not utilize the Extract or perform secondary capture of PII or CJI do not need to conform to the CJISSECPOL. If an ALPR system utilizes the Extract or performs secondary queries of state and national systems that access PII or CJI, then it shall conform to the CJISSECPOL. ALPR systems will need to provide user level access based on the role of the person accessing the system (i.e. criminal investigation or criminal intelligence) to ensure the integrity of the systems and confidentiality of the data. The ALPR system shall be sufficiently designed to minimize the compromise, unauthorized access or use, destruction, modification, or unintended or inappropriate disclosure of data.

e. Data Retention and Use: ALPR data shall be retained in accordance with Florida Statute 316.0778. ALPR data that are part of an ongoing or continuing investigation and information that is gathered and retained without specific suspicion may be retained for no longer than 3 anniversary years. Access to ALPR data for criminal investigation or intelligence purposes is limited to authorized Criminal Justice Agency personnel for no longer than 3 anniversary years and requires an agency case number or case name and logging of access. Data captured, stored, generated, or otherwise produced shall be accessible in the ALPR system for 30 days for tactical use.

7. Oversight, Evaluation, Auditing, and Enforcement

a. Oversight: Agencies shall maintain records documenting ALPR use, or ALPR data access and use, whether kept manually or by means of an automated record-keeping system. Agencies shall document in policy a reporting mechanism and a protocol to regularly monitor the use and deployment of ALPR systems to ensure strategic alignment and assessment of policy compliance.

b. Evaluation: Agencies shall annually assess the overall performance of the ALPR system so that it can:

- identify whether a technology is performing effectively;
- identify operational factors that may impact performance effectiveness and/or efficiency;
- identify data quality issues;
- assess the business value and calculate return on investment of a technology; and
- ensure proper technology refresh planning.

c. Auditing: Agencies shall document in policy the manner in which audits will be conducted to include all access to data captured, stored, generated, or otherwise produced by the ALPR to ensure that only authorized users are accessing the ALPR data and establish an annual audit schedule.

d. Enforcement: Agencies shall establish procedures for enforcement if users are suspected of being or have been found to be in noncompliance with the Agency's ALPR policy.

Lead Staff / Project Team:	Charles Wu, Director, Engineering Services Melanie Hooley, Director, Purchasing Tim Barden, Administrative Services Manager

Statement of Issue:

This item seeks Board direction to defer the School Zone Speed Detection and Enforcement Program contract award and execution, pending resolution of litigation challenging the constitutionality of camera-enforced school zone speed enforcement.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has no fiscal impact.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Defer the School Zone Speed Detection and Enforcement Program contract award and execution, pending resolution of litigation challenging the constitutionality of camera-enforced school zone speed enforcement.

Report and Discussion

Background:

This item seeks Board direction to defer the School Zone Speed Detection and Enforcement Program contract award and execution, pending resolution of litigation challenging the constitutionality of camera-enforced school zone speed enforcement.

On October 14, 2025, the Board adopted Ordinance No. 2025-12 establishing a School Zone Speed Enforcement Program to enhance safety in designated school zones through the use of speed detection systems, now codified in Chapter 17, Article IV of the LCC. The code authorizes the use of automated enforcement consistent with Florida Statutes.

On April 14, 2026, the Board approved the draft Request for Proposals for the School Zone Speed Detection and Enforcement Program in conjunction with approval of an interlocal agreement between the County and the Leon County Sheriff's Office to support implementation of the program with the selected qualified vendor.

On April 17, 2026, RFP BC-2026-004 was issued, notifying 9,859 vendors through the County's legal notices and the OpenGov Procurement system. The County received six responsive proposals by May 2, 2026. In accordance with the Leon County Purchasing Policy, a three-member evaluation committee reviewed and ranked the proposals; Redspeed Florida, LLC was determined to be the highest ranked respondent and a notice of intended decision to award to Redspeed was posted on June 16, 2026.

Analysis:

Implementation of school zone speed detection and enforcement programs has been met with legal challenges in other Florida jurisdictions, and the County Attorney's Office has continued to monitor cases in this area. In a challenge to a red-light camera program with procedures similar to school zone speed enforcement, a Broward County judge found that Section 316.0083, Florida Statutes, is unconstitutional, ruling that it impermissibly shifts the burden of proof onto the registered owner of the vehicle to disprove guilt, rather than requiring the government to prove who was operating the vehicle at the time of the offense. As a result of this ruling, the Board of County Commissioners of Okaloosa County adopted a resolution banning red light and speed detection systems within Okaloosa County, and the Palm Beach County Commission voted to deny approval of a similar ordinance pending resolution of the litigation.

The County Attorney's Office notes that the Broward County case is currently under appeal at the Fourth District Court of Appeal, Case No. 4D2026-1207, and any decision finding the statute unconstitutional is subject to mandatory review by the Supreme Court. It is uncertain when the appellate court will render a decision or what its scope will be; however, the appellate court's opinion and any subsequent Supreme Court decision will very likely impact whether the County's school speed zone enforcement program is constitutional. It is anticipated that alleged violators will continue to raise similar constitutional challenges in other jurisdictions currently operating a school speed zone enforcement program until this issue is finally resolved.

Given the pending litigation and the approach taken by other Florida jurisdictions facing the same constitutional question, staff recommends the Board defer the award and execution of the contract until the litigation is resolved. Under this option, the contract award and execution would be deferred pending resolution of the litigation challenging the constitutionality of camera-enforced school zone speed enforcement, with the recommended award to Redspeed Florida, LLC, withheld until that time. The County Attorney's Office will continue to monitor the legal proceedings, and staff will return to the Board with an update and recommendation once the legal issues have been resolved.

Options:

1. Defer the School Zone Speed Detection and Enforcement Program contract award and execution, pending resolution of litigation challenging the constitutionality of camera-enforced school zone speed enforcement.
2. Notwithstanding the pending litigation, award the contract to Redspeed Florida, LLC, for the School Zone Speed Detection and Enforcement Program (Attachment #1) and authorize the County Administrator to execute the agreement and any amendments or associated agreements thereto, subject to legal review by the County Attorney.
3. Reject all bids/responses and do not proceed with the School Zone Speed Detection and Enforcement Program.
4. Board direction.

Title: Consideration of a Leon County Tourism Program to Promote Partnerships with Local Colleges and Universities to Host Large Marquee Events

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Mathieu Cavell, Director, Community Relations & Resilience
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Kerri L. Post, Director, Division of Tourism Scott Lindeman, Senior Marketing Manager Taylor Wheaton, Senior Sports Sales Manager Jonathan LaBarre, Senior Operations Manager

Statement of Issue:

As requested by the Board, this item provides a framework to establish the "Incentive for Marquee event Partnerships At Colleges/Universities for Tourism" (IMPACT) Program to host large marquee events with local colleges and universities to drive significant tourism visibility and economic impact in Leon County, and seeks authorization to finalize and memorialize the IMPACT Program in County Policy to be brought back to the Board for formal adoption on December 8, 2026.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has a fiscal impact. A Budget Amendment is provided for Board approval to allocate $250,000 from available Fiscal Year (FY) 2026 Tourism fund balance to support the Program in FY 2027 (Attachment #1). As proposed, awards are capped at $50,000 per event, consistent with existing Tourism Grant Programs and to allow the County to support multiple major events per fiscal year. All funds are performance-based and disbursed following a post-event audit of deliverables.

Staff Recommendation:

Provided on the following page.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Direct staff to finalize the IMPACT Program to host large marquee events with local colleges and universities including the venue eligibility criteria, seating capacity matrices, out-of-market visitor metrics, repeat event performance standards, and marketing reimbursement guidelines for consideration by the Tourist Development Council, and bring back a formal policy for Board adoption to implement the IMPACT Program.

Option #2: Approve the Resolution and associated Budget Amendment (Attachment #1) providing $250,000 from Tourist Development Tax revenue contingent upon and effective after the Board's adoption of an updated Leon County Tourist Development Plan in Sec. 11-710, Leon County Code (Agenda Item #33), the updates of which would allow for the IMPACT Program as proposed.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As requested by the Board, this item provides a framework to establish the "Incentive for Marquee event Partnerships At Colleges/Universities for Tourism" (IMPACT) Program to host large marquee events with local colleges and universities to drive significant tourism visibility and economic impact in Leon County, and seeks authorization to finalize and memorialize the IMPACT Program in County Policy to be brought back to the Board for formal adoption on December 8, 2026. The program would attract large-scale marquee events at Florida State University (FSU), Florida A&M University (FAMU) and Tallahassee State College (TSC) that generate tourism and economic activity in Leon County.

The establishment of the IMPACT Program advances the following FY 2022 – FY 2026 Strategic Initiative and Bold Goal:

- Explore opportunities to attract Top 100 Billboard artists for concerts and performances at various local venues throughout the year. (2025-8)
- Grow the five-year tourism economy to $5 billion. (BG1)

This Strategic Initiative and Bold Goal aligns with the Board's Economy Strategic Priority:

- (EC4) Grow our tourism economy, its diversity, competitiveness, and economic impact.

As the official Destination Marketing Organization (DMO) for our community, the Leon County Division of Tourism has a history of attracting and supporting large-scale events at local collegiate venues that generate significant tourism and economic activity. Previous events include the FSU Doak After Dark program from 2016 through 2022; the Rock the Roost concert featuring Luke Bryan at TSC in 2022; and the Florida High School Athletic Association (FHSAA) Football State Championships hosted at FAMU in 2023.

More recently, FSU expanded the use of Doak S. Campbell Stadium for major nontraditional events, demonstrating the significant tourism potential of local collegiate venues. In February 2026, the three-day Savannah Bananas event generated an estimated $10.1 million in economic impact for Leon County, with ticket sales spanning 48 states and Washington, D.C. The County Tourism Division invested $50,000 to support FSU's bid to host the Banana's 2026 season-opener event, resulting in nearly half of attendees (48.7%) traveling more than 50 miles. In March 2026, FSU also hosted the two-day Professional Bull Riders (PBR) "Unleash The Beast" tour, accompanied by headlining concerts featuring Miranda Lambert and Jon Pardi, which generated over $2.5 million in estimated economic impact for Leon County. These events generated significant hotel room nights, increased revenue gains across the dining and retail sectors, and increased visibility for Tallahassee-Leon County, demonstrating the tourism value associated with attracting marquee events to collegiate venues.

At the July 14, 2026 meeting, the Board requested an agenda item to consider establishment of a dedicated funding program to attract and support large-scale events at collegiate facilities and venues that drive significant tourism visibility and economic impact in Leon County. A strategic opportunity exists in incentivizing marquee, large attendance events, and/or multi-day events to utilize local collegiate facilities, particularly during shoulder seasons and other off-peak travel periods. Unlike regularly scheduled collegiate athletics or other recurring campus programming, marquee events are one-time, time-sensitive events that present unique opportunities to attract significant out-of-market attendance, generate overnight visitation, and provide substantial regional or national exposure for the destination. These include large-scale concerts and festivals, as well as exhibition or championship sporting events.

As detailed in the Analysis section, the proposed IMPACT Program would provide performance-based incentives for qualifying entertainment, sporting, and cultural events hosted at FSU, FAMU, and TSC facilities. The IMPACT program would be allocated $250,000 in Tourist Development Tax (TDT) revenues annually, with individual maximum awards in the amount of $50,000 per event allowing the County to support multiple major events per fiscal year. The maximum award amount is also consistent with other existing Tourism Grant programs as well as the County's investment in the three-day Savannah Banana event earlier this year.

Should the Board choose to proceed with the IMPACT Program and proposed annual funding allocation, implementation of the program would also require an update to the Leon County Tourist Development Plan in the Leon County Code. Therefore, during the September 15, 2026 meeting, the Board will also conduct a public hearing (Agenda Item #33) to amend the Tourist Development Plan to include the establishment of the "Targeted Tourism Industry Sector Incentive Programs" category which would authorize the County's TDT revenues be utilized for performance-based incentive programs, such as the proposed IMPACT Program.

Analysis:

To support the Board's consideration of the IMPACT Program, the Analysis provides a high-level summary of how other Florida counties currently utilize TDT revenues to fund large-scale events; an overview of the proposed IMPACT Program; details on proposed eligibility criteria and performance metrics; and a timeline for implementation of the program.

Comparison of Local Structures for Funding Large-Scale Events

Pursuant to the Board's direction, staff evaluated potential event funding frameworks, eligibility and attendance thresholds, performance measures, and comparable incentive programs to develop a framework tailored to Leon County. Across the state, counties use a variety of approaches to attract and support large-scale events that generate visitation, overnight stays, and destination exposure. Staff reviewed comparable programs that support large-scale events using TDT revenue to serve as relevant precedents for the proposed IMPACT Program. Two relevant examples include:

- Miami Beach Visitor and Convention Authority (VCA) Major Events Grant Program: The VCA uses TDT revenues to support marquee events that generate significant destination visibility and tourism activity. The program places particular emphasis on the promotional reach of an event, requiring applicants to satisfy at least two of three performance metrics: 1.5 million media impressions, 1.5 million broadcast viewers, or 250+ confirmed hotel room nights. Funding is disbursed following the event and verification of required performance measures, including media exposure, viewership, and hotel room pickup.

- Pinellas County Elite Event Funding Program: Pinellas County allocates TDT revenues annually through a tiered program designed to attract major tourism-generating events. Applications are competitively evaluated based on factors including marketing value, projected attendance, sponsorship opportunities, off-peak timing, and event history. Funding is provided as a post-event reimbursement following verification of marketing deliverables, destination exposure, and attendee origin data.

Across these programs and consistent with state law, common accountability mechanisms include maximum awards; tourism-centric deliverables; hotel room night generation; and post-event verification before disbursement. As described further in the following section, these accountability mechanisms were incorporated in the proposed IMPACT program structure.

Proposed IMPACT Program Structure

The proposed IMPACT Program would provide performance-based incentives to attract large-scale marquee events to eligible collegiate venues at FSU, FAMU, and TSC that generate measurable tourism benefits for Leon County. The IMPACT Program is designed to target high-profile, entertainment, sporting, and cultural events that represent large one-time, time-sensitive, new tourism opportunities for Leon County, available throughout the year (or until the funds are depleted). Qualifying events would be expected to attract significant out-of-market attendance, generate overnight stays, and provide regional or national exposure for Leon County as a premier event destination. Examples could include major touring artists and entertainment, championship or exhibition sporting events, large-scale concerts and festivals, and other multi-day events capable of drawing visitors to the destination. If an event receives IMPACT funding and becomes a returning or regularly scheduled event, event organizers would be encouraged to apply for a Tourism Event Grant.

Local collegiate campuses host regularly scheduled athletic competitions, academic conferences, and other institutional programming and events throughout the year. The IMPACT Program would not provide funding for these on-going annual or regularly scheduled activities, which generally generate more localized interest and offer limited opportunities to attract sustained out-of-market visitation, generate overnight stays, or showcase Leon County as a tourism destination. Currently, many of these forms of campus events already participate in the established Tourism Event Grant Programs.

For the IMPACT Program, an annual allocation of $250,000 in TDT revenues is recommended with maximum individual incentive awards of $50,000 per event. Awards would be based on event attendance, marketing visibility generated by the event, and its anticipated tourism impact. The $50,000 award maximum allows the County to support multiple major events per fiscal year. The maximum award amount is also consistent with other existing Tourism Grant programs as well as the County's investment in the three-day Savannah Bananas event earlier this year. In addition to the financial incentive, the Division of Tourism would integrate IMPACT-awarded events across all Tourism marketing platforms (i.e., website, print, social media, etc.) to increase visibility and destination exposure for greater visitor awareness and attraction.

Proposed IMPACT Program Eligibility and Performance Metrics

The Division of Tourism is developing the IMPACT Program Guidelines that incorporate the following eligibility criteria and performance metrics which would be memorialized upon formal Board adoption at its meeting on December 8, 2026:

- Eligible Venues. To ensure public TDT dollars incentivize new marquee tourism event creation rather than supplementing routine or regularly scheduled collegiate programming, eligible events must be hosted at qualifying facilities owned and operated by Leon County's collegiate partners, including, but not limited to:
  - FSU: Doak S. Campbell Stadium, Dick Howser Stadium, Donald L. Tucker Civic Center, Langford Green, FSU Main Campus Intramural Fields, and FSU Rec SportsPlex.
  - FAMU: Bragg Memorial Stadium, Alfred Lawson Jr. Multipurpose Center, and campus athletic fields.
  - TSC: Bill Hebrock Eagledome and TSC Intramural Fields.
- Eligible Events and Required Performance Measures. To qualify for funding, an event must demonstrate the potential to generate significant out-of-market visitation, overnight stays, and destination exposure for Leon County. Eligible events must also include substantial out-of-market marketing and provide opportunities to promote Tallahassee-Leon County to regional or national audiences. Priority would be given to events held during shoulder seasons and other off-peak travel periods. However, it is important to note that the Tourism Development Council (TDC) establishes annual blackout dates for TDT-funded event support if a high-demand event is already scheduled that is projected to fill existing hotel room and vacation rental inventory.

  Specifically, to qualify for and receive incentive funding, events must meet the following required performance measures:
  - Out-of-Market Attendance: At least 20% of total ticket purchasers or participants must originate from outside a 50-mile radius of Leon County (verified via box office zip-code audits).
  - Lodging Impact: Events must generate documented and trackable hotel room nights at lodging properties within Leon County.
  - Off-Peak Scheduling: Priority would be given to events held during shoulder seasons and other off-peak travel periods, including summer months, non-home football weekends, and academic breaks.
- Tiered Seating Capacity & Attendance Metrics. To ensure TDT revenues are directed toward events that maximize venue scale to generate significant tourism activity, the program would establish two funding tiers based on projected attendance and anticipated tourism impact:
  - Tier 1 (Max Awards of $50,000): Tier 1 events will include large-scale events which demonstrate projected single-day attendance of at least 30,000 attendees or cumulative multi-day attendance of at least 20,000 attendees, as well as at least 2,000 verified hotel room nights.

- Tier 2 (Max Awards of $25,000): Events must demonstrate projected single-day or cumulative multi-day attendance of at least 10,000 attendees, and at least 1,000 verified hotel room nights.

- Tourism-Weighted Evaluation. Event evaluation would emphasize projected out-of-market attendance and hotel room-night generation, the scale and reach of committed out-of-market marketing, Leon County Tourism/Visit Tallahassee co-branding and destination visibility, and the event's overall potential to generate measurable tourism activity in Leon County.

- Performance-Based Disbursement. Incentive funding would be provided as a single post-event reimbursement, with no advance payments. Every funded event must satisfy established performance measures, including verified out-of-market marketing, attendee audits, documented hotel room-night generation, and Leon County Tourism/Visit Tallahassee co-branding. Funds would be disbursed only after the event has concluded and the Division of Tourism verifies that all required performance measures and eligible expenditures have been satisfied. This structure ensures that TDT revenues are not disbursed until the event demonstrates the tourism outcomes required under the Program. Failure to satisfy the required performance measures would result in a reduction or forfeiture of the approved incentive, as provided in the finalized Program guidelines executed and funding agreement.

- Recognized Categories of Qualifying Expenditure. Consistent with Section 125.0104(5)(a)3., Florida Statutes, incentive funding would be limited to qualifying expenditures associated with securing and hosting an eligible event. Required tourism marketing, co-branding, and promotional activities would serve as conditions of funding rather than reimbursable expenses under the Program. General corporate overhead, marketing or advertising expenses incurred by the collegiate institution, and undocumented or unverifiable costs would not be eligible for reimbursement.

- Review and Oversight. The Leon County Division of Tourism staff would score applications against the criteria, and report Program activity to the TDC as part of the Council's regular review of tourism expenditures.

Table #1 reflects how the Program would operate at the recommended scale. The details are illustrative and subject to refinement. Final tiers, thresholds, rates and caps will be finalized based on input from the TDC and formal adoption by the Board on December 8, 2026.

Table #1: Proposed Program Tiered Structure

Evaluation Criteria	Tier 1:	Tier 2:
Max. Incentive Award	Up to $50,000	Up to $25,000
Attendance Threshold	30,000+ Single-Day OR 20,000+ Multi-Day Cumulative	10,000+ Single-Day OR Multi-Day Cumulative
Lodging Benchmark	2,000+ Trackable Hotel Room Nights	1,000+ Trackable Hotel Room Nights

Implementation Timeline

This item provides a Budget Amendment to allocate $250,000 from available Fiscal Year (FY) 2026 Tourism fund balance to support the Impact Program immediately upon Board adoption on December 8, 2026. Implementation of the IMPACT Program also requires a public hearing to revise the County's Tourist Development Plan. A separate agenda item (Agenda Item #33) already scheduled for the September 15, 2026 meeting, provides a public hearing to amend the Tourist Development Plan related to the administration and oversight structure for the County's Cultural Tourism Grant programs. The proposed revisions also include the establishment of the "Targeted Tourism Industry Sector Incentive Programs" which would authorize the County's TDT revenues to be utilized for performance-based incentive programs, such as the proposed IMPACT Program.

Staff will finalize the program guidelines (qualifying criteria, scoring methodology, application guidelines, and standard agreement templates) to be presented to the TDC for consideration at its next meeting on November 12, 2026. The IMPACT Program will be brought back to the Board on December 8, 2026 for formal adoption in County policy.

Subsequently, the Division of Tourism will engage with Colleges and Universities on the approved IMPACT program guidelines and application process. Upon receipt of an IMPACT application, staff will review to ensure compliance with the eligibility criteria and program guidelines. Recommendation for funding award would be presented to the TDC for final approval. As presented earlier in the item, funding would be disbursed at the conclusion of the event for cost reimbursement (no advance payments) and require submittal of performance measures (i.e., out-of-market marketing, attendee audits, hotel room-night generation, etc.). The program funding would be included in the Tourism budget through the County's annual budget process in subsequent cycles.

Conclusion

The proposed IMPACT Program would provide a dedicated performance-based incentive to attract large-scale marquee events to collegiate venues at FSU, FAMU, and TSC. By leveraging the capacity of these facilities, the IMPACT Program would provide a new tool for the Division of Tourism and its collegiate partners to compete for high-profile entertainment, sporting, and cultural events that generate out-of-market visitation, hotel room nights, and increased destination exposure for Tallahassee-Leon County.

The recommended annual investment of $250,000 in TDT revenues, with individual incentives capped at $50,000 per event, would be tied to measurable tourism outcomes and provided only after required performance measures are achieved and verified. As described in this agenda item, utilization of TDT for this purpose is contingent upon Board approval of a separate public hearing item (Agenda Item #33) on the County's Tourist Development Plan to establish the "Targeted Tourism Industry Sector Incentive Programs" as an eligible TDT allocation. This would authorize the County's TDT revenues be utilized for performance-based incentive programs, such as the proposed IMPACT Program.

The recommended actions provide the necessary revisions to the County Tourist Development Plan to utilize TDT for performance-based incentive programs (Agenda Item #33), allocate $250,000 in TDT revenues to be immediately available upon the Board's formal adoption of the IMPACT Program, and seeks to finalize the program guidelines at the next TDC meeting to be brought back to the Board on December 8, 2026. Following Board adoption, the Division of Tourism will engage with Colleges and Universities on the approved IMPACT program guidelines and application process. Upon receipt of an IMPACT application, staff will review to ensure compliance with the eligibility criteria and program guidelines. The program performance, economic impact, and budget reconciliations will be reviewed annually by the TDC and through the annual budget development process. The program funding would be included in the Tourism budget through the County's annual budget process in subsequent cycles.

Options:

1. Direct staff to finalize the IMPACT Program to host large marquee events with local colleges and universities including the venue eligibility criteria, seating capacity matrices, out-of-market visitor metrics, repeat event performance standards, and marketing reimbursement guidelines for consideration by the Tourist Development Council, and bring back a formal policy for Board adoption to implement the IMPACT Program.
2. Approve the Resolution and associated Budget Amendment (Attachment #1) providing $250,000 from Tourist Development Tax revenue contingent upon and effective after the Board's adoption of an updated Leon County Tourist Development Plan in Sec. 11-710, Leon County Code (Agenda Item #33), the updates of which would allow for the IMPACT Program as proposed.
3. Do not direct staff to finalize the IMPACT Program to host large marquee events with local colleges and universities.
4. Board direction.

Option #3: Board Direction.

Report and Discussion

Background:

At its July 14, 2026, meeting, the Board requested an agenda item providing options for the placement of a marker on the Leon County Courthouse grounds recognizing Dr. Charles Evans.

Dr. Evans served the community over multiple decades as a FAMU Professor, President of the NAACP, and civil rights advocate. He was trained as a Navy pilot before completing his service as a computer-programming officer, then earned his MBA and PhD from Syracuse University. He arrived in Tallahassee in 1982 and joined Florida A&M University's School of Business and Industry, serving as a full professor and Associate Dean for over thirty years, until 2013.

Alongside his academic work, Dr. Evans held a series of leadership roles within the Tallahassee Branch of the NAACP before being elected its President in 1990, serving 14 years. He also chaired the Education Committee for the Florida State Conference of NAACP Branches from 1989 to 2008. During this period, he brought two lawsuits against the Leon County School District (District): one that initiated the single-member district system for School Board elections, replacing an at-large system that had prevented African American from being elected to the Board until 1990, and another over hiring and promotion inequities within the District. He was also appointed to several state bodies, including the Judicial Council and Physical Therapy Board for the State of Florida, and he contributed to the City of Tallahassee (City) hiring its first Black City Manager and Police Chief in 1997. While Dr. Evans did not serve within the court system, his decades of advocacy reflected a career dedicated to justice and equal access under the law.

The City and the NAACP have each recognized Dr. Evans in ways tied to his work and residence. The City renamed Chapman Pond in his honor in 2020. In May 2026, the City also authorized Circle Drive to be designated as the "Drs. Charles & Connie Evans Honorary Roadway." Both sites are in the Myers Park neighborhood, where the Evans family lived. Separately, in December 2025, the NAACP unveiled a mural at its area headquarters titled "Legacy in Motion," featuring Dr. Evans alongside other civic leaders.

The Florida Civil Rights Museum (FCRM) is a nonprofit organization dedicated to preserving and presenting the history of Florida's civil rights and education pioneers. Its Florida Civil Rights and Education Heritage Trail (Heritage Trail) is one of its initiatives. FCRM's operations are funded through State appropriations. Within its most recent allotment, the Legislature designated $71,000 specifically to support the Heritage Trail's marker initiative. To date, FCRM has released two volumes of the Heritage Trail, featuring places and individuals from across Florida, and has selected approximately a dozen of those featured to receive physical markers, with the potential for future volumes and additional markers. Area markers include one placed by the City at the corner of FAMU Way and Eugenia Street honoring E. Lilyan Spencer, and four placed through the Leon County School Board.

Through the Heritage Trail, FCRM will provide for this marker's design, fabrication, installation, and replacement as needed (Attachment #1). These terms would be governed through a license agreement with FCRM, to be executed following Board approval of the marker's placement.

County Policy 97-3 governs the naming of County-owned spaces, buildings, and structures. Generally, Policy 97-3 allows the Board to recognize individuals for significant contributions to the County based on criteria such as local or state significance, provided the honoree is not currently serving in public office or as a County employee. However, the policy is not applicable to FCRM's request for the placement of a marker as it does not involve naming or renaming any County-owned property.

FCRM's request also differs from a formal historical marker issued through the Florida Division of Historical Resources (DHR). The Division's program designates Official Florida Historical Markers, with Florida Heritage Marker as one category within that designation, used for people, events, and places of local, regional, or statewide significance. Markers under the DHR program are reviewed by the state's Historic Marker Council and require the honoree to have been deceased at least 30 years. Dr. Evans passed in 2013, thirteen years ago. The Heritage Trail is FCRM's own initiative, and the content of the proposed marker was developed by FCRM (Attachment #2).

Analysis:

At the Board's request, staff conducted a review of the Courthouse grounds to identify a suitable placement location for the marker. The grounds host several existing features, including a state historical marker addressing Leon County's founding and early history, a veteran's memorial, a memorial to victims of drunk driving, and way-finding signage. Underground infrastructure – including below-grade parking garage electrical infrastructure and irrigation lines – further limits where a marker's footer can be structurally supported.

Taking these factors into account, along with the need for adequate space for visitors to safely access and read the marker, the northwest corner of the grounds was identified as suitable. This site, which is naturally shaded and proximate to existing seating and walkways, was reviewed in person with a representative of FCRM, who expressed support for the location (Attachment #3).

Should the Board approve the placement of this commemorative marker on the Courthouse grounds, FCRM intends to host an unveiling ceremony within 45 days. FCRM has requested County support for the ceremony in the form of a tent, chairs, and audio equipment.

In summary, staff evaluated the Courthouse grounds – accounting for existing memorials and signage, underground utility and electrical infrastructure, and the need for safe visitor access – and identified the northwest corner as the most suitable location for the marker. Since the request does not seek to name a County structure or property as provided for in Policy 97-3, this item seeks Board direction on placement of a commemorative marker on the Courthouse grounds. Upon Board direction, County Facilities Management will work alongside FCRM on their project's design, fabrication, and installation, ensuring seamless site access and coordination.

The remainder of this page intentionally left blank.

Options:

1. Approve the placement of this commemorative marker at the northwest corner of the Courthouse grounds.
2. Do not approve the placement of this commemorative marker at the northwest corner of the Courthouse grounds.
3. Board direction.

The Honorable Members of the
Leon County Board of County Commissioners
301 South Monroe Street, Leon County Courthouse, 5th Floor
Tallahassee, Florida 32301

Dear Members of the Board of County Commissioners:

On behalf of the Florida Civil Rights Museum, Inc.℠ (FCRM), we extend our sincere appreciation to each of you for your leadership, public service, and continued commitment to the citizens of Leon County.

The Florida Civil Rights Museum respectfully submits for the Board's consideration and support a request to authorize the placement of the official Dr. Charles L. Evans Florida Civil Rights and Education Heritage Trail Historical Marker on the grounds of the Leon County Courthouse.

We believe the Leon County Courthouse is an especially appropriate location to honor a man whose life was devoted to justice, education, public service, civic leadership, and the advancement of constitutional rights.

Dr. Charles Leonard Evans, Sr. devoted his life to advancing education, public service, and community leadership throughout Leon County and the State of Florida. Raised in segregated Durham, North Carolina, he became active in the NAACP as a young man and helped organize student participation in the historic 1963 March on Washington. After graduating as valedictorian of Merrick-Moore High School, he earned a degree in Engineering Mathematics from North Carolina A&T State University before serving his country with distinction as a United States Navy pilot, retiring with the rank of Lieutenant.

Following his military service, Dr. Evans pursued an exceptional professional career, serving as a systems analyst with General Electric before earning both a Master of Business Administration and a Doctor of Philosophy from Syracuse University. In 1982, he joined the faculty of Florida A&M University's School of Business and Industry, where he served for more than thirty years as Professor and Associate Dean. During his distinguished tenure, he mentored thousands of students and helped prepare generations of future business and community leaders.

Beyond academia, Dr. Evans distinguished himself as one of Leon County's foremost community and civic leaders. During his fourteen-year tenure as President of the Tallahassee Branch of the NAACP, he strengthened the organization through visionary leadership, helped secure its first permanent headquarters, authored strategic plans at the state and national levels, expanded voter registration efforts, mentored emerging leaders, and championed numerous historic preservation initiatives.

His influence extended throughout Leon County through his service with numerous civic, educational, religious, and nonprofit organizations, including the FAMU Federal Credit Union Board and Bethel African Methodist Episcopal Church, where he faithfully served as a Trustee and Founding Chairman of its Community Development Corporation.

The Leon County Courthouse stands as one of our community's foremost symbols of justice, public service, and the rule of law. Placing Dr. Evans' historical marker on the courthouse grounds would permanently recognize an individual whose life's work embodied these principles. It would also provide an important educational resource for residents, students, visitors, and future generations seeking to understand the people whose leadership helped shape Leon County.

Importantly, the Florida Civil Rights Museum wishes to emphasize that the historical marker will be designed, fabricated, and installed at no cost whatsoever to Leon County or its taxpayers. The project is being funded by the Florida Civil Rights Museum via the Florida Legislature, specifically dedicated to preserving and commemorating Florida's civil rights and educational history.

Because these appropriated funds are subject to legislative expenditure deadlines, timely consideration and approval are essential to ensure that this important project can move forward within the required funding period. Accordingly, we respectfully request that the Leon County Board of County Commissioners approve the placement of the Dr. Charles L. Evans Florida Civil Rights and Education Heritage Trail Historical Marker on the grounds of the Leon County Courthouse and authorize the appropriate County staff to work with the Florida Civil Rights Museum to identify and approve a suitable location for its installation.

Enclosed for your review is a conceptual rendering of the proposed historical marker. We would welcome the opportunity to appear before the Board and to meet with the appropriate County officials and staff to discuss the proposal, answer any questions, and coordinate the marker's placement and installation.

The life and legacy of Dr. Charles L. Evans represent an important chapter in the history of Leon County. As an educator, veteran, civil rights leader, mentor, churchman, and community servant, Dr. Evans dedicated decades of his life to strengthening the institutions and people of this community. We believe placing his historical marker at the Leon County Courthouse would provide a fitting and lasting tribute to that extraordinary legacy.

Thank you for your leadership and your continued dedication to preserving the history and honoring the individuals whose contributions have strengthened Leon County and the State of Florida. We deeply appreciate your consideration of this request and look forward to the opportunity to work with the Leon County Board of County Commissioners in recognizing the remarkable life and legacy of Dr. Charles L. Evans.

With sincere appreciation and highest regard, we remain,

Respectfully yours,

Sincerely,

Jacqueline Y. Perkins

Fiscal Impact:

This item has no fiscal impact.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Appoint three citizens, Dr. Shanna Autry, Tiffany Santner, and James Melin, to the Animal Shelter Advisory Board for three-year terms ending September 30, 2029 (Attachments #1, #2, and #3).

Option #2: Appoint one citizen to the Practicing Artist seat on the Council on Culture and Arts Board for a four-year term ending September 30, 2030, from the slate of three COCA nominees (Attachment #4). The eligible applicants are: Ann Kozeliski, Walter Liebrich, and Dr. Lisa Waxman.

Option #3: Appoint one citizen to the At-Large seat on the Council on Culture and Arts Board for a four-year term ending September 30, 2030, from the slate of three COCA nominees (Attachment #5). The nominees are: Erika Branchcomb, Robert Buccellato, and Erika Zambello.

Report and Discussion

Background:

Pursuant to Policy No. 03-15, "Board-Appointed Citizen Committees", a General Business item is presented to fill vacancies for full Board appointments of citizens to Authorities, Boards, Committees, and Councils.

Analysis:

Animal Shelter Advisory Board (ASAB)

Purpose: The ASAB is a citizen board in support of the Tallahassee-Leon Community Animal Services Center. Responsibilities include assisting in the development of Animal Services' mission and policies; reviewing and recommending long range planning and budgeting for Animal Services; providing research, guidance, advice, sponsor reports, and contributing information relevant to Animal Services program development, policies, and procedures; and serving as liaisons to the community, increasing support and awareness of Animal Services, and assisting in the resolution of citizen concerns, issues, and grievances.

Composition: The membership is comprised of twelve (12) members: nine (9) members appointed by the Mayor of the City of Tallahassee and three (3) members appointed by the Board of County Commissioners. Members appointed by the Board of County Commissioners must be County residents or County property owners per the ASAB bylaws. Members serve three-year terms and are limited to no more than two full consecutive terms. Vacancies are filled for the remainder of the unexpired term.

Vacancies: In July of 2026, Board-appointed members Dr. Shanna Autry and Tiffany Santner were appointed to two seats for the remainder of unexpired terms ending September 30, 2026. Both members are eligible for and are seeking reappointment. Their applications and resumes are included as Attachments #1, and #2, respectively. Board-appointed member Jamie Clift Rager also has a term expiring on September 30, 2026 but has served two full terms and is not eligible for reappointment. The City of Tallahassee also has two vacant seats. All eligible applicants for Board consideration are listed in Table #1.

Table #1: Animal Shelter Advisory Board

Vacancies Term Status	Term Expiration	Eligible Applicants Application Attachment #	Recommended Action
Dr. Shanna Autry Served 1 partial term Seeking reappointment Tiffany Santner Served 1 partial term Seeking reappointment Jamie Clift Rager Served 2 full terms Not eligible for reappointment	9/30/2026	1. Dr. Shanna Autry 2. Tiffany Santner 3. James Melin	Appoint three citizens for three-year terms ending September 30, 2029.

Council on Culture & Arts Board (COCA)

Purpose: The responsibility of COCA is to stimulate greater awareness and appreciation of the importance of the arts; encourage and facilitate greater and more efficient use of governmental and private resources for the development and support of the arts; and promote the development of resident artists, art institutions, community organizations sponsoring art activities and audiences.

Composition: In accordance with Section 265.32(2)(b), Florida Statutes, COCA is comprised of 15 members appointed by the Board and two ex officio members: one County Commissioner and one City Commissioner. On October 14, 2003, the Board authorized the Mayor of the City of Tallahassee (Mayor) to recommend seven COCA members in consideration for the City's contribution to COCA. Of the 15 Board appointments, eight members are appointed by the Board from a list of recommended applicants from COCA, while seven members are recommended by the Mayor, also from a list of recommended applicants from COCA, and appointed by the Board. In addition, there are five nonvoting ex officio members serving as liaisons, including representatives from FSU, FAMU, TSC, Leon County Schools, and the Tourist Development Council.

Currently, Commissioner Brian Welch is serving as the Board's ex officio member on the COCA Board.

Per COCA's bylaws, the 15 Council members shall include two Practicing Artists, two members from the Heritage Community, and at least one member each from Volunteer, Business/ Economic Development, Tourism, Finance, or Marketing.

Pursuant to Section 265.32, Florida Statutes, members are appointed for a four-year term, and no Council member may serve more than two full terms without a two-year period of non-membership following the expiration of the members' second term. Members must be qualified electors residing in the County. In filling a vacancy, the replacement Council member shall be selected by the Board from a list of three candidates submitted by the remaining members of the Council. The Council considers suggestions or recommendations made by members of the public; representative civic, labor, and cultural associations; and groups concerned with encouraging the development and appreciation of the arts before submitting the list of candidates to the Board. In the event that none of the three candidates nominated by the Council meets Board approval, the Council shall submit another and entirely different list for Board consideration to fill the vacancy.

Vacancies: The terms of two members, Dan Taylor (County Practicing Artist seat) and Rachelle McClure (County At-Large seat), are set to expire on September 30, 2026.

Dan Taylor has served one full term and one partial term and is not seeking reappointment. The COCA Board has recommended three applicants for the Practicing Artist seat. The recommendation letter along with applications for those three applicants are included as Attachment #4. Rachelle McClure has served one full term and one partial term and is not seeking reappointment. The COCA Board has recommended three applicants for the County At-Large seat. The recommendation letter along with applications for those three applicants are included as Attachment #5.

Please attach your resume, if one is available.

I am interested in serving on the Leon County Animal Control Advisory Committee because I value the important role animal welfare organizations play in supporting both animals and the community. Through my volunteer work with Feline Advocates of Leon County, I have seen the impact of collaboration among shelters, rescue organizations, local government, and community members.

My background in public policy, stakeholder engagement, strategic planning, and organizational leadership would allow me to contribute thoughtfully to committee discussions and community-focused solutions related to animal welfare and public service.

COUNCIL ON CULTURE & ARTS
The Arts Live Here

August 10, 2026

Commissioner Christian Caban
Chairman, Leon County Commission
Office of the County Commission
301 S. Monroe Street, 5th Floor
Tallahassee, FL 32301

Dear Chairman Caban,

The Council on Culture & Arts Board of Directors will have a vacant Practicing Artist seat created by the end of Dan Taylor's term.

Due to County requirements and COCA's bylaws, COCA is required to put forth three names for each vacancy. As recommended by COCA's Nominating Committee, approved unanimously by COCA's Board of Directors, and in accordance with our organization's bylaws, the Board submits the following individuals for your consideration. Careful thought was given to the skills and influence this appointee will need to complement both the current membership of the Board, as well as the demographic composition of the Board as a whole.

Practicing Artist Seat (currently filled by Dan Taylor)
Ann Kozeliski, Artist, Self-Employed
Walter Liebrich, Senior Utility Analyst with the City of Tallahassee Electric and Gas Utility
Dr. Lisa Kinch Waxman, Artist, Self-Employed

We look forward to hearing from you soon regarding the Commission's actions. As always, please feel free to contact us if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Spehar
Executive Director

Cc: Lisa Davis, Agenda Coordinator

Artist Statement:

I have embraced an ancient art form and through the depiction of contemporary subject matter I have made it my own while respecting its traditions.

I have always been intrigued by the Asian esthetic, the strength and simplicity of its' minimalism breaks from the strong, sometime, heavy brushwork of western teaching.

Sumi-e, works the soft contemplative tones of sumi ink with the unique construction of handmade paper and eastern watercolors, creating an image that provides a space for the viewer to reflect. What my work "says" is not fixed, it is left open to the sensibility of each person that stands before it. In this way my work resonates with the spirit of sumi-e, not by imitating tradition, but by capturing a sense of life's impermanence, fragility and hope.

My work focuses on people of the streets. I don't intrude on their lives, I don't photograph them, nor do I sketch them. When I paint them, something about their energy, their chi, has locked into my minds' eye and it comes out through my brush.

The trappings of their existence; shopping carts, bicycles and cardboard signs have become a mainstay on the urban landscape, a statement of the transient life. The repurposing of an everyday item, many of us take for granted, is transformed into a portable reliquary of a persons' life.

A lifetime career in graphic art provided a vocation to support myself to further pursue my advocation of creative expression and to ultimately find my path to Sumi-e and Chinese Brush Painting approximately 30 years ago.

(COMMITTEE QUESTIONNAIRE)

IMPORTANT LEGAL REQUIREMENTS FOR COMMITTEE/BOARD/AUTHORITY MEMBERSHIP

Citizen participation is important in developing Leon County's programs and policies, and in providing quality public services to the community. We appreciate your interest in serving on a committee and would like to bring a few items to your attention. As a member of a committee/board/authority, you will be obligated to follow any applicable laws regarding government-in-the-sunshine, code of ethics for public officers, and public records disclosure.

The consequences for violating these applicable laws include criminal penalties, civil fines, and the voiding of any committee/board/authority action and of any subsequent action by the Board of County Commissioners. In order to be familiar with these laws and to assist you in answering the following questions, please take a few minutes to complete the mandatory orientation. Your application will not be deemed complete until you have completed the orientation.

Have you completed the Applicant Orientation for membership on Citizen Committees, Board & Authorities?* Yes

Are you currently serving on a County Advisory Committee or other Committee/Authority/Board?* No

Have you served on any previous Leon County committees?* No

Are you or your employer, or your spouse or child or their employers, currently doing business with Leon County?* No

Are you or your employer, or your spouse or child or their employers, currently doing business with the Committee/Board/Authority to which you are applying for membership?* No

Do you currently have any employment or contractual relationship that would create a continuing or frequently recurring conflict with regard to your participation on a Committee/Board/Authority? (i.e. would you have frequent or reoccurring voting conflicts?)* No

Do you foresee participating in any competitive bid process for Leon County business during your time serving on this committee/board/authority?* No

Do you foresee participating in any competitive bid process involving business with the Committee/Board/Authority to which you are applying, during your time serving on that entity?* No

Is your personal information exempt from public records disclosure in accordance with FS 119.071(2)(j)1 or FS 119.071(4)? No

Per section 265.32 Florida Statutes, each council member will be charged with the responsibility of serving the best interests of the arts in the county and no council member shall view his or her role as that of representing any particular geographic area of the county, interest group, arts institution, community organization, or audience. No individual committed to, or owing allegiance to, any particular arts faction shall be eligible to serve on the council.

If appointed, I agree to comply with the above statutory regulation. Yes

All members must be qualified electors residing in Leon County.

Fiddlehead Agrivoltaic Farms

Executive Director

11/2024-Present

As the Executive Director of Fiddlehead Agrivoltaic Farms, I have built relationships to bring the first public/private partnership to Tallahassee that combines the dual land use of solar energy while growing crops under the solar. This position has allowed me to combine my life long passions of growing food with my deep understanding of solar development. While building this not-for-profit, I have developed relationships with many community stakeholders and key governmental officials, which has allowed me to leverage discussions around new regulatory structures for farmers to embrace net metering and Power Purchase Agreements. I am leading the charge on the ground to allow for expanded roles of agrivoltaics in our community. I am an intellectually curious community leader on the solar energy front and am actively involved with multiple organizations to bridge the food/energy gap in our community. Here is the website for Fiddlehead Agrivoltaic Farms. https://www.fiddleheadfarmstlh.com/.

As the Executive Director, I am focused on daily operations of the farm, building community networks, organizing volunteers and interfacing with multiple organizations to ensure the food is distributed timely. I am also working closely with the City of Tallahassee Utilities to build the first agrivoltaic solar project in Tallahassee.

IGT Solar

Solar Energy Specialist

8/2021- 11/2024

I engage in community outreach and education about solar energy and energy independence and provide direct sales and customer service of residential and commercial solar energy systems, including off grid battery backup applications.

Treasurer on the Board of Directors for ReThink Energy

02/2022- 03/2025

ReThink Energy Florida's Mission is to educate, engage, and empower Floridians to take action and achieve a just transition to clean energy for a healthier, more sustainable environment through youth education, adult engagement, and community organizing. In this role, long term strategy is required to build community coalitions. My governmental advocacy actively opposes legislation aimed at changing status quo net metering policies.

Executive Office of the Governor- Office of Policy and Budget

Senior Policy and Budget Analyst

01/2007- 08/2021

I was the Governor's Senior analyst on all budget and policy issues related to the Department of Health, and the Department of Financial Services including all budgetary and policy issues related to the Office of Medical Marijuana Use (OMMU) and the development of its regulatory compliance structure. I specialized in analyzing all legislative and budgetary issues relating to the development of the vertical integration for the seed to sale regulatory structure in Florida or Chapter 381.986, Florida Statutes. Both the policy and budget issues must be distilled and clearly articulated for briefing the Governor.

Florida Solar Energy Industries Association

12/2003- 12/2006

My primary responsibilities included tracking legislative and budget issues related to renewable and solar energy. I also wrote the weekly FLASEIA legislative updates to the members.

COUNCIL ON CULTURE & ARTS
The Arts Live Here

August 10, 2026

Commissioner Christian Caban
Chairman, Leon County Commission
Office of the County Commission
301 S. Monroe Street, 5th Floor
Tallahassee, FL 32301

Dear Chairman Caban,

The Council on Culture & Arts Board of Directors will have a vacant At-Large seat created by the end of Rachelle McClure's term.

Due to County requirements and COCA's bylaws, COCA is required to put forth three names for each vacancy. As recommended by COCA's Nominating Committee, approved unanimously by COCA's Board of Directors, and in accordance with our organization's bylaws, the Board submits the following individuals for your consideration. Careful thought was given to the skills and influence this appointee will need to complement both the current membership of the Board, as well as the demographic composition of the Board as a whole.

At-Large Seat (currently filled by Rachelle McClure)
Erika Branchcomb, Senior Communications Specialist at the Florida League of Cities*
Robert Buccellato, Program Specialist / Writer at the Florida Department of Education
Erika Zambello, Communications Director at Audubon Florida

* COCA Board of Directors recommendation

We look forward to hearing from you soon regarding the Commission's actions. As always, please feel free to contact us if you have any questions.

Sincerely,

Kathleen Spehar
Executive Director

Notes for Agenda Item #31

Leon County Board of County Commissioners

Agenda Item #31

September 15, 2026

To: Honorable Chairman and Members of the Board

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: First Public Hearing for Adoption of the Fiscal Year 2026 – 2027 Tentative Millage Rates and Tentative Budgets

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Roshaunda Bradley, Director, Office of Management and Budget
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Georgette Daniels, Budget Manager Amy Weeks, Senior Management & Budget Analyst Demetrius Jones, Management & Budget Analyst

Statement of Issue:

This item requests the Board conduct the first of two public hearings required by Florida Statutes for the adoption of the Leon County Fiscal Year (FY) 2026 – 2027 tentative budget.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has a fiscal impact. If adopted, the Leon County FY 2026 – 2027 tentative budget is $421,023,701, which includes the Emergency Medical Services budget of $44,733,614.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Countywide millage rate of 8.3144 mills (Attachment #1).

Option #2: Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Countywide budget (Attachment #2).

Option #3: Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Emergency Medical Services MSTU millage rate of 0.7500 mills (Attachment #3).

Option #4: Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Emergency Medical Services MSTU budget (Attachment #4).

Option #5: Direct staff to advertise, in accordance with the Florida Statutes, the tentative millage rates and budgets for FY 2026 – 2027, and the date, time, and place of the public hearing to adopt the final millage rates and budgets for FY 2026 – 2027.

Report and Discussion

Background:

This item requests the Board conduct the first of two public hearings required by Florida Statutes for the adoption of the Leon County FY 2026 – 2027 Tentative Budget.

Pursuant to Sections 129.03 and 200.065, Florida Statutes, the County Property Appraiser certified to the County Budget Officer the taxable value against which taxes may be levied in the entire County and in each district in the County in which taxes are authorized by law to be levied by the Board. The certification of property values provided this year were $28,735,422,474, an increase of $1.393 billion or 5.10% more than the previous year. In preparing the tentative budgets, this certified figure was used as the basis for estimating the millage rates required to be levied.

At its July 14, 2026 meeting, the Board approved and adopted the 8.3144 Countywide and 0.7500 Emergency Medical Services (EMS) Municipal Services Taxing Unit (MSTU) millage rates for the purposes of the statutory Truth-in-Millage (TRIM) public notification process. These rates cannot be increased, only decreased during the public hearing.

On July 22, 2026, the Board advised the Property Appraiser and the Tax Collector of its proposed millage rates, rolled-back rates, and the date, time, and place at which a public hearing would be held to consider the tentative millage rates and the tentative budgets in accordance with Sections 129.03 and 200.065, Florida Statutes. Subsequently, the Property Appraiser used this information in preparing the notice of proposed property taxes pursuant to Section 200.069, Florida Statutes. These notices were then mailed to all respective property owners in Leon County.

Analysis:

In accordance with Sections 129.03 and 200.065, Florida Statutes, after discussion and public comment regarding the tentative millage rates and budgets, the Board is required to adopt its tentative millage rates prior to adopting its tentative budgets.

At its July 14, 2026 meeting, the Board set the Countywide tentative millage rate (8.3144) above the rolled-back rate and above the majority vote maximum millage rate. This requires a statutory voting threshold of a super majority (two-thirds) vote of the Board for adopting the Countywide tentative millage rate.

The EMS MSTU tentative millage rate (0.7500) was set above the rolled-back rate and above the majority vote maximum millage rate. This requires a statutory voting threshold of a super majority (two-thirds) vote of the Board for adopting the EMS MSTU tentative millage rate.

The proposed FY 2026/2027 County tentative aggregate millage rate of 9.0644 (Countywide – 8.3144 and EMS – 0.7500) is the same as the previous year's aggregate millage rate. The proposed aggregate millage rate of 9.0644 is 1.94% more than the aggregate rolled-back rate of 8.8918 (the rate the County can levy to collect the same property tax revenue as the prior year, excluding new construction).

The second and final public hearing on the FY 2026/2027 budget is scheduled for Tuesday, September 22, 2026 at 6:00 p.m. If the FY 2026/2027 tentative budget is adopted, the hearing to adopt the final millage rates and budgets will be advertised in accordance with TRIM statutory requirements.

Options #1 through #5 need to be voted on separately and in the order presented. Florida Statutes require the Board to address the millage rates before addressing the associated budgets.

Options:

1. Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Countywide millage rate of 8.3144 mills (Attachment #1).
2. Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Countywide budget (Attachment #2).
3. Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Emergency Medical Services MSTU millage rate of 0.7500 mills (Attachment #3).
4. Adopt, via Resolution, the tentative FY 2026 – 2027 Emergency Medical Services MSTU budget (Attachment #4).
5. Direct staff to advertise, in accordance with the Florida Statutes, the tentative millage rates and budgets for FY 2026 – 2027 and the date, time, and place of the public hearing to adopt the final millage rates and budgets for FY 2026 – 2027.
6. Board direction.

Recommendation:

Options #1 through #5

LEON COUNTY RESOLUTION NO. _____

A RESOLUTION OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA, ADOPTING THE TENTATIVE FY 2026/2027 COUNTYWIDE MILLAGE RATE; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, pursuant to Section 129.03, Florida Statutes, has received and examined the Fiscal Year 2026/2027 tentative budget; and

WHEREAS, the gross taxable value for operating purposes not exempt from taxation within Leon County has been certified by the County Property Appraiser to the Board of County Commissioners as $28,735,422,474; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, pursuant to Section 200.065, Florida Statutes, has computed a proposed millage rate necessary to fund the tentative Countywide budget other than the portion of the budget to be funded from sources other than this ad valorem tax; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, pursuant to Section 200.065, Florida Statutes, has advised the County Property Appraiser of its proposed millage rate, of its rolled-back rate, and of the date, time, and place at which a public hearing will be held to consider the proposed millage rate; and

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, pursuant to Section 200.065, Florida Statutes, has held a public hearing on September 15, 2026 for the purpose of hearing requests and complaints from the public regarding the proposed tax levies.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA, that:

The Fiscal Year 2026/2027 tentative aggregate millage rate is 9.0644 mills (8.3144 – Countywide and 0.7500 – Emergency Medical Services MSTU), which is above the aggregate rolled-back rate of 8.8918 by 1.94%.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

General Fund (001)

Fund Type: General Fund

The General Fund is the general operating fund of the County established by F.S. 129.02(1). Major revenue sources for the County's General Fund include proceeds from ad valorem and other taxes, charges for services, fees, and other miscellaneous revenues. The General Fund is used to account for financial resources and expenditures of general government (except those required to be accounted for in another fund) such as libraries, management information systems, facilities management, etc.

Notes:

The Leon County budget is balanced without increasing the current 8.3144 millage rate. For FY 2027 property values increased by 5.10%, providing an additional $11 million in property tax revenue. Last year taxable values increased 7.87%. The decline in growth can be attributed to a number of factors, including, but not limited to: a reduction in the Save-Our-Homes cap ; reduction in net new taxable values; and the implementation and impacts of a constitutional amendment approved by voters in November 2024 providing an annual inflationary adjustment to the exempt value of homestead properties.

Property taxes growth was offset by increases in personnel costs for retirement and healthcare, funding for 4% raises for all employees, including Constitutional Officers, and inflationary costs for contractual services, fuel, and materials and supplies.

To ensure some capital projects are not delayed due to current supply chain difficulties, especially with vehicles and construction materials, the Board appropriated $3.6 million in general fund capital reserves in FY 2026. As a result, the total FY 2027 general fund transfer to the capital fund (Fund 305) is $14.5 million ($14 million coming from the general fund and $543,775 from the Municipal Services Fund).

With increased property tax revenue, and constraining expenditures to the greatest extent possible, there was no use of general fund balance for FY 2027. Outyears reflect maintaining the millage rate at the existing 8.3144, and increased property values providing the necessary revenue growth to fund increases in operational expenses. However, if the proposed constitutional amendment on property tax reform is passed by voters in November, the County would lose approximately $64 million in general fund property tax revenue in the first two years of implementation (FY 2028 and FY 2029), which would result in significant reductions in County services.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Supervisor of Elections (060)

Fund Type: General Fund

The Supervisor of Elections Fund is a general fund established as part of the FY 2002 budget process. The Supervisor of Elections requested their appropriation be established in a separate fund to provide discrete accounting of their budget. The revenue is transferred from the General Fund. At the conclusion of the fiscal year, any funds available in the Supervisor of Elections fund are returned to the General Fund as excess fees.

Notes:

The Supervisor of Elections budget varies year to year depending on the election cycles. Funding for the Supervisor of Elections increases for Presidential Preference Primary elections cycles and decreases in general election and off year election cycles. The upcoming FY 2027 cycle includes a general election.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Transportation Trust (106)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The Transportation Trust Fund is a special revenue fund established by F.S. 129.02(2). Major revenue sources for the Transportation Trust Fund include proceeds from local and state gas taxes. Leon County imposes a total of twelve cents in gas taxes. The County Ninth-Cent, Local Option and Second Local Option are local county taxes. Of those, the Local Option and Second Local Option revenues are split with the City of Tallahassee. The 20% Surplus, 5th & 6th Cent and Gas Tax Pour-Over Trust are State gas tax revenues. The fund is used to account for resources dedicated and expenditures restricted to the maintenance/construction of roads and bridges.

Notes:

Gasoline taxes are estimated to increase by 4% or $518,511. Gas taxes, which are consumption based (taxes are per gallon, not a percentage of cost), are only slightly increasing year-over-year due to better vehicle fuel efficiencies and an increase in the use of hybrid and electric vehicles. As a result, $600,000 in available Transportation Fund balance is appropriated in FY 2027 to provide continued support for roadway maintenance.

Additionally, a review of fund reserves in FY 2025 indicated that $3.9 million in Transportation Trust fund balance above policy minimums were available to support the transportation capital program in FY 2026 and FY 2027. To ensure infrastructure improvements continue and heavy equipment and vehicle purchases are not delayed due to supply chain issues, $2.4 million in funding was advanced funded in FY 2026.

Fine and Forfeiture (110)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The Fine and Forfeiture Fund is a special revenue fund established by F.S. 129.02(3) and F.S. 142.01. Major revenue sources for the County Fine and Forfeiture Fund include proceeds from ad valorem taxes and other miscellaneous revenues. The fund is used to account for revenues collected in support of and expenditures dedicated to criminal prosecution, court operations, and operations of the Sheriff's Department.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Notes:

The County maintained the countywide millage rate of 8.3144 for FY 2027. Additional information regarding this levy for recurring operating expenditures is located on the general fund page (Fund 001).

The largest expenditure appropriations in this fund are the Sheriff Law Enforcement, Detention and Judicial budgets. The overall increase to the Sheriff's budget is 6% or $7.3 million. The increase is attributed to normal personnel costs which are driven by the negotiated collective bargaining agreement for sworn officers and the statutory Florida Retirement Service (FRS) contribution rates for special risk members, and contractual services for medical and food services to operate the Leon County Detention Facility.

Other budget increases include personnel costs related to the Consolidated Dispatch Agency (CDA), of which the County pays 33% per the interlocal CDA agreement, and the County's statutory required payment to the State Department of Juvenile Justice.

Probation Services (111)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The Probation Services Fund is a special revenue fund established in support of the administration of County Probation programs. Major revenue sources for the Probation Services Fund include fees related to pretrial costs, other probation related services, and a transfer from the General Fund. The fund is used to account for resources and expenditures related to the alternative Community Service Work Program, the Pretrial Release Program, urinalysis testing fees and other County Probation programs and services.

Notes:

The FY 2027 Probation Services revenues are only estimated to increase slightly from FY 2026 due primarily to increased number of pre and post assignments such as alcohol and urinalysis tests being administered. However, the Courts continue to authorize the fees to accrue, be waived, or for the probationers to be civil judged which reduces collections. As a result of these revenue declines, the general revenue subsidy to the fund has continued to increase. The FY 2027 Budget reflects the use of $800,000 in available Probation fund balance to support the Probation and Pretrial program. The use of these dedicated reserves allows for reduced general revenue support in FY 2027. If revenues continue to decline, the Board may wish to consider future adjustments to fees or services, or a combination of both.

Notes:

The FY 2027 Drug Court program is experiencing a decline in court costs collected for misdemeanor and felony drug cases. Available Drug Abuse Trust fund balance is used to support the program through FY 2029. FY 2029 through FY 2031 reflect a deficit in supporting program expenditures as fund balance will be depleted in FY 2029. A reduction in services may need to be considered if revenues do not increase to support the program.

Judicial Programs (117)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

On June 8, 2004, the Board of County Commissioners authorized the imposition of a $65.00 criminal violation court costs. In accordance with Florida Statutes and the enabling County Ordinance, the proceeds from the $65.00 fine are to be used as follows: 25% to supplement State funding requirements related to the implementation of a Statewide court system or to pay for local requirements; 25% to be used to fund legal aid programs; 25% to be used to fund law library personnel and materials; and 25% to be used to fund alternative juvenile programs. At the end of the fiscal year, any fund balance remaining shall be utilized in subsequent fiscal years for the funding of either the State or local requirements.

Notes:

In 2018, the Board authorized the County's participation in multidistrict opioid litigation (MDL) against opioid manufacturers, resulting in significant settlement funds allocated to mitigate opioid impacts. On September 14, 2021, the Board approved a Memorandum of Understanding with the Attorney General to participate in settlement negotiations collectively with the State and other local governments. Based on the litigation and subsequent settlements, the County would receive approximately $1.9 million over an 18-year period directly from opioid manufacturers and pharmaceutical companies.

The Northwest Florida Health Network (NWFHN) notified the County in 2023 that the County would receive an additional $11.6 million in settlement funds through the State over an 18-year period for a total of $13.5 million. Pursuant to the settlement agreement, all proceeds are restricted to abatement and treatment of opioid use disorder and other limited uses such as mental health and substance abuse recovery and support.

The annual amount of funds distributed to the County will vary each year. Due to this uncertainty, anticipated revenues are not included in the adopted budget and settlement proceeds will be realized as received throughout the fiscal year. Actual revenues and expenditures are reflected annually.

Notes:

In February 2022, the Board adopted a revised fee schedule based on a 2021 building plan review and inspections fee study. The study found that overall permit costs were commensurate with the services provided but recommended a revenue-neutral transition to a flat fee structure and the implementation of a technology fee to support demands for greater digital services.

For FY 2027, revenues are estimated to decline slightly from FY 2026 based on a reduction in single family permitting and large residential development projects in the unincorporated Leon County area. To ensure Building Inspection continues to provide prompt permitting services, $1.3 million in fund balance is budgeted in FY 2027. The outyears reflect only nominal increases in revenues and depletion of the Building fund balance in FY 2027. A reduction in services may need to be considered if these revenues do not increase to support these services.

Notes:

In FY 2027, permit fee revenue is estimated to increase slightly from FY 2026 due to new anticipated commercial development, including the Buc-ee's Travel Center. However, to maintain service levels for the development support and environmental management program, an increase in general revenue support and $975,000 in available DSEM fund balances are required in FY 2027. The outyears reflect general fund support increasing incrementally to maintain service levels and is anticipated to increase up to $4.3 million in FY 2031.

During FY 2026, the Board authorized a rate study to adjust DSEM development review and permitting fees to reflect actual service delivery costs, thereby reducing the general revenue subsidy to the fund.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Notes:

In FY 2014, the County implemented the first increase to the stormwater non ad valorem assessment in 23 years from $20 to $85 for each single-family equivalent unit. This allowed for the general revenue subsidy to decrease by $2.5 million. As specified in the adopted ordinance, the current general revenue subsidy covers the cost of the fee discount for low-income seniors, disabled veterans and properties that receive a stormwater credit discount. The remaining general revenue transfer covers the operating deficit in the program. The transfer of $800,000 from the Transportation Trust fund provides funding for stormwater maintenance activity related to roadways.

The increase in general revenue support in FY 2027 is related to no growth in the non-ad valorem assessment due to the issuance of more stormwater credit discounts and increases in program expenditures. These expenses include personnel and inflationary costs associated with fuel and vehicle repair costs. To ensure the continued long-term fiscal viability of the County and eliminate the general revenue subsidy, during FY 2026 the Board approved a stormwater fee study to determine the appropriate stormwater non-ad valorem levels which reflect the actual cost of services and thereby reduce the general revenue subsidy to the fund.

Notes:

The State Housing Initiatives Partnership (SHIP) program allocated $699,742 for local housing programs to Leon County during the FY 2026 legislative session. The County allocates approximately $125,000 annually in SHIP funds for the Rental Development Program, which provides gap financing to developers that build new affordable rental units for very low- and low-income renters.

Grants (125)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The Grants Fund is a special revenue fund established to account for grants that are consistently received on an annual basis. The fund also accounts for other restricted revenues such as Friends of the Library and the Driver Education funding. As new grants are received during the fiscal year, appropriate action is taken by the Board of County Commissioners to realize these additional grant proceeds into the budget. This fund includes the corresponding County matching funds for the various grants.

Notes:

Grant program expenditures for Emergency Management and the Storage Tank Program are greater than the grant allocations, which require increasing the general revenue transfer to maintain program service levels. Since 2012, the Board has allocated additional funding for the Storage Tank Program to ensure all local petroleum facilities are inspected on an annual basis, which is in excess of the Florida Department of Environmental Protection's 50% requirement.

As allowed by the Dori Slosberg Driver Education Safety Act, the Board amended the Leon County Code of Laws related to civil traffic penalties at the January 28, 2020 meeting and increased the civil traffic penalty from $3 to $5 to support high school driver education programs. The additional funding supports Leon County Schools' Drivers Education Program.

Non-Countywide General Revenue (126)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The Non Countywide General Revenue Fund is a special revenue fund originally established as part of the FY 2002 budget process. Prior to FY 2002, the 1/2 Cent Sales Tax, State Revenue Sharing, and other unrestricted resources were directly budgeted into the specific funds they supported. Beginning in FY 2002, the revenues were brought into this fund and budgetary transfers were established to the funds supported by these revenues. This approach allows for the entire revenue to be shown in one place and all funds being supported to be similarly reflected. These revenues are not deposited directly into the General Fund in order to discretely show support for activities not eligible for Countywide property tax revenue.

Notes:

The State Shared and ½ Cent Sales Tax revenues are projected to increase slightly by $580,000 for FY 2027. The fluctuation in growth for these revenues is attributed to continued economic uncertainty associated with shifts in consumer spending, continued enforcement of tariffs, and the ongoing military conflict in Iran.

Effective July 1, 2021, internet sales retailers and marketplace providers with no physical presence in Florida were required to collect the Florida sales tax on sales of taxable items delivered to purchasers in Florida if the out-of-state retailer or marketplace provider makes a substantial number of sales into Florida.

The Communication Services Tax (CST) has been in decline statewide the past five years due to a decline in cable services as consumers "cord cut" in favor of streaming, and certain demographics and small businesses abandoning telephone landlines. FY 2027 revenues anticipate only a nominal increase from FY 2026.

9-1-1 Emergency Communications (130)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The 9-1-1 Emergency Communications Fund is a special revenue fund established in accordance with the Florida Emergency Telephone Act F.S. 365.171. Major revenue sources of the 9-1-1 Emergency Communications Fund include proceeds from the wireless Enhanced 9-1-1 fee (50 cents/month per service subscriber) pursuant to F.S. 365.172 - 365.173 and the 9-1-1 fee (50 cents/month per service line) pursuant to F.S. 365.171(13). The fund is used to account for resources and expenditures associated with 9-1-1 emergency services within Leon County.

Notes:

For FY 2027, revenue for this fund is projected to increase slightly, as the number of wireless phone lines and customers continues to grow. This increase is offset by the recent loss of revenue realized as consumers switched from landlines to wireless devices. The fund reflects a transfer from the 9-1-1 Capital Project fund to maintain current service levels.

Notes:

In May 2021, Leon County received $57.02 million in ARPA funding. Accordingly, as part of the FY 2022 budget process, the Board approved a multi-year ARPA expenditure plan. The plan provided funding to address community nonprofit and human services assistance, public health support, targeted support for the local business community, and funding to complete major wastewater projects.

The expenditure plan also allocated $25 million of the ARPA funding as revenue replacement to mitigate revenue losses incurred by the County due to the pandemic. These funds were used to support general government services and the capital program from FY 2022 through FY 2025. All remaining ARPA funds will be expended by December 31, 2026.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Notes:

For FY 2027, Public Services Tax (PST) revenues are projected to decrease slightly. Due to its consumption base, these revenues are subject to many variables including rates and usage. Expense increases to the fund are primarily related to inflationary operating costs of trail, playground and ballfield maintenance, increase acreage for mowing contracts, tree trimming on greenway and park trails, and increased capital maintenance needs at the Animal Services Center which is jointly funded with the City of Tallahassee.

The transfer to Fund 305 (the Capital Improvement Fund) was decreased by approximately $535,000 from the previous fiscal year ($1.08 million in FY 2026 to $543,775 in FY 2027). This is part of the total $14.5 million general revenue transfer to the capital fund. The remaining transfer is from the General Fund.

The $500,000 transfer of revenue from the Sales Tax Extension Joint Project Agreement Fund (Fund 352) assists in funding the maintenance of parks constructed with previous local infrastructure sales tax dollars. This is a level transfer that will occur until 2039.

Fire Rescue Services (145)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The Fire Services Fund is a special revenue fund established in FY 2010 as a method to fund enhanced fire protection services in the unincorporated area of Leon County. The funding is derived from a fire service assessment and fee levied on single family, commercial and governmental properties in the unincorporated area of the County. Homes are charged a flat rate, and commercial and governmental properties pay per square foot. Square footage associated with the worship area of a church is excluded from the fee. In addition, the County provides support to the Volunteer Fire Departments.

Notes:

With the implementation of the fire service fee the City initially billed all affected properties in the unincorporated area. In FY 2010, the Board approved placing this assessment on the tax bill for property owners who did not pay the fee via the established billing system. As reflected in prior years, direct billing by the City of Tallahassee was the primary source for the collection for this fee, but non-ad valorem assessment collections continued to increase as property owners became delinquent in their payments or chose to have their fee placed on the tax bill. At the September 15, 2025 meeting, the Board approved changes to the methods for collecting the fire services charges for nongovernmental properties in the unincorporated area. Effective FY 2026, the use of the uniform method for the levy, collection, and enforcement of fire services assessments (property tax bill) will be the exclusive method of collection by the County in the unincorporated area for these properties.

In FY 2024, a new fire services fee was implemented to adequately fund the County's share of the Fire Department. Increasing the fire services fee eliminated the general revenue subsidy that was provided to assist funding these services. This fee will remain unchanged for FY 2027.

Notes:

The decline in Tourism revenue is due, in part to, economic uncertainty (tariffs, gas prices, etc.) changing consumer spending habits. The remaining decline is attributed to a reduction in Tourism miscellaneous revenue budgeted in FY 2026 for anticipated sponsorships for the World's Cross-Country Championships held in January 2026. The FY 2027 expenditures also reflects a corresponding reduction from costs budgeted to host the event in FY 2026. Leon County continues to target events that attract overnight stays, which will continue to result in greater tourism revenue collection in future years.

County Accepted Roadways and Drainage Systems Program (162)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

The County Accepted Roadways and Drainage Systems Program (CARDS) Fund is a special revenue fund established to account for the repayment of special assessments associated with the County's CARDS program (formerly the 2/3 2/3 paving program). The revenue received into this fund is collected as a non ad valorem special assessment on the annual tax bill. These revenues are repaying the County for loans utilized to construct special assessment paving projects. The revenues are transferred annually to the General Fund (001).

Special Assessment - Sewer (164)

Fund Type: Special Revenue

This Special Assessment Fund was established to account for revenues and expenditures associated with the special assessment levied on property owners to pay for the costs of maintaining the new City of Tallahassee sewer service distribution system. These assessments are collected and remitted to the City of Tallahassee in accordance with interlocal agreements with the City of Tallahassee. Areas include Killearn Lakes Units I and II completed in 2006, Annawood subdivision completed in 2022, and Woodville Phase 1 and Northeast Lake Munson completed in 2025.

Notes:

Funding is allocated for general building maintenance and repairs including renovations, mechanical and electrical upgrades, and safety improvements at the Leon County Government Annex. Specific project details are in the Capital Improvements Project Section. In addition, FY 2027 and outyear transfers reflect utility payments to the General Fund (001).

The additional rental revenue in FY 2027 is due to an increase in leasing activity at the Leon County Government Annex. Outyears reflect the programmed expiration of leases, which may or may not be extended or renegotiated. Revenue is only contemplated when a lease is active. FY 2028 through FY 2031 reflect the use of accumulated fund balance to support expenditures, however, based on current leasing trends, it is anticipated that leasing revenue will increase. If lease activity does not increase, expenditure reductions and/or general revenue support may be needed after FY 2031 as fund balance will be depleted.

Capital Improvements (305)

Fund Type: Capital Projects

The Capital Improvements Fund is a capital project fund established in support of the County's Capital Improvement Program. A major revenue source of the Capital Improvement Fund is a transfer from general revenue dollars. The fund is used to account for resources and expenditures associated with the acquisition or construction of major non-transportation related capital facilities and/or projects other than those financed by Proprietary Funds.

Notes:

The FY 2027 general capital improvement program is $15.5 million. The FY 2027 – FY 2031 Capital Improvement Plan is primarily focused on maintaining the County's infrastructure of buildings, roads, stormwater system, parks, information technology and fleet. To maintain the capital program, a consistent amount of recurring general revenue is required to fund these projects. From FY 2021 – FY 2026, the recurring general revenue support for the capital program has ranged from $5 million to $10.8 million. The general revenue transfer increased to $14.5 million for FY 2027.

A review of fund reserves in FY 2025 indicated that the County had $11.4 million in available general revenue fund balances above the policy minimums that were available to support the capital program for FY 2026 and FY 2027. To ensure some capital projects are not delayed due to current supply chain difficulties, especially with vehicles and construction materials, $3.6 million in fund balances were appropriated in FY 2026. This funding will support projects associated with the purchase of County vehicles and heavy equipment, facility improvements, Sheriff Facilities improvements, and park facility improvements.

For FY 2027, additional funding is for IT infrastructure, improvements to critical facilities including the Public Safety Complex, and the Essential Libraries Strategic Initiative to complete renovations of existing restroom facilities at the Main Library required for ADA compliance.

Outyear expenditure projections reflect overall inflation and the rising costs of construction materials and supplies. Due in part to these inflationary pressures, the general revenue transfer is projected to increase to $17 million by FY 2031.

Notes:

The second local option gas tax is split 50/50 for sidewalk projects and general transportation maintenance. For FY 2027, $1.5 million is allocated for the Sidewalk Program. A review of fund reserves in FY 2025 indicated that $4.3 million in Transportation Trust fund balance above policy minimums were available to support the transportation capital program in FY 2026 and FY 2027. To ensure infrastructure improvements continue and heavy equipment and vehicle purchases are not delayed due to supply chain issues, $2.4 million in funding was advanced funded in FY 2026.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Sales Tax (308)

Fund Type: Capital Projects

The Local Option Sales Tax Fund is a capital project fund established in accordance with a 1989 county-wide referendum, and is used to account for resources and expenditures associated with the construction of transportation and jail facility related projects. The Local Government Infrastructure Surtax includes proceeds from a One-Cent Sales Tax on all transactions up to $5,000. Pursuant to an interlocal agreement with the City of Tallahassee, the revenue generated by the tax will be split between the County and the City. The County's share of the proceeds is equal to 52.84%, and the City's share is equal to 47.16%. The 1989 referendum approved the sales tax levy for a period of fifteen years; however, through a county-wide referendum passed in November 2000, the sales tax was extended for an additional fifteen years (Note: the extended sales tax is accounted for in Fund 309).

Notes:

The current 1-Cent Local Option Sales Tax expired in 2019. On November 4, 2014, Leon County residents approved a ballot initiative to extend the sales tax for another 20 years until 2039. In FY 2020, two new funds (351 and 352) were established for the new sales tax extension that went into effect on January 1, 2020. Previous projects assigned to this fund were moved to Fund 351. This fund is still open due to the accumulated funds in the intersection and safety improvement project to support the reconstruction of the Blair Stone Road and Old St. Augustine intersection and critical maintenance needs at the Sheriff Facilities.

Sales Tax - Extension (309)

Fund Type: Capital Projects

In November of 2000, Leon County residents approved a referendum extending the imposition of the 1 Cent Local Option Sales Tax beginning in FY 2004 for 15 years. The extension commits 80% of the revenues to Blueprint 2000 projects and will be jointly administered and funded by Leon County and the City of Tallahassee. The remaining 20% will be split evenly between the County and the City. The County's share will be used for various road, stormwater and park improvements. The Blueprint 2000 Joint Participation Agreement Revenue supports County projects funded through the County's share of the $50 million water quality/flooding funding.

Sales Tax - Extension 2020 (351)

Fund Type: Capital Projects

In November 2014, Leon County residents approved a referendum providing a second extension of the 1998 imposed 1-Cent Local Option Sales Tax beginning in FY 2020 for 20 years. The extension commits 80% of the revenues for Blueprint 2020 infrastructure projects, Blueprint 2020 Economic Development Programs, and Livable Infrastructure For Everyone (L.I.F.E.) projects. The remaining 20% is split evenly between the County and the City. The County's 10% share, accounted for in this fund, will be used for transportation resurfacing and intersection improvement projects and other statutorily authorized uses approved by the County Commission.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Notes:

On November 4, 2014, Leon County residents approved a ballot initiative to extend the current 1-Cent Local Option Sales Tax for another 20 years until 2039. This fund has been established to account for the 2% sales tax share dedicated to the L.I.F.E. program, and the County's share of the Blueprint JPA revenue.

For FY 2027, Sales Tax Extension revenue estimates reflect consumer spending remaining flat and no additional growth from FY 2026. The Blueprint JPA revenue is consistent in FY 2027 and the outyears since this is a lump sum payment from Blueprint specified in the interlocal agreement.

Sales Tax Extension projects in FY 2027 include the Sidewalk program, Water Quality and Stormwater improvements, and L.I.F.E. projects (Rural Road and Safety Improvements, Street Lighting, Neighborhood Enhancements and Transportation Safety, Boat Landing, Private to Public Dirt Road Improvements, Stormwater and Flood Relief, Recreational Amenities, and the Woodville Sense of Place). In addition, the $500,000 transfer to the Municipal Services Fund (Fund 140) will assist in funding the maintenance of parks constructed with previous local infrastructure sales tax dollars.

LEON COUNTY FISCAL YEAR 2027 TENTATIVE BUDGET

Notes:

The Solid Waste fund is an enterprise fund and is supported by a non-ad valorem assessment and tipping fees collected at the Transfer Station.

During the FY 2020 budget process, the Board adopted a multi-year fiscal plan that reallocated $4.1 million in FY 2021 debt services savings to avoid future tax and fee increases for as long as possible. The plan allowed for the elimination of the rural waste center collection fees and avoided the need to raise the non-ad valorem assessment. For FY 2021, the plan called for the reallocation of $1.11 million in debt service savings to the solid waste fund to support the Rural Waste Service Centers and the recycling contract. This general revenue transfer increased to $3.5 million and $3.8 million in FY 2025 and FY 2026 respectively.

For FY 2027, the general revenue transfer decreased to $2.2 million due to the Board approving a phased increase to the solid waste assessment over the next five years in unincorporated Leon County to support solid waste disposal services and ultimately eliminate the general revenue subsidy to the fund. Outyears reflect additional phased increases to the assessment in FY 2029 and FY 2031 when full general revenue elimination will be realized.

The increase in revenue and expenditures for the Transfer Station is related to a contractual increase in hauling and disposal rates associated with transferring waste from the transfer station to the regional landfill in Jackson County. FY 2027 capital funding is included for Solid Waste Facility, Transfer Station and Rural Waste Heavy Equipment Replacements, Hazardous Waste Collection and Transfer Station Improvements.

Motor Pool (505)

Fund Type: Internal Services

The Motor Pool Fund is an internal service fund established to account for the costs associated with operating and maintaining the County's fleet of vehicles and heavy equipment. This internal service fund generates its revenues from direct billings by the Fleet Management Department to other departmental users. Fuel purchased by the Fleet Management Department is supplied to departmental users at cost plus a minor surcharge. Repairs and maintenance performed by the Fleet Management Department are charged to users at the costs of parts plus an applicable shop rate.

Notes:

Property valuations for the EMS MSTU increased 5.10% for the FY 2027 budget. During the FY 2024 budget process, the Board approved the planned millage rate increase from 0.50 to 0.75 to eliminate the general revenue subsidy to the EMS fund. Additionally, the 0.75 millage rate provides for reserves to support future increased staffing and equipment requirements for the program over the next five years. However, if the proposed constitutional amendment on property tax reform is passed by voters in November, the County would lose approximately $6 million in EMS MSTU revenue in the first two years of implementation (FY 2028 and FY 2029), which would result in significant reductions in emergency medical services.

In addition to the increase in property values, the growth in EMS revenues also reflects an increase in ambulance fees and Medicaid reimbursements from the State. Most of the increase in expenditures is related to the planned replacement of aging ambulances in the EMS fleet. In addition, to maintain current service levels and ensure adequate resources are available for increased call demand, the FY 2027 budget includes the addition of ten full-time positions. Additional increases are associated with inflationary costs of EMS contracts and medical supplies.

Notes for Agenda Item #32

Leon County Board of County Commissioners

Agenda Item #32

September 15, 2026

To: Honorable Chairman and Members of the Board

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: First of Two Public Hearings to Adopt an Ordinance to Establish an 18-Month Moratorium on Large-Load Customer Facilities, including Large-Scale Data Centers

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney Nawfal Ezzagaghi, Assistant County Administrator Scott Brockmeier, Director, Development Support & Environmental Management
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Ryan Culpepper, Director, Development Services Division Gretchen Brantley, Assistant County Attorney Ana Richmond, Development Services Administrator

Statement of Issue:

This agenda item requests the Board conduct the first of two required public hearings to adopt an ordinance establishing an 18-month moratorium pausing the acceptance, review or approval of applications for development permits, development orders, rezoning, or site plans related to large-load customer facilities, including large-scale data centers, consistent with the scope of Senate Bill 484, as enacted in Chapter 2026-65, Laws of Florida, and schedule the second and final public hearing for October 13, 2026 at 6:00 p.m.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has no fiscal impact.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Conduct the first of two public hearings to adopt an Ordinance establishing an 18-month moratorium on large-load customer facilities, including large-scale data centers (Attachment #1), and schedule the second and final public hearing for October 13, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Report and Discussion

Background:

As directed by the Board at its July 14, 2026 meeting, this item requests that the Board conduct the first of two public hearings to consider an ordinance establishing an 18-month moratorium pausing the acceptance, review or approval of applications for development permits, development orders, rezoning, or site plans related to large-load customer facilities, including large-scale data centers as defined in Chapter 2026-65, Laws of Florida ("Senate Bill 484").

Senate Bill 484 became effective on July 1, 2026, and emphasizes the unique planning, infrastructure, and compatibility considerations that large-load facilities with substantial electric or other utility demands present, including large-scale data centers, and provides that such considerations and the associated impacts shall be addressed through local comprehensive planning and land development regulations. Neither the Leon County Development Code ("Code") nor the Tallahassee-Leon County 2050 Comprehensive Plan ("Comp Plan") contain specific provisions addressing large-load customers or data centers of any size. As a result, the County currently does not have a regulatory framework to evaluate the compatibility, infrastructure, and utility-demand impacts SB 484 directs be addressed through comprehensive planning and land development regulations. This moratorium provides the time necessary for staff to develop Code and Comprehensive Plan amendments establishing such a framework prior to further applications being received, reviewed, or approved.

Consistency with Senate Bill 180 (2025)

In June 2025, the Florida Legislature enacted Senate Bill 180, enacted in Chapter 2025-190, Laws of Florida ("SB 180"). Section 28 of SB 180 applies to counties listed in the Federal Disaster Declaration for Hurricane Debby (DR-4806), Hurricane Helene (DR-4828), or Hurricane Milton (DR-4834). Leon County is listed in the disaster declarations for Hurricanes Debby and Helene, and is therefore subject to Section 28, which through October 1, 2027, prohibits a covered local government from proposing or adopting: a moratorium on the construction, reconstruction, or redevelopment of property damaged by a covered hurricane; a more restrictive or burdensome amendment to its comprehensive plan or land development regulations; or a more restrictive or burdensome procedure concerning the review, approval, or issuance of a site plan, development permit, or development order.

To avoid conflict with Section 28, the proposed moratorium ordinance on large-scale data center development includes an exemption for any property with documented damage from Hurricane Debby or Helene. A property that qualifies for the exemption still requires Board approval through the Planned Unit Development process. This exemption does not establish development rights for a property or determine that a property is an appropriate location for a large-load customer or large-scale data center. While there are no pending applications for large load customer facilities, including large-scale data centers, any application received with a qualifying exemption would remain subject to all requirements of the Code and Comprehensive Plan, including location criteria based on anticipated impacts to infrastructure and utilities and off-site impacts to neighboring properties.

Analysis:

On July 14, 2026, the Board directed an 18-month moratorium on the siting of large-load customer facilities, including large-scale data centers. The moratorium temporarily pauses the acceptance, review, and approval of applicable development applications for the 18-month term. It does not impose a permanent prohibition on large-load customer facilities or large-scale data centers, and it will not interfere with any known projects as there are no approved or pending applications for large-scale data centers. This window gives County staff the necessary time to conduct research, gather public input, evaluate planning considerations, and ultimately bring recommended amendments to the Comprehensive Plan and Code back to the Board to protect public health, safety, and welfare. Staff anticipates returning to the Board with these findings and recommended amendments in September 2027 to seek additional Board guidance before initiating additional public hearings for formal adoption.

A key component of this evaluation is an upcoming independent study that SB 484 directs the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability (OPPAGA) to complete. This comprehensive study will evaluate economic development and tax revenue impacts; the consumption of land, water, and natural resources; energy use and associated rate impacts; and public health and safety. OPPAGA must submit the study to the Governor, the President of the Senate, and the Speaker of the House of Representatives by July 1, 2027.

During the June 10, 2026, City of Tallahassee Commission Meeting, City Manager Reese Goad responded to questions about whether the current utility grid could support large-scale data centers.[1] He remarked that neither the Comprehensive Plan nor the City's code permitted large-scale data centers and that the City would have to generate additional capacity in order to accommodate such a facility.

This moratorium ordinance applies to property within unincorporated Leon County. It does not apply County wide.

The enactment of a moratorium requires two public hearings by the Board. This item constitutes the first of those two hearings and requests the Board schedule the second and final public hearing for October 13, 2026, at 6:00 p.m.

Notice of Public Hearing

The public hearing has been advertised consistent with Florida Statutes (Attachment #2). A Business Impact Estimate was also provided online as required by Florida law (Attachment #3).

LEON COUNTY ORDINANCE NO. 2026-_____

AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA; ESTABLISHING A TEMPORARY MORATORIUM FOR A DURATION OF 18 MONTHS PAUSING THE ACCEPTANCE, REVIEW, OR APPROVAL OF APPLICATIONS FOR DEVELOPMENT PERMITS, DEVELOPMENT ORDERS, REZONING, OR SITE PLANS RELATED TO FACILITIES SERVING LARGE LOAD CUSTOMERS, INCLUDING LARGE-SCALE DATA CENTERS, WITHIN UNINCORPORATED LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA; ADOPTING FINDINGS; PROVIDING FOR THE STUDY AND DEVELOPMENT OF APPROPRIATE LAND USE REGULATIONS, INCLUDING COMPREHENSIVE PLAN AMENDMENTS, ADDRESSING SUCH FACILITY USES; PROVIDING FOR CONFLICTING PROVISIONS; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

RECITALS

WHEREAS, the Board of County Commissioners (Board) has the authority pursuant to Chapter 125, Florida Statutes, and Article VIII of the Florida Constitution to protect the public health, welfare, safety, and quality of life of its residents and to enact ordinances for valid governmental purposes that are not inconsistent with general or special law; and

WHEREAS, Senate Bill 484, as enacted in Chapter 2026-65, Laws of Florida, and effective on July 1, 2026, emphasizes the unique planning, infrastructure, and compatibility considerations that facilities with substantial electric or other utility demands may present, such as facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, and provides that such considerations and their associated impacts shall be addressed through local comprehensive planning and land development regulations; and

WHEREAS, neither the Leon County Development Code ("Code") nor the Tallahassee-Leon County 2050 Comprehensive Plan ("Comp. Plan") directly address facilities serving large load customers or data centers of any size; and

WHEREAS, Leon County features a distinct, environmentally sensitive landscape characterized by extensive karst topography, numerous watersheds, aquifer recharge areas, sinkholes, and direct conduits to the underlying Floridan Aquifer, creating an exceptional vulnerability to groundwater contamination and ecological disruption; and

WHEREAS, state and regional planning efforts emphasize the importance of careful management of large groundwater withdrawals to ensure long-term environmental and economic stability for connected surface waters, natural ecosystems, and the economic well-being of Florida's communities; and

WHEREAS, facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, are reported to generate significant noise and vibration and are known to require substantial water resources for cooling systems and substantial electrical power to support continuous computing operations, which in some cases require infrastructure demands comparable to small municipalities; and

WHEREAS, such facilities have the potential to place significant demands on regional groundwater supplies, water treatment infrastructure, and electrical grid capacity; and

WHEREAS, Leon County currently lacks specific zoning provisions or development regulations addressing the unique operational characteristics, infrastructure requirements, and environmental considerations associated with facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers; and

WHEREAS, allowing such facilities to proceed without appropriate regulatory standards could create risks to the County's water resources, electrical infrastructure capacity, land use planning objectives, and long-term community development strategy; and

WHEREAS, local governments may enact a moratorium if the moratorium is intended to preserve the status quo and is rationally related to the government's attempt to enact changes to development regulations. (WCI Communities Inc. v. City of Coral Springs, 885 So. 2d 912, 915 (Fla. 4th DCA 2004)); and

WHEREAS, Florida courts have held that permissible bases for land use restrictions include concern about the effect of the proposed development on traffic, congestion, surrounding property values, demands for public services, and on other aspects of the general welfare. (WCI Communities Inc. v. City of Coral Springs, 885 So.2d 912, 915 (Fla. 4th DCA 2004)(referencing Corn v. City of Lauderdale Lakes, 997 F.2d 1369, 1375 (11th Cir. 1993)); and

WHEREAS, local governments are entitled to enact moratoriums as a land-use tool to promote effective planning and preserve the status quo during this change. (Tahoe-Sierra Pres. Council, Inc. v. Tahoe Reg'l Planning Agency, 535 U.S. 302, 337, 122 S.Ct. 1465, L.Ed.2d 517 (2002)(holding temporary moratoria are used widely among land use planners to preserve the status quo while formulating a more permanent development strategy)); and

WHEREAS, the County will engage in the process of review, study, and information gathering to prepare and adopt amendments to its Code and/or Comp. Plan as may be necessary to address the demands of facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers; and

WHEREAS, a temporary moratorium on the acceptance, review, or approval of applications for development permits, development orders, rezoning, or site plans related to facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, within unincorporated Leon County will allow time to review, study, gather information, evaluate the results of the July 1, 2027, interdisciplinary study related to large-scale data centers that the Office of Program Policy Analysis and Government Accountability is undertaking, and prepare and adopt an amendment or amendments to the Code and/or Comp. Plan, as may be required, to address facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, uses; and

WHEREAS, the Board wishes to establish a temporary moratorium of 18 months on the acceptance, review, or approval of applications for development permits, development orders, rezoning, or site plans related to facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, within unincorporated areas and such moratorium is reasonable and necessary to accomplish the goal of revising its regulations to ensure the community welfare is well-balanced and the public health, safety and general welfare are preserved; and

WHEREAS, as of the date of the Board's consideration of this ordinance, the Board has not considered any application for a facility serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers; and

WHEREAS, on July 14, 2026, the Board directed staff to prepare an ordinance instituting a temporary moratorium on the acceptance, review, or approval of applications for facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers; and

WHEREAS, public notice of all hearings required by law has been provided in accordance with Chapters 125 and 163, Florida Statutes, and the Leon County Land Development Code; and

WHEREAS, this ordinance imposing an 18-month temporary moratorium on the acceptance, review, or approval of applications for facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, serves the health, safety, and welfare of the residents of and visitors to Leon County, Florida.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT ORDAINED by the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, as follows:

SECTION 1. FINDINGS OF FACT.

The foregoing recitals are hereby adopted as legislative findings of the Leon County Board of County Commissioners and are ratified and confirmed as being true and correct and are hereby made a specific part of this Ordinance upon adoption thereof.

SECTION 2. PURPOSE.

The purpose of this Ordinance is to allow Leon County sufficient time to review, study, respond to statewide reports and information, gather public input, and prepare and adopt an amendment or amendments to the Code and/or Comp. Plan, relating to facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers.

SECTION 3. TEMPORARY MORATORIUM ESTABLISHED.

A temporary moratorium is hereby established on the acceptance, review, processing, or approval of any rezoning applications, conditional use permits, development permits, site plan approvals, building permits, or other related development approvals for the construction, expansion, or operation of facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, within the unincorporated areas of Leon County.

SECTION 4. DEFINITIONS.

For the purposes of this moratorium, the following definitions apply:

"large load customer" is defined in section 366.043(2)(d), Florida Statutes, as: a customer with an anticipated monthly peak load of 50 megawatts or more, calculated as the highest average load over a 15-minute interval at a single location. The term does not include a load aggregated across multiple locations owned by the same customer. However, the term includes all customers or other entities that have entered into a colocation or similar agreement at a single location that otherwise meets the anticipated monthly peak load provided in this paragraph.

"data center" is defined in section 373.203(3), Florida Statutes, as: a facility that primarily contains electronic equipment used to process, store, and transmit digital information, which may be:

(a) A free-standing structure; or

(b) A facility within a larger structure which uses environmental control equipment to maintain the proper conditions for the operation of electronic equipment.

"large-scale data center" is defined in section 373.203(4), Florida Statutes, as: a single location, with a data center on site, that has an anticipated monthly peak load of 50 megawatts or more, calculated as the highest average load over a 15-minute interval. The term does not include a load aggregated across multiple locations owned by the same customer. However, the term includes all customers or other entities that have entered into a colocation or similar agreement at a single location that otherwise meets the anticipated monthly peak load provided in this subsection.

SECTION 5. EXEMPTIONS.

In consideration of Section 28 of Senate Bill 180, as enacted in Chapter 2025-190, Laws of Florida, properties within the jurisdiction of Leon County with documented damage from the Federal Disaster Declarations of Hurricanes Debby (DR-4806) or Helene (DR-4828) are exempt from this moratorium. However, any exempted property owner must still comply with federal and state law as well as all Code or Comp. Plan requirements. Leon County is not a county listed in the Federal Disaster Declarations for Hurricane Milton (DR-4834).

SECTION 6. STUDY AND EVALUATION.

During the moratorium period, Leon County staff shall conduct a comprehensive review of the potential impacts associated with facilities serving large load customers, including large-scale data centers, including but not limited to:

1. Groundwater withdrawal impacts, particularly as they relate to the Floridan Aquifer.

2. Water supply and wastewater treatment capacity, including potential impacts on municipal and regional water systems.

3. Electrical grid capacity and infrastructure requirements, including consultation with regional electric utilities regarding potential long-term demand impacts.

4. Land use compatibility, including appropriate zoning classifications and development standards for such facilities.

5. Environmental considerations, including impacts on karst topography, sinkholes, noise, vibrations, lighting, water quality and surrounding land uses.

6. Best practices adopted by other jurisdictions in Florida and throughout the United States for the regulation of data center development, including risk mitigation strategies for expansion, decommissioning, or abandonment.

SECTION 7. DEVELOPMENT OF BOARD UPDATE AND RECOMMENDATION.

County staff will survey lessons learned from other jurisdictions, proposals for related state agency rulemaking, updates to statewide utility tariff requirements and information, results of the statewide study from OPPAGA, and amendments to Florida Statutes; assess potential zoning districts and zoning limitations with input from subject matter experts and the public; and propose draft amendments to the Code and the Comp. Plan, if needed, to bring back to the Board for input and direction at planned intervals.

SECTION 8. DURATION.

This temporary moratorium shall remain in effect for a period of eighteen (18) months or until repealed, whichever first occurs.

SECTION 9. CONFLICT WITH OTHER ORDINANCES AND CODES.

All ordinances or parts of ordinances of the Code of Laws of Leon County, Florida, in conflict with the provisions of this Ordinance are hereby temporarily suspended to the extent of such conflict for the duration of this Ordinance.

SECTION 10. SEVERABILITY.

If any word, phrase, clause, section, or portion of this Ordinance is declared by any court of competent jurisdiction to be void, unconstitutional, or unenforceable, then all remaining provisions and portions of this Ordinance shall remain in full force and effect.

SECTION 11. EFFECTIVE DATE.

This ordinance shall take effect upon filing with the Florida Department of State.

DONE, ADOPTED, AND PASSED by the Board of County Commissioners of Leon County, Florida, this _____ day of _____, 2026.

Business Impact Estimate

In accordance with Section 125.66(3)(a), Florida Statutes (F.S.), a Business Impact Estimate (BIE) is required to be: 1) prepared before enacting certain ordinances and 2) posted on Leon County's website no later than the date the notice of intent to consider the proposed ordinance is advertised (which, per Section 125.66(2)(a), F.S., is at least ten (10) days before the Public Hearing).

Proposed Ordinance's title in full:

AN ORDINANCE OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA; ESTABLISHING A TEMPORARY MORATORIUM FOR A DURATION OF 18 MONTHS PAUSING THE ACCEPTANCE, REVIEW, OR APPROVAL OF APPLICATIONS FOR DEVELOPMENT PERMITS, DEVELOPMENT ORDERS, REZONING, OR SITE PLANS RELATED TO FACILITIES SERVING LARGE LOAD CUSTOMERS, INCLUDING LARGE-SCALE DATA CENTERS, WITHIN UNINCORPORATED LEON COUNTY, FLORIDA; ADOPTING FINDINGS; PROVIDING FOR THE STUDY AND DEVELOPMENT OF APPROPRIATE LAND USE REGULATIONS, INCLUDING COMPREHENSIVE PLAN AMENDMENTS, ADDRESSING SUCH FACILITY USES; PROVIDING FOR CONFLICTING PROVISIONS; PROVIDING FOR SEVERABILITY; AND PROVIDING AN EFFECTIVE DATE.

Proposed Ordinance Public Hearing Dates: September 15, 2026 & October 13, 2026

Pursuant to Section 125.66(3)(c), F.S., the following types of ordinances are exempt from the BIE requirement. As such, if one or more boxes are checked below, Leon County, Florida, believes that a BIE is not required by state law for the proposed ordinance referenced above. Leon County, Florida, reserves the right to revise this BIE following an initial posting.

- ☐ The proposed ordinance is required for compliance with Federal or State law or regulation;
- ☐ The proposed ordinance relates to the issuance or refinancing of debt;
- ☐ The proposed ordinance relates to the adoption of budgets or budget amendments, including revenue sources necessary to fund the budget;
- ☐ The proposed ordinance is required to implement a contract or an agreement, including, but not limited to, any Federal, State, local, or private grant, or other financial assistance accepted by a county government;
- ☐ The proposed ordinance is an emergency ordinance;
- ☐ The proposed ordinance relates to procurement; or
- ☐ The proposed ordinance is enacted to implement the following:
  a. Development orders and development permits, as those terms are defined in Section 163.3164, F.S., and development agreements, as authorized by the Florida Local Government Development Agreement Act under Sections 163.3220 – 163.3243, F.S.;

b. Comprehensive plan amendments and land development regulation amendments initiated by an application by a private party other than the County;
c. Sections 190.005 and 190.046, F.S., regarding community development districts;
d. Section 553.73, F.S., relating to the Florida Building Code; or
e. Section 633.202, F.S., relating to the Florida Fire Prevention Code.

In accordance with Florida law Leon County, Florida, hereby posts the following BIE information for this proposed Ordinance on its website for public viewing and consideration on this 4th day of September, 2026:

1. Summary of the proposed ordinance (must include statement of the public purpose, such as serving the public health, safety, morals, and welfare):

The proposed ordinance establishes a temporary 18-month moratorium within the unincorporated area of Leon County on the acceptance, review or approval of applications for development permits, development orders, rezoning, or site plans related to large-load customers, including large-scale data centers, as defined in sections 366.043(2)(d) and 373.203(4), F.S., respectively.

The public purpose of the proposed ordinance is to protect the public health, safety, and welfare by allowing the County sufficient time to study, draft, notice, review and adopt appropriate comprehensive plan policies and land development regulations addressing the unique planning infrastructure, compatibility, environmental, water resource, emergency service, and public facility impacts associated with large-load customer facilities and large-scale data centers.

The proposed ordinance is intended as a temporary planning measure. It is not intended to permanently prohibit large load customers or data centers, regulate electric utility rates or tariffs, or regulate matters within the jurisdiction of the Florida Public Service Commission.

2. Estimate of direct economic impact of the proposed ordinance on private, for-profit businesses in the county, including the following (if any):

a.) Estimate of direct compliance costs that businesses may reasonably incur if the ordinance is enacted:

The ordinance does not impose operational compliance standards or recurring regulatory compliance costs on existing businesses. The County does not currently have any pending applications or approvals for large-load customer facilities or large-scale data centers. Businesses seeking to establish a large-load customer facility or large-scale data center during the moratorium period may incur delay-related costs, consultant costs, legal costs, engineering costs, design modification costs, or option and contract extension costs. These costs are project-specific and indeterminate as they cannot be reasonably quantified.

b.) Any new charge or fee imposed by the proposed ordinance for which businesses will be financially responsible:

The proposed ordinance does not create a new charge or fee.

c.) Estimate of Leon County's regulatory costs, including estimated revenues from any new charges or fees to cover such costs:

The County will incur staff time and legal review costs associated with administering the moratorium and preparing any necessary comprehensive plan and land development code amendments. These costs are expected to be absorbed through existing staff resources. The ordinance creates no new charge or fee and therefore will not generate new revenue.

3. Good faith estimate of the number of businesses likely to be impacted by the proposed Ordinance:

Based on the scope of the proposed ordinance and the specialized nature and scale of large-load customer facilities and large-scale data centers, the number of directly impacted businesses is expected to be minimal, if any. The ordinance would apply only to businesses seeking County approval for a large-load customer facility or large-scale data center within the unincorporated area of Leon County. The County does not currently have any pending applications for large-load customer facilities or large-scale data centers. Nor has the County approved any applications that meet the definitions for large-load customer facilities or large scale data centers.

4. Additional information Leon County deems necessary (if any):

The moratorium period is 18 months from the effective date of the ordinance, unless earlier terminated by the Board of County Commissioners. The ordinance directs County staff to review and prepare any necessary comprehensive plan and land development code amendments addressing the siting, design, review, compatibility, infrastructure capacity, environmental, water resource, emergency service, and public facility impacts of large load customer facilities and large-scale data centers.

This Business Impact Estimate is based on information available to the County at the time of preparation and is intended to satisfy the requirements of section 125.66(3), Florida Statutes.

Notes for Agenda Item #33

Leon County Board of County Commissioners

Agenda Item #33

September 15, 2026

To: Honorable Chairman and Members of the Board

From: Vincent S. Long, County Administrator

Title: First and Only Public Hearing to Consider an Ordinance Amending the Leon County Tourist Development Plan, Incorporated within Chapter 11, Section 11-710, of the Code of Laws of Leon County

Review and Approval:	Vincent S. Long, County Administrator
Department / Division Review:	Ken Morris, Assistant County Administrator Chasity H. O'Steen, County Attorney Mathieu Cavell, Director of Community Relations, Resilience, and Innovation
Lead Staff / Project Team:	Kerri L. Post, Director, Division of Tourist Development Jon LaBarre, Senior Operations Manager

Statement of Issue:

This item requests the Board conduct the First and Only Public Hearing to consider an Ordinance amending the Leon County Tourist Development Plan, incorporated within Chapter 11, Section 11-710, of the Code of Laws of Leon County and to repeal Leon County Resolution 15-12. The proposed amendments serve two primary purposes: (1) to provide for a revised administration and oversight structure for the County's Cultural Tourism Grant programs; and (2) to update the Tourist Development Plan to reflect current tourism operations and authorize new programmatic functions, including the new tourism industry incentive program. The item also seeks approval of the second amendment to the Fiscal Year (FY) 2021 – FY 2026 agreement between the County and the Council on Culture and Arts (COCA) for FY 2027 to provide for the transition to the new Cultural Tourism Grant structure.

Fiscal Impact:

This item has a fiscal impact. The Board provided direction to move to a Service and Advisory Model to administer the County's cultural programming and continue the County's annual commitment of $150,000 in General Revenue for program administration. In addition, during the FY 2027 budget process, the Board approved maintaining the funding level for the annual arts and cultural programming and grant program administration utilizing Tourist Development Tax (TDT) funds in the amount of $1.9 million based on current year revenue projections.

Staff Recommendation:

Option #1: Conduct the First and Only Public Hearing to consider an Ordinance amending the Leon County Tourist Development Plan, incorporated within Chapter 11, Section 11-710, of the Code of Laws of Leon County (Attachment #1).

Option #2: Repeal Leon County Resolution R15-12 (Attachment #3).

Option #3: Approve the draft second amendment to the FY 2021 – FY 2026 agreement between the County and Council on Culture and Arts for FY 2027 and authorize the County Administrator or designee to execute the Agreement when finalized (Attachment #4), and approve and execute any modifications, amendments, or associated agreements thereto, all subject to legal review and revision by the County Attorney.

Report and Discussion

Background:

This item seeks to conduct the First and Only Public Hearing to consider an Ordinance amending the Leon County Tourist Development Plan (Attachment #1), incorporated within Chapter 11, Section 11-710, of the Code of Laws of Leon County and to repeal Leon County Resolution 15-12 (Attachment #3). The proposed amendments serve two primary purposes: (1) to provide for a revised administration and oversight structure for the County's Cultural Tourism Grant programs; and (2) to update the Tourist Development Plan to reflect current tourism operations and authorize new programmatic functions, including the new tourism industry incentive program. The item also seeks approval of the one-year second amendment to the FY 2021 – FY 2026 agreement between the County and COCA for FY 2027 (Attachment #4), to provide for the transition to the new Cultural Tourism Grant structure.

The Leon County Tourist Development Plan, as amended and proposed in this item, advances the following FY 2022 – FY 2026 Strategic Plan Bold Goal:

- Grow the five-year tourism economy by $5 billion. (BG1)

This particular Bold Goal aligns with the Board's Economy Strategic Priority:

- (EC4) Grow our tourism economy, its diversity, competitiveness, and economic impact.

Additionally, the proposed Leon County Tourist Development Plan aligns with the Board's Five-Year Target in Quality of Life:

- (T10) Support 900 community events, sporting competitions, festivals, performances, and cultural programming that will attract visitors and residents.

Leon County's Current Cultural Tourism Grant Structure

Each year, Leon County Government utilizes Tourist Development Tax (TDT) revenues generated from transient lodging sales to promote Leon County as a visitor destination. The Leon County Division of Tourism's budget, as approved by the Board each year, is comprised entirely of TDT revenues and includes funding for grant programs to support events designed to draw visitors to Leon County. In addition to the competitive grant programs administered through the Division of Tourism, TDT revenues have been annually dedicated to COCA for the administration of the Capital Area Cultural Plan and grant programs in support of local cultural arts programs and activities.

In 2014 and 2015, the County undertook a series of actions that established the current framework for County funding of arts and cultural programming. On December 9, 2014, the Board approved an Interlocal Agreement with the City of Tallahassee that provided for each government to contribute not less than $150,000 annually from general revenue to support COCA's operational expenses. The Interlocal Agreement subsequently expired in 2021; however, the County has continued its annual $150,000 General Revenue contribution for administration of arts and cultural programming.

On February 10, 2015, the Board amended County Ordinance 11-46 and 11-47 (the County's Tourist Development Tax Ordinance) and incorporated the dedication of 1¼ cents of TDT in the Tourist Development Plan, estimated at approximately $1.25 million at that time, to support COCA's administration of cultural grant programs, capital matching grants for arts and cultural facilities, and components of the Capital Area Cultural Plan that supported tourism and related marketing, consistent with Section 125.0104, Florida Statutes. This included the dedication of ¼ cent of the TDT for a period of five (5) years beginning in FY 2015.

At the same meeting, the Board adopted Resolution No. 15-12 to establish requirements governing the use of TDT revenues for these purposes. The Resolution described the eligible cultural tourism programs, their relationship to the promotion of tourism, and allowable and non-allowable expenditures. The Tourist Development Plan and Resolution No. 15-12 have remained largely unchanged since 2015, notwithstanding subsequent changes to the County's cultural tourism programs and tourism operations and expiration of the ¼ cent TDT dedication, as detailed in the Analysis section of this item.

New Administration and Oversight Structure for the County's Cultural Tourism Grants

More recently, at its September 9, 2025 meeting, the Board directed staff to conduct a comprehensive analysis of the County's funding and administrative structure for arts and cultural programming during the FY 2027 budget development process.

Staff presented the comprehensive analysis on May 12, 2026, and the Board directed that the structural decision be brought back as part of its June 16, 2026 Budget Workshop. At the Budget Workshop, following consideration of three structural alternatives, the Board approved a Service and Advisory Model for arts and cultural programming including specific direction to:

- Retain County custody of the TDT cultural grant funds in a manner that preserves the Council on Culture and Arts' (COCA's) National Endowment for the Arts funding and required non-federal match;
- Return to the Board with a multi-year service agreement designating COCA as the County's qualified service provider for the administration of the cultural grant program that includes cultural tourism marketing – including application review, scoring, and award recommendations;
- Continue the County's annual commitment of $150,000 in General Revenue for program administration with the Board setting the annual arts and cultural programming funding level through the budget process, maintained at $1.9 million for FY 2027;
- FY 2028 Cultural Grant Guidelines to be developed collaboratively by COCA and the County, with final approval by the County; and
- Schedule the first and only public hearing to consider an ordinance amending the Leon County Tourist Development Plan, incorporated within Chapter 11, Section 11-710, Leon County Code.

The Board also directed that the FY 2021 – FY 2026 funding agreement between the County and COCA, which is set to expire on September 30, 2026, be extended through FY 2027 to maintain existing services and funding during the transition to the new Service and Advisory Model for County arts and cultural programming. The Board's actions from the Budget Workshop were ratified at the July 14, 2026 regular meeting.

Analysis:

At the June 16, 2026 Budget Workshop, following consideration of three structural alternatives, the Board approved a Service and Advisory Model for arts and cultural programming that maintains County custody and oversight of TDT revenues supporting cultural programming utilizes COCA as the County's qualified service provider for administration of the Cultural Tourism Grant program, and provides for the Board to establish the annual funding level for arts and cultural programming through the County's budget process. The Board also directed staff to amend the Tourist Development Plan as necessary to implement the new structure and extend the existing agreement with COCA through FY 2027 to provide for an orderly transition to the new model.

Accordingly, this item seeks to:

- Amend the Leon County Tourist Development Plan (Attachment #1) to implement the revised administration, oversight, and funding structure for the County's Cultural Tourism Grant programs. Separately, this item also seeks to incorporate additional amendments to the County's County Tourist Development Plan to reflect current tourism operations and authorize new programmatic functions, including targeted tourism industry incentive programs, as previously directed by the Board;
- Repeal Leon County Resolution No. 15-12, which established requirements for the previous cultural tourism funding and program structure and contains provisions related to programs and plans that have since concluded or expired; and
- Approve a one-year Second Amendment to the FY 2021–FY 2026 Agreement with COCA through FY 2027 to maintain cultural tourism grant administration and related services during the transition to the Service and Advisory Model.

Each of these actions is discussed in further detail in the Analysis below.

Proposed Amendments to the Tourism Development Plan

A draft Ordinance has been prepared amending the Tourist Development Plan as directed by the Board. Any changes to the Tourist Development Plan must be approved by Ordinance, adopted upon affirmative vote of a majority plus one additional member of the Board, pursuant to section 125.0104(4)(d), Florida Statutes. The proposed Ordinance has been advertised consistent with state law and the Leon County Code of Laws (Attachment #1).

This proposed Ordinance amendment would effectuate the Board approved changes by revising the structural approach to an Advisory and Service Model, as opposed to a direct pass-through, and establishing the new funding mechanism for TDT to support the County's arts and cultural programming and grant administration by COCA in its mission to serve the arts community. This proposed Ordinance specifies annual appropriations of the TDT dedicated to COCA shall be established by the Board through the County's annual budget process. Expenditure of funds allocated by the Board to be administered by our qualified service provider must be used for arts and cultural programming and administration of the cultural grant program that support economic development through tourism and related marketing, and must be consistent with uses authorized in section 125.0104, Florida Statutes. The proposed Ordinance also updates the 2015 destination overview and objectives, and modifies the Division of Tourism functional areas to accurately reflect the allowable activities conducted in alignment with section 125.0104, Florida Statutes, by the Division of Tourism today.

Additionally, the amendments to the Ordinance and Tourist Development Plan also provided an opportunity to review the 2015 information to update and/or add sections in the Tourist Development Plan to reflect current and new operational functions including:

- Provided a current review of the destination, objectives and governance structure; and
- Established Targeted Tourism Industry-Sector Incentive Programs to align the existing Film & TV Production Incentive Program, and the proposed new Incentive for Marquee Event Partnerships At Colleges/Universities for Tourism (IMPACT Program) as presented in a separate item for Board consideration; and
- Established a section for County concerts at the Adderly Amphitheater and other venues in the community, along with other special events produced and/or supported year-round; and
- Refocused Tourism's Direct Sales Programs for Sports and Meetings & Groups to increase the focus on sports and to reflect the current alignment of sales efforts and outreach to event rights-holders and meeting planners; and
- Updated the Visitor Information Centers and Group Services function to reflect current operational practices serving visitors while in-market.

Repeal of Leon County Resolution No. 15-12

Additionally, the attached Resolution to repeal Leon County Resolution R15-12 is needed as R15-12 contains outdated statutory language and provides findings related to certain grant programs and plans, including the Capital Needs Matching Grant Program and the Capital Area Cultural Plan, which are no longer active or have expired. The revisions made to County Ordinance 11-710 and the repeal of County Resolution R15-12, allow for changes to the Tourist Development Plan to be implemented, enabling the program changes directed by the Board to modify the County's arts and cultural programming administrative structure, oversight and accountability requirements.

One-Year Agreement Extension

Finally, staff was directed to develop a one-year second amendment to the FY 2021 – FY 2026 Agreement (Attachment #4) between the County and COCA through FY 2027, continuing certain annual commitments and funding levels to enable a transition to the new model for administering the Cultural and Arts Grant programs, and to develop the full reorganization to the Service and Advisory Model for County arts and cultural programming. The one-year second amendment for FY 2027 presented for consideration maintains the funding level including $1,900,000 in TDT and $150,000 in General Revenue, in addition to the following considerations:

- Modifies the Grant Guidelines development and approval process;
- Confirms that up to 10% of TDT allocated to COCA may be used for operating expenses;
- Outlines the quarterly payment schedule and includes a new year-end "carry-forward" funding request document prepared by COCA for the County's consideration and approval;
- Removes the references and attachments of the COCA Cultural Plan and/or Capital Area Cultural Plan, which COCA's Board determined has previously expired.
- Adds new language regarding compliance with Section 125.595, Florida Statutes, regarding new DEI restrictions on uses of County funding, indemnification for non-compliance, and termination for cause.

The amendments to the Leon County Ordinance, the Tourist Development Plan, and repeal of Resolution R15-12 will allow staff to move forward with Board direction to modify the administrative structure, oversight, and accountability requirements for the County's arts and cultural programming. The one-year second amendment to the FY 2021 – FY 2026 agreement between the County and COCA for FY 2027 will allow staff and COCA to continue to work toward a multi-year agreement in alignment with Board direction. The additional revisions to the Tourist Development Plan add new programming and bring the plan up to date to reflect current and new operational functions.

An affirmative vote of a majority plus one would be required to approve changes to the Tourist Development Plan, pursuant to section 125.0104(4)(d), Florida Statutes. A simple majority vote of the Board is needed for repeal of Leon County Resolution R15-12 and approval of the second amendment to the Agreement with COCA.

EXHIBIT A
LEON COUNTY TOURIST DEVELOPMENT PLAN
(Date of Adoption: September 15, 2026)

I. Destination Overview and Objectives

Leon County, Florida's Capital County, functions as a primary hub for North Central Florida regional commerce, governance, education, and tourism. The destination possesses year-round tourism assets and attractors, including prominent state government institutions, two NCAA Division 1 universities, and important American history sites.

The County's geographic position provides unique nature-based and outdoor recreation resources, featuring an extensive network of canopy roads, public parks and trails, and protected areas of biological diversity. Culturally, the destination is enhanced by an established arts, culinary, and entertainment ecosystem, highlighted by major regional venues including The Adderley Amphitheater at Cascades Park.

Leon County has established a distinct competitive advantage in sports tourism through premier, dedicated public athletic infrastructure—including the world championship-caliber cross-country course at Leon County's Apalachee Regional Park. Collectively, these assets form a robust visitor economy that drives consistent, non-seasonal overnight visitation, expands the local tax base, and directly enhances the quality of life and economic resilience for all County residents.

The Tourist Development Plan constitutes the official framework to guide the activities and the expenditure of Tourist Development Tax (TDT) revenues collected pursuant to Section 125.0104, Florida Statutes. The objective of this plan is to increase visitor volume, extend the length of visitor stays, and expand visitor spending and the economic impact of tourism in Leon County across sports, recreational, leisure, festivals/events, arts, meetings/conferences/groups, educational, and film-related travel sectors.

Revenues expended under this Plan shall be directed toward activities and initiatives that generate direct economic impact with documented return-on-investment (ROI) supporting the quality of life of County residents by growing the tourism economy.

II. Statutory Governance and Administrative Structure

Pursuant to Section 125.0104, Florida Statutes, the Leon County Tourist Development Council (TDC) shall serve as the official advisory body to the Board of County Commissioners (BOCC) on all matters pertaining to the expenditure of TDT proceeds. The TDC shall meet at least quarterly to review County TDT revenues and expenditure reports, evaluate marketing data, and, from time to time, submit formal recommendations to the BOCC regarding the effective operation of the special projects or for uses of the tourist development tax revenue and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by county ordinance or resolution. The TDC shall continuously review expenditures of revenues from the tourist development trust fund and shall receive, at least quarterly, expenditure reports from the County. Contractors and qualified service providers may be retained by the County to provide professional services that may include, but not limited to, tourism marketing research, advertising/marketing/public relations, arts programming and County concerts/events, and they may also make periodic presentations to the TDC, in addition to any tourism industry issues/updates as identified by the TDC. Expenditures which the TDC believes to be unauthorized shall be reported to the BOCC and the Florida Department of Revenue.

Administrative support to the TDC and the execution of programs authorized under this Plan shall be provided by County employees within the Division of Tourism, operating publicly as Visit Tallahassee, under the direction of the County Administrator or their designee, on behalf of the BOCC. In support of County Tourism Strategic Plan Goals and Objectives, staff shall develop an annual destination Marketing and Sales Plan and budget utilizing tourism research data and industry input, as approved by the Division of Tourism Director. Following review and approval by the TDC, the recommended budget associated with the annual Marketing and Sales Plan shall be provided to the BOCC for final approval and appropriation within the annual County budget process.

As established by the BOCC through the annual budget process, the TDT revenues shall be 100% allocated toward promoting, advertising and marketing Leon County as a destination through the following allowable uses of tax revenues: (1) Advertising/Marketing; (2) Public Relations/Promotions; (3) Direct Sales – Sports Event Sales and Meeting/Conference/Group Sales; (4) County Concerts and Special Events; (5) Tourism Event Grants Programs; (6) Targeted Tourism Industry-Sector Incentive Programs; (7) Visitor Information Centers and Group Services; (8) Administration; (9) Research and Analysis; and (10) Arts and Cultural Programming that supports tourism, economic development, and tourism marketing.

It is the intent of the BOCC that excess TDT revenues accumulated annually in the Fund Balance may be used for planned County Tourism related Strategic Initiatives as approved annually during the budget process or in non-budgeted tourism promotion situations, such as unanticipated events and/or opportunistic initiatives, or following natural disasters or other emergencies, subject to the approval of the BOCC.

III. Core Operational Framework and Major Functional Areas

To advance County Tourism Strategic Plan Goals and Objectives, the Division of Tourism shall organize its administration and execute TDT allocations across the following areas of operation as presented in the annual Marketing and Sales Plan:

- Advertising and Marketing: Advertising and marketing is an important component of the destination TDC's Marketing and Sales Plan. After a search process of appropriate firms is conducted in a manner consistent with the County's adopted purchasing policies and procedures, the County may secure an advertising agency or agencies. The agency will work with staff on visitor-related advertising and marketing as established per agreement, including the creation, production, and placement of multi-channel destination marketing advertising and media campaigns utilizing print, broadcast, digital, programmatic, paid search, and streaming media platforms, etc., to maintain destination awareness and consideration. Advertising, marketing and media buys will also target vertical markets including, but not limited to, leisure travel, family, sports, adventure/recreation/outdoor, businesses, groups, culinary, arts and culture, film and other niche markets as appropriate. Tourism staff may directly manage the social media channels and procurement, development, and maintenance of web-based applications, including itinerary builders, print and digital publications, asset maps, mobile applications and promotions, designed to facilitate real-time user engagement.

- Public Relations/Promotions: PR/promotions is an important element for generating earned media for the destination. An agency or agencies may be retained by the County after a search process is conducted in a manner consistent with the County's adopted purchasing policies and procedures.. As established by agreement, the management of media relations in both the consumer and travel trade space, conducting press tours, promotional activations and events, leveraging content creators, and utilizing publicity strategies and communications is essential to generate earned media coverage regionally, domestically and internationally in key media outlets, target feeder markets, and to communicate local achievements.

- Direct Sales: Direct sales efforts and outreach to sports event rights-holders and meeting/event planners is an important component of the destination's Marketing and Sales Plan. Direct sales and service activities are critical to success in identification, bid development, securing and supporting/delivering sports competitions and meeting/conference/group events. Activities may include stakeholder sales missions, targeted B2B industry events, sales event promotions, trade association deployments and activations, targeting key sports/industry/group travel markets, tour operators, and strategic affinity group segments.

    - Sports Event Sales: Sports event sales leverage public sports infrastructure to bid for, secure, and host local, state, regional, national, and international athletic competitions. The marketing, administrative execution, and operational coordination of sports tourism initiatives as a primary, year-round economic driver and source of non-seasonal overnight visitation. Sports events sales staff are also responsible for the management and coordination of the Tallahassee Sports Council, a County established focus group supporting the work of sports event sales.

- Meeting/Conference/Group Sales: Meeting/Conference/Group sales targets meetings, conferences, conventions, and groups to leverage existing hotels, meeting space, public and private venues/facilities to host functions in the destination. Sales and service activities may include direct corporate, educational, and association group identification and solicitation, trade show representations, conducting site inspections, and assistance in securing local lodging and meeting facilities, logistics and other group support services.

- County Concerts and Special Events: The Division produces and/or supports numerous concerts at The Adderley Amphitheater and other local venues, and special events throughout the year to drive visitation, elevate destination awareness, showcase Tallahassee-Leon County as a vibrant community, generate economic impact and quality of life benefits for Leon County residents. A contractor(s) and/or event planner(s) may be secured and retained with event services established per agreement.

- Tourism Event Grant Programs: The administration of performance-based event grant funding to support community festivals, events, and sports competitions that demonstrate a documented capacity or verified potential to generate overnight lodging stays and measurable economic impact within the County, in addition to providing marketing visibility for Tallahassee-Leon County regionally, domestically, and internationally.

- Targeted Tourism Industry-Sector Incentive Programs: The administration of strategically-targeted performance-based funding programs to significantly expand the destination's visibility and visitation including, but not limited to, film and TV production, large-scale marquee events with collegiate partners, major conferences/groups and/or sports tournaments that leverage partner resources and demonstrate a documented capacity or verified potential to generate significant overnight lodging stays, significant destination marketing exposure, and measurable economic impact within the County as approved by the TDC.

- Visitor Information Centers and Group Services: This component focuses on servicing the visitors currently in the destination to enhance the visit by highlighting local experiences and products, extend visitor stays, and encourage repeat visitation. Operational funding, staffing, procurement, and inventory management of the physical visitor information centers and associated retail operations to provide direct-to-consumer services, collateral distribution, and regional destination navigation.

- Administration: The County will hire professional staff as necessary to manage the operations of the Division and handle administrative matters carrying out its policies. Responsibilities of the Division Director shall include, but not be limited to: directing and ensuring all programs comply with state and federal statutes and local ordinances and executing tourism initiatives as assigned by the BOCC; direct, coordinate and monitor all professional staff and tourism-related firms and vendors under contract with the County; direct management, coordination and oversight of all communications, meetings and activities of the TDC and Tallahassee Sports Council; Coordinate and act as liaison to all local and regional stakeholders involved with tourist development including Chambers of Commerce, universities/colleges, hotels, attractions, restaurant groups, arts groups, state and regional destination marketing organizations; in coordination with relevant County departments, work with local, state, and regional media to effectively communicate County tourism programs to the public and convey the importance of increased visitor spending and impact to the local economy; and all other duties as assigned.

- Tourism Research and Data Analysis: After a search process of appropriate firms is conducted in a manner consistent with the County's adopted purchasing policies and procedures, the County may secure and retain a professional Tourism research firm(s) to conduct scientifically valid ongoing visitor data collection and regular detailed reporting. As established by agreement, the data and strategic insights provided may include but not limited to, demographic, psychographic, behavioral, motivation/intention, economic, and statistical analysis of visitors, and targeted initiatives to inform destination marketing decision-making and economic impact modeling and reporting for verified return-on-investment tracking to justify the expenditure of public funds.

- Arts and Cultural Programming: Commencing October 1, 2026, the County will contract with the Council on Culture & Arts (COCA), or another qualified service provider, to implement arts and cultural tourism marketing strategies and administer a Cultural Grant Program which includes tourism marketing that supports tourism economic development as established by agreement. Annual appropriations for these programs shall be funded from TDT collections in the Tourism budget to be established annually by the Board of County Commissioners through the budget process. All programs, projects, activities and expenditures funded must comply with uses authorized in Section 125.0104, Florida Statutes, and all other applicable laws. Leon County shall retain financial oversight of all TDT revenues allocated under this section.

County TDT revenues and expenditure reports, evaluate marketing data, and, from time to time, ~~shall make~~ submit formal ~~-~~recommendations to the BOCC ~~County Commission for~~ regarding the effective operation of the special projects or for uses of the tourist development tax revenue and perform such other duties as may be prescribed by county ordinance or resolution. The TDC shall continuously review expenditures of revenues from the tourist development trust fund and shall receive, at least quarterly, expenditure reports from the County. Contractors and qualified service providers may be retained by the County to provide professional services that may include, but not limited to, tourism marketing research, advertising/marketing/public relations, arts programming and County concerts/events, and they may also make periodic presentations to the TDC, in addition to any tourism industry issues/updates as identified by the TDC. Expenditures which the TDC believes to be unauthorized shall be reported to the BOCC ~~County Commission~~ and the Florida Department of Revenue.

Administrative support to the TDC and the execution of programs authorized under this Plan shall be provided by County employees within the Division of Tourism, operating publicly as Visit Tallahassee, under the direction of the County Administrator or their designee, on behalf of the BOCC. In support of County Tourism Strategic Plan Goals and Objectives, staff shall develop an annual destination Marketing and Sales Plan and budget utilizing tourism research data and industry input, as approved by the Division of Tourism Director. Following review and approval by the TDC, the recommended budget associated with the annual Marketing and Sales Plan shall be provided to the BOCC for final approval and appropriation within the annual County budget process.

~~An annual Marketing Plan and budget will be developed by County staff, utilizing industry stakeholder input, and thereafter presented to the TDC for its consideration. The TDC will then issue a recommended budget in support of the Marketing Plan to the County Commission.~~

~~Expenditures which the TDC believes support an optimum Marketing Plan for Tourist Development may be allocated to the following elements: ~~As established by the BOCC through the annual budget process, the TDT revenues shall be 100% allocated toward promoting, advertising and marketing Leon County as a destination through the following allowable uses of tax revenues: (1) A~~a~~dvertising/Marketing; (2) P~~p~~ublic R~~r~~elations/P~~p~~romotions; (3) Direct Sales – Sports Event Sales and Meeting/Conference/Group Sales ~~research and analysis~~; (4) ~~direct sales~~ County Concerts and Special Events; (5) ~~convention and visitor services~~ Tourism Event Grants Programs; (6) ~~special events~~ Targeted Tourism Industry-Sector Incentive Programs; ~~and~~ (7) ~~administration~~ Visitor Information Centers and Group Services; ~~and~~ (8) ~~the cultural grant program, the capital needs matching grants for arts and cultural facilities program, and components of the Capital Area Cultural Plan that support economic development through tourism and related marketing~~ Administration; (9) Research and Analysis; and (10) Arts and Cultural Programming that supports tourism, economic development, and tourism marketing. ~~Effective October 1, 2014, the one-cent tourist development tax which had been dedicated to the performing arts center(s) shall no longer be dedicated for such purpose and shall be retained by the County to be utilized in~~ ~~accordance with Florida law.~~

~~All expenditures of tourist development tax revenues, including the Marketing Plan shall be presented to the County Commission as annual recommendations of the TDC, but in no case, shall the total of all budget allocations exceed 100 percent of the annual estimated revenue budget.~~

It is the intent of the BOCC ~~County Commission~~ that excess ~~funds~~ TDT revenues accumulated annually in the Fund Balance may be used for planned County Tourism related Strategic Initiatives as approved annually during the budget process or in non-budgeted tourism promotion situations, such as unanticipated events and/or opportunistic initiatives, or following natural disasters or other~~,~~ emergencies, ~~or other unanticipated events,~~ subject to the approval of the BOCC ~~County Commission~~.

III. Core Operational Framework and Major Functional Areas

~~Staff assistance to the TDC shall be provided by Leon County employees in the Department of Tourism Development under the direction of the County Administrator or his designee, on behalf of the Board of County Commissioners.~~

~~In order for the TDC to have best possible information to serve as an advisory council to the County Commission, tourism development staff will provide at least quarterly reports to the TDC on its activities. In addition, the contractors providing services for marketing research, advertising and public relations/promotions will also make similar reports. Periodic issues relating to the tourism industry will be presented and discussed as desired or necessary.~~

~~The TDC will recommend expenditure of available tourist development tax dollars in the following categories:~~

To advance County Tourism Strategic Plan Goals and Objectives, the Division of Tourism shall organize its administration and execute TDT allocations across the following areas of operation as presented in the annual Marketing and Sales Plan:

~~Advertising~~

- Advertising and Marketing: Advertising and marketing is an important component of the destination ~~in the~~ TDC's Marketing and Sales Plan. ~~An advertising agency or agencies may be retained by the County after a thorough search of appropriate firms is conducted~~. After a search process of appropriate firms is conducted in a manner consistent with the County's adopted purchasing policies and procedures, the County may secure an advertising agency or agencies. The agency will work with staff ~~and the TDC's advertising committee and be responsible for developing an image of the County that will be uniformly projected in all the visitor related advertising including TV, radio, print, internet, etc.~~ on visitor-related advertising and marketing as established per agreement, including the creation, production, and placement of multi-channel destination marketing advertising and media campaigns utilizing print, broadcast, digital, programmatic, paid search, and streaming media platforms, etc. to maintain destination awareness and consideration. Advertising, marketing and media buys will also target vertical markets including, but not limited to, leisure travel, family, sports, adventure/recreation/outdoor, businesses, groups, culinary, arts and culture, film and other niche markets as appropriate. Tourism staff may directly manage the social media channels and procurement, development, and maintenance of web-based applications, including itinerary builders, print and digital publications, asset maps, mobile applications and promotions, designed to facilitate real-time user engagement.

~~The agency, as directed and coordinated by staff, will be responsible for the following tasks:~~

~~1. Create, produce and place advertising messages that increase awareness of the County as a destination for business, convention, sports, film, leisure travel and other niche markets once identified.~~
~~2. Develop a media plan that identifies the optimum utilization of available advertising dollars to both leisure and various trade markets.~~
~~3. Develop cooperative advertising programs with hotels, airlines, attractions and other industry stakeholders.~~
~~4. Maximize the reach and effectiveness of www.visittallahassee.com and any other Web sites that may be utilized by the County for tourism promotion.~~
~~5. Provide support in the development and production of targeted collateral materials such as the Visitor Guide.~~
~~6. Other tasks as assigned.~~

~~Public Relations/Promotions~~

~~A public relations firm may be retained by the County to perform the following functions:~~

~~1. Develop a public relations strategy consistent with the goals of the Marketing Plan for Tourist Development.~~
~~2. Develop and coordinate promotions to support advertising efforts.~~
~~3. Develop and implement publicity strategies for key markets and targeted media.~~
~~4. Design and implement strategies to communicate with local citizens the achievements and goals of the TDC.~~
~~5. Develop and coordinate strategies to support advertising and publicity efforts.~~
~~6. Other tasks as assigned.~~

- Public Relations/Promotions: PR/promotions is an important element for generating earned media for the destination. An agency or agencies may be retained by the County after a search process is conducted in a manner consistent with the County's adopted purchasing policies and procedures.. As established by agreement, the management of media relations in both the consumer and travel trade space, conducting press tours, promotional activations and events, leveraging content creators, and utilizing publicity strategies and communications is essential to generate earned media coverage regionally, domestically and internationally in key media outlets, target feeder markets, and to communicate local achievements.

~~Research and Analysis~~

~~Research will help provide a clear understanding of who is the County's core customer and identify the size and scope of certain target markets to help to refine the creative message intended to be conveyed. The research firm of record will seek to generate information from visitors and potential visitors which can be utilized in developing marketing strategies. The information will be gathered by interviews with visitors at hotels, airports, attractions and other businesses frequented by tourists, business conferences and conventions, and special events. Interviews may also be conducted with visitors in key target cities and via the Internet to determine their perceptions of Tallahassee as a destination for convention, vacation, business, etc. Questions will be asked and research analyzed on items such as length of stay, money spent, demographic considerations and interest in specific activities, etc. Research and analysis will be utilized to help establish benchmarks from which to measure the TDC's success with advertising, promotion and direct sales strategies. Research will provide the necessary information to make course corrections in marketing strategy.~~

~~Direct Sales~~

~~Direct sales shall comprise a very important component of the Marketing Plan. It is vital to effectively mesh the direct sales efforts with the advertising and public relations strategies in order to be successful in winning leisure, sports and convention and conference business. Direct sales involves a host of activities directed at conference planners, travel agents, tour operators, consumers, film producers, sports promoters and others as identified including attending related trade and consumer shows, conducting sales missions, direct mail and email, and joining and becoming active in trade associations. It also involves doing a good job of servicing these groups when they come to Leon County. The advertising and public relations agencies will be supportive and ensure printed materials, ads, and publicity are cohesive and effectively communicate the tourism related messages of the TDC and County.~~

- Direct Sales: Direct sales efforts and outreach to sports event rights-holders and meeting/event planners is an important component of the destination's Marketing and Sales Plan. Direct sales and service activities are critical to success in identification, bid development, securing and supporting/delivering sports competitions and meeting/conference/group events. Activities may include stakeholder sales missions, targeted B2B industry events, sales event promotions, trade association deployments and activations, targeting key sports/industry/group travel markets, tour operators, and strategic affinity group segments.
    - Sports Event Sales: Sports event sales leverage public sports infrastructure to bid for, secure, and host local, state, regional, national, and international athletic competitions. The marketing, administrative execution, and operational coordination of sports tourism initiatives as a primary, year-round economic driver and source of non-seasonal overnight visitation. Sports events sales staff are also responsible for the management and coordination of the Tallahassee Sports Council, a County established focus group supporting the work of sports event sales.

- Meeting/Conference/Group Sales: Meeting/Conference/Group sales targets meetings, conferences, conventions, and groups to leverage existing hotels, meeting space, public and private venues/facilities to host functions in the destination. Sales and service activities may include direct corporate, educational, and association group identification and solicitation, trade show representations, conducting site inspections, and assistance in securing local lodging and meeting facilities, logistics and other group support services.

- County Concerts and Special Events: The Division produces and/or supports numerous concerts at The Adderley Amphitheater and other local venues, and special events throughout the year to drive visitation, elevate destination awareness, showcase Tallahassee-Leon County as a vibrant community, generate economic impact and quality of life benefits for Leon County residents. A contractor(s) and/or event planner(s) may be secured and retained with event services established per agreement.

- Tourism Event Grant Programs: The administration of performance-based event grant funding to support community festivals, events, and sports competitions that demonstrate a documented capacity or verified potential to generate overnight lodging stays and measurable economic impact within the County, in addition to providing marketing visibility for Tallahassee-Leon County regionally, domestically, and internationally.

- Targeted Tourism Industry-Sector Incentive Programs: The administration of strategically-targeted performance-based funding programs to significantly expand the destination's visibility and visitation including, but not limited to, film and TV production, large-scale marquee events with collegiate partners, major conferences/groups and/or sports tournaments that leverage partner resources and demonstrate a documented capacity or verified potential to generate significant overnight lodging stays, significant destination marketing exposure, and measurable economic impact within the County as approved by the TDC.

~~Convention and Visitor Services~~

~~An essential ingredient in marketing conventions to prospects is the quality of services rendered. Details must be efficiently handled to make a convention a success, such as: hotel rooms, air and ground transportation, support services, catering, etc. A welcoming and informative visitor services program is also important in making all guests feel that the County is a special destination and one worth returning to on a regular basis.~~

- Visitor Information Centers and Group Services: This component focuses on servicing the visitors currently in the destination to enhance the visit by highlighting local experiences and products, extend visitor stays, and encourage repeat visitation. Operational funding, staffing, procurement, and inventory management of the physical visitor information centers and associated retail operations to provide direct-to-consumer services, collateral distribution, and regional destination navigation.

~~Special Events~~

~~The Marketing Plan shall also recognize the importance of special events in drawing visitors to the destination, especially in shoulder months. The TDC will recommend a grant program to assist groups and organizations in marketing new and existing events that are proven or have the potential to draw overnight visitation to the County.~~

~~Administration~~

- Administration: The County will hire professional staff as necessary to manage ~~handle administrative matters and to carry out its policies.~~ the operations of the Division and handle administrative matters carrying out its policies. ~~The~~ R~~r~~esponsibilities of the Division D~~d~~irector shall include, but not be limited to ~~the following~~: directing and ensuring all programs comply with state and federal statutes and local ordinances and executing tourism initiatives as assigned by the BOCC; direct, coordinate and monitor all professional staff and tourism-related firms and vendors under contract with the County; direct management, coordination and oversight of all communications, meetings and activities of the TDC and Tallahassee Sports Council; Coordinate and act as liaison to all local and regional stakeholders involved with tourist development including Chambers of Commerce, universities/colleges, hotels, attractions, restaurant groups, arts groups, state and regional destination marketing organizations; in coordination with relevant County departments, work with local, state, and regional media to effectively communicate County tourism programs to the public and convey the importance of increased visitor spending and impact to the local economy; and all other duties as assigned.

~~1. Ensure all programs and activities comply with state and federal statutes and local ordinances.~~
~~2. Direct, coordinate and monitor activities of all professional staff and tourism related firms or vendors under contract with the County.~~
~~3. Develop, direct, coordinate and monitor the annual Marketing Plan as recommended by the TDC and approved by the County Commission.~~
~~4. Direct, coordinate and monitor the marketing grant program as approved by the TDC.~~
~~5. Coordinate and act as liaison to all local and regional stakeholders involved with tourist related development including the Chambers of Commerce, universities, arts groups, state and local tourist agencies, hotels, attractions and restaurant associations, etc. Also work with local, state and regional media to effectively communicate TDC and County programs to the public and to convey the importance of increased visitor business to the local economy.~~
~~6. All other duties as assigned.~~

- Tourism Research and Data Analysis: After a search process of appropriate firms is conducted in a manner consistent with the County's adopted purchasing policies and procedures, the County may secure and retain a professional Tourism research firm(s) to conduct scientifically valid ongoing visitor data collection and regular detailed reporting. As established by agreement, the data and strategic insights provided may include but not limited to, demographic, psychographic, behavioral, motivation/intention, economic, and statistical analysis of visitors, and targeted initiatives to inform destination marketing decision-making and economic impact modeling and reporting for verified return-on-investment tracking to justify the expenditure of public funds.

~~Cultural Grant Programs~~

- Arts and Cultural Programming: Commencing October 1, ~~2014~~2026, ~~one cent of the tourist development tax may be allocated to support the cultural grant program, the capital needs matching grants for arts and cultural facilities program, and components of the Capital Area Cultural Plan that support economic development through tourism and related marketing~~ the County will contract with the Council on Culture & Arts (COCA), or another qualified service provider, to implement arts and cultural tourism marketing strategies and administer a Cultural Grant Program which includes tourism marketing that supports tourism economic development as established by agreement. Annual appropriations for these programs shall be funded from TDT collections in the Tourism budget to be established annually by the Board of County Commissioners through the budget process. All programs, projects, activities and expenditures funded must comply with uses authorized in Section 125.0104, Florida Statutes, and all other applicable laws. Leon County shall retain financial oversight of all TDT revenues allocated under this section.

~~In addition, for five years commencing October 1, 2014, the County may dedicate an additional~~

~~¼ cent of the tourist development tax to support the cultural grant program, the capital needs matching grants for arts and cultural facilities program, and components of the Capital Area Cultural Plan that support economic development through tourism and related marketing. Monies accrued from the ¼ cent tourist development tax during Fiscal Year 2015 shall be held in arrears by the County and distributed to the Council on Culture and Arts (COCA) in each subsequent fiscal year.~~

~~The funds described above shall be utilized by COCA for the support of the cultural grant program, the capital needs matching grants for arts and cultural facilities program, and implementation of components of the Capital Area Cultural Plan, provided such projects, programs and expenses associated therewith are consistent with the uses authorized in section 125.0104, Florida Statutes. The TDC shall make recommendations to the County Commission on appropriate requirements for the capital needs matching grants for arts and cultural facilities program, if any. Commencing October 1, 2019, the ¼ cent tourist development tax described in the second subparagraph above shall be reallocated to the Tourism Development Division to fund expenditures consistent with those authorized uses set forth in section 125.0104, Florida Statutes.~~

~~Summary~~

~~The goal of the Tourist Development Council is to be a respected and trusted advisory council to~~

~~the County Commission on matters relating to the expenditure of tourist development tax proceeds. It is the intention of the TDC to maximize the involvement and coordination among local stakeholders for the overall achievement of our community visitor goals. The TDC will work closely with staff and the contractors to develop and recommend the best possible annual Marketing Plan and budget with the understanding that maximizing the amount of tourist development tax dollars available for marketing is a vital consideration.~~

~~The County Commission shall adopt, upon recommendation of the TDC, a tourism vision statement and a tourism mission statement that will provide additional guidance for all TDC recommendations.~~

Second Amendment to the FY 2020-2025 Council on Culture & Arts Program Funding Agreement Between the Council on Culture & Arts and Leon County

The Program Funding Agreement ("Agreement" or "Original Agreement") was executed February 12, 2021 between the Council on Culture & Arts (hereinafter referred to as "COCA") and Leon County, Florida, a charter county and a political subdivision of the State of Florida (hereinafter referred to as the "County"), collectively, the "Parties", and is incorporated herein by reference and attached hereto as part of Exhibit A. The Agreement was amended by a First Amendment to the FY 2020-2025 Council on Culture & Arts Program Funding Agreement, executed September 30, 2025, which is incorporated herein by reference and attached hereto as Exhibit A ("First Amendment"), the Agreement and the First Amendment will collectively be referred to herein as "the Agreement, as amended" or "the Agreement, as amended by the First Amendment". The Agreement, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

All recitals, whereas clauses, and terms and conditions set forth in the Agreement, as amended by the First Amendment, shall remain in full force and effect, except as specifically modified herein, and all new whereas clauses and terms and conditions added herein are mutually agreed to and shall also apply to the parties as specified.

1. The second WHEREAS paragraph in the RECITALS of the Agreement is hereby amended for FY 2027 in its entirety to read:

   WHEREAS, COCA receives funding in an amount established by the Board of County Commissioners through the annual budget process, on a not-to-exceed basis, and remains an important stakeholder in drawing visitors to the destination through cultural and arts tourism promotion; and

2. The following WHEREAS paragraphs are hereby added to the RECITALS of the Agreement, as amended:

   WHEREAS, on September 15, 2026, the Board of County Commissioners approved including in the annual budget funding for the program for FY 2027, running October 1, 2026, through September 30, 2027, comprising Tourist Development Tax funding of $1,900,000 and General Revenue funding of $150,000; and

   WHEREAS, for FY 2027, the County designates COCA as the County's qualified service provider for the administration of a Cultural Grant program funded with Tourist Development Tax dollars, including but not limited to developing grant guidelines in collaboration with and approval of County staff, grant application review, scoring, and award recommendations provided to the Leon County Tourist Development Council for final approval, and COCA's administration of approved awards to grantees; and

   WHEREAS, on June 16, 2026, the Board of County Commissioners directed the development of a Model 2 (Service & Advisory) structure for the administration of the County′s Tourist Development Tax-funded cultural grant program, which the County intends to implement for FY 2028, effective October 1, 2027; and

WHEREAS, the Parties intend this Agreement, as amended through this Second Amendment, to remain in effect for one-year only, solely as a transitional bridge to the Model 2 structure, and not as a continuation of the current administration model beyond FY 2027; and

WHEREAS, the Florida Legislature recently passed Florida Senate Bill 1134, which was subsequently signed into law as Chapter 2026-43, Laws of Florida, creating sections 125.595 and 287.139, Florida Statutes, (effective January 1, 2027), thereby necessitating a certification regarding COCA's use and COCA's further distribution of County funds to its grantees and their use of such funds; and

3. Section II. of the Agreement, as amended, titled "Effective Date and Term" is amended in its entirety to read:

   This Program Funding Agreement shall be for a seven-year term. It shall commence on October 1, 2020, and shall end at midnight, local time in Tallahassee, Florida, on September 30, 2027.

4. Section III. of the Agreement, as amended by the First Amendment, titled "Services to be Provided" is amended as follows:

   A. Section III, Paragraph A no changes.

   B. Section III, Paragraph B, is amended to include the following paragraph: For FY 2027, COCA shall submit a County Contract Service Deliverables Plan, in a format collaboratively developed by the parties and approved by the County, by November 1, 2026. The County Contract Service Deliverables Plan will identify specific services and program activities planned, and the budget allocation for each, delineating the plan for expenditure of County funds (both Leon County Tourist Development Tax "TDT" and General Revenue "GR") contemplated by this Agreement.

   C. Section III, Paragraph C, is amended in its entirety to read: Beginning in FY 2026, and each year thereafter, COCA shall submit a detailed annual Marketing and Advertising/ Media Plan with a detailed budget by marketing tactic and geographic target audience to the County by November 1 for review and approval. Up to 70% of COCA's Board-approved Marketing/Advertising budget for the fiscal year (for example if the approved M/A budget is $73,500 x .7% = $51,450) may be funded with TDT for marketing/advertising expenses that are in COCA's annual Marketing and Advertising/Media Plan approved and verified by the County to be eligible uses of TDT. Any additional expenditure of TDT or interest earned on TDT in COCA Reserve and/or investment accounts, for marketing/advertising or other purposes, requires advanced written approval by the County to verify any expenditure as an eligible use of TDT and must be reported in COCA's required quarterly Marketing and Advertising/Media financial report to the County as outlined in Section V, paragraph B.1. of the Agreement, as amended.

D. Section III, Paragraph, D is hereby amended, for purposes of FY 2027, to remove all references to and attachments of the COCA Cultural Plan and/or the Capital Area Cultural Plan, which COCA's Board determined has previously expired.

E. Section III, Paragraph E, no changes.

F. The existing language of Section III, Paragraph F., relating to the services provided by COCA for FY 2026, remains as written, but the paragraph is hereby amended at the end to include the specific services COCA will provide for FY 2027, which reads as follows:

For FY 2027, the services to be provided by COCA and supported with County funding shall include:

1. Arts and Cultural advertising and marketing communication services targeting both out-of-area tourists and Leon County residents, including creative asset development, promotion and publication across all media platforms.
2. COCA shall also produce a print collateral piece (brochure or rack cards) promoting the arts and cultural sites and attractions in Leon County for tourists to visit, for distribution at visitor information centers, local organizations, and events.
3. Granting services include creating, implementing and managing the existing grant programs, the Cultural Grant Program (which must include out-of-county cultural tourism marketing activities) & the Cultural Tourism Marketing, to ensure all grant program applications comply with Section 125.0104, Florida Statutes.
4. Support services for artists, cultural organizations, and the general public.
    a. Grant Program Guidelines for grants funded with TDT collections shall contain the statutory language defining "Tourist" found in Section 125.0104(2)(b)2., Florida Statutes, and shall be restricted to allowable uses set forth in section 125.0104(5)(a), Florida Statutes, including that if tax revenues are expended for an activity, service, venue, or event, the activity, service, venue, or event must have as one of its main purposes the attraction of tourists as evidenced by the promotion of the activity, service, venue, or event to tourists. Grant Program Guidelines shall also provide that marketing to visitors is required and also include a requirement for a sub-grantee to report the estimated number of room nights and out-of-market visitors served by the project and program.
        i. COCA will, prior to their release to the public/possible applicants, submit their draft FY 2028 Grant Program Guidelines to the County's Director of Tourism who will review, discuss, and provide any necessary edits to COCA. COCA will obtain final approval from the County's Director of Tourism, prior to COCA releasing the guidelines for use in any grant cycle. COCA will also provide copies of the submitted grant applications to the County's Director of Tourism for verification of eligibility and compliance with Section 125.0104, Florida Statutes, prior to scoring the grant applications. If COCA has questions regarding the application of Section 125.0104, Florida statutes, it is directed to contact the appropriate Tourism staff.

ii. Members of the COCA TDT Grant Review Panel(s) that review and make recommendations on the TDT-funded COCA grants must include a TDC member or their designee.

iii. In compliance with section 125.0104, Florida Statutes, the Leon County Tourist Development Council shall have final approval of the annual COCA Grant awards recommended by the COCA Board of Directors.

iv. COCA agrees to provide full contact information for grantees funded with TDT to the Division of Tourism upon request.

5. An active role in supporting major community programs or special initiatives, such as sporting, cultural and commemorative events of regional or national significance, by facilitating, coordinating, implementing, and promoting an annual plan of activities for cultural organizations.

6. Strategic partnership activities with the Leon County Division of Tourism/Visit Tallahassee, including bi-annual leadership meetings and the exploration of marketing communications collaborations on targeted promotional programs.

G. Section III, Paragraph G, is amended in its entirety to read: COCA shall be responsible for all expenses associated with the performance and delivery of services required by this Program Funding Agreement.

H. Section III, Paragraph H, is amended to require all portions of Paragraph H and H.1., to apply to FY 2027 in addition to FY 2026.

5. Section IV., Paragraph A. of the Agreement, titled "Grant Funds Amount:" subparagraphs 1. and 3., as amended by the First Amendment, remains as written, but only applies to FY 2026 funds. For the avoidance of doubt, Section IV., Paragraph A., subparagraph 2., of the Original Agreement, providing One Hundred Fifty Thousand Dollars ($150,000.00) from the County's General Revenue Fund, continues to apply for FY 2027. Section IV., paragraph A, is further amended by the addition of new language, as numbered subparagraphs 4 and 5, to be included after the existing language in Section IV., Paragraph A., 1., 2., and 3., and the following new language only applies to FY 2027, and reads as follows:

4. The County agrees to provide to COCA $1,900,000 of Tourist Development Tax revenue, as established by the Board of County Commissioners through the annual budget process and consistent with the Leon County Tourist Development Plan as amended, for Services further described in Section III, herein. The amount so established is the amount of TDT the County is obligated to provide for FY 2027, and COCA is entitled to no amount in excess of it, without regard to the amount of Tourist Development Tax actually imposed or collected during any fiscal year.

5. For FY 2027, up to 10% of TDT allocated to COCA may be used to offset COCA's operating expenses.

DRAFT

6. Section IV., subparagraphs B.1. and B.1.a. of the Agreement, titled "Distribution": remain as written, but only apply to funds and the distribution of funds through September 30, 2026.

7. Section IV., subparagraph B.2. of the Agreement, titled "Distribution" remains as written, with no changes, but upon execution of this Second Amendment also applies to FY 2027.

8. Section IV., Paragraph B., of the Agreement, as amended above, and by the First and Amendment, titled "Distribution," is hereby further amended by the addition of new language, numbered as subparagraphs 3., to be included after the existing language in Section IV., Paragraph B., subparagraph 2., and the following new language of 3. only applies to FY 2027, and reads as follows:

   3. For FY 2027 COCA shall receive four partial disbursements, of a combined total of $1,900,000, in funds from the County's Tourist Development 5-Cent Fund in the following manner:

      a. COCA shall receive such funds in quarterly payments of 25% percent of the amount described herein to occur not later than November 1, February 1, May 1, and August 1. Receipt of such funds is contingent upon and appropriate invoice, Mid-Year Report, and Annual Report provided to and approved by the County.

      b. A new "Carry-Forward" section to be added to the FY26 Financial Report of the Annual Report due to the County on or before October 31, 2026, that clearly delineates COCA's requested TDT-funding proposed to be carried forward with a detailed statement of the anticipated project purposes and/or activity uses of the TDT carry-forwards funds with the associated ledger account, to be approved and verified to be eligible uses by the County.

      c. COCA shall provide a Year-End Cash Flow Statement (in a format determined jointly by the County and COCA staff) that details the TDT expenditures for the year and includes all itemizing all interest earned on TDT in reserves or in investment accounts.

9. Subparagraph C.2 of Section IV. of the agreement, titled "Restrictive Uses:", is amended for FY 2027 to remove any and all reference and requirements of Resolution R15-12 of the Board of County Commissioners. All the remaining terms and requirements found within Paragraph C. remain in effect for all fiscal years.

10. Section IV., Paragraphs D. and E. of the Agreement, remain as written and apply to FY 2027 as well as to all previous fiscal years.

11. Section V., entitled "Audits, Records and Reports", paragraph B. of the Agreement, as amended by the First Amendment, is hereby further amended to require that all paragraphs found in Section V., as amended, including those identified as applying specifically to FY 2026, hereby apply to FY 2027 as well. In addition, for FY 2027 the quarterly Marketing and Advertising/Media report required under Section V., paragraph B., shall be submitted within thirty (30) days after the end of each quarter.

12. Section X., entitled "General Provisions" in the Agreement, as amended, is hereby further amended to include the following additional clauses:

Z. Reservation of Rights; No Waiver. This Second Amendment does not waive, limit, delay, or modify, the County's direction to implement the Model 2 (Service & Advisory) structure, which the County intends to have in place prior to any funding agreement relating to funds beyond FY 2027. Neither the Parties' entrance into, nor performance under, this Second Amendment, nor the County's participation in any COCA eligibility-verification and grant-review process for a yet to be funded fiscal year (FY 2028 for example), shall be construed as (a) acceptance of, or agreement to continue, the current administration model beyond FY 2027, or (b) a course of dealing, waiver, or estoppel affecting the transition to the Model 2 structure. Further, nothing herein constitutes a promise or agreement by the County to enter into a 2028 funding agreement, nor is it a promise by either party relating to their position(s) concerning the structure or administration of the program after FY 2027, and the terms of any potential successor agreement remain subject to negotiation between the Parties and approval by the Board. Nothing in this Second Amendment amends the Parties' rights or obligations except as expressly set forth herein.

AA. Compliance with Section 125.595, Florida Statutes. COCA acknowledges that all the funds provided under this Agreement are County funds and, beginning on January 1, 2027, such funds are subject to Sections 125.595, and 287.139, Florida Statutes (2026), and, therefore, COCA agrees and certifies that funding from the County will not be used on or after January 1, 2027, directly or indirectly to fund or promote, any policies, programming, promotion, materials, or training as it relates to diversity, equity, or inclusion ("DEI").

1. "DEI" is defined by 125.595, F.S, and includes, in summary:
    a. Any effort to influence or manipulate the composition of employees with reference to race, color, ethnicity, gender identity, or sexual orientation, or any effort to promote or provide preferential treatment or special benefits to a person or group based on their race, color, ethnicity, gender identity, or sexual orientation, or promote or adopt any training, programming, or activity designed or implemented with reference to race, color, ethnicity, gender identity, or sexual orientation
2. Continuing Warranty of Compliance. COCA warrants that throughout the term of this Agreement, including any renewals or extensions, COCA shall remain in compliance with the above certifications and shall not permit or authorize County funds to be used in a manner prohibited by either section 125.595 or 287.139, Florida Statutes.
3. COCA shall obtain from all persons or entities receiving County funds dispersed by COCA an acknowledgement of the prohibitions and limitations in sections 125.595, F.S. and 287.139, F.S. (2026), and the following two certifications:

a. Any recipient of County funds shall acknowledge in writing the prohibitions and limitations of section 125.595, F.S., and further certify that no County funds will be used on or after January 1, 2027, by the recipient in any manner that would violate section 125.595, F.S.

b. For any contract executed on or after January 1, 2027, a recipient of County funds shall certify, before being awarded County funds, that the recipient does not and will not use County funds in requiring its employees, contractors, volunteers, venders or agents to ascribe to, study, or be instructed using materials relating to DEI as defined by section 125.595(1), F.S. (2026);

4. Upon reasonable request of the County, COCA shall provide records, certifications, or other documentation reasonably necessary to demonstrate compliance with this provision.

5. Indemnification for Noncompliance. To the fullest extent permitted by law, COCA shall indemnify, defend, and hold harmless the County and its officers, employees, agents, and representatives from and against any and all claims, actions, causes of action, damages, losses, liabilities, judgments, penalties, fines, costs, and expenses, including reasonable attorney's fees and court costs, arising out of or relating to any one or more of the following:

   a. A breach by COCA of the certifications or warranties contained in this Agreement; or

   b. A failure of COCA to require or receive the acknowledgements and continuing warrant of compliance language from any individual or entity that COCA distributed County funds to; or

   c. A violation by COCA of Sections 125.595 and 287.139, Florida Statutes (2026); or

   d. Any claim, investigation, administrative proceeding, or civil action arising from COCA's use of County funds in a manner prohibited by Florida law; or

   e. Any false, misleading, or inaccurate certification made by COCA pursuant to this Agreement; or

6. The obligations contained in this section, A.A. Compliance with Section 125.595, Florida Statutes, shall survive expiration or termination of the Agreement.

7. Termination for Cause. COCA acknowledges that the above certifications and warranty are material representations upon which the County has relied in entering into this Agreement and that any false certification, material breach of these provisions, or violation of Sections 125.595 and 287.139, Florida Statutes, shall constitute a material breach of the Agreement and shall entitle the County, in its sole discretion, to terminate the Agreement immediately upon written notice.

13. The Parties expressly agree that notwithstanding any language to the contrary, the amendments effected by this Second Amendment apply to FY 2027 (October 1, 2026 through September 30, 2027) and thereafter. All obligations of the Parties related to prior fiscal years, including FY 2026, under the Agreement, as amended by the First Amendment, including the FY 2026 quarterly Marketing and Advertising/Media reports, the FY 2026 Annual Report and its Financial Reports section, the FY 2026 marketing and advertising expenditure limits, and the invoice and report conditions applicable to the payment due November 1, 2026, survive the execution of this Second Amendment and remain enforceable according to their terms.

WHERETO, the Parties have set their hands and seals effective October 1, 2026, or the date whereon the last Party executes this Program Funding Agreement Second Amendment, whichever is later.

- ☐ The proposed ordinance is an emergency ordinance;
- ☐ The proposed ordinance relates to procurement; or
- ☐ The proposed ordinance is enacted to implement the following:
  a. Development orders and development permits, as those terms are defined in Section 163.3164, F.S., and development agreements, as authorized by the Florida Local Government Development Agreement Act under Sections 163.3220 – 163.3243, F.S.;
  b. Comprehensive plan amendments and land development regulation amendments initiated by an application by a private party other than the County;
  c. Sections 190.005 and 190.046, F.S., regarding community development districts;
  d. Section 553.73, F.S., relating to the Florida Building Code; or
  e. Section 633.202, F.S., relating to the Florida Fire Prevention Code.

In accordance with Florida law Leon County, Florida, hereby posts the following BIE information for this proposed Ordinance on its website for public viewing and consideration on this 4th day of September, 2026:

1. Summary of the proposed ordinance (must include statement of the public purpose, such as serving the public health, safety, morals, and welfare):

The proposed Ordinance revises the Leon County Tourist Development Plan to reflect current programs and major functional areas for the County's use of Tourist Development Tax funds to enhance visitation and economic benefit to our community, updates required statutory citations, and provides for greater fiscal transparency and accountability for Tourist Development Tax funds.

2. Estimate of direct economic impact of the proposed ordinance on private, for-profit businesses in the county, including the following (if any):

a.) Estimate of direct compliance costs that businesses may reasonably incur if the ordinance is enacted: None

b.) Any new charge or fee imposed by the proposed ordinance for which businesses will be financially responsible: None

c.) Estimate of Leon County's regulatory costs, including estimated revenues from any new charges or fees to cover such costs: None

The funding levels for tourism programs to enhance visitation, and thereby generate a positive economic impact on businesses are determined through the County's annual budget process.

3. Good faith estimate of the number of businesses likely to be impacted by the proposed Ordinance: Indeterminate.

4. Additional information Leon County deems necessary (if any): N/A
